HUNT PAYS TRIBUTE TO TEXAS

HOUSTON Some 20 miles outside the city of Houston, the slender white shaft of San Jacinto towering into the Texas sunshine, stands as an everlasting monument to freedom. For it was in San Jacinto in April, 1836, that Texas won its freedom from Mexico. And here almost within sight of the San Jacinto monument would like to comment on the descendants of those Texas Texans, led by Sam Houston, who have a grim determination to protect that dearly won freedom. I am not sure that this and beautiful country of Houston isn't far more than merely "Deep in the heart of Texas." I'm beginning to feel that it is deep in the heart of Texas.

For nowhere else have I quite the depth and power and magnificence that I have these past two days riding about these rich and endless prairies, these booming harbors, great ship canals, rising industries, thousands of oil derricks, shipyards, refineries; all expressing the restless energy of this mighty Gulf section. You simply can't unless you know this rich and resourceful land here.

There is hardly anything they haven't got or can't and don't do down here. It's an incredible land, a fantastic story-book land. It has spirit and gravity and the will to win. I can't begin to tell you the power here is in this Houston country. It slides out of the earth through deep oil wells. It comes actually out of the sea, salt water that is turned as if by pure magic into priceless magnesium. It slides down the shipways in hundreds of victory cargo boats.

Flows as by-products from gasoline refineries into vulcanizing plants that will soon be turned into fine sturdy, synthetic rubber that will, in the future, make America independent and free us from the strangle hold that rubber plantations of the East Indies and Malaya long have threatened us with.

They're actually freeing America here, making us self-sustaining, self-supporting. I tell you this is a land for poets to write verses about and great singers to sing about, it's a land that is like a youth suddenly come to the full power and knowledge of his manhood. It is bursting with energy and riches. It sings as it goes to work building, making, training, dreaming victory. It's an epic land.

As some of you who are of faint heart and some of you who are prating of our complacency and some of you who know so little of America get talk so much about it, come out here, come deep in the heart of Texas and stop your fault finding, cheap criticism and only you'll find yourself up until you can almost love the stars that love wonderful land so much they hang low in the sky, so as to be near it.

They have never felt so sure of their country as I do here and in this very moment. I have never had so much strength and sureness and glory come to me. Honestly, it's almost like getting religion just to come down here and let the power of this magnificent land flow into you, recharging your batteries, re-consecrating your spirit and determination to the service and the protection of your dear country to its honor and its victory. This is a land, my friends, a land of milk and honey, of cattle and rice, of oil and ships and smoking chimneys and busy brave men. Here is something to sing about, to preach about, to shout about. This is where Texas and America come together.

Many Lives Lost In Careless Fires

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. The loss of American lives by fire, when compared with death lists during three years of war in bomb-battered England, is described by Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, as deplorable. The comparison he said, presents "a very unpleasant picture." "In a vain effort to defeat the British," continued Hall, "Nazi planes rained flaming hell from the skies over England. War casualties in the first three years ending August 31, 1942, show that German air raiders killed 45,871 persons in England.

"Approximately 30,000 civilians burned to death in America during the same three-year period. In a land free from the roar of enemy planes; where screaming bombs are unknown, our carelessness with fire caused a death toll two-thirds as great as wartime deaths in England." The commissioner said last week's incomplete fire reports list at least two deaths in Texas. In one, a man was burned when he fell asleep while smoking in bed.

The other death resulted from the dangerous practice of keeping gasoline in the home. A can of gasoline near a water heater was ignited. A shower of flames covered a child standing nearby causing death within a few minutes.

"Fatal fires are almost a daily occurrence in Texas," Commissioner Hall said. "They result from acts of carelessness—our failure to consider either the safety of others or our own safety. If as many of our people in Texas were killed by bombs as there are by fires, we would be doing something to stop it. Yet, a life lost by fire is just as horrible a tragedy as one lost by an enemy bomb."

Union Services Sunday Night

Pastor M. L. Womack of the U S A Presbyterian Church request us to announce a Union service at 7:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, November 22. All participating churches are urged to attend. Rev. J. J. Muller of Coleman will do the preaching.

Rev. M. L. Womack spent the week-end at Leonard, in northeast Texas, where he preached Sunday morning. He preached to a rural community church Sunday night in the Cross Roads community. The preacher reports a nice town and friendly reception.

Queenie and little daughter Betsy returned to their home in McLeansboro, Illinois, departing from here at midnight.

Frances is visiting us this week, while recuperating from an attack of pneumonia while on duty in Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. Jim Bob and little daughter Bobbie of Bryan, spent the week-end with us and returned to their home Sunday afternoon. They were accompanied by Mrs. Gregg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Sloop, who spent the weekend with friends in San Angelo.

While Jack was located in North Ireland, he stated it was not so bad, but he much preferred Texas and the good U. S. A. While John was located in Australia, he said it was not so bad there, the people being of high class, well cultured and very good manners. He also states that it is not so bad in New Guinea, but does not have any compliments for the natives.

Burton uses a little comedy, and rather implies the natives where he is are funny set. Very dark and somewhat crude. Infact we cannot state just the language he used to describe them, but will leave it up to you Mr. Reader to guess. However, clothing is not very much in common use.

FDR Proclaims Thanksgiving And New Year's As Days Of Prayer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—In an unusual proclamation, President Roosevelt called upon the American people today to observe both Thanksgiving and New Year's as days of prayer. "Devoid of the 'whereas' of customary presidential proclamations, this one started with a quotation from the 92nd Psalm: 'It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord.'"

After reciting the 23rd Psalm, Mr. Roosevelt said in his proclamation:

Inspired with faith and courage by these words, let us turn again to the work that confronts us in this time of national emergency in the armed services, and the merchant marine; in factors and officers; on farms and in the mines; on highways, railways; in other places of public service to the nation; and in our homes."

The proclamation of two national days of prayer followed numerous request from religious organizations and church leaders throughout the country asking that this step be taken. The last day of prayer proclaimed by Mr. Roosevelt was last New Year's Day.

THE PRESIDENT DIRECTED THE ATTENTION OF THE PEOPLE TO A JOINT RESOLUTION OF CONGRESS DESIGNATING THE FOURTH THURSDAY IN NOVEMBER AS THANKSGIVING DAY, REQUESTING THAT BOTH NOV 26 AND JAN. 1. BE OBSERVED IN PRAYER, PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY.

Thanksgiving thus will be back on the old basis throughout the nation, after having been observed in some states on the third Thursday in November in recent years in response to presidential proclamation.

TIPTON, CALIFORNIA

November 13, 1942

The Parents of Burton Gregg Santa Anna Texas Dear Greggs: I worked with your son, Burton, on two construction jobs in San Antonio, Tex., and consider him as one of my best friends.

The last word I have had from him was some time ago, at that time he was getting married and was to join the U.S. Navy. Since that time I have come to California, my home state.

I think of him often and would like very much to be able to correspond with him. Would you please send me his address.

I remember his saying that his home was in a small town some 20 or 30 miles from Brownwood, and after studying a Texas map I have concluded it is Santa Anna. I trust that this letter reaches you.

Thanking you for this special favor, I am

Sincerely yours,

FROM A RECENT ISSUE OF THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS TROUBLES OF EDITOR

J. J. Gregg in the Santa Anna News: We admit we are short on locals and personal mention, but it is beyond our power. The editor is continuing in his efforts to get a good local reporter, but so far our efforts have not been crowned with very much success. Why do people act so reticent toward an editor when he is doing his utmost?

The editorial difficulty complained of by Brother Gregg is so unusual that we are inclined to think it is but a passing phase in Santa Anna. We mean, of course, this reported tendency of people to act reticent toward an editor, even one who is doing his utmost. In other parts of beautiful Texas, at least, folks haven't been reticent toward a newspaper editor since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. It has always been the citizen's or the subscriber's privilege to speak right out to the newspaperman, whether it be in criticism of the editorial position of his newspaper or in the matter of furnishing a personal or social note for the paper. In the circumstance State Press urges Brother Gregg to hold out a little longer. Then either folks will break loose from their icy reserve and turn in a flood of locals and personal mentions, or else a good local reporter will miraculously turn up in his print shop.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS

Suitable Wartime Desserts

By Dr. James A. Tobey

SOLDIERS, sailors, war workers, and civilians all crave good desserts. There is no reason why they should not have them in wartime as well as in normal times.

Dr. J. A. Tobey

The wartime dessert should, however, be as nourishing as it is agreeable to the palate. It can easily be both. Despite shortages in sugar, chocolate, spices, and condiments, plenty of tasty and nutritious desserts are and will be available.

A dessert has several definite nutritive functions. It completely satisfies the appetite, giving an agreeable feeling of fullness. It stimulates digestion. It provides food-energy and other nutriment needed by the body.

Foods that can now be used as desserts include fruits, cake, pie, pastries, puddings, ice cream, custards, cookies, and doughnuts. All are valuable in the diet, although there is some variation in their dietary qualities.

Pie, cake, and ice cream are our most popular desserts. Apple pie is the favorite, with cherry pie a close second. These fruit pies not only are good sources of food-energy, yielding from 300 to 400 calories to the average four inch slab, but they contain some body-building protein, some food-minerals, and appreciable amounts of certain vitamins, such as vitamins A and C.

About half of the volume of the average cake is made up of such protective foods as eggs, milk, and butter or pure vegetable shortening. The other half consists of wheat flour and sugar or other sweetening agents such as honey and molasses. "Eat your egg the cake way," is, in fact, a good slogan these days.

Cake furnishes about 100 calories per ounce, although the food-energy yield may be a little more or a little less, depending on the exact composition or type of cake. Ice cream inherits many of the excellent dietary properties of its fluid ancestor, milk. High in energy value, about 70 calories per ounce, it is abundant in protein, the food-mineral calcium, and vitamins A and B.

None of these desserts is fattening when properly included in a well-constructed daily diet. A dessert should, in fact, be a part of a balanced meal, and not a mere appendage to it.

"Lady, we won't let you go back to this!"

INFORMATION

You: No? Well, I understand that the factories which used to make washing machines now have turned to war work—

Reddy: True!

You: ... and so what are we going to do when our present machine wears out?

Reddy: That's just the point! We're going to help keep 'em in good working condition—

You: But new parts are hard to get, too!

Reddy: Yes. That makes it doubly important that we take good care of the things we have.

You: But suppose my machine breaks down?

Reddy: Well, Lady, the point is, make repairs before it breaks down! Check up on your washing machine—and all other appliances—now before some essential part gives way. Call your electric fix-it man. Let him go over your appliances carefully. Then he should make repairs that will prevent breakdowns.

You: Thank you, Reddy. But suppose I can't find a repair man—many of them are in the Army, you know.

Reddy: In that case call the West Texas Utilities. Our service department has arranged to help out in emergencies!

SANTA ANNA vs BRADY

The Mountaineers take on the Bull Dogs from Brady in the final game of the season Friday night. The Mountaineers have a good record so far this season, having lost only one game, and we hope they will be able to top it off with the best game of the year. All the boys are in good shape and ready to tear those bull gods apart with the exception of Tom Johnson, who broke his arm Tuesday in a work out. His fine defensive play will be really missed, but the other boys are going to make up for his loss by playing harder.

The winner of the game Friday night will take Second in the District, as Brady and Santa Anna are now tied for that place. Ballinger is undisputed First.

Eat More Cheese

By KATHARINE FISHER and DOROTHY B. MARSH
Authors of The Good Housekeeping Cook Book

WHEN wartime demands meatless meals, family health may suffer unless menus provide other foods that are good sources of proteins. Proteins are sometimes called Nature's building blocks, because without an adequate daily supply bodies cannot grow, or worn out tissues be restored.

Like the protein of meat, poultry, milk, eggs, and fish, the protein of cheese is of the highest quality. You can include cheese, as well as meat in your meals and live up to the standards of good nutrition. Make the best of our abundant cheese supply these wartime days by serving often cheeses of different types in nourishing main dishes, as well as in soups, sauces, salad dressings, etc., and for dessert. Your family will enthuse over cheese dishes like these:

Baked Tomato Macaroni

3/4 cup macaroni, 2 c. bottled milk
1/2 cup boiling water, 1 c. evaporated milk and 1 c. water
1/4 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. minced onion
1/4 c. butter or margarine, 1/2 lb. processed sharp cheese, grated (1 c.)
1 c. flour, 3 thin sliced tomatoes
1 tsp. pepper, 1/2 tsp. bottled thick condiment sauce

Cook macaroni in the boiling water with 1/2 tsp. salt until tender. Drain. Meanwhile, make sauce as follows: Melt butter in double boiler, then stir in flour, mustard, 3/4 tsp. salt and pepper. Add condiment sauce, milk and onion and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add grated cheese and stir until melted.

"Make a boy in service happy by sending him some crisp Butter-Honey home-made cookies", suggested Jewell Hipp, County Home Demonstration Agent, in cooperation with the Extension Service of A. & M. College; to the members at the Santa Anna girls' 4-H Club, November 3, at the school house.

You won't need to rob your mothers' sugar bowl to do this either. All you will need to make these delicious cookies is: 3/4 cup of butter, 1/2 cup honey, 1 egg yolk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon orange juice, 1 teaspoon graded orange rind, 2-2 1/4 cups sifted enriched all-purpose flour to keep butter from solidifying. Beat in egg yolk, add orange juice and grated rind. Sift salt

Combine sauce and macaroni; arrange in layers with tomatoes in a greased 1 1/2 qt. casserole. Bake in a moderately hot oven of 400° F. for 20 min. or until brown. Serves 4.

Serve with lettuce sandwiches, fruit gelatin and coffee for lunch-noon.

Baked Eggs With Cheese Sauce

1 tsp. prepared mustard, 1/2 c. Medium White Sauce
1 c. grated processed American cheese

Add the mustard and cheese to the hot white sauce, and stir until the cheese is melted. Cover the bottom of a 10"x20"x2" baking pan with half the sauce. Carefully break the eggs into sauce; cover with the remaining sauce. Bake in a moderate oven of 325° F. for 20-25 min., depending upon how well done you like your eggs. Serves 4-6.

Cole Slaw With Buttermilk Dressing

Toss 4 c. shredded raw green or red cabbage with 1/2 c. American cheese strips cut 1"x1/4". Combine 2 tsp. salt, 2 tsp. brown sugar, 1/2 tsp. paprika, 2 tsp. vinegar, 2 tsp. prepared mustard, dash cayenne pepper, 1 c. buttermilk; pour over cabbage and cheese. Toss lightly; garnish with green pepper rings. Serves 4.
