Wheat Growers To Vote On Program Continuation

July 23 is the date when Coleman County wheat growers will join other wheat growers throughout the nation to determine whether or not the wheat marketing quota program will continue in operation for the 1955 wheat crop. This in effect is the decision which wheat growers will make in the coming wheat referendum, says Ozro Eubank of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Eubank points out in compliance with the law Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has proclaimed marketing quotas for the 1955 wheat crop. The Marketing Quota Program will be in effect if it is approved by at least two-thirds of the wheat growers voting in the July 23rd referendum. If the quota program is approved, growers who plant within their 1955 acreage allotment will be eligible to market their 1955 wheat free of a marketing penalty.

Mr. Eubank also explains that if the vote in the referendum is favorable wheat growers who exceed their allotment will be subject to a 45 percent-of-parity penalty on their excess wheat. If the vote is unfavorable there will be no penalty.

To be eligible for price support on any crop produced on the farm in 1955 the producer must comply with all acreage allotments established for his farm for that year. On farms where the crop allotments call for a diverted acreage or more than 10 acres, a total acreage allotment will be established for the farm and, in that case, the farmer must stay within that total as well as individual crop allotments to be eligible for price support.

In making his allotment proclamation, Secretary Benson stated that: "The long range interest of agriculture and the national economy will best be served when we can have less — and not more — government regulation and control." He added, however, that under present conditions "we have no immediate choice. With approximately a two years' supply of wheat expected to be on hand when this year's crop is harvested, there is no question at all about the requirement for marketing quotas and the establishment of a national wheat acreage allotment at the level prescribed by law."

Referring to the "cross-compliance" requirement, making it necessary for the farmer to stay within all acreage allotments established for his farm to be eligible for price support, the secretary said: "neither is there any question about the need to require cross-compliance with established acreage allotments. It does not make acres from one surplus crop to another."

Mr. Eubank advises that the following referendum polling places will be set up for Coleman County at Goidbusk, Santa Anna, and Coleman. The polls will be open at 9 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

In the referendum conducted a year ago, for the crop now being harvested, the vote was 390-221 to 57,536. By special act of congress the acreage allotment for the 1954 crop was set at 62 million acres. The allotment for the 1955 crop is 55 million, the minimum acreage permitted under the law.

Visitors in the homes of the Ed Gilberts and Luther McCrarys over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Tallant, Mrs. Jerry Sturman and Cynthia of Denver City, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gray and Ma Mae, Stanton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Campbell, Durward, Demby and Mrs. Zada Dixon of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and children of Lovington, New Mexico.

John W. Hunter left Thursday for his home in Philadelphia, Penn., after a two weeks visit with his father, C. K. Hunter, and two sisters, Mrs. A. M. Turner and Mrs. Ross Kelley.

Coleman Annual Rodeo Now In Progress

The 17th annual Coleman Rodeo is now underway. It is being held at the Rodeo Grounds in the south part of Coleman. The rodeo got underway Wednesday night and will continue through Saturday night, with the shows beginning at 8:00 each night.

A big parade is being held each afternoon in downtown Coleman, beginning at 5:00 o'clock. The famous Hardin-Simmons band participates in the parade and also the rodeo.

Tickets are on sale throughout the show at the Owl Drug Store. A new arrangement has been made at the rodeo grounds this year. Instead of having to either show your tickets or purchase tickets at the entrance gate, cars drive in on the grounds and then present tickets as you are going into the stands.

Martins Named To Membership In The Jersey Cattle Club

Felton Martin and J. H. Martin, both of Trickham, Texas, have been named members of The American Jersey Cattle Club. They are breeders of registered Jersey cattle.

The above applications for membership in the national organization of the Jersey breed were approved at the last meeting of the Club's Board of Directors. This action gives these men a voice in the management and conduct of the affairs of the breed and also entitles them to register their purebred Jerseys at special membership rates.

The American Jersey Cattle Club is America's oldest dairy breed registry organization. It was organized in 1868 to keep pedigree records of Jersey cattle and to improve and promote the Jersey breed. The national headquarters is located in Columbus, Ohio.

Lions Club Sees Explosion Of Hydrogen Bomb

A technicolor film entitled "Operation Ivy" was shown at the Lions Club this week, through the courtesy of Congressman O. C. Fisher. The film was taken at the first hydrogen bomb explosion late in 1952 and all the secret information had been removed from the film. Tuesday night it was shown at the Seventh-day Adventist Church to the County Medical Society and other interested parties. Dr. Charles M. Henner is president of the County Medical Association.

One visitor, Bob Trinklelein, was a guest of Douglas Johnson, and a number of others came into the club room to see the film.

Due to the length of the program no business was transacted. John Gregg acted as chairman in the absence of the president, R. K. Green.

Texas Highway Patrol Activity Report For May, 1954

Members of the Texas Highway Patrol effected a total of 10,908 arrests during the month of May, according to a report just released by W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Patrol Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Of these, 8,516—or 78%—were for hazardous traffic violations. As usual, however, the Patrolmen gave twice as many warnings to motorists as they did tickets—a total of 21,898.

Leading the list of both arrests and warnings was "speed." Forty-three percent of the arrests and 36% of the warnings were for violations of the speed law. Patrolmen didn't do their work standing still. They racked up a total of 1,163,004 miles during the month while working 101,907 man hours, 37% of which was at night.

All of the patrol work wasn't just riding, either. Accident investigations required 3,431 hours; 1,396 hours were spent on safety work; and Patrolmen spent 2,994 hours on court duty. Other arrest activities included: Driver License violations, 1,525; Drunk Driving, 596; Improper Passing, 767; and Driving on Wrong Side of Roadway, not in passing, 417.

Second greatest number of warnings, next to speeding, were made for defective lights. There were 6,008 in this category. Other warnings included: Improper Passing, 1,596; Wrong Side of Roadway, not in passing, 1,096; and Stop Sign violations, 1,726.

Coleman County Electric Co-op Dates Annual Meeting, Big Show, July 22-23

Rural people from throughout the three-county area served by Coleman County Electric Co-op will converge on Coleman for the big free Electric Fair and Annual Membership Meeting of the Co-op July 22 and 23.

Co-op officials are expecting to top even the record crowd that attended the Big Top Show and meeting here last year. Co-op members attending will elect directors and hear reports of their officers during the business session on their annual meeting day, July 23, in addition to seeing a complete Electrical Exposition and Big Top Show.

There will again be a special show July 22 between 6:30 and 10:00 p. m. for the townspeople of Coleman and Runnels County which will include highlights of the Big Top Show, free ferris wheel rides for the children, and the Electrical Exposition. It's all free and Manager C. L. Newton of the Co-op is inviting all local people to be guests of the Co-op for this evening of free entertainment under the Big Top.

The show this year is headed by Bob Johnson, sensational aerial balancing artist. His breath-taking act takes him to the top of the Big Top tent as he thrills the crowd with his gravity-defying performance. Johnson has been featured at the famous Palace theater in New York, on coast-to-coast television, and in the finest show places throughout the nation.

Harland Stretz, another headliner, master of magic and illusion, will mystify the crowds as he saws a person in half and performs other feats of magic. Other Big Top acts include hillbilly music, juggling, pantomime, whip artistry, and ventriloquism. On annual meeting day, Kelvinator will again sponsor an amateur talent contest and give a Stromberg-Carlson radio to the winner.

On the informative side of the program, Frigidaire will present a dramatic demonstration, comparing electric cooking with gas cooking. Fairbanks-Morse will demonstrate their complete line of pumps, water heaters, and water softeners in a unique one-act play.

Frigidaire, Kelvinator, and Fairbanks-Morse have already reserved space for their local dealers to use in exhibiting their respective lines in two tents along the Midway. Local dealers in other lines of appliances and farm equipment are invited to participate, too. The Electrical Exposition and Farm Equipment Show comprise the biggest show of this type to be seen in this area this year. Manager Newton points out.

"There's fun for everyone," he adds, "and we hope our town friends will be our guests the night of July 22, and we're looking forward to a record number of our Co-op members July 23."

Proper garbage storage is one of the most important factors in good sanitation. Garbage should be stored in water tight, galvanized metal containers with a tight lid. Dispose of all cans, bottles and other rubbish. Proper disposal of garbage collected is equally important in the prevention of fly breeding areas.

Another measure in proper fly control is proper screening of homes. Each householder should check the screens on his house for holes that will allow flies to enter. Repairing of screens will help to protect food from contamination by fly borne disease organisms.

The importance of fly control can be realized when it is known that flies carry and spread such diseases as typhoid fever, the dysenteries, infant diarrhea and other diseases. Fly control is an individual and community duty. It is the job of every person and every locality and the results will benefit everyone.

can often be caught. By hanging the bodies of the dead birds in full view of where the chickens range, some of the other attacking birds are often frightened away.

To prevent loss of very small chickens to hawks and crows, fence in a small area and cover it with 2-inch mesh. Confinement rearing is an advantage in that it makes the chickens less subject to attack.

When the flock is bothered by rats and weasels, eliminate all possible havens for the animals. The houses or range shelters should be clear of refuse and the grass should be kept cropped around them.

BUILD FENCES
Against foxes, skunks, and dogs, the raiser can build fences which will be effective. The fences should be 5 or 6 feet high and should be sunk into the ground to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. Of course, the spaces or apertures in the fence itself must be small enough to prevent these animals from crawling through. About the most effective way to prevent rats from damaging the flock is to follow a rat control program. There are a number of chemical rat killers on the market.

Various other devices, including night flares, are used to keep predators away. Information regarding local predators and methods of combating them can be obtained from the county agricultural agent.

A. J. Bishop Asks County Support In July Election

A. J. BISHOP, JR.

State Representative A. J. Bishop, Jr., has this statement to the voters of Coleman County:

For the past several months I have enjoyed visiting many communities in Coleman County in my candidacy for re-election as your State Representative from the 7th District.

In asking a second term in this office, I do so on the basis of having served you in one regular legislative session and one special session in my first term.

In these sessions I have tried sincerely to work for legislation that would benefit Coleman County and this district, and to carry out all the duties of this office completely and fairly. I am asking your support on the way in which I have served you.

In a special bill to allow Santa Anna to be in your county REA telephone system I appreciated being able to serve Coleman County directly, and this valuable project.

I was reared on a Runnels County farm and am still farming actively. In 1950 I graduated from Texas Tech College with a degree in agriculture. This first-hand knowledge has been valuable to me, I feel, in understanding the district's needs. In World War II I was an infantryman in Europe, serving with the 42nd Infantry Division.

I am grateful for the good support you gave me in 1952, and will appreciate your good consideration and support in the July 24 election.

Pieratt - Curry

Mary Virginia Pieratt of Fort Worth became the bride of Maurice W. Curry of Fort Worth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Curry of Santa Anna on July 3rd at 7:00 P. M.

Rev. J. D. F. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Coleman officiated at the double ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Pieratt, in Santa Anna. Only a few relatives and close friends were present.

White gladiolas and greenery were used in decorations. Mrs. Margaret Wolford of Santa Anna, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Jack Ogle of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom, were the couple's only attendants.

The bride was wearing a dress of lilac glazed silk, with white lace trim, with white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Santa Anna High School.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a short wedding trip. They will make their home in Fort Worth, where both are employed.

What's New with Cows?

Catching up on my reading, I noticed three news items you might like to know about.

First, a farmer whose milk had a trace of garlic flavor is feeding his cows chlorophyll to sweeten their breaths.

Next, a college agricultural station has trained a herd to get milked when they are called by number. Seems 75 out of 80 cows learned their numbers in a few days. Guess the "dumb" five couldn't count that high. Final item — cows are getting "nose-printed" for identification.

From where I sit, I hope there is as much progress being made with humans... especially in regard to tolerance. Whether it's a choice of a political party, a basketball team, or a favorite beverage, let's learn to live and let live more. You may ask for a soft drink after a hard day's work—I'll choose a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not try to "cow" the other fellow into our way of thinking!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

That strength, joy and healing result from a spiritual understanding of God as Infinite Life, will be brought forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Repeating the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life is the Golden Text" from Romans 6:23, "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus our Lord."

Sections to be read, from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy include the following:

4:27 "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its Allfulness and immortality."

The following passage will be quoted from the Bible (Psalms 118:14, 17): "The Lord is my strength and salvation, and is become my savior. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord."

Mrs. G. E. Johnson returned from a visit to Camp Carson, Colorado, with her husband and family.

Besides the enjoyment of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, she brought home a number of books.

Luther Talley, who has been seriously ill in an army hospital at Camp Carson, Colorado, for the past two weeks, is still quite weak, but somewhat improved. His wife is still with him.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Book to Grow By
Lesson for July 18, 1954

EVERY living thing needs food, whether it's a speck of a creature too small to see without a microscope, swimming around in ditch water, or an elephant. Plants need it; animals need it; man's body needs it; but man is more than a body. If all you feed is your stomach, all you will ever be is an animal. Man has a character, he has a mind and spirit. Man needs food for his character, his mind and spirit, just as much as he needs it for bone and muscle. Now the Bible is food for the growing Christian, we have been told that a hundred times by preachers, and it is true. But no food does you the slightest good if you leave it on the pantry shelf or in the freezer. Some people's Bibles are so to speak in a deep-freeze, and stay there. No wonder some people's souls are thin.

'From Childhood Acquainted...'
Most people, when they are grown up, like the foods they learned to eat when children. If you never learned to eat rhubarb or hominy, or squash, or oysters, when you were little, you aren't going to be very fond of them, probably, after you are grown. It is exactly the same way with the Bible. As a rule (there are exceptions, of course), the Christians who get the most out of the Bible are those who, like Timothy, were "from childhood acquainted with the sacred writings." The first and best start toward knowing the Bible and loving it and getting the most out of it, all your life, is to hear it and memorize it when you are small. (By the way, it is never too late to begin committing Bible passages to memory.) The best thing Christian parents can do for their children is to see that they are as familiar as possible with God's book, the book to grow by.

A child will not understand all he memorizes, of course; but he will be laying the foundation for understanding in later years. Then a child can learn, and Juniors in the church school are usually taught, how to find things in the Bible. They learn the books in order; they know what is poetry and what is history and what is Gospel, and so on. They can learn to find their way around in the Bible, so to speak, and this is a tremendous advantage later on.

Study Is Hard Work
It cannot be too often repeated: Growing calls for effort. Maturity never comes without struggle. So with the Bible. Food for the soul, food for the character it is; but it cannot be simply absorbed like salt in hot water. If we are to grow by this book of God, we have to study it, not just read it. A few verses read at the sleepiest time of day are better than no verses at all; but real Bible study calls for more serious effort. If the reader is interested, he should ask his pastor to recommend some books that his denomination would approve, to help the serious student to get a more thorough understanding of Scripture. A Bible dictionary, a Bible atlas, and if possible a one-volume commentary on the Bible, are basic helps. Many churches publish day-by-day booklets with Bible passages for every day, and these are useful for devotional hours; but they are often hop-skip-and-jump in the use of Scripture and do not always give the kind of help needed (for example) in studying some particular book like Job or Romans. Certainly every Sunday school ought to make it possible for every teacher to own or at least to borrow the helps needed for a real study of the Sunday school lessons. The reason why so many Christians get so little out of the Bible is simply that they won't put enough time on it.

'Live Wires in an Old House'
One of the most helpful translators of the Bible in our times, J. B. Phillips, whose "Letters to Young Churches" has helped so many to understand Paul's letters, says that in his work as a translator he has often felt like an electrician installing fixtures in an old house and finding live-wires everywhere. The Bible is an ancient book; but it is a living book. The writer to the Hebrews thinks of it not as bread but as a sword. The Bible does more than comfort and strengthen us; it challenges, rebukes, startles us by its divine insight into our darkest hearts. We never grow by the Bible if we are never made ashamed by it.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

APPELLATE COURTS INSURE JUSTICE

The institution of appellate courts, of which the U. S. Supreme Court is the highest, illustrates how America has tackled the problem of attaining justice. The idea of justice in the abstract is difficult to come by. It is perhaps even more difficult to translate into human conduct and apply in the settlement of individual cases. How does a case come before an appellate court? If you and your neighbor have a dispute over the property line between your two lots, you would be foolish to go to court for a settlement, if you did not believe that right was on your side. Therefore, practically every civil action that comes before a trial court originates in an honest difference of opinion as to what the law or the facts of that case are. But right cannot be on both sides; so one or the other of the litigants must be mistaken. When you seek legal counsel on such a question, it frequently happens that your lawyer will advise you not to go to court. Only a relatively small percentage of cases reach trial. The law is clear enough so that among the millions of transactions taking place in the country only a relatively few ever result in lawsuits.

But suppose you and your lawyer have decided that your case has enough merit to warrant going to court. The facts on both sides are presented, the lawyers on both sides argue the merits of their clients' cases and the court is then called upon to render a decision. In some cases this decision will be based on findings of a jury. The vast majority of the cases are settled then and there with the decision of the trial judge.

But judges, like all of us, are human, and the law is complicated and subject to varied interpretation. At times the trial judge may err in admitting or evaluating the facts, or in interpreting the law applicable to the facts. Under such circumstances your case may be appealed to an appellate court.

Some states have no intermediate courts between the trial court and the state Supreme Court. In such states a case from District Court is appealed directly to the Supreme Court, the highest court of appeal in the state.

In Texas, cases are appealed from a District Court to one of eleven Courts of Civil Appeals. Sometimes the judgment of the latter court is final, as in orinary divorce cases not involving property. But if the case meets certain requirements it may be further appealed to the Supreme Court of Texas. Criminal cases are appealed directly from the District Court to the Court of Criminal Appeals, which is the highest state court in criminal matters.

Federal cases are appealed from a U. S. District Court to a Circuit Court of Appeals and from there to the Supreme Court of the United States, provided the latter will assume jurisdiction of the matter.

When you appeal your case, you ask that the error you believe you have found be corrected. If it was an error, that is what will happen—the trial judge's decision will be reversed. Sometimes the courts are compelled to decide a question one way because the law says so, but the results bring to light serious defects on the existing law. When such an injustice is discovered, the legislature may remedy the defect by passing laws to correct it.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

—and only a few dollars more than the low-price cars!

HAVE you been thinking you can't afford a new Buick? Listen:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—and a look at the figure on the price tag proves it.

Look again, and you'll see that this is the local delivered price of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan. Compare, and you'll learn that this price is just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price three."

But—dig a little deeper if you want the real clincher. That's when you find that those few dollars more you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more automobile.

They buy a whale of a lot more power—Buick V8 power—plus the new economy of Power-Head combustion.

They buy a lot more luxury and comfort and solidity—more room, more glass area, more frame strength, more tread width, more ride steadiness—including the million dollar "feel" of all-coil springing and torque-tube stability.

They buy, too, the most advanced styling of the time, and the great panoramic windshield, and the surety that such fresh-

This New Buick SPECIAL V8 2-Door 6-Passenger Sedan actually costs less than some models of the "low-price three" looking beauty will stay in the style parade for seasons to come. (That means a better deal for you come resale time.)

Is it any wonder, then, that Buick now outsells all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?

Come in for a demonstration—this week, for sure. And learn, in the doing, what a big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you.

Be On The Alert For Screw-Worms

Texas stockmen are advised to lookout for screw-worms and to treat all livestock wounds to prevent worm infestation.

Mild winters, similar to the one just past, induce an early worm build-up, says Neal M. Randolph, extension entomologist.

To prevent and curb infection Randolph recommends EQ-335 smear. It contains lindane which gives a lasting killing effect. One application a week, except in severe cases, will do the job.

Screw-worms increase rapidly once present. If headed off from the start, a lot of trouble can be avoided, the entomologist says.

Best Buys For July

Hamburgers, watermelon, fried chicken and ice cream will headline an appetizing July plentiful foods list.

Broilers and fryers will continue plentiful at reasonable prices, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. More are expected on the market than a year ago.

Other abundant foods for July include small turkeys, fresh fish, cantaloupes, milk and other dairy products, peanuts and peanut butter, vegetable fats and oils, and locally home grown vegetables. Budget buys in vegetables may be sweet corn, green beans, cabbage, lettuce and beets or green peppers, depending upon local markets.

July is the month of peak production and consumption of ice cream and other frozen dairy products.

Higher grades of beef will be readily available, yet the supply of the less expensive medium and lower grades will be increasingly plentiful and will be top buy for picnic hamburgers.

Miss Ruby Havner, Charles Hosch Exchange Wedding Vows Sunday, July 11, In Coleman

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES HOSCH

Chantilly lace and slipper sation fashioned the wedding dress worn by Miss Ruby Havner when she became the bride of Charles Hosch Sunday evening, July 11, at the Church of the Nazarene.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lee Havner of Coleman. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hosch of Santa Anna.

The Rev. Grafton Smith performed the double ring ceremony at six o'clock in the evening before an altar banked with floor baskets of white gladioli and greenery. On either side were wrought iron candelabra holding white taper.

Miss Patsy Moore, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Melvin Pollock when he sang "Always," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer." Gary Hosch, cousin of the groom, lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length dress of lace over satin. The fitted bodice was designed with a Peter Pan collar and tiny satin buttons extending to the waist line. Long sleeves came to points over her hands.

A bandeau of lace and satin studded with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of mist illusion.

Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings and she carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white gladioli and carnations.

To carry out the traditional something old, she carried a silk handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Havner, something new was her wedding ensemble, something borrowed was a white Bible belonging to Miss Era Lee Ingram and something blue was a satin garter. She wore a penny in her shoe for good luck.

Mrs. W. D. Aldridge of Kermit, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a strapless dress of yellow net over taffeta made with a fitted bodice and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Imogene Ingram and Miss Geraldine Havner, sister of the bride. They wore identical dresses of pink and blue net over taffeta made similar to the matron's. Their headdresses were bandeaus of matching net and they carried bouquets of blue and pink carnations.

Donald Hosch of Santa Anna, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were W. D. Aldridge and Frank J. Havner.

For the wedding the bride's mother wore an orchid nylon dress with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy street-length dress with navy accessories and pink carnations.

After the ceremony the bride and groom, their parents and members of the wedding party recognized the guests in the church foyer.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Mexico, Mrs. Hosch was wearing a blue cotton pique dress with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hosch are making their home at 209 Bowie Avenue in Santa Anna. He is associated with the Hosch Grocery Store here and is engaged in farming.

John Lauder Says

I don't perform in the arena. I can't ride, rope or bulldog, but there are other ways to handle it. However, when I say that I need the job, and will appreciate your vote and influence, I really mean it.

It may be hard for you to understand why so many experienced, well qualified people like us are out of work. No comment.

I have lived in the county for over 50 years. What that signifies, I am not sure. But I have met a lot of people and have tried to contact everyone, but in case I have missed you, please accept this as a personal appeal to you for your vote and influence. I am the only one of the three that hasn't held a political job and I would like to try it this time.

I have been doing reversioned farming (everything backwards). It's similar to the rodeo business, a non-profit organization. So when you vote for Treasurer, please vote tops on the ticket, and put John on the job. Thanks.

This political appeal was paid for by a friend (my banker). I signed a note for it. paid pol. adv.

Research For Texas Agriculture Feature Of State Fair

"Research for Texas Agriculture" will be the theme of the Agriculture Show at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9 through 24, General Manager James H. Stewart has announced.

Elaborate exhibits will reflect the research conducted by the agricultural experiment stations of the Texas A&M College System, which has cooperated closely with the State Fair in working out the unique and educational show.

The 12 A&M Extension districts of the state each will have an individual exhibit, depicting how research has contributed to progress of the particular type of agriculture practiced in each region. The district displays also will explain how Texans as a whole are affected by regional research problems and their solutions. A huge central exhibit will portray the overall statewide picture.

For example, the Panhandle exhibit will show how research has scored a victory in the production of better wheat which in turn makes possible a better loaf of bread.

Ramsey Makes Statement In Lt. Governor's Race

AUSTIN, Texas — (SC) — Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey has stepped up his campaign for re-election with trips to West Texas and the Panhandle where he proposed stock piling oil for defense.

The East Texas lawyer, a steady but quiet campaigner, said the increasing importation of foreign oil is hurting the petroleum industry which foots about half the state's tax bill.

"A few Texas oil men could financially stand serious price cut-backs, but the majority of the people connected with our oil industry could not. Some of these include farmers and ranchers with leases and royalties. Others are having a hard time now keeping their exploration going," Ramsey said.

"Many of our state services, including schools, colleges and regular operating expenses, are paid for out of oil tax money," Ramsey said. "If our state revenues from petroleum steadily decline we are in for a pinch which I think is unnecessary."

Ramsey said he consistently works to keep state economy and state service in balance for the welfare of all the people. He proposed a solution to the impact of foreign oil imports on state and national economy. The Houston Post said, "As long as the national government feels the importation of foreign oil is necessary for defense planning and as long as we keep spending dollars abroad in aid programs we ought to well put the two together and come up with something that bolsters and not weakens our own economy." Ramsey said engineers have advised stock piling oil is feasible.

"I think," Ramsey said, "the national government might well consider stockpiling oil with funds in the foreign aid bill now being considered by Congress."

Shivers Says He Has Helped Texas School Systems

Austin, Texas, July 15 — Coleman County school children are among those over the state sharing the most impressive period of Texas Public Education in state history, a compilation of figures from 1949-1953 released in Austin this week shows.

The county received $472,611.52 for public education during the last fiscal year as its share of the giant 211-million total spent over the state. The Texas Education Agency report said. It also showed that money for the state's school children had increased from 135 million in 1949 to the present figure.

Interviewed this week, Governor Allan Shivers noted that education funds were distributed through the Giblin Aiken formula to a wide variety of uses. Largest amounts went for salary and operations. Fifteen thousand more teachers with average salary increases of $1,000 in the last few years took a large percentage.

Shivers also explained that last year school administrations received more money to spend for needed improvements than ever before.

Figures also showed lesser known — but important — uses for funds. These included school buses that pick up children in rural areas and transport them safely to school.

Cafeterias with hot noon lunches, only recently becoming less than a luxury to public schools, received financial help also, figures showed.

Shivers, who called the present school system "the best yet in Texas" bid for better education, said that the picture looked even better for future students.

"With the continuance of this aggressive improvement program, Texas can expect to meet efficiently increasing demands of public education," he said.

County Gets Large Income In Social Security Benefits

Mothers and children in Coleman County were getting 22% of the $14773 monthly total in social security insurance benefits being paid in the county at the end of 1953. Ralph T. Fisher, Manager of the Abilene social security office, announced today. Total payments to children in this county were $2103 for the month of December. In the nation as a whole, over one million children were getting a total of about $32½ million in monthly payments at the end of 1953. Nationwide, over a quarter of a million widowed mothers were paid a total of over 9½ million in December.

The largest group of beneficiaries under the social security insurance program, however, continues to be retired workers, Fisher said. In December 229 such beneficiaries in Coleman County were paid a total of $9091. This was an increase of $3125 over December, 1952. Nation-wide, the increase in retired-worker beneficiaries was 578,416, and the monthly payments to them increased from $130,217,439 to $164,659,061 in the same period.

Fisher said that many of us are inclined to think of old-age and survivors insurance under the social security system as a program for retired workers and their dependents exclusively. As the figure relating to mothers and children indicate, however, survivors benefits are an important part of the program, too.

Other beneficiaries on the rolls in Coleman County are wives and aged dependent husbands of retired insured workers, aged widows and dependent widowers of deceased workers, and dependent parents who are receiving survivors benefits. The total of all beneficiaries in Coleman County receiving monthly benefit payments at the end of 1953 was 454, Fisher said. The total amount being paid in the county as of December, 1953, was 45% more than a year before, and 113% more than two years before. For the sixteen-county area served by the Abilene Social Security office, the increase was 40% over a year before and 90% over two years before. Payments of $249,107 were sent out in December 1953 to 7,055 persons in the sixteen counties. This represents an annual total of about three million dollars in the sixteen-county area.

Hot Weather Is Time For Food Poisoning

Austin — Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer, warns that hot weather is here, everyone should be careful in handling and storing food to prevent food poisoning. The organism grows best in foods that are quite fatty, such as ham, pork, salads or sandwiches with rich dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with custard filling. Keep this in mind when you prepare a picnic lunch or when anyone in the family takes a lunch to work during the hot months.

Symptoms of food poisoning usually strike quickly and explosively, and those who do not eat the contaminated food do not become ill. Usually from one to four hours after eating contaminated food, victims feel ill. If it is a mild case of food poisoning, recovery usually begins in eight to 12 hours, but victims may feel the ill effects for several days.

Usual symptoms of food poisoning are diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, and weakness. Whenever you feel these symptoms, be sure to call your physician. Do not wait, hoping it will wear off. Sometimes food poisoning causes death.

Careless handling of food before cooking or serving, improper home canning, storing food too long at room temperature, and improper heating of left-over foods are the main cause of food contamination. So, in order not to endanger your family's health, be especially careful in preparing and storing food. Never let a cut or sore place on your hand come into contact with food. Remember, don't take on a picnic or pack in a lunch, fat meats, salads with egg dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with a custard filling, unless you can keep them properly chilled until serving.

CHICK CHATS— Vaccinate For These Diseases

Mid-summer is a good time for poultrymen to vaccinate for those damaging chicken diseases that can be prevented — Newcastle disease, infectious bronchitis, fowl pox and laryngotracheitis.

Vaccination should be done in advance of the usual disease period. It should be done before pullets go into production. Birds on the range are less confined than at other times; therefore, there is less chance of the immunization developing into an actual case or spreading promiscuously.

Vaccination is more successfully carried out when conditions are dry and temperature is moderate. It's best to avoid rainy days or extremely hot days.

Newcastle Disease Newcastle disease attacks birds of all ages so vaccination is usually done at an early age, preferably at 5-10 days. However, if birds were not vaccinated earlier, they can be immunized anytime with Newcastle intranasal vaccine. Wing-web vaccine can be used instead if birds are between 4 and 16 weeks of age.

It may be necessary to revaccinate for Newcastle if birds are to be kept for layers. This is customarily recommended 30 days before the birds start to lay and will ordinarily carry the birds through the laying period.

Infectious bronchitis intranasal vaccine can be given to healthy chickens of any age but should not be used on birds in production. Here again, birds of all ages are affected so it's usually advisable to vaccinate chicks early then revaccinate before pullets go into production.

Fowl Pox Fowl pox is commonly a disease of fall and winter. Chickens can be vaccinated against fowl pox at any time but vaccination before birds begin to lay is preferred. The usual recommended age for fowl pox vaccination is 11-13 weeks. One immunization is sufficient to give lasting immunity.

Laryngotracheitis also occurs in the fall and winter. Vaccination should be done well in advance of the disease season (recommended age is 8-10 weeks). Vaccination produces a lasting immunity.

If these diseases are present in the vicinity and it seems desirable to vaccinate against one or all, now is a good time to do it. Vaccination of all these diseases should not be done at one time. Consult the manufacturer of the vaccine or some other qualified authority when it is desired to vaccinate against more than one disease at a time.
