POINT OF THE PARABLE

"Once there was a fellow who owned a mule," an aged farmer was telling his young grandson who had returned home for his first visit from college with fomenting enthusiasm for "liberal ideals" — alias welfare-statism. "It was costing him a lot to feed the mule so the man hit upon the happy plan of mixing sawdust with the mule's feed to provide bulk and cut down on the feed costs. First he used a 75-25 formula — 75 percent feed and 25 percent sawdust. The mule continued to thrive. So the owner cut the rations again — this time to a 50-50 basis, and despite the change, the mule still appeared normal. Elated at the "progress" he was making in his goal, the man made another change — this time to 25 percent feed and 75 percent sawdust. A few mornings later when he went to the feed lot, he found the mule dead."

The young man frowned. "But what does that have to do with social justice and equality through legislation?" he asked. "America has had the sawdust of socialism put in its feed box for some years now," the grandfather explained. "The young man's frown deepened into thoughtful reflection as the point of the parable became obvious. "In fact," continued Grandpa, "I would judge that the formula presently stands at about the 50-50 mark..."

DEFINING TWO WORDS

By John T. Flynn

What's the difference between a Republican and a Democrat? There was a time when that question could be answered pretty clearly. But not any more — not if you are trying to describe a social, political and economic philosophy with the word "Republican" or "Democrat." The word "Democrat" has no meaning when it is applied, for instance, to both Harry Byrd and Hubert Humphrey; the word "Republican" has no meaning when applied to both Barry Goldwater and Jacob Javits.

However, there are two words which are much more descriptive of two opposing philosophies. They are "liberal" and "conservative." But these words need defining, especially the word "liberal." It now has an entirely different meaning (which is why it must be surrounded by quotation marks) from what we used to understand by the word. The modern "liberal," in calling himself a "liberal," has copied the communist technique of giving upside-down meanings to old words.

In the America of the 19th and early 20th century a liberal was really what we now call a conservative. He had evolved from the old European liberals who, at the dawn of capitalism, were merchants and businessmen. They were in revolt against domination by the dying feudal aristocracy. As the liberal movement in Europe grew, it came to stand for political freedom. In the United States in the last century, a liberal stood for liberty — political, economic and religious liberty. His chief concern was for the individual as against organized tyranny by either government or economic pressure groups. Usually, he was a strict constitutionalist because he knew that the U. S. Constitution was the greatest guarantee of individual liberty ever intended.

The modern "liberal" is therefore a far cry from the American liberal of 50 to 100 years ago. The old liberal believed that "that government is best which governs least." The modern "liberal" believes in Big Government — so that more and more power is centered there, and less control over his life and fortunes is left to the individual. Dependence on his degree of dedication to modern "liberalism," the "liberal" believes the government — which means the men who run government — should manage a little, or half, or two-thirds of our lives, or everything from birth to death. In the final analysis modern "liberalism" means taking from the people a little or part of all of their substance, giving it to a central government — which means an army of bureaucrats — and letting them say where, how and when it should be used.

A conservative, on the other hand, wishes to conserve what we have — or had. He wishes to keep and strengthen the governmental system which made us the freest people on earth. He wishes to maintain an economic system which — because it was free — brought us the greatest abundance in the history of

J. Edd Bartlett Rites on Monday

J. Edd Bartlett, 85, a resident of Santa Anna for 63 years, died in the local hospital about 5:00 a. m. Sunday. He had been a patient there for four days, but had been in failing health for several months. He was a retired building contractor and cotton ginner.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church Monday, March 13, at 3:00 p. m. The pastor, Rev. Raymond Jones, officiated. Burial was in the Santa Anna Cemetery, under the direction of Hosh Funeral Home. Masonic graveside rites were conducted.

Mr. Bartlett was born October 17, 1875 at Rice, Texas. He was converted and joined the Baptist Church at the age of 17 years. Before coming to Santa Anna he served the Rice Baptist Church as clerk. He came here in 1893 and was married to Ritta McDaniel May 25, 1902, and they have made their home here since that time. He operated cotton gins here for many years and also did building contracting. He retired from business life several years ago.

mankind. The word "conservative" is often confused with the word "reactionary." Modern "liberals" deliberately propound this confusion because they want to make it seem that a conservative is an old fuddy-duddy who lives in the dark past and never wants to change anything. But the true conservative is not opposed to change and progress. He merely maintains that change, simply for the sake of change, is not always necessarily good, and that there are values and principles which are unchangeable. Unlike the modern "liberal," he does not go overboard for every crackbrained notion which comes out of a government bureau or so-called "task force" — or the Harvard Economics Department. As for progress, the conservative believes in true progress — much more so, really, than does the modern "liberal." But he believes such progress should always be made within the framework of our constitutional, free-enterprise system — with the least possible coercion by the government of the individual.

Once we get our definitions straight, it is obvious that it is the modern "liberal" — not the conservative — who is the real reactionary. Modern "liberalism" would return us to the old tyrannical darkness of the all-powerful central state. Conservatism would rebuild the freedom of the American Republic, and have us go forward to ever greater progress within the framework of our God-given liberties.

Auto Inspections Still Lagging Behind Schedule

L. A. Welch, operator of the only official inspection station in Santa Anna under the Vehicle Inspection Law, reports that inspections are still running behind the normal number. With only 25 more days for inspections, there is still more than 400 vehicles to be inspected before the deadline on April 15.

The law clearly states that all vehicles traveling Texas Highways will have the vehicle inspection sticker on the windshield no later than April 15. If it is not there at that time, the owner is subject to prosecution. "We have enjoyed a number of pretty days recently, and those who have not had their autos inspected should get it done as soon as possible. Under the laws of the inspection code, inspection stations cannot make the inspections during wet weather. Take advantage of the opportunity — get your inspections completed now."

Mystery Man to Show Powers Of Hypnotism

What do you think you would do in a hypnotic trance?

Merlin, the Hypnotist, who is appearing on the stage of the Santa Anna High School auditorium at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, March 23, will call a number of willing volunteers from the audience. While under hypnosis, they will shower with cold, see a motion picture, and other uncanny demonstrations, which Merlin achieves through the power of suggestion.

The program is being sponsored by the Santa Anna Band Boosters Club. Prices of admission are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. Advance tickets are on sale by members of the organization for the outstanding free night show. You are assured a full evening of fun and excitement. Help the Band Boosters when you attend. Get your tickets early from any Band Boosters.

A feature of the show is to make a volunteer stiff as a board, then stretch him between two chairs — his head on the edge of one chair, and his heels on the edge of the other. Then Merlin stands on the person's stomach. After it's all over, the volunteer remembers the demonstration as though it had taken place in a dream. To demonstrate the power of post-hypnotic suggestion, Merlin tells the volunteers that their right foot will be fastened to the floor when they try to leave the stage. They find it impossible to leave the stage until Merlin breaks the spell.

Merlin is one of the few magicians who has mastered mass hypnosis, which is generally considered to be the most difficult of all the magician's accomplishments.

Instead of escaping from a thoroughly examined and padded box as the Great Houdini used to do, Merlin locks a willing volunteer in the box, and then by a series of suggestions, the box is unlocked and the volunteer is free.

Merlin is a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians and has been a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians since 1930.

Plant Disease Of the Week

Harlan E. Smith, Extension Plant Pathologist

POWDERY MILDEW POSES A THREAT TO MANY FLOWER AND ORNAMENTAL PLANTINGS

Powdery mildew, a fungus disease which attacks many flowering and ornamental plants, is normally present at this time of the year in many areas of Texas.

Home gardeners are advised to check their plantings for signs of the disease. The fungus appears as a white, to grayish growth covering the surface of the plant parts, mainly the leaf surface. Dust the plants with sulfur at the first appearance of the disease or spray with wettable sulfur (1-1/2 to 2 level tablespoons to 1 gallon of water). Repeat the applications if needed. Karathane or Phaltan used as a dust or spray may give better control but is probably more expensive. Karathane or Phaltan has an advantage of being less toxic to plants. Sulfur, Karathane or Phaltan are available in insecticide-fungicide combination spray or dust.

Some of the more commonly grown plants which should be watched for mildew are roses, violets, chrysanthemums, honeysuckle, phlox, zinnias, live oak, crape myrtle, euonymus and hydrangea.

Unless the disease is controlled, the plants may lose their foliage and thus fail to make normal growth and production. Local county agents have detailed information on how to treat the various plants. They should be contacted if more information is needed. If commercial preparations are applied, the recommendations of the manufacturer of the material should be followed in making the application. Keep pesticides in a dry, safe place away from children.

Wilson Calls for Action to Get Business on Move

Austin — Nearing the midpoint in the final month of his campaign for U. S. Senator, Attorney General Will Wilson has called for immediate action to get business in Texas back on the move.

"We must seek new business and new industry — new pay-rolls," Wilson insists. "This is essential if our high school graduates are to have the same opportunity we have had to earn our living in Texas."

Other parts of the Wilson seven-point program call for immediate tax credits for companies making investments in new plants and new machinery, immediate temporary extension of the number of weeks unemployment benefits may be drawn in hardship cases, and immediate stimulation of the agricultural economy by adoption of a farm program "that makes sense."

Wilson also urges protection of the nation's manufacturers and working people from unfair competition of foreign businesses and keeping the Federal Highway Program on schedule.

Central to his program is the restoration of the Texas oil and gas industry to an expanding basis.

"Every time a drilling rig shuts down, 143 people are out of work," the Attorney General said. "As a result of the slowdown in drilling in West Texas, a foundry in East Texas which makes drilling tools is working only three days a week."

Christian Crusade Founder To Be In Coleman Monday

Tulsa, Okla. — Evangelist Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Okla., founder-director of Christian Crusade, largest anti-communist organization in the U. S., will appear in Coleman at 7:30 p. m. Monday, March 20 at the Concho Baptist Church, 10th & Concho Streets. It was announced today by Rev. Paul Smith, pastor.

Dr. Hargis, who has crusaded actively against Communist infiltration in all walks of American life for 13 years, was the center of the "Air Force manual" controversy last spring when two of his booklets were used as authentication by the manual's author for his charges against the National Council of Churches.

An ordained Protestant minister, Hargis resigned his pastorate in Sapulpa, Oklahoma in 1953 to devote his full time to an interdenominational anti-communist ministry and founded the Christian Crusade organization. Its basic messages are carried into 45 states by means of daily and weekly radio broadcasts. Recently Hargis introduced a national weekly television series, and has just completed the filming of 26 weeks of the television programs. In addition, his organization publishes the Christian Crusade Magazine, which has monthly circulation of more than 90,000. The newest publication is a weekly intelligence digest, The Weekly Crusader, which is edited by Hargis and General Charles A. Willoughby, former chief of intelligence for General Douglas MacArthur. They also distribute Hargis' weekly newspaper column, "For and Against" without charge.

Hargis recently announced plans to erect a Christian Crusade International Headquarters in Tulsa. Plans for the new headquarters include, in addition to the business facilities, a Chapel and a National Liberty Museum. The museum would be erected for the purpose of housing mementos of Christian men and women who have made this country great and would honor outstanding patriots of American history, contemporary and historic.

Hargis has visited over 100 cities during his past year, holding Christian Crusade Rallies and speaking at private meetings and civic groups.

The Coleman meeting is open to the public and admission is free. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. and the showing of "Operation Abolition," special documentary film of the House Un-American Activities Committee hearings in San Francisco last May, will be a special feature of the Rally.

Premier Grama Proves Its Worth

College Station — Certified seed growers in the state have produced their first crop of Premier, a new variety of sideoats grama, and reports indicate they are very well pleased with the results. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, developers of Premier, took a survey of growers and found that most thought the new strain was as good or better in every way than Coronado, Uvalde, Vaughn or El Reno.

All of the growers surveyed said they would recommend Premier to their friends because of its outstanding qualities.

One of Premier's greatest advantages over other commercial varieties is its ability to grow under limited moisture conditions. Another is its tendency to retain its spikes after maturity, thus allowing more time for harvesting.

Forage production is another of Premier's strongpoints. The seed germinate readily, and the seedlings develop into mature plants in approximately 120 days. This, coupled with the plant's ability to produce long, broad leaves, makes for a bountiful production in a relatively short time.

Premier is recommended for the area bounded by Lubbock, Sonora, Stephenville and Marfa. It should be planted in sandy loam, loam and clay loam soils at the rate of one pound of pure live seed per acre. Seeding should be done in early spring, and competitive plants should be controlled by spraying or mowing.

Seed should be available from commercial seed producers for spring planting.

Prairie Chicks Along Coast Are Disappearing

Austin — The future of the Attwater prairie chicken, native Texas bird of the Gulf Coast area, is discussed in a full-length article in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.

The bird, once plentiful on the coast, now is facing extinction, according to the article. Gun pressure isn't blamed with the disappearance of the bird, however. Civilization has been pushing it back, and its one-time home now is lost. Rice fields and oil wells have replaced the birds over much of the area of South Texas where they once abounded.

Tom Waddell, retired game warden at Eagle Lake, has been studying the Attwater prairie chicken population for years. He says they are getting very scarce. At a recent meeting of the wildlife committee of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, a new program for their preservation was put under way.

Considerable research on the Attwater also has been done by Val Lehmann, wildlife director of the King Ranch. He has written several bulletins outlining the history of this native Texas bird.

IRS Getting Tax Refunds Mailed Rapidly

The Internal Revenue Service has long been noted for efficiency in the taking in of our tax dollars. This year's "hurry-up" tax refund program to bolster the sagging economy has called for the tax folks turning their skill to getting tax dollars out. They are proving equal to the occasion.

Refunds mailed to Dallas District taxpayers by March 3, 1961 amount to 217,427 checks totaling $21,062,500, or an average of $97 per check. This is well ahead of the 143,148 checks totaling $13,056,214, or an average of $88 per check mailed to taxpayers by March 3, 1960. The tax men feel that the increase of $9 per refund check is due to increased unemployment during 1960. They expect refunds amounting to some seventy to eighty million to be mailed to more than 720,000 taxpayers before July 1.

Elli Campbell Jr., District Director, advises all taxpayers to file now. He stated, "Those having refunds coming will help us to get their refund to them sooner by mailing their tax returns now."

Methodist Women To Meet in Fort Worth

Miss Ruth M. Harris, Secretary of Student Work for the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, will be featured on the program. She will speak Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

A period of instruction by each conference officer in her line of work will be given Tuesday afternoon.

On Wednesday, a fellowship banquet will be held in the Texas Wesleyan College Dining Hall.

Spring to Speed Coastal Fishing In 10 More Days

Austin — Look for coastal fishing to pick up within the next 10 days. This is the suggestion of Howard Lee, director of the marine fisheries division of the Game and Fish Commission.

"The first day of spring usually is about right for fishing conditions along the Gulf coast to show a marked improvement," he said. The first day of spring is March 21, on the calendar.

Right now salt water fishing isn't too good, with scattered catches of drum and practically no red fish, he reports.

Water temperature is running now about the same as the air temperature, in the high sixties.

The mackerel run can be expected when the water temperature reaches about 80 degrees. Hootie makers of Port Aransas already are busy, however, turning out this local Spanish mackerel bait, in anticipation of a heavy spring run.

In fresh water, bass and crappie fishing both have been on the increase for the past 10 days. Some large bass have been taken from many of the lakes throughout the state.

The high crappie run has been on in South Texas for several days. It is expected to begin in Central and North Texas just any day.

Texas Trading Turkeys for Arizona Quail

Austin — Forty south Texas turkeys have been sent to Arizona for planting. In exchange, Texas will get a shipment of Gambel's quail. This is a trade between the Texas Game and Fish Commission and the Arizona Game and Fish Commission, to increase the quantities of the species in the two states.

The turkeys were trapped on the King Ranch and moved to Midland by truck. There they were met by two planes from Arizona. They were released in the Nogales area.

When Texas receives its shipment of the Gambel's quail, they will be released in the Black Gap area, according to W. J. Cutbirth Jr., assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

At the present time, the Gambel's population along the Rio Grande Valley in West Texas is low. It is hoped through this exchange of wildlife to increase the population of this popular bird. Already the Black Gap has been stocked with quail from Nevada and California. Big horn sheep from Arizona also have been placed on the Black Gap management area.

Cattle Raisers to Meet in Fort Worth

Fort Worth — New developments in the livestock industry will be in the spotlight at the 84th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in Fort Worth, March 20-22.

A new meat tenderizing technique will be described by Dr. D. L. Stahell of Swift & Co., and the Armour & Co. Beef Cattle Improvement Program will be explained by W. M. Elder, Armour & Company.

Heading a list of awards to be presented is a plaque to be given to the Texas Extension worker who has made an outstanding contribution in prompting the beef cattle industry.

AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY

The voice of the American people has been heard! On March 1, 1961, the House of Representatives, in a landmark vote of 312 to 60, rejected the House Un-American Activities Committee $331,000 which to carry on its spy and subversive work for the current year.

The House Un-American Activities Committee $331,000 which to carry on its spy and subversive work for the current year.

Well, the people of America just didn't believe Mr. Roosevelt and told their representatives so. This is proof positive that Congressmen do listen to the people back home. If the people will only expend the time and effort to express their views.

The five Congressmen who joined Mr. Roosevelt in voting against the appropriation were: William F. Ryan (Dem., N. Y.), Robert W. Kastenmeier (Dem., Wis.), Thomas L. Ashley (Dem., Ohio), Edith Green (Dem., Ore.) and Barrett O'Hara (Dem., Ill.). Paste these names in your hat.

And so, Representative Francis E. Walter (Dem., Pa.) and the House Un-American Activities Committee of which he is the able Chairman, will carry on unmasking communists and other subversives for at least another year. The people wanted them to continue — they bespoke themselves — the Congress headed — and how it headed — 112 to 61!

BLACKLAND BELT STUDIES PROBLEMS

Hill County, in the heart of the Blackland Belt and the historic cotton growing center of Texas, is taking the lead in studies aimed at increasing the county's dwindling farm income from cotton.

Not long ago more than 500 Hill County farmers gathered at Hillsboro, their county seat, to attend a study session sponsored by the Hill County Seven-Step Cotton Committee. The seven steps are aimed at increasing the county's income from cotton by at least $1,000,000 in 1961. Experts emphasized at the meeting that the biggest problems facing Hill County farmers, as well as those throughout the other counties of the old Black-

CLEAR WATER FISHING
Clear water is hard to fish. Even old pros have trouble with it.

You can help matters a lot by using patience. Cast out your plug. The fish will scatter. Let the plug sink to the bottom. Leave it there — three-four-five-six minutes — then start your retrieve.

By that time the fish will have forgotten the original splash of your plug and may go for it.

A large crowd attended the meeting at the Community Center Friday night, when plans for the coming annual April Picnic were made. Monday, March 27, the men will gather and get everything ready. The picnic will be the first Saturday in April, which this year is the first of April. Barbecue will be served as always, with everyone bringing a basket lunch. Tell everyone they are invited to the Whon Picnic, Saturday, April 1, 1961. Cookies and punch were served to all present at the meeting Friday night.

Our community has a new Post Mistress this week, starting last Saturday. Our Post Mistress, Mrs. Earl Cozart, who has been in office here for 32 years retired last Friday. Mrs. Cozart states she has several reasons of her own for taking this step. But her spoken reason is her health. People are going to miss Ida. But we extend a very hearty welcome to Mrs. Graham Fitzpatrick, who took office here last Saturday. Mrs. Cozart plans to devote her time to house work and just plain doing just what she wants to for a while. The Post Office will remain in the same location.

Following is an article Mrs. Gardiner received from Jefferson Junior High School, Albuquerque, New Mexico, concerning her granddaughter, Miss Deanne Hext, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granvil Hext, formerly of our community.

"Third Little Girl in Red"
Our little girl in red you see running around J.J.H. in a great big tizzy is Deanne Hext.

Among her favorites are Richard Glantz, any food, the Friday night shows, slumber parties, her friends, people and parties.

Her dislikes are people who don't have school spirit, as well as those who have laryngitis. Her favorite cheers are Zip, Line up Spirits, Rhythms, and For the Red.

Deanne is active in Student Council, and is Youth Council representative. She is a writer on the newspaper, a member of the girl's Breakfast Club, President of the Richard Glantz Fan Club. She is also active in Sunday School and church work.

Deanne's best subjects are PE and English. Her favorite teachers are Mr. Melloy and Mr. Chartier.

Please note Deanne's long brown hair, big brown eyes, long eye lashes and 5 feet 4 inch height. If you look hard enough you can find this active girl racing everywhere at J.J.H. Deanne is also a cheer leader for J.J.H.

IMPLEMENT CO.
Coleman, Texas

Austin — After hours of fiercely critical debate, the House voted by a surprising 149-101 to attack the state's fiscal problems by working first to retire the deficit as an emergency matter.

This is the approach advocated by Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker of the House James Turman. Several who spoke against the deficit-retiring resolution voted for it.

Agreeing to retire the deficit, however, is not the same as agreeing on how to do it. Some new measures, big and broad, have been introduced.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has submitted an omnibus tax measure which he says will bring in $293,000,000 over a two-year period. It is backed by Governor Daniel.

Hinson's bill includes levies on natural gas pipelines, power-driven objects and parts, utilities, stock transfers, jewelry and watches, construction materials, soft drinks, beer, wine, liquor, restaurant meals.

According to the governor's office, the bill would provide revenue for an $800 a year teacher pay raise and other spending but is not aimed at wiping out the deficit.

Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest A. Harding of San Angelo are proposing an even bigger one. It is a 2 percent general sales tax to raise an estimated $317,000,000.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas has introduced, as promised, his "Texas broad-based excise tax."

It is not called a sales tax, but, in the language of the bill, imposes "upon each separate sale at retail tangible personal property within this state an excise tax of 2 percent." It has a long list of examples, including some already-taxed items.

CO-OP BILL KILLED

REA electric co-op hopes for more city privileges were tumbled by a 77-to-64 House vote.

Several years ago, the Legislature passed a law, authorizing co-ops to continue to serve the same customers when a co-op area is annexed by a city. This year the co-ops sought permission to add new customers to existing lines in annexed areas.

Opponents charged that this would put a government-subsidized operation in competition with private enterprise. Spokesmen for private utilities declared they have to pay 27.4 percent of their income in taxes compared to 1.6 percent for co-ops.

Co-op leaders say that, after taking electricity to areas the private companies wouldn't serve, they are now in a life-or-death struggle.

ANNEXING CURB PASSED

No longer would Texas cities be able to reach out and annex "all out of doors" under a bill passed 139-to-5 by the House.

It provides that cities would be encircled by a zone in which they would have control of building and sanitation codes, but would not have taxing powers. A portion of this zone could be annexed each year.

Also, cities would be required to get city utilities to an annexed area within three years.

LOAN LAW SOUGHT

House Banking Committee is engaged in one of the sessions' toughest and most difficult tasks — hammering out new regulations for the small loan industry.

A constitutional amendment voted by the people last November removed the blanket prohibition against interest of more than 10 percent and gave the Legislature authority to set interest rates and regulate the loan industry.

Five bills are under study. In general, they provide for a maximum charge of 3 percent per month on loans under $100, less for larger loans. Whether credit insurance should be included in maximum charges allowed is one of the questions at issue.

NEW INSURANCE RATE BILL

As a new approach to auto insurance rates, Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo has introduced a bill to require legislative approval of State Board of Insurance orders.

Hazlewood said his first approach, a bill directing the board to make certain changes in the present auto rate plan, had been "bottled up."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Insurance Committee voted out favorably a "flexible rating" bill that would take away from the Insurance Board the authority to set auto rates.

A few days earlier, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson issued an opinion that, under present law, only the State Board, not the companies, can set these rates.

Prior to his resignation as chairman of the State Insurance Board, Penn J. Jackson had suggested letting individual companies set up their own merit rating plans on an optional basis.

MOUTHFUL

Texas A&M College exes, famed for their fierce defense of the school's traditions, have a problem.

Sen. W. T. Moore and Rep. B. H. Dewey, both of Bryan, are sponsoring bills to change A&M's name. There's more prestige in being called a "university" than a "college" they say.

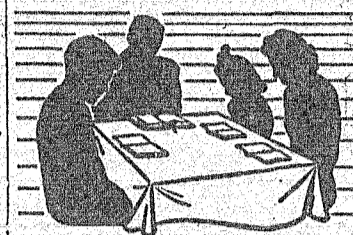

Proposed measure would change name to Texas State University and Agricultural and Mechanical College, with a view

About Your Health

Accidents rank third among the leading causes of death, but numerically claim far fewer lives than the two leading causes. About 92,000 persons died from accidents in the United States during 1960.

In Texas last year, there were 5,430 accidental deaths, third only to heart diseases and cancer, based on 1960 provisional estimates compiled by the Records and Statistics Section of the State Health Department.

Read Hebrews 13:18-25.
I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine. (John 10:14.)

The highest degree of well-being is enjoyed by sheep when they can hear the voice of their shepherd. The sheep know the difference between the voice of strangers and their shepherd's voice. When strangers guide them, they are fearful, nervous and timid. They cannot eat peacefully. What a change takes place when their shepherd comes to them! They feel safe and at ease.

Jesus is the good shepherd. He wants to be our very own shepherd. He wants us to recognize His voice, to trust Him, to obey Him, and to have peace that passes all human understanding.

Jesus knows other voices clamor for our attention and loyalty. He also knows that our following them leads us in the end to fear, guilt and death. Each of us decides for himself whom he will hear and follow.

It was when the psalmist said, "The Lord is my shepherd," that he came to understand, "I shall not want."

Dear Christ, be my shepherd! I hear Thy voice; help me to heed and follow. May there come to me the assurance of Thy forgiveness, and may I experience the peace and joy which Thou hast for me. In Thy blessed name. Amen.

LAST-MINUTE FLOOD

Passage of the 60-day midpoint in this session ended the period when bills may be introduced without special consent. A flood of new bills came in under the wire. Among them are measures that would: allow voters to put an "X" by the name of the person they wish to vote for instead of scratching all others on the ballot; provide for a 10 percent merit pay raise for teachers to be awarded by local districts and financed 50-50 by state and districts; provide penalties for law enforcement officers who come out of "ambush" to arrest motorists; require children entering the first grade in public schools to have polio shots; increase workmen's compensation insurance benefits to a maximum of $50 per week.

Texas' death rate from accidents was 58.4 per 100,000 population during 1960 compared to a 52.2 national accident-death rate.

However, 1960's rate was down from 57.9 the year before.

The lion's share of accidental deaths involve motor vehicle accidents. In Texas, last year about 2,240 persons were killed in automobile accidents.

Nationwide, there were 38,000 motor vehicle accident deaths in 1960 — a few hundred more than in 1959.

The national rise reflects the increase in the amount of automobile travel. The motor vehicle accident death rate per 100 million miles of travel in 1960 may set an all-time low of approximately 5.3 nationwide — Texas' rate for 1959 and 1959.

In Texas, deaths from motor accidents actually dropped by about 190, with a corresponding drop in the rate from 26.9 per 100,000 population in 1959 to 24.5 for 1960.

Accidents in and about the home took 26,500 lives in 1960, or an increase of approximately 500 for the entire nation.

Again the leading cause of home accidents was fall — most were same-level falls involving people in the older age groups.

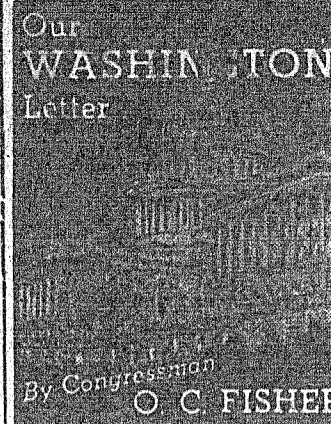

Also of interest from the 1960 provisional death rate estimates is that suicides accounted for 320 Texas deaths for a rate of 8.5, the same as 1959.

Suicides cause more Texas deaths each year — during the last few years — than tuberculosis or influenza, both former leading causes 30 years ago.

Homicides claimed 695 deaths in Texas during 1960, slightly less than the year before. Accidents, suicides and homicides, while claiming too many Texas lives, still rank far down the list compared to "natural" causes numerically. By Congressman C. FISHER

THERE'S A LOT OF TALK going around about the proposed Peace Corps. Just how it will work out remains to be seen. The entire idea is fraught with many unanswered questions. Some say the plan could be a success, while others foresee many pitfalls which could make of it a dismal failure.

Here's the general idea of the set-up: Several thousand Americans, mainly young college grads, are to be recruited, then trained for three months in six universities before being sent to "under-developed" countries. Their transportation would be paid by the government, and also food, lodging, and other personal expenses. They would be paid salaries of from $50. to $75. per month, to be retained and given each corpsman after the tour of duty. Congress has not approved any of this, however.

There has been no clear indication of what these people would do. It is theorized they would go out into the wilderness and tell the natives how to do things more efficiently.

Robert Shriver, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, has been appointed to head the program. He says the recruits must be hardy and have a "pioneering spirit."

But many questions are being asked. What would such young people do that is not now being done under Point 4? That is the purpose of Point 4 — to give technical advice and training to help people help themselves. It would seem, therefore, that the new project would simply increase the number of such people in government service doing the same type of work.

How are such recruits to be screened, and who will do the screening? From UNRRA, Point 4, and in foreign aid programs, the U. S. has been embarrassed more than once by having the wrong kind of people representing this country abroad.

To whom would such young people be responsible? Or would they, as it appears, be on their own, answerable to the head office in Washington?

It is well to recall that only recently Mennen (Soapy) Williams caused much embarrassment to our Ambassadors in East Africa by virtually-insulting local governments. This alone would indicate the difficulty in getting the right kind of people to speak for us when visiting strange countries.
