Tornado, Wind And Hail Causes Considerable Damage In This Area

By
Kernel Gene, aPe

Mitchell Campbell, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau visited the Progress office Wednesday morning. The Farm Bureau is planning a get together at Eastland Park, July 14th.

In discussing the future of Farm Bureau with Mr. Campbell, he said, "The Farm Bureau has a tough job ahead with limited finances. When we go to Washington to seek legislation in favor of the farmer it is difficult to be heard above the voice of the powerful union representatives."

If farmers and rural people could only wake up to the fact that unless we join hands and work together our independence will soon be lost. Now that unions have gotten a foothold on a guaranteed annual wage it will only be a matter of time until their demands will be for something else. The only way for industry to meet these demands will be to increase the cost of the products you and I buy. In the meantime, if the farmer asks a little more for the food he raises this self same people that want everything start screaming TOO MUCH, TOO MUCH. Every farmer in Eastland county should be an active member of the Farm Bureau and every rural merchant should be a supporting member.

If labor thinks it weeds a might stick by walking out and parading in front of a man's business with placards - - think of the power in the farmer's hand if he decided not to raise any food except what he and his friends could consume. Yes, there would be moaning at the crossroads.

Mr. Campbell gave me a clipping from the Progressive Farmer which I hope to reproduce this week. If not, it will be in next week's Progress. It is titled, "Better Supported Farm Organizations".

From all indications this area is going to have a bountiful crop season. Tators, beans, corn, etc. have been coming out of gardens for several weeks. Mrs. Nell Dollberry was showing a few ears of corn she had gathered. The kernels were large and looked tender.

Albert Taylor left a large Irish potato at the Progress. It had five good size potatoes growing from its side.

Boy Scouts have volunteered to clean off the Market Shed. By the time the Progress is out the shed will be ready for all farmers, raising produce in this area, to use. The committee in charge of the shed asks that all folks who have been parking their cars under this market shed please find another spot for the rest of the summer. Your cooperation will be appreciated. The Magnolia Petroleum Company leased this lot for a token-fee so Gorman could have a place for farmers to market their produce.

Business Men Fill Up At Fish Fry

An unknown quantity of fish was consumed Monday evening by Business men and their guests at Frank A. Gray Memorial Park.

Prepared by Chef W. L. Wallace with the assistance of Boyd Hilley and Quail Thompson, the fish were cooked to a golden brown and served with the usual trimmings.

No business to take care of the group enjoyed an evening of fellowship.

Thank You - Mr. Speck and Constable Dennis.

Alertness on the part of Mr. Speck and his operator and the ability of Constable Dennis to keep in touch with surrounding towns on his short-wave radio gives people in Gorman plenty of time to hunt cover when tornadoes or heavy winds hit this area.

Bob Kirk Promoted To Lt. Commander

Bob Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kirk of Gorman, is now a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy. His commission became effective on June 1. He and his family are now stationed at Key West, Florida. Their address is: 29 "A" Felton Road, Sigsbee Park Key West, Florida.

Bob graduated from Gorman High in 1940 and from The Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1944. His class at the Naval Academy was rushed through in three years instead of the usual four because of the need for officers in World War II. The ship he was stationed on, U. S. S. Boston, was anchored in Tokyo Bay when the peace treaty was signed with the Japanese ending World War II.

After the war, Bob was one of twenty men in the entire Navy chosen to receive specialized training in radar, sonar, and other electronics. He went to school at U. C. L. A. in Los Angeles, Calif. and received a Master of Electrical Engineering when he graduated in 1952. He has since completed almost enough college credits to receive a Ph. D. Degree.

Bob recently was privileged to ride in the newly completed atomic submarine, The Nautilus.

He was married to Carol Ann Pageler of San Diego, California on April 5, 1947. They have one son, Franklin Lee, who is 18 months old. Carol Ann's stepfather is a retired Navy man.

Rev. J. W. Sharbutt Returns To Gorman For Second Year

Rev. James W. Sharbutt and Mrs. Sharbutt returned from the Central Texas Methodist Annual Conference late Sunday evening. They have been assigned to the local Methodist Pastorate for a second year.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharbutt are anticipating a greater development in the spiritual activity of the church during the coming year.

Entering the ministry some thirty-five years ago, after having enjoyed a business career for two decades, Mr. Sharbutt began his education for the ministry while serving on a corcuit. The fact that he and Mrs. Sharbutt had two children did not deter him.

His pastoral assignments have carried him from circuits to small charges, thence larger charges in Ft Worth and to the west as far as Winters, then back to Ft Worth. He was also at Dublin for four years. Previous to his present assignment he was in De Leon.

IF I HAD A SON

By J. Edgar Hoover
As Told To Herbert Corey

Ross Wilson, teacher of the Fellowship Class at the Methodist Church, used the following as a basis for his lesson last Sunday:

If I had a son?
I'd probably be frightened. I don't know. I've never feared the responsibilities which have come to me in twenty years' experience with crime and criminals, but if I were a husband and father I might be afraid. So much would depend on me.

I'd feel that it would be my fault if my son didn't grow up to be a fine, honest man - a good citizen in every sense of the word. For that's the keystone of success - good citizenship. If I supply my son with sound character through home training, I'd know that none of my worldly ambitions for him would ever be realized.

If I had a son I'd swear to do one thing: I'd tell him the truth. I'd never let him catch me in a lie because I wouldn't tell him any lies. I wouldn't skimp the truth, either. That might be a trial at times, for little boys are sometimes very inquisitive and persistent. Some of the thousands who visit the display rooms of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will certainly grow up to be cross-examiners. But their guides don't reply with a brief "no" or "yes" if that perfectly truthful answer mightn't be entirely satisfactory to the young visitors. For the average youngster knows enough to resent it when he's carelessly dismissed. If I couldn't answer my son's question, I'd say so. Then we'd get together and find out.

This matter of the whole truth is doubly important because every boy is a hero-worshiper. His inclination is to look up to his father as head of the house, a repository of all knowledge, the universal provider, the righteous judge. He cannot do so if he's continually catching his father in half-truths. A liar is a weakling and a boy admires strength. No matter how difficult it might be, I'd tell my boy the truth.

And in return I'd insist that he tell the truth. That might be hard to enforce. But though some scientists have said that all children are born liars, it's certain that the courageous telling of truth is a character-builder. If my son broke a rule and told the truth I wouldn't punish him. But if he tried to take advantage of me by covering deliberate mischief with a cloak of truth, I'd show him that's cheating - and penalize him for it. He wouldn't respect me if I did anything else, for little boys can be severely just in their judgements of their elders. If I succeeded in making truth the rule on both sides, I'd be on the road to success.

Each year a parade of rogues passes under the eyes of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They're of all sorts - handsome, old, young, rich, ragged, plausible, murderers, thieves, forgers. They're alike only in one thing: They're all liars.

The whole matter of good citizenship revolves around the simple proposition of honesty. A truthful boy is an honest boy. And an honest boy grows into a successful man. A thief can't be truthful; he can't afford to be. Mickey the Mucker, around two corners and down a back street, wouldn't be a hero and a leader to my boy, but an unpleasant kid with bad manners and vile speech and a habit of telling lies.

I'd try to be absolutely fair with my son, and to the extent of my capacity, I'd try to be understanding. Boys will get into trouble now and then. They can't help it. So if my son made an honest mistake I wouldn't punish him unless he lied about it.

I'd have few rules, but they'd be enforced. After studying literally hundreds of thousands of cases I've been forced to the conclusion that family discipline is the exception rather than the rule today. Boys don't become bad overnight. They get away with little things because their parents are too careless or too soft to punish them. Presently the little offenses become big offenses.

Learn to say kind things - nobody ever resents them.

Dr. Geo. Blackwell Heart Attack Fatal

Dr. George Thomas Blackwell, 73, died Monday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his home. His death came following a heart attack which he had suffered at 8:30 Monday morning.

The doctor had awakened early and as was his custom had gone to his garden back of the hospital where he worked at plowing and weeding until the sun was well up in the sky.

Shortly after he had entered the house he complained of heat and internal pain. Mrs. Blackwell summoned Dr. A. A. Brown who diagnosed a heart condition.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church with Rev. M. A. Pennington officiating, assisted by Rev. J. W. Sharbutt of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Blackwell, a native of Eastland County, was born near Mansker Lake at the old Blackwell homestead. He received his medical training in Dallas and Chicago. He was married to Miss Frankie Brogdon of Romney.

In 1919 Dr. Blackwell and the late Dr. Edward Blackwell founded the Blackwell Hospital. The original one-story, four room building has grown to a four-story, forty-six room widely patronized institution.

Always active in Church and civic affairs, he was for 18 years the Mayor of Gorman and he had served on the school board.

The doctor has probably been the most familiar figure about town. Patients and attendants are going to miss his friendly visits to every hospital room each morning. Church folks will miss him in the pew. Town folks will miss seeing him pass going to his farm. Colleagues in the games of dominoes, they will miss him, too. The citizenry, age and youth, extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Surviving the deceased are his widow and a daughter, Mrs. D. V. Rodgers, four grandchildren: George, Edward, Jimmy and Linda Rodgers. There are also two brothers, Dr. Almus Blackwell of Stamford and Albert Blackwell of Lubbock.

Pallbearers were John Kimble, Glynn Kirk, Dean Kirk, Ben R. Townley, Gus Frossard, and Melvin Shell.

Honorary Pallbearers were Dr. C. T. Cole, Dublin, Dr. E. M. Reynolds, De Leon, Dr. T. G. Jackson, Dr. J. B. Brandon, and Dr. A. A. Brown, all of Gorman, who were followed by the Nurses staff and office personnel.

Burial was in the Gorman Cemetery.

The following members of the Domino Club of which Dr. George was an active member attended the services in a body:

R. E. Boucher, Bill Alsbrook, Claiborne Eldridge, George Cole, Marcy Allen, Sam Powers, Carl Sims, Gus Frossard, I. C. Underwood, J. M. Parker, T. G. Gray, Dick Gray, G. C. Boswell, Floyd Gilbert, S. E. Lemley, Amos Eaker, Marvin Roberts, and Graydon Baze.

Horses Are Mister Hugh's Hobby

Mister Hugh, brother to Miss Dora and known to everyone else as Hugh Baskin, is our neighbor. His hobby is horses, not hobbyhorses.

Beginning his business as a trader while in his teens Mister Hugh, as we with our children have always called him since being newcomers here in September 1945, was heir to a strain of the Texas Mustang. Last week he bought a colt which he has carried to the pasture.

The new colt is company for Mr. Hugh's pet, the ancestors of which some generations back were driven along the Chisholm Trail.

Years ago before Mr. Hugh's time, a ranch near Cleburne on the Nolan River, belonging to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bennett, was a watering place and a night stop-over for drivers and their herds of horses or cattle from Texas to Kansas. If calves or colts were born in the night, and frequently one or more were born, they were given to the Bennetts.

Mr. Hugh's colt, descendant of the roaming herds, is never lonesome. It runs wild and free with its mate on the Baskin ranchland south of Jewell where Hugh was born.

The adjoining sections belonging to Loughry, Chaney and Foster estates have been leased by him for a quarter of a century. He runs cattle on the pasture lands and sub-leases the tillable acres.

He keeps a little book and calls the roll of his many stock, each head being identified by the name of its former owner. The horses he has bought at Brown-wood auction barns. Each week he buys cattle at Comanche, Eastland and Stephenville. The best he sometimes adds to his young herds while the others are resold, traded on his town lot, or again hauled to auction.

Mr. Hugh's sister, Miss Dora, has a partnership in some of the cattle and they have a herd of Brahman. Other members of the Baskin family run a small number on the pastures where there is ample water in the many tanks even in prolonged drought.

Winter feed once hauled in wag on is now scattered from the pickup which he also drives in rounding up strays.

Mr. Hugh is the son of the late James Willis Baskin and Sarah Jeanette Baskin. He attended the Hankins Normal College where he took a business course under Earl Bender, former teacher and at present a well-known attorney of Eastland County. With his mathematical mind Mr. Hugh is often way ahead of the bookkeeper and even the ring-master. With rapid calculation he estimates an acceptable bid, while at the same time he spars with other traders in the progressive low bids, keeping the ball rolling for the ringmaster.

Horses are our neighbor's hobby. A hobby he shares with the neighborhood children. He sometimes loans a pony. Other times he puts the small ones on and leads the horse.

His horses are always seen in the Festival parade.

If Mister Hugh knows you, he knows something good about you and "Believe it or not as a horse trader he will tell the good things about people as well as the good things about animals."

If I Had A Son

Such weak and careless parents should realize that when their children go astray it hasn't been the fault of the children but of the parents. A spoiled boy grows into a spoiled man. His doting parents can't protect him from the hard knocks that are part of life's discipline. He goes to pieces because he has been raised under glass.

I'd like to see my son grow up to be a real man. He should take his part in good, rough outdoor games. If he were a little noisier around home than I liked I'd try to put up with it. Boys were noisy animals when I was one. If there were a litter of bats and rackets and fishing tackle in the hall closet I'd ask that it be set in order by the owner, but I wouldn't raise the roof about it. If he got into a fight I wouldn't punish him unless he had provoked it. Even then I'd find out if he had been warranted in provoking it. The last thing I'd do would be to punish him for standing up for his own rights. I might be a bit harsh with him if he didn't. Bruises in boyhood aren't tragedies; they are incidents in the process of growing up.

I'd try to be a pal to my boy, but I wouldn't carry that so far that I might be "tagging along." Fathers and sons can go fishing and hunting together, and on long rides and for picnics and swimming parties. But when the young fellow wants to get out with his friends he doesn't want an elder along. I'd encourage him to join the Boy Scouts and Boys' Club and similar organizations. But before he joined I'd make a point of getting acquainted with the Leader of the Troop, or whatever the troop chief might call himself. I'd want to see my boy in the charge of an upstanding, virile, husky young man who would enforce the practice of masculine virtues by example. Boys' Clubs conducted by a police organization are almost invariably successful. The boys turn their hero-worshipping tendencies on the policemen. They say to themes, "Gee I wish I was as husky as Big Jim. They say he isn't afraid of nuttin'!" So they try to get that husky.

The various youth movements satisfy an urge for adventure that's strong in the heart of every healthy boy. The summer camps which have developed in recent years present a marvelous opportunity for tempering youth. Usually it's well for a boy to get away from home at intervals to share the wholesome rivalry which comes from the proper type of sport, and develop individual responsibility in camp life. The improvement which a few weeks often make in over-coddled boys is astounding. The softness of babyhood is stripped off and they start on the road to manhood.

I think that life nowadays is often too easy for a child. Parents make the mistake of attempting to protect their children and shower too much kindness on them. I think that every child should have certain definite duties to perform, if it's nothing more than mowing the lawn or spading the garden. Dishwashing isn't a pleasant chore but a child who persistently evades it reduces his mother to the level of a servant. A boy with responsibilities at home gains pride. After all, the home is not only a place of living, it's a place of learning. It's there and not in schools that children are fitted for the burdens they must bear later.

As a matter of course, I'd have my son go to church. What's more, I'd go with him. Apart from religious instruction, church going is a means by which the young man would meet persons of fine character.

But above everything else, I'd try to understand my son. For I fully realize that if I didn't, I'd be a failure as a dad.

J. E. Porter and wife, the former Ila George Russell, have become adjusted to the change from Gorman to the Northwest and are acclimated to the weather conditions.

They are finding Montana a beautiful and interesting section of the States.

J. E. and Ila George have been visiting with the Whit Russells and other relatives here and in Fort Worth and Dallas. When enroute back home to Cut Bank, Montana they will visit his brother in Carlsbad and travel a different route returning.

While in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana since leaving Texas they have visited several National Parks and have made a trip into Canada.

A prolonged snowstorm interrupted their sightseeing tour of Glacier Park last year. But they intend to try again with another vacation. They will go through Yellowstone this trip.

J. E. has got a little habit of carrying a Geiger counter on company business as a seismographer, so he intends to be the owner of one before he makes another leisure trip into the mountains.

1956 Wheat Market Quota Referendum

By O. D. Johnston,
County Office Manager,
Comanche County ASC

The 1956 Wheat Marketing Quota Referendum will be held on June 25, 1955. One polling place will be held in Comanche County, and this will be at the A.S.C. Office in Comanche, Texas. The poll will open at 8:00 A. M. and will close at 7:00 P. M.

Any producer who is engaged in the production of wheat for harvest in 1956 on a farm who intends to harvest in any manner in excess of 15 acres of wheat for grain on the farm, and who is entitled to share in the proceeds of the 1956 wheat crop as owner, landlord, (other than a landlord of a standing rent, cash rent or fixed rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper shall be eligible to vote. In the case of a husband and wife who will be engaged in the production of wheat in 1956 as joint owners of a farm, each is eligible to vote; and similarly in the case of a husband and wife or a father and his son who will be engaged in the production of wheat in 1956 as joint tenants, the husband and wife or father and son, as the case may be, are both eligible to vote.

If at least two-thirds of the voters are "yes" —

1. Marketing quotas will continue in effect for each farm on which the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres.

2. Marketing quota penalties will apply on each bushel of any "excess" wheat produced on the individual farm.

3. Price support at a level between 75 and 90 percent of parity will be available to each farmer who complies with his farm wheat acreage allotment.

If more than one-third of the votes are "no" —

1. There will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for "excess" wheat.

Acreage allotments will remain in effect as the basis for price-support eligibility.

3. Price support, at 50 percent of parity as provided by law, will be available to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

CHEANEY HD CLUB HAS PICKLE DEMONSTRATION

Mrs. Gordon attended this clinic and brought this information back to the club members, by showing the method of pickling beans, and making a tasty relish of peppers, onions and cabbage, adding zest to a dinner menu.

Mrs. Tucker gave the June report of County Council Meeting and the results of the THDA election meeting following the council meeting. Mrs. Gordon will serve as an alternate to the annual THDA meeting in Ft Worth August 3-5.

Mrs. Bill Tucker, Reporter

Guests on Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hatley Dean were Mrs. Tommy Davis, Mrs. Talmadge Minter, and Mrs. D. W. Blackwell and children, Billy and Cyn thia Blackwell, all of Odessa. Mrs. Minter and Mrs. Blackwell were one-time Cheaney youngsters, Ruth and Yuba DeShazo. The sisters were visitors for the Sunday morning Church services while here. The J. B. Blackwell family of Ranger and Mrs. Belle Blackwell, his mother, who has just returned from a visit in Lubbock with her daughter, Mrs. Lum Love, were church visitors also.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howard were able to come to church on Sunday morning.

Sue and Dickie Weekes of Comanche spent the week end with their aunt, Mrs. Ben Freeman, and came to church with the Freemans Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aurthur Love went to Big Springs Friday and accompanied their son, Junior Love, to Lovington, N. M. for a Saturday - Sunday visit with their daughter, Mrs. Jimmy Greer and husband, an oil company employe.

Mrs. Claude Tucker and son, James of Odessa, and Mrs. Bill Andry of Gorman visited awhile Wednesday afternoon in the Richard Tucker home and with Mrs. Mary Tucker, the youngster's grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Miller, who recently went to Dimmitt and began farm work, came back Saturday for their household things. They visited the John Tuckers Sunday and returned to Dimmitt Monday.

Robert Love visited his mother, Mrs. Ann Love, and family Friday night. Robert is putting in the second irrigation well on his farm at Stephenville which is being operated by Melva Love, his brother.

This writer had the nicest chat Monday morning with a neighbor, Mrs. Avinger. The Avengers have the most modern dairy barn and equipment in the community and engage in selling high grade milk.

Mrs. Lorene Poteet visited in the Kenneth Brown home last week while Frank Poteet and Cicero Rogers were working the Alameda Cemetery grounds.

Mrs. Eva Underwood visited Wednesday and Thursday in the Joann Tucker home.

We hear that A. G. Underwood is moving a house onto the old Lloyd place which he purchased some time ago and he and Sue and son, Randy, will be at home near Alameda.

That modern king-size house trailer parked at the Jack Revel home is certainly nice looking - but we did not get the 'story'. Maybe later, we will.

Alton and Janie Perrin and children, Ann and Stanley of Gorman, were out at the home of his parents canning beans Sunday. They were not in a class by themselves, however. We put off 2 pressure cookers of beans, contents 14 quarts, before going to church ourselves Sunday morning. Beans have a habit of getting too tough if not canned at the right stage. But we do not recommend Sunday morning canning.

Desdemona Seniors Enjoy Senior Trip

At 3 o'clock on Saturday morning we seniors left Desdemona for a trip to New Orleans and also some stops on the way.

Accompanying us were our superintendent and sponsor, Mr. Murray and Mrs. Murray, and Mrs. J. C. Lee.

We arrived in Shreveport, La. Saturday night and took in the Louisiana Hayride, which was a lot of fun.

Sunday evening we arrived in Vicksburg, Miss. We visited a lot of historical places, went through the Old Courthouse Museum and also went through the Old River Boat, "The Sprague", which is a very interesting sight.

Our next stop was Natchez, Miss. which is a very interesting place. We ate supper in a pretty park overlooking the Mississippi River. We watched the boats going up and down the river.

We finally arrived in New Orleans where we spent the next two days. We visited the Old French Quarters, The Louisiana State Museum, The Old Slave Quarters, Pirates Alley, and many more places of interest. We also took a ferry boat ride across the Mississippi River and went swimming in beautiful "Lake Pontchartrain".

From the looks of the Texas School Buses we saw in New Orleans, it seems like every one decided on the same place for a Senior Trip.

We arrived home Friday evening a tired but happy bunch of Seniors.

but the rather common occurrence of a purchaser buying real estate that the seller did not own is news that editors would like to headline if they were familiar with the abstract business and knew about it. A Tribute To Dr. Geo.
 By C. E. Sims

As we come face to face with this sad hour, we do so with hearts and souls that are bruised, torn and bleeding, because one of the fairest and best among us has fallen. But we do not mourn for one who has gone on without hope, as we sincerely feel that he has left us for the glorious realms of immortality.

By his uprightness of character, his purity of soul and unquestionable moral life, he became a beacon of light in a doubting world as he learned "to pity and forgive, and teach with high example those beneath him how to live."

Our friend who lies before us today had his sorrows and pains, his trials and tribulations. He had his troubles, disappointments and defeats, mixed freely with the greatest joys of life. Memories are here that cannot all be spoken, and feelings which are the sweetest and noblest within the human heart.

Dr. Blackwell was a strong believer in God and the divinity of Christ. And it was this beautiful star of human hope, shining in the blue sky of his soul, that carried him over and through many storms of stress, strain, sickness and finally to death and his eternal home, beyond.

As we pause together to pay tribute to the departed, we find courage in the fact that life does not end with the lapse of mortal breath. We are buoyed on by the evidence of life after death which nature so abundantly provides. The beautiful sunset is but the beginning of a glorious sunrise. Twilight finds its inspiring finish in the dawn. When our souls go down into the valley of the shadow, it can be said that we have finished the day's work, but it cannot be said that we have finished our lives. We live on in the lives of those whom we have influenced by word and deed. So our deceased friend will live on in countless lives which he has touched and made better.

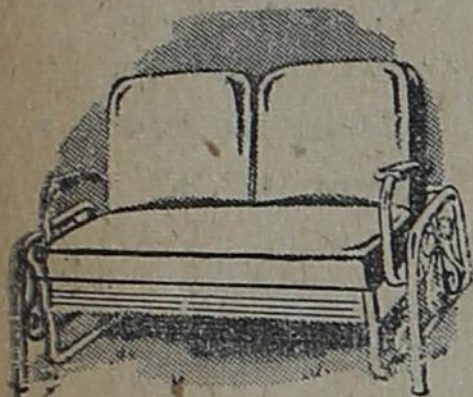

Mrs. Paul Ormsby and son Paul Dean have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank Dean and the W. J. Ormsbys.
