4-H Club Girls Doing Good Work

The 200 4-H Club girls enrolled in Coleman County this year, are working on the Victory Demonstration by pledging to help win the war by doing eight things:

1. Produce food, feed, and fiber for home use and war effort.
2. Give good care of every-thing.
3. Pay taxes and make savings plans.
4. Buy war stamps and bonds.
5. Work hard to relieve the war effort.
6. Manage the farm and home.
7. Understand the "why" and "how" of war-time changes.
8. Build family, community and national life worth defending.

Contributions being made by 4-H Club girls toward the nation's war effort to win the war is illustrated by statements made by 4-H Club girls about what they are doing to carry out the Victory Pledge.

Doris Myers of Gouldbusk 4-H Club, states: "I have raised 20 Rhode Island red pullets and assisted my mother with the family flock. I also raised a garden with several varieties of vegetables. In clothing work I made a shirt, apron, and many other articles of clothing for myself."

Patsy Cavanaugh of the Gouldbusk 4-H Club, raised a frame garden, 200 chickens, and helped her mother conserve food for the family. She and her two brothers raised two lambs by hand, and shared the wool, which amounted to 15 pounds from the two lambs. They named the lambs Alice and Toar.

Betty Terry of the same club raised poultry, and a garden as well as making an apron. "My frame garden is producing fresh vegetables for our table everyday," reports Betty Monsey, President of Gouldbusk 4-H Club. "We have radishes, lettuce and greens of all kinds, turnips, and tomatoes, in the field garden," she stated.

Wilma Bowen of the same club reports her garden has tomatoes and onions at present and has had many varieties during the summer months. "Producing food for the home has been Joyce Ritchies' main demonstration this year. Her garden is producing at present, tomatoes and pepper, greens of many varieties, and turnips. She also raised poultry this year."

Joan Bouchillon reported for her club she has made a dress, hand towel and dresser cover.

Bill McClellan has made an apron although she is only 12 years old. She has as her main demonstration a pig and poultry. "Making her own clothes as well as producing a garden and raising chickens has been carried out by Della Myers, of Gouldbusk 4-H Club."

Velma Jo Bryson of Voss 4-H Club is contributing to the war effort by making her own clothes. "Helping to carry out her production pledge, Peggy Joyce Smith of Gouldbusk Club has purchased recently, some baby chicks. She is also conserving her own clothes and making several articles of clothing."

Madge Trammell is helping produce with raising garden and poultry. Carolyn Turner of Voss 4-H Club has made 3 cup towels, and 2 strings of cantaloupe beads.

Canning food for winter is Ella Pearl and Willene Feeler's contribution to helping win the war. A good supply of okra, peas, beans, corn and tomatoes, has been conserved by the girls. "Production and conserving of foods to help win the war has been Eileen Pate's main demonstration. She has beets and lettuce in the garden. She has canned peas, pickles, peaches, and beets. She has also raised poultry."

Juanelle Guthrie has had a large part in helping with the food supply at her home, by producing and canning tomatoes, peas, and spinach.

ORDER IN WHICH MEN SUPPOSED TO BE DRAFTED GIVEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The Army's need for men has reached the point where continued deferment of physically fit men will be based increasingly on essential usefulness in civilian life, Selective Service officials said today.

Married men who have children remain at the bottom of the draft list regardless of the nature of their jobs, but those with wives only are being rapidly reclassified on an occupational basis and many of them soon will be called.

This reclassification is based on a list of 34 essential industries issued in July. Selective Service headquarters has urged local boards to speed the reclassification because pools of single men are virtually exhausted.

4 Essential Industries
Married men who have any job in one of the 34 essential industries are being reclassified as 3-B. This signifies deferment for both dependency and occupational reasons.

Married men who do not work in these industries remain in Class 3-A, deferred for dependency only. And calls for induction of these men are expected to begin in November.

The draft of 3-A men will be interrupted to take in the expected class of 18 and 19-year-olds, but it will be resumed in the late winter or early spring.

The complete order in which registrants are subject to call is as follows:

1. Single men with no dependents; Class 1-A. This class is virtually exhausted.
2. Single men, in non-essential industries, but who have dependents; Class 3-A. Largely exhausted.
3. Single men, with dependents, in essential industries; Class 3-B. (Each man's case subject to review; registrants found to be key men in essential activities continue temporarily deferred while the call moves on to the next class.)

In Lower Brackets
4. Married men in non-essential industries who maintain a bonafide family relationship with a wife only; Class 3-A.

5. Married men in essential industries who maintain a bonafide family relationship with a wife only; Class 3-B. (Subject review individually when liable to call, and key men sorted out for temporary deferment.)

6. Married men in non-essential industries who maintain a bonafide family relationship with a wife and children or children only; Class 3-A, but not to be called unless 3-B men are exhausted.

7. Married men in essential industries who maintain a bonafide family relationship with wife and children or children only; Class 3-B.

WISH WE COULD

This editor and Mrs. Gregg have been invited to attend Open House at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gregg, Crossville, Ala., December 6th, 1942, the occasion honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gregg on their Fifty-fifth wedding anniversary.

W. B. Gregg is an elder brother to this editor, and one of the best men we ever knew. He has been a Baptist Deacon since he was only a young man, been an active Sunday School and church worker a conscientious Christian that believes in living his religion instead of profession to possess it. It was our pleasure to live in their home for more than a year during our younger days, and the moral and Christian influence of that humble country home has been a lasting and worthwhile benediction to us. May their tribe increase and God continue to be honored and His Name glorified in their righteous conduct.

WASTE FAT CAMPAIGN IN PROGRESS

According to a report from Miss Jewell Hipp, County Home Dem. Agent, County Waste Fat Campaign, depots for collecting waste fat are being set up in each rural section through the Victory Council. Any person having questions concerning the fat drive may contact the Community Victory Leaders.

Several reports from the communities have been coming in, stating that the people are taking advantage of the wild animals, that have been killed; by rendering the fat from them. One community is making plans to have a community supper and possum hunt in order to help reach the fat quota. They realize the importance of doing their part in the war effort.

This is an urgent call for each of you to take this as a personal message, and see that you and every family in your community turns in from two to two and one-half pounds of waste fat.

December 2 is known as Waste Fat Day. Persons coming to town before that time may turn in their waste fat at the County Home Demonstration Agent's office, with their names on it. We will then turn it in to the stores. Or you may bring it to the stores on week days, but they have asked that you not bring it on Fridays or Saturdays.

The Junior Rangers, and other school children of Santa Anna and Coleman will make a house to-house canvas for waste fat on December 5, instead of Oct. 28, as formerly announced.

FORT LEONARD WOOD, MO.

Clyde A. Curry, RFD 2, Santa Anna, who recently entered military service, has arrived at the Engineer Replacement Training Center here for an intensive training program in preparation for combat engineer duty.

Soldiers go from here to tactical units or to special training for officer candidate schools.

Louis Alvie Parsons of Camp Edwards, Mass., is here on furlough, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Parsons.

4-H GARDENERS' OUTPUT IN 1942 IS 3,500,000 BUSHELS - A NEW RECORD

A RECORD OUTPUT of more than 3 1/2 million bushels of garden vegetables and small fruits will be produced this year by 4-H Club members throughout the nation, in response to the Government's call for super-production of these foodstuffs to meet war needs. This output is an increase of 60 percent over last year's production by the clubsters.

Roughly 350,000 members participated in the 1942 National 4-H Victory Garden contest conducted in cooperation with the Extension Service, in which Sears, Roebuck provided awards consisting chiefly of U. S. War Savings Bonds. This also is an all-time high enrollment in the 4-H gardening project, and shows how vital 4-H production is to the war effort in this as in all lines.

County winners in this competition received gold-filled medals, and four representatives of each State's blue award group were awarded a $25 War Savings Bond, one of the latter will be considered in selecting sectional and national winners. All-expense trips to the 21st National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29-Dec. 2, will be awarded to the two highest scoring participants in each of the four extension sections, who will also receive a $100 War Savings Bond apiece.

Attention! Every Person In Coleman County

The County Waste Fat Drive is now on. You are urged to save every drop of waste fat. This will go into the making of explosives to sink the Axis ships down their planes, and stop their tanks. The quota for Coleman County is set at 10,000 pounds. December 2, has been set as the Waste Fat Day. Bring all your waste fat in to Piggly Wiggly or Safeway Stores in Coleman, or the Piggly Wiggly Store in Santa Anna. Bring it in wide-mouthed one pound tin cans. All schools are called upon to cooperate in this drive. The Junior Rangers, 4-H Clubs and Community and Neighborhood Victory Leaders are standing by and working with the Waste Fat Salvage Committee. The rural families are asked to save waste fat from all wild animals, and domestic animals that have died without a contagious disease. Strain the fat. Four cents per pound is given for fat, free from any foreign material.

Coleman County has met its quota in all other salvage drives, so let's work hard to meet the 10,000 pounds of waste fat.

The WPB is calling for all old silk and nylon hose for the parachute industry, according to Jewell Hipp, County Home Dem. Agent, and Chairman of the County Salvage Committee. If you have old hose at your homes like them to the dry goods stores at once. These are badly needed in the airplane industry. Please do not delay as your old hose will help to tow a glider or make a parachute.

Omaha Faye Dalton, of the Silver Valley 4-H Club, is being given the Danforth Foundation Achievement award for the year 1941-42. Omaha Faye has been active in buying war stamps and bonds, and saving all materials possible for the war production. 1942 Traffic Deaths 1,113

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Traffic deaths for the first 10 months of 1942 totaled 1,113, the Highway Patrol division of State Police reported Saturday. This was a decrease of 442 from the total of 1,555 rolled up during the comparable period of 1941, or a percentage decrease of 28 per cent. October's total of 71 fatalities was the lowest of the year, the next lowest month being April, when 94 were killed.

For meat substitutes, call on cheese, egg, dry beans, soybeans and peanuts. Like meat, these foods make a good basis for "stick to the rib" dishes, around which to build a nutritious meal. They all contain protein plus one or more of the other food values found in meat. Cottage cheese is coming into its own as being one of the best substitutes for meat.

For further information, on dishes for meat substitutes, call on your County Home Demonstration Agent.

VICTORY LEADERS CALLED ON

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 19.—Governor Coke Stevenson, chairman of the National Defense Committee for Texas has requested the A. and M. College Extension Service to use the "human chain system of communication" in informing the state's rural families about the government's Share-the-Meat campaign, according to Extension Director H. H. Williamson.

In this movement the Extension Service and the community and neighborhood Victory Leaders will cooperate with the OCD and State and county nutrition committees, Director Williamson said. Briefly, the Share-the-Meat program is a campaign for voluntarily dividing fairly the pork, beef, veal, lamb and mutton which is available for civilians after the needs of the armed services and lend-lease commitments have been met. The "share-out allowance" of two and one-half pounds per adult per week includes only the muscle meats, not fish, poultry, and the variety meats, such as hearts, kidneys, livers, sweetbreads, and the like.

Since October 1, Director Williamson explains, deliveries of "muscle meats" for civilian consumption have been reduced considerably. That means homemakers who cannot shop early and "diners-out" who get to restaurants late in the meal, may not be able to get their share of meat. "Although families who are heavy meat eaters are asked to limit their consumption, no one expects a person now eating less than two and one-half pounds to cut his consumption. Instead, he should eat his allowance for the sake of good health," Director Williamson says.

During the week November 30-Dec. 6, community and neighborhood leaders will conduct the farm families and in villages of less than 2,500 population. OCD block leaders will explain the program to families in towns and cities.

THOUSAND EAT SCHOOL LUNCHES

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23.—More than 371,000 school children in Texas were provided with nutritious foods through the community school lunch program during the month of the last school year, according to results of a survey made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Of the total number of children benefiting in Texas, 273,517 were in rural schools and 97,987 in city schools. The number of Texas schools participating was 5,197.

The national survey, conducted by the Agricultural Marketing Administration which provides many farm products for the program, shows that more than six million children participated in all states. In many areas local sponsors provide foods to supplement those supplied by AMA. Too, many schools operated garden and canning projects in connection with the program, thus providing part of the food. Usually, County Extension Service agents assisted in planning these gardens.

The school lunch programs vary from complete hot lunches served from a central kitchen to an apple and a glass of milk distributed by the teachers. Complete lunches, however, were served to 61 per cent of the children.

Local organizations sponsoring the lunch programs included Boards of Education, Parent-Teachers Associations, and home demonstration clubs.

Sgt. and Mrs. John W. Cheek of Camp Bowie spent the weekend with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McIntire of the Shield community.

Hints For Hunters

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23

Hunting this year will have more problems than usual, along with its pleasure R. E. Callender, management game specialist for the A and M College Extension Service, sees one in the gasoline rationing and another in the scarcity of ammunition. Combined, they represent a break for wildlife. With less gasoline, sports men are likely to confine hunting to short periods, and shortage of ammunition means fewer shots and a more plentiful supply of seed stock for next year's production. He predicts a good crop of deer and quail, and wild turkey about as good as last season.

Assuming that hunters will consider the food value of their bags more seriously than in previous years, Callender points out that with some definite exceptions, there is no limit to the time game birds and animals may be kept in storage, provided storage occurs within three days after the end of the season. The exceptions are migratory birds and waterfowl, which may be possessed for only 30 days before June 5, except that deer, sausage, elk or deer meat which is cut and wrapped, or such meat stored in any privately owned or leased locker in a cold storage plant, may be kept there indefinitely.

To prevent spoilage of deer meat by careless handling, Callender suggests placing the bled and dressed carcass in a long sack made of heavy canvas or unbleached muslin, and tying it securely to prevent contact by insects, keep the carcass dry and not skinned until frozen in storage.

Callender says that if the weather is cool the deer can be kept in camp. If not it should go to storage without delay. If storage is not readily accessible, the carcass can be hung out each night and wrapped in blankets and placed in the shade during the day. All hides should be kept and tanned for later use. Extension publication B-86 describes the method for tanning leather at home.

MY TEXAS HOME

Some folks dream about a fine home in California. Others, sit on the mountains, the beach and the sunny skies, but the place I long to be, Oh! it means the world to me, is my Texas Home.

There's a cozy little cottage waiting there for me. Just to cheer me when my days work a strain.

No one knows what it's worth, it was my heaven on Earth, the cradle of my dreams. My little Santa Anna Texas home.

Where a friendly smile lingers longer.

Where a steady hand clasp is stronger.

Where ever you meet in the Church, in homes,

Or on the busy streets.

Where the daily cares seem the lightest.

Where the tomorrow future was the brightest.

There's where I long to be, is my Texas Home.

Written in remembrance of my Santa Anna, Texas Home and friends.

A Great Nation Gives Thanks

This Thanksgiving will be unlike any America has ever known. Though crops are more bountiful than ever before, we must deny ourselves many things so those who are fighting for us will have all they need.

But even with less of some things than in other years, it is a time to be both thoughtful and thankful. We still have so much more than so many others. There have been disasters, but worse ones have been missed. A few more days will bring the anniversary of our entry into the war. The nation's hope and earnest prayer will be for victory and peace, before the coming of another Thanksgiving.

for a bountiful harvest
WEST TEXAS

You: Yes, West Texas is contributing much to the war effort. Food, cotton and wool for clothing men in the fighting forces. The whole world can be thankful for a bountiful harvest in West Texas. But, what do you mean, Reddy, "on KP duty"?

Reddy: This is it's the first wartime Thanksgiving Day. Many people will observe it over the country by working, turning out the weapons of war. Our power plants will be on the job as usual, providing electric service for your home and business, and for Uncle Sam's Army camps and for war industries—

You: I see! On KP duty, too!

Reddy: Yes. Electric service is doing Kitchen Police duty EVERY day. And since the factories that used to make appliances now are doing war work, everybody should take good care of what they've got. Keep them repaired and in good working condition—

You: But suppose they break down... repairmen are hard to find and new parts are scarce.

Reddy: In that case, call the West Texas Utilities. Our service department has arranged to help out in emergencies.

You: Thank you, Reddy. I guess we can be thankful for you, too!

Reddy: Well, we can ALL be thankful for the American system of FREE enterprise under which any man or woman is free to create a business that fills a particular need in this or any other community, just so long as they give the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to the most people, pay taxes in support of the government, and contribute to the growth and development of the community.

You: Right! That's the West Texas way... the American way... of doing business!

MEAT SUBSTITUTES

"Meat's an important food in the diets of most of us," reports Jewell Hipp, County Home Dem. Agent of the Extension Service, A. and M. College. Principally because it's good to eat, and also because of its nutritive value she explained. Meat makes five outstanding contributions to our diet.

Even though the government is asking all of us consumers to limit our meat intake to two-and-one half pounds per week, our diets shouldn't suffer. That is, we choose other foods, wisely, Hipp says.

Take protein, for example. It is an outstanding source of it. But, it's relatively easy to replace or supplement. Eggs, milk, and cheese also contain proteins of high quality. So do soybeans and peanuts.

Next comes iron. Perhaps one of the easiest ways of supplementing the iron from meat is by increased use of whole grain products. Try whole wheat as a cereal or in bread, brown rice, whole ground corn, rolled oats, even popcorn. Potatoes and the dark, leafy green vegetables are good sources of iron. So are dried peas and beans, dried fruit, molasses, and nuts.

Now for thiamine. The sources are similar to those for iron. Potatoes, first, then dried peas and beans and peanuts. You'll find it, too, in whole wheat, enriched flour, and many popular cereals.

The fourth contribution of meat is niacin, principally found in pork. You can be sure you're getting what you need if you'll eat plenty of whole grain products.

Finally comes riboflavin. The best source is milk. Other good sources are eggs, fish, poultry, legumes. Among the better vegetable sources are peas and beans, vegetables such as beet greens, kale, spinach, turnip tops, and collards.

PROTECT CHILDREN FOR HEALTH

Austin, Texas, Nov. 9. In discussing seasonal health hazards for young children today, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, stated that babies and young children need as careful protection now against winter complaints as they do in hot summer complaint.

Influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma are included among those diseases which may be dangerous winter illness among young children since they affect the respiratory or breathing system. Such as pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold, they may follow as after-effect of measles or whooping cough, or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. These diseases of the respir-

Tank Car Substitute

A method for converting ordinary box cars to carry liquid cargoes, such as gasoline, oil, etc., has been offered by a Chicago inventor, Mark J. Fields, as a solution to the tank car shortage.

Fields' invention was demonstrated in the Santa Fe Railway's yards in Chicago before a group of railroad and government officials, who expressed optimism over the idea. His box car-to-tank car conversion scheme consists of dividing an ordinary box car into four compartments by means of wooden bulkheads. In each compartment, a canvas container, treated on the inside with a DuPont rubber synthetic, Faraprene, is suspended by means of a series of pulleys and ropes. Each tank has a 4-inch intake and a 4-inch outlet and may be filled and emptied simultaneously, which makes for speedy handling.

Each of the canvas bags has a capacity of 2,500 gallons of liquid or a total of 10,000 gallons for the four containers. This is equal to the capacity of an ordinary tank car. The car in which the test was made was an 80,000-pound capacity car.

Among those attending the demonstration were O. L. Gray, assistant to the operating vice president, and E. E. Chapman, mechanical assistant, both of the Santa Fe.

atory system are more prevalent in winter than in summer and are much more difficult to combat than digestive ailments such as summer complaint.

"These winter diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread through the secretions from the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the line of defense," Dr. Cox cautioned, "is to strengthen the powers of resistance against diseases; the second is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure they avoid contact with others who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

MEAT CONSERVATION PROGRAM OUTLINED

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 17. Block Leaders in towns and cities, and Neighborhood Leaders in the rural areas, have been designated to carry essential facts of the Meat Conservation Program to all households of the Eight Defense Region in a "gn" during the week of November 30 to December 5. R. E. Smith, Regional Director of the Office of Civilian Defense, has announced.

In States served by the Eighth Defense Region, including Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, the State Defense Councils have set in motion plans to inaugurate the Block Leader system of organization. It will serve the Meat Conservation Program and other civilian war services which require person-to-person contact, it was explained.

For reaching homes of farm families with all information on the Share-the-Meat-For Victory Program, the Neighborhood Leaders, a perfected organization of each of the Extension Services of the several States, will be utilized.

The Block Plan for towns and cities, to be organized before November 23 by local Defense Councils, is similar to the Neighborhood Leader (rural) plan, and will be a permanent organization to serve the Citizens Service Corps and its committees.

The Meat Conservation Program, which will be conducted under the training and technical guidance of county and local nutrition committees of Civilian Defense Councils, is the first national civilian wartime program to be carried simultaneously to town and farm households by both Block and Neighborhood Leaders. Their training by local Nutrition Committees is scheduled for the week of November 23.

Mrs. George Stewardson, Jr. is spending Thanksgiving with her Mother Mrs. G.S. Evans and the Clyde Bartlett family in Merkel.

Mrs. Dona McKerly and daughter Mrs. Mattie Owens of Millcreek, Okla., are visiting in the Roy Reid home. The former is the mother and the latter a sister to Mrs. Reid.

A "CUSHION" FOR RATIONING

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23. —The government's Share-the-Meat program should pave the way to a cheerful acceptance of rationing, and it likely is one of several food programs in which county and municipal food and nutrition committee will be assigned war-time responsibility, executive members of the State Nutrition Committee were told at a recent meeting in Fort Worth.

The local food and nutrition committees, which are a part of the OCD organization in Texas, will train block leaders for a face-to-face campaign for voluntary sharing of meat, according to Mildred Horton, chairman of the state committee and vice director of the A. and M. College Extension Service. A sub-committee on community planning headed by Dr. Ercel Eppright of the Texas State College for Women, is helping local nutrition committees prepare for their duties in the movement.

In addition to training the local leaders, nutrition committees will help Texans have adequate diets in the face of increased war-time difficulties. Menus and recipes for "extending meat flavors" and for properly preparing meat and alternate foods will be made available by the local committees. They also will arrange war food demonstrations following the face-to-face campaign of November 30 to Dec. 5.

The county unit of home economics will serve as the county planning and coordinating committee where defense nutrition committees have not been organized, Miss Horton says. Governor Coke Stevenson, chairman of the National Defense Committee for Texas, last week urged county and municipal defense coordinators to complete organization of nutrition committees and the block leader system prior to the Share-the-Meat campaign.

Just before going to press the Chamber of Commerce brings us an announcement of the Formal Opening of the Christmas Holidays for Friday-night, December 4th. The merchants will have their Christmas merchandise on display and keep open house for the evening, just for your inspection. The public is generally invited to come to Santa Anna for that special event and see what the livemercants of Santa Anna have in store for your approval. Bring the family there will be entertainment for them.

Major R.R. Lovelady and Mrs. Lovelady were here over the weekend on a brief furlough from Fort Sill, Okla. The doctor is looking fine and apparently is enjoying the best of health, and states that he is kept rather busy at his post duties.

Mrs. Hallie Bissett is spending Thanksgiving with relatives in Brady.

Mrs. J.W. Riley, Sr., and Mrs. Woodrow Riley of Melvin spent Sunday with the Jim Rileys here.

Mrs. T.R. Sealy is spending Thanksgiving with her Son, Lt. Tom and Mrs. Sealy in Del Rio, Texas.

THE VICTORY CLUB

In the fifth grade at school we have a club that is called the Victory Club. In it we have two sides. Each side has a name. One side is called the Stamp Stickers. The other side is called America's Helpers. The purpose of the club is to see which side can buy the most defense stamps each week we meet every Friday. The officers are as follows. President—David Hunter Secretary—Julia Ann Baly Treasurer—Margaret McCaughan. We enjoy our club very much and hope that some of the children will have a bond before the year is over.

When we bought defense stamps at school we found the Stamp Stickers had $100.05 and America's Helpers had 285.60.

With the shortage of small change, a lot of little piggy banks really are going to market.

Long ago the railroads made possible the swift settlement and development of this land. Today they face their greatest test in the struggle to preserve it. For this is essentially a war of rolling wheels. Millions of men, and tens of millions of tons of vital raw and finished products must be moved swiftly and surely, where and when they are needed. Stop the wheels that move them, and we stop all that floats and flies as well. That is why today, on the Santa Fe, movements essential to the war effort are "topping" the biggest job in our history. They must come first, beyond argument or selfish interest, on every American railroad.

KEEP 'EM ROLLIN'—OR ELSE
* No nation that does not possess efficient mass transportation can hope to win a modern war. In America that mass transportation job is squarely up to her railroads. If they fail, we lose. Neither battle gallantry nor industrial wizardry alone will turn the tide. To meet this tremendous responsibility, we ask for every possible consideration in the allocation of materials for vitally essential repairs, maintenance and new equipment.

LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER
As the tide of military rail travel mounts, you can help us maintain adequate civilian passenger service as well, in these ways:
* Make reservations and buy tickets early * Cancel unwanted reservations promptly * Carry least possible luggage, checking extra pieces to avoid crowding * Vacate dining cars quickly after meals * Travel mid-week, avoiding week-end and holiday rush periods.

Turn freely to your local Santa Fe representatives for help on your travel or shipping problems.

SELECT NEXT YEAR'S BREEDING TURKEYS

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23.—Texas turkey growers should select breeders for next year before all of their better birds have been sold.

"It is only by selecting breeders now," says Geo. P. McCarthy, poultryman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, "that we can maintain the improvement which has been so pronounced during the past five or six years."

Turkey hens which are showing heavy fleshing, especially across the breast and thighs, and have developed fat and feathered out well, including pin feathers, should be kept back as breeders, McCarthy explains. Producers should also be giving serious thought to buying toms to head up next year's breeding flocks. There is an excellent supply of good quality toms in Texas, especially in the broad-breast bronze strain, which may be bought from E. O. P. breeders. Growers buying hens or toms should see that they are pull-out-tested before putting them into breeding flocks.

Under R. O. P. breeding practice all hens are trap nested, and a complete record is kept on eggs produced, their fertility and hatchability. Only toms from hens which laid at least 50 eggs from February 1 to June 1, and have a hatching record of at least 72 per cent of all eggs set, can qualify as R. O. P. The Texas Extension Service has kept records of all individual turkeys trap nested during the past year. Producers not desiring this quality can buy good selected turkey toms in many parts of the state.

McCarthy estimates this year crop at 3,724,000 turkeys, explaining that "as a whole, their quality has been improved through better selection and better feeding."
