FIRE PREVENTION WEEK DESIGNATED

Governor Asks General Observance of Period From October 2 to 9.

Governor Neff has issued a proclamation designating the week beginning Oct. 2 as Fire Prevention week. The proclamation is as follows:

"Conflagrations have cost the world untold fortunes. The history of fires in the United States begins with the burning of Chicago on Oct. 9, 1871, in which nearly four square miles of the city were consumed, a fire easily preventable. Statistics show that the annual fire loss in the United States has increased from $78,000,000 in 1875 to more than $350,000,000 in 1921; a gradual but certain increase in the losses. The peculiar feature is that most all fires are preventable, and that means of prevention are readily available and easily applied.

"Nearly all fires are the result of carelessness; and,

"In order, therefore, to arouse our people to a proper sense of the danger of fires, I, Pat M. Neff, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby proclaim and designate.

"Oct. 2 to 9, 1922, as Fire Prevention Week, and I earnestly urge the people of Texas to observe said week by cleaning up their houses, yards and lots, removing all rubbish and seeing to it that all heating apparatus, chimneys and flues are safe for the winter season.

"All theatres, schools, public halls, asylums, hotels, private institutions and all places of assembly should be carefully inspected by those in charge, looking to the elimination of all fire hazards.

"It is to be hoped that all municipal officers throughout the State will show recognition of said Fire Prevention Week by some appropriate formality to the end that fire dangers and simple means of fire prevention be brought to the attention of our people.

"Permit me to suggest that all Mayors in this state issue proclamations calling to the attention of our people the importance of Fire Prevention Week, and requesting strict observance of same.

"Finally, it is urged that all our people give the Fire Prevention Week something more than a passing thought and that all keep in mind Oct. 9, the fifty-first anniversary of the great Chicago fire."

The News has been requested to announce the opening of the Plainview school on Monday, October 16th. All patrons of the school are requested to be present at the opening. Prof. Mark Sheffield and Miss Blanche Hammon have been employed to teach the ensuing term, and under their efficient work we expect to have good reports from the school.

TOWN PESTS

The Fire Fan loves to ride to fire on the New Red Auto Truck. Some times there are so many Fire Fan on the Fire Auto that the Volunteer Firemen don't get to go, which is something terrible. In the Old Days, when the Horse Cart was dragged by hand, the Fire Fan never showed up!

TRAINMEN AND CONDUCTORS SIGN NEW AGREEMENT WITH WESTERN ROADS

Chicago, Oct. 3.—A new agreement maintaining the old rates of pay and rules as to working conditions was signed today by representatives of approximately 49 railroads and subsidiaries and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors here.

The agreement will be in effect until October 21, 1923.

All disputes as to working conditions and rules now pending before the Railroad Labor Board will be withdrawn by both sides. The western managers are said to have made some concessions.

The agreement contains a clause providing for the termination of the agreement upon 30 days notice being given. Local grievance committees on individual roads were authorized to negotiate with individual roads as to local rules.

The agreement included the principal railroads entering Chicago and traversing the territory west of the Mississippi river. The roads included the Santa Fe, Rock Island, Fort Worth & Denver, Texas Midland, Trinity & Brazos Valley.

Salvation Army Agent Here

Preparing for Money Drive

J. H. Dunn of Washington, D. C., is in Coleman county this week in the interest of the "Salvation Army Drive" to be put on in eleven counties of this section of Texas, on October 16, next.

The counties forming this district are Brown, Coleman, Runnels, Tom Green, San Saba, Corvell, Mills, Lampasas, McCulloch, Comanche and Hamilton.

The following citizens have agreed to act as an Executive committee for Santa Anna during the campaign, and they will appreciate a friendly consideration from any one who wishes to contribute to the Salvation Army cause: Moody Folk, Chairman;

Leman Brown, Treasurer; J. J. Gregg, Ed Baxter, S. W. Childers and Miles Wofford. The Advance Pledge committee are Leman Brown and Ed Baxter. Publicity, J. J. Gregg.

There is no question but what the Salvation Army is doing a world of good and people who are in touch with their activities do not hesitate to contribute to their cause.

ANENT COMMERCIAL CLUBS

In dealing with the subject of Commercial Club for Santa Anna, the editor meets with some severe criticisms which we do not know how to deal with. For instance, a citizen of this town approached us the other day and had something like the following to say: "I see you are going to organize another Commercial Club in Santa Anna," to which the editor replied in the affirmative. "Well, I have been living here several years and during that time there has been a number of Commercial Clubs organized here and none of them have ever amounted to anything yet, except to take up a collection, get a lot of money and waste it in some unprofitable manner trying to do something impossible, or pay it out to some man to sit around and tell the people how to do as long as the money last, and when the money is gone the man generally leaves with the last part of it, so I think you are trying to organize something that is not worth a cuss to the town or any person living in it, etc." Well, the editor appreciates expressions, honest confessions and such like, but it is hard for us to believe that the management of all the commercial organizations that have ever been organized in Santa Anna were organized by crooks for selfish motives and grafting purposes. The writer has been affiliated with various Commercial organizations during the past fifteen or twenty years and we believe that we have seen some real profitable and substantial work done through local Commercial clubs. However, we admit that all the work done by commercial organizations are not profitable, either to the community or the executive committee. Industries fail and others succeed; merchants go broke but men still stay in the mercantile business; banks fail but still we have men engaged in the banking business; farmers fail but still we have people living on the farms. Then, because Commercial Clubs have failed in their purposes here before is it any reason why we should not organize again and try to accomplish something yet? Let's organize a Commercial Club.

SPECIAL EDITION NEXT WEEK

Next week is the time for our special edition and to say this office is busy would be expressing it very mildly. Great preparations are being made to make this edition one worth while, and considerable copy has already been delivered to the office. Remember, all copy for display advertising must be in the office by not later than Monday of next week, as we must have plenty of time to make up and print. Be sure to take notice of this and if you expect to have an ad in the Big Special prepare your copy and get it to us Monday.

Mr. W. R. McClellan of Coleman, a native Texan, Ex-Confederate soldier and distinguished citizen of Coleman county for the last thirty years passed to his eternal reward Tuesday night, September 26, 1922, at the age of seventy-six years. Death came peacefully as he slept. Heart trouble which had visited him frequently during recent years was the cause of death. Tuesday he had attended to business in town and sat in a meeting of directors of the Coleman National Bank, with which institution he had been identified as vice-president and director for many years. His death removes a most worthy and useful citizen from the walks of life; he was a friend of mankind, a pillar of the community in which he lived, and was honored by all men.—Democrat-Voice.

MARRIED

R. C. West, better known as "Dick" West, one of Santa Anna's young business men, being a member of the firm of Evans & West Garage, and Miss Doris Gilmore stole a march on their friends Wednesday evening by driving over to the home of Pastor J. M. Reynolds, producing the proper credentials and asking to be made as one, which was done in proper form.

The happy couple are popular young people of the town and have many friends who will join the News in extending congratulations and best wishes for a pleasant and profitable voyage over the matrimonial sea. We hope their joys will be legion and may they never rock the boat.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 8

THE BIRTH AND CHILDHOOD OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:1-20; 40-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.—Luke 2:52.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 1:18; 2:1-12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Boyhood of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus at Home and at School.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Religious Training of the Young.

I. The Birth of Jesus (vv. 1-7).

1. Time of (vv. 1-3). It was at a time when the Jews were coming under the Roman power. It was a most propitious time for the introduction of the gospel. The whole world was under one rule, making it possible for ministers to go from place to place easily and without molestation.

2. Place of (vv. 4-6). Bethlehem, as the prophet had foretold 700 years before (Micah 5:2). God moved the emperor to enforce the decree of taxation in time to cause Mary to be at Bethlehem.

3. Circumstances of (v. 7). His surroundings were of the most humble sort. The Almighty Creator condescended to take upon himself humanity—to be born in a manger, becoming the poorest of the poor that none might be hindered from coming to Him.

II. The Birth of Jesus Announced (vv. 8-20).

1. To Whom (vv. 8, 9). The shepherds who were watching over their flocks by night. The glorious gospel message was first given to laboring men.

2. By Whom (v. 9). The first gospel sermon was preached by the angel of the Lord. The angels have part in making known the gospel to lost men. These glorious beings no doubt deeply sympathize with fallen, sin-cursed men.

3. The Nature of the Message (vv. 10-14). It was good tidings of great joy. It was good tidings because the way of salvation was about to be opened for all—Jew and Gentile. So glorious was this news that a multitude of the heavenly host accompanied it with a song of praise. It is through Jesus Christ that God's kindness and good will are made known to man.

4. The Shepherds Witnessing (vv. 15-20). They made a prompt investigation of the angel's message.

III. The Child Jesus Growing (vv. 40-52).

Jesus Christ was divine, but His deity did not interfere with His development as a human being. The processes of His physical, mental and spiritual growth were the same as those of any normal human being.

1. Jesus Tarrying Behind at Jerusalem (vv. 40-43). At the age of twelve years a Jewish child took his place as a worshiper in the temple, for he was considered a "child of the law." Being conscious of His mission when His mother and Joseph were returning from attendance at the Passover, Jesus tarried behind to enter the temple and inquire into the meaning of the ordinances of God's house.

2. Jesus Found in the Temple (vv. 44-47). When His mother and Joseph had gone some distance on their journey they perceived that Jesus was missing and sought for Him among their kinsfolk and acquaintances. Not finding Him there they returned to Jerusalem, where they found Him in the temple. (1) He was "sitting" (v. 46), showing that He was no passing visitor or sightseer. He was perfectly at home in His Father's house. (2) He was "hearing" (v. 46). He was hearing the teachers of God's Word. This shows that He was eager to learn God's will. (3) He asked questions (v. 46). His growing mind was inquisitive. It more than received what was taught; it inquired after. (4) He answered questions (v. 47). His answers showed great wisdom, such as astonished those who heard Him. Yet we should not surmise that He was consciously displaying His wisdom. It was not an exhibition of His divine wisdom, but the expression of the workings of a perfect human mind suffused by the Holy Spirit.

3. Mary's Complaint (vv. 48-50). She remonstrated with Him for His behavior. To this He replied in a dignified, yet tender manner. He made no apology, showing that He was more than the son of Mary.

4. Jesus' Obedience (v. 51). Though He was fully conscious of His divine being and mission, He lived a life of filial obedience.

5. Jesus' Development (v. 52). (1) Mental. He "increased in wisdom." (2) Physical. He "increased in stature." (3) Spiritual. He "increased in favor with God and man."

Wisdom to Be Desired.

Wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it.—Proverbs 8:11.

The Truly Valiant.

The truly valiant dare everything except doing any other body an injury.—Sir P. Sidney.

Happiness.

Action may not always bring happiness; but there is no happiness without action.—Disraeli.

SHAMEFACED GOODNESS

The spread of goodness in this paradoxical world, so evidently in need of it, and therefore, one would have thought so ready to give it welcome, finds no more curious obstacle than the shamefacedness of men to acknowledge their good actions. Certainly, it is proper enough that they should not brag about them. But no observer of that most puzzling of all creatures, man, can have failed to notice that the average man, as distinct from the professional doers of good, whose good deeds are too often "sliced o'er" with the vanity of selfrighteousness, not merely "does good by stealth," and "blushes to find it fame," but that he is positively ashamed of any virtuous imputations. He much prefers to be regarded as a devil-of-a-fellow, though actually he is as harmless as a sucking dove. Nothing would seem to flatter him more than the suggestion that he is mysteriously "wicked," or, at all events, what we mean by a sport.

One has only to watch a few men together, say, in the socialability of the smoking room. How careful they are to suppress any indication of their better selves, and to parade their lapses. The most demure of them is anxious to be considered in the game, and one can often watch him rather pathetically striving to match his more robustous comrades in their recitals of usually much magnified improprieties, or the sharp practice of ruthless business transactions. He hates to be left out, and longs to show that he is as bad as the worst of them, while the worst of them, if the truth were known, is very far from being as black as he paints himself.

The habit begins in boyhood, and offers an interesting problem to the psychologist. There are few lads, if left to themselves who would care to drink and smoke and swear. But the other fellows all do it, and, though the cocktails and the tobacco upset their stomachs, and generally make them feel anything but happy, and, though the oaths struggle out from their lips, still innocent of the razor, with self-conscious nonchalance, still they heroically affect to be as bad as possible, though, secretly, they would much rather be at home with their heads on their mother's shoulder. The fear of being a mollycoddle is ever before them. Anything but that! To own up to preferring purity and gentleness to dissipation and brutality necessitates a degree of courage, which is not only rare, but which it is almost too much to expect from the average lad beset as his untempered spirit is by the "code" of that school boy "manliness," which would seem to take the caveman for its model, and to regard goodness as a form of girlishness. In this certainly, the boy is father to the man.

Why are we so ashamed of the practice of the Christian virtues? There is nothing especially feminine about being, or doing, good. Yet, with rare exceptions, the popularity of the prize-fighter far exceeds that of the gentlest and saintliest priest and, to keep abreast of the times, we see even priests and religious instructors generally driven to affect a certain worldliness, even "sportiveness," to gain attention for their messages, and to exert even a civilizing, not to speak of a spiritualizing, influence over a world which seems to be bent on "going Fante," that is, reverting to something like savagery—at all events in manners, which, properly understood, are a branch of morals.

Doubtless the psychology of the affected "wickedness" and brutality which is superficially confused with manliness, is that goodness has too often been associated with effeminate softness, and lack of that fighting fiber which is necessary in that battle of life, which, alas! continues to be anything but a mere phrase.

But the battle is not only to the strong, in the superficial, muscular, sense of that word. It is excellent, as we know, to have a giant's strength, but the real worth-while giants are those who included moral strength in their equipment, who dare to acknowledge it, fearless of that foolish ridicule which too often intimidates the good man into keeping his goodness to himself, not merely his good deeds in a spirit of becoming modesty, but his good ideals. Such hiding of our light under a bushel may be carried too far, to the serious loss of the community at large; for the power of a good deed in a naughty world is infinite, and the affection of sins we have no mind to is a childishness against which it behooves all of us to be on our guard.—Elks Magazine.

The towns of the Southwest are far more important to farmers than most of them realize. Our greatest need as farmers are for more and better markets for our products. Without consumers within easy reach of the farms and ranches, marketing is a very difficult and a very expensive part of farming. With cities and towns within easy reach of the farms and ranches, marketing is simplified and less expensive, making farming more profitable.

Special term of U. S. Court was held in Waco, Texas, for the past two weeks under the jurisdiction of Judge Duval West, in which 138 pleas of guilty were entered for violation of the National Prohibition Act, and the total amount of fines collected in these cases amounted to about $10,000 and several jail sentences were imposed. Things are beginning to look gloomy to bootleggers.

FORMER BUSINESS MAN RETURNS

C. E. Welch, well known harness and saddle man purchased the Harness and Saddle shop he sold two years ago to T. L. Paulson and will soon be back in the line he engaged in for several years prior to his moving to San Antonio where his family now reside. Mr. Welch left this week for San Antonio to visit his family and purchase a new stock of leather goods for his store. He requested the News to announce that he would soon be found at his same old stand prepared to deliver the same satisfactory service he gave the people while he was in business before and would be prepared to take care of their needs in new harness, saddles, and all kinds of repair work. Mr. Welch still owns a good home here and his family will join him some time in the future. The News is glad to welcome Mr. Welch back to Santa Anna.

FIRE COMPANY ENTERTAINS MEMBERS

The local Fire company met in their regular meeting Monday night in the office of Raney, May & Garrett and held a very interesting session. The meeting was just an informal affair, all the members of the company being present but two. A few invited guests were also present. Refreshing punch and delicious sandwiches were served. A few of the members decided to exercise the Fire truck a little after the meeting adjourned, and succeeded nicely in the exercise, but from some unknown cause the hose fell from the truck and before it was discovered the hose had been stretched its full length and the boys had a nice time, consuming about two hours of physical exercise re-folding and rolling the hose. Some of the boys have been accused of saying that the truck was supplied with entirely too much hose anyway, as it appeared to them the hose was several hundred yards long before they completed their task of putting it in proper shape.

COMMERCIALLY SPEAKING

In response to a call published in the News last week for a meeting of the American Legion hall Friday night, the following citizens responded to the call and after several talks were made those present voted unanimously to meet again next Friday night for the purpose of organizing a local Commercial Club. Those present and expressing themselves favorable to the organization were L. V. Stockard, S. J. Pieratt, E. Greer, B. F. Rothermal, J. E. Watkins, O. T. Laws, J. M. Martin, J. R. Pearce, R. A. Carroll, S. M. Polk, Gus Nabours, S. H. Collier, W. T. Wheeler and J. J. Gregg. Judge S. J. Pieratt presided at the meeting. It was the consensus of opinion of those present that a Commercial Club is much needed in Santa Anna, and each that spoke expressed a willingness to join and keep up their membership. Next Friday night we hope to be able to complete the organization with a large membership, as there are many things of vital interest to the town and community that can only be handled through a commercial organization. The News is willing to join the town in any commercial movement for the betterment of our town, and many propositions coming up for consideration can only be met through organized efforts. Let us have a good meeting next Friday night and start the ball to rolling.

BOLL WEEVIL WAR IS SET FOR OCTOBER

Texas Cotton Raisers Will be Urged to Plow Under Stalks

Dallas, Sept. 30.—An attempt to kill practically all the boll weevil which infested this year's cotton crop was decided upon at today's Statewide conference of business, agricultural and educational interests here. The efforts to kill the boll weevil will be made during the month of October by plowing under the cotton stalks on the farms of the state. The conference was presided over by Z. T. George of the Texas Chamber of Commerce. It was declared by George Terrell, State Commissioner of Agriculture, and T. O. Walton of the Agricultural and Mechanical college that if the farmers will plow under their cotton stalks during the next 30 days, 98 per cent of the boll weevil of this year can be exterminated.

The plans decided upon by the conference call for an intensive campaign throughout the state to urge farmers of the necessity of cutting and plowing under their cotton stalks. It was pointed out by experts that merely cutting the stalks would avail nothing and that attempts to cut and burn would not be as successful in eradicating the cotton pests as plowing the stalks under.

While no decision was reached as to how to deal with farmers who will not be in a position to cut and plow under stalks, it was believed arrangements might be made to aid financially those who, because of heavy losses, will be unable to devote time and expense of cutting stalks and plowing the cotton lands. It was declared that the extra cultivation of the land would result in greater production another year.

It was also intimated that the campaign will be carried to Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas with a view of eradicating the pests there.

All together and lets go with renewed hope and courage. Turkey is on a rampant but Turkey makes pretty good eats and if she doesn't quiet down Great Britton will have to step over and cook her to a finish.

O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth forever. Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men.—Psalm 107: 1, 8.

The state government of Oklahoma will be run the coming year without the levy of a single penny of ad valorem taxes. This must make the average citizen of Texas whose taxes for state purposes have just been raised to the limit under the constitution green with envy. Paying taxes has been a leading industry in the Lone Star state of late years.—Walters (Okla.) Herald.

Another way to encourage the town and thus make it a better buying factor for farm products, is to become better acquainted with the business men, the professional men, and, so far as possible, the consumers of farm products. People who buy and consume farm products want to know the producer; they prefer to deal with the farmers of business standing and intelligence.

The time has come for farmers to take interest in the towns. They may do this by speaking a good word for their neighbors in the town, and on every occasion, compliment the desirable factors of the town to newcomers or prospective citizens. Furthermore, every unkind word or untrue statement about the business men of the town, or the town's commercial rating, should be contradicted. Farmers should be fair to the towns just as the towns should be fair to farmers who contribute largely to making the towns.

Figures just issued by the department of agriculture prove a remarkable growth of the pig movement in this state and other parts of the country. More than 40,000 boys and girls are raising pigs under Pig Club rules. Nearly 12,500 more children are competing in sow and litter contests, in which a sow and pigs are kept until the pigs mature.—Walters (Okla.) Herald.

Farmers and business men should work together for the common good of all. Many folks who live in the country seem to want to think the town people demand a distinction, but our experience has taught us that town people are largely made up of people from the country and look back upon the country with a source of pleasure and satisfaction. Business men live on the farm as same as in towns, and generally speaking, unless a farmer is a business man he is not much of a farmer.

Nothing should be permitted to divide the working forces of a progressive community and to cripple the efforts being put forward to advance its every interest. Hearty co-operation among those who are trying to build up the town and county will accomplish much, and every institution and industry that contributes to the welfare of the community should have encouragement from the people. United effort is the essential thing and we in Santa Anna should stand together that our town and county may continue to grow and be a desirable place in which to live.

Good citizens will discourage that which seeks to divide the people of any community into hostile factions. Unity of purpose and unity of effort should characterize our people in order that we may enjoy prosperity and that we may dwell together in harmony and good fellowship. Anything that tends to destroy confidence and creates distrust among neighbors and friends should be frowned upon if we would build up the community where we live and whose highest interests can only be promoted by the help and cooperation of all.

Through organized effort, Santa Anna could make a different showing in the world. Without organization, proper agitation and organized effort, we can never exemplify to the rest of the country an example of progressive citizenship. With what nature has done for us we could have one of the most beautiful towns in Texas. Paved streets, good sidewalks, modern water and light systems, lovely residences with well kept lawns, would be a delight to the stranger who has occasion to pass this way. Strangers pass thru Santa Anna every day and their expressions to people in other parts of the world are our medium of advertising our town. Even if strangers never passed this way it would be worth the effort among the dwellers of our town to pave the streets, build a system of good sidewalks and beautify our living quarters around our homes. Let us organize and unite in our efforts for an upward march in both public and private life. Let us work together in harmony and look forward to better things for our town and soon we will see the town take on a substantial growth. We need each other's help and encouragement and if we join hands and work together in the future, the result will be gratifying to us all.

SANTA ANNA BOY FOOTBALL STAR

Santa Anna fans and friends of Joe Bailey Chaney were more than pleased when they received the report of the A. & M.-H. P. C. game which occurred on the 29th of September on Kile field, in which Howard Payne defeated the Aggies to the tune of 13 to 7.

Old Howard Payne students of which there are many in this section were elated over this victory, for it was the A. & M. team of last year that defeated the Praying Colonels of Center College who had previously defeated the team of Harvard College on Harvard's own field. Although this game upsets the "dope" of the fans, it was not as great a surprise as many may think who have not kept up with the last season's games. For it was Howard Payne that won the championship in the T. I. I. A. of Texas.

Although this was the second year of football for Chaney, he played a large part in this victory over the Farmers. When it is known that Chaney carried the ball for sixty yards, greater credit will be given him, for it was this run that made the victory possible.

COTTON REPORT
 There had been weighed up to noon Thursday of this week 7,300 bales of cotton in the local yard. The price is around 20 cents. Seed $35.00.

The Presbyterian Witness, Canada's fine Presbyterian weekly journal, Witnesses to the truth of the following: "Eight young men talking of matrimony, unanimously agreed that "flappers" were all right to flirt with, but when it came to marrying they would want wives that knew about practical housekeeping—that could tell the difference between a beefsteak and a mutton chop and were more practical in the effective use of brooms than in the technique of jazz dancing. Having come to the profound decision they told some of the "flappers" what they thought. Whereupon the girls replied: "The girl of today is willing to run a broom and cook beans to make a real home for a real man. But she doesn't intend to do it for the accommodation of a cigarette-puffer. God give us men and we'll do our part."—Ex-

VISOR-ROSSER

The wedding of Miss Berle Visor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Visor, of this city, to Mr. Stoker Rosser, also of this city, at eight o'clock on the evening of September 9, at the home of the bride's parents, in West Plainview. The impressive ring ceremony, which was said by the Rev. O. P. Clark, was witnessed by about fifty-five guests. Mr. John Visor and Miss Elodia Groves received the guests at the door.

The reception room and stairway were appropriately decorated for the occasion with ferns, clematis, and cut flowers. Miss Ruth Neal sang, "When My Dreams of Paradise Come True," accompanied by Mrs. R. W. O'Keefe at the piano and Mrs. A. A. Berry on the violin.

The bridal party descended the stairway to the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. O'Keefe and Mrs. Berry, passing through the reception room into the parlor, and paused beneath an arch of clematis, on either side of which were blooming plants and ferns artistically placed.

The bride was gowned in a beautiful dress of white canton crepe and imported silk lace. The groom wore the conventional black. They were attended by Miss Anna Walters, who wore jade crepe de chine and silk lace, and Mr. Alpha Rosser, brother of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held, refreshments being served from an artistically decorated corner of the porch by Misses Jewell Johnson and Beulah Lee Jackson, while Miss Lora Lane presided over the guest book.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. They will be at home to their many friends after September 15 at their ranch six miles northeast of Plainview.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McClure and children of Lockney, Miss Mary Bryan of Amarillo, Miss Ouida Urganhart of Greenville, Mrs. Prickett of Santa Anna, Miss Maude Bowers of Santa Anna, and Mr. Charles Webb of Kress.—Plainview Herald.

Sixty-five years ago W. D. Mathews stood in the gap of Santana Mountain and scouted for Indians. A vast expanse of prairie greeted his vision and there were few, if any, trees in sight. Buffalo dotted the prairies by thousands. So scarce was timber that scouting Rangers carried an iron peg on their saddles with which to stake their horses between mounts. Mr. Mathews lacks a few days of being eighty-four now and he is hale and hearty for a veteran of his age. The walking cane he uses is 105 years old and was shaped by hand out of timber cut on the San Marcos River in Hays county, Texas. He eats three square meals a day, sleeps on an antique walnut bedstead cut and shaped from San Marcos River timber, chews his favorite tobacco and in the course of his conversation he sometimes becomes unguarded and uses an unintentional oath. Mr. Mathews was in Coleman Tuesday attending to business and talking over old times with B. H. Pittmen and other younger veterans of frontier days. Coleman county, he said, was the prettiest county he ever saw when he settled near Trickham in the seventies.—Democrat-Voice.

WORK A SOLUTION TO PROBLEM OF UNREST

A writer in the Dallas News offers the following as a remedy for the present disagreeable and unsatisfactory condition prevailing all over the country:

The solution to our present social and political unrest lies in work! work! work!

George Horace Lorimer, the philosopher and humanitarian, wisely said: "I never knew a really busy man who had time to be bad."

It is a public disgrace and a moral crime to see the hundreds of able-bodied young men loafing on street corners and parading up and down Main street, cutting up childish capers like monkeys-on-the-stick.

Idleness is the tool of the evil one.

Get to work.

It's a fact, though, that most married women can keep a secret. They never tell all they know about their husbands.

DENGUE FEVER

Mr. Denny Gue!
I am surprised at you!
At the commotion you are causing around,
I can't understand
How you can demand
The attention of half the town.

And yet it's true
That just for you—
No matter what's his calling,
If Doctors or Preachers,
Policemen or Teacher,
Alike for you, he's falling.

I wish it were so,
Wherever you go
Attracting such close attention,
You'd be calm and cool,
Quit acting the fool,
Stop rousing so much dissension.

And really, you know,
There's a place below—
For fellows who are too demanding,
If you don't make a change
In your aches and pains,
I know just where you'll be landing!

But Denny Gue!
You needn't get blue!
Perhaps you can mend your ways,
Bury the pain and the ache
That you always take—
Try scattering some sunshine and praise.

Get rid of your name,
But continue your fame
And call it a fever of joy,
Then spread it around
Make happiness abound,
Where once you sought to destroy.

World Wheat Production
World production of wheat this year, excluding Russia and Mexico, is estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture at 3,019,526,000 bushels, based on actual estimates from reporting countries and estimates based on condition reports.

Production in 1921 was 3,059,596,000 bushels, and for the prewar 1909-13 average 2,890,353,000 bushels. Decreases occur in nearly all European countries. Total European production is estimated at 1,100,991,000 bushels, compared with 1,230,256,000 bushels in 1921, and a prewar 1909-13 average of 1,275,157,000 bushels. British India and Japan will have 392,847,000 bushels, compared with 282,094,000 bushels last year, and 375,827,000 bushels, the prewar average. Both Canada and the United States show increased production over last year with a combined estimated out turn of 1,125,968,000 bushels, compared with 1,095,751,000 bushels in 1921, and 833,810,000 bushels, the 1909-13 prewar average.

Russia reports favorable crop conditions, and according to advice from all sources will be able to feed herself this year. Last year Russia imported wheat. Production figures for Mexico are not available, but last year 5,980,000 bushels were produced, according to an unofficial estimate.

Borrowing money is easy when you have it to pay back.

In our special edition next week we hope to have some very interesting articles contributed from some of the old settlers of this county, several of whom have promised us to contribute. There are many interesting features about Coleman county that will make good reading, so will some historical sketches of some of our community builders of pioneer days.

People who are beset with troubles are the ones who most appreciate happiness when it comes.

Now don't become peeved when we tell you that some people's memories are better than yours. They remember things that never happen.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT
 We wouldn't be bothered so much with bad roads if we were more prompt in repairing them when they first begin to go to pieces.
 If you did a saw into a pail of water and wipe it off thoroughly afterward, no harm will be done. But if the dampness is allowed to remain a few hours the saw will be a mass of rust.

 Roads cost many thousands of dollars, and we allowed them to become ruined from neglect. Can you supply a satisfactory reason for such marvelous inconsistency?

Make home attractive for the children and they will not hunger for the attractions of the street.

Children are not interested in market fluctuations, or political discussions, or the latest morsel of scandal. They require diversions suitable to their age, and when these diversions are not to be had in the home their minds naturally turn to where they are to be found.

Parents who understand this have little difficulty in controlling their children and making them a credit to the community.

There are lots of soft snaps in this world, but they seldom come to people who are looking for them.

The young man who starts out to hunt them generally dies an old man who failed to find them.

Honesty, thrift and perseverance will produce them in time, but an eternity of mere seeking will be of no avail.

When you find a man whom dogs and cats instinctively avoid he is invariably a person you will do well to avoid yourself.

Dogs and cats understand human nature about as well as some of our mortals know it. They respond quickly to kindness and are extremely sensitive to brutality. The claws under the polished human surface are not easily concealed from them.

Keep your eye on the dog, and you will soon get the number of its master.

If a lion cub becomes unruly the mother lioness does not mince matters. She administers prompt punishment by a swipe with one of her paws.

Some people could take a leaf from the lion's book with profit to themselves and to their children.

But they don't, and the child pays for its mollycoddling long before it reaches maturity.

The lioness knows, remembers, and acts.

Many humans know, forget, and later repent.

And still, we wouldn't care to be a beast, though their intelligence does at times appear to be superior to ours.

Mr. Hoover has talked much of preventing profiteering in coal this winter. The people listened, and wondered if he really meant what he said.

Now it is up to Mr. Hoover—well, he won't be the first man who has bluffed his way through a sea of political and profiteering filth.

The people are looking your way, Mr. Hoover.

Will you make good, or have you been making a bluff.

HERE IT IS AGAIN

Is it to be another general European war?

It looks like it.

The Turk wants his capitol city back again, or he wants a fight.

The allies don't want him to have the territory of which they deprived him, and at the same time they dread another world conflagration.

If it comes to a finish fight, Turkey can reasonably expect aid from Russia, and in such an event the allies would be facing a hostile army of five or six millions trained and seasoned veterans, hungry for a slaughter and plunder. And none of this vast horde have any particular regard for the human side of modern warfare.

Temporary arrangements may suspend hostilities for a time, but in the end only another resort to arms can effect a final and lasting adjustment of the European and far eastern situations.

Seldom does a smoldering fire fail to break out afresh and consume the fuel at hand.

Don't go talking secretly about your neighbor and telling a lot of things about him "confidentially" to some bosom friend. Say a good word about those around you, look the world in the face with a smile, and quit your "grouching." You will feel a lot better and do more for your community.

ATTY. GEN. RULES PEDDY NOT ENTITLED TO PLACE ON BALLOT

Mr. Peddy says he will go right on with his campaign, and it is predicted if his name is barred from the ticket people who favor him as their choice will be asked to write his name on the ticket.

This, of course, will eliminate all hopes of Peddy's election, as he will not receive one-half the number of votes as he would to have his name printed on the ticket. Seems to us some body is getting nervous over the outlook.

Austin, Sept. 28.—George E. B. Petty of Houston has no legal right to have his name placed on the official ballot for the November election as the nominee of the Republican party for United States senator, held the Attorney General's Department Thursday in an opinion to the Secretary of State, S. L. Staples.

Assistant Attorney General L. C. Sutton, who wrote the opinion, held that the Republican party is required to nominate by primary election, and a convention nominee is void, and Peddy selected by the Republican Executive Committee to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of the convention nominee, has no legal right to have his name certified by the Secretary of State.

TEXAS THIRTY-FOURTH IN PUBLIC EDUCATION

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 30.—"Texas ranks thirty-fourth in education notwithstanding the fact that a specialist of the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas has shown some $60,000,000 a year is spent for public education in the state," said Peyton Irvin, Jr.

managing editor of the Texas School Journal. "Most of the money is raised and spent in the cities and towns where schools are good to excellent. What must be the condition, what must be the need of money elsewhere to give the state such a low rank?"

"More money—and soon—must be provided if Texas children are to have an 'American chance.' Great progress can be made, conditions improved, without involving money. Today many teachers remain unpaid for part of last year's work while jail guards in their counties were paid in full—and promptly. Tax collectors have permitted school assessments to go delinquent while collecting other taxes in full. Today one group of children are in a million dollar plant, while in sight of it others are in shacks. More than half the children of Texas are utterly without high school opportunities.

"These inequalities—perhaps they are abuses—can and will be remedied by the legislature of Texas when the public demands relief. The first relief measure will be an appropriation. Otherwise schools will receive three dollars less from the state this year than last for each pupil. Thereafter the tendency of legislature to think it has completed its job must be met; and better machinery provided for the administration of the school business of Texas—all for the benefit of its children."

This life is full of chances that are never taken.

Anyway, political speeches are popular with the candidates.

We now have a complete line of Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Silverware, etc. Why go away from home for such articles? If we haven't got it we can get it for you. We also do first class watch, clock and jewelry repairing.

Galveston Tribune: The man who works with his hands in the fields, in the shops, or in the mines, is prone to belittle the white collar man. The horny handed son of toil is apt to think that the man who labors at a desk is a non-producer, a parasite subsisting on the labor of others, Soviet Russia attempted to organize an economic system on this basis and failed. In the highly complicated civilization of modern life the white collar man plays an essential role. He is an integral part of the machinery by which people are clothed and fed and housed. Without him civilization would revert to primitive barbarism. Commerce would have to revert to barter, each man swapping the products of his hands for the products of some other worker. The convenient and comfortable transportation of the modern railroads would be replaced by the ox-cart and the horse. The postal service by which a letter is rapidly and safely carried from one end of the county and to the other for a two-cent postage stamp could not exist. The white collar man as well as the man who wears overalls has a distinct and necessary function to serve.

Some of our readers seem to think the editor is giving more publicity to certain factions of politics than we are others. This is due, we presume, largely to the fact that the complainants are partial to certain factions.
You will understand that the editor is a democrat and expects to support the democratic party in the general election, but we publish considerable news matter for the opposite sides just to show fairness on our part in giv-

AND SO IT GOES

Many of the ills afflicting humanity are unnecessary and could be avoided.
Procrastination is their greatest friend.
When we feel out of sort, or off our feed, it is a warning that our system is not functioning as nature intended it should.
Right then is the time to apply corrective measures. But that is what most of us fail to do. We dally along, hoping that it will wear itself out, and in the end the doctor does the work that nature should do with but slight assistance from us.
But, then, doctors must earn fees in order to live, and some ones must pay those fees.
If we are neglected of ourselves, we are at least good to the docs.
And so it goes.
Smile when you feel a grouch coming on. They can't both flourish at the same time.
