TOTAL INJUNCTION HITS BEEF TRUST

ALLEGED BANK BANDITS TAKEN, LOOT RESTORED

Officers Run Down Necessity Bank Pair, Recover $2,482.

Two confessed bandits, successful only for a scant twelve hours in their plan to loot the Guaranty State Bank of Necessity, are in the Stephens county jail at Breckenridge and the $2,482 which they secured has been recovered, thanks to the work of the first posse formed in the county since the days of 1877, when Sam Bass, the outlaw, found the hills and thickets of Stephens county untenable.

George Criss and Roy, "Slim," Brown are the pair. Criss was taken by members of a posse which waited his arrival at a bridge approaching Breckenridge. Brown was arrested at the Davidson wagon yard at Breckenridge, at which place both were employed. When told that Criss had confessed, he fainted. When he recovered consciousness, he took the officers to the hiding place of the money.

Plan of Robbery, as told to the officers by the confessed bandits, was this:

The men took their employer's horses, which they planned to use in the attempt, out the night before and staked them out in the brush. Wednesday morning they told Mr. Davidson that the horses had been stolen and were sent to find them. They got the horses from their hiding places, rode to Necessity, and robbed the bank according to plan at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, the only hitch in the scheme coming when Mr. Ennis, a Necessity merchant, spread the alarm and the bandits were forced to make their get-away before they had taken all of the money in the vault.

Poses were formed hurriedly in both Necessity and Breckenridge and hardware stores were gutted of arms and ammunition in the eagerness to join the pursuit, according to Lester Shaw, a California newspaper man who got the information of the pursuit and capture and brought it to the Times.

Deputy Sheriff P. L. Boles and a posse of two men had the first brush with the men. After they had eluded the men who tried to follow them in automobile from Necessity, they disappeared in a thicket.

Shots Exchanged. They were seen on a ridge near the railroad dump running into Breckenridge. There was an exchange of shots but none took effect and the bandits made a break for a corn field which paralleled the railroad grade.

Word was sent ahead to Breckenridge that when last seen, late Wednesday evening, the pair was headed for that town and a posse including F. A. Henry, G. P. Joplin and Curtis Hancock formed and waited at the bridge which commanded that approach to the town.

About two hours after dark a horseman approached, leading another riderless horse. It was Criss. When arrested, he protested his innocence and said he was looking for stray horses, but at the county jail he was identified by one of the men who was employed by the Necessity bank.

He confessed Thursday morning. Sheriff Sears, Marshal Dixon and two deputies went to the Davidson wagon yard and there found "Slim" Brown.

Second Man Feared. They told him that Criss had confessed.

CISCO SECRETARY OF C-C RESIGNS

CISCO, Feb. 27.—Walter A. Downing, secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce since July 1, last, tendered his resignation to the directors of the chamber at their weekly meeting Tuesday night greatly to the surprise of the board as well as to the general membership of the city. Secretary Downing will enter another line of business. Since coming into the office of secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce Mr. Downing has been a very busy man and has alone much to solve the numerous problems which have been passed up to him. No definite plans for securing a successor to Downing has been given out yet.

CISCO TO VOTE ON $250,000 SCHOOL BONDS

Special to The Times. CISCO, Texas, Feb. 27.—Plans are being worked out by the Cisco Board of Education to submit to the citizens of the school district a bond issue authorizing the issuance of not less than $250,000 for financing the building of one large school building. An election will be held soon to vote the bonds. The important matter of educating the youth of the city is not being neglected. Superintendent Godby has been elected to serve another school year.

YOUNG SOLDIER BACK AFTER 5 YEARS OF WAR

International News Service. BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Joseph Hajjar, soldier of fortune, has returned from the wars and is "sittin' pretty" at his home here. Joe is but twelve years old but he began his military career when he was seven and hence is a veteran.

During his military career Joe has served under five flags, has known the camp life of most of the armies that fought in the world war, wandered over most of the war-swept countries of Europe and Asia and learned to speak the languages of six different nations. But he has come back a real American, although something of a cosmopolite.

Joe and his mother, two brothers and a sister left Boston in the summer of 1914 to visit his grandfather in Beirut, Syria. Only his father remained here. The war caught them and they could not get back to the United States.

Six months after they arrived at Beirut Joe's mother died, leaving an unnamed baby girl. A short time later the older sister died and the baby soon followed. Then his two brothers succumbed and before long the grandfather also died. All of them virtually died from lack of food.

Finding himself alone in the world, Joe left the bodies of his dead in the Syrian mountains and set out by himself. He came upon the Syrian army and followed it awhile, but soon attached himself to a Turkish regiment. Later he deserted the Turks for the Germans and eventually forsook the Germans for the French. Finally he struck the British and remained with the "Tommys" until the armistice was signed.

After the war ended he found his way back to Beirut, where an American army officer learned that the lad had come from Boston. Joe could not tell his real name nor his address, but through the army officer a search was instituted and Joe's father, a prosperous merchant, who believed all of his family had been wiped out, was located. The father sent money for Joe's passage and he was brought to the United States in care of a Red Cross nurse.

Joe is going to start to school again soon and does not expect any difficulty in studying the geography of Europe.

JUDGE HILL READY FOR MARCH TERM

Special to The Times. EASTLAND, Feb. 27.—Judge E. A. Hill is already making preparations for the convening of the March term of court to begin next Monday. Jurists for the several weeks have been selected by the jury commission and they are now being summoned by the sheriff. The criminal side of the court's docket will be given special attention next term, and of much importance in this connection is the grand jury to be convened next Monday, March 1, and their names are as follows: C. H. Genoway, Desdemona; J. H. Hankins, Ranger; C. L. Garrett, Eastland; A. A. Huntington, Nimrod; J. T. Jobe, Gorman; E. H. Jones, Gorman; W. M. Myers, Ranger; W. J. Poe, Cisco; R. Q. Lee, Cisco; A. J. Olson, Cisco; D. E. Jones, Rising Star; Levi McCullum, Rising Star; T. F. Murrell, Mangum; B. I. Marshall, Nimrod; M. V. Crossley, Carbon, and H. T. Hamrick, Gorman.

ABILENE TO HAMLIN TRAIN STARTS MARCH 1

ABILENE, Feb. 27.—A new train, running from Abilene to Hamlin, will start on the Abilene and Southern next Monday, when that road is returned to its owners. The A. & S. has been operated by the government in connection with the Fort Worth and Denver lines.

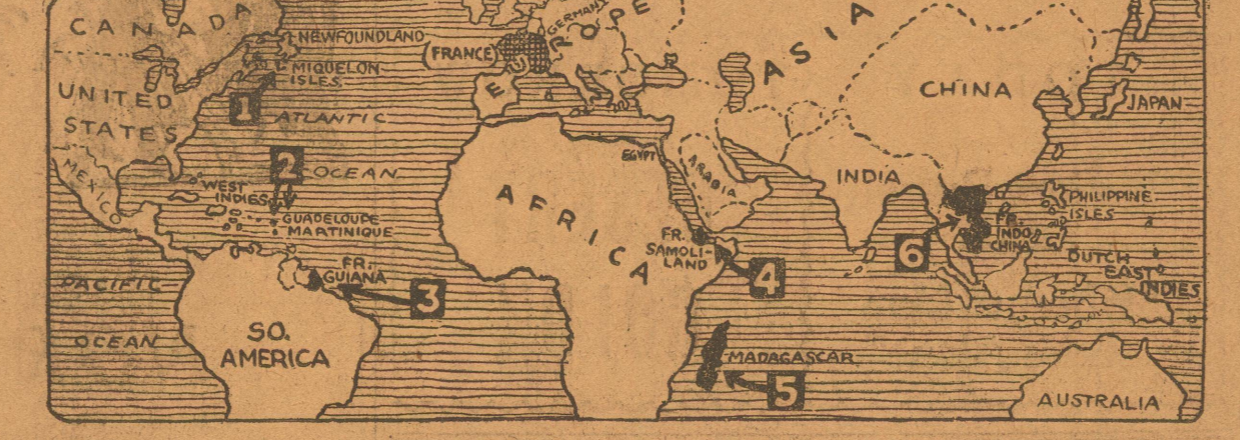

CROSSING ACCIDENTS 292 WITH 47 KILLED IN 1919

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—A total of 292 grade crossing accidents, with forty-seven killed, 312 injured, in Texas during 1919, are shown in the report and made public today by the railroad commission.

FRENCH FLYERS CROSS SAHARA DESERT SAFELY

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Major Voilleminand Lieutenant Chalus, who have been lost a week in a flight across the Sahara desert have reported by the French aviation department, as landed safely today at Manataka, east of Timbuctoo on the Niger river.

FRANCE MAY CEDE COLONIES TO HELP PAY WAR DEBTS

Figures indicate territorial possessions mentioned in plan for cutting war debt. France itself is shown in cross-hatching and at a glance the colonies that nation may dispose of exceed France itself in size.

Ranger Crude up to $3.25

The advance, effective Friday, is announced by the Prairie Oil and Gas company, from $3 to $3.25, making a total gain of $1 per barrel that the product of the Ranger field has made since last summer. Pennsylvania crude is selling at $5.65, an advance of 15 cents a barrel having gone into effect two weeks ago.

The telegram received at the Ranger office of the Prairie Oil and Gas company from headquarters in Independence, Kan., reads: Commencing Feb. 27, the Prairie Oil and Gas company will pay $3.25 for Mid-continent and Texas crude, at the well."

The advance has been anticipated for several days by operators of the Ranger field. Other buyers in this territory will be meeting the price within a few days. The jump was indicated several days ago when the Steiner Oil Corporation in the Burk Burnett field announced that it was paying $3.25 for the Mid-continent crude.

Texas Pipe Line company already has met the advance, according to a telephone message received at the Times office.

Associated Press dispatches state that the same advance has been made effective by the Prairie and by the Gulf Production company at Wichita Falls.

And that Penna crude may keep a couple of jumps ahead, a dispatch from Pittsburgh announces that the Zeph purchasing agency has announced a 15-cent advance for that product, jumping the price per barrel from $5.65 to $5.80.

FAIR VOTE, SCHOOL BONDS.

At one o'clock Friday about seventy-five votes had been cast in the school bond election, with no opposition showing to the issue.

A vote of at least a hundred and fifty is expected. Members of the Chamber of Commerce were doing effective work reminding voters that this is election day.

The polls at the Farmers & Merchants bank will be open until 7 p. m. Friday evening in order that all may have a chance to cast their ballot on the proposed school bond issue. Several hundred votes must be cast in order to insure the success of this election, and every citizen should make an effort to have his vote polled by closing time Friday evening.

Mothers' Clubs of City Meet, Choose Committee Heads

A joint meeting of the mothers clubs of this city was held at the public library rooms in the Marston building Thursday. The following appointments were made:

Mrs. M. A. Turner, general chairman; Mrs. J. W. Hunt, vice chairman; Mrs. J. B. Stackable, secretary; Miss Beulah Speer, secretary and publicity manager; Mrs. C. O. Terrell, station supervisor; Mrs. A. R. Duncan, box committee; Mrs. J. P. Scott, committee on badges.

Work of the various mothers' clubs was discussed and plans outlined for the general organization. A meeting of the general committees will be held in the Marston building March 3 at 2:30 p. m.

PRESIDENT OF S. P. R. R. ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

HOUSTON, Feb. 27.—W. B. Scott, railway lines and the Texas and Louisiana, announced his retirement, effective Monday.

DUCHESS IS MOST CHARMING HOSTESS

Duchess of Norfolk. This is a new study of the beautiful Duchess of Norfolk. Through the recent death of the old Duke, Lord Edmund, Bernard Talbot succeeds to the title of the Duke of Norfolk; and his wife, Lady Mary Caroline, becomes the Duchess of Norfolk, of course. She was the daughter of the seventh earl of Abingdon and is one of England's most charming hostesses.

NINE BLOCKS COMPLETED.

The General Construction company is completing a block of paving on Rusk street, north of Main, and will probably finish the block some time Thursday.

This makes a total of nine blocks of paving completed. The McKenzie Construction company has finished a block of curb and gutter work on Pine street and is now working on Marston street. The company is pouring concrete on North Austin street.

BUSINESS LEAGUE FORMS IN CISCO

Special to The Times. CISCO, Texas, Feb. 27.—A Young Men's Business league, with a paid membership of one hundred, has been organized in this city. Committees were appointed to draft by-laws, name officers, etc., with instructions to report to the membership their recommendations at another meeting. The new organization members are composed mostly of young business and professional men of the city, who are willing to help build Cisco. The league members propose to assist the Chamber of Commerce in its work of building a city second to none in West Texas.

REPLY OF PREMIERS RECEIVED, DECODED, SENT TO PRESIDENT

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The reply of the British premiers to the president's recent note on the Adriatic question was received today at the state department and sent to the White House immediately, after it had been decoded. It was announced that it will not be made public until the president has studied it.

RAILROAD MEASURE BACK TO PRESIDENT

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The compromise railroad bill was returned to the White House today by the department of justice to which it was referred for an opinion regarding its validity.

NATIVE OF LAREDO KILLED IN TAMPICO

By Associated Press. LAREDO, Feb. 27.—Ramson M. Zardentata, an American citizen, and a native of Laredo, was killed Feb. 11, in Tampico, by Zervando Canales, who is in jail there, according to information received today. It is said that Zardentata was murdered.

INMATES OF PRISON DECREASE DURING 1919

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Inmates of Texas penitentiaries decreased 483 during 1919, the annual report to the governor shows. At the end of the year there were 2,726 convicts.

MODISTE SAYS PARIS STYLES ARE SHOCKING

International News Service. NEW YORK.—American women would not wear the evening gowns which adorn—or disadorn—the women of Paris, in the opinion of Madame Frances, one of America's foremost modistes, who has just returned from the French capital.

"The Parisian woman," said Madame Frances, "looks just as 'chie' as ever. But her style in dress is just the same as when I last saw it four years ago.

"The real difference is in the apparent conservation of material. Fashion leaders have done nothing but apply the scissors to the old styles.

"The afternoon gown, or street dress, has a low neck, sleeves midway between the elbow and shoulder and is short at the bottom. There is no waist line.

"But the evening gown! With this I think the scissors slipped. It's just a huge 'V' on four sides. The front is frightfully low and the back even lower. And the bottom comes just below the knees. An American woman would not wear it.

"Millinery styles are a bit more promising, with a few new designs at greatly reduced prices. A new style in gloves, extremely long black kid, coming high above the elbow to meet the short sleeve, is being tried.

"Paris has the latest thing in stockings. Nobody smart wears anything but tulle hosiery at $20 a pair."

New Postoffice Building May Be Expanded in Size

Plans for the new postoffice building to be erected near the corner of Rusk and Elm streets by George A. McManus and George A. Parton have been released by the architectural firm of White and Harvey.

The bond of McManus and Parton has been accepted by the postoffice department and the building will be started as soon as a contractor's bid is accepted. Only one story will be completed at this time. Plans for building a structure 140x150 feet and from three to six stories in height are being considered by the owners. The postoffice will be a part of this building, it is thought.

HELGOLAND RUIN OF FORMER POWER

By Associated Press. BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Helgoland, two years ago Germany's impregnable barrier against the allied sea power, today is a dismantled bulk of no military importance.

The imperious bulk of the island itself, surmounted by tons of masonry ingeniously constructed as gun emplacements, is all that remains. It is declared that another seven years' work will be necessary to complete Helgoland's demilitarization.

The stronghold was built at a cost of over $175,000,000, but its mighty guns fired but once during the war. It is just revealed that a British naval officer, posing as an American student, saw all of the fortifications in 1913.

SIMMONS COLLEGE GETS NEW BUILDINGS

Special to The Times. ABILENE, Feb. 27.—Simmons college is to have two additional buildings in use when the next term opens, as a result of the action of the board of trustees in ordering construction of an $80,000 Fine Arts building and a $30,000 cafeteria, work to begin at once.

The arts building will be three stories high and the cafeteria two stories. Both will be built of brick and stone. The new Science Hall, now in course of construction at a cost of $150,000, will also be completed in time for the next term. The sum of $250,000 to build the first unit of the West Texas Baptist Memorial sanitarium is being raised now. This institution will be a part of Simmons when the college becomes Simmons university next year.

FEDERAL AGENTS TAKE UP BATTLE AGAINST RADICALS

By Associated Press. CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—Raids by federal agents and the police today marked the renewal of the government's fight to stamp out radicalism and send the agitators back to their native lands. Ten alleged radicals were arrested.

CHIEF JUSTICE ENJOINS FIVE MEAT PACKERS

Decree Agreed to by Defendants, But "Not Because of Guilt."

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—It has been agreed that the five big packers are forever enjoined from engaging in any line of business except the handling of meat and meat products will be filed in the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

It was submitted by Attorney General Palmer, who said, "It removes the menace of control by the united industries of the big five, and confines their activities in the future to the business of the distribution of meat and its byproducts."

Counsel for the packers, in a statement to the court said that the decree was agreed to by the defendants, "not because of guilt, for they have not violated any laws, but that the American people may be assured that there is not the slightest possibility of a food monopoly by the packers."

After hearing the statements, Chief Justice McCoy signed the injunction making the agreement effective.

The decree involves the reorganization of a great industry with assets of over a billion dollars. It affects eighty-seven corporations, forty-nine individuals. It was agreed to after the department of justice, on orders from President Wilson, instituted anti-trust proceedings against the packers in Chicago.

Papers of the dissolution decree provided that the packers must sell, preferably to livestock producers and the public, all their holdings in public stockyards, railroads and terminals, markets, newspapers, public cold storage warehouses, except those necessary for their own meat products, and they are barred forever from the retail meat business.

Drive on Vagrants Means Clean Streets

The big drive is now on and all "gentlemen of leisure" who have no visible means of support and those who possess no metallic proof that they are on a short vacation are being cared for by Chief of Police Parrish. Prospects are indeed bright for street cleaners.

LIVING COSTS IN ENGLAND ADVANCE MORE THAN HERE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Living costs have advanced more in six foreign countries since 1914 than in the United States, according to comparisons of retail food prices in nine countries by the bureau of labor statistics.

In Australia and New Zealand the advance is less than in America. The price of the principal foods of the United States have increased eighty-eight percent from July, 1914, to September, 1919, compared with advances of 116 percent in Great Britain and ninety-three percent in Canada during the same period.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC AT A CLOSE IN CISCO

CISCO, Texas, Feb. 27.—The influenza epidemic has ended its visit to infect the citizens of this city, according to reports from the office of City Health Officer Joseph W. Gregory, who says that not more than five or six new cases have been reported to his office by the physicians of Cisco as having occurred since last Saturday.

OIL BLAZE IN CREEK CALLS FIRE DEPARTMENT

The local fire department was called to the small creek running near the Burton Lumber yards on Commerce street at noon Friday to extinguish an oil fire that was burning near the creek. No damage resulted.

TAD'S TID-BITS

TADS TID BITS—HED UP... (Written for International News Service.)

How Do They Get That Way?
NEW YORK.—Isn't it queer that no one ever gives the new champion credit for his win. We go back to the Sullivan-Corbett fight. Sullivan up to that time was unbeatable. He had toured the country and topped all before him. He even boxed an exhibition with Corbett in San Francisco. When he was matched with "Pompadour Jim" he laughed, saying that the Californian was a dancing master and couldn't bust a pane of glass with his wallop.

Sullivan's backers bet 4 and 5 against 1 that John L. would win. Don't you think they saw his condition? Don't you think that men of these odds knew something? Yet after Corbett knocked John L. out the world declared that poor old Sullivan wasn't in fit form to play a tough game of pool. Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries at Reno and was on the short end in the betting at 2 to 1. Jeffries trained a year for this fight. The writer was with Jeffries for six weeks at Rowardeman, Cal., and watched him daily. He was in great shape. His newspaper friends told their readers so. Jeffries declared himself that he was never before in such shape in his life. Two doctors who examined him the day before the fight said that he was the most nearly perfect man physically that they had ever put a hand on. Yet he was knocked out after fifteen gruelling rounds.

Then Jeff's friends howled like wolves. "Poor old Jeff—an old lady could have beaten him. He was a wreck. He was only a shell." Next we come to Jack Dempsey and Willard. The latter worked like a beaver for months. He was in great shape. He was always favorite in the betting. He lasted three rounds before that fighting Irishman Dempsey. Now the Willard admirers say that he was fat and unconditioned—wasn't himself at all.

None of them are when they meet their master. Willard today is the best heavyweight in the world barring Dempsey. If these Dempsey knockers don't think so, why didn't they bet a piece of Jack against Willard with some pure "big" odds on it? He can fight. He showed more against Dempsey than he ever showed that's a lot.

Here's a Real Champ.

Dear Tad: I saw the letter by the manager of "Chicken Neck" Nelson in the paper the other day. Why, that Nelson—small-time guy compared to my man.

I managed the champion diver of the world. We called him "U-9" Daly. He only fought once, but in that fight broke every world's record. You can't see a punch start ten feet away and immediately submerge. That's why we called him "U-9" Daly.

He fought a guy named Meyer Clancy once. The fight was called "Chicken Neck" and the referee collapsed.

Daly went down twenty times in each round. You can't beat that. A round consists of 180 seconds. Daly did a McKay twenty times, and each time for the count of nine. In the second and third rounds he continued his good work. He didn't fight one second in any round. The referee got a cramp in the right arm from counting, while his left went to sleep.

He called it no contest, as he was forced to retire. I claim all records for "U-9" Daly. Yours, PETER POTTER.

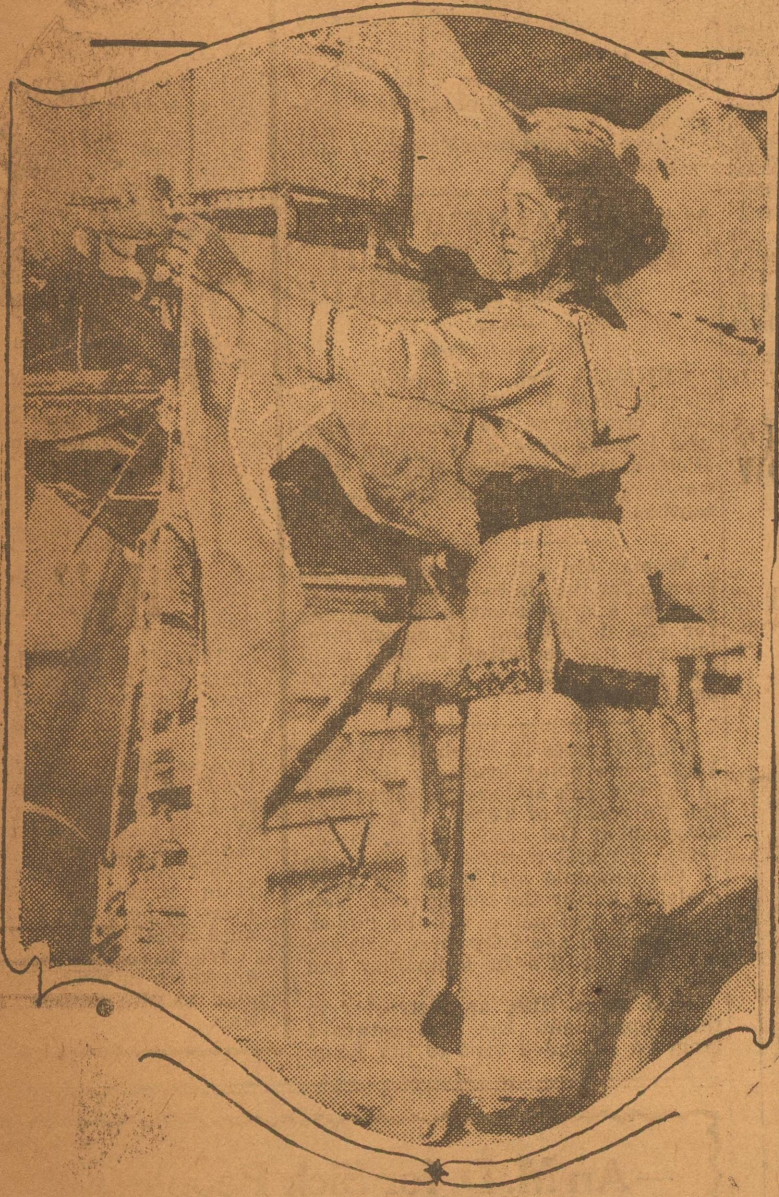

What's become of the old-fashioned bartender who used to set 'em up on the house occasionally?

Remember those hot July days when you used to lift your lip over the big scuttle of suds at the ball game? The most popular song nowadays for the guy with a jug in the cellar is "You're a million miles from nowhere when you're one little mile from home."

Miss Florence King, a noted lawyer and advocate of Community Service, is the only woman who ever won a case before the supreme court of the United States.

NOVELIST'S WIFE HELPS BUILD PLANE IN WHICH SHE HOPES TO CROSS OCEAN

Mrs. Hewlett at work on her plane.

Mrs. Maurice Hewlett, wife of a famous novelist, recently announced her intention of trying to fly across the Atlantic ocean in a plane which she is now personally helping to build. She is the best known woman aviator in England and is the only woman at the head of a big airplane building business.

CLERGYMEN TO WAGE WAR ON DIVORCE EVIL

International News Service. SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Restrictions upon marriage as a means of checking the growing evil of divorce are advocated by Rev. Dr. Rolf P. Crum, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church here. Dr. Crum has taken the lead in a movement which is expected to be followed by rectors throughout the Episcopal diocese of central New York and may spread to even larger scope.

The following "rule of three" has been promulgated by Dr. Crum and hereafter he will not perform the marriage ceremony without:

First—Proof that the parties have known each other for at least three months.

Second—The presence of witnesses personally acquainted with the bride and bridegroom.

Third—A certificate from the family physician of the man, showing him to be physically fit.

This is the first evidence of an effort on the part of the Episcopal clergy in Central New York to fight the divorce evil.

"Both the state and the church have been lax in their requirements here before," declared Dr. Crum, who is a bachelor. "Ministers have been guilty of much marital unhappiness. They have married without question any persons who came to the rectory. I will not have such marriages on my conscience.

"Except in cases of emergency, to legitimize a child or to protect the honor of women, I shall marry only those who comply with the rules I have laid down. With the great amount of venereal disease and the number of cases of tuberculosis and other organic troubles, too great a precaution cannot be taken."

Divorces are in fashion, Dr. Crum says, and the only difference between that procured by "Sarah Moriarty" from "Denis" for hurling a poker at her, and that by "Mrs. C. Clifford Puhigh" from "G. Clifford Puhigh" for his taunting remarks is the amount of alimony.

GIRL IN MINISTRY OF MARINE STIRS PARIS STATESMEN

Mlle. Landry.

Mlle. Landry, daughter of the French minister of marine, has been given a position in the secretariate of the ministry of the marine by her father. SPLINTERS OF SPORT

International News Service. Wrestles for Life. NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the elder of the Zbyszko brothers, who recently arrived America to break into the wrestling game again, says he had to wrestle for his life in Russia during the war. During the Kerensky regime in Russia Zbyszko was scheduled to appear in Petrograd. Alex Aberg, his bitter rival, heard of this and spread a report that Zbyszko was an Austrian spy. On entering the auditorium where he was to wrestle Zbyszko was arrested by Russian soldiers and told that he was to be executed. He begged to be permitted to wrestle Aberg, who the soldiers told him, was his accuser. Finally the soldiers consented to this and Aberg was summoned. Zbyszko was told he would be shot on the spot if he lost the match. After two hours and forty minutes Zbyszko threw Aberg. He then rushed to the corner of the ring and tossed 1,000 rubles among the soldiers. While they scrambled for the money he made his escape and returned to Poland.

Dundee Claims Title. NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Johnny Dundee has laid claim to the lightweight championship. The Italian boxer claims Leonard's title on the ground that Leonard can no longer make 133 pounds. Dundee evidently has overlooked the fact that McAuliffe fought a few times at 133 and then went to 135; that Lavinie weighed 132 when he won the title and later went to 135 when he fought Ernie; that Ernie lost to Gans at 136 pounds; that Ritchie lost to Welsh at 135 and that Welsh lost to Leonard at the same weight.

Casey Is Banker. BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Eddie Casey, of Harvard football fame, will catch forward passes henceforth in a local bank. The points he scores will be chalked up by S. W. Straus & Co., whose local sales force Casey recently joined.

British Are Coming. LONDON, Feb. 27.—Great Britain's great golfing four—Harry Vardon, Ted Ray, George Duncan and Abe Mitchell—have definitely decided to invade the United States next summer. It is the plan of the British stars to return to America with Walter Hagen and other American players who are expected to compete in the English open championship to be played at Deal beginning June 21.

"FURNACE COMETS" LIGHT PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—Intense blast furnace activity, combined with low temperatures, has in recent weeks given to the Pittsburgh district some of the most beautiful "furnace comets" it has ever seen. But they are gradually losing their brilliancy, and with the approach of spring, scientists say, they will vanish until favorable conditions reappear next winter. "Furnace comets" are great broad shafts of yellow light which pierce the black background of a murky sky in most spectacular manner. They flash almost without a moment's notice, and fade almost as quickly, only to reappear as bright, if not brighter than before. Usually there are two of them, at times rising perpendicular, but oftener cutting the sky like the beam from a searchlight. Scientists at the Allegheny Observatory explained the lights by saying that the light from blast furnaces penetrates the atmosphere above the city to a great height, and there being caught by the frost crystals, send back the reflection in the form of broad beams. For years they have passed almost unnoticed until this year, when, because of the continued operation of large numbers of furnaces, they became more frequent and much more beautiful.

One of the negro soldiers who returned from France said that "T. N. T." as a label on this powerful explosive meant "Travel, nigger, travel." Speaking of travelling, it is a pretty good idea to travel on the Thrift-Saving road. War Saving Stamps and Thrift Stamps are the best tickets.

France and Switzerland, the oldest countries of Europe, are among the most backward states from a woman suffrage standpoint.

MORE HITTING WILL PEP UP 1920 BASEBALL.

(By Jack Veiock, International News Sporting Editor.) NEW YORK.—Fandom's plea for more hitting in the major leagues has been heard at last.

The "Powers That Be" in baseball lent their ears to the cry of the fan some time ago and took heed. They have paved the way for freer hitting by curbing the pitchers. The decision of both big leagues to abolish the various freak deliveries by means of which the pitchers kept hitting down was hailed with satisfaction by the fans in general. It was bad news for many of the moundmen, but it will act like a tonic for the good of the game. No more shine ball, no more licorice ball, no more emery or talcum powder ball! And no more spitter after this season. The National league's decision to permit veteran spitball pitchers to continue the use of the moist delivery as long as they could hold out was reversed at Chicago.

Young pitchers who have learned the use of freak deliveries must drop them if they hope to break into the big show. Major league owners will neither buy nor draft them—providing the draft privilege is exercised again.

Pitchers like Eddie Cicotte, Harold Carlson who have gained reputations for the use of the "shiner" or other freaks will have to get along without them next summer. "And why shouldn't they?" asks a veteran baseball man. "Some of the great pitchers of other days may have used freaks," he continued, "but by no means a majority. Cy Young, Matty and Nap Rucker, of the pitching school that has passed along, won fame without tampering with the ball. Walter Johnson and Grover Alexander, two of our greatest hurlers today, do not use freak deliveries. And there are many other good pitchers in the big show now who do not have to depend on them. To my way of thinking the ban of freak deliveries is one of the best things that could have happened to the game." Despite the contention of a number of baseball experts that the so-called freak deliveries, for the most part, are myths more than anything else, it is the belief of the big majority that the ban on freaks will result in increased hitting in both big leagues. It should also encourage pitchers to greater efforts.

The pitcher with control and a knowledge of the batsmen he faces will be just as effective as ever. And he will be in great demand. The American association was the first league to try out the plan of banning freak deliveries and it worked so well that the A. A. magnates stuck with it. What works to the advantage of the game in one league will certainly work in another, and the Association is only a step down from the majors; not a long step at that.

So the crack of the bat will be heard more frequently in the big show next season. The tense, thrilling moment at bat meets ball with a resounding crash and runners go scurrying around the bases will be enjoyed more often by the fans.

Free hitting and plenty of it will never hurt baseball. Batting is, after all, the very backbone of the game. The fan gets a thrill as he witnesses some player make a great running catch or a sensational fielding play; he responds with enthusiasm when a pitcher slips the third strike past a batsman in a pinch; but the lusty hit, whether it starts or ends a rally, is the thing.

The belief in some quarters that pitchers of the old days did not use freaks, save the spitter, is a mistaken one. For proof apply to Bill Phillips, Charleroi, Pa.

Coach Stagg's first assistant who has been obtained by Butler University to head its athletic department.

"Whoa Bill," who used to be a mighty nifty pitcher when he wore the uniform of the Cincinnati Reds years ago, says that the emery ball was used in his day. "I used the emery ball," Phillips confessed to the writer, "several years ago, and a good many pitchers of my time knew about it. Why, the umpires used to frisk me for emery paper nearly every time I went into the box. And there's no doubt that a rough spot on the side of the ball makes it do queer tricks. But don't let 'em tell you the emery ball is new."

Occupation and Business Taxes in 1920 as Approved

A recommendation was made by Tax Collector Ringold to the city commission that the following business and occupation taxes be levied and collected annually. The recommendation was approved by the board of commissioners: Service cars $50, milk wagons $10, water wagons $20, ice wagons $20, laundry wagons $10, produce peddlers, two-horse, $20, produce peddlers, one-horse, $10; foot peddler $5, dray wagons, two-horse, $25; dray wagons, one horse, $15; light trucks $30, trucks over one ton, $35, trucks over two tons $40, trucks over four tons $50, plumbers

JAWN MCGRAW IS FAR AWAY FROM BASEBALL POWWOW

When the big league magnates gathered in Chicago the other day to thrash out the annual glist of problems, revise the rules and try to muzzle Harry Frazee or kick him out of the game, John McGraw, scrappy owner of the Giants, was among those absent. You know, Jawn recently became one of the principal owners of Oriental Park race track at Havana, Cuba, and is busy down there. President Stoneham of the Giants represented the club at Chi-

$25, electricians $25, movie operators $10, gas fitters $10, brokers $25, cigarettes $5. Occupation tax: Merchants $10 to $25, hotels $10 to $25, rooming houses $10 to $25, restaurants $10 to $25, lunch counters $10 to $25, shoe shine stands $10 to $25, dry cleaners $10, tailor shops $10, barber shops $10, confectionery $10, fountain $10.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED SINCE TWENTY YEARS AGO

International News Service. URBANA, Ohio.—How times do change! It is interesting to contrast conditions existing today with those of twenty years ago. A local club woman has just reminded the fellow club members of the fact that twenty years ago: Nobody swatted the fly. Nobody wore wrist watches. Nobody wore white shoes. Most young men had livery bills. Farmers came to town for their mail. The hired girl received $1.50 a week and was happy. The butcher threw in a chunk of liver. The merchant threw in a pair of suspenders with every suit. Nobody listened in on the telephone. There were no sane Fourth of July celebrations.

MAJOR DALRYMPLE THEATENS TO QUIT IF NOT BACKED UP

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Major Dalrymple, federal prohibition enforcement director of the Central States, who led the expedition against the Michigan rum rebellion, announced he would resign if Washington failed to confirm his stand.

Women are acting as assistant observers for the United States weather bureau, and assistant horticulturists for the department of agriculture, but are not permitted to take tests for climatology in its relation to agriculture.

Final tryouts in baseball and basketball are being made by the girls in the women's athletic department of the University of Texas. T's will be awarded at the close of the winter term. Several changes will be made in the schedule and plans for girls' athletics during the spring term. New classes in swimming will be added. One hundred and fifty-three girls are working for T's in swimming and canoeing.

Miss Anna Hiss, an instructor in this department, has just returned from an extended visit to her home in Baltimore, Md. She will direct the activities of the Swimming club organized by her during the fall term. Miss Agnes Doran, who had charge of Miss Hiss's classes during the latter's absence, will retain her place on the faculty.

NEW BUILDING CONSIDERED BY BARNES LEGION

Several matters of importance were taken up at a small but enthusiastic meeting of the Carl Barnes post No. 69, American Legion, at the Baptist Tabernacle Thursday night. The new building for the legion was discussed by Post Commander Leon D. Brooks, Dr. R. H. Hodges of the Chamber of Commerce and several others and a committee to report on site, building and estimated cost was chosen. L. S. Black, John Moore, R. B. Waggonman, Guy Wetzel, Paul C. Yates and Major Brooks.

Beshgetorain & Cobelli, architects, have offered their services free, Mr. Yates reported.

Memorial services for the Ranger men who fell in the world war will be held at the Baptist tabernacle at 3 p. m. Sunday, with addresses by the Rev. William Johnson, pastor of the Baptist church, and the Rev. C. M. Collins, pastor of the Presbyterian church and chaplain of the legion.

War Memorial certificates, presented by the French government to the nearest of kin to the American fallen, will be given out at the services, it is expected.

W. T. Cunningham, secretary of the American Legion free employment bureau, reported that fifty-two men had been placed of sixty-four applicants and that twenty-one applications for membership and four for transfer had been received. The lecture given by Sergeant Major A. J. David of the Australian Imperial forces, netted $27.50 and the legion dance $35.71.

Members of the legion will be guests of the opera house next Wednesday night at the first showing of "A Regular Girl," the first picture Miss Elsie Janis has made since her return from the generous service she gave members of the A. E. F. in her "Bombproof Review."

Miss Eva N. Taylor, Red Cross nurse, was elected to honorary membership and presented with a legion button and card.

NAVY PLANS TO MAKE ITS OWN HAMBURGER

International News Service.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H.—Uncle Sam's sailors have revolted against the mysteries of hamburger steak. Violent protests against the dish as "hamburgled" by private dealers have been so sustained that an order was received at the navy yard abolishing hamburger furnished by private contractors. Hereafter the ingredients of a steak "a la Hamburg" will be purchased "as is," and the chopping will be done by navy cooks and their corps of assistants.

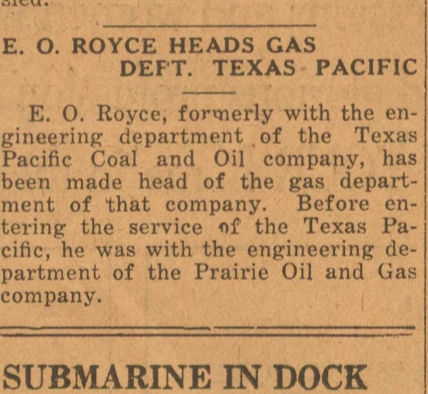

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—While delivering goods for his father, using a pony and a bob-sled, Ralph Plannick, fifteen years old, was instantly killed by the accidental explosion of a shotgun he carried on the sled, at Dorothy, fifteen miles from here.

A half hour later the pony and sled was seen by the father galloping past his store. He telephoned to a neighbor down the road, who stopped the runaway. The body of the boy, with the gun beside him, was lying in the sled.

"MAN OVERBOARD" ON SUBMARINE IN DOCK LANDS ACROBAT FASHION IN CIRCUS NET

Submarine R-13 in drydock at Boston with life net spread underneath. The "Savannah" is in the background.

When the U. S. submarine R-13 and the mother ship "Savannah" were placed in drydock at Boston recently the ships were covered with ice. To minimize the danger to the crew of the sub while at work on her a life net similar to that used in circuses, was stretched under the submarine. A slip on the tiny deck or sloping sides meant only a "high dive" into the net. A three-inch gun was mounted on the sub. The "Savannah" is receiving a complete set of modern equipment.

FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING

Eupora Lady Broke Down and Was Most Miserable, But Cardui Brought Relief and Now She Is Well.

Eupora, Miss.—Mrs. B. E. Tedler, recently spoke as follows: "About five years ago . . . I broke down and took to my bed.
What I suffered no one knew, I was in so much pain from my knees to my waist, cramping and drawing, until I thought I would certainly die. I grew so weak I couldn't eat, and so dizzy and faint and every time I stood on my feet I had the most miserable and heavy feeling in the lower part of my body.
I began on Cardui. It strengthened me after a few doses and diminished the . . . after the first bottle. I commenced to feel better. I regained my appetite . . . I took the Cardui right along . . . I am well and strong. That has been four years. I can do all my work and feel fine."
Cardui has been found to be a valuable tonic for women. It is composed of harmless medicinal ingredients, which act in a mild and gentle way on the system and help to build up the body and nerves.

Have You Given Up?

Are you one of the 85% of men over 65 years old who have given up, and are waiting for the end?
There is no reason for any man or woman to sit in a corner and give up the pleasures of life—the joy of living—the social and business activities that make life worth while.
In middle life and old age the cells of the body are not reconstructed as rapidly as in youth. The cell-salts so abundant in the rich red blood of youth are insufficient in the blood of older people. The heart action slows down, the circulation of the blood slackens, the blood lacks a sufficient supply of vitalizing oxygen and the organs of the body fail to function.
The body in youth possesses more heat than in middle life or old age. That's because there is an abundance of cell-salts in the blood when the body is young—and the blood is rich in oxygen which burns up and eliminates the waste tissues and worn out cells. In youth the quick hot blood urges to action and the body renews itself quickly.
As we grow older we slow down, sit in a sunny corner and give up. We fail to learn the lessons of life and weakly surrender to fear, worry and imaginary diseases that are merely Nature's cry for the natural cell-salts that she must have to keep the body strong and vigorous, and the life-giving oxygen that burns up the worn out cells and vitalizes the blood, making the entire body glow with health and energy.
REOLO has remarkable tonic and reconstructive qualities. It applies to the thin, inactive, impoverished blood the natural cell-salts, iron and oxygen that the body must have to keep well and renew itself.
Try the systematic REOLO Treatment for six weeks and you will be delighted with the steady improvement in your strength, energy and mental activity. The large package of 100 tablets, sufficient for two weeks' treatment only costs $1.

FURS FOR MILADI FROM OVER THE BORDER

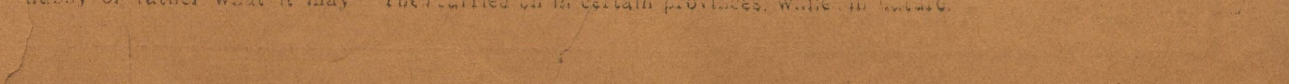

Reynard is in fair way to become a neck piece

fox farming is very profitable. Red fox is in great demand; black fox is worth $75 to $1,000 a skin, and silver foxes worth $10,000 to $15,000 a pair. Foxes have one litter a year of from one to nine pups; three is a good average for a well managed farm. Mink is also raised, the largest farm being at Lac Chaud, Quebec. Raccoon is domesticated in several provinces, and skunk raising has been successfully attempted and on a large scale is very profitable. The skunks are readily tamed and can easily be handled without cutting the scent glands. At the recent fur sales in Vancouver muskrats brought $4; fisher, $9; red fox, $40; prime interior mink, $15; marten, $40, and weasel, $1.75.
For years London, St. Louis and New York have been the selling centers to which Canadian furs have traveled, and St. Louis has been the world's premier fur mart, but Canada has finally come to a realization of the money lost in this way, and in the future will market her own furs. It is expected that Montreal will become one of the most important fur markets of the world. Its auction mart will be conducted by a large company capitalized at $5,000,000 and will be likely to attract buyers from certain provinces while

The growth of population in the United States has killed or driven away most of the animals wont to supply furs for our better halves and for such of our lesser halves as can afford them after the ladies are supplied. The old-time trapper is practically extinct in this country. He has moved his habitat to Canada, where the procuring of fur is still an important industry, but there, too, the fur-bearing animals and the men who hunt them are driven ever northward before the advancing outposts of civilization.
The demand for fur is greater than ever before. Miladi must have her coat, her muff, her neckpiece, her

ROUND TRIPS TO NEW TOWN ON NEW ROAD

That the sale of lots in the new town of Edhobby, twelve miles south of Ranger, next Monday will be active and exciting is the opinion of many people who are preparing to take advantage of the opportunity to be offered for the first time to ride on trains of the new railroad to the opening sale of town lots in one of the new towns on its line. It is planned by the railroad to operate a train between Ranger and Edhobby, making two or three round trips Monday.

"Inquiries for details of the sale of lots at Edhobby are coming to this office in greater numbers than for the previously opened towns prior to the sale," said George McQuaid, manager for the Hamon townsites, "and this interest indicates that the sale will be brisk and that there will be competition to get first choice of lots in the Dallas banker's town."

"The number of lots in Edhobby is less than half the number in Jakehamon or Frankell. This is a factor that will probably stimulate the sale, for the outlook is that the amount of business to be done in Edhobby will be very large owing to rapid and successful development of the adjacent oil territory."

Wild, He Claims, And So He Was; Now He's Sleeping in Cell

The wild man from Borneo himself was captured Thursday evening by Captain Gambill, assisted by several officers. He answers to the name of Buster Kuykendall and has been ranging the city for the past two days terrorizing the residents of certain of the outlying districts.

He is a powerful built man of about 35 years of age, has a heavy beard, bushy eyebrows and an expression like Satan himself. The effect of looking up from your coffee seeing Buster peering in at the window can be easily imagined. Several housewives have had their rolling pins within easy reach should Buster happen to make a friendly call when the master of the house was not at home.

He was as wild and woolly as they make 'em and a gorilla would have nothing on him for savagery when cornered Thursday evening. He proclaimed to the world that he drank blood, chewed nails and slept on cactus and challenged the entire police force to do battle.

But Mr. Kuykendall is now securely confined in the little house behind headquarters and the only casualties are Captain Gambill, who is minus a good sized piece of flesh bitten out of his shoulder, and Sergeant Reynolds, who sustained a wrenched leg when Buster grabbed him through the door of a cell as he was being propelled through by the sergeant's able boot.

RANGER IS UP WITH LEADERS, LUMBER TRADE

Ranger, in bidding for the 1921 convention of the Texas Lumbermen's association, speaks as one of the most important lumber points in the state, and probably from the standpoint of representation, will have as large a number at the 1920 convention, in San Antonio, in April, as any city in the state. Figures as to the relative standing of the cities of the state which lead in the lumber industry are not available at present, but the comparison which will be compiled will show Ranger well to the fore, according to T. L. Owens, representing the W. R. Pickering Lumber company, one of the organizers who worked for the formation of the Lumbermen's club of Ranger, which took form Wednesday night.

Ranger is the center of a lumber trade which serves oil fields in four directions and the extent of this may be estimated when it is considered that 26,000 feet, or a carload of lumber, is necessary for the construction of a single oil derrick.

The sixteen yards of Ranger and the oil companies, with their stocks, have a store of lumber that may be approximated at 25,000,000 feet. One oil company alone, it is estimated, has a stock of 3,000,000 feet.

fessed, and Brown passed out. The officers revived him and without further delay he took them to the hiding place of the money. The $2,482 which the officers recovered is believed to represent all that the robbers took.

Sill P. Goodwin and J. P. Crawley, who early took up the chase, stayed with the pursuit until the bandits were captured.

After leaving Necessity, and losing the automobile posse by turning from the main road and taking down a lane which quickly bogged down the car, the pair vanished into a thicket. Two miles north of town they were again seen by their pursuers and fired upon.

They took to the brush again south of Park's camp and, according to the men who followed them, crossed and recrossed the railroad dump in an effort to throw the posse off their trail.

Stop to Rest Horses. At noon they crossed the Eastland-Breckenridge road, eight miles south of Breckenridge, and riding through a pasture far from the settlement, they circled west of the Eastland road and rested their horses for an hour in a heavy grove of liveoaks, six miles southwest of Breckenridge.

From there they took a southerly course for two or three miles, doubling back on their tracks, recrossing the Eastland road at the foot of "Five Mile hill." They stayed in the thicket until after sunset.

Here they were seen by the posse led by Deputy Sheriff Bales, and a dozen shots were fired. They escaped and turned through the corn field, following the grade to Breckenridge. A message of the fight had reached the town and when the lone bandit, leading his partner's horse, arrived at the bridge he found the posse waiting for him.

WOMEN TO DO WOOLING, SAYS PSYCHOLOGIST

International News Service.
LONDON—Woman as the wooper, using methods that will shock present false standards in the British Isles, is foreseen as a logical, evolutionary development by Dr. Alfred T. Schofield, prominent London physician and psychologist.

"Once the British woman's economic position is assured," Dr. Schofield declared, "she will probably select her mate in a way that would today be considered positively indecent, but, seeing she is the mother of the resulting race, it seems only right that she should do so."

Dr. Schofield had in mind the prevailing double standard of morality, accepted generally like tea drinking or any other custom, which gives the man unusual liberties. This has long prevailed because of the million or more "surplus" women, and because women have been kept down economically and in an educational sense.

But conditions are rapidly changing, Dr. Schofield points out. The woman of fifty years ago, with her anemic figure and narrow waist line, has evolved, owing to changing standards in social life and in industry, into a type approximating men physically. Emancipation of women from Victorian customs and invention of machinery, eliminating man-muscle, has acted as a great leveller of the sexes.

"Setting aside exception," said Dr. Schofield, "nothing is more marvelous and delightful than the quiet, decent, self-respecting dignity of the modern, latch-key young woman, living in her own rooms in London."

Among differences still to be noted between British men and women, Dr. Schofield emphasizes the following:

1. Englishmen are more scrupulous as to means (playing the game) and women as to ends.
2. Men possess intuition and instinct, but do not trust it or use it as much as women, although the results are often more correct.
3. Woman's false financial position has affected her psychology, making her retain many of the characteristics peculiar to the servile state.

Comparing the modern with the Victorian woman, Dr. Schofield said: "The gentle submission and down-cast eye was not easy to find among women nowadays, but they are replaced by the candid and clear look of emancipation and the upright figure of the free-born."

Which recalls that in a recent lawsuit the legal opinion was expressed that a wife is a quasi- chattel and does not have the rights equal to those of a husband.

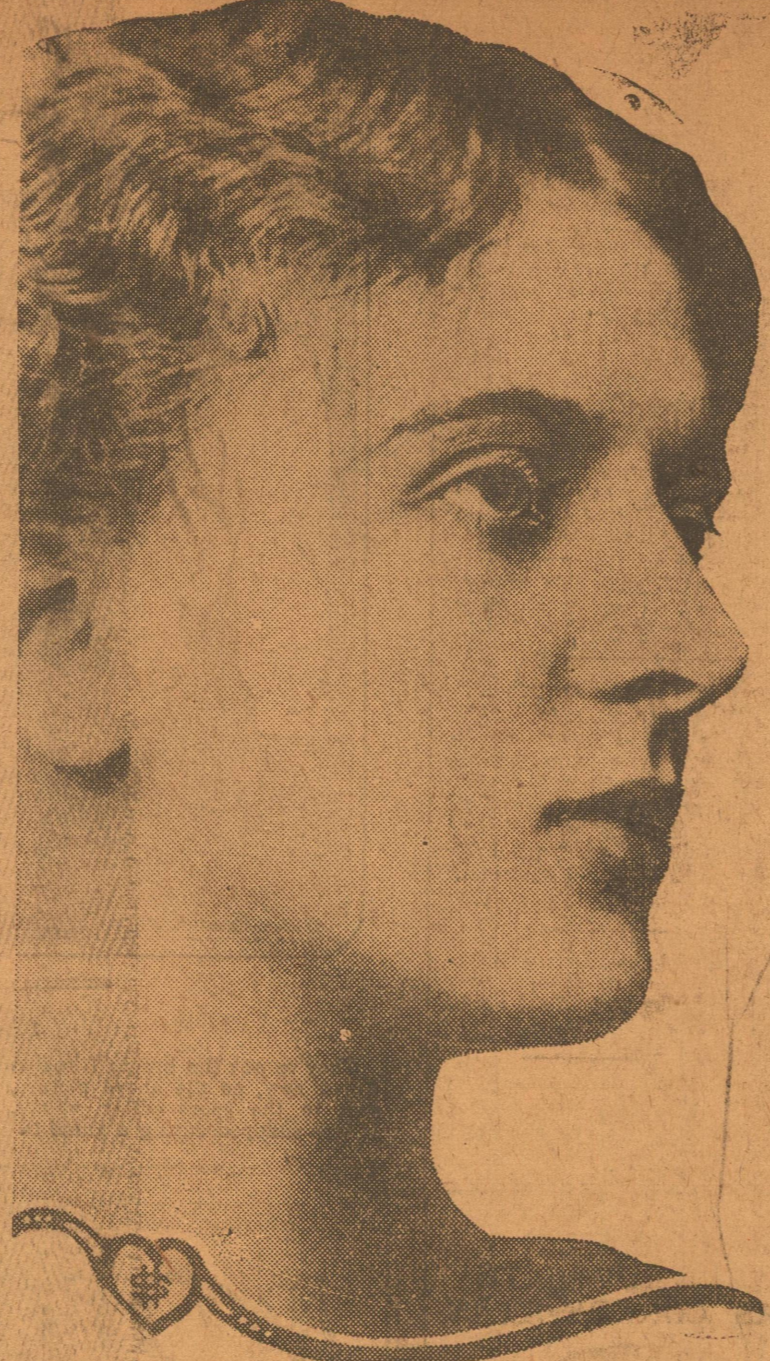

GAIETY RULES WITH TERROR IN OLD DUBLIN

(By a Staff Correspondent of the International News Service and London Daily Express.)

DUBLIN.—Never has Ireland been so prosperous and, at the same time, never has she been so dissatisfied. Cowardly assassins stalk the streets, the police dare not traverse their routes save in squads of not fewer than four, gangs of highway robbers commit offenses they like, strikers of various trades abound—in a word, Dublin is a city given over to terror, and, by the strangest of contrasts, to enjoyment.

Never has Dublin been so spontaneously gay. Her people are joyous. At the leading hotels the most vivacious of dances are held nightly with women of beauty that only the Irish capital can produce, and attired in costumes so daring and expensive

MORGAN FAMILY THREATENS TO DISOWN YOUTH WHO WEDS TWICE-MARRIED BEAUTY

Mrs. Lawrens Hamilton.

"Why marry if you can't choose your own wife?" is the reply Lawrens Morgan Hamilton gives to the announcement that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton, threaten to disown him unless he gives up his bride, formerly Mrs. Gertrude Warren. Young Hamilton is the grandson of the late J. P. Morgan and in line for some of the family fortune. The new Mrs. Hamilton had been married twice before. She won a beauty contest in St. Louis several years ago. She is thirty-four. Hamilton is twenty.

that London seems like a shabby sister to this bright jewel of the Green Isle. The hotels are full of the wealthy farmers, cattle raisers, and tradesmen from the country. Seats at the theatres are impossible to obtain for days ahead—and as for picture shows, the queues are reminiscent of a successful London pantomime.

As for traditional hospitality, Dublin is more than outdoing herself. The stranger within her gates needs both fortitude and rectitude not to be overwhelmed by it. It does not limit itself to matters of food and drink, but embraces the whole gamut of the word hospitality. Here is a typical example of what happens daily at a leading coffee room.

A correspondent sitting there with an intense Unionist and bitter Ulster Orangeman asked him what the Sinn Feiners really wanted or hoped to obtain.

"Just a moment," said the Orangeman. "There is my friend Blank, one of the leading Sinn Feiners. I will bring him over, introduce you, and you can learn for yourself."

The Sinn Feiner was brought over, introduced, and he and the Orangeman presented their respective views in the most friendly manner, without a tinge of acrimony, calling each other by their Christian names, and, above all, trying out of their abundant hospitality to furnish the correspondent with information.

Yet those two would tear at each other's throats on a political platform and cheerfully plant ten-foot pikes in each other's breasts at the call of their respective armies. Such incidents are part of the regular surprises by which a stranger is intrigued in Ireland.

Recently I attended a luncheon of forty. They included every diverse element in Ireland. There were Englishmen, Scotsmen, Dublin Castle officials, Sinn Feiners, Roman Catholics, fervent Presbyterians—every one protesting his intense love for Ireland. They were all the dearest official. "He is too reckless. They will surely get him."

Yet the official himself, whom everybody in Dublin knows to be in the most imminent danger, rides and walks through the streets of the town absolutely unarmed and unprotected. It is a wonderful country, where they take life easy—and often.

China Grateful to America for Shantung Attitude

By Associated Press.
PEKIN, Feb. 26.—Gratitude to America for the attitude of the United States congress on the Shantung question was expressed by Chinese statesmen in addresses welcoming Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, here. Premier Chin Yun-feng, who gave a dinner in honor of Admiral Gleaves, said:

"The friendly relations which have always existed between America and China, and especially the recent attitude of your nation toward the peace settlement in Europe cannot but command the gratitude and admiration of our people."

"We believe that our country has in late years made some progress as a republic; but we realize that from you, a republic of riper experience, we may learn many profitable lessons. We hope to secure from you constant advice and counsel so that we may co-operate to maintain the permanent peace of the Pacific. This is the sincere wish of the Chinese people."

Marshal Tsen Chi-jui, former premier of the Chinese cabinet and present head of the national defense board, said:

"I cannot refrain from mentioning the admirable attitude of the American people toward the far eastern question in the matter of the peace."

"It seems that public opinion in America is being guided much more by ideals than by interests. Your diplomacy is endeavoring not merely to prevent war today but to maintain peace forever. You set a fine example for the people of your sister republic who will look to you for co-operation and counsel when the Pacific question comes to be settled."

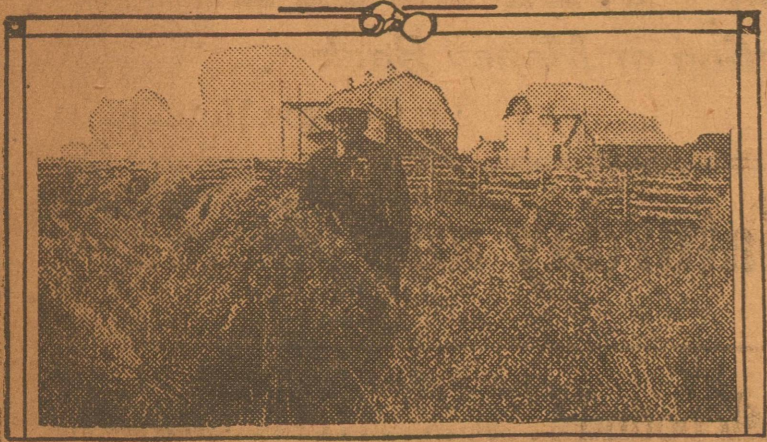

FLOODS IN FRANCE AFTER-EFFECT OF WAR

International News Service.

PARIS.—One of the most curious and at the same time disastrous consequences of the war in France is the unusual frequency and extent of floods in all rivers passing through the shelled areas. Recent high water in the Seine and Marne rivers threatened a repetition of the disastrous Paris floods of 1910 and swamped scores of villages in the Marne valley, destroying millions of dollars worth of property.

The official explanation is that the Marne now flows through a stretch of war-stricken country denuded of all trees and heavy undergrowth. Trees and vegetation absorb much of the rainfall, which in their absence flows directly down the watersheds.

CHINOOK-WARMED VALLEYS YIELD CABBAGES WEIGHING 25 POUNDS

Oats in Nechako Valley

Garden Variety Size in British Columbia

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Cabbages weighing twenty-five pounds each, that a six-year-old child can hide behind, wheat over a man's head and forty-five bushels to the acre, oats up to a horse's shoulders—these are some of the products of the rich farming lands warmed by chinook winds in British Columbia.

Settlers in British Columbia have a variety of land to choose from. Of the 250,000,000 acres in the province, 92,000,000 are forest lands, and of this area 33,000,000 acres carry merchantable timber. Once cleared, much of this land is as rich agriculturally as any in Canada. The clearing of the land is a source of great profit and numerous saw-mills furnish a convenient market. The timber industry of the province is being rapidly developed. Devastated Europe is clamoring for all the timber America can supply and the Panama canal opens to British Columbia a direct sea route for an immense lumber trade.

There are, also, many valleys and rolling lands along the rivers and watercourses whose soil is declared, by experts, to be as rich as any on the continent. Two districts already have been surveyed by the government and laid out for settlement. One comprises 35,000 acres in the Nechako valley around Vanderhoof, and the other, 15,000 acres in Bulkley valley. While the lands are rated as good for grain as those of the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, British Columbia farmers have gone in for mixed farming and find it pays better in the long run than to stake all their year's prospects on a single crop of wheat.

When it comes to news in general of the world and West Texas and its fast-growing city in particular, the Times tells 'em about it.

TRAINMEN ON NEW HAVEN ROAD SIGHT POLAR BEARS

MARSHFIELD, Mass.—Two huge polar bears frolicking on an ice floe—Frank Parker, old-time New Haven engineer, driving his locomotive across Marshfield bridge over the North river in a blizzard, grasped the emergency throttle, rubbed his eye and called the attention of his fireman, John Hurley, to the strange sight.
The grinding of the brakes apparently reached the ears of the sporty polar inhabitants; they did a graceful "shimmy" on the floe, forepart in the air, and then performed an Annette Kellermann, disappearing from view.
Parker and his fireman are well known on the South Shore line of the New Haven and stoutly assert that they had not been treated to any portion of Cape hard cider, nor even a warming draught of Jamaica ginger.

Gemmallaro wired back that a check for the fine and costs would be sent immediately.
He explained that his company had bought the vinegar in Pennsylvania. He learned only recently, he said, that "what is vinegar in Pennsylvania is not vinegar in Ohio."

TOURISTS FIND CROWDED HOTELS IN LONDON, TOO

By Associated Press
LONDON, Feb. 26—Americans who contemplate coming to England this spring or summer, and Londoners expect there will be thousands of them should be definitely assured before leaving that hotel accommodations have been arranged, say the hotel managers. Otherwise it is probable that they may be unable to find a place to stay, particularly in London.
It will be difficult for London to handle a great influx of people this summer, say the managers, and they expect many disappointments among Americans who even attempt to arrange accommodations some time ahead of arrival. The better hotels of the city can not find room for more than 4,000 at one time. They are full and many people have engaged rooms for months ahead.
Some Englishmen who have just returned from the United States estimate that 1,000,000 Americans will attempt to see England en route to the battle fields of France this summer. Some conservative observers, however, place the number far below that.

PORK POLITICS
VOTERS' FAULT,
FIRST LESSON

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Voters as well as legislators are to blame for pork barrel politics, said Wood Park, Boston, national head of the League of Women Voters, told a session of the political education school for women, here today.
"Until voters interest themselves in what is being done in Washington it is futile and unfair to expect members of congress to heed needed changes," she said.
"The sad part is that in many constituencies final responsibility with constituents or for personal or local benefits. It is hard for him to realize that the strenuous efforts of lobbyists do not represent the wishes of all his constituents. Final responsibility with this state of affairs lies with the voters and they should realize it."
Mrs. Park then outlined the way in which the members of the congress are elected, the differences in organization between senate and house, the duties of the floor leaders, the whips, and the chief committees, and the steps that have to be taken before a measure can become a law. She gave brief sketches of leading members of the two branches of congress and described typical scenes in illustration of the procedure of house and senate.

Methods of procedure which ought to be changed were grouped as: (1) those wasteful of time; (2) those wasteful of money; (3) those wasteful of public interests, i. e. those serving personal or local ends instead of national needs.
Among the practices wasteful of time, Mrs. Park cited the method of roll call in the house and the practically unlimited debate in the senate. Among those wasteful of money she included the careless use of supplies, the abuse of the franking system, and most of all, the haphazard system of making appropriations and auditing accounts.
"On the house side," she said, "a thorough-going program of reform was outlined last year by a Massachusetts member, Hon. Alvan T. Fuller. It included (1) a budget system; (2) the elimination of useless committees; (3) the selection by each committee of its own chairman; (4) putting of all clerks on public payroll; (5) doing away with spoils and perquisites; (6) restriction of franking; (7) complete publicity; (8) electrical voting; (9) automatic reporting of all committee business; (10) confining business of congress to matters that are national in scope."

"One of these suggestions, the putting of the clerks upon the public payroll, has already become law, and the adoption of the budget system has lately been voted by the house."
U. S. DEPT. STORES COMBINE TO BUY BRITISH GOODS
Establishes Agency in London to Buy Up British Household and Cloth Goods.
International News Service.
LONDON.—American department stores have combined to purchase through one agency British-made household goods and cloth goods, of which there is said to be a yawning scarcity in the United States.
A. E. Robbins, an Englishman and former manager of a London bank, has been named manager of the largest buying agency of this character ever established, the American concerns represented having $300,000,000 capital.
His task is to find suitable supplies of woollens, linens, hosiery, porcelain, toilet-ware, toys and fancy goods to the American combine's eighteen stores in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco and other cities.
"It will be my business to find the best class of English goods that American firms want," said Mr. Robbins. The organization will enable an American buyer, when he arrives here, to go directly to the very thing he requires. We will pay cash for delivery at dock."

American buyers recently failed in their efforts to connect with houses which could fill a half-million-dollar linen order or supply $50,000 worth of socks. The new organization is to smooth out such difficulties.
Boots, brushes, table cutlery and glassware are said to be in urgent demand. American houses, it is stated, are warning their customers to expect high prices in this leap year.
HOUSE OF DAVID HAS ADOPTED JAZZ MUSIC
BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—The House of David, a religious colony here, has turned to jazz. For several weeks the colony's band has been perfecting itself in syncopations and the art of jazz. The organization has signed up for a tour of the Orpheum circuit.
SUES FOR LOSS OF WIFE.
BIG RAPIDS.—Charles Kutchinski has begun suit against the City of Big Rapids for $10,000 for the loss of his wife on June 23, 1919. Mrs. Kutchinski was drowned in a race-way when an automobile went over an embankment. Six of her eighteen children were in the car with her, but were rescued.

CIGAR TYPES CONSTITUTE
ONE-SIXTH OF TOBACCO CROP
International News Service.
WASHINGTON.—Of the entire tobacco crop of 1,389,000,000 pounds in 1919, the cigar types constituted about one-sixth, and the chewing, snuff and export types most of the remainder, according to the tobacco experts in the department of agriculture. The cigar types are heavy products per acre, the average for 1919 being 1,265 pounds, while the other types had an average of 679 pounds.
Before 1919 the average farm price of the cigar types of tobacco was always above that of the other types, as a whole, but in that year the extraordinary European demand for extra other than the cigar classes and the immensely increased use of tobacco other than the cigar classes raised farm price of the composite chewing, smoking and export types to 41.3 cents on December, or greatly above the price of 21.9 cents for cigar tobacco. Indeed, the latter class of tobacco had a lower price than in either 1918 or 1917, not because of increase of production, but because of weaker demand. The cigar has been overtaken and passed by the cigarette.

CARRIES OFF BRIDE IN PLANE AFTER QUICK ROMANCE
International News Service.
CHICAGO—"He flew right in and married, then he flew right out again."
Such was the brief culmination of the romance of Miss Grayce Tishman, a Chicago girl, and Farr Nutter, pilot of a Chicago-Cleveland air mail plane. Arriving one night from Cleveland, Nutter hurriedly got a preacher, married Miss Tishman, and at dawn took the air for Cleveland again.
"I wish we could have an aerial honeymoon, but regulations won't permit it," he said.
"ETHER HIGHBALL" POPULAR IN CHICAGO STOCKYARDS
International News Service.
CHICAGO—Federal operatives are investigating the "ether highball," a strange new drink mysteriously circulated and highly popular among laborers in the stockyards district here. One whiff of it is enough to cause the blind staggerer, while a drink will cause the imbibor to climb a tree and chatter like a chimpanzee, it is reported. One quaffer ran into his house, seized the family dinner and fed it to the alley cats.
The drink smells strongly of ether, but its general composition is a mystery.

A NEW RAILROAD TOWN

On the Main Line of the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth Railroad

WILL BE OPENED MONDAY MARCH 1

In the center of oil production in the northern extension of the Hog Creek Oil Field and entirely surrounded by drilling oil wells.

EDHOBBY

Promises to become the center of a new and prolific oil pool. It is in the middle of a territory that is now employing thousands of men and teams and drilling more wells than any other like territory in the Texas fields. Edhobby is twelve miles south of Ranger and eight miles north of Jakehamon. It is the first town on the line of the Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth Railroad to be served with trains.

Edhobby is the Oil Fields' Best Investment Opportunity

The townsite of Edhobby was selected by Jake L. Hamon, who, with Frank Kell, is building the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth Railroad, as the best possible site for a center of the oil field business—of the hauling and industries incident and necessary to a great oil field—in view of the trend of production and the structural characteristics of the country. Early favorable reports by geologists on the territory adjacent to Edhobby have been amply proven by tests that have recently been drilled, and the town site is much nearer the present heaviest production in the southeastern part of Eastland county than any other railroad town.
Edhobby is the best place for profitable investment in town property now open to the people of this marvelously profitable oil region. It is an opportunity for business and industrial activity such as is seldom found by the most sapient seeker after such infrequent conditions where a dollar multiplies in increased values over night and business comes clamoring to yield profits beyond the dreams of the men in settled and sedate communities. The investor in this new rail-road town in the Eastland county oil fields stands to make money according to the best records of successful city investments—and many of the world's largest fortunes have been made from investments in city real estate and its increase in values.
Nobody who has seen the advance in values and observed the prosperity of business in the older oil field towns of Texas, where men have gone into business with small capital and retired with fortunes in less than two years, will fail to see the opportunity that is presented in the new railroad town of Edhobby that has been placed and designed to afford every facility for reaping profits of many hundreds per cent on any sized investment in lots or in business enterprises. Edhobby is now the railroad center for a great oil field. It is a present opportunity of superlative merit that offers immediate action and continuing profits—for its setting is an enduring oil field and is attracting the millions of the world and producing millions of profits. It is the clearing house and trade center for an empire of wealth.
Plats of Edhobby will be ready at the townsite on the day of the opening. They will bear the printed prices of all of the lots, and these prices are fixed. The sale of lots will begin March 1 and will continue from day to day at the office of Hamon & Kell on the townsite. Thirty per cent of the purchase price of the lots is payable at the time of sale. The remainder is payable in seven equal monthly payments.

A Financier's Opinion
Edwin Hobby, vice-president and Cashier of the Security National Bank of Dallas, one of the largest banks in Texas, says:
"I believe the new town of Edhobby will be a greater town than Ranger. It is situated in every way to make a great oil fields center. The territory on all sides of the town promises to become a great oil pool. Proven territory adjacent to the townsite is ample to make it a metropolis of the fields. It enjoys the facilities of the new railroad that is being built to serve the oil fields, and is the first town on the new railroad to receive the benefits of that transportation. I have seen many new towns, not a few of them have become great centers, but I cannot gaze upon the development work now under way in the Edhobby territory and see the results of it in oil being produced without being convinced that here is the best new town that has ever had its start under the most favorable conditions of a great wealth-producing environment. It will be the supply and industrial center for one of the greatest oil fields in the world."

THE DUTY OF SUFFRAGE.

The right of the ballot, exercised as an expression of the individual's power in a form of government which is decentralized in its methods of election, carries with it, at times, more than privilege. In state and national campaigns it may seem, at times, to be the expression of a personal difference, or an endorsement of platform, or against another platform.

In other matters, the ballot appears in a different light. It is a duty of greater moment than the privilege of selection of a candidate.

In the school bond election, held Friday at the F. & M. bank, there is no doubt as to the passage of the measure authorizing $200,000 in bonds to complete the erection of buildings. Little or no opposition is evidenced to a movement so evidently essential.

It is a question, purely of a true expression of the backing the community will give, in its vote, to the bonds. Several hundred ballots, cast by those who are property owners and as such qualified to vote on bonds, will give the bonds the endorsement which will make them readily saleable.

It is the voter's opportunity to express, by ballot, his belief in his home city.

A DEMOCRATIZED STANDARD OIL.

(St. Louis Post Dispatch.)

An increased wage scale, with shorter working hours, is to become effective March 1 at the Standard Oil Co.'s refinery at Wood River, Ill., and in several other of its plants. The agreement was reached in each instance by what is called the joint committee plan. As the name implies such committees are made up of representatives of the employees and the company. These committees are not empowered to pass finally upon questions. Their authority is limited to making recommendations to the company, which reserves the right to reject or accept. It is a matter of record, however, that since the plan was adopted last June the company has not exercised its right of veto but has approved all committee recommendations.

It is argued that the success of the plan proves the practicability of democracy in industry. Before acknowledging that claim, conservative persons will want to see what happens when a committee's findings are rejected. The plan, it may be held, must survive that test before its title is perfected. On the contrary, it may be argued that the uninterrupted record of approval to the committee's recommendations is pretty good proof that the requests, in the company's judgment, have been reasonable and fair.

It may occasion more or less general surprise, too, that the Standard Oil Co. should lead the way in the practical democratization of industry. That corporation is so imperial in its resources and extent of power, so near to an industrial monster in popular conception, that it might be presumed to be the last instead of the first to abandon the old order. Such a premise were faulty. Whatever may be said of the Standard Oil, its pre-eminence efficiency has never been questioned. Age has not withered nor custom staled its infinite capacity. New times, new manners. So far from reversing itself, in keeping with the procession, in even setting the pace, Standard Oil, in adopting the latest methods for adjusting industrial disputes, is running true to form.

SOLDIERS IN WHITE.

Fort Sheridan (Ill.) Recall.

"Army Nurse day!" We tell the world it is the best idea that has sprouted in the fertile state of Iowa in many a moon.

The popular idea of the army nurse wandering around the battlefield among bursting shells is, of course, erroneous. But owing to the long range of modern artillery and the frequent air raids by boches who delighted in slaughtering women and wounded men, these heroines of the war were frequently under fire, frequently wounded, and some few were actually "killed in action."

And with that only part of the story is told. Official records of the nurse corps tell stories of hardship endured in the cause of humanity, which rival those of the doughboys in the firing line. Available buildings were given to the wounded; the nurses often lived in pitched tents in muddy fields. They were not "clock watchers," often they worked seventy-two hours at a stretch. Some of these overseas nurses are at Fort Sheridan now recovering from illness brought on by the hardships and strain of their overseas service.

Not were those nurses who remained in "the states" much less heroic. In the terrible days of the influenza epidemic they went without hesitation into the wards filled with men whose throats were as poisonous as any gas divided by the breath of the wind. At home or abroad, the "A. N. C." special heroism and devotion.

Had the mothers of the men and boys who went overseas, been in the hospital, they could not have cared for them as well, for they would have lacked the scientific training necessary to carry on the battle between life and death.

The nurses at Fort Sheridan have asked that we refrain from calling them "angels" or "roses of No Man's Land." They say they are just women, and want no romantic titles. They do not like to be called "soldiers in white," and that appellation is most fitting. We can't pay them a much higher compliment, for if one is all that is implied in the term "soldier," there isn't much left to achieve in this earth. It implies chivalry, dependability, and splendid character.

So why not pay a small tribute to these women who "soldiered" side by side with their brothers in khaki; who shared and alleviated their hardships? It is not as though the business men of the country were asked to give up a day in the middle of the week to do them honor. Sunday would not be missed from the productive days of the week. And it will be eminently proper that one Sabbath day in the year be given over to honoring the army nurse corps and the veteran women of which it is composed.

A WIFE IS A LIABILITY. NOT AN ASSET, SAYS JUDGE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A wife, according to Judge Fleming, is a liability, not an asset. The legal opinion came in the South Municipal court here a few days ago when the judge undertook to take the assessment of the personal property of Roy Mason, a negro, who had refused to give a valuation to a deputy city assessor.

"Judge," the negro began, "I've got a $7 watch, a $100 Victrola and a wife."

"A wife is not an asset," the Court interrupted.

"Say, Judge, continued the negro, 'you all don't know mah wife.'"

J. D. Staples, who was formerly located in Ranger, returned Tuesday for a brief visit. He stated that the building operations now under construction and these finished were a source of surprise to him. Mr. Staples was formerly interested in several oil companies in the Ranger district.

FAMILY OF FIVE CAN LIVE ON $150 MONTHLY, SHE SAYS

Mrs. J. L. Schoenberger.

Is it possible for a man to marry and raise a family on $150 or less a month? This question was asked to the people of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. Here is the woman who answered it and won a fifty-dollar prize. "Marry on $150 a month, why my husband and I have been raising three boys, buying a house and saving on that amount," asserts Mrs. J. L. Schoenberger of Cincinnati, O.

BRILLIANT MINISTER VICTIM OF INFLUENZA

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher and Lecturer, Well Known on Three Continents, Was Ordered to Give up Work

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher, Lecturer and Missionary.

Reverend Dudley B. Ashford is an extraordinary man. Although still on the sunny side of forty, he has crowded more service to humanity into a few years than most men accomplish in a lifetime.

Soon after his graduation from Harley College, London, England, he was ordained minister at the famous New Court Congregational church, London. A short time thereafter he was selected to present the cause of Congo Reform and African Missions before the people of Norway and toured that land with such success that he was greeted by enormous crowds at every meeting.

In 1908, under the auspices of the Colonial Missionary Society, he was sent to New Zealand and for three years labored as a missionary among the Maoris, where his experiences were novel and thrilling.

In 1916 he returned to England and served for three years at Wood Street Congregational church, Cardiff, South Wales, the biggest Congregational church in the British Empire. It was while here that he fell one of the early victims of the great 1918 flu epidemic, an attack from which he had not fully recovered when he accepted a call to the Queen's Road Congregational church, St. John's, Newfoundland, where his forceful preaching soon attracted record congregations.

The strain of this work upon his undermined constitution proved too severe and he suffered a nervous breakdown, from which now, however, he has completely recovered. Moved by a desire to serve his fellow men, he has recently written a letter that tells how he was restored to health and strength.

Moved by Gratitude.

This letter, addressed to the Tanlac Co., Atlanta, Ga., is an eloquent expression of gratitude and is as follows:

"Gentlemen: Your medicine, known as 'Tanlac' has been such an estimable blessing to me, that I feel constrained to write and tell you so. In October, 1918, while a minister of the Wood Street Congregational church, Cardiff, South Wales, I had a severe attack of the Spanish influenza, from the effects of which I never fully recovered. I lost twenty-eight pounds in weight and was unable to recover my usual energy.

"Then, in February, 1919, I became the minister of the Queen's Road Congregational church at St. John's, Newfoundland. My ministry was attended with great success, but the strain proved too great for me and I had a serious breakdown. My nerves seemed to go all to pieces and my digestion became so deranged that I could eat scarcely anything. My heart gave me a lot of trouble; it was an effort to walk upstairs and at night I used to lie awake in continual dread lest my heart should stop beating altogether. "Then, as a result of exposure one winter's night in a small boat, while in the execution of my duties, I was seized with violent pains in the right shoulder and arm, which nearly drove me to distraction. I consulted doctors and specialists and underwent massage and electrical treatment without getting much relief. I was ordered to give up all preaching and public work for, at least, three months, and I began to fear that my health was permanently affected.

He Had Been Skeptical.

"I had always been rather skeptical of the testimonials concerning the merits of any medicine, but one day I read the statement of a man whose symptoms seemed to be identical with my own, and his praise of Tanlac rang so true that I decided to give it a trial myself. I bought a bottle and its effect was almost immediate. My nervous condition began to disappear and I began to get sleep at night. My appetite so increased that I could scarcely satisfy it and I found myself putting on weight rapidly. By the time I had taken the fourth bottle, the pains in my arm and shoulder had disappeared and I was feeling better today than for a long time past.

"I feel that I should be guilty of base ingratitude if I did not write and tell you what a boon Tanlac has been to me, and I give you this unsolicited testimonial to use as you may think best, in the hope that others may find in your wonderful medicine the means to restored health and strength."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by the Ranger Drug Co.

KILLED WIFE AS HE SLEPT, SLAYER SAYS

International News Service.
PONTIAC, Mich., Feb. 27.—"My wife kissed me and went to sleep on my arm. The next thing I remember I was walking on the railroad tracks and knew that I had killed her."
This is the amazing statement made to the police by C. L. Garmon, twenty-three, who is in jail here charged with the murder of his wife, who was found slain in her bed in her home in Pontiac. The circumstances surrounding the crime are the most curious that have confronted the authorities here in years.
Garmon, who told the officers that he worshipped his wife, asserted that he suffered a loss of memory, during which time he could remember nothing that took place.
He regained his memory, he said, and found himself fully dressed walking from his home down the railroad tracks toward the city. He gave himself up to the first policeman he met and at his request both returned to the home, where they found the body of the murdered woman. Her head crushed and a blood-stained axe standing beside the bed. Indications were that the woman had given no struggle.
"I loved my wife," Garmon told the officers. "She was a good woman very considerate and dutiful. We had no trouble. She was frivolously married and had a hard time and I tried to make up to her for her unhappiness. We had no quarrels."
Great beads of perspiration poured down Garmon's face as he told his story. He appeared to be under a great strain. As a result of a train wreck two years ago, one arm, part of a foot are lost and he has since been forced to wear a silver plate in his skull to cover a fracture. He told the officers that of late his head bothered him a great deal and he did not sleep well at night.
The couple spent the afternoon before the murder shopping and in the evening attended a dance.

"We had a good time," said Garmon, "and after we returned home we spent some time making plans for the summer. My wife kissed me and went to sleep on my arm. The next thing I remember I was walking on the railroad tracks and knew that I had killed her."
Coroner Farmer took charge of the body and decided to hold no inquest. H. Wooten, an uncle of Mrs. Garmon, lived in the same house with them. She had no parents, but a son by her former marriage survives.
According to Garmon, the couple were married four months ago. He came here to work for the Dupont engineering company. He is being held pending a decision as to whether to call a sanity commission.

The terrible inroads made by war upon the men in France leave that country at the present time with only one man to every fifteen women.
There are about 15,000,000 women in the United States who are about to assume the active duties of citizenship this fall.

"WHISTLING WELL" A PUZZLE TO GEOLOGISTS

International News Service.
MEADE, Kan.—Geologists are unable to explain the mysterious actions of what is known as the "whistling well" recently drilled on the farm of Fred Dahm, ten miles east of here.
During fair weather the air is drawn down a hole, which is 150 feet deep, with sufficient suction to cause a whistling sound, while prior to a storm the air current is reversed and rushes from the well.
The well has come to be known as "Dahm's natural barometer."

DENATURED ALCOHOL IS POPULAR DRINK AT OLEAN

OLEAN, N. Y.—Denatured alcohol has become the popular drink here during the past few days. Empty bottles with denatured alcohol labels are lying in all parts of the city. In most cases, the poison is diluted with soft drinks.
Chief of Police Dempsey issued a warning against this practice, which physicians declare has already resulted several cases of poisoning, but as yet without fatality.

LONDON FEARS INVASION OF SKYSCRAPERS

BY FLOYD MACGRIFF,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

LONDON—London, with its two-storyed sprawliness having bulged over into the premises of some five counties, is considering skyscrapers. Garden cities as a necklace about ponderous London are viewed by town planners as a poor solution of how to make an over crowded city livable.

Hence the skyscraper. Thousands of Englishmen who got their first glimpse of America during the war, returned without malicious feeling against New York's tallest buildings. The uncontaminated native sons still regard such home-returning Britishers as unregenerates. And they roundly chide the sky-scraper enthusiasts as victims of "Yankee foolishness."

But the skyscraper idea as the solution of London's transportation and space problems is slowly catching on. Ideas like that simply cannot be allowed to start out in high.

Sir Martin Conway is reported in the press as having "startled" people by suggesting skyscraper flats. He avers that perhaps a tall building, sanitary in every respect, would be a blessing to the two-storyed shacks of the East End, which are among the world's loveliest city's worst tenements. This architect sees nothing wrong in tearing down a quarter square mile of tenements and putting up a couple of family skyscrapers, using the "saved" ground as parks. He even lauds New York's skyscrapers.

The Manchester Guardian remarks that Sir Martin's critics don't hesitate to suggest that only his pre-eminence as a mountaineer can account for his strange wish to see British city landscapes dominated by such architectural peaks. It argues that no building should be taller than the street is wide.

The Daily Mirror sees the practicality of and good points in Conway's suggestion, asserting it is high time to prevent London from eating farther into the once rural surroundings.

"In view of the transport problem it is very likely that we shall come to communal dwellings, especially as American influences are getting strong over our building," says the Mirror, which expresses the devout hope that Europe may soon reach the end of its "swarming period."

CUBISTS SHOW WEIRD WORKS AT OWN SALON

BY NEWTON C. PARKE,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

PARIS—The cubists have come back just about the time everybody thought they had been knocked dead and cold. They have made their reappearance in the exposition just opened by the Independents, the group of artists whose works were refused admission to regular salons on the ground that they violated all rules of art and who promptly set up a school of their own.

But they are not the same old cubists who made the public laugh with the "Nude Descending a Stairway" a few years ago. You can wander through several salons of cubic art in this spring's Independents' exposition and be able to tell in nearly every case just what the painter was driving at.

For instance, there is "La Melancolie" by Andre L'Hote. "La Melancolie" represents a sad-faced nude woman, reclining on a pillow. Her face might have been marked out with a ruler and her nose is done in straight lines. The cubist effect stands out, too, in a pair of cubic knees, but the artist doesn't let the cubist thing get entirely away from him and describes the rest of the body in reasonably soft curves. There is no doubt, whatever, even to the most biased human mind, that the figure is that of a woman, that she is nude and that she is very, very sad, which was what the artist started out to convey.

Andre Favory achieves what his independent colleagues describe as a rip-roaring success for cubism with a painting called "Baigneuses." He shows for nude female figures grouped beneath some trees but instead of using the straight lines employs "cylindrical cubism." The arms, legs, body and face of each of his figures follow a certain cylindrical form, but the whole effect is not displeasing to the eye. The trees, too, are molded along cylindrical outlines.

The other sensation of the Independents' exhibit this year is a decorative panel by M. Deltonbe, who opposes a woman fully dressed to a woman entirely nude. M. Deltonbe has invited all the other painters to guess what it is all about and they are still guessing.

A large portion of the farm labor in Spain is done by women, at least 1,000,000 of them being engaged in agricultural work.

HINGES IN TOWN JAIL RUSTY SINCE PROHIBITION

International News Service.

HAMMOND, Ind.—Since prohibition went into effect hinges on the Valparaiso jail are becoming rusty from lack of use and the town is so free from prisoners that one-armed policemen are being employed as patrolmen. Louis Kulp, former Chicagoan, being the second to be appointed. In the first time in twenty-five years the county has no deputy sheriffs. Sheriff W. B. Forney says that he will serve the rest of his term of office without a deputy.

DESIRE TO HIDE HIS AGE FROM GIRLS CAUSES ARREST

International News Service.
TALEQUAH, Okla.—A desire to keep the girls from knowing that he was getting old will, it is believed here, bring Hugh Simpler, of this place, before the grand jury on a charge of failure to register for the draft.

For several years, it is said, Simpler had given his age to the county assessor as 27—to others as 29. But when it came to registering for the draft Simpler, it is alleged, decided that he was 32.

FALSE TEETH CHOKE WOMAN TO DEATH

International News Service.

BALTIMORE—Cursing for breath during an attack of acute indigestion, Mrs. Sarah E. Black, 57 years old, swallowed her false teeth and choked to death. Neighbors who were at her bedside thought she was not seriously ill and were not aware the teeth were strangling her.

Mrs. Black is survived by her husband, ohn D. Black, and two sons. She was the first state officer of the Daughters of America in Maryland, and has been a member of that organization twenty-five years.

ONE SUIT SINCE 1917 RECORD OF BANK PRESIDENT

International News Service.

CHICAGO—One new suit of clothes since 1917. One new pair of shoes since 1918. Never paid more than $90 for a suit of clothes in his life and that was the last one.

No, not the shade of Russell Ege speaking—he is M. A. Traylor, president of the First Trust & Savings bank of Chicago.

"What we need today to bring down the high cost of living is thrift and more production," he says. "The people seem to be afflicted with spending hysteria because they have money."

SHE TELLS LATEST VALUE OF FOREIGN MONEY TO BANKERS

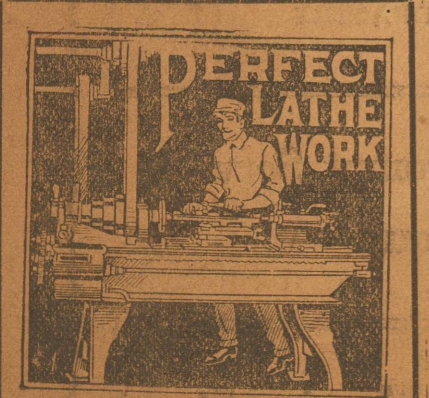

Miss S. M. Hamant.

When 110 banks in the Mississippi valley want to know the latest value of the franc or mark they ask Miss S. M. Hamant, manager of the foreign exchange department of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, located in Cincinnati. Miss Hamant is the only woman filling one of the six positions of this kind in the whole United States. All others are held down by men. Miss Hamant receives on an average of one telegram every two minutes from clients and her long distance telephone conversations with bankers in other cities amount to nearly three hours each day.

To hold a position when there are only six like it in the country is quite a distinction and to be the only woman to hold such a position is enough to put one in the hall of fame. Miss S. M. Hamant of Cincinnati is therefore eligible to that honor. When 110 banks in the Mississippi valley want to know the latest value of the franc or mark, they ask Miss S. M. Hamant, who is manager of the foreign exchange department of the Guaranty Trust company of New York, located in Cincinnati.

Miss Hamant is the only woman filling one of six positions of this kind in the whole United States. All of the other five are filled by men. She has had particularly good training for her work for she studied the profession abroad and worked in the same capacity in the principal cities in Europe. She speaks six languages.

It has been estimated that she receives on an average of one telegram every two minutes from clients and her long distance telephone conversations with bankers in other cities amount to nearly three hours each day. She also asserts that people have an entirely erroneous idea of what "bankers' hours" really are, for she works from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

QUIET DAY AT HOME APPEALS TO RUTH MORE THAN GLARE OF MOVIE STUDIOS

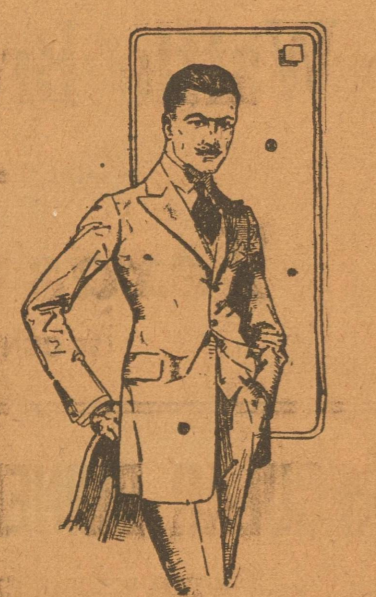

Babe Ruth and Mrs. Ruth spending an evening at home.

According to all reports Babe Ruth's career as a movie celebrity has ended—if it ever really started. The home run king didn't take to the work. Home looked better to him while waiting for the baseball season to re-open. And, judging by the picture, he is now enjoying himself. Babe plays the organ and Mrs. Ruth sings. And if Babe puffs while peddling the organ it's to keep his pipe going.
