MILES ADMITS 'STONE HOUSE' MURDER, SAID

Thought Jack Campbell Was Robber, His Confession States.

Johnnie Miles, now in the Eastland county jail, has made a confession that he killed Jack Campbell at the "Stone house," two miles east of Eastland last Sunday night, according to reports from the county attorney's and sheriff's department.

Miles is quoted as saying that he had heard that the road house would be raided by hijackers on the night that Campbell was killed, and that upon Campbell's return from Eastland, he told him of his fears. The dead man, he said, told him to stay in the east room and not allow anyone to come in. While he stayed in the room Campbell and John Myers went to the second story of the house. All the lights were out and directly a man came running into the east room and caught Miles by the shoulders with both hands. Miles thought the man who had hold of him was a robber, he is reported as saying, and he shot him. When the body of Campbell was found there were no powder burns on his clothing as there probably would be if he had been shot at close range.

Miles is one of the men who were arrested in Ranger following the death of Campbell. A man named Myers and a woman were also arrested at the same time. According to reports at the time of the killing Campbell came from Eastland to the road house, of which he was the proprietor, about 12 o'clock Sunday night. He walked into the house and started into the east room when he was shot through the heart.

Locklear's Stunts Will Be Copied by Air Mail Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The reckless aerial acrobatics with which Omer Locklear startled the world until they resulted in his death recently in California, have not been in vain, according to air mail service officials here, for they report Locklear's "stunts" have opened the way for important developments in commercial aviation.

Locklear's stunt of changing from one plane to another several thousand feet above the earth will be copied in the air mail service and by commercial aviation companies in changing sacks of mail, packages or pilots from one ship to another, thus enabling aerial liners to make long journeys without landing, officials say. Some believe that within a short time airplanes may even take gasoline and supplies in the air.

When one of the mammoth airplanes which aviators believe soon will be common, flies over the control station, a smaller plane will come up to meet it, the officials explain, and, by means of a rope, mail sacks or other packages will be lowered from the large to the small plane. By means of a long hook the large ship will take on baggage from the smaller ship and speed on to its destination.

Eventually, it is expected that this plan will be perfected so that fuel supplies can be transferred from one plane to another, making a non-stop coast to coast trip possible.

Pilots will change planes in mid-air by means of a rope ladder lowered from one machine to the other, just as Locklear did, it is explained.

The government has been conducting tests along this line for some time, officials here say, and one commercial aviation company is reported to be planning to put the scheme into effect within a few months in transferring mail.

SHARP BREAK TAKES PLACE IN COTTON PRICES ON EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—There was a further break in the price of cotton on the exchange here this morning with all active deliveries making new low records. Season contracts for December delivery sold off to 19 cents a pound or a full cent below closing quotations of yesterday, owing to the continued pressure of southern offerings and liquidation by recent buyers.

Mr. Militevitich was one of the Serbian students selected by Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Morton, chairman of the International Serbian Education committee to come to the United States for several years of education and training. MEXICO KEEN TO ENCOURAGE FRIENDLY U. S.

All Obligations of Republic Will Be Met, De La Huerta Says.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16.—Mexico is anxious to comply with all her international obligations and extend a hearty welcome to all foreigners, Provisional President De La Huerta told a correspondent of the Associated Press today. He declared the Mexican government has not received from Washington any intimation of conditions upon which a possible recognition of the new regime by the United States would be based.

"Our one desire," De La Huerta asserted, "is to form part of a concert of all civilized nations by respecting all established principles for development of a free people. Mexican laws are not confiscatory and I formally declare it has never been our intention to give them such an effect. Nothing is more untrue than the statement that Mexico has been forcibly depriving foreigners of their property."

JAPAN TURNS VODKA LOOSE ON RUSSIANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The greatest enemy of the Russians has been turned loose by Japan and is silently spreading out from Vladivostok into the interior of Siberia. It is vodka.

Vodka shops have been reopened at Vladivostok, according to Leonard Martin, Y. M. C. A. worker, who returned on the China Mail liner, Nile. The vodka shops have been authorized by the civil government that nourishes under the flag of the rising sun and the Japanese bayonets that rule Vladivostok. Through the ruin that vodka will wreak upon the Russians the Mikado hopes to control much of Siberia, Martin declared.

The Japanese have also enlisted another means of subduing the Russians. Intense hatred has been fanned to flames by the officers of the Mikado among the Russian factions in the hope that they will destroy each other, leaving the Nipponese in command. The Y. M. C. A. worker asserted if the Japanese soldiers were suddenly withdrawn massacre would result.

WATERMELON CROP IN TEXAS SENT ALL OVER NATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Texas did its part this year in supplying the nation with rich red watermelons—the sort that grow only in Texas and the United States department of agriculture today reported.

Up to the last of September this year the Lone Star state had shipped 4,662 carloads of melons, a big increase over last year when 3,907 were shipped. Most of the Texas melons were shipped in July and August, August shipments amounting to 911 cars. Late melons shipped in September reached a total of 106 cars. California was the second melon shipping state with 3,100 cars and Missouri came third with 2,998. It was a big drop to Alabama in fourth place with shipments amounting to 1,063 cars.

Texas also shipped 48 cars of sweet potatoes in September, bringing the total for the year up to 78 cars, with shipments just getting under way. The year's shipments are expected to surpass last year's 492.

Up to Oct. 2, Texas had shipped 88 cars of pears and promised before the end to pass last year's mark of 109 cars.

HUSBAND'S COCKTAIL WAS HER ALARM CLOCK

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Washington L. Stevens, son of Colonel Edwin S. Stevens, founder of the Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, was a human alarm clock, as far as his married life was concerned.

This is the charge made by Mrs. Alice Key Stevens, who supported her suit for separation yesterday in the supreme court with an affidavit in which she said that nearly every morning Stevens would come home at 2 o'clock and drink a cocktail.

Invariably, she said, this awakened her. On the night of Jan. 14, 1919, she alleges he returned to their apartment at the hotel Martineque from a theatre party and awoke her. He drank the usual cocktail, she says, smoked his customary cigarette and then told her that he proposed to take a six months' vacation.

Stevens, a bond broker, is interested in the Hoboken Land Improvement company and has other interests. But despite these, says his wife, he spent most of his time attending dinner and theatre parties, always topping off with the early morning cocktails. Hence, she says, she could see no imperative need of a vacation. The couple were married in New York in 1918. Stevens lives at Castle Stevens, the old family home in Hoboken.

MILLION BRITISH MINERS READY TO GO OUT ON STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Final preparations for the expected strike of 1,000,000 British miners tonight are being made throughout the United Kingdom today. Emergency measures recommended by the government were being prepared by local authorities.

There seemed to be a disposition on the part of the government, the miners' federation and the people generally to settle the issue which caused the strike. Apprehension is felt that the miners might bring about a critical situation in British industry generally.

Parliament convenes Tuesday and hope is still entertained that this event may tend to bring a solution of the problem. Neither the government nor the miners' federation has closed the doors to further negotiations and it is expected efforts to reach an agreement will continue even though the miners walk out.

'Blue' Sunday Rumors Are Unfounded

Unabated opposition to any effort to close the theaters and soda fountains of Ranger on Sundays was voiced this morning by Police Commissioner Davenport, who was prompted by renewed circulation of reports that such a move was contemplated.

As long as I am police commissioner the soda fountains and theaters of Ranger will remain open seven days of the week," he declared. "The chief of police has been notified of such a policy on my part." The commissioner said that he had been actuated in this re-statement of his intentions by an increasing number of queries received at his office from persons, some of them operators of theaters and soda fountains, who had grown anxious following reports that their businesses would be closed on Sunday.

SHANGHAI GOVERNMENT NOW OVERTHROWN, SAYS OFFICIALS IN CHINA

PEKING, Oct. 16.—An official request was made by the Chinese government to the Associated Press today to refute rumors originating in Shanghai that the government had been overthrown.

"There is no truth whatever," says the government, "in the reports of a reactionary movement in North China. So far as authorities know, no plot of any kind exists. The situation is without change politically, beyond the fact that peace prospects have improved recently."

WAFFLE HOUND OF WORLD ATE TWENTY-SIX IN HALF HOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The title of champion waffle eater of the world was claimed today by Private Paul Francis Jones, of the United States marine corps. He established his claim last night by eating twenty-six and a half of the corrugated pastries in thirty minutes in a contest with a representative of the army at the Grand Central Palace.

Jones had rehearsed in the afternoon by eating a porterhouse steak smothered in onions, French fried potatoes, asparagus, doughnuts and coffee. Many thousands of women employed in industries in California are receiving the benefits of the minimum wage scale of $16 a week which has just been put into effect by a representative of the commission.

State Seeks Half Million Penalty in Well Plugging Case

Alleges Mascho and Maxwell Failed to Follow Commission's Rules.

EASTLAND, Oct. 16.—The State of Texas, by County Attorney G. G. Hazel, has filed suit in the district court against A. Mascho and S. A. Maxwell for statutory damages in the sum of $500,000 for each day since May 17th. The petition alleges that the defendants drilled an oil well on the Earl Nabors tract of the J. L. Schooner survey and that the well was a dry hole. It also alleges that the state railroad commission gave the defendants repeated notices and personal requests to plug the well under the rules of the commission, and that the defendants have failed and refused to plug the well in the manner laid down by the rules of the commission. It is shown that the plugging was not done in a manner so as to confine the oil, gas and water in their respective strata. It is also alleged that when the defendants attempted to plug the well on or about May 17th they did not give the notices to the commission or its field agent according to the rules of the commission. It is set up that on July 17th the agent of the commission gave written notice to the defendants advising them just exactly how the well should be plugged, and that the defendants, failing to comply with their duty, have become liable under the law to pay to the state the penalty of $5,000 for each day the well has remained in its present condition.

TEXAS MINERS' WAGE QUESTION UP ON MONDAY

Miners in Oklahoma Ordered Back to Work Pending End of Dispute.

Muskogee, Oct. 16.—John T. Wilkinson, president district 29 of the United Mine Workers, late last night sent circulars to local unions of the state advising all miners now on "vacations" to return to work in order that demands for increased wages might be considered by operators. Wilkinson said that he believed miners would accept the advice although no general return could be expected before Monday.

Officials at the union headquarters at the same time issued a call for a meeting of representatives of the entire district comprising Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, to convene here Monday to consider the wage demands of miners in detail.

Attorney General Throws Light on New Voting Laws

AUSTIN, Oct. 16.—An opinion on the new poll tax law for men and women passed by the special session of the legislature recently, has been rendered by W. W. Caves, assistant attorney general of the state. The opinion is confined to the administrative provisions of the act and does not attempt to pass upon the validity of the law.

A summary of the opinion, also prepared by Mr. Caves, follows: "Nothing is required of either men or women who have paid their poll tax or possessed certificates of exemption prior to February 1, 1920. Those who failed to do so, if otherwise qualified to vote, obtain a receipt or to obtain certificates of exemption, without paying penalty, interests or costs.

"The poll tax receipts and certificates are authorized to be issued under the law before Oct. 22, 1920, but relate only to the 1919 poll tax and the right to vote at election held prior to Feb. 1, 1921. Feb. 1, 1921, will be required to pay the poll tax and get their receipts for that year not later than Feb. 1, 1921. This also is true as to those required to have certificates of exemption for 1921.

"Beginning with Jan. 1, 1921, women and men alike are subject to assessment for poll tax and will be required the same as a tax regardless of whether they may desire to vote.

"No changes were made in the qualifications of voters such as age, residence in county and state or other general requirements.

MANY SEEKERS FOR JOB AS 'ANALYSIS' MAKER

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—Thirsty reporters looked on with wailing mouths yesterday afternoon while United States Deputy Marshal Joseph Smith of East St. Louis made an analysis of fluid evidence in a liquor hearing before Commissioner Hooker.

"Analysis" is courtroom slang for a three-finger swig out of the cup that cheers. Louis Fosino and Joseph Reilly were bound over after Smith's test. Louis Panoson, arrested in a raid on Fosino's home, was released. A still and liquor were confiscated. Reilly was held after a 15-year-old boy led agents to his saloon, where he said his father squandered all his earnings on drink.

A chemist who was to analyze the evidence failed to appear at the hearing. Hooker then called for a test of the evidence. There was a crush of spectators to help, but they were spurned. Smith's Adam's apple turned three hand springs, he smacked his lips and said: "That's drinkin' liquor."

WAS DEATH BY LIGHTNING ACCIDENTAL?

DENVER, Oct. 16.—May the death of a man killed by lightning be regarded as accidental?

This is the pivotal question in a contest between the Hassell Iron works and the Ocean Accident and Guarantee Insurance company and Elizabeth Hrutkai, John Hrutkai, Theodore Hrutkai and the state industrial commission.

The Hassell company and the Insurance company are seeking to set aside findings by the state industrial commission to the effect that the death of John Hrutkai, who it is alleged was killed by lightning at Shiprock, N. M., Sept. 9, 1919, was accidental.

The industrial commission finding set forth that Hrutkai was working on a steel bridge for the Hassell Iron works in Shiprock, N. M., when an electric storm came up. He was struck by a bolt of lightning and died from the effects of his injury.

The industrial commission gave Elizabeth Hrutkai, John Hrutkai and Theodore Hrutkai a monthly award of $34.72. The Hassell company and the insurance company allege that the industrial commission's award is not supported by the facts.

LAMB.

Scene of Big New York Robbery in Coming Photoplay.

The identical pier on East River, on which one of the most daring silk robberies in the police records of New York was perpetrated, was used in "White New York Sleeps," a Fox Special in eight reels. This picture has been receiving a tremendous reception throughout the country and thousands of people declare it to be the most sensational and artistic photodrama of its kind ever produced. It will be shown at the Lamb theatre today.

The director in charge of the picture made a city-wide search of the docks and piers to find a dock in which there was an aperture to the open water of the river below. He did not know of the robbery at that time, but did know that he needed just such a pier as the scene of the warehouse theft for use in the last episode of "White New York Sleeps." In the picture a gang of robbers pilfer a warehouse at midnight, dropping bolt after bolt of silk into a motor boat beneath the floor.

The director finally appealed to the police department for assistance, knowing that such piers, usually of very old construction, did exist. Their remembrance of the robbery enabled Mr. Brabin to locate just the pier, as well as many of the details of the actual robbery, were filmed for the Fox melodrama.

TEMPLE.

Noted Player is Crook Ledged in "The Cradle of Courage."

The heavy role of Tierney in William S. Hart's newest Paramount picture, "The Cradle of Courage," which will be shown at the Temple theatre today is portrayed by Thomas Santschi, who is recognized as one of the most capable actors on the screen today. He has appeared in motion pictures for many years and it was he, who, with William Farnum in "The Spiders," fought what is regarded as the classic of all film fights.

Mr. Santschi has played many prominent roles, but never, it is said, has he had a more striking part than that of a crook and gang leader, provided for him in this picture, which was adapted by Lambert Hillyer, who also directed it. The photoplay was by Joe August A. S. C. This is Mr. Santschi's first appearance in a Hart picture. Ann Little is the leading woman, and the support generally is of the highest grade.

OPERA HOUSE.

One of the few times when Margarita Fisher does not dazzle the audience in a bathing costume, specially designed for this comedy-drama, she appears in feather trimmed pajamas—a dream of a boudoir outfit—in a midnight scene. But she is wide awake in the kitchen making a raid on the ice-box and her careless rattling of the silver brings the young man to the scene with a revolver leveled at the supposed burglar.

Hands up! and up go Vera's hands brand knife in one and loaf in the other. The shocked surprise of the two ends in a laugh, the laugh in a midnight luncheon, and then closes with a stolen kiss which prevents the course of their true love running smoothly for a while. Cautious neighbors also make the love path rocky. Vera's parents' roles are carried by Harvey Clark and Mary Lee Wise, respectively, plan to free themselves from the responsibility of a too lively daughter by marrying her to a Texas Lady Storekeeper, Who Carries Black-Draught in Stock, Has Found It "Best Liver Medicine" Obtainable.

Barker, Texas.—Relating her experience with Thedford's Black-Draught, Mrs. A. L. Fromme of this place, says: "I had for some time used . . . and other liver medicines, which would nauseate and make me feel bad. We have a store, and our customers called for Black-Draught so often I decided it must be good, so thought I would try it myself.

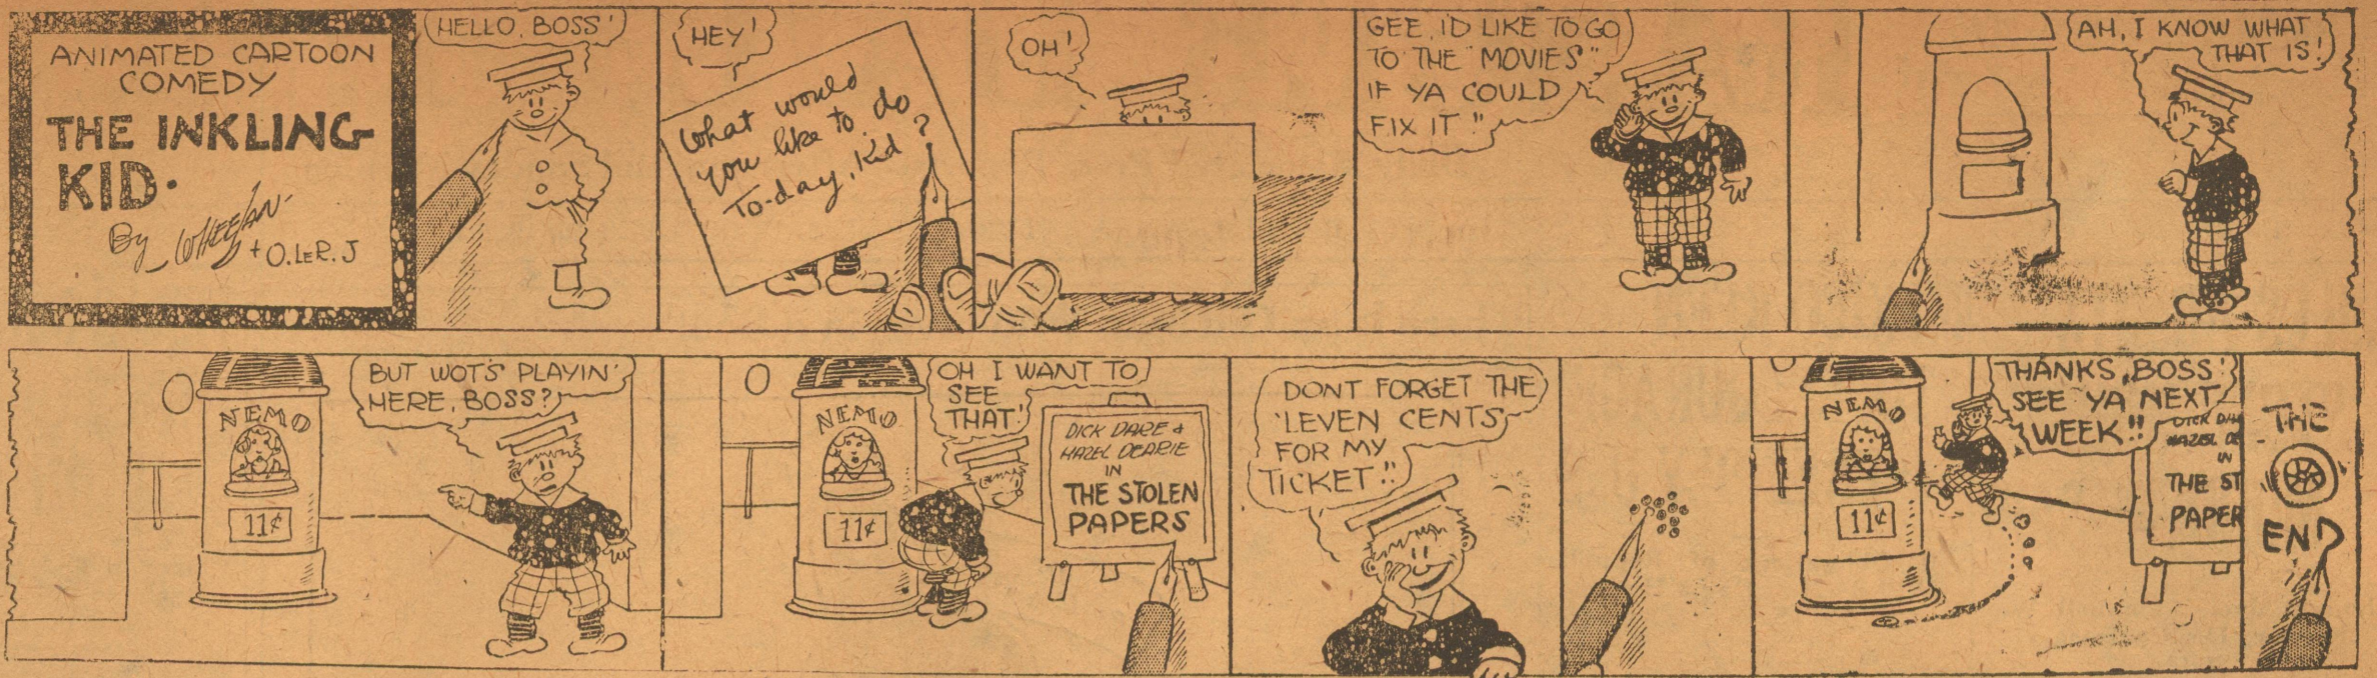

"I began its use and found it just fitted my case. It neither gripped nor nauseated me, was an easy laxative and not hard to take.

"I had had headaches a great deal, no doubt from torpid liver. The Black-Draught would cure them. The best way I find to take Black-Draught is to take one or two good sized doses until the liver begins to act, then taper the doses to just a pinch after meals.

"It will insure good digestion, do away with the gas or bad taste in the mouth, and is without doubt the best liver medicine in the market. I have found it so. I can recommend it to my friends, for I believe it will do them good."

HOTEL MANAGEMENT AND PIG BOTH KICKED WHEN IT WAS BATHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 16.—"Pigs is pigs," and they don't like hotel life. Patrick O'Malley of Los Angeles can vouch for this.

O'Malley recently spent a few days at the Bloomfield ranch at Gilroy. An orphan piglet needed a mother and, being a man of gentle nature, he decided to volunteer as nurse and raise the suckling on a bottle of robust hoghood.

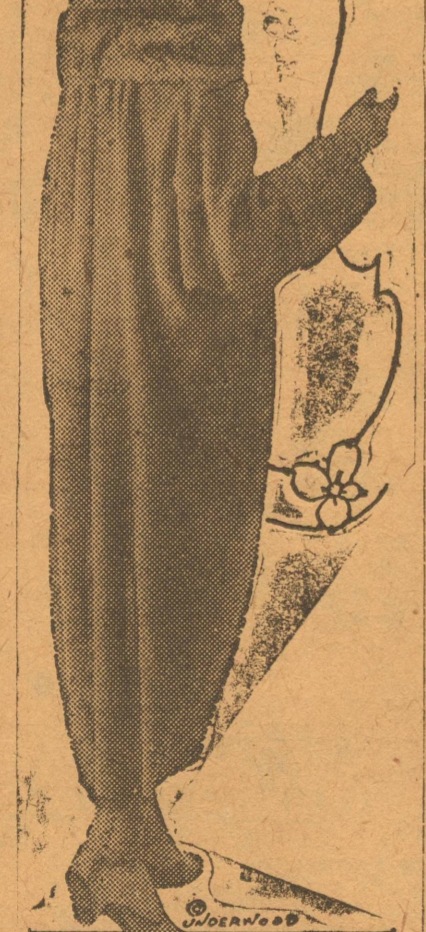

At O'Malley's direction the pig was crated and sent to the St. Francis hotel where the "volunteer nurse" was staying. Employees fixed up a pen for the young porker in the basement. O'Malley made frequent visits to his charge.

After a few days young porker began to get soiled and O'Malley decided it needed a bath. He forthwith took his pet to his room on the twelfth floor for that purpose.

He no sooner started the shower going that a great commotion and much squealing was heard coming from O'Malley's room. Employees rushed in to see what it was all about. There they found O'Malley scrubbing his pig and the latter endeavoring to make its way out of the bathtub.

Despite the owner's objections, the suckling was ejected from the hotel. It has been shipped to O'Malley's home in Los Angeles.

RANGER FOLK MAKE GENEROUS ANSWER TO NEEDY OLDEN CASE

Several quilts and blankets, a bundle of clothing and $12 in money has been received by Mrs. Grace Harrington for the destitute family at Olden, cited in the Daily Times yesterday.

The Ranger garage took up a collection of $11, and Dr. A. N. Harkrider gave Mrs. Harrington $1.

Mrs. Stewart sent word that she had a bundle of quilts and blankets for the family and a bundle of clothing was left at A. E. Ringold's office for the stricken family.

Mrs. Harrington purchased four suits of underclothing for the little children and a pair of blankets with the money received.

The family is composed of three little girls, 2, 5 and 8 years old. One of the children is afflicted with spinal meningitis and the father has been in bed with tuberculosis for a year.

The notice of the need in yesterday's Times came to the notice of Captain Mullins of the Salvation Army and he has gone to Olden with a bundle of quilts, blankets and clothing, donated by various people of Ranger. A supply of groceries will also be furnished the unfortunate family.

STOPPED TO LOOK

Dimpled Knee and Shining Shoes Throw Business Out of Gear.

Yesterday afternoon business came to a sudden standstill on the west side of an office building. Men ceased doing the work they were engaged in at the moment and a dreamy look came into their eyes as they looked out of the window. Stenographers were idly tapping their teeth with their pencils while they waited for the boss to take up his flow of words again. When they were not forthcoming the stenographer glanced out of the west window, blushed and tried not to look self-conscious. One man brazenly raised the shade on his window a little higher that he might see better.

Across the way—ah, across the way in a neighboring window—there appeared a dimpled knee, and a sleeveless arm busily engaged in shining a shoe that was perched on the window sill.

For five minutes the wheels of business ceased to grind in the office building.

Should Senator Harding be elected president of the United States, the indications are that he will select Mrs. George Gordon Battle, of Columbus, O., as a member of his cabinet in recognition of her indefatigable efforts in his behalf in the campaign—now being waged Stenographers chewed their gum as their pencils idly played a tattoo on their shining teeth. Then the shoe was being glued. A sigh went up and business again assumed the even tenor of its way.

EAST SIDE FIRE HOUSE WILL BE OPEN SHORTLY

Better Protection for Homes to Be Made Possible Under New Plan.

A building on the Strawn road has been purchased by the city commission and will be remodeled for an east side fire hall. The house was sold by C. C. Hamilton. It is of sheet iron with an upper story that will be turned into living quarters for the firemen. A concrete floor will be laid before the fire apparatus is installed. It is planned to have the new station in operation by November 1.

Three firemen will be on duty and all alarms will come through the central station on Elm street. This will be arranged by having both telephones on the same line. By this system when an alarm comes in both stations will receive it at the same time and each company will answer all calls. Under this arrangement the city will have double fire protection with its present equipment.

DON'T PLAY CHESS WHEN OUT WITH YOUR GIRL IN GOLDEN GATE PARK, HE TELLS SWAINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—Harold Vermyle is starting in the part of "star reporter" in a play at a local theatre. That he is one in fact as well as cast is shown by the abandon with which he slung English around in covering a yarn to which he had been assigned after accepting the challenge of a local city editor. Here it is. It's too novel to be true, but he vouches for its accuracy as to detail, although he admits the artistic instinct may have led him into a few choice and colorful phrases in depicting it:

"When the city editor gave me an assignment for 10 a. m., I said, nonchalant-like, 'Ten o'clock? Yes, sir,' although I couldn't see the necessity of getting up in the middle of the night. However, I gathered from the attitude of these birds-around here that the right way to treat a city editor is with respect, mixed with a nice blend of the 'I-knew-him-when' attitude.

ing at the crack of dawn was completing at the crack of dawn was completely lost when Judge T. L. Fitzpatrick of the woman's police court asked me up on the bench with him to watch the doings in his court. And right here I want to say that the judge has one stanch admirer in me from now on, for his unflinching good humor, penetration and sense of justice made a hit.

And if I learned anything from watching the mills of the gods grind, it was this: Don't play chess in Golden Gate Park. For it was that seemingly innocent little game that started all the trouble for Miss Gertrude Robinson, a petite brunette, of 1219 Jones street, and Oscar Nassauer, who is an importer with offices in the Mills building.

No Longer Chummy.
According to Miss Robinson, she and Nassauer have been—beg pardon, were engaged for eight months; that is, they were up to the afternoon of Sept. 25. Since then they've not been quite so chummy. For on that day they, with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wallace, were spending the afternoon in Golden Gate Park. Wallace and Nassauer told the court with bitter emphasis, 'Chess is a game in which you must spend much concentration.'

Miss Robinson, evidently a little annoyed at this lack of appreciation of her society (you know how it is, girls) attempted to switch the attention of her fiancé to more feminine things. So, to quote her: 'I went up to Mr. Nassauer and began to weave some leaves in his hair.' From a close observation of the gentleman's hirsute adornment, I'll say that she must have had some job.

No Bacchus For Him.
She then said, 'I wish I had some grapes, and I'd make a Bacchus out of you.' That's when the trouble started.

ed. Whether M. Nassauer didn't know what that meant, or knowing it, resented it with a strong and masculine resentment, the net result for Miss Robinson was a broken nose, not to mention generally lacerated feelings.

Accounts from the complainant and the defendant differ, and the stories of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace didn't do much to clear up the circumstances attendant upon the general mix-up which ensued. Nassauer's contention was that in making a broad, sweeping gesture to show Miss Robinson the beauties of nature or something like that, he accidentally bit her.

But that is neither here nor there as the chorus girl said when someone asked her where she hooked her second-act costume.

Judge Fitzpatrick, evidently taking into account Miss Robinson's much-plastered nose, not to mention the fact that she would have an awful grudge against herself to have herself, casually mentioned. Defendant guilty; sentence in the morning.

Whereupon Miss Robinson dropped in to a graceful swoon that would have done credit to Margaret Anglin or Nance O'Neill, and had to be assisted from the court by the bailiff.

So, take heed, all ye swains: Don't play chess in Golden Gate Park. And as for ye fair San Francisco damsels, don't wind leaves in the Big Stiff's hair.

FIVE WOMEN ARE FINED ON VAGRANCY CHARGES IN COURT

Five women paid fines last night on charges of vagrancy. This makes a total of twenty-three women who have been arrested during the last forty-eight hours on the same charge.

All those who have pleaded guilty have paid fines of $15.70.

"ADAM" ISN'T POPULAR ROLE IN DENVER HOTEL

DENVER, Oct. 16.—George McFadden, as Adam, played to an astounded audience of guests and three hysterical women in a hotel here before he was recalled and covered.

With only a thin "bum" on, George stalked through the corridors while his guests fled, police say. Before he was subdued, McFadden tore up a bed, broke out the lights in his room and turned over a radiator.

The judge later said George's act was worth $62, which the latter paid.

Abilene Huskies Overwhelm Ranger in Football Game

Local Boys Outweighed and Unable to Stop Visiting Backfield.

Abilene High brought a husky, aggressive crew of footballers over to Ranger yesterday. They ran through the Ranger team almost at will and won, 7-0. Ten touchdowns and seven goals tell the story of the scoring.

The first few plays established the superiority of the Abilene line and the ineffectiveness of the Ranger tackling. Fast holes were made in the mid-section of the local defense, through which the visiting backfield plowed with the facility of a greased pig—a whole flock of 'em, in fact. The Ranger secondary defense was slow in getting into the fray, and the result was that the ends, who did a fairly good job of interference busting, had no aid in grabbing the elusive-footed ball carriers. Long gains were made on plays which would have resulted in loss with clean open fields tacking. Quarterback Nolan flipped short passes with accuracy to Dillingham, Guitar and Goss. One accurate heave to Dillingham resulted in a sixty-five yard chase for a touchdown. Others were more mildly successful, but few were broken up. Three were intercepted by Ranger men, however, which constitutes one of the few bright spots in the tale of Ranger's defense. To offset this, Haney grabbed a Ranger flip and went fifty yards on the last play of the game.

Ranger was palpably at a disadvantage in size—about twenty-five pounds per man—and were overwhelmed from the start. Better tackling would have held down the score, but there was never any hope of local victory. Abilene's strength is revealed in the fact that they were never held for downs; each time they obtained the ball there was a steady march down the field until the line had been crossed. Ranger, on the other hand, made only one first down. Their offensive was smothered before it reached the line of scrimmage.

In consolation, the Ranger boys may bear in mind that they were playing a team which seems headed for the championship of West Texas, a team which has played longer, is older and much larger—will rank with many college teams in size. Abilene has played Big Springs, Stamford and Merkel, winning two games by good sized scores and defeating Merkel 7-6.

The line-up:

ABILENE	RANGER
Goss	Tom Oliver
Mackey	Right End
Mackey	Right Tackle
Hambree	Pruitt
Haney	Right Guard
Haney	Center
Snodgrass	Left Guard
Shackelford	Left Tackle

Guitar	Right Half
Dillingham	Fullback

A six-round preliminary will be put on by Blondy Cross and Kid Brady, both fast youngsters who have ambition to get up in the limelight.

BENEFITS FROM STEEL PLANT ALONE WILL PAY C. C. EXPENSES FOR YEAR

Wealth to the amount of probably $20,000 a year has been added to the city by the action of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday in signing a contract for the location here of the steel plant, which will employ a minimum of eighty men. This act alone, according to civic leaders, more than justifies the existence of the body, and the profit accruing from the move will more than pay for its upkeep for the current year.

These men say that the plant will bring a yearly profit of $75,000 to the merchants and business men, which will pay back to the subscribers to the chamber every dollar that they have spent for its year's work, and all its other constructive acts will be clear profit to the city.

Classy Boxing Promised Tonight at Athletic Club

The big event of the boxing bouts at the Ranger Athletic club tonight is Young Farrell and Jack Arnold, who have put up a bonus of $50 each to weigh in at 122 pounds ringside. These boys are scheduled for a ten-round go and are in the pink of condition. Followers of the squared circle in Ranger are expecting a real fight when these two meet.

As a semi-final, two ebony-hued huskies will battle for eight rounds. One of these entrants is from Houston and the other from Fort Worth. They proved a large drawing card at Fort Worth, it is said.

FARMERS FIRST.
 Farmers of America will be disappointed and aggrieved at the reaffirmed refusals of the reserve banks of the country to assist in financing this year's crops, especially cotton and grain, which expert investigators assert are now selling below the cost of production. The board bases its refusal on the ground that it cannot allow special credit privileges to any one branch of industry.

Perhaps the conclusions of the board are based upon sound logic. At first glance it would appear so, just as on first glance it appears that all men should be free and equal. Then again, there may be technical matters such as the proportion of gold to currency, on which the layman is not entitled to express an opinion, which would make further extension of credit hazardous to the nation's finances.

But when one cogitates upon whether there should be privileged classes in industry, he must inevitably come to the conclusion that the prosperity of those engaged in agriculture is the basis for the prosperity of the nation. If the vast agricultural activities of the country prove remunerative, the flood of wealth resulting wells out and re-invigorates all of the varied and sundry industries which make up America's complex economic structure. Agriculture and mines furnish the money with which automobiles and clothing and the many other articles are purchased, and if sales can be made for cash, these industries can go ahead without the necessity of financial props. It was remarked the other day, by the way, that the reason for the recent slump in the motor car industry was not that the demand for cars has fallen off, but the people did not have the money to buy them and could not borrow it. If the farmers—that is, the people in general, for money for one means money for all—have the money, the automobile plants will take care of themselves.

It would appear, then, that from a standpoint of practical expediency, the farmers and other producers of new wealth should have first call upon the credit resources of the nation, when temporary conditions or manipulation drive the prices of their products below a margin of reasonable profit.

The purpose of the federal reserve board in seeking to reduce prices to a normal level by putting commerce on a cash basis and eliminating the inflating effect of borrowed money is praiseworthy. But it should not be so strictly carried out that support is withheld from a basic industry when credit would prevent loss. Prices are too high, but they should come down gradually and in in-
 son. Otherwise there will be a crash, and the very condition will come about that the federal reserve banks were organized to prevent.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Acknowledging the Soft Impachment.

It was no hardship for the Mid-Victorian Lady to await her turn in the crowded shop, for there was much to see and hear. A country store, meat market and grocery combined, it was evidently a gold mine for the owner, if that day was any criterion. Five and six deep before the counter the customers pushed and jostled. The manager, who thought her- self well versed in methods of easy housekeeping, marveled at the various ways to serve the viands that were ordered.

And over this hungry mob the proprietor, familiarly addressed as "Charlie," held perfect sway. A diplomat was Charlie, no mere dispenser of food supplies. He addressed individuals with easy grace; he flattered the women; a little dispute between a clerk and a customer he natched up in short order, even going so far as to place a restraining hand on the irate woman's shoulder.

"Come grind your own!" he called to one customer, who had asked for a pound of chopped meat, and grind her own she did, after the crowd had parted to let her pass behind the counter. Charlie was everywhere at once. He joked and teased with a friendly smile that robbed his words of malice. He pruned from cash register to ice box, calling out "And who's next? What's yours, sister?"

And then a newcomer, evidently not blessed with the leisure that the Mid-Victorian One enjoyed, popped into the doorway and without waiting her turn called impatiently, "Charlie, have you a fresh tongue?"

And as from one throat the clamor arose, "He has! He has!"

In the ensuing lurch no one shouted more loudly than Charlie.

Poor Bill.

It was the noon hour and the restaurant of the big department store was already overcrowded, every table appearing to have its full quota of diners, so the Woman was gratified after diligent search to find a vacant seat, even though it happened to be at a table already occupied by two buxom blonde females. The plethora of empty dishes that almost covered the table indicated one reason for the pronounced buxomness, and these were removed only to make way for ice cream, cake and coffee.

The larger of the two dipped deep into the ice cream, bringing up a heaping spoonful, but before it reached its destination it dropped back into the dish from a suddenly nervous hand, whose owner exclaimed shrilly: "My Gawd! I come off this morning and left a rice puddin' cookin' in the gas-oven. Ain't it a bird?"

Her friend's casual manner in the face of such a calamity indicated plainly that it wasn't her rice pudding. "Nothing can save it now," she ventured. "You might as well stay and finish your shoppin'."

"Oh, sure, the puddin' 's mush by this time," the other agreed. "But I might save the dish if I heat it home. Bill won't have no dessert to night, I'll tell the world."

She gobbled her cream, paid the check and the two made a hurried departure, while the Woman recorded a silent wish that "Bill" might be one of the unusual husbands and not "lol" too much on his dessert.

Out of His Class.

The butcher's man is very sad these days, and he sighs heavily as he delivers the meat at the back door of the Suburban Lady.

"Have you toothache?" she asked sympathetically the other morning.

"Naw, I haven't toothache, but my girl won't marry me, and that's just as bad. Gee! life's hard on a feller these days. Here I am, an educated man, earning fifteen a week and my girl earns thirty, and the common Eytalians get seventy cents an hour trimming hedges. Do you call that justice?"

"Well," came the suggestion, "why don't you go and trim hedges?"

"Aw, say! A man of my education trimming hedges!!! I want my girl to marry me and keep on working till we get a Victrola and a parlor set, but she won't. Now, my brother's girl married him four years ago to keep him out of the army. She was earning thirty then, and now they own their own house at most and he sits at home like a gentleman and minds the kid, and she is earning her good fifty a week. Life's hard on the poor," he grumbled as he turned down the path.

To deliberately eat salt means that you will take a foolish chance with your reputation. It usually tells you that you will feel inclined to accept an invitation which is not given in good faith and not for a good purpose, and that, unless you refuse it, you will be in extreme danger of exposing yourself to insult or worse.

To feel salt to someone else means that your lips will turn shrdl I didd that your lips will utter bitter, stinging words, which you will later have reason to regret.

To find salt in your pocket, or in a letter as you open it, tells you that the day of peckoning has come for a deception practiced by you.

SMART TOP COATS AND CAPES FOR WINTER SPORTS WEAR

By ELOISE.
 Here are three of the newest models for sports and motoring wear. All three are smart and becoming as well as practical. A coat of tan wool duvety is shown at the left. It is a mannishly tailored garment, unbelted with large roomy pockets with flaps. This coat may be worn at any hour of the day as a top coat and is particularly good for wear over a suit. The plaid homespun cape in the center will be welcomed by the woman who cannot stand two coats because of the tightness of the sleeves. It has graceful lines and provides an extra warmth that scarcely any wind could penetrate. It is also rain-proof. There are roomy silts for the arms and a deep collar. This makes a utility wear which will last for years. The sport cape at the left shows how pretty and dainty sport clothes can be made. It is fashioned of leather with a reversible lining of brushed wool. The wool forms a deep collar which reaches to the bottom of the cape. This makes a smart costume when worn with a small hat and over a short walking suit.

TINKER BOB

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

MR. CHUCK MEETS THE KING

"I must go at once to see Lady Duck for she wanted me to go to the land of the South with her," said Tinker Bob, the King of the Forest. The Beautiful Creature told me I could do anything I wished, and I am sure Lady Duck would like to go with me in the great basket.

The King knew that Old Man O Possum didn't want Lady Duck to go away to the Southland for the winter, and he knew that already O Possum had pulled out a great many of her feathers thinking that she would be unable to fly. But Tinker Bob knew best, and he knew that if Lady Duck didn't get away from that old fellow he would kill her, for he was hungry for her blood sometimes.

"Chuck, chuck!" came a familiar sound and it was followed by a whistle. Tinker Bob knew right away that it was Mr. Wood Chuck and he was nearby. The King waited a moment and soon Mr. Wood Chuck came into sight. He whistled again as though he was calling someone. The Tinker spoke to him: "What do you want?" said he.

Mr. Chuck was so surprised that he couldn't speak for a moment, but just stood on his hind feet motionless, looking at the King as if to make sure that it really was the King. Then he said: "Oh, King, I was not sure it was you, but if it is I will speak."

"It is I, Mr. Chuck, so you can speak to me," said Tinker Bob.

"I'm looking for Major Pole Cat and Chief Porky, and I must find them soon for I'm afraid there is going to be some trouble soon over in the house where Lady Duck lives."

"You don't mean that O Possum has gone mad again?" said the King.

"I was passing there and heard him say that Lady Duck should not leave his house any more, nor would he allow anyone to come in to see her, for he was determined to keep her from going to the land of the South. If she is kept there she will die, Oh King."

"I shall see to it that Lady Duck is safe," said Tinker Bob.

He is asleep and you will have to whistle in his ear.

Mr. Chuck whistled again and said: "Oh King of the Forest, is there anything that I can do?"

Go at once to the Palace and tell Chief Porky that the King has sent for him. He is asleep, and you will have to whistle in his ear, but wake him and send him to the house of Lady Duck. Then find Major Pole Cat and tell him to come also, but they must keep very quiet when they arrive at the place. Tell one to come in on the east side and one on the west side, and I shall signal to them by way of Mr. Rufus the Tree Mouse. Now hurry on your way, for we must save Lady Duck."

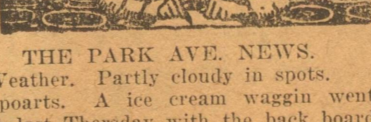

Mr. Chuck went carefully on his way while the King turned toward the home of Lady Duck and O Possum.

Tampico Now Highest Priced Town in World

By LOUIS P. KIRBY,
 International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Oct. 16.—Tampico is now called 'the highest priced port in the world.' It is a more expensive place to live in than New York or Buenos Aires, two great cities celebrated as calling for well-filled pocketbooks.

Everything is marked up in Tampico. Many articles can be bought in towns only a few miles away for one-half and one-quarter of the price charged.

This indicates that there is no reason for the extremely high prices except

RIPPLING RHYMES

PAPER CLOTHES.

They're talking now of paper suits, and paper shirts and collars, and paper socks and paper boots—great scheme to save the dollars! My paper rags seem good and right, while at my lyre I'm slaving; but there's no other gent in sight who is intent on saving. Men do not want the cheaper things, when they go blithely shopping; they'd like to wear the robes of kings, though bank accounts be popping. The janitor of this, our flat, says, like a lord blue-blooded, "I want to buy an ermine hat and necktie diamond-studded." And he would pay and heat his breast and cut an angry caper, if you in kindness should suggest a nice new suit of paper. The tinsmith wants imported cloth when he goes out for raiment; for paper suits that cut a swath he'd never make a payment. My paper pants look rather cheap, and they're a frost almighty, and often I'm inclined to weep when in my paper nightie; beneath my paper hat I write, beside the heaving pillow, I save all day and sleep all night upon a paper pillow. And I'm the only one earth who's cautious, saving thrifty; my paper duds have little worth, but bank accounts are nifty.

most of them having families as well as themselves to feed.

Laborers employed by the American companies are the best fed and best cared for in the Tampico district. Some of the American companies have commissaries at which the laborers can buy provisions at cost.

"But the strange thing about Tampico as well as the rest of Mexico, is that anti-American propaganda has blinded the peons to the fact that they are best treated by Americans. They receive benefits from Americans without thanks hate Americans and seem to love best those who give them least thought and attention.

VIVID COLORS SHOWN IN LONDON STYLES THIS WINTER

International News Service
 LONDON, Oct. 16.—Long waists, bare backs and vivid color notes are the features of the winter fashions.

Vermillion, jade green, indian red, of the most brilliant hue, tangerine and flame-colored frocks were conspicuous at the dress display held by the Maison Ross at their showrooms.

Skirts, judging from this display, are shorter and tighter than ever and even where floating drapery gives a wider effect, there is a narrow "hobble" skirt beneath.

Most of the evening frocks had a sheath-like effect, ending in a fishtail train.

Other dance frocks stood out above the knee like that of a ballet dancer. Nearly all the frocks have an Eastern effect both in gorgeousness and color.

The long waist line was much in evidence, both for day and evening wear.

For every 1,000 men between the ages of 18 and 45 years there are in France 1,230 women, in England 1,175, in Italy 1,288, in Germany 1,810, and in Austria-Hungary 1,230.

X-RAY REVEALS PEARLS IN OYSTERS; SAVES LIFE OF UNFRUITFUL BIVALVE

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The X-Rays have been introduced in the pearl fisheries of Ceylon to determine the presence or absence of a pearl in oysters without destroying the bivalve, according to advices from the Orient. One of the world's most ancient jewels may be saved in this way from eventual extinction.

It has been customary to open the oyster shells in the search for pearls. This results in the death of the oyster. This process continued through the centuries has seriously depleted the number of pearl oysters. The pearl fisheries are approaching exhaustion. No large pearls have been found for years. The X-ray recently was tried in an effort to save the oysters. It apparently solved the problem. It was found feasible to determine whether an oyster contained a pearl. Even small pearls were made visible. Mollusks that hold no gems were thrown back to become the possible pearl bearers of the future.

SWORD OF BONNIE PRINCE CHARLIE NOW IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The sword of "Bonnie Prince-Charlie," who by him at court, and one of the romantic blades of Scottish history, has come to the United States. It is the gift of Lord Garioch, only son of the Earl of Mar of Scotland, to Mrs. Clarence Crittenden Cathoun of Washington, one of the descendants of the house of Mar on her mother's side. The historic sword was delivered through the British embassy here, where it came in care of the ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes.

The words of presentation which accompanied the clamorous declare it was sent "in view of the fact that it was for their adherence to loyalty to the cause of the stewards that the Earls of Mar suffered so greatly in their estates, and fortunes that some of the family in exile sought refuge in America."

EXCESS OF STEPHENS OIL OVER PIPE LINE CAPACITY CAUSES FLURRY IN FIELD

By Staff Correspondent BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.-That some solution of the condition now operative in Stephens county under which pipe lines are unable to carry the production of the field, must soon be achieved, is the demand of operators in this territory who are now energetically engaged in effort toward that end.

The bureau of mines is preparing to divulge to oil men of the country a secret process by which they will be enabled to save each year 300,000,000 gallons of gasoline which is lost through evaporation.

According to the bureau of mines the total loss each year from evaporation of gasoline from crude petroleum, from the time it leaves the wells until it arrives at the refineries, is 600,000,000 gallons, at least half of which may be saved.

The worst feature to this, says a bureau of mines statement, "is the fact that the gasoline wasted is the most volatile, and consequently the best quality of gasoline obtainable. It follows that the prevention of this loss, which not only increases the gasoline supply materially, but also increases the general standard of the gasoline."

The bureau will issue shortly careful instructions to the oil concerns as to how this deplorable situation may be remedied. It is estimated by the gasoline lost through evaporation each year is worth as a national asset about $150,000,000.

Loss by Evaporation. J. O. Lewis, petroleum technologist of the bureau, in his statement on these losses says: "At a time when there exists so much apprehension in regard to the gasoline situation it is comforting to learn of any ways in which the supply may be increased."

In an intensive effort to find ways of increasing and improving the quality of gasoline the bureau of mines has made an investigation of the losses of gasoline by evaporation from the crude oil in the field. Extensive experiments and investigations in the principal fields have disclosed that a great quantity of the gasoline now escapes into the air.

Another plan advanced is that of building tank farms as a co-operative step towards taking care of heavy production. It is the belief of adherents of this plan that the production here now is flush production and cannot be depended upon to continue over a long period.

The railroad company, it is understood, has declared itself willing to pay two-thirds of the expenses of installing loading racks and other necessary apparatuses here if the operators will furnish the production and the other third of the expenses.

A fourth group of operators declare that there is at the present time sufficient storage tanks in the field to take care of the production. The plan being encouraged most now is that of arresting completions for fifteen days to enable the pipe lines to catch up with the oil movement and await the completion of the new pipe line, declared to be capable of a sufficient carrying capacity to relieve the tension.

Bubble Companies Do Much Wildcat Leasing in Mexico

MONTEREY, Mexico, Oct. 16.-One of the most striking evidences of improved conditions in Mexico is the increased activity of investors and speculators in leasing oil lands. During the last few weeks millions of acres have been leased in the states of Vera Cruz, Tamaulipas and Nueva Leon.

Practically all of this land is outside the improved petroleum producing areas of the Gulf coast region, and much of it gives little hope of yielding oil. The larger foreign companies already own the oil rights to all the land in the producing territory adjacent to the Gulf, between Tampico and Tuxpan, so the newcomers seek wildcat lands.

The demand for leases by American speculative investors is so great that land 300 to 400 miles from Tampico is being contracted for on the basis of royalty basis. It is stated that there is hardly a piece of land between Tampico and Montemorelos, a 300-mile stretch along the old Monterey & Mexican Gulf division of the National railroads of Mexico, that is not under lease.

While it is expected that many of the leases in wildcat territory may drill wells in earnest search for petroleum, it will not be surprising if other leases are made the basis for floating "blue sky" stock companies in the United States. Now that tranquility has been restored the opportunity for floating worthless stock is at hand, it is pointed out.

U. S. Proceeds to Save 'Gas' Lost by Evaporation

Would Augment Supply by 300,000,000 Gallons Now Wasted Yearly.

SEEK MEN WHO SELL BOGUS STOCK IN OIL FIELDS. Staff Special. BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 16.-Severe punishment for the circulators of bogus shares of oil and other stock is promised by officials here in the event of their apprehension.

Of late there have been a number of complaints that crooks were selling fake stocks in the different oil companies. The latest to be reported is stock in the Breckenridge Oil & Gas company. Counterfeit stocks of this company, it is declared, have been disposed of here and offered to a large number of persons.

Reputable oil concerns and other companies and individuals who deal in legitimate stocks have urged that all stocks offered for sale be minutely scrutinized by the prospective purchaser before buying.

WILL BE DEBUTANTE AT WASHINGTON

ers fell into the hands of the rebels. Many in addition to having both hands cut off, lost both ears under the knives of their captors.

Without hands the unfortunate men have been unable to earn a living by labor. It is even impossible for them to receive alms in the usual way, and the charitable must drop their gifts into the pockets of the mendicants.

As most of these maimed men are young, their appeals for aid will probably keep fresh in mind the horrors of the revolutions for many years to come.

AUSTRIAN ON TRIAL FOR SHOOTING SISTER WHO WAS HOPELESS INVALID

CONSTANCE, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—John Struger, formerly a captain in the Austrian army, has been arrested on a charge of murder for shooting and killing his sister at her own request. The sister suffered a fracture of her spine in an Alpine accident last year, knew her illness to be incurable and had repeatedly begged the physicians of the sanitarium of which she was a patient to relieve her of her sufferings by an overdose of morphine.

Struger delivered an ultimatum to the physicians that if they failed to comply with his sister's wishes within five days he would shoot her himself. This he did with the full consent of the girl.
