Rotary Hears Program On School Financing

David Tipps, president, called the regular Rotary Club meeting to order at noon Tuesday. Terry Hutto led the club in the singing of "Smile-Sing A Song" and "Home On The Range." Due to the absence of Curtis Shelburne, who was supposed to have the program, Bill Moore, superintendent of MISD, gave the program.

Moore talked to the club about the three amendments to be voted on in the May 1 election. "Proposition 1 will allow the Legislature to recapture 2.75 percent of the funds. How? County level, CED, or set new taxing areas. There has been no alternative introduced, but there will probably be some form of recapture.

"One alternative would be to have a Special Election in Each District. "Consolidation, we would be consolidated with Amarillo. The purpose is to get enough rich schools with the poor schools.

"The big question is, If Proposition 1 passes 'will the taxes go up?' The house passed a budget last week that is $900 million short, based on the enrollment we now have.

"A lot of the teachers organizations are against Proposition 2.

"The Mandates they put on school districts last year cost $5 billion. I'm not against the Mandates, but I feel they should help pay for them.

"Proposition 3, the State has never helped pay for building schools. It will be on a 50-50 basis for schools that qualify.

"This may not be the answer to school financing, but it is a start," Moore continued. Moore also encouraged everyone to go to the polls and cast their vote on Saturday, May 1.

Randy Field was the winner of the Polio Plus drawing.

Better Business Bureau Report

If you are buying an advertised product that is not brand new, are you familiar enough with terms such as "used", "reconditioned" or "As Is" to know what you are getting? The BBB and its members have a long-established Code of Advertising which they believe retailers should follow to avoid misleading consumers, whether they are buying new products, a second-hand computer, irregular towels, or a rebuilt car engine. According to the Code, any product that previously was used should be clearly and conspicuously described as such, or in similar terms- for example, "secondhand," "pre-owned" or "repossessed." In addition, "rebuilt" only should be used to describe a product that has been completely disassembled, reconstructed, repaired and refinished, including the replacement of parts. All consumers are interested in getting the most value for their money, and understanding these terms may help ensure that a "great bargain" is really a good deal.

A Personal Emergency Response System (PERS) is an electronic device designed to let you summon help in an emergency. If you are a disabled or an older person living alone, you may be thinking about buying a PERS for yourself. Here are some tips to consider: check out several systems before buying; can you use the system with other response centers?; ask about the pricing, features and servicing of your system and compare costs; make sure the system is easy for you to use; test it to make sure it works from every point in and around your home; and finally, read and understand your purchase, rental or lease agreement carefully before signing. Some other things to consider are whether or not the monitoring center is available 24 hours, average response time, training of the staff, and procedures the center uses to test the system. Call our office at 763-0459.

Workers & Stress

If it's getting harder to go to work, there may be good reason. The U.N.'s International Labor Organization says job stress is increasing to the point of a worldwide epidemic affecting some of the most ordinary jobs.

Microwave Tips

Basic meatballs are easy to prepare in a microwave.

Mix 1 lb. ground chuck, 1 egg, half cup of breadcrumbs, 1 teaspoon of salt, paprika and pepper. Shape into 12 balls and arrange in circle.

Cover with waxed paper, microwave on High 6 to 8 minutes, rotating dish once or twice. Can serve with a sauce if desired.

Why Criminals Are Beating The System

Honest citizens want justice in Texas courtrooms, but are we getting what we deserve?

More and more, it seems the intent of jurors is being undermined by legal maneuvering, misinformation, and lack of information. Two recent cases illustrate the problem.

The most recent case occurred in Tarrant County. Donald Thomas, a 32 year old African American was murdered by three avowed white supremacists, including 18 year old Christopher Brosky. When the 12 jurors sentenced Brosky, they thought they were sending him to give years in prison for his part in Thomas's murder. Instead, due to some confusion caused by the sentencing instruction form, the jury gave Brosky ten years on probation.

The second case occurred in January of 1992, when Gerald Christopher Zuliani was convicted of "reckless" injury to a child in relation to the death of two year old Christopher Wohlers. The prosecutor from Travis County was shocked at the verdict, because he believed the evidence showed that Zuliani had repeatedly beaten the young boy over a month-long period, beatings which led directly to his death.

Instead of sending Zuliani to prison for life or 99 years, the jury unknowingly made it possible for Zuliani to be back on the streets in just two and a half years by convicting him of "reckless" rather than "intentional" injury to a child. Not only was the prosecutor stunned by the verdict, the Austin jury was horrified by the unintended consequences of their decision.

Why do we impose rules that make it more likely that juries will make these kinds of mistakes? Why do we allow criminals to "beat the system", when the very idea of justice demands a system that can't be beaten?

To answer this question, it is only necessary to ask who might benefit from a system that increases the confusion and uncertainty of jurors. The answer is clear: criminals.

Justice is not served when criminals are given undue advantage in the courtroom. Justice is not served when criminals escape punishment through legal technicalities. Once again, we can look at the state's attempt to prosecute Mr. Zuliani for the murder of a child. His conviction for "reckless" injury in 1992 was actually his second trial. His first trial, in 1990 was declared a mistrial because the jury was given a transcript of Zuliani's confession before it was introduced as evidence. A careful adherence to rules of evidence and procedure is meant to ensure justice, not distort or destroy it.

How do we fix the problem? Simple. We replace all the confusing tricks designed to distort the logic of the law with clarity and common sense.

I am urging the legislature to require courts to finally tell juries exactly how much time a convicted criminal will serve in prison, whether they are sentenced to two years or twenty years. It is past time for jurors and citizens to have a clear and honest picture of the costs and consequences of imposing justice. Consequently, I have proposed, as a part of a larger criminal justice reform package, a "truth in sentencing" bill that I am convinced will prevent future travesties of justice similar to those in the Brosky and Zuliani cases.

When you think about it, there really is no excuse for the kind of confusion that leads to a probated sentence for an accomplice to murder, or jail time of less than three years for a man who beat a child to death.

The other problem which we must address, and address quickly, is the growing suspicion that these miscarriages of justice are directly related to a judicial selection process that violates the civil rights of racial and ethnic minorities in Texas.

It is essential and indispensable step forward to have the ethnic makeup of judges more closely reflect the ethnic makeup of the general population in Texas. However, it still won't prevent juries from setting free the very criminals they intend to send to prison.

We cannot be satisfied merely with giving minority citizens equal treatment in a system that abuses jurors and citizens alike. Our goal must be to elevate the quality of the law and the standards of justice for everyone.

Please join me in asking the legislature to restore our faith in the quality of Texas justice. We can begin by showing long-overdue respect for the citizen jurors of this state with the passage of truth in sentencing legislation.

The Gospel Is For Ordinary People

Lewis Smedes, a professor at Fuller Theological Seminary and a fine writer, says that on the day of his ordination to the ministry, he rather tremulously asked an esteemed professor and friend, "Well, do you have one last good word for me before I take this plunge?"

Focus On Faith Curtis Shelburne

Smedes' friends looked him squarely in the eye and said, "Remember that when you preach, you will be preaching to ordinary people." As someone else once noted, "Jesus didn't say, 'Feed my giraffes,' he said, 'Feed my sheep.' Put it down in the troughs where they can get it!" Good advice, but Smedes says that he didn't realize how good right away. It took several years for him to really learn that he preached every Sunday to ordinary people.

Most preachers can identify with Smedes. We tend, especially when we're new enough that we've not bumped up against reality very often, to want our congregations peopled with saints who, as Smedes says, "are harts panting for the water brooks of my sermons," people with "minds buzzing like souped-up computers digesting my great ideas, ... souls on tiptoe, dancing to the spectacular music of the Spirit, ... spiritual athletes."

But, in fact, the truth is that church pews are packed full of ordinary people. And that means people with problems.

A seemingly calm young couple sitting near the aisle are inwardly scared to death because their financial house is about to cave in around their ears. An elderly lady sits alone for the first time in forty years. An outwardly successful father inwardly grieves over the daughter who has run roughshod over every value he considers holy. "Saints on tiptoe"? Not hardly.

But that's okay. Imperfect preachers wouldn't know what to do with perfect parishioners anyway. The truth is that all of us are ordinary people. The Gospel is the good news that God loves us anyway! That's reason enough to love one another.

Curtis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

United States Achievement Academy National Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Rose Marie Gloria has been named a United States National Award winner in Honor Roll.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Rose Marie Gloria, who attends Muleshoe High School was nominated for this National Award by Linda Marr, counselor at the school. Rose Marie will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Rose Marie is the daughter of Ruben and Roseann Gloria. Her grandparents are Annie Chavez of Muleshoe, Juan Gloria of Muleshoe and Dora Flores of Littlefield, TX.

In Fashion

Jewelry fashions change from season to season and sometimes revive designs of past years. Gold is still good with new designs, links and illusion chains feature multi-colored beads and stones. Gold dollars coupled with a center stone or pendant have earrings to match.

For a more casual look, silver-tone is fashioned in birds, swans, crosses, hearts, stars and moons. Mini beads of amethyst glass or silver ropes are also attractive. Necklaces in multi-colored stones have a variety of mix-matched earrings.

Hickory Smoked Ribs

- 4 to 6 pounds spareribs or baby back ribs
 1 tablespoon celery salt
 1 teaspoon chili powder
 Barbeque sauce
 1 teaspoon garlic powder
 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 2 cups wood chips

Remove membrane on back of ribs. Combine celery salt, garlic powder, chili powder and brown sugar; rub mixture over ribs. Soak wood chips in water 30 minutes, drain chips. Prepare fire--when coals have greyed over arrange around drip pan for indirect method and add 1 cup chips to coals. Place ribs in smoker or on grill. Smoke ribs 3 to 4 hours. Add additional chips as needed. During the last hour of cooking time brush occasionally with barbeque sauce.

Chip Tips

Adding seasoning to fire is called smoking, and it's a technique that has been used for centuries to flavor foods. Wood smoking adds a subtle yet distinctive flavor to meats, poultry, and seafood, and vegetables. The woods most often used are Hickory and Mesquite.

Hickory is the traditional wood smoking chip. It has a distinctive wood flavor and nutty taste. Hickory is used to add flavor to all foods.

Mesquite has been made popular by restaurants in recent years, and gives foods a sweet, subtle woody flavor. Mesquite has been used by Southwestern cooks for years and is a favorite on seafood.

Wood chips are easy to use and are great for all types of grilling. They are ideal to add flavor to grilled hamburgers, or chicken; simply toss a few chips on hot coals, and when the flames are gone, you are ready to cook.

Watson Jr. High U.I.L. One Act Play Performs

Persephone calls for Hades.

Achilles played by Adrian King kneels at Persephone's feet as Hermes (Carlos Rojas) and Demeter (Denice Greenhouse) look on.

Persephone and Hades together on the throne of the Underworld.

Friday morning the Jr. High speech class performed "Persephone", for the students of the Muleshoe schools, as they prepare for U.I.L. competition. Lori Haseloff is the director of this light comedy.

The play "Persephone" is the tale of Persephone and Hades. The story is one of the best known of the Greek myths. In this play, the eternal, unquenchable vitality and youth of Persephone are emphasized by setting her against the gloomy back-ground of the world of the dead. A romantic comedy, the play visualizes the havoc that youthful innocence can create in the somber world of harsh realities. In addition to the comic conflicts surrounding the situation, however, there is a deeper theme of the relation of life and death. Persephone is eloquently played by Heather Hooten and Hades is nobly portrayed by Kermit Price. Other cast members include:

- Hermes-Carlos Rojas
- Demeter-Denice Greenhouse
- Charon-Mark McGuire
- Cerberus-Jeffrey Wheeler
- Polydamus-Sarah Watson
- Electra-Cari Faver
- Thyesta-Brandi Harrison
- Cassandra-Jamie Bohler
- Polyxena-Twyla Gear
- Helen-Kristen Nichols
- Achilles-Adrian King
- Etecles-Jake Caswell
- The Prologue-Reagan McElroy

- Alternates: Adam Graves; Kyle Embry; Stefan Sutton; Rhonda Crawford
- Crew Members: Adam Graves; Kyle Embry; Rhonda Crawford; Stefan Sutton

The cast did an excellent job with the play. We wish them the best of luck in the U.I.L. District Competition to be held Friday, April 30 in Friona.

Persephone (Heather Hooten) is counseled by Cassandra, one of the dead (Jamie Bohler).

Hermes (Carlos Rojas) and Hades (Kermit Price) attempt to solve the problems.

Leadership Muleshoe Meets In Young Home

By Carolyn Johnson

The members of Leadership Muleshoe and their adult leaders met in the home of Marilyn Young on Saturday, March 13.

Arriving at 10 o'clock that morning were the ladies of Leadership Muleshoe. They enjoyed the privilege of receiving makeovers done by Susan Martin of Levelland.

Following the makeovers, the rest of the group arrived for a delicious lunch prepared by Marilyn Young. Everyone ate lunch and discussed some business matters concerning the organization.

Phyllis Jones, an image consultant of Lubbock, then gave a program to the group titled, "Packaging and Presenting Yourself as a Winner." Jones emphasized positive self-esteem and keeping up a positive attitude.

The day was an exciting experience and fun for all.

The program planned for April 26 will feature a video presentation by Alice Hernandez of Women's Protective Services, an organization that provides counseling and shelter for victims of domestic violence and their children. The organization is in desperate need of clothing, toiletries, linens, school supplies, and other assorted items for the people utilizing its services. The Jennyslippers will be considering sponsoring a donation drop-off spot to help this worthy cause. Anyone interested in working with the project of this type is encouraged to attend.

Also on the program will be a presentation by Billie Downing on "Contact West Texas", a helpline for adults and teens to air concerns, express grief, or just talk during a time of loneliness or need.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Heritage Foundation Depot. Refreshments will be served and the public is welcome to attend.

Time To Wage War On Pine Tip Moth

The pine tip moth can be a serious pest of young pine trees planted by homeowners on the South Plains. And right now is one of the few times homeowners can effectively fight back, says Curtis Preston, Bailey County Extension agent, for agriculture.

The larvae of this moth bore into the growing tips of pine trees, causing them to turn brown. Severely infested trees develop a bushy appearance over time.

The tip moth passes the winter as a pupa within the injured terminals and twigs of the tree. Moths emerge in late March and April and begin the first of several generations which will occur during the summer.

Female moths lay eggs on the needles and stems. After hatching, the young larvae bore into the tip and begin feeding. After several weeks of feeding and constructing a tunnel in the tip of the stem, the larvae pupate. The adult moths then emerge from their pupal cases, and a new cycle or generation begins. Properly timed application of an insecticide is the best way to reduce pine tip moth populations and damage, the Extension agent said. "Since this pest spends most of its life cycle protected inside the pine tip, foliar sprays are most effective when the young larvae are just hatching from the egg," he said.

To properly time these applications, pheromone traps are used to detect the presence of adult moths and determine when eggs are being laid by the first cycle of moths. Traps being monitored on the South Plains this spring indicate that May 1 through May 5 is the time to spray trees for this pest.

Foliar-applied insecticides recommended for homeowners include Orthene Dursban and dimethoate. Adding a small amount of liquid soap or detergent to the spray solution will improve control because it helps the insecticide adhere to the treated trees, Preston said.

"Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides," he stressed.

Bivins Co-Sponsors Ban On Income Tax

State Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) today signed on as co-sponsor of a constitutional amendment to prohibit a state personal income tax without voter approval.

"I sponsored an income tax ban during my first session in 1989, but I couldn't rally enough support to pass it," Bivins said. "This time, however, I sense much more support within the Legislature for such a ban."

Under the amendment:
 * No income tax could be implemented without voter approval;

* Voters would have to approve any increase in the income tax rate if such a tax is implemented;
 * Revenue raised by an income tax would have to be dedicated to education and property tax relief.

"A state income tax would be a major change in public policy for this state. It's proper that voters be able to vote on an income tax since it would drastically affect their lives and personal finances," Bivins said.

The two-term senator also pointed out the amendment would free Texans from the concern that the Legislature would unilaterally implement an income tax in response to a state budget crisis.

Bullock Endorses Increased Hospital Charity Care

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock on Monday praised passage of a bill requiring non-profit hospitals to provide charity care and other services in exchange for their exemptions from ad valorem, sales and franchise taxes.

"This bill will not answer the state's vast health care demands, but it is a constructive step toward giving relief to the tens of thousands of poor and uninsured Texans who could not otherwise afford medical treatment," Bullock said following passage of Senate Bill 427.

The bill resulted from weeks of negotiations between Senate sponsor Rodney Ellis, House sponsor Glen Maxey and hospital representatives. It will require that non-profit hospitals organized for charitable purposes and receiving tax benefits because of this status provide health care services to the community.

The bill also requires hospitals to submit financial and other data to the state, and mandates that hospitals have an admission policy providing for acceptance of indigent patients.

Don't Shake The Baby

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

- 1) head trauma is the leading cause of disability and death among abused infants and children?
- 2) violent shaking is involved in many of these cases?
- 3) 25-50% of the American public does not know that shaking an infant can cause brain damage or death?
- 4) as early as 1972, a nationwide campaign to alert parents to the dangers of shaking babies was called for by a noted physician?
- 5) in spite of that, until recently no comprehensive attempt has been made to alert parents and other caregivers to the dangers of shaking babies?

Professionals and the general public alike should be aware of the dangers of shaking babies, and take actions to prevent its occurrence.

A COMPREHENSIVE, COST-EFFECTIVE CAMPAIGN IS NOW AVAILABLE.

Media and print materials have been developed by the League Against Child Abuse and approved by the American Academy of Pediatrics. The materials help alert parents about the dangers of shaking babies and how to cope with crying, which is the most frequent triggering event for shaking. The campaign includes:

- a print packet for parents of newborns consisting of an outer "Congratulations" envelope, a 5" x 8" "Crying: What Should I Do?" card, and an evaluation postcard
- "NEVER SHAKE A BABY" posters, in sizes 16" x 20" and 8.5" x 11".
- public service announcements for television, radio and the print media (3 English = Dad, Mom, Baby-sitter; 2 Spanish)
- a 7-minute video about appropriate ways to cope with crying, and the dangers of shaking babies

Localization tags can be put on the materials.

The print packet with postcard feedback, is being used in parts of Ohio, Delaware, New Jersey, Utah and Illinois. Data are available from more than 15,000 parents. More than 50% say they are not as likely to shake their babies after reading the information, and 89% recommend that other parents read these materials. The print PSA's have appeared in TIME, NEWSWEEK and SPORTS ILLUSTRATED.

Details about cost and implementation can be obtained by calling toll-free 1-800-858-5222

REST

A day of play has tired this little one, but now sleep will bring about the needed rest. This is the time for restoring energies, and breaks the day's pace. The Lord set aside a day for rest and worship. This day allows us to be in the Lord's house and renews our energies for the week to come.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Right On!

Hillary Clinton and her team of specialists trying to work out a much-needed health care system for Americans--all Americans--deserve support.
 The team is doing what it thinks is right for the country and thirty million Americans who have no health security. They are hoping to accomplish what most other western democracies accomplished long ago.
 This may be the single toughest assignment accepted by any Clinton team; Hillary Clinton, a smart lawyer, who unquestionably will have the president's all-out support in the PR and congressional campaigns, may well have been the best possible choice to head this difficult effort.
 The fact that a recent poll of doctors found a majority now agreeing the nation needs a health care program is indicative of a hopeful shift in public sentiment.
 In the end, members of Congress will hold the fate of the program in their hands. As in the 1930's, when social security was enacted, those who oppose national health care will likely be seen as fossils in years ahead.
