Thirty-Seventh Year

Santa Anna, Coleman County, Texas, Friday, August 10, 1923

Number 32

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

BUCKLE UP, SIT STEADY AND LOOK FORWARD

The people of this town and community should not become unduly discouraged by any unfavorable conditions that might appear to be present, and should not lose faith in the ultimate growth of Santa Anna and development of this country. It is true this country has had to pass through a most trying period during the liquidation and reconstruction days, and only short crops have been made throughout the country, but this particular section has been favored over many other sections of central west Texas and the country in general is far ahead of other towns and communities, and it is conceded that the worst is passed and a brighter day is dawning for the people of this country.

The thing for every one to do is to sit steady in the boat, maintain a cheerful countenance, buckle on an armor of courage, talk better times, look forward to better times, expect better times, help to bring about better times and better times are sure to come. Santa Anna is by far the best town of its size in the state, situated in one of the best agricultural sections in the southwest, has more and better natural surroundings and resources of any town on the map, and our farmers are energetic, progressive and worthy of trust. The business men of Santa Anna should be organized in a permanent organization, full of zeal and courage, looking forward at all times for opportunities to make a bigger and better town. Special trade days, bargain days, bargain counters in the stores, friendly co-operation among the business interest all are paramount and should be kept and maintained at all times. We should stand together for everything that makes for the betterment of our country. Energy, intelligence and proper co-operation will succeed where success is at all possible.

We have some oil production here, but as yet we believe the great pools of oil in this section are untouched and some day rich rewards will be realized from the golden fluid that will come forth when the drill pierces the sand. It will probably require many tests to locate these big pools, but the News believes they are here.

Coleman county is also a fine place for stock raising, and with farming and stock raising carried on under the direction of a competent farm demonstration agent our people will realize greater prosperity than has ever yet been experienced. With the other magnificent resources of this section, including the oil and gas production, nothing can keep Santa Anna and Coleman county from being the center of the greatest industrial activity of any section of the state.

Let us all look forward with courage and hope, and let us strive for the accomplishment of great things. "Not failure, but low aim, is crime." There is much we can always do to bring about prosperity and we should stand solidly together, united in the spirit of loyal sympathy and with the most open and cordial co-operation that can be found, and nothing can keep us from attaining success. But it requires that, and any kind of deception or of secret understanding that creates discord in our ranks will doom us to failure. Let us "buckle up" and move forward.

REVIVAL AT LIBERTY

The News has been requested to announce that E. E. Dawson of Coleman will begin a revival meeting at Liberty Sunday. All are requested to take notice and attend.

T. L. Dewbre and son John, R. B. Casper and son Henry of May, Texas, visited J. T. Miller and family first of the week.

OLD SETTLERS REUNION

According to hand bills that have been distributed on the streets this week, Coleman and Rannels counties are to hold a joint celebration in the form of an Old Settlers Reunion and Carival on the Charle Brown ranch, four miles east of Talpa, Aug. 15-16.

A wide variety of attractions are being advertised, and a good time for all is expected. If you wish to attend don't forget the dates.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BAPTIST CAMP AT CRISTOVAL

The big annual encampment of Baptists at Cristoval, Texas began Tuesday, August 7 and will continue through August 17. Baptists from many sections to the number of several thousand will be in attendance. The encampment is not strictly an affair of pleasure by any means, although it is a well-known fact that those attending these encampment meetings usually enjoy themselves. But they get much of their enjoyment out of the meetings, religious work, excellent singing and musical programs, and the interesting course of instruction in Biblical and Baptist subjects.

Several from Santa Anna and Coleman county usually attend the encampment, but so far we have not been informed of a very large number who expect to attend this year.

F. L. U. COUNTY CONVENTION MEET AT PLAINVIEW

The County Convention of the Farmer Labor Union of this county will meet at Plainview Saturday of this week. The convention was to have met in Santa Anna, but due to an association being in progress at the tabernacle, the plans were changed and they will meet at Plainview. State President, A. M. Hillard will be present at the convention and will make a talk some time during the day.

CITY TO HAVE STREETS SPRINKLED

A movement has been launched this week to have the streets of Santa Anna sprinkled in the future. Mr. Ford Barnes, president of the local Chamber of Commerce called a meeting of the business men Tuesday for the purpose of considering the matter and it was voted unanimously to have committees appointed to solicit funds to see if a sufficient amount could be raised to employ some one to sprinkle the streets for one year. The committees were appointed and went to work, and we feel sure that sufficient funds will be subscribed to meet the needs and the work will soon be started.

HORSE SENSE

"If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him. If he pays wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he represents. I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of his time. I would give an undivided service or none. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, why, resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content. But, I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part, you disparage yourself."

Elbert Hubbard.

THURSDAY THIMBLE CLUB

The Thursday Thimble club and a few chosen friends were guests of Mrs. Charles Hale last Thursday afternoon.

The reception rooms were adorned with gorgeous zinnias and crepe myrtle. Three tables of forty-two furnished diversion. Punch was served continually thru the games.

The refreshment plates held grape cherbét and angel food.

Those participating were the club members and Mrs. Lee Hunter, Mrs. Roger Hunter, Mrs. Ernest Polk, Mrs. John Tate of Comanche, and the hostess sister Mrs. Rucker of Fort Sumner, New Mexico.

Miss Faith Raney and Mr. Ersa Kelley were week-end visitors of Miss Inez Marshall.

SCHOOL NOTES

During this week, a copy of the bulletin containing a brief course of study and the general announcements for the school year of 1923-1924 will be mailed to every patron of the entire school district. This little bulletin contains important information for all concerned, and we therefore, trust that you will read it and file it away for future reference.

There seems to be a rumor in the community that because of an adverse report during last year by a high school supervisor on the crowded condition of our school that we have lost our affiliation. This report is utterly untrue. We have not lost any affiliation at all. On the other hand, by a strenuous effort, we have raised our affiliation one and one half units over what we had last year. This additional affiliation was received in Vocational Agriculture. We now have a total of 19 units of affiliation.

There is a crowd of men working on the school building now making some needed repairs. And too a substantial amount of badly needed furniture and equipment has been added. All this, together with the fact that we will have some additional teaching force, makes possible the very best school year that Santa Anna has ever known during the next term. Let's be careful not to take too seriously reports that are intended to injure our school system, but on the other hand, let us all pull together in making this a banner year for Santa Anna educationally.

Yours for better schools,
B. T. Withers, Supt.

LEAF WORMS REPORTED IN COTTON

L. E. Bell who lives in the Red Bank community was in town Monday buying poison to try to kill leaf worms, which are reported to be depredating on his cotton. Other farmers have reported some of the pest, but no one is of the opinion that the worms will do very much damage unless it is in the late crops. Mr. G. P. England, near Plainview, reports having some worms in his cotton. Efforts should be made to rid the fields of the pest if such can be done, as they are a very destructive pest.

BUSY IDLERS

Friday of last week, Mrs. Harry T. Caton chose the cool morning hours to entertain the Busy Idlers at their weekly club meeting.

PRESIDENT HARDING DIES SUDDENLY

The following telegram was sent out Thursday night, Aug. 2, 7:30 p. m.:

Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, died instantaneously and without warning Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock (9:30 o'clock Dallas time), a victim of a stroke of apoplexy, which struck him down in his weakened condition after an illness of exactly a week of ptomaine poisoning and pneumonia.

The disease had been conquered, but seven days of silent, though intense, suffering had left their mark and a stroke of apoplexy came without an instant's warning and before physicians could be called, members of his party summoned, or remedial measures taken, he passed from life's stage after having for nearly two and a half years served his Nation and for many more years his native State of Ohio.

The end came after a day which had been described by Brig. Gen. Sawyer, the President's personal physician, as the most satisfactory day the President had had since his illness began.

The physicians, in their formal announcement of the end, said that "during the day he had been free from discomfort and there was every justification for anticipating a prompt recovery."

WIFE GIVES ALARM

The first indication that a change had occurred in the condition of Mr. Harding came shortly after 7 o'clock when Mrs. Harding personally opened the door of the sick room and called to those in the corridors to "find Dr. Boone and the others quick." At that time Mrs. Harding was understood to have been reading to the President, sitting at his bedside with the evening papers and messages of sympathy which had been received during the day.

His remains were prepared and shipped to Washington, D. C., where the body was held in state for twenty-four hours, and a very appropriate funeral service held Wednesday. Interment will be made in Marion, Ohio, to-day (Friday), at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Worked in printing office of village paper and college paper finally bought Marion Daily Star of which he became editor.

Elected President, 1920.

SANTA FE FREIGHT TRAIN WENT IN DITCH

Monday evening of this week a freight train was heading east out of Coleman, and while traveling at a pretty fair speed, eleven freight cars went into the ditch about four miles west of Santa Anna. A car of gasoline and one of lime were close together, but at last reports the contents of the two cars had not met. No one was hurt but traffic was delayed until the road was cleared.

J. J. GREGG, Editor and Publisher

The News has been handicapped the past few weeks, due to part of the force taking a vacation and the editor being almost knocked out physically, but we are getting lined up for the fall business and will soon have a complete working force on the job. Our main floor man tendered his resignation to go into business for himself of a different line, thus we have been on the lookout for several days for a competent man to take his place, and we feel we have been fortunate in securing the services of a man who has been in the newspaper business many years, in fact, was raised in a print shop, and the editor has been knowing him personally for at least one decade, and know him to be of the right kind of man, not only as a printer but as a man as well. This man is Van E. Curtis who comes from Midland, Texas, where he recently severed his connection with the Midland Reporter. In our opinion, we could have searched the country over and would not have found a better man for the place we want filled, than Mr. Curtis. He and his family will soon be located among us, and are worthy of consideration and recognition of the good people of this town and community.

Gentlemen who are against the bonus, but want the merit of appearing to be for it, say they are for a bonus with a sales tax attachment to it. This is sharp politics. This would put the burden of paying the bonus on the consumer who already has about all he can pay. The next congress will want to help ease these burdens on the consumer rather than increase them. The gentlemen who talk of a sales tax bonus know that this proposal has about as much chance in the next congress as the devil at a camp meetin'!—Capper's Weekly.

And there are lots of people who favor the soldier bonus, but don't want to pay any of it themselves. They are anxious for the soldiers to have proper recognition and reward, but want the other fellow to do the rewarding.

Once in a while Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, editor of the Waco (Texas) News-Tribune, seems to be regaining his right mind that in former days led him to pen the most virile democratic editorials. He says in a late issue of that paper: "Governor Arthur M. Hyde of Mississippi has a panacea for the real or fancied ills of the nation. His theory is that we do not need many laws but an old-fashioned change of heart. He should tell it to the governors and lawmakers of 48 states and to the congress of the United States, who have enacted 40,000 laws in less than ten years. And the parliament of Great Britain hasn't enacted a hundred laws in a hundred years. They are not law mad over there."—Walters (Okla.) Herald.

Waco, Aug. 3.—Ranger M. Burton, who recently conducted a raid in the county for stills, said in one place an old Rhode Island Red rooster was found in one of the barrels of mash, practically all of the feathers eaten from it through the action of the lye contained in the mash. Burton suggested that inasmuch as most illicit distillers had failed to produce red liquor that a trial was made of the ancient master of a flock of Rhode Island Reds in an effort to introduce color into the product, which if successful would suggest the use of a label advertising "Old Red Rooster, the Hooch with a Kick and the color."

It requires years of time and considerable wisdom to grow a healthy tree, but only a fool and a few minutes to destroy it.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, God saw fit to remove from our midst on July 5th, our Brother G. H. Lightfoot; on July 8th, our Brother, H. E. Baker and on July 16th, our Brother S. D. Shuler, and Whereas, in the loss of these three brethren the Farmer Labor Union has lost three of our faithful and substantial members and their families have lost true and loving companions and fathers, and

Whereas, their presence, support and council will be missed in their homes and also in this local Farmer Labor Union, and now,

Therefore, be it Resolved by the Plainview local of the Farmer Labor Union in session, that we sympathize with the bereaved families, respectively, in their sad loss, but we submit to the will of Him who has the power to give and remove as He sees proper to do and commend them to Him for condolence, and

We further resolve to honor their memory and respect their wise council and teachings in the future, and further, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to each of the bereaved families, a copy spread upon our minutes, and also published in the Santa Anna News.

Dated at Plainview, Santa Anna, Texas, this the 20th day of July, 1923.

M. A. Pritchard, H. J. Parker, Amos Taylor, committee.

COTTON PESTS

(Southwestern Machinery) The papers say that the leaf-worm is reducing to nothingness thousands of acres of cotton in the Southwest. Again, they say that the boll weevil is on the job, early and late, feasting on an annual banquet that costs the farmers of the South tens and hundreds of millions of dollars. Later on, the boll worm will be active, and other pests will contribute their quota toward the destroying of the cotton crop.

We have sat idle by and watched the army of destruction lay waste the plantations, one after another, until the whole south has been conquered. Crossing the Rio Grande, and traveling at the rate of sixty-five miles a year, the boll weevil—the most deadly of the species—has at last come into complete possession of the South.

In the meantime, we are told, engineers of a great foreign syndicate, after having met with failure in Mesopotamia, are surveying ten million acres of potential cotton land in Brazil. They hope to be able to transfer the cotton capital of the world from Dixie to South America—to move the throne of King Cotton from the North to the South Temperate zone.

What are we doing about it? Some little work of dusting and spraying is going on, but what is being done compared with what should be done is as a baby's breath in a cyclone. As yet no economical method has been produced. The poisons are so high and the equipment so expensive that only a few can afford to combat the cotton pests with poison.

They say that necessity is the mother of invention. It seems to us that it is time for her to conceive an issue.

Cotton is our one great crop in the South. We may raise enough grain and fruits and vegetables to feed ourselves and our livestock, but cotton is the money crop. To us cotton is what fruit is to California; hogs to Iowa; tobacco; to Kentucky; diamonds; to Kimberly—it is our money crop.

It seems to us that too few of the business men and bankers of the Southwest are concerned about the cotton pests. It seems to us that the country as a whole knows nothing about it and cares less. It is time to turn the searchlights of pitiless publicity on the cotton pests. Like the thief who robs our banks, or the vandal who burns the leading church, or the slayer who fells our leading citizen, we should offer a reward for the scalp of the cotton pest, dead or alive.

Truly it is a problem for all of us. Regardless of how we make our living, we are in partnership with the farmer. We can't afford to pass the buck to him and let him work out his own salvation with fear and trembling. It is our problem, and it is time we did a little more of the work and a little less of the straw-bossing. Swat the cotton pest!

MARTHA AND MARY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; John 11:1-16; John 12:1-9.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away from her."—Luke 10:42.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Proverbs 18:16-17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Loyal Friends of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Martha and Mary.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—True Friendship Shown by Martha and Mary.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Home Problems Illustrated by Martha and Mary.

In order to properly understand these two characters, it will be necessary to look at the several narratives in which they are brought to our view. These are three in number.

I. The Behavior of Martha and Mary in the Days of Sunshine. (Luke 10:38-42.)

In this picture we see Martha engaged in preparing a meal for Jesus. In her effort to make the best preparation for her honored guest, she became distracted. She not only was cumbered with much serving but she found fault with Mary for not helping her. She even censured the Lord for permitting such neglect. Martha has had her followers in all ages. Every church knows them. The busy, troubled and tussy women who are engaged in service for the Lord with little patience for those who sit at the feet of Jesus. Mary sat at Jesus' feet and heard His word. She had taken her turn in the service as the word "also" would imply. She did not neglect service, but had the keenness of perception to discern that communion with the Lord was more prized by Him than the serving of a meal. Both of these women loved the Lord and it is impossible to say which loved Him more. In the days of sunshine in this home, Mary made the good choice of communion with her Lord.

II. Mary and Martha in the Day of Great Sorrow. (John 11:1-46.)

The next scene which occupies our attention is the occasion of the resurrection of Lazarus. In the time of the sickness of Lazarus, these sisters had sent for Jesus. Jesus loved the members of this household, and yet, strange to say, He delayed His going unto them. Martha met Him with rebuke, saying that if He had been there her brother had not died. This carried with it the censure for His delay under such trying circumstances. This act of Martha called forth some marvelous teachings on the resurrection. After this interview with Martha, she came to Mary with the message of a call from Jesus. Mary was composed and remained in the house until called for. She immediately responded to this call and used the identical words of Martha; but instead of rebuking her, He mingled His tears of sympathy with hers of sorrow. The reason she had such composure in this dark hour was that she had patiently sat at His feet and listened to His word so that she understood the meaning of the tragedy. The difference then in the behavior of these two women in this dark hour was doubtless due to the fact that in the days of sunshine Mary had entered fully into fellowship with the Lord and that Martha had lost this grace through her fretfulness.

III. Jesus Entertained at Bethany. (John 11:9.)

At this supper appeared Mary, Martha and Lazarus, who was raised from the dead. Doubtless this supper was in grateful appreciation of His help and sympathy in the days of their trial. At this meal Martha was back at her old business of serving, but it would seem with an untroubled disposition. Mary took a pound of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped them with her hair. This was a token of her great love and devotion. She was back in her accustomed place at the feet of Jesus. With the keen intuition of true love, she brought her costliest gift as an evidence of her love. She thus anticipated His death and burial, knowing that she could not minister unto Him then. The Lord received this act of love at its full value. Against the foul criticism of Judas, Jesus defended Mary. He declared that it was no more a waste than the ointment placed on the bodies of the dead in embalment. In fact it was the doing of this very act beforehand unto Him. Only Mary of all His disciples had really understood Jesus when He said He must be crucified and raised again the third day. The announcement of His crucifixion brought unto the others dismay. They refused to believe in the resurrection, but Mary came to anoint His body for burying.

Manners. Manners should bespeak the man independent of fine clothing. The general does not need a fine coat.—Emerson.

Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ, the condescension of divinity, and the exaltation of humanity.—Phillips Brooks.

Action of the Mind. The mind unlearns with difficulty what has long been impressed on it.

—MYSTERIOUS—

A mystery that is hard to solve surrounds or confronts the people of this city, with the O. G. Cheek home in the southeast part of town, the center of the mystery. It appears that a man or possibly more than one, has been making mysterious inroads to the Cheek home the past few nights, Mrs. Cheek and the children being frightened and not staying at home. Friday night of last week a man was seen about the place that gave the family a scare, and several nights since, indications lead to the presence of some unknown party being about the place. Wednesday night while Mrs. Cheek and the children were spending the night at the home of a neighbor, Jess Martin, the City marshal and Jack Wilson were watching the house, and they thought possibly that some one was in the house, and Mr. Wilson left for other help to surround the premises in order that the house might be searched, and while gone a man walked around from the back of the house and when demanded by Mr. Martin to halt, he took a shot at Mr. Martin, which was returned in double quickness by Mr. Martin. The intruder ran and could not be found any more. Considerable excitement ensued for a few moments and the mystery still remains unsolved. It may be a tramp hunting for eats, but no one can tell. Mr. Cheek is working at Hamilton and has been notified of the trouble.

MORE ABOUT GOOD ROADS

It costs a farmer considerable time and money to get his crops to market. This expense naturally reduces his profits.

If he hauls his product in a motor truck, and the roads are bad, his engine consumes enormous quantities of gas.

If it is moved by horse and wagon the load must be lighted and the speed reduced, thus consuming more time—and time must be paid for in the hire of his men and in the feed for his horses.

Any way you look at it bad roads are a nuisance and an expense.

For this reason every farmer in this community should be solidly and insistently behind the good roads movement.

What if it does cost him a few cents? It will be worth a dollar for every penny it costs.

Will You Follow the Crowd and Get What is Left or Will You Lead the Crowd and Get What You Desire?

You will never get to the front by following the crowd. You have a tendency to wait and see what the other fellow is going to do. Then you are a follower. You will never be a leader as long as you do this. Success requires ACTION.
