Hospital District To Hold May Election

All Directors Slated For Election

Muleshoe Area Hospital District will have a "new" experience this year, when they hold the first election for directors for the hospital district, which was approved by area voters and formed in July, 1989.

According to information given at the hospital district meeting Thursday night, the state law governing hospital districts calls for an election for directors for the district "on the first Saturday in May, after 12 months." The hospital district had its first 12 full months in July, 1990.

Thus, an election for directors will be held on May 4.

Richard Murphy, MAHD administrator, quoted the laws concerning elections for hospital district directors and said that according to the law, directors will be elected for "staggered" terms.

Directors in even-numbered districts will be elected for two years, and directors in odd-numbered districts will be elected for one year terms.

After a lengthy discussion, the board determined to follow the school district election guidelines, with the following exceptions. The Lazbuddie portion of the district will be annexed to District Five, and the northwestern corner of Bailey County, included in the hospital district, but not in the school district, was annexed to District Four.

Robert E. Finney, MAHD secretary, said the school district places were set out according to the 1980 census in order to "equalize" the population, and that 1990 census figures will not be available until after July of this year, which will be after the mandated election.

Finney commented, "The intent of single member districts, is that at least one district be designated a majority of minority residents. For the school it is District Three.

The hospital district also adopted school district regulations for candidates -- in that a person has to be a resident of one of the districts in order to seek a place on the board, but will have to vote in the precinct where they reside.

In other words, anyone can seek a seat for any district, but they can only vote in the district where they reside, and voters can only cast a ballot for the person seeking a seat from their own district.

All five seats on the Muleshoe Area Hospital District Board will be up for election. Named by the Governor of Texas to the first board are Tim 'Buck' Campbell, president; Robert E. Finney, secretary; and board members, Darrell Jennings, Vance Wagnon, and Alfred Hicks, who replaced Neal Caswell, who had resigned.

In order to become a candidate for one of the board positions, a candidate must file a petition with the MAHD administrator, Richard Murphy, specifying the place they are seeking.

The person getting the petition must obtain the names, addresses and voting certificate of each registered voter who signs the petition.

The person seeking the petition must also verify each of the certified voter names, as well as their current address and voter certificate number before turn-

School Financing Turmoil Discussed By MISD Trustee

Turmoil - Public School Financing in Texas was the subject of Max King's discussion at the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon.

King discussed what is happening locally with school financing, and extended that to the current turmoil in Austin.

School financing has a history of being "reactive" instead of "proactive" said King, as the state tries to maintain efficient free public schools.

He cited the tiers of financing, starting with the very minimal amount a school district would have to operate.

The minimal amount was $1,500, which went to $1,900 last year, and the actual cost ended up being $2,100 per student to operate the system.

He said the legislature realized that wasn't working, so sought equalization, especially for some of the "poor" school districts.

Then, along comes the "Enrichment" tier - which caused more problems in school financing than any other plan.

On July 10, 1968, a group of parents had filed a federal lawsuit challenging the method of school financing.

In 1971, the federal courts ruled that the school funding method was unconstitutional.

Then, in 1973, the federal courts ruled it unconstitutional, but put the problem back to the school districts.

This was followed by the May, 1984 Kirby v Edgewood case. In July, 1984, the State Legislature passed HB 72, which forced quite a change for schools, including the highly controversial "no pass, no play" ruling.

This went to trial in 1987 and bounced around in courts, added King. Federal courts ordered the state to overhaul the funding system.

King said that on October 2,

1989, the Texas Supreme Court ordered the state to find a more fair method of funding.

This prompted Senate Bill 1 that the schools operate under at this time. This meant "a little more money" for the schools, according to the speaker. However, on April 1, this year, if a plan has not been devised and agreed upon, and not ruled unconstitutional, the school system of the state can be shut down.

Locally, the school budget for this year was $7,424,000, with the amount for each student $4,894.

MPD Investigate Fatal Stabbing; Holding Juvenile

At presstime, officers from the Muleshoe Police Department were continuing the investigation into the Tuesday night fatal stabbing of Rose Marie Quiroz, 21.

A juvenile is being held at the Lubbock County Youth Center as the investigation continues.

Lazbuddie FFA Shows Animals At Houston Show

Several Lazbuddie FFA youth have returned from the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, where they exhibited animals.

Results are as follows:

SWINE

Shena Seaton, third, middle weight Hampshire.

Jeffrey Seaton, sixth, middle weight Hampshire.

Mandy Magby, 24th, light weight Spot.

Garrett Magby, 15th, light weight Duroc.

Also exhibiting were Dawnda Magby, Seth Black and Jody Copp.

LAMBS

Exhibiting were Shana Foster, Stacy Foster, Jeffrey Seaton, Jody Copp, Seth Black and Shena Seaton.

STEERS

Jason Jesko, third, light weight Red Angus.

Seth Black also exhibited.

Jody Copp caught a calf in the calf scramble, and brought home an $800 certificate to purchase a heifer calf.

Local school funding comes from four sources, said King. The school has $1,974,000 in reserves; $1,023,000 comes from federal funds; $4,000,000 from the state and locally, the funding is $2,198,000. Thus, 43 percent of school funding comes from the state, reminded King.

Some $1,900,000 of local funding comes from ad valorem taxes, said the speaker, so the school will have to dip into its reserve fund for $200,000, partly due to the $750,000 addition which has been approved for Watson Junior High School.

King made a comparison of how much money is spent per student in the Muleshoe Schools in comparison with students in Dallas' Highland Park Schools.

He said Highland Park School spends $4,890 per student and has a tax rate of $.35.16 cents, while Muleshoe has an ADA of $4,894 and the tax rate is $1.09. This is part of the reason for complaints, as with one of the proposals, tax rates would increase from 30 cents to 80 cents for some schools, while the tax rate at Muleshoe could reduce from $1.09 to $1.00.

He also reminded of the difference in property evaluation -- Muleshoe's evaluation is $187,000,000 while Sudan's is shown to be $558,000,000.

And, the evaluation has been decreasing in Muleshoe and Bailey County each year.

Very similar bills are before the Texas Legislature at this time, he said. They are SB 351 and HB 6. Under their system, the state, instead of the school boards would set the tax rate.

Then, if a school wanted a little more money, the school board could go in and add more tax.

There's also a big 'BUT' with this -- a school district has to be careful. If they tax what the state considers too high -- half of the funds will be sent to the state, who will distribute the tax funds.

Schools would be regionalized based on the Education Service Centers across the state.

"The way we pay taxes, the way they have been spent in the past, is over," said King. "Instead of busing students -- they're going to be busing money."

Parents Return To School-March 19

"Students of the Muleshoe Independent School District will be dismissed early Tuesday, March 19 at 1:20 p.m. Parents are encouraged to visit with teachers and pick up their child's report cards," says Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, assistant superintendent of instruction.

The following schedule for visitation will be observed at the four campuses:

Dillman Elementary - 1:30-4; Mary DeShazo Elementary - 2:30-5; Watson Junior High School - 5-7; and Muleshoe High School - 5:30-7:30.

Parents will have time to visit the campuses and talk to teachers relative to their child's progress in all areas of the curriculum.

Dillman and Mary DeShazo observed Open House in the fall. Watson Junior High and Muleshoe High School will observe Open House March 19, since California Achievement Tests were scheduled during Texas Public School Week, March 4-8.

Dr. David Wyer, principal of Muleshoe High School, and his staff extend a warm welcome to patrons and announce that the Student Council, National Honor Society, Future Teachers and other campus organizations will be hosts to direct parents to the appropriate classrooms.

Bob Graves, principal of Watson Junior High, and his teachers, also extend a welcome to parents to visit their campus and help implement the theme for 1990-91 - Entering the Nineties With Excellence.

Adjourn To Intricate Decided Spelling Bee

From a speller who tried to "adjourn" early, it became an "intricate" annual Bailey County Spelling Bee, until the winner was quick as a "jackrabbit" to take the first place win.

Those were the first words missed, and the winning word at the annual Bee held in the administration offices of the Muleshoe Independent School District.

After the largest group ever participated in the Bee, the final winner was Jo Beth Gilliland, who successfully spelled "jackrabbit" to win the Bee. She is a 12-year-old sixth grader. Second place winner was Mark McGuire who is the son of Eugene and Kerma McGuire.

This year, the third grade wanted to enter, and the third place winner was nine-year-old Tyson Purdy, son of Dr. Bruce and Cindy Purdy.

Cleta Williams-Jacobson, editor of The Muleshoe Journal and Bailey County Journal, presented checks to the top three winners, and blue ribbons to all 25 finalists.

School Coordinator is Elizabeth Watson, assistant superintendent for instruction. Pronouncer was Curtis Shelburne. The three judges were Tom Crane, Nancy Kidd and Robert Orozco.

Following a welcome by Mrs. Jacobson, the pronouncer, Curtis Shelburne led the spellers through a couple of practice rounds before getting down to serious spelling that really counted.

In the first round, 10 spellers went down. This was followed by seven more in the second round.

An additional four dropped out in the third round and two in round four.

Only one speller went down in round five, six and seven, and the Bee went all the way to the 14th round before anyone else dropped out.

Third place Tyson Purdy dropped out then, leaving Jo Beth Gilliland and Mark McGuire pitted against each other for six more rounds.

Both spelled harrow, then Mark missed out on "intricate." Jo Beth then went on to make the winning word "jackrabbit."

Students participating in the 1991 Spelling Bee from DeShazo Elementary School and Watson Junior High School included:

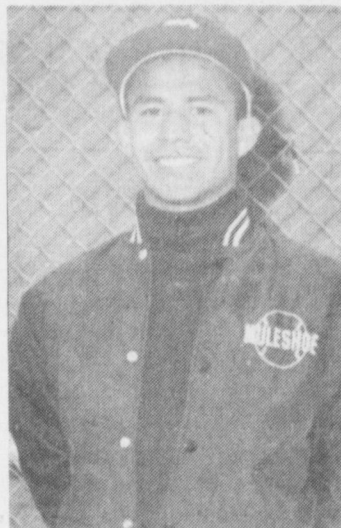

Priscilla Aguirre, JoBeth Gilli-

Older Minorities Learn From Health, Nutrition Dramas

By Sandra Avant

At senior citizen centers across Texas, older adults are looking at nutrition in a brand new way.

They discuss what will happen in the next episode of "Reverend Jones." The poor minister collapsed right after his sermon-sounds like the typical soap opera, but it's not.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has found an educational technique that combines the use of peer teachers soap opera-like videotapes and flip charts to reach older minorities.

The Minority Peer Educator Project targets older blacks who are prone to develop diabetes and hypertension and older Hispanics who suffer from depression and hypertension related to obesity. The project is funded by the Administration on Aging of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

"One of Extension's goals in this project was to evaluate methods to reach older minorities with meaningful and usable information," said Dr. Judith Warren, gerontologist with the state Extension Service and director of the program.

"Using health and nutrition principles in video dilemmas that people face in their everyday lives proved quite successful," she said. "Also, a key factor in this approach were those older citizens who volunteered to teach their peers at nutrition sites.

The program provides information on several major diseases that disable older people, Warren said. Helping older adults manage diabetes or hypertension can help prevent strokes. Depression, often not recognized in older populations, can lead to many health complications if untreated.

Now available in most counties in the state, the program was piloted in 16 Texas counties in 1989.

For Extension, this was a first attempt to present health and nutrition information using a soap type series, said Warren, who wrote the scripts. She was assisted by home economics specialists and agents with Texas A&M University and Prairie View A&M University, nutrition and minority specialists with the Texas Department on Aging and numbers of the Minority Elderly Task Force.

The programs featured characters that participants could easily identify with, but unlike the regular TV soaps, the tapes contained health and nutrition information, Warren said.

"A lot of the participants just got a kick out of watching the tapes and were looking forward to the next episode," said Wilma Hall, Extension Service county agent in Groesbeck, who introduced the program in Robinson and Limestone counties.

"We were able to provide some basic information about correlation between diet, exercise and lifestyle and explain how these factors together affect whether one is hypertensive or not," Hall said.

Older adults discovered the importance of reducing sodium and salt in the diet, she said. They also learned that hypertension has no visible symptoms, which is the main reason to be tested for this disease.

Velma Conner Ransom, peer educator at the Mexia Nutrition Site, thought the "Reverend Jones" video was different and more interesting than other educational video tapes she had seen.

"It was dynamic," Ransom said. "It's really hard to change habits, but I'm a firm believer that the knowledge is important whether you have the disease or not."

One participant, Gussie Baker, said she learned that high blood pressure can be decreased by proper exercise, medication and diet.

"I always loved seasoning with dry salt bacon, but now I use margarine instead, and I use little salt, if any," Baker said.

For Hispanic participants the approach was ideal, said Celia McClelland, Dallas County Extension agent who coordinated the program at the Brady Center in Dallas.

"It was a team effort," she said. "The people really related to the peer educators, Francis Capetillo and Gladys Martinez, and the video, 'Eduardo,' which covered depression after widowhood."

Although diabetes and hypertension are prevalent among Hispanics and blacks, the information is beneficial to all older adults. "Hypertension is a silent killer," Wilma Hall said. "It can affect anyone."

In a survey of 50 of the 1,400 older participants in the pilot effort, almost half increased their knowledge about controlling hypertension and reported cutting back on sodium and salt, sugar and fat in their diets. A third of those surveyed reported increasing the time they spent walking.

Participants did not learn how diabetes works in a medical sense, nor could they explain hypertension," Warren said. "However, the symptoms were learned. People also realized that they could improve their health and quality of life by managing these diseases."

County agents also benefitted from the Minority Peer Educator Project.

"A number of agents were able to develop rapport with new audiences," Warren said. "Establishing a connection with nutrition site managers and peer educators has enabled agents to reach out to the elderly minority population in a new, successful way."

Matters of heresy depend upon the point of view.

Self-satisfied is not necessarily self-righteous.

Most denunciations are motivated by ignorance.

Too many geniuses make for inefficiency.

Gentility is often confused with weakness.

Early Childhood Class Has Two Pen Pals

The Early Childhood class at Dillman Elementary has had two pen pals during Operation Desert Storm. The class wrote letters to anyone in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines and had two replies. The first was from PFC Donna Brown from Ft. Benning, Georgia. She is a veterinarian for the army and she wrote that she takes care of sheep, Arabian horses and camels (called Jamals) in Saudi Arabia. Donna sent the class Saudi Riyals or dollars worth about 33 American cents. She also sent a gum wrapper from Beirut, and a potato chips wrapper from Saudi Arabia.

The second letter came from SN Mark L. Andrews who sent a Christmas card from the USS Saginaw. Mark is a seabee for the Navy and his job is to support the Marines when they land on the beach and build piers and runways for other supplies and troops. The class is waiting for another letter from Mark.

The Early Childhood class sent Christmas cards, Muleshoe information supplied by the Jennyslippers, Valentine cards and candy, letters, and sugar cookies that were baked in class. One of the letters had a poem inclosed. This poem was dedicated to the troops leaving for the Gulf.

It may seem as though we have said "goodbye" as we watched you march away. What we have really said is "God bless you". Until you return home safely, someday. You are going to defend your country to fight for what you believe. And may those goals which you have set

Be those goals that you achieve. Your family they are behind you still- their future lies straight ahead- Don't concentrate on all the bad times- Substitute stress with courage instead. Raise your head high proud soldiers- as you return to this land. Where loved ones stand together and the free-- Walk hand in hand.

PFC Donna Brown
August 10, 1990

The class has made a bulletin board displaying the letters, Riyals, and other items that have been sent. Visitors are welcome to stop and see.

Information on repairing wood and developing self-esteem will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, March 12 at 12 noon and Saturday, March 16 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Mac McCrory is the creator of Mr. Mac's Home Repair Products. He will demonstrate one of the products, Wood-Fix, which can be used to repair fractured, splintered, rotten, chipped or mildewed wood. The best part is that people with or without do-it-yourself home repair experience can use the product easily and effectively. Mr. McCrory is from Greensboro, N.C.

Susanne Trubey, director and owner of a consulting firm called SST Consulting in Norman, OK, will talk about building and developing self-esteem. She begins by talking about beliefs, attitudes, abilities and behavior--and how they relate to each individual. She also has some solutions for helping people become happy, productive balanced individuals.

"Creative Living" will not be seen on Tuesday, March 12 at 9:30 p.m. because of special programming but will return to its regularly scheduled time on April 2.

On Thursday, March 14 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on Southern cooking and making money on forgotten treasures.

Lynne Tolley, the proprietress of a boarding house that is over 100 years old, has retained many of the same traditions and customs of the original owner. She will share some of her favorite recipes for down-home southern cooking. Ms. Tolley is from Lynchburg, TN.

Dr. H.A. "Tony" Hyman, author of Cash for Your Undiscovered Treasures, will help people who have "things for sale" be able to determine the value of the items. Hyman lives in Claremont, CA.

WITH PECANS
4 large sweet potatoes
½ stick (¼ cup) butter or margarine, softened
¾ cup sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
¼ cup Jack Daniel Whiskey
½ cup pecans, coarsely chopped

Place the sweet potatoes in a large saucepan and add enough water to cover completely. Bring the water to a boil, cover, and cook the potatoes until tender, about 35 minutes. Drain. When the potatoes are cool enough to handle, peel off the skins. Place the potatoes in a mixing bowl and mash with the butter or margarine. Beat in the sugar, salt, and whiskey. Spread half the potato mixture in a greased 1½-quart round casserole, and sprinkle with half the pecans. Repeat layers. Bake the casserole in a 325 degree oven until hot and pecans turn light brown, about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings. NOTE: Yams make this casserole even richer.

PINEAPPLE-CHEDDAR CASSEROLE

1 20-oz. can pineapple chunks, preferably juice packed
3 Tablespoons flour
3 Tablespoons sugar
3 Tablespoons butter, melted
1½ cup shredded Cheddar Cheese

1½ cup (about 25) crushed Ritz crackers

Drain the pineapple, reserving 3 tablespoons juice. Arrange the pineapple on the bottom of a greased 1½-quart casserole. Stir together the flour and sugar and sprinkle over the pineapple. Drizzle the reserved pineapple liquid over and top with the Cheddar Cheese. Mix together the crushed crackers and melted butter and distribute over the cheese. Bake the casserole, covered, in a 350 degree oven 15 minutes. Uncover and bake 10 minutes longer. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Fine Arts To Present April Fete

Fine Arts Night To Shine -- what a title for a full night of entertainment for everyone, for children of all ages. This will take place on Monday, April 1, at 6:30 p.m. in the MHS auditorium.

Beginning at 6:30, the events will start with the Cadet Band, all members of the sixth graders. This will be followed by the MHS Concert Band, presenting music to be played at contest in April. Next, will be the Watson Junior High Band with their contest music.

After the presentation by the bands, everyone will go to the MHS cafeteria for a break of coffee and desserts, while viewing the art from the students in high school and junior high. During the dessert break, the Jazz Band will play.

Then the group will return to the auditorium for the one-act play.

This year, the play is entitled The Last of Mrs. Lincoln by James Prideaux.

Cast members include: Senator Austin / Attendant, Mason Conklin; Robert Lincoln, Jac Greene; Tad Lincoln, Virgil Snell; Mary Lincoln, Amy Turner; Ninian Edwards, Greg Combs; Lizzie Keckley, Courtney Tanksley and Jeanne Cox;

A Fine Arts Boosters spokesperson said, "This will definitely be a night for all the Fine Arts Boosters and students to shine."

The price of tickets will be $3 for adults, students, $1 and pre-school, no charge.

This money will all go back into the Fine Arts Boosters Fund, so a big turnout is needed to see all the hard work the kids have done.

The bills are called Robin Hood Bills because they would take from rich districts to send to poor school districts.

"We don't know how much local control we will lose, how much money we will get, or how much the tax rate will be," said King. "Schools' needs and wants have exceeded the money we have."

He added, "We don't know where the money's going to come from. A one to two percent state income tax would raise a lot of money. I could approve it, if it would only go to education."

King concluded by fielding a number of questions asked by Rotarians present.

Before King spoke, Rotary President Bruce Purdy asked Rotarians to remember the Charles Moraw family, as he lost his mother, Janie Lou Moraw, last week.

He also briefly discussed the upcoming golf tournament and Rotary Scholarship program.

Tim Campbell was winner of the Polio Plus drawing.

Visiting Rotarians were Johnny Atkinson and Walter Hughes from Farwell; Thurman Myers; and Rotary Anns Cindy Purdy and Julie Cage.

Applications by mail for absentee ballots must be received by the close of business at the county clerk's office on April 30.

Murphy said petitions for candidacy will be available at the administrative offices at the Muleshoe Area Hospital District in Muleshoe.

Polls will be open 7 a.m.-7 p.m. on election day.

It was reminded that each candidate must file a campaign treasurer, and make reports to the state on all donations and campaign expenses.

Attending the board meeting was Juan Chavez. He said the minority people would have "no problem" with the election guidelines approved by the hospital district.

In other business, the directors reviewed the hospital financial and statistical reports and the Healthcare Center financial and statistical reports.

They also met in executive session, but reported no official action from the executive session.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Ten Kiwanians and Sweetheart Marsha Wilson met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen. So many of the members are home with the flu. Even some of the honorary Kiwanians are also home with the flu. We sure hope that each of them take good care of themselves and get well and back with us again.

After breakfast, and much gossiping and talking about one another and all of those who were not there, President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. Randy Lewis led the club pledge to the flag and Jim Lutz gave the invocation.

The friendship coin is in Arizona, going to a "Law Enforcement School" and looking for a friend. Don Clapp has been wanting to go duck hunting, but the federal government would only let him take a B-B gun. Don, after the school maybe you can take a gun and next year, maybe they will let you have a bullet!! Maybe when you get back, you can have a friend.

It was good to have Randy Lewis there this morning. I think that someone read last week's write-up and brought him some wheels. I think it was a little red wagon. Good for you, Randy.

Glen introduced Sweetheart Marsha Wilson and Marsha told some of the highlights of her trip to Houston to the Texas

Miss Teen contest.

Marsha stated that 145 young ladies were entered and it was a very busy weekend. Practice, practice, practice, dress and perform, practice some more and perform again.

It was hectic but lots of fun. Marsha stated that she received much courage, self-esteem, and new friends.

Marsha also stated that most of the young ladies there had been there before, and lots of them were in boarding school and also charm school.

Thirty young ladies were picked as semi-finalists and two West Texas young ladies were picked to semi-finalists. They were Mia Jennings from Lubbock and Marsha Wilson.

There were seven special awards and these two young ladies walked off with two of the seven.

Mia Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoppy Jennings received the Miss Academic Achievement Award -- Mia, congratulations. We are proud of our youth here in West Texas.

Our own Marsha Wilson received an award that was chosen by the judges and chaperones. Marsha received the Miss Teen Image Award.

Marsha, we knew that you were a winner even before you went to Houston.

Marsha stated that after the semi-finalists were picked, then you performed again and then the five finalists were picked.

The young lady who won was brought to the pageant by her speech teacher. This shows how much prior preparation that some of these young ladies go thru before going to these pageants.

Marsha - Mia, we are very proud of you two. You are winners in our hearts.

Marsha, you know to the Kiwanis Club, you are truly our Sweetheart. You are Miss Texas Teen to all of us. Especially, Miss Muleshoe Teen.

Marsha - Mia - Congratulations.

Federal Land Bank Lowers Variable Rate

Federal Land Bank Association Stockholders with variable rate loans will pay less interest beginning April 1. The new variable rate will be 9.75 percent, down from the current 9.95 percent.

In the past year, the associations' variable interest rate on loans has dropped from 10.25 percent to the 9.75 percent rate effective April 1. At the same time, the Farm Credit Bank in Austin and the Federal Land Bank Association have been building the capital required by their regulator, the Farm Credit Administration, as set out in the Farm Credit Act of 1987.

The Tenth Farm Credit District is composed of the Farm Credit Bank of Texas, 50 Federal Land Bank Association in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, and 17 Production Credit Association in Texas and New Mexico. The sarong look is seen in many spring styles. An attractive dress, in bright tropical print, features a front over-panel that ties at the hip to give the sarong effect.

Another sure sign of spring is the combination of black and white or navy and white. Black and white outfits in stripes or dots and made of cotton-and-polyester pique are machine washable.

Navy dresses feature large white buttons. Especially attractive is the navy dress that features a white sailor collar.

Spotlight Focuses On Vocational Education

The teacher spotlight this week focuses on instructors in the vocational education department at Muleshoe High School. These teachers play a vital role in the development of both academic and work skills for those students in their classes.

LINDA TANKSLEY

By Charlene Reyes

Mrs. Linda Tanksley teaches bachelor cooking and child development; in addition, she is the coordinator of the HECE program. She enjoys teaching very much as she also thinks it is fun to watch her students succeed. When asked how she feels about each new school year, she stated that it is always a little scary, and she wonders how it will go. She gets excited when the students arrive and they get involved. The only goal that she tries to set for students is that they become responsible adults with a good work ethic.

Mrs. Tanksley wasn't sure at first that she wanted to be a teacher, but the decision was made while she was in college. She attended college first at the University of Texas at El Paso for one year, and then at Texas Tech for three years. She has been teaching thirteen years. Her first teaching assignment was at Vernon High School in Vernon, Texas, in 1969. This was before the birth of her children; she stopped teaching there in 1972. She thinks the student teachers who come out of college today are better qualified than in previous years because of the improvement in teaching methods.

When Mrs. Tanksley was asked what kind of changes or improvements she desired for the school year, she said, "To keep up-organization of time and energy." In her spare time, she enjoys watching her children in extracurricular activities (sports, plays, etc.). She helps them raise livestock for show, and before she became so busy with other activities, she enjoyed sewing, reading, and doing crafts. She says that three descriptive words of herself are happy, involved and caring. Her only immediate plan for the future is to become a better teacher. After she retires, she is not sure if they will stay in Muleshoe or move to a different town because they have lived in Muleshoe for a long time, but her family likes the hill country of Texas.

Mrs. Tanksley and her husband, Spencer, have two children, Colin, a senior at MHS, and Courtney, a freshman. She desires to see them excel in anything they do and to be responsible, well-rounded citizens. She tries to help them with their schoolwork if they need it. She and her family attend First Baptist Church of Muleshoe.

When asked if she preferred to befriend her students or keep the relationship on a student-teacher basis, she replied, "I think to be effective, you must develop a relationship between student and teacher. A teacher can be more help to his or her students if he or she understands why they react as they do. However, a 'pal' relationship interferes with the learning process and it is not appropriate. I want my students to come to me if they have a problem and know I will keep their confidence." Mrs. Tanksley's words of remembrance to the graduating class of 1991 are, "Aim high; try hard; don't do anything you will regret tomorrow."

By Shea Wilbanks

Many teachers in the world dedicate a great deal of their life and time to teaching. A good example of a teacher like this is Mrs. Lola Pylant.

Mrs. Pylant has been a teacher for sixteen years and has enjoyed every minute of it. She has taught fourteen years here at MHS. She started out studying business, but because of the influence of her father, she went into teaching.

Mrs. Pylant went to college at Texas Tech where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English and Physical Education. Then she continued her education and received her Masters Degree in Business and Vocational Education at North Texas State University.

Mrs. Pylant is very active in teaching DECA. This year is also her first year to teach junior English. She enjoys the students and one of her goals is to help her students find happiness and success. She stays quite busy as the sponsor for Student Council. She enjoys this opportunity because she likes to see people working together.

Out of school, Mrs. Pylant enjoys being with her family which includes husband Dick and children Brett, a freshman in college and Eva, a kindergarten student. She also enjoys water skiing, snow skiing, and watching old movies. Mrs. Lola Pylant is an excellent example of a hard-working teacher who not only enjoys the art of teaching but who cares for the students and desires to see them find the best life has to offer.

CHARLES SHAIN

By Rolando Vargas

Mr. Charles Shain teaches auto mechanics at Muleshoe High School. He attended college at ETSU and has been teaching in the public schools for sixteen years. Prior to that time he served in the United States Air Force and has carried many of the mechanical skills from that time into the classroom. In addition to his teaching responsibilities, he serves as ninth grade sponsor.

Shain and his wife, Izetta, have two children. Both are married; Julia works for Dupont in New Jersey, and Janet serves in the United States Air Force.

Mr. Shain's interests include automobiles, hunting, and education. When asked about schools "now and then," he said that parents had more interest in their kids in previous years. He also feels that students were more interested in their education and displayed better manners in the classroom. He would like to see parents become more interested and more involved with their student's education. One of his primary reasons for entering the teaching field was to try to show students how they can make a good and honest living by repairing automobiles.

From The Senate

By: Teel Bivins

As I left the Capitol the other night after one of those killer days that you sometimes have at the beginning of the Session, it struck me that I just didn't seem to have as much time to get things accomplished as I did in the previous regular session. On further analysis I decided that the principal reason had to be the Finance Committee. While I was aware that the Senate Finance Committee has always been the hardest working committee, even I wasn't prepared for the work schedule set by Chairman John Montford. The Committee meets every day of the week that we are in Session. All other Senate standing committees meet once a week. Senate Finance generally meets at 9:00 a.m. each day and usually reconvenes after the Senate has adjourned in the afternoon for the rest of the day. We spend all that time listening to every State agency present their request for appropriation of funds for the next budget cycle.

While this assuredly is the most serious business in State government, it is not without its lighter moments. The table at which the thirteen members of the Finance Committee sit is in the shape of a U (the arms being at right angles). I sit right at the corner of one end of the table between two Hispanic senators. I thought this was a fairly strategic move on my part I was a Republican and I would be sitting between two Democrats. However, the first time we were presented with an issue that was given the least bit sensitive they leaned forward and began speaking Spanish so fast that even I could not understand them.

The witness table runs parallel with the two arms of the "U" and is perpendicular to the bottom. Witnesses presenting their budget requests sit at the end of the witness table. Often times agencies' employees are called upon to respond to questions. The day the Public Utility Commission was making its presentation, witnesses were seated in chairs at the end of the table taking up every available seat. Scott Henderson, Director of Information Resources of the PUC, was called to respond to a question. There being no other chairs, he knelt at the end of the table. I told him that while I appreciated his humble and supplicant demeanor, kneeling before the Committee was not necessary. The assistant sergeant-at-arms was instructed to bring another chair to the end of the table.

So far my favorite witness to have testified before the Committee was Dr. Tony Fabelo of the Criminal Justice Policy Council. While Dr. Fabelo had a very Spanish accent, he was as articulate and well-spoken as anyone I have ever met. His agency is very small. The agency's budget request amounted to $348,000 per year. In what amounted to his closing argument on behalf of his agency, he pointed out that the Texas Department of Criminal Justice whose budget is over a billion and a half dollars, spends over a million dollars per year on toilet paper. He beseeched our committee that surely the Criminal Justice Policy Council was worth less than half of the TDC's budget request for toilet paper.

Even in the face of these very gloomy budget times, Chairman Montford has a sense of humor.

After all the agencies had presented their requests for appropriations, the Committee begins what has historically been referred to as "mark-up." "Mark-up" is the actual process of writing the appropriations bill. Senator Montford has put his conservative stamp on the Committee by changing the name of that process to "mark-down."

Cemetery Cuts Out Dead Trees; Do Landscaping

By: Muleshoe Memorial Park Cemetery

The dead trees are cut and out -- even the stumps -- the branches are not all picked up yet -- but will be soon.

The dried fresh flower arrangements are being picked up and destroyed. PLEASE do not use any vases or holders for flowers except those made to be used in the grave markers -- glass containers are dangerous and are not allowed to be used.

Memorials and donations in the name of or to honor someone are greatly appreciated and are acknowledged by the Cemetery Association.

As a convenience for our friends, members and customers, Muleshoe Memorial Park will keep a listing of cemetery lots for sale by individuals at the office at 232 Main St.

Anyone having questions or needing help with anything pertaining to the Muleshoe Memorial Park Cemetery, feel free to drop into the office at 232 Main St. or call 272-5727.

We have several projects in mind and are working on others to make the Memorial Park Cemetery more convenient and attractive.

New ideas and thoughts are welcomed and appreciated by the Board. After all, this is your cemetery.

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

"Remedies" is free to taxpayers. Ask for yours today at Suspicious people are those who judge others by themselves.

Too often habits make people instead of people making habits.

Doing favors for people is habit-forming, in both directions.

People who hurry through this life meet death that much earlier.

Destination Unknown

These super highways, these interlocking cloverleaves of shiny concrete that crisscross our land are an amazing marvel of our nation's engineering. And yet for all the time and inconvenience they save unless we know exactly where we are going they can become a confusing maze... a motorist's nightmare.

We can easily compare our lives to the automobiles that travel these highways. A driver without a known destination in mind, a motorist that does not know where he is going, a man without a map or a guiding plan is soon lost amid the complex interchanges. And so it is with life. Each of us has but one true destination and that is toward God and His promise of Eternal Life. The church, your church, is the guidepost that lights the way; it is the sign on the highway that points the route. Give your life a known destination... Go to the church of your choice.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

LOUISA'S LETTER
Dear Louisa,
There is a great deal of talk going on that women should get out of the home and work.
When my children reached school age, I found that I had some time on my hands so I started a catering service.
I make a tidy sum every month and have made many new friends among the nicest people in this town.
I feel that this work is creative--in fact one lady said she considered me an artist.
I write this to let women who don't like to work out of the home know that this is one answer to the problem.
N.L.-Ind.
Answers:
This would be a good idea for a person who has to be home for the greater part of the day.
Anything that a person does well is a source of satisfaction and if one can be paid for doing so, it is even more satisfying.
-Louisa.
