4-H Council Members Tour Capitol and Texas A&M

OH THERE IS NOT DESCRIPTION MOTORING

Dedria Emert, Eastland County 4-H Council Chairman, presented Governor George Bush with a gift basket of Eastland County memorabilia from each two in the county. Governor Bush expresssed sincere appreciation for the articles, and commented on the Eastland Majestic Theater teeshirt. He told us he was at the historical theater during his campaign and made a speech there. There were fourteen 4-H Council members who had the fantastic experience of meeting with the Governor in his office. It was a day to be remembered always!

Eastland County 4-Hers Kirby Bush, of Rising Star and Tommy Seay of Gorman; enjoyed visiting with the Governor at his office at the State Capitol. Tommy has just presented the Governor with a complimentary box of Eastland County roasted peanuts.

The Eastland County 4-H Council members recently experienced a three day trip to Austin and Texas A&M University. Fourteen 4-Hers participated which included: Kirby Bush, Racheal Bush, Dedria Emert, Blair Bailey, Lacy Knight, all of Rising Star, Michael Keith, of Carbon; Tommy Seay, Michael Foster, Mark Glover, all of Gorman; Emily Little, of Eastland; and Jayce Blair of Olden.

The parents and chaperones included: Janet and Tommy Thomas, Linda Stroebel, Janis Keith, Johanna Blair, Rick Watt, Melissa Little, Vicki Seay and Berette Hart and son Jer-

The outstanding highlight of the trip was the opportunity to meet Governor George Bush. The 4-Hers and adults waited anxiously for our 1:45 p.m. appointment with the Governor on Tuesday, June 20. Finally, the large door to his office opened and we were invited to enter. What a thrill it was to visit with the governor and have him shake everyone's hand and give a personal welcome. Dedria Emert and other members of the 4-H Council including Tommy Seay, Lacy Knight, and Kirby Bush presented the Governor with an "Eastland County Basket" which contained memorabilia from each town in the county.

After a tour of the newly renovated Capitol and Governor's Mansion, we all agreed that Texas certainly has a beautiful State Capitol. We enjoyed eating our noon meal in the Capitol Cafeteria. Departing Austin, we headed for College Station.

Tours of Texas A&M University were really outstanding. Tours included: A&M School of Veterinary Medicine which included tours of the Small Animal and Large Animal departments. Our tour guide was a fourth year Vet School student who did a great job of show and telling the 4-Hers about the training and work that is done.

A stop by the Offshore Technology Research Center was impressive! This is a joint venture of the Texas A&M University System and the University of Texas at Austin and sponosred in part by the National Science Foundation. A wave basin is located in the building and the water has an adjustable depth to 55 feet deep. It was interesting to see how the astronauts are trained in this facility for survival skills if they land in the

Dr. Barron Rector and Dr. Bob Knight, of the Rangeland Ecology and Management School, provided tours of the department. A look at the Starr Computer Lab and the technical capabilities was really "mind stretching". Career opportunities for students with this major are many.

A trip otu to the new Beef Cattle Research Center was outstanding. Five emmber of the A&M Beef Cattle several calves to show the 4-Hers. They gave a brief demonstration and ansered questions. A graduate student share information pertaining to research being conducted to control flies on

Of course, a trip to A&M would not be complete unless you learned about the traditions of A&M! All the 4-Hers really enjoyed a "Texas A&M Howdy" program at the Fudder Visitors's Center and a tour of the campus. Stopping at the Kyle Field football stadium, we were greeted by our own Tiffany Thomas. Tiffany, who is a senior at Texas A&M, was our tour guide. She took us up to the Press Box in Kyle Field and let us see how game day operations are done by the press people.

The Sanders Corps of Cadets Center was another highlight. Seeing all the corp memorbilia and learning the history and traditions of the Corp was told by the museum director Mr. Joe Fenton, a 1958 graduate of A&M. Mr. Fenton is a "true aggie" and can really keep everyone's attention with wonderful corp stories. We all loved hearing the Reville stories.Lots of the 4-Hers were overhard saying..."oh, I can't wait until I am old enough to go to college". So we went off to a program Judging Team were present and had by the Admissions Office. Ricardo Gonzales, Admissions Counselor, stated that last year some 20,000 young people applied for the freshman class, and only 6200 were accepted (because of not enough space for that large of incoming freshman class.

No trip is complete without food! And goodness, did we ever find wonderful food on the campus of A&M University. Everyone enjoyed eating in the dining hall. The best ice cream anywhere is at the A&M Creamery. Everyone indulged in a "two scooper"

Before we departed, everyone stocked up on Aggie souvenirs at the A&M Bookstore and Gift Shop.

As always, wherever you go, you will see someone you have known. We enjoyed seeing the former Patsy Moseley, of Olden; and her son Billy. They were attending Freshman Orientation. Billy will be attending A&M this fall as a Chesmistry Major. His mother was an outstanding 4-Her, and was a state 4-H winner. Then we had the fun of seeing Larry Farnsworth who was a former 4-Her in Eastland County and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Major Famsworth of Cisco. Larry works in the A&M computer department. Another Eastland Co. native, Janecka Stroebel joined us. Janecka is a senior student at A&M University.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISCHARGE PERMIT RENEWAL

CITY OF GORMAN, P. O. Box 236, Gorman, Texas 76454 has applied to the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (Commission) for renewal of Permit No. 10091-01 which authorizes a discharge of treated domestic wastewater effluent at a volume not to exceed an average flow of 120,000 gallons per day from the Two Wastewater Treatment Facilities. The wastewater treatment facilities are southwest of the City of Gorman, west of Farm-to-Market Road 679 (Crescent Street) in Eastland County, Texas. The effluent is discharged into an unnamed tributary; thence to Shinoak Branch; thence to the Sabana River; thence to Lake Proctor in Segment No. 1222 of the Brazos River Basin.

In accordance with the Texas Surface Water Quality Standards, the Commission staff must determine the existing uses for the receiving water in the area of the proposed discharge and whether the proposed discharge will cause significant degradation to any high quality waters in the area. The unclassified receiving waters of the unnamed tributary have limited aquatic life uses and of Shinoak Branch have high aquatic life uses. The designated uses for Segment No. 1222 are high aquatic life uses, public water supply and contact recreation. The effluent limitations in the draft permit will maintain and protect the existing instream uses. All determinations are preliminary and subject to additional review and/ or revision.

The Executive Director of the Commission has prepared a draft permit which, if approved, will enforce more stringent effluent limitations in order to meet existing applicable rules and regulations. It is proposed that the expiration date of the renewed permit be specified as midnight, March 1, 1999.

Legal Authority: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code and 30 TAC Chapter 305 of the Rules of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission.

This application is subject to a Commission resolution adopted August 18, 1993, which directs the Commission's Executive Director to act on behalf of the Commission and issue final approval of certain permit matters. If one or more protests and/or requests for hearing are filed, the Executive Director will not issue the permit and will forward the application to the Office of Hearings Examiners where a hearing may be held. Commission public hearings are evidentiary legal proceedings similar to civil court non-jury trials. Although general comments from the public may be submitted either in writing prior to the hearing, or orally at the state of the hearing, the law requires that the Commission's decision about whether to approve or deny the application be based on evidence and testimony submitted during the public hearing, presented under oath and subject to cross-examination by the other parties. Public comments are not evidence and cannot be the basis for the Commission's ultimate decision. In the event a hearing is held, the Office of Hearings Examiners will submit a recommendation to the Commission for final

If no protests or requests for hearing are filed, the Executive Director will sign the permit 30 days after publication of this notice or thereafter. GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF PETITION, ACTION TAKEN AND TO BE TAKEN AND RELIEF SOUGHT BY UPPER LEON RIVER MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT

A copy of Plaintiff's Original Petition is filed under Cause number 95-06-09895-CCCV in the District Court of Comanche, Bosque and Hamilton Counties, Texas, 220th Judicial District, styled "Ex Parte Upper Leon River Municipal Water District," having been filed in said Court on the 27th day of June, 1995, and such petition is available for inspection and review along with the exhibits attached to it, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. in said Court or in the District Clerk's office during regular business hours Monday through Friday, excepting legal holidays.

The petition alleges, among other things, that the District has previously issued and has outstanding certain prior water system revenue bonds, the proceeds of which were used to construct a water system to enable the District to provide a water supply to the cities of Comanche, De Leon, Dublin and Gorman, and certain surrounding rural areas. The District has entered into water supply contracts with those four cities, which contracts were amended to permit the issuance of additional bonds by the District and construction of improvements and extension to its system in 1978. The District now desires to issue the Bonds to construct additional improvements and extensions to its water system and has taken all necessary steps to authorize the issuance of the Bonds. The District alleges that the Bonds will be payable from certain pledged revenues, including the net revenues of the District's water system, which net revenues will include payments made by the cities under the amended water supply contracts which the District alleges are valid and binding. The District alleges that the cities have approved or consented to, or will approve or consent to, issuance of the Bonds as required by the amended water

The Bonds, when issued, will be obligations of the Upper Leon River Municipal Water District, payable out of certain pledged revenues, including the net revenues of the District's water system. The proceeds shall be used to construct improvements and extensions to the District's water system and pay costs of issuance of the Bonds as authorized by law.

In connection with such proceedings and intended issuance of the Bonds, Plaintiff seeks, among other things, a declaratory judgement in this suit to the effect that:

(1) Plaintiff is authorized to issue and deliver the Bonds referred to herein; which could have been raised in the proceedings.

(2) that all proceedings, actions and expenditures of funds, taken or made as proposed to be taken or made in connection with or affecting said Bonds are legal and valid, and are constitutional; and

(3) that any contract or contracts executed or proposed to be executed with respect to the Bonds, including the water supply contracts and amendments thereto between the District and the cities of Comanche, De Leon, Dublin and Gorman, and the pledge or use, if any, of any revenues, receipts, property or encumbrances therefrom or thereon to secure said Bonds is valid and legal.

Various affidavits, certificates, certified copies of various proceedings and relevant orders and resolutions passed by the Board of Directors of the Upper Leon River Municipal Water District are attached as exhibits to the petition filed in the cause and reference is made to said petition and exhibits for a complete description of said Bonds, and a complete statement of the nature and purposes of the suit.

Any person interested in this suit may intervene or file an answer there. Any judgement finally made and entered in such cause shall be received as res judicata on all causes thereafter arising in connection with the legality of all proceedings taken in connection with the sale, issuance and delivery of the Bonds described above, the validity of all contracts and agreements entered into in the connection therewith, the pledge of revenues, receipts, property or encumbrances to secure said Bonds, and as to all matters pertaining to the validity of such Bonds.

The Clerk of this Court Shall give notice of this suit by causing a substantial copy of this Order to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in Travis County, Texas, and in a newspaper of general circulation in Comanche, County, Texas, the county where the Upper Leon River Municipal Water District maintains its principal office, and the counties of Eastland, Erath and Hamilton where other land is included in the District, which notice shall be so published once in each of two consecutive calendar weeks, with the date of the first publication to be not less than fourteen (14) days prior to the date set for hearing and trial, and provided in Article 717m-1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statues.

Court Ruling Burdens Congress On Property Rights

U.S. Sen Phil Gramm says he will press for passage of a federal law to protect private rights following a U.S. Supeme Court ruling that threatens those rights.

"The federal government has been running roughshoud over property rights and this Supreme Court decision has made it clear that congress must fix the problem," Gramm said.

Ruling in a dispute from Oregon over protection of the Northern Spotted Owl, the Court said that government regulators can ban destruction of the natural homes of endangered or threatened species on private property. The decision is a blow for property rights advocates who had argued that if the federal government wants to prohibi the normal use of land, including farming, it should be required to compensate landowners for the losses that they suffer:

Approximately 90 percent of the 781 endangered or threatened species listed by the government in 1993 ahve habitats on privately owned land, according to a congressional report.

Gramm said the Court makes it imperative that congress reaffirm the rights of property owners.

"Whether a Red-Cockaded Woodpecker lands in your pine trees in East Texas, prohibiting you from harvesting your trees, or a California farmer is banned from clearing brush on his land because and endangered rat lives there, a landowners' ability to use or exchange property is being over-regulated due to an expansive interpretation of the Endangered Species Act," the senator said.

"While the Court's ruling leaves property owners at the mercy of the Clinton Adminstration to enact land use controls, I will work to push 'The Omnibus Property Rights Act of 1995' and to ensure that strong property rights legislation becomes the law of the land," Gramm said.

THE 1995 TAMU BEEF CATTLE SHORT COURSE

The 1995 TAMU Beef Cattle short Course chose the theme "Survival 2000: Tough Decisions for Tough Times" for this year's Program, August 14-16, on the Texas A&M University Campus, announced Dr. Larry Boleman, Professor and Extension Beef CAttle Leader, Texas Agricultural Extension service. Dr. Boleman syas, "The forecasters are indicating that beef producers could experience significant losses and need information that will help them survive in a bad market and thrive in a good one. That is the theme our conference will address in 1995".

The 1995 TAMU Beef Cattle Short Course will take on the task of providing both "efficient" and "cost-cutting" management training to aid the "decision-making" process for producers during predicted tough market conditions. Even though agricultural economists and industry leaders warn of tough times for cattle producers for the next fer years, producers that can increase efficiency and lower their production costs can obtain sustainability and/or profit.

Texas A&M University faculty and staff, beef cattle producers and industry leaders have planned a program that will describe the marketing conditions most producers will be planning and managing their operations for the nextfew years. Boleman said, "Without question, all statewide planning committees pointed to future lower prices for cattle to be a substantial problem and indicated that producers will have to tighten their belts and produce efficiently while maintaining or reducing low operating costs". The committees have recommended speakers from across the nation to discuss how beef producers will have to manage to survive to the year 2000. They will discuss what beef producers have to do to keep "beef" tops in the minds of consumers throughout the nation while maintaining stability and, hopefully, profitability. Producers will want to hear waht is about to happen and how they should react to the situation.

Registration will begin Monday morning, August 14th, and continue throughout the day. This is a slight variation form past programs taht will alllow more educational training time for producers. Last year's attendees wanted to have more basic, intermediate, and advanced training in beef cattle, production break-out seminars. The planning committees agreed that this would be a great idea for those that want to arrive a little early and will provide concurrent training seminars in beef cattle reproduction, nutrition, health, etc. to be conducted from 1-5 p.m. on Monday afternoon. Those seminars will include panel question and answer sessions during the last hour os the afternoon session. A reception in the Trade Show Area will follow the training.

On Tuesday morning, August 15, the general session and the offical opening of the TAMU Beef Cattle Short Course will begin as it has in the past schedules. Speakers from across the nation will address the participants 2051.

at the "Survival 2000: Tough Management for Tough Times" program. Agricultural economists, successful beef cattle producers and industy leaders will lead iscussions related to management during tough times.

The third day will continue discussion about survival management in the morning. Producers will highlight this part of the program giving insight as to how small, mid-sized, and large beef producers will adjust to the new market conditions that are forecast to 2000. The afternoon sessions will conclude the program with a live animal demonstration in breeding, type managment and marketing of calves and stocker cattle at the Louis Pearce Pavilion. Of course the Trade Show of 50 or more participants will still be a major attraction in addition to the program.

Registration is $60 for participants, and $40 for spouses (husbands or wives only). That includes a "Texas Style" prime rib dinner, a "Down Home" all you can eat Barbecue, noon meals, receptions refreshments during breaks, and early mornings, and the conference proceedings.

CARBON NEWS

Well the Carbon School Reunion drew a large crowd in Carbon on Saturday, July 1st. Every street in and around the Community Center was filled with cars. We want to thank the City for mowing all the vacant lots and the sides of the streets. It sure made our little town look nice. I know the people were surprised to see the old Trading Company building torn down but they were glad to see all the new buildings. We are proud of Carbon. It is a good place to call home.

Visitors attending church services Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church were Dwayne and Dot Jackson, Ft. Stockton, Billie Joe Jackson of Odessa, John and Lou Ann Griffin of Midland, Mrs. Willie Hines of Eastland, Charles and Marjorie Adair of Houston, LaVada and Erin Tucker of Sweetwater, Candi, Caleb and Cady Taylor of Sonora. We sure were glad to see all of them visiting with us again.

Ima Brown and Berniece Rodgers of Gorman visited with Billie Stacy last Monday.

 Billie and Ima and Ava Rodgers were in Brownwood on business Thursday.

James Guy of Andrews, Don Guy and freind Judith Anderson of Austin spent the weekend with their parents J. F. and Siegal Guy. Dorothy Jackson and LaVada Tucker, Erin and Ande visited with them on Sunday.

Stenholm Supports Const. Amendment To Protect U.S. Flag

Congressman Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) today voted in support of an amendment to the U.S. Constitution to permit congress and the States to prohibit the physical desecration of the American flag. The measure was introduced in response to 1989 and 1990 Supreme Court decisions that struck down both Federal and State statutes that banned flag desecration as an infringement upon an individual's right to free speech and expression as protected under the First Amendment to the Constitution . Congressman Stenholm issued the following statement after the vote:

I learned early in life that the flag of the United States represents something very spcial and should be treated with respect. Mother and dad, as descendants of Swedish immigrants who came to this great land in search of opportunity, taught me to respect the flag by their example. I learned to remove my hat when the flag passes by; to never let the flag touch the ground; and, with hand over heart, to be silent as tthe STar Spangled Banner is played and the flag is raised.

Today, you can barely hear the national anthem above the noise at athletic games, school assemblies and other public events. People wear shirts and shorts made out of the U.S. flag, and receptions feature flag cakes (which will be cut) and flag napkins (which will wipe mouths). As these examples illustrate, flag "desecration" takes many forms: However, the worst abuse has occurred when some individuals have burned this cherished national symbol in protest.

In 1989 the Supreme Court by a 5 to 4 margin struck down a Texas law (and all other State and federal efforts) amking flag desecration a crime, arguijg that such a statute was inconsistent with feedom of expression as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. In reviewing Chief Justice Rehnquists dissenting opinion, I find myself in agreement with his perspective when we wrote:

"For more than 200 years, the American flag has occupied a unique position as the symbol of our Nation...

The flag is not simply another "idea" or "point of view" competing for recognition inn the marketplace of ideas. Millions and millions of American regard it with an almost mystical reverence regardless of what sort of social, political, or philosophical beliefs they may have. I cannot agree that the First Amendment invalidates the Act of Congress and the laws of 48 out of the 50 States, which make criminal the publ burning of the flag."

Justice Rehnquist went on to reference a unanimous 1942 Court decision which said: "It is well understood that the right of fee speech is nto absolute at all times and under all circumstances: There are ceratin well-defined and narrowly limited classes of speech, the prvention and punishment of which have never been thought to raise any Constitutional problem. These include insulting or 'fighting' words--those which by their very utterance inflict injury or tend to incite an immediate breach of the peace."

This year, our own Texas Legislature commemorated the 50th anniversary of the raising of the U.S. flag on lwo Jima by voting to ask Congress for a Constitutional amendment to exempt flag desecration from First Amendment protection. The grassroots support for such an amendment.

Amending the U.S. Constitution should be done only in rare circumstances. I still believe we must be very causious about limiting the freedome of expression and speech as guaranteed in the Bill of Rights. However, during the past five years I have been deeply troubled by the increasing cynicism and negativism toward our government. The culmination of these negative feelings resulted in the tragedy in Oklahoma City. While I will continue to defend the right of every citizen to "petition the government for a redress of grieveances," I am disturbed both by the violence of a few individuals and the non-violent but pervasive cynicism many Americans feel towards their Country. It is time for us to better encourage a respectful attitude toward the American ideals which our flag represents.

I always have believed that physical desecration of the flag should be prohibited. At the same time, I sincerely have hoped that we could protect our flag without amending our beloved Constitution. After much deliberation, a review of recent court history, and a deep concern about a growing, negative and disrespectful national attitude, I have come to the conclusion that the way to honor the flag at this time is by amending the Constitution.

Diets For Diabetics

Over the years, persons with diabetes have been told different things concerening what they can and cannot

In the 1920's the rule was to eat high fat, low carbohydrate foods. Later they were told to eat complex arbohydrates and reduce fat, but to avoid completely any food products containing sugar. The latest word from the "experts" is that the diet for those with diabetes should not vary that much from an ordinary, healthful diet or eating

According to reasearh from the Diabetes Care and complications Trial, PERSONS with diabetes need to have individualized care. This care includes exercise, monitoring of glucose, eating healthy diets, and drinking plenty of liquids. recommended lifestyle changes can prevent the onsetof complications of the eyes, kidneys, and nervous system.

New recommendations by the American Diabetes Association and the American Dietetic Association include: *More flexiblity in diet to a more individualized meal plan which includes reduced fat and more complex carbohydrates.*Sugar is allowed if it is eaten in the context of a normal diet. Sugars should be less than 10 percent of total carbohydrate caloires. *Monounsaturated fatty acids such as olive, peanut or canola oils help control blood sugar levels better than conventional diabetic diets while lowering insulin and triglyceride levels. However total calorie intake should not be increased when monounsaturated fat is increased. Since persons with diabetes are prone to coronary artery disease, they will still need to limit total fat intake.

*Persons who have diabetes and are overweight should still tey to work towards achieveing a healthy weight to improve blood sugar control. Taking in fewer calories and increasing activites will help accomplish this goal.

*Intake of antioxidant nutrient such as vitamins E and C such be increased to help to neutralize free radicals which damage cells. Eat at least "5 A Day" servings of fruits and vegetables.

If you have diabetes, talk with your physician about these new recommendations. Remember that no single diet plan is right for everyone. You may need to speak with a registered dietitian for help with an individualized diet that is right for you.

Report Card on TV Violence

t is bad enough that television seems to have changed the American child from an irresistible force into an immovable object. But the level of violence in American TV programming makes this attachment to the TV set even more destructive.

The average American child witnesses 100,000 acts of violence and 8,000 murders on television before leaving elementary school. It is an indisputable fact that this kind of programming not only monopolizes. children's attention, but has made American youngsters — like our society as a whole — more cynical, prone to violence and desensitized to its real-life horror. Study after study has shown this to be the case.

I believe Americans are fed up with the violence in their streets, schools and on TV. So I have introduced a bill that would provide parents with the kind of information they need to guide their children's TV viewing habits. away from violent programming and toward shows that can entertain kids without corrupting them.

This legislation is simple and involves no government censorship. What it would do is fund the preparation and distribution of a "report card" on TV violence, using current research data which is generated by a variety of universities and private research foundations, as well as the industry itself.

It would be even better if this could be accomplished in the private sector; I hope introducing this bill will spur the private sector to make such; information available.

But, bottom line, parents need help. They could use the information to determine what programming they think is appropriate for their children. Exercising such guidance is, first and foremost, a family matter. I oppose. direct government interference with television programming decisions, as do many of my colleagues in Congress. I believe we have as little Constitutional authority to tell television programmers what to broadcast as we have to tellnewspapers what to publish.

But I feel strongly that it is appropriate for government to find ways to help parents use available information effectively so they can make informed. programming choices for their children. The bill I have proposed meets that need in the least intrusive way.

We hope the effect of making this information available will be reducedviewership of violent programming, thereby influencing programming content without mandating changes.

My bill would authorize the Secretary of Commerce to award a grant to; a university or other not-for-profit organization to gather and analyze research into television programming content and publish its findings in aneasy-to-read and easy-to-access format four times a year. These TV violence-"report cards" would be publicized and made widely available to the public,

To the fullest extent possible, parents and consumers should be empow. ered to choose which television programs they consider appropriate for their children — and to turn off the set when programming they consider too violent is aired. With such information, parents could select programs with themes and ideas which reinforce their family's values.

Given the proper tools, parents can make informed decisions that allow, them to take charge of their TV sets. And given the proper tools, I believe they,
