COUNTY CLUB WOMEN ENDORSE MRS. HAGAMAN'S CANDIDACY

RISING STAR ENTERTAINS CENTRAL BODY

Discussion on Home Gardens and Other Matters Hold Forth

One year ago Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger, suggested that the Eastland county federation adopt as its club flower, the sweet lavender, botanically named Vitex. At a meeting of the County Federation yesterday afternoon in Rising Star, the Federation unanimously endorsed Mrs. Hagaman's candidacy for state president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. There was not a dissenting vote. The woman, who is to carry Eastland county's banner in the coming state campaign, in her usual gracious manner, responded to the hearty endorsement. The announcement of Mrs. Potter of Bowie, and Mrs. Hagaman, both aspirants for the same office were read and duly passed through the records of the federation.

LAWMAKERS MUST KEEP VERY BUSY

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 19.—Measures that were foremost in the senate this week will have the spotlight in the house next week, and likewise, the senate will battle over the topics that held the attention of the house this week.

The repeal of the amnesty act is scheduled for action in the house Wednesday.

The three cents gasoline tax is scheduled for action in the house Wednesday.

Motor bus regulations bill which was voted by the house will go to a senate committee, likely Wednesday night.

Take Holiday. Both bodies will take a holiday Tuesday and visit Laredo for a Washington's birthday celebration.

Thursday a group of senators will accompany Governor Moody on a trip to the prison properties in preparation for consideration of the prison relocation bill.

To date there has been 110 bills offered. Also, there has been 52 resolutions to submit constitutional amendment. Sixteen working days remain before the end of the five dollar day period. Adjournment will likely be March 11 or March 12. Another week may be used to act on constitutional amendments which cannot come up at a special session. The called session is expected to begin May 2.

Banking Bills. Twenty-six bills on banking legislation were engrossed in the house this morning. These bills were introduced by representatives, Parrish, Long and Gibson and are necessary according to the authors on account of the act recently passed by the legislature repealing all forms of guaranty of state bank deposits.

All the measures were engrossed without opposition.

The senate of the present session is working for the first time on Saturday.

The Woodward bill seeking to reveal the rule of evidence clause of the search and seizure act of the thirty-ninth legislature which had been set for special orders this morning was postponed until Monday.

Hog Vaccination. By a vote of 18 to 5 the senate passed finally, Senator Fairchild's hog vaccination bill carrying an amendment by Senator Bailey, that the bill be also applied to dogs.

The bill permits owners of hogs and dogs to vaccinate the animals and they are not required to call in a veterinarian.

Senator Love attempted to kill the bill and moved consideration to be indefinitely postponed.

He said he had received a telegram from the Bureau of Animal Husbandry saying the bill was dangerous and that its enactment into law might cause spread of hog cholera.

The Dallas senator later withdrew his motion.

RUSSELL MUST STAND TRIAL IN 8 CASES

SPECIAL JUDGE MAKES DECISION LATE SATURDAY

Misappropriation of Funds Charge Against The Former Official

L. H. Flewellen, special judge for the Eighty-eighth district court of Eastland county, in the 12 cases of John A. Russell, charged with misappropriation of funds alleged to have been in his custody as district clerk of Eastland county, announced that he had passed on the cases, quashing four and sustaining eight.

In one of the eight cases he sustained Acting Judge Flewellen sustained one count in the same indictment, leaving eight indictments subject to trial.

Arguments in the case were long and fervid. Joe Burkett and Oscar Chastain and Frank Judkins represented the defendant and County Attorney Frank Sparks, Milton Lawrence and Assistant County Attorney Sterling Holloway represented the state.

The case against Russell has been pending since 1920 when he was district clerk of Eastland county.

Mr. Russell after being absent from Eastland county several years, reappeared in Eastland last fall for the purpose of answering said indictments.

L. H. Flewellen was appointed special judge by agreement of the attorneys of the defense and the state by the governor.

Just when the cases will be called has not been determined, but when arguments to quash the indictments were made, it was suggested that the trial will be called at an early date should the charges be sustained.

SITUATION SERIOUS IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 19.—With labor troubles within her gates and a beaten army of undisciplined soldiers falling back toward her outer areas, Shanghai tonight was confronted with the most serious situation in the recent history of the recent western penetration of the east.

A general strike called at noon today resulted in minor clashes between the police and the workers in the outlying districts. Attempts to storm factories were discouraged before any damage was done. Southward from Shanghai it was reported that Marshal Sun Chuan-Sang's army had been decisively defeated and that after looting Hanow, 300 miles away, his troops were running wild in Ka-Shing, only 50 miles from Shanghai.

Reports of the looting of Ka-Shing had not been officially confirmed today, but foreigners pondered over the possibility of mob violence here, if Sun's soldiers diverted from Shanghai or were restrained.

250 Marines And 6 Ships, In Shanghai

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—With 250 United States marines and six United States naval vessels already in the harbor at Shanghai, ample protection is afforded American interests, the navy department said today.

In addition 500 marines are now at Peking and 725 at other Asiatic stations, with 16 additional ships anchored along the Chinese coast.

The Chaumont with marines aboard is scheduled to arrive at Shanghai, Feb. 24, from Honolulu.

Shattered Plane Drifting Ashore Tells of Tragedy

Western Storms Take Toll of 20 Lives

An epidemic of severe storms, including electrical rains, blizzards, tornadoes and snow slides, caused a death toll of more than 20 persons in the western part of the United States on Tuesday, Feb. 15. This telephoto picture shows the coaches of the crack Union Pacific train, the Los Angeles Limited, lying in the swollen waters of Puente creek, near Whittier, Calif. The train plunged through a trestle which had been weakened by the flood waters. Two persons were killed and many injured. The picture, taken by flashlight a short time after the wreck by NEA Service photographers, shows a rescue crew standing in the waters of the creek, ready to help the injured passengers of the train. In the upper part of the picture can be seen part of the bridge which did not collapse.

LILLARD FIELD NEW NAME FOR ATHLETIC PARK

If the City Commission of Ranger agrees with the school board and the members of the high school athletic committee, Nitro Park will be called "Lillard Field," in honor of the late Steve A. Lillard Jr., who did so much to make the field what it is today.

The athletic committee, composed of J. T. Gullahorn, Raymond Teal, and M. K. Collie decided to ask the co-operation of the city commission and the school board to agree with them in naming the field for the former member of the board, and to ask formal ratification of the movement by these two bodies.

They appeared before the school board who agreed to the plans of the committee and will appear before the city commission at its next meeting and ask for its ratification.

The athletic field bids fair to outstrip any in West Texas if improvements continue as they have in the last few months. Just at this time a center track, 20 feet wide and 120 yards long is being built in the old baseball park.

It is being laid 8 inches deep in cinders and when completed will be the only one in this section of the state. This track will be of inestimable value to the track teams in their training.

Preparations are being made to sod the football field and the athletic committee plans on making it one of the finest stadiums in West Texas.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Fredrick A. Sterling of Texas, to be minister to the Irish Free State.

Sterling is now consul to the American embassy at London.

FULL OF MASH PELICAN THINKS PAPER IS FISH

CORPUS CHRISTI, Feb. 19.—Mr. Pelican, well known for his reputation as an expert fisherman, flew uncertainly along the bay hunting his breakfast this morning. His dive was slow, his aim was poor—he missed his quarry.

Mr. Pelican arose wabbly and decided to try a new location. He soared over Bay Front avenue and seeing what he believed a nice speckled trout, dived head-long for a piece of paper on the pavement.

Onlookers picked up the bird, both wings broken and his breath wreaking heavy with corn mash.

DANCE ENDS IN ONE DEAD; GUN, KNIFE

GILMER, Texas, Feb. 19.—A dispute at a dance, Persimmon, in an adjoining county about an alleged insult to a woman, led to a fight and death of D. Waller, early today.

Jim Dennis surrendered this morning and made bond.

Witnesses said that the two men agreed to leave the dance hall and "fight it out."

Before the fight began Dennis was said to have handed his six shooter to a friend. Dennis returned for his weapon when Waller opened a knife, witnesses declared.

Mexican Clips Own Appendix With Bullet

DALLAS, Feb. 19.—The bullet that was meant to take the life of Raphael Silva, Mexican, crashed through his abdomen and neatly clipped his appendix. A minor operation was required and physicians at Parkland hospital declared today Silva would recover in less time than if he actually had been obliged to have his appendix removed.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 19.—Officers today were searching for the driver of a large roadster which last night ran down and killed Dr. W. A. Wilson, dentist, near his home on the outskirts of town.

The car which struck Dr. Wilson while he was crossing the road, did not stop.

AIMEE VISITS NIGHT CLUBS OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Into the jaws of death rode the six hundred and into the night clubs of New York walked Aimee Semple McPherson from the Glad Tidings tabernacle, where earlier in the evening souls had been saved and converts acclaimed over their discovery of the Divine evangelist set out into the "abandoned-pleasure marts of this heaven-alone-knows-how-wicked city."

And when Mrs. McPherson retired early today she had seen a fist fight, had been "howled down" by a girl, a little the worse for wear, had been acclaimed by the redoubtable Texas Guinan, and had seen the city's foremost folk dance the "black bottom," danced as it should be danced.

Mrs. McPherson announced that only by an invasion of the night clubs could she see how New York conducts itself after normal bedtime hours. The first stop on her tour was the Open Door on McDougal street in Greenwich Village, there to await activities of the crowd.

Rowdies Ejected. Local color came at once. Two men had collided while dancing with their partners, and straightway came to blows. A "strong arm" ejected the rowdies.

Mrs. McPherson then began to take note of the proceedings. Young men and women were engaging in those weird fantastic contortions of the dance, known as the "black bottom."

"I pity the girls," said the evangelist, "big red brick-bats." Then turning, asked, "Who you writin' to?" Famous 300 Club.

Shortly after this, Mrs. McPherson left the Open Door and visited Texas Guinan's famous "300" club which has since been padlocked. Texas teased and teased and finally the evangelist was introduced from the center of the floor.

"I am seeing a new side of New York," she said.

She reminded those at the table that "behind all these clothes, these good times, there is something else," and invited the other guests to attend her sermons.

Miss Guinan said she wouldn't miss the services, and broke down crying. "This is a woman I admire. She has the courage of her convictions. Give this little woman a good hand," Texas said, and Mrs. McPherson left the "300" club amid a frenzy of hand clapping.

SCOUT LEADERS IN COUNTY MEET JOINT SESSION

Certificates Awarded At Banquet in Eastland Country Club House

More than 70 enthusiastic workers in the interest of scouting attended the banquet at the Country Club, Eastland, Friday night at which time an instructive program was carried out. The meeting was closed after eight patrol leaders and their gangs had gone through a series of stunts that would have done credit to the peppiest group of youngsters in scouting. After which certificates in scout leadership were awarded to 60 or more who had attended at least four lectures and took the work.

The banquet was served by the ladies of the Eastland Presbyterian church. The ladies sewing the day were Meses James Horton, W. C. Baker, J. E. Thomas and George Cross. They were given the scout commendation yell.

Rotary Aided. Having his name on the Rotary club letterheads as chairman of boys' work for that organization, didn't mean he had any part in the work, W. W. Housewright of Ranger, told scout leaders. How a trip to the Denver convention of Rotary International last July, where he saw 3,000 Boy Scouts rendering aid to tourists and citizens without willingness to accept one penny as remuneration for their efforts, however, started his real interest in the work, Mr. Housewright pointed out.

"I came home with a firm determination to spend the balance of my days doing something for boys. I was firmly convinced the time to make a man is when he is a boy, and not after he has arrived at the age of maturity, and while I may not be able to render any assistance that may amount to much, I am going to have the satisfaction of knowing I have done my best," the speaker continued.

Origin of Scouting. Mr. Housewright told of the origin of scouting 17 years ago and how the (Continued on page six.)

JAPAN MAY ACCEPT PLAN OF COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Japan's reported acceptance of the Coolidge limitation proposal aroused hopes here tonight that a pact may result despite the French opposition.

The Japanese reply, delivered to American Ambassador MacVeigh, in Tokyo, will be received at the state department late tonight. It is believed that they will accept the president's proposal for a supplementary Geneva conference of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, to negotiate a five-power treaty limiting auxiliary naval craft, not covered by the Washington treaty.

France's rejection of the plan has centered the administration's hopes on an alternative plan for a three-power pact with Great Britain and Japan.

No move will be made in this direction, however, until London and Rome have replied to the original suggestions.

After five government have all answered, it is understood informal negotiations will be started with Great Britain and Japan to pave the way for a three-power treaty.

Calles Daughter Married by Priest No Civil Ceremony

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 19.—Natalia Calles, daughter of President Plutarco Calles, of Mexico, was married to Carlos Herrera, by a Catholic priest at a private ceremony in Mexico City today and will not come to San Antonio for the religious nuptials, as reported, early press telegrams tonight stated.

An earlier dispatch indicated that after the civil ceremony in Mexico the pair would come here for the religious ceremony which might be prohibited by Mexico controversial church laws.

PAY STRUCK SAME DEPTH AS FIRST WELL

Completion Is Not Made to Drill Deeper Hopes of Getting Gas

With the Duffer No. 2 in the Gholson pool, five miles south of Ranger reported to be standing full of oil and running over, excitement and speculation as to what it will do when completed was high, and furnished food for conversation on the streets of Ranger Saturday afternoon. This is the second producer in what heretofore was considered barren territory by some of the talent. The Duffer No. 1 that is making 550 barrels a day was the discovery well and a strictly wildcat a few weeks ago.

The new producer found the sand at 3,470 feet, the same depth that Duffer No. 1 encountered the sensational pay, that has brought hundreds of oil men and geologists to Ranger and Eastland county, however, the formations in the two wells are said to be entirely different. Saturday night the well was still drilling, in hopes that sufficient gas would be encountered to bring the well in naturally.

Many visitors. Many visited the well both Friday and Saturday in hopes of seeing it come in, but up to late Saturday (Continued on page two.)

BANDITS ENTOMB SEVEN MEN

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Seven men entombed for an hour in a vault of the Star Elevator company by four bandits were rescued by police from suffocation today. The bandits escaped with more than $1,000 after locking the entire office force in the safe.

S. W. Blase, president of the firm, one of the men locked inside, aided in the rescue by tapping out the combination on the steel floors so that Detective Lieutenant Frank Storey could release them.

Texas-Pacific Again Active In West Texas

The Tee Pee Coal and Oil company who may rightly be called the parent company of Eastland county, are doing more drilling in Eastland and other counties in this state and others, than they have done since the boom, according to a statement from H. J. Fleckenstein, general superintendent of the Tee Pee Coal and Oil company, with headquarters at Ranger.

In Eastland county the company is running six strings of tools and in the McCamey field they are running five strings. They have recently completed their Hurdle No. 1, in that district, for 2500 barrels.

In Montana, where they operate under the name of the Homestead Exploration company, they have production and are doing active exploration for liquid gold.

Their recent advent into the wholesaling to retailers of their oil and gas products, is proving to be a most successful venture on the part of the company, and gives work to many men. In their Fort Worth refineries they are refining about 2500 barrels of oil a day and taking care of the same amount in their Wynnewood, Oklahoma refinery.

Two hundred men are employed at the refinery in Fort Worth and one hundred men at the Oklahoma plant.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 19.—Two guards of the Michigan state penitentiary were killed, another is near death at Mercy hospital and three guards and a trusty were seriously injured today when two automobiles crashed head-on.

FROM GOD'S WORD
Is There a Way of Escape?—Do ye not know that the wicked is reserved to the day of destruction? They shall be brought forth to the day of wrath. Job 21:29,30.
Prayer:—Help, Lord for we have all sinned. Enable us now to flee for refuge to Him who saves to the uttermost.

FREE SCHOOL SYSTEM.
The free schools of the nation are the bulwarks of American liberty. The support insures a free land as long as time shall be. They must be kept free from politics and free from religious domination. Religion should be taught in the home and the church and not in the schools. The system should be developed to such an extent as to insure as good schools in the rural districts as exist in the cities. The rural population is the backbone of the nation and from the rural districts come the greatest brain yet produced in America.

Texas is awakening to the need of improved schools. The survey made in 1926 was a step forward, and while the program as outlined may not be carried out right away, in time, it will be and the system will be improved. The great trouble with Texas and other states as well too much is expected of the teacher who receives too little pay. Only the best talent should be employed in the school room. Men and women who are of the highest type morally and with the best education possible should be the ones in the school room. The teacher must set the example for the child. Her or his everyday life should be circumspect. Many a man and woman owe their usefulness in life to the good example set by the teacher. Men and women who live clean upright lives should be the only ones employed in the school room. They set an example in religious living without teaching it.

Every safeguard should be thrown around the system to prevent politics and religion from entering the rooms where the young are taught and prepared for life's battle. The school rooms of the nation are the great melting pots where descendants of every nation meet on the common level and become Americanized. In the school room all are equal, and are entitled to equal opportunities to acquire knowledge and imbibe the spirit of the fathers who founded the great republic. The teacher owes certain duties to the child and the parents. That duty is to impart knowledge and set an example of clean living. The pupil owes certain duties to the teacher that of obedience and close attention to study. The parent also owes a duty to the teacher, and that is to uphold his hands and aid him in his work of training the child.

IT'S UP TO DAN.
Whether or not Jim Ferguson will be denied citizenship, is up to Dan Moody.

Whether or not the auto user will have to pay a tax of three cents a gallon on every gallon of gasoline used, is up to Dan.

Whether or not the owner or buyer of a motor car will have to continue paying the exorbitant license to use his car on the highways of Texas is up to Dan.

The legislature has put a number of important matters up to Dan and he has handled them wisely. The amount of money to be given the various state institutions of learning and others as well soon will be up to Dan to decide. The appropriation bill has been introduced, but so far has not run the gamut of both houses of the legislature.

The appropriation bill is one of the most important ones of the session. When that bill is passed and the highway law revised, the taxation questions settled, then the legislature should adjourn.

The hopper is too full of bills that are needless and freakish.

One thing we hope that when it is put up to Dan that he will be man enough to give the state institutions of higher education sufficient funds also protect the interests of the common schools.

SHORT COURSE CLOSED.
The short course in agriculture and kindred topics closed Friday night. In attendance it was smaller than expected, due to the weather, but the benefits derived from it cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

The farmers of Eastland county should be much wiser than before the lecturers came. They had a splendid message for the producers of the oil belt. Their lectures went home. We only hope that they will see fit to come again. We assure them that the next time the hall will be packed.

MORE CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS.
It's time for towns in the oil belt to begin to put on their spring dress and make the needed civic improvements. More streets should be paved, if not paved macadamized or gravelled. More street lights should be installed, and more sidewalks laid. The eyes of the world again are turned toward Eastland county and the towns in the county should hypnotize them to get an increase in population and in industrial plants.

Now is a good time to set out more trees, shrubbery and rose bushes, to say nothing of putting out baibs. Pretty yards attract the eyes of the visitors.

HINDUS AND CHINESE MAY JOIN FORCES

By United Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Feb. 19.—Smouldering fires of resentment in India against the mother country, would spread into a conflagration of revolt of the 150,000,000 known members of the Indian nationalist party if England attempts to use force in China, M. Sing, chief secretary in America of the party warned tonight.

An agreement, which practically amounts to an alliance, Sing told the United Press, has been entered into between the leaders of the two great national parties (the Kuo Min Tang and the Hindoostan Gaddars) of China and India to present a united front against Great Britain, if that country should attempt force to interfere with the Chinese internal struggle.

The combined known membership of these two parties is more than 300,000,000.

Further evidence that Indian and Chinese nationalists are in accord, is seen in a resolution passed by the India party. Attacking Britain's policy in China and supporting that of the Chinese nationalists members of the party in America, Sing said, has unanimously voiced their approval of the resolution.

"British imperialism," the resolution stated "is the common enemy of China and India. The Chinese people are in reality struggling to free themselves from the imperialism and we the Indian nationalist party sympathize with, and endorse the Chinese program in its struggle for freedom from the domination of foreign powers."

Pay Struck Same Depth As First Well

night their vigils had not been rewarded.

Duffer No. 3, drilling at 3,370 feet is not very far from the pay, and Gulf Duffer No. 2 is a close behind it at 3,260 feet. Gulf Duffer No. 1 is putting up a standard rig and preparing to drill deeper. The change in rigs was made at between 2,100 and 2,200 feet.

Filled up Saturday.
Duffer No. 2 filled up Saturday afternoon and flowed several times, but it was not possible to estimate what its production would be, but with the amount of oil that is in the hole, there seems to be no doubt that the second producer is on the eve of announcing itself in this new Eastland county pool.

Discovery of oil in this unexplored area, which for some reason was passed up during the hectic days of 1917-1920, with one or two attempts, have caused a revival in Eastland county's oil fields and has been the cause of much trading of leases and royalties.

Over $150,000 in royalties have changed hands since the wildcatter, Duffer No. 1, announced itself, the last weeks in December. This same wildcatter stepped out of the unproven into the proven long ago, and is still maintaining its right to be classed as an "issuer" by holding up with a production of 550 barrels a day.

The Duffer tract, also called the Gholson pool has visibly changed since December, 1926. Today several derricks line themselves against the sky line. A pipe line has been laid by Chestnut & Smith corporation, land has been cleared, and extension of the field is spreading in several directions.

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kan., Feb. 19.—No longer will the 50-mile gales, heavy snow storms and drifting snows hold terrors for farmers of Chase county who must keep in communication with the county seat during the winter months. Snow fences, erected in the fall and taken down and rolled up in the spring, are successfully keeping the western Kansas roads clear of snow. The fences are made of woven wire with pickets four or five feet high and are stretched along the north side of the highways 100 feet back from the road.

LAUNDRY PROPRIETOR IS CRUSHED

Caught between a cement wall and a two hundred and eighty pound barrel filled with washing solution, N. O. White, proprietor of the Gholson Hotel Laundry, Ranger, is in the City-County hospital today suffering with a severe compound fracture of the bones of his right leg.

The accident happened Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Mr. White, assisted by a negro man, was attempting to take the large barrel down the cement steps in the rear of the Gholson, that lead to the basement. Mr. White was on the side next to the wall when the ungainly burden slipped and got away from Mr. White's hold. On account of the size of the barrel and the narrowness of the passage, before he could reach the door that leads into the basement, the barrel caught him and crushed him against the wall. His foot was so badly smashed that the bones were found protruding through the flesh, when employees of the hotel and others rushed to his assistance.

Late Saturday night he was reported to be resting very well.

Mr. White lately has been installing new machinery in the laundry and was doing commercial work.

Stolen "Chevy" Once Recovered Is Gone Again

Having his Chevrolet car stolen, returned to him and stolen again in a week's time, is the experience of Donald Short of Eastland.

On Saturday, February 12, while Mr. Short was in Ranger his car was stolen from its parking place on Marston street about 3:30 o'clock. It was recovered early in the week, three miles east of Abilene, where it was abandoned in a mud hole.

Last night it was stolen again, at almost the same place in Ranger, but a little later in the evening.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19.—The twenty-second annual convention of the Texas Independent Telephone Association is to be held here March 15 to 18.

RANGER AFTER BIG CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A bigger chamber of commerce for 1927, was outlined by the members of the membership committee of the Ranger commercial body, who met Friday and formulated plans for completion of the membership drive.

A modest budget of only $10,000 is the goal set by the budget committee who after going into the needs of the organization decided on that conservative amount.

Ranger's neighboring cities operate on a budget two and a half times that much and in view of the accomplishments of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce during 1927, this amount is far from excessive.

Campaign Committee.
The finance campaign committee, consisting of John M. Gholson, executive chairman; J. T. Gullahorn, Ed Maher and W. W. Housewright and Marvin K. Collic, hopes to complete the drive right away. They have mapped out a campaign to put the matter squarely and plainly before prospective members so as to get the matter of the 1927 budget out of the way as soon as possible for as long as it hangs fire, it is hard to get constructive work under headway.

They are hoping that the response to letters that are being sent out regarding pledges, will not be pigeonholed for future reference, but will be signed and mailed in to the committee.

AMERICAN WOMAN GETS AMBASSADOR'S HOME

By United Press.
LONDON—Crews house, the home of two successive American ambassadors to Great Britain, and which was recently vacated when Ambassador Houghton moved to Morgan house, will shortly have another American chateau.

The new American mistress of the old residence, conspicuous among its Mayfair neighbors for its country residence appearance with its wide lawns and shade trees in the heart of London, will be Mrs. Saxon Drury, who before her marriage last year was Miss Mabel Gerry.

VIENNA, Feb. 19.—Renewed earthquakes were reported in Jugo-Slavia today. A dispatch from Belgrade said a quake at 6:40 a. m. damaged property and renewed panic of the population in Bosnia, and Herzegovina.

By United Press.
YUMA, Ariz., Feb. 19.—Driven out of their homes in the Mohawk valley by floodwaters of the raging Gila river, refugees were arriving here by the scores tonight on railroad hand-cars and on foot.

Practically every bridge on the Gila river was reported to have been swept away by the floods.

Huge property loss has been caused and all roads are closed, but no fatalities have been reported.

Bones of Bear Create Furore Indiana Town

By United Press.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 19.—Leg bones which appeared to be those of a child about 7 years old were found by boys playing near a railroad track today.

Attached to the gruesome exhibit was a note reading:
"Merry Christmas, Jim; this is the last one that talked."

Extra editions of newspapers appeared on the streets with the story, and the police department saw visions of "maniacal murders and worse."

Anxious mothers kept their children in the home unless a similar fate should befall them.

Then appeared Russell Myers, he announced the bones were those of a bear—he helped to kill last year.

Completion of this stretch of the road will bring to an end the original dream of the builders of the railway.

INSANE MAN KILLS WIFE, BABY, SELF

By United Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 19.—Insane frenzy on the part of a husband was responsible for the wiping out of an entire family here today.

Emery James, 35 years old, obtained a shotgun and blew out his wife's brains, killed Reva, their one-month-old baby, and then ended his bloody orgy by blowing his own head off with the same weapon.

There was not a witness to the tragedy which occurred in a sanitarium operated by Mrs. Catherine Mathiot where Mrs. James was employed.

Survey of Storm Areas Reveal Only 35 Killed

By United Press.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 19.—A thorough survey today of the widely separated districts in three southern states affected by Thursday night's cyclone revealed thirty-five dead, one hundred and fifty injured and property damage estimated at $500,000.

Red Cross and volunteer workers were ministering to sufferers in all stricken territories today.

CANADIAN INVESTORS BUY GOVERNMENT BONDS

By United Press.
MONTREAL, P. Q.—People in Canada have invested two billion dollars in Dominion government bonds in the last twelve years, Sir Vincent Meredith, president of the Bank of Montreal, declared in an address before the institution's annual meeting.

"Of the Dominion's present national debt of $2,500,000,000," said Sir Vincent, "80 percent or $1,964,000,000 is held by Canadians themselves. Twelve years ago when the world war broke out, the federal debt was $330,000,000 practically all of which was held by investors in Europe and the United States."

BUENOS AIRES.—Antonio Fur-narckis, an avowed anarchist, could not get possession from the police here to argue the public on the heavy chain and padlocked himself to the end rail of a subway entrance on the main avenue and gave the key a comrade to dispose of. Newman Returns With Negro From Dickens County

Deputy Sheriff M. Newman, given the delicate task of delivering a negro from the Dickens county jail to Eastland, found Dickens county in a state of excitement and hostility toward blacks as a result of the finding of a body of a white man in a canyon near there recently, following which a negro was arrested and charged with the crime. Miles Logan, the negro returned to the jail here by Officer Newman, was held by Dickens county officers for the Eastland sheriff. He is charged with shooting another negro, Marvin Johnson, at Ranger.

Eastland County Rural Schools to Get State Aid

Rural schools of Eastland county have been granted $11,385 state aid as the result of an inspection just completed by William Eilers, of the state department of education. The amount granted the schools is necessary to their proper operation, and will enable them to conduct the usual terms instead of cutting them short as much as two to three months, as would have been the case but for the aid given. The amount granted by the inspector is $85 more than the office allotment, and Miss Beulah Speer, county superintendent of schools, expressed gratitude for the liberality shown by the inspector. That good management is responsible for the progress being made by all Eastland county schools, for which credit is due Miss Speer and the small army of school trustees and teachers employed on the work, is shown in a letter received by Miss Speer. The amount to be received by each of the 30 schools in the county that made application for free state aid will be announced by the superintendent of schools, Miss Speer, at a later date.

Cisco's Basket Ball Tourney Draws 40 Teams

Special Correspondence.

CISCO, Feb. 19.—Indications that 40 teams from all sections of Texas from El Paso on east will enter the Amateur Athletic association state basketball championship tournament here Friday and Saturday were reported here Saturday by the chamber of commerce, sponsoring the event. Replies to invitations to numerous high schools indicated a response unexpectedly large. It was said, and indications now point to a meet far more successful than anticipated.

Coolidge, down in Central Texas near Waco, was the first to enroll for the tournament. They came El Paso high from way out on the border. Four teams from Dallas, several from Fort Worth and representatives from Ranger, Eastland, Breckinridge, Stephenville, Abilene, Cisco, Rising Star, Mineral Wells, and numerous teams from north and central Texas have signified their expectation of entering the tourney, it was said.

While the tournament will be played under rules of the University Interscholastic league, it is an invitation affair and the teams entering are not required to have won the championship of their own county or district. The tournament will be played in two sections, one for the championship, and the other for the consolation honors. This insures every team entering the tournament at least two games. Handsome silver loving cups have been received and are on display here now. Cups will be awarded winners of the first four places in the championship round and for the first two places in the consolation round. In addition, gold, silver and bronze footballs will be awarded members of the first, second and third place teams in the championship round.

A great crowd is expected to see the contests which will be held in the gymnasium of Cisco high school where the A. A. U. basketball tournament for girls was held last year.

Rockne Defines Dirty Football and Hard Games

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Ed.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Charges made by Wymant Hubbard, former Harvard football star, that Princeton plays dirty football caused a number of discussions among football players and coaches in which frequent references were made to the difference between "hard football" and "dirty football."

It seems like a mighty fine line of distinction to draw and even to coaches have difficulty in explaining to layman just what the difference is between hard football and dirty football.

"If you were a player you would understand," a prominent coach said. "Hard football is using every ounce of strength and every weapon of mechanics permitted by the ethics of sportsmanship and by the provision of the rules. Dirty football is doing things that you don't have to do."

Three years ago the writer was in South Bend on the Tuesday following the game in New York between the Army and Notre Dame. He was talking with Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach before the squad reported for practice.

"I don't know what I'm going to do next Saturday," he said. "Adam Walsh, my star center, has two broken hands. The two tackles are hurt and the backfield (the Four Horsemen) is hardly able to walk. Wait until you see them when they come out. The first line couldn't work at all yesterday and I don't know if I can get anything out of them today."

"The Army must have given you a fine beating," it was suggested to him.

"They surely did," he replied.

"Was it dirty football?" he was asked.

Rockne exploded at the question. "Dirty football?" he shouted. "Never! We've all heard stories about dirty football played by the army but I think I am as familiar with army football as any coach in the country. The Cadets don't play dirty football. They play good clean hard football and that's the game. It's no chess match. I'll tell you why there are occasionally more injuries against the army than in other games."

They are hard youngsters, those cadets. By hard I mean they are physically almost perfect and they always are in condition. They go to West Point as the finest specimens of youth that can be obtained and the strict discipline and the rigor of army life make them like granite. My team was lighter and not as strong and when they were tackled in the open or taken out of a play they were taken out hard and when something has to give it is the weaker of the two forces.

"It used to be said that Notre Dame played dirty football but I won't tolerate it. If I had a team as big and strong as the army and as well trained physically, my team would play just as hard."

In this connection it is said of Princeton, army and Notre Dame that they play dirty football more frequently than it is said of other prominent teams.

And there is a reason for it. The three teams play a style of smashing attack that calls for the best of physical condition. It is the system followed by their coaches that demands a vigorous attack and a desperate defense and when they go against a team that hasn't the same spirit or equal strength injuries are overestimated.

In recent years Princeton teams practically always went into the Big Three games in better physical condition than Yale or Harvard and if Yale and Harvard cannot keep their men as sound as Princeton there must be something wrong with the system of training as there are no giants at Princeton and the Yale and Harvard boys are not nature's weaklings. Princeton, on the other hand, could find excuses for having their teams in an inferior condition as they play harder schedules, than Yale or Harvard.

Butlers Differ On Question Of Evolution

By United Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19.—There are two men named Butler in the Tennessee legislature and they are decidedly different when it comes to a discussion of the instruction of evolution in the schools.

One is Rep. J. W. Butler of Macon county, author of the state's famous anti-evolution law under which John W. Scopes, Dayton instructor, was convicted.

The other one is Senator E. E. Butler, of Johnson county, who does not believe in restricting research work along educational lines.

The author of the evolution bill comes from the middle section of the state and belongs to the Primitive Baptist church. His beliefs are summed up:

"We believe in predestination and foot washing. We believe what is to be will be although the thought summed up in that statement is misunderstood. I am a farmer now but I once taught school in my county."

Senator Butler believes:

"I am open to conviction on the subject of restriction of teaching in our schools, but I do believe we should not restrict research. I welcome wherever we find can find it. We need more truth and less error. When I voted for the anti-evolution bill two years ago I thought nothing would come of it. I have read much on the subject since and the principle the law violates is one which should be handled with great care."

BILL CARRIGAN AGAIN TO LEAD BOSTON RED SOX

By HENRY MINOTT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—With Bill Carrigan back on his old job as manager, Boston fans await the 1934 campaign of the Boston Red Sox with great expectations.

General belief among baseball followers in this once-famous baseball town seem to be that at last the Sox have an excellent chance of climbing out of the American league cellar.

It was Carrigan who piloted the Red Sox to world championships in 1915 and 1916. He retired then, but he left enough material to permit the Sox to win another world championship two years later.

Already, Carrigan has taken steps toward repairing battery weaknesses that largely accounted for the team's poor showing last season.

Rookie pitchers assembled by the returned manager include Fred Benjamin, who starred for Topeka last season; Johnny Wilson, who lost only six of the 22 games he pitched for Sanford, Fla., in 1926; Danny MacFadden, 20, of Somerville; Rudolph Sommers from Columbus and Bob Adams from Dover, Del.

For places on the pitching staff these youngsters will contend with veterans Jack Russell, Charles Rufin, Bryan Harris, Fred Wingfield, Benjar Lundgren, Harold Witse and Tony Welzer.

Freddy Hofmann is scheduled to be first-string catcher for the Red Sox during the coming season. He comes from the St. Paul club of the American association, in which league he was rated as one of the best backstops.

Other prospects for this berth are Grover Cleveland Hartley, a veteran of the Indianapolis club; and William Moore from Portland, Me.; Clifford Knox from Hartford, Conn.; and Chester Horan, from Frederic, Md.

Paul Wanninger, from St. Paul formerly star shortstop of the American association, is expected to win a regular berth in the infield, which probably will be further strengthened by Russell Rollins, previously with the Mobile club of the Dixie league.

Jack Rothrock has been recalled from Rochester and Bill Rogell from Jersey City as other infield prospects.

Two outfield berths are almost certain to be filled by Ira Flagstead and Bill Jacobson. The contest for the third position will involve Fred Bezler, Gus Carlyle, Walter Shaner and John Tobin.

The Sox will start spring training at New Orleans March 1.

Junior College Basketeers Close Season, 2 Defeats

Coach Berry and his Ranger Junior college basketeers have just completed a most successful season. Playing 14 games the collegians won 12. The only club to defeat them was the super machine of Coach McDaniel of Weatherford college, which team twice administered defeat to the locals.

The collegians registered a total of 412 points for the season. Captain Hamblen took honors in individual scoring, amassing 188 points. Davenport was consistent throughout the season with his splendid floor work.

Awards will soon be made to the players. Either sweaters or gold basketball balls will be given. Those to receive letters are as follows:

Harry Hamblen (captain), forward.
Louise Harvey, forward.
Lester Davenport, center.
Ewell (Big) Phillips, guard.
Barney Roof, guard.
Floyd Killingsworth, guard.

Hagen Far Off His Usual Game Southern Tour

By CLARK B. KELSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Followers of golf are going to watch Walter Hagen, for many years known as America's premier "money player," early in the coming season with unusual interest, following his disastrous season of winter golf.

Hagen swept through California and the southern states at the tail end of the comet, while other stars of the fairway glistened during the same period. He was so far off his normal game that the gallery that usually gathers in his wake deserted him entirely to watch the performance of lesser lights.

While Hagen was able to drive as well—if not better than usual—his best shot, the mashie chip to the pin seemed to have deserted him entirely.

The most amazing thing about Hagen's winter disintegration was that he was consistently poor throughout the entire season. Other players are known as erratic, called "in and outers," and are expected to play well at times, and fail miserably at others.

In the Texas Open event, Hagen took an average of six shots better than his usual round for each of the four 18 hole rounds. In California he had the golf followers who had heard of but never seen the great "Haig" wondering just what it was

INDIANS' PILOT HAS ABLE ARRAY OF NEW TALENT

By GERALD D. McCLEAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—When Jack McAllister takes the Cleveland Tribe to Lakeland, Fla., this spring, the new manager of the Indians will have with him 21 members of last year's team and ten recruits.

McAllister faces his first season as a major pilot with a serious problem to solve, namely, finding a catcher to fill the shoes vacated by Tris Speaker. He has six candidates: Charley Jamieson, regular leftfielder, Homer Summa, regular right fielder, Pat McNulty and Fred Eichrodt, utility outfielders last year, and George Gerken and Ed Woher, two new men.

Gerken is said to be a great prospect. He was with Decatur in the Three-I League last season and Cleveland outbid several clubs for him.

Texan in Bunch
Woher was snared in the draft. A giant of a fellow, he hit 18 home runs in the first few weeks of the Texas league season in 1926.

McNulty is very fast and a fine hitter, but has never shown much ambition. More fire in his nature and serious application to the correction of his fielding would make him a formidable contender for the post left by Speaker. He bats left handed.

Eichrodt is a right handed hitter, a snappy player and a good fielder.

Pitching Staff
George Uhle heads the pitching staff. Uhle won more games than any other hurler in the American league last season. Advance dope has it that he will be among the leaders when the 1927 curtain is rung down.

Uhle, Emil Levens and Ben Karr are the only veteran right handed pitchers in the lineup. Willis Hudlin, a young right hander from the East Texas league who made a sensational debut last fall, is expected to get a regular berth.

In the southpaw division, the veterans are Garland Buckeye, Sherrod Smith, Joe Shaute and Walter Miller, Carl Yowell, on the voluntary retired list of last season, will give his injured arm another chance this spring at Lakeland.

New pitchers are Earl Collard, right hander from Evansville in the Three-I league, C. G. Bolton, semi-pro southpaw who has pitched for teams around Cleveland for the past several years, and Ollie Perry a sandlotter from Texas.

Sewell on Job
Luke Sewell is slated for his old job of regular catcher, although he is expected to find stiff opposition in Chick Autry, who was out of most of the last season with intestinal trouble. Glenn Myatt is the third backstop.

Only one important addition has been made to the infield of George Burns at first base, Fred Spurgeon at second, Joe Sewell at short, and Walter Lutzke at third. Lew Fonseca, leading base stealer, leading second baseman and second best batter in the International League in 1926, will be on hand to try to nose Burns or Spurgeon out of a regular berth.

Johnny Hodapp, third baseman, and Ernest Padgett, general utility, will be back for relief infield work.

Bill Usat, with Waco last year in the Texas league, Jim Vorhoff, last year with Williamsport in the New York-Pennsylvania league and Carl Lind, who played with New Orleans in the Southern Association and with Peoria in the Three-I league last season will be given tryouts.

Here is the list of players Jack McAllister will take with him to Lakeland for the spring training season:

Pitchers—George Uhle, Walter Miller, Emil Levens, Ben Karr, Garland Buckeye, Willis Hudlin, Sherrod Smith, Joe Shaute, Carl Yowell, Ollie Perry, C. G. Bolton, Earl Collard.

Catchers—Luke Sewell, Chick Autry, Glenn Myatt.

Infielders—George Burns, Fred Spurgeon, Joe Sewell, Walter Lutzke, Carl Lind, Johnny Hodapp, Ernest Padgett, Jim Vorhoff, Lew Fonseca, Bill Usat.

Outfielders—Charles Jamieson, Homer Summa, Pat McNulty, Fred Eichrodt, George Gerken, Ed (Moose) Woher.

DETROIT TIGERS SEES NEED FOR GOOD PITCHERS

By United Press.

DETROIT, Feb. 19.—George Moriarity, replacing Ty Cobb as manager of the Detroit Tigers, intends to return to the "hard work and much of it" system of spring training.

The former American League umpire said that he needed to spend but little time in selecting an opening day lineup.

"But," he added, "what we do need is good, strong pitchers who can go the route, we are going to try and find a few."

Moriarity is taking 35 men to San Antonio, Texas. Seventeen of them are pitchers. He has scheduled 33 games over a period of less than one month. This is twice the number of games Ty Cobb attempted to play last spring.

Not since the days of "Wild Bill" Donovan, has Detroit had a dependable pitching staff. The last few years they have almost invariably got off to a poor start, and probably more Tiger pitchers have been sent to the showers during these games than those of any other club.

The veterans, George Daus, recently in the limelight, "Dutch" Leonard, complained they were overworked by Cobb. Few of the other pitchers were able to complete nine innings.

If there is anything to the "riding" tactics charged to Cobb, followers of the team predict that Kenneth Holloway, "Rip" Collins and Earl Whitehill will show sensational reversal of form this year.

14 Years Record
Given a regular rest period of four days "Hooker" Daus, who has a 14-year winning record with the team, should have a good year. Edwin Wells and August Johns, left-handers, Sam Gibbons, George Smith and Lil Stoner, right-handers, are other regulars who will fight for berths.

Owen Carroll, former star of Moly Cross pitcher, who had a sensational start with Toronto last year, but was in difficulty later because of poor control, heads the list of young pitchers coming up for trial.

Others reporting are Jess Doyle, drafted from Toronto and formerly with Detroit; Donald Hankins, purchased from Newark; H. T. Owens, drafted from San Antonio; Charles Sullivan, purchased from Port Worth and Frank Watt, recalled from a year's rest, all right-handers. Rudolph Knetsch, bought from Shamokin, Pa., and James Walkup, from Port Worth, are portside reporting.

Lou Blue, who was in frequent difficulties with Cobb, is expected to do a good job at first base, ably assisted by Johnny Neun. Marty Manus, secured from the Browns this winter, has taken second base away from Charlie Gehringer, youngster who came up from Toronto last spring.

Third Base
Gehringer has one of the largest pair of hands in the league. He is looked upon as a great possibility and will fight it out with Jack Warner, former Coast Leaguer, for third base. This is the one infield uncertainty.

Jackie Tavener, shortstop, has two contestants for his job, Bernard De Viveiros, purchased from Beaumont, Texas, and George Redfern, purchased from Nashville. One of the latter probably will make the utility role, but Tavener, unless injured, will start at short.

Heinie Manush, Bob Fothergill and Harry Hellmann finished among the first five batters last season, and are as certain to start in the outfield as anything can be certain in baseball. "Red" Wingo, will continue in the utility role and Arthur Rube has been recalled from Nashville as a second reserve.

Johnny Bassler, veteran catcher, seems assured of the first string catching job, but Larry Woodall and Clyde Manion, his assistants, must fight it out with Mervyn Shea, purchased for a sum reported to be $40,000 from Sacramento. Shea goes back unless he makes good by May 15.

Moriarity has "Lefty" Leifeld, former major league hurler, and coach of the Boston Red Sox last year, to help him look over the pitching job.

College Star

Here is James Dalrymple, St. Viator College athletic star, whose success as a ball player has caused three major league clubs to seek his services. He plays shortstop.

Explorer Plans To Penetrate The Abyssinian Wilds

Gordon MacCreagh, well known explorer and author, is on the Atlantic Ocean today on his way to Abyssinia, where Adventure Magazine is sending him to clear up the mystery of the Ark of the Covenant, which is said to be hidden in a mountain temple near the headwaters of the Tokesse River.

While in Abyssinia Mr. MacCreagh will do important work for the National Zoological Park in Washington and the Smithsonian Institution. He will, for instance, try to bring back the rare gellada and hamadryas baboons, specimens of which Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological park, wants for the government collection. He will also try to capture at least one black-maned lion and a number of other rare wild animals.

Movie Operator.
Mr. MacCreagh will be accompanied by his wife, who is an expert rifle shot, and Earl Rosman, fellow explorer and motion-picture photographer, and every phase of the expedition will be chronicled on the film.

Mr. MacCreagh will also track down reports of a tribe of Jews who refused to make the Red Sea passage with Moses and went South instead, and are now said to be living near Falashes. The ancient forms and ceremonies of the race are said to be still observed, and the explorer expects to verify the existing reports and to bring back valuable motion pictures of the tribe and its rituals.

Other fanciful legends abound in Abyssinia, and the mission of Mr. MacCreagh will include a search for historical proof of curious admixtures of race. A Harrar, for instance, are ruins which have been stated by a French investigator to be of Celtic origin.

Hamran Tribe.
Along the Setit river, a tributary of the Atbara, are a Hamran tribe with whom Sir Samuel Baker sojourned for a time. This group hunt elephants with the characteristic cross hill of the crusaders' swords and they take after lions with shield and spear. In Lalibela are temples hewn from solid cliffs and the antiquity of these is believed to go back to 700 B. C.

Mr. MacCreagh in addition to exploration and historical inquiry will seek to bring back to the National Zoological park rare animals whose presence has been reported, but which have never been seen in this country.

Gordon MacCreagh was the leader of the Mulford Expedition to the Amazon Basin. Of the party of eight that started only MacCreagh and another carried through. His experiences on that exploration have been described in his book, "White Waters and Black." His contributions to science and history through that trip were innumerable, but because of the general lack of knowledge on Abyssinia he is confident of far richer results for his impending expedition.

Mr. MacCreagh expects to be away for about a year. He will cable reports of his findings to Adventure Magazine, which will publish them twice every month until he returns.

Calvert Calls On Golfers to Get Into Play

Ray Calvert, chairman of the golf tournament committee of the Ranger Country club, urges that every member of the club who expects to participate in the coming spring tournaments, come out today and swing their clubs.

"It will be necessary to swing right into action," Calvert said, "if Ranger golfers are going to be ready for the ladder tournament, which will begin next Sunday.

These balmy days are made for golfing and the greens should be dotted with enthusiastic golfers not only today but all during the week when welders of the clubs can get a spare hour or two to get in a little practice.

Higher Salaries And Dormitories Is Plea of C. I. A.

Special Correspondence.

DENTON, Feb. 19.—A plea for additional dormitory facilities and higher salary schedules is being made before the state legislature by L. H. Hubbard, president of the College of Industrial Arts. The board of control failed to recommend any dormitories for C. I. A. for the next biennium.

President Hubbard says, "If C. I. A. is to continue its organization as a residential college—and all colleges for women should be organized on such a basis—it is essential that more dormitories be added to the C. I. A. system."

The campus now provides accommodations for only 600 students, the rest residing in houses near the college.

President Hubbard pointed out that the city of Dallas has a better

League Faces Busy Sessions First 6 Months

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

GENEVA.—The program of the League of Nations for the first six months of 1927 indicate that the year will be the most important in the history of the League to date.

During that period there will be no less than thirty international conferences and commissions meetings are scheduled and it is expected that this number will be more than doubled before the end of the year.

The League's 1927 year was started rolling on January 5 by the meeting of a group of international tax experts to draft an international convention covering the questions of double taxation and fiscal evasion. Since the close of the war these questions have become two of the most important which nearly all European governments as well as any American ones have been obliged to face from the standpoint of revenue raising.

Identity. The league's committee for providing identity documents, or league passports to people without nationalities has also met already.

Other league commissions that will meet during January will cover such questions as the league's finances, smallpox and vaccination, the formation of an international museum of office, suppression of the opium traffic, international infant welfare, international bibliography in economic sciences, and bibliography on Greco-Roman antiquity.

The program for February includes the meetings of league committee of experts on civil aviation that will meet at Brussels, its international health commission, a special commission that will meet at London for the purpose of studying the League of Nations, its inter-change of public health officers who will meet at London, and its permanent economic committee which will meet at Rome. The financial committee will meet on March 2.

Disarmament. Following the forty-fourth regular session of the league council on March 6, a series of meetings of disarmament commissions will be held that will culminate in the meeting on March 21 of the league's preparatory disarmament commission, on which the United States is represented, and which will draw up at that time the proposed draft of an international disarmament convention.

On March 22, the league's committee of the progressive codification of international law will meet and three days later there will be a final conference relative to the inter-change of public health officers, the latter being financed largely by the Rockefeller foundation.

April's Program. April will see the league's international conference on rabies meet at Paris on the 25th and on the same date there will meet at Geneva the league's advisory committee for the protection and welfare of children.

On May 4, the league will inaugurate at Geneva its international economic conference, which will be the league's greatest undertaking for the year, and this will be followed some two weeks later by the international labor conference.

On June 20th the league's permanent mandates commission will meet for its annual examination of the manner in which all mandated territories are being administered, and finally on July 4, the league's conference will be held for launching an international relief union for nations stricken by great disasters.

Scout Leaders In County Meet Joint Session

(Continued from page one.) movement is gaining recognition in 39 nations, with more than 1,000,000 members. Three million boys have taken the scout oath since 1910, he said.

While there are 2,000 boys of scout age in Eastland county as many of these as 200 interested in scouting can receive inestimable advantages as a result, the speaker said.

Need Aid. Mr. Housewright, who is familiar with the problems of scout leaders, and declared that the scoutmasters in each town will need all the assistance they can possibly get. Publicity and advertising will do more toward putting the program over than anything else, Mr. Housewright said.

He announced the tentative program for the boys' week this spring, which is Saturday, parade; Sunday, churches; Monday, schools; Tuesday, industry; Wednesday, entertainment; Thursday, citizenship; Friday, health and home, and Saturday out of doors. He also announced a meeting this week of the scoutmasters and leaders in the movement to elect officers for the Eastland county council.

Texas U. Exes Called to Meet Monday Night

All Texas University Exes are asked to be at the high school, Ranger, Monday evening at 7:30, for the purpose of rounding out the program and other plans for the annual banquet on March 2.

Prospects indicate that the attendance at the banquet of Texas Exes will be quite large and since it is the first time that Ranger Exes have played hosts, it is necessary that every man or woman who belongs to the order of Texas Exes be present Monday night to help complete plans for the event. L. H. Flewelling is chairman of the Oil Belt Association.

OLDEN.—Virgil Hamilton will rebuild fire station recently destroyed by fire.

Rising Star Entertains Central Body

(Continued from page one.) by representatives from four towns, representing twelve clubs in all, at the Methodist church in that city, which was fittingly decorated for the occasion, and the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Phillip Pettit, president of the federation.

Student Loan Fund. A number of matters came before the body. Mrs. C. U. Connelley of Eastland reported that the student loan fund, one of the many things the federation is turning its good right hand to, was being put to good use and told some of its workings.

Mrs. R. Q. Lee offered as an amendment to the constitution, that each club belonging to the county federation must have at least three members present at each monthly meeting of the federation or else pay a fine of fifty cents for each of the three members not present.

Miss Irma Stealy of El Paso, announced that a $50 prize would be given to the district giving the best report on home economics, emphasizing mothercraft, this report to include activities under Mrs. J. U. Fields regime only.

Receive Flea. Miss Grace Stewart, superintendent of the City-County hospital sent in a plea for a wheel chair for the use of convalescing patients at that institution.

Mrs. C. U. Connelley conducted the program, which was on gardens. Mr. Ely, florist of Cisco, was present with his musical family, two daughters and a son, who entertained with many pleasing numbers, rendering a semi-classical program.

Rising Star furnished three numbers on the program, two little tots in a Colonial costume giving a clever number, a sweet young girl sang, "In the Garden," and Mr. Ely gave a lecture on bulbs, that was intensely interesting.

Garden to Fit Home. Mrs. Oscar Chastain of Eastland talked on "The Garden to Fit the Home," Mrs. J. M. Perkins of Eastland, on annuals, and Mrs. Lexie Deane Robertson of Rising Star, gave an original poem of "Garden Week." Mrs. R. Q. Lee talked on the well planned garden, followed by a talk by Mrs. C. U. Connelley on gardening.

An invitation from the Twentieth Century club of Cisco inviting the federation to meet there on March 11, was read and accepted, at that time state parliamentarian, Mrs. Buchanan of Fort Worth will be present and conduct a club council.

While dainty refreshments were being served Mr. Ely and his family entertained with musical numbers.

English Labor Leader Sees End Of Tariff Walls

By United Press. DETROIT.—America's commercial dominion has literally thrown nations of Europe into one another's arms and it is not unlikely for the future that they will band together as the United States of Europe, in the opinion of John L. Davies, former labor candidate for British parliament.

America's economic preponderance is due to the fact that it has no internal tariffs, Davies said. "The banding together of all European countries in a comparatively perfect spirit of cooperation and free from all troublesome tariffs is not far off in my belief. Tariff walls between nations cause wars as do national vanity and boastfulness."

He also branded the teaching of military training in schools as "stupid."

Russian Atheists Report Progress Made in Moscow

By United Press. MOSCOW.—The "Society of the Godless" in Moscow claimed to be making considerable headway with its atheistic teachings, in a statistical chart of its activities, recently published.

It shows that in 1926 church marriages comprised only 21 per cent of all registered marriages in Moscow. In the preceding years, one-fourth of all registered civil marriages were followed by religious service.

Only 54 per cent of all children born in Moscow last year were baptized under religious auspices, the report states and 40 per cent of all those who died during the year were buried without benefit of clergy.

Special entertainments programs are to be presented nightly under canopies of lanterns. A fashion show with Chinese girls serving as models to display the latest creations of the western world is one feature of the celebration. The fête will continue until Feb. 26.

Monoxide Gas Failure as Rat Exterminator

By United Press. OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 17.—Monoxide gas may be dangerous for human beings, but as a rat exterminator it is worthless, take it from Charles Kranda, gentleman farmer.

Kranda, who opened a 10-acre farm as a sideline near here, recently caught four mammoth rats which had been bothering his chickens. Looking around for a humane way to kill them he thought of the monoxide gas method.

Tying a sack around the neck of the rat, he hung it on the exhaust pipe of his automobile, closed the gas valve tightly and turned on the motor. He left the motor of his car run for half an hour. At the end of that time Kranda threw open the garage door, shut off the engine and prepared to bury the dead rats.

When he approached the cage he found they were very much alive. They tried to break out of the cage to get at him and so Kranda was their actions that Kranda's German police dog became alarmed and beat a hasty retreat.

Exide Battery Company Moves Into New Place

The Exide Battery Company have moved into their new quarters at 205 South Commerce street, Ranger, in the building formerly occupied by the Jarecki Manufacturing Company.

The expansion of their business made the move from their old place of business at 115 South Commerce street, imperative, and comes as the result of three years of hard and conscientious work on the part of both partners, J. S. (Spud) Reynolds and C. L. Childs.

Both of these young business men have been in Ranger some seven years and until three years ago worked for other men. At that time they entered business, one might say on a shoestring, handling storage batteries, recharging batteries and doing general ignition work.

Winning personalities coupled with earnest and honest service, caused their business to grow from the start and when radio was reaching its popularity they stocked a line of radios and radio parts and became expert in radio construction and repairs.

When Crocodiles Cross Snouts in Mortal Combat

One of the rarest ever made by a naturalist is this photo of two crocodiles fighting to the death. It was obtained in northern Australia by Francis Birtles and shows one saurian (left) with his snout held fast by the other who is endeavoring to drown his antagonist by holding him under water. After taking this photo Birtles saw the former gradually cease his struggles and finally float away dead and the victor thrash his heavy tail and disappear.

Duke and Duchess Of York Reach Fiji Islands

By United Press.

SUVA (Fiji), Feb. 19.—Into the picturesque tropical harbor here surrounded by palm-fringed shores and studded with native villages, the British battle cruiser Renown steamed today, bearing the Duke of York, second son of the king of the British empire, and his wife, daughter of a Scotch earl, on their memorable tour of New Zealand and Australia.

With her pale grey coat of paint shimmering in the tropical sunshine of late afternoon, the Renown presented a spectacle of silver magnificence and might. As she was sighted on the offing, shrill cries of welcome came from the white residents of this outpost of the British empire and excited natives, arrayed in their best clothes for this occasion. Sava gets little excitement beyond the regular calling of the mail boats, and this was an occasion only equalled previously by the visit of the Prince of Wales in the same warship in April, 1920.

Launches sped out to meet the Renown, and as the gigantic vessel crept slowly to her mooring in the harbor, launches and a flotilla of native canoes swarmed around her. Their occupants shouted glad cries of welcome, the native tongue mingling colorfully with the lusty greetings of the Britishers. The Duke of York, with the tiny duchess standing alongside him, acknowledged the reception from the bridge of the Renown.

Governor Sir Eyre Hutson visited the duke as the vessel docked, warmly welcoming him to the hospitality of the British empire in the western Pacific, of which Suva is the headquarters. The Duke and Duchess of York gave a dinner aboard tonight, attended by the leading residents, including government officials and business men.

Officers of the Renown told of a crossing-the-line ceremony. The men and officers of the Renown evoked a sea pageant, on a scale of magnificence only previously rivalled by a similar ceremony on the ship during the Prince of Wales' visit seven years ago. High naval and military officers took part in a well organized scenic display. The duke did not enter into it personally as Wales did.

Proceedings began just before the ship crossed the equator, when a fearsome King Neptune, surrounded by his "court," a crowd of British bluejackets garbed in all kinds of fantastic costumes, hailed Captain Sullivan on the bridge, apparently from the sea. The captain stopped the ship and invited Neptune aboard. Rockets sent up from the forecastle disclosed Neptune and a few attendants emerging from a hawseppe. Sullivan megaphoned an invitation to come on the flag-deck, where Neptune was received in formal state by the duke and others with witty, topical speeches. Neptune in turn welcomed the duke and duchess to his domain of the Seven Seas, and the duke was initiated as a member of "Our Sea King's Brotherhood" and invested with the Order of the Equatorial Bath.

Two Ranger Homes Are Burglarized Friday Night

Two more Ranger homes were burglarized Friday night. The thieves still exhibiting a fondness for men's apparel.

The home of Steve Gilbert, 1200 Young street was entered and a hunting knife and flash light, a pair of trousers, are among the things that Mr. Gilbert reported missing Saturday morning to the Ranger police.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert were away from home at time of the burglary, and returned home about midnight, to find they had had some uninvited guests while they were away.

The second place to be burglarized was the W. R. Bowden home in Hodges Oak Park. This burglary took place early in the evening while the Bowden family were away from home. Here two suits of men's clothes, and six or seven shirts were taken.

Ranger police have not yet found any clues as to the identity of these burglars with a fondness for good clothes.

"Father" Jameson Suffers Cuts In Auto Accident

D. L. (Father) Jameson of Ranger was hurt in an automobile accident Thursday night, as he and his daughter, Miss Hallie Jameson, were en route to Fort Worth, and as a result of the accident, it was necessary to take eight stitches in his nose. A severe bruise on the head and other minor bruises were suffered by Mr. Jameson.

After a head-on collision with another car, which threw Mr. Jameson forward toward the windshield, Mr. Jameson was cut so badly that he was carried to a Fort Worth sanitarium, where he spent the night, going Friday to his daughter's home in Dallas.

Miss Hallie Jameson was not hurt, other than receiving a nervous shock. However, she will remain in Dallas with her father and sisters, as Miss Rosalie is there also, until Mr. Jameson is fully recovered from his accident, before proceeding to New York.

Here's Fair Warning

Warner Baxter and Lois Wilson in the Herbert Brenon Production "The Great Gatsby" A Paramount Picture

Herbert Brenon, noted movie director, recently jumped into the beauty pickers class and made Flo Ziesfield, Georgie White and Jake Shubert look like the proverbial three blind men searching for a hat that doesn't exist.

Six bathing girls were picked for the hilarious party sequence in Paramount's production of F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel, "The Great Gatsby." According to Brenon, "They're the peachiest peaches that ever snuggled into the bathing suits. Their names? Hazel Forbes, lately recognized as America's most beautiful woman, Claudia Hanks, Ruby Blaine, Jean Lorraine, Helen Chambers and Evelyn Kann."

Warner Baxter plays the title role in "The Great Gatsby." It arrives at the Connellee theatre, Monday, with Warner Baxter, Lois Wilson, Neil Hamilton and Georgia Hale heading its high-powered cast.

Ranger, on the Tiffin road, Friday evening about 7:30 o'clock.

The Ranger fire department made a run out there and laid 1900 feet of hose to get one line on the fire. This line was attached to an independent fire plug at the M. H. Hagaman home, which was the nearest plug.

The tin shop, where torpedo cans and shells are made, was a two story frame structure and the fire was well under headway when the department reached the scene, and hampered by the long distance from a fire plug, it was impossible to save it, however, the blaze was prevented from spreading.

Loss of the building and its contents has not been estimated. Insurance of $2750 was carried by M. K. Collie insurance company on the building and contents, there being $1000 on the building, $1000 on the machinery and $750 on the stock.

Babe Ruth, demanding a higher contract, says he's worth more than Cobb or Speaker. Maybe he was before Landis helped them along with all that publicity.

Pretty Manners Thing of Past In Picture Shows

Pretty manners are not so pronounced as they were in the days when mothers would tell their daughters "pretty is as pretty does," yet as a rule most people have enough manners to get by with, but a man or woman with really courtly manners stands out as a person apart from the ordinary run of folks.

Perhaps more bad manners are exhibited in moving picture shows, churches, or other public places, than most anywhere else. Many a man or woman who prides themselves that their manners are almost Chesterfieldian will be an end-cog at one of the above named places. They arrive early and practice the privilege of first "come, first served," by retaining their seats, regardless of how many have to crawl over them to get seats farther down the row.

Some people will not even stand and let others pass. They just draw in their breath and seem to imagine that by so doing they are making themselves smaller, and allowing ample passage way.

In a moving picture show, one can't blame a man or woman for wanting to retain their seat, yet courtesy demands that they should rise, push back the folding seat and permit others to pass, but the real milk of human kindness and thoughtfulness, which are the parents of good breeding, would demand that he move down the row himself and give up his place to others.

In the picture show, as church seats are not collapsible. There one is forced to climb over as best they may and the Lord help them if the end-cog happens to be a fat man or a fat woman.

End-cogs and road hogs are similar examples of ill breeding, and are not pretty because they do not do "as pretty does."

YOUNG POINTS TO SPRING AT CLUB BRIDGE PARTY.

A color scheme in yellow cleverly employed by Mrs. D. H. Barnett, when she entertained the Twentieth Century Bridge club, Friday afternoon at her home on the "Straw" road, made one think that Spring was just around the corner, slightly delayed by the nippy north wind that blew so bitterly that day.

Yellow jonquils, those first spring flowers, were used for the floraling of the home, while yellow tallies prizes in yellow and a yellow theme running through the refreshments further emphasized the color motif.

Mrs. Saunter Gregg made a high score, and was awarded a yellow rose bowl. Mrs. E. L. McMillen, made low end, was consoling with a colonial powder box in yellow, while the cut for all prize, a yellow handkerchief, went to Mrs. Chas. Conley.

A salad and dessert course was served at the end of the game to Messrs. E. L. McMillen, W. R. Lowe, Chas. Waits, J. A. Martin, Walter Burden, Saunders Gregg, Chas. Conley, Walter Cash, John Thurman, T. L. Lauderdale, M. K. Collier and Miss Ruth Stanley of Amarillo.

sponsored by the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations for 1927, according to an announcement made by the State Chairman of Parents' Day, Mrs. Willard Chamberlin, Stephenville. In the calendar of the Congress of Mothers two Parents' Days are found, one coming the Friday before Thanksgiving and the other the Friday preceding the Second of March.

"The purpose of Parents' Day is to bring into closer relationship and more sympathetic understanding those two factors which are all important in the welfare of the child, the parents and the teacher. Local chairmen should arrange for observing this occasion in the manner best suited to the needs of their community."

"Since the next Parents' Day falls on the Friday preceding the second of March (Texas Independence Day), it is suggested that the program take the form of a rally for better citizenship."

"All district presidents who have not done so are asked to appoint Parents' Day chairmen, and to report these appointees to the State Chairman. It is proposed to put on a campaign for one hundred percent acquaintance between parents and teachers during 1927. District chairmen are asked to report at their meetings in the spring all schools that have attained this end. At the State meeting in the fall the winning district will be announced."

Elizabeth King's Dancers To Be Eastland, Here

Elizabeth King's Dancers, will appear at the Connellee Theatre in Eastland on Sunday and at the Lamb Theatre in Ranger on Monday.

These dancers, composed of six girls and one boy, will put on one of the most pretentious acts ever set over the circuit, according to press reports.

They have many beautiful costumes and scenery. Their dancing is way above the average and the girls are said to be most attractive—very young and appealing and make a decided hit with their audiences.

Managers of both show houses state that there is no doubt that Elizabeth King's dancers, will be the best act they have offered their patrons this season.

The act has been contracted for by the Interstate Time, which is the biggest time playing in Texas, and they start on the circuit on March 20. The entire act, just as it will be seen in Eastland and Ranger, will be seen on the stages of the larger cities in Texas soon.

The career of Old Jeremy Ammidon will be Mrs. R. M. Schmuck's subject. Character portrayal of Gerrit Ammidon an appreciation of Rhoda Ammidon as a type of American woman, interesting Oriental customs reflected in the novel and Hergesheimer's love of color will be other subjects to be discussed by the club members.

Invitations are being posted to members and friends of the Ranger Country club for a dance on Wednesday evening. The last dance given at the club was enjoyed so much that the board decided to put on another one and set the time near the Washington birthday season, as a most fitting time for their next dance.

The Rainbow Serenaders will furnish the music and they are just as fine as the imported musicians that often play for dances here. The floor is in fine shape for dancing and the entertainment committee will leave nothing undone to make their guests enjoy themselves.

MOLINE, Ill., Feb. 19.—Miss Anna W. Anderson will again seek the office of city clerk of Moline in the March election.

Miss Anderson, one of the few women in the state who holds an important elective position, has twice been city clerk, being the present incumbent. She was first elected for a two-year term in 1919.

HERBERT BRENON PRODUCTION A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

Novelist Shaw Happily Married, Overshadows Wife

LONDON.—When asked recently to contribute to a symposium on marriage, George Bernard Shaw replied, "No man dare write the truth about marriage while his wife lives. Unless that is, he hates her, like Strindberg—and I don't."

Since Mrs. Shaw's appearance and personality are little known to the general public, only a few chosen of their inner circle of friends realized the true significance of Shaw's reply. Admirers, who have from a distance followed Shaw for almost a lifetime are sometimes more than a little shocked on finding Mrs. Shaw, the former Miss Charlotte Payne-Townsend, a woman of decided views of her own of many subjects. In some of them, no doubt, she comes in serious controversy with her famous husband.

Despite her devotion for her husband, she has never given way to his vegetarian views and is consequently able to sit at the table across from her husband eating a large juicy steak while he nibbles at his boiled potatoes, brussels sprouts and carrots. Their maid can frequently see a look of envy in Shaw's eyes and one of amusement in his wife's. Mrs. Shaw jibes him about his "rabbit food."

Moodful and eccentric to the utmost while dealing with great or small public men, George Bernard Shaw's home life is noteworthy for its calm and peace, and he and Mrs. Shaw settle points of policy in running a home with a severity which only nearly 30 years of married life can bring.

Although honored several times by the Royal Society of Arts, Shaw has never joined that organization, apparently considering it too "high-brow" for an avowed socialist. Now a fluent linguist and before her marriage an extensive traveller, Mrs. Shaw holds the membership in the Royal Society of Arts which is felt necessary for the family.

To Shaw "Charlotte" as he always refers to her is the only really capable woman in the world, while "G. B. S." as she calls him, receives all of his mothering and nursing from the kindly wife who is overshadowed by his reputation.

The first robins are singing now at Oneco, Monn., Tiajuana, Mexico, and all way points.

Saturation Point For Highways Is Considered Myth

"The highway saturation point, like the automobile sales saturation point is a myth. However, present day big city parking problems and street congestion are warnings to all growing urban centers to prepare for the traffic needs of 20 years hence," is the comment of W. R. Tracy, director of sales of the Oakland Motor Car company in answer to a question now current in many leading cities.

"There has been considerable discussion as to whether or not the capacity of the highways and streets of this country has reached a point where it seriously impairs the continued increasing sales and use of motor cars," he adds, "and I am convinced that a road-saturation point has not been reached and that it is hardly possible that such a condition will ever confront us. The American public will not surrender the use of such a daily practical utility as the motor car because of inadequate road or highway capacity. One has but to observe that all our large cities and our small ones, too, are demonstrating that they do not intend to yield to highway congestion. Each year their accomplishments show progress along this line. They are widening their main arteries, they are cutting through new streets, making short cuts, paving lesser streets, building more highways and wider ones at a cost of millions of dollars. Some are already building one paved street above another in order to insure adequate transportation."

"The rural communities are hardly a step behind the cities. Many have built and many more are now building wide thoroughfares replacing the narrow country roads and lanes with latest type hard roads. Good roads are an economic necessity. In its final analysis it is purely a matter of good business. Even the smallest communities realize that business follows good roads and that real estate value increases almost in direct proportion to good roads."

"One observes also a splendid balance of distribution and use of motor cars between cities and rural communities. About 55 per cent of all motor vehicles are in use in rural communities and towns of 10,000 population and under, while 58 per cent of the population is found in these districts. This would indicate that street congestion or highway capacity has had little or no effect upon the sale of motor cars."

MARIE PREVOST HAS EXCELLENT COMEDY IN "ALMOST A LADY"

Marie Prevost's new Metropolitan comedy production "Almost a Lady," which comes to the Lamb Theatre today provides Miss Prevost, the star with a splendid opportunity for picturesque and colorful roles in which she is at her best. Her supporting cast includes Harrison Ford, George K. Arthur, Barney Gilmore, Trixie Friganza and John Miljan.

"Almost a Lady" is based upon Frank Adams' story, "Skin Deep," and has as its central theme the tribulations of a poor modiste's model and the social inclinations of a newly-rich Irish couple. Marie Prevost, as the model, is asked by the Irish climber to impersonate a celebrated actress who failed to appear at her first reception. Harrison Ford is mistaken for a duke. Complications, full of humor and drama, mark the denouement.

The comic situations are in the clever hands of Trixie Friganza as the newly-wealthy matron and her beer-drinking, life-loving, simple husband, Barney Gilmore. The story was adapted for the screen by F. Mc Grew Willis. E. Mason Howard directed.

Give Your Tire Chance and Keep Wheels in Line

By EDWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive & Electrical Trades, Chicago, Ill.

Much has been written about tire care, and yet tires continue to wear out. Nothing I can state will prevent your tires from wearing out—ultimately, but if you will heed the advice set forth below more dependable service from your tires will help you save off the day when you must buy new ones.

If we were to take a brand-new tire and hold it under 500 to 800 pounds pressure against a grindstone making 180 revolutions a minute, our tire wouldn't last long.

About the same thing happens to tires when we run them with crooked, wabby, or "shimmying" wheels. The tires grind against the rough pavement instead of rolling along with little friction, as they should.

The wheels themselves may be out of line or dished. Spindle bushings may be worn, causing the wheel to "shimmy." Axles, steering knuckles, or drag links may be bent. Whatever the trouble may be, it is easy to quickly note it in tires that wear out in spots. Then the remedy is simple. Having wheels lined up or axle straightened costs much less than buying new tires every few thousand miles.

Leaks in inner tubes, often called "slow leaks," generally are due to faulty valve inside or the lack of a good valve cap. Many times, if the inside valve does leak, a good valve cap will prevent the tire from going flat.

Quick stops or starts mean a quick end to tires. When the wheels are locked, in stopping, and the car keeps on going, the tires slide over the road, instead of revolving, and the rubber is worn off in one spot. When we give the engine too much gas in starting, an unnecessarily heavy strain is put on the section of the tire that grips the pavement, and a weakened tread may result.

After everything is said and done, the service and satisfaction you get will depend upon the tire itself. No amount of coddling on the road will make up for the lack of tough, sturdy, rugged construction which the manufacturer failed to put into the tire at the factory.

Harry Lauder says the Scotch are not tight, but timid. Wrong again, it's one-way pockets.

Be Good to Your Car and Public, Fear Nothing

By ERWIN GREER,
President Greer College of Automotive and Electric Trades, Chicago, Ill.

Be good to your car, and indirectly, you will be good to yourself. This means three things: Law observance, courtesy and consideration for your car. Many of us have seen the numeral "40" on our speedometers, and the law was broken each time this occurred. Everyone swears they give hand signals with religious scrupulousness, but there are many times when these are entirely forgotten in the stress of other things at the corner. And such signals as most of them are! If the engine ran as raggedly as signals are given, we would all be pedestrians by preference.

Cars are occasionally overtaken and passed on the right hand side, and the performance never fails to cause inconvenience. This practice is illegal, dangerous and decidedly discourteous. When you come to a busy intersection, give the other fellow a chance. Perhaps he was there first. When you overtake and pass a car, don't suddenly slow down and force the driver behind you to ride his brakes to prevent mixing his radiator cap with your spare tire. If you have to slow up after passing a car, you shouldn't have passed it. When there is a delay in traffic ahead, and a line of cars has formed, consider the delay as unavoidable, and don't be the ill-mannered yokel who holds down the horn button, or he that drives around the side of the line.

The useful work your engine does when driving on a level road is to overcome mechanical friction and wind resistance. Both these factors increase very rapidly as you increase your speed, which indicates that the slower you go, the less gasoline will be used per mile traveled. However, at slow speeds the efficiency of the engine is not as good as at higher speeds. There is, therefore, an optimum speed of about 25 miles per hour, at which the best mileage will be obtained. Driving with the hand throttle on long open stretches is also conducive to good mileage, as it allows the engine to operate more uniformly than when your foot, responding to every slight jar, constantly moves the throttle. If you now do 35 or better, whenever you can, you will enjoy an increase in gasoline mileage of from two to four miles per gallon by consistently driving between 25 and 30.

and Beauty to Match Its Matchless Performance

The body styles created for the new Hudson Super-Six have shared equally with its brilliant new performance in its enormously successful reception everywhere shown. At the New York Show and all subsequent Automobile Shows the Hudson-Essex exhibit has outdrawn any other by two and three to one. It is the high point of the year in interest, discussion and sales activity.

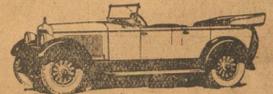

The new Hudson bodies are of such variety and beauty as will satisfy all demands for luxury and exclusiveness as well as comfort and price advantage.

The Super-Six principle, now freed to the limit, delivers its power with the smooth flow of an electric motor. Throughout, the car is engineered to make full use of its stream of energy. And so the Super-Six gets under way faster and with a total absence of the violent lunge usual to high-powered cars.

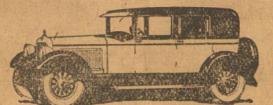

It glides into motion from a standing start. Even at high speed you always have untapped reserves of power for quick acceleration. Four-wheel brakes just as softly and effectively check your speeds.

In motor and chassis, both new, the Hudson Super-Six reaches new heights of speed, safety, comfort and performance.

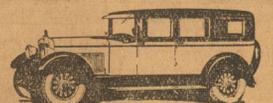

In the Essex Super-Six—sharing all these advantages in comfort, safety, quality, and surpassing motor efficiency—there are five new bodies—entirely new in appearance, beauty, smart upholstery and appointment.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOL-LIE ELWELL in Camdensville, Ind., one night in October of 1898 is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son of the world war. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at Sedan and reported dead. Much later he is identified in a New York hospital, where his parents find him with his speech and memory gone. He is like a living dead man.

The day before he is to be taken home he wanders away from his nurse. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital with his skull fractured, expected to die. He had been hit by a truck.

The twins, meanwhile, had been identified as the nieces of the wealthy JOHN CLAYTON of Indianapolis. Their father is dead.

Mollie writes, saying Jim will live but his memory is gone forever, and they are to bring him home shortly.

When the Elwells arrive, there is a scene, and suddenly one of the grief stricken twins cries that she is Jim's wife. Jim then speaks and begins to tell a strange story.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XLVII
Betty clung to him a little tighter.

"That's all right, honey—I'm all right now," he smiled. "Well, for five days I was unconscious, and during that time they still thought the odds were about ten to one that I wouldn't wake up—or if I did wake up, that I wouldn't live."

"But one day I woke up, and when they looked me over they found my noodle was still all bent—tangled up just the same as before."

"You see," Jim Elwell went on, "When I did wake up, it looked like I'd be just the same as I was before—if I lived. But it didn't look like a sure thing that I would live."

"In addition to my noodle being all tangled up, there was a piece of bone pressing on my think tank from the fracture. That had to be re-

"Betty!" he whispered and then held her tight. moved or else I'd croak as sure as shootin'." "Of course, they knew that even if they did remove it my chances were still pretty slim. But one thing was sure: if they didn't, I was a goner. "Of course, Prof didn't want me to die so he told them to go ahead and do their best. And then they called in this Dr. Lawson, didn't they, Prof?" That was right, Prof said. He began carefully to fill his pipe. "Well, when Dr. Lawson got there they were operatin' and they had removed the bone that was doing all the pressing. But when he arrived on the scene they were so impressed with his greatness and all that they didn't stop for lunch, and under his direction they kept foolin' around until they had removed a blood clot or something or other.

"Now, it seems that that clot there was what had kept me from doing any thinking, so when they got it out of the way they straightened out my brain for me."

"Oh, how wonderful!" Betty breathed.

"Exactly," he agreed. "That did the trick. It seems that this Dr. Lawson thought all along that that was what might be the matter with me but he didn't want to operate without Prof and Mollie's consent because he wasn't sure that I'd come out of it."

"And now here's a funny little side to it that even Prof and Mollie don't know. I'm tellin' them now for the first time, Nellie Downing—that was my nurse, Betty, the lady that looked after me over in France and followed me to the United States and—"

"I know all about her," Betty said primly.

"Oh, you do?" Well, he went on to say, Nellie Downing had told him that Dr. Lawson had confessed to taking a big chance when he removed the blood clot.

"It seems that when they removed the bone, I was still so far gone that it was a toss-up with me anyway, so Dr. Lawson had the nerve to go ahead and see the whole thing through—figuring, of course, that inasmuch as I was so close to death anyhow he might just as well do the thing he hadn't dared to do before an operation was necessary to keep me alive."

"You mean to say," Mollie gasped, "that they went ahead with that, that they might kill you?"

"Sure. How did they know but what I'd cash in anyway? Believe me, he did the right thing. I don't mind telling you that if I had had anything to say about it he'd have operated right away—before I got my skull fractured."

It was, Prof agreed, the thing to do.

The day that the nurse came in to tell me that Jim had opened his eyes, they were mighty doubtful about him. They told me that an operation was absolutely necessary in order to give him even a fighting chance; that he was weak and the thing might kill him; but that it was absolutely necessary.

"I told them to go ahead, and believe me, I did some tall praying. If ever a man got religion, I got it then. Dr. Lawson did the right thing. I figured that it would have been criminal not to have finished the job, as long as they were operating anyway. I'm going to write a letter to the doctor and thank him. He's a wonder."

"Well, anyway," said Jim, "It all turned out right. I'd rather have been dead—I'll tell you that—than alive and in the condition I was in when Prof and Mollie found me in the hospital up on Long Island."

"Jim!" cried Mollie.

"Just the same," he insisted, "I mean it."

"Tell them," Mike put in, grinning, "about how you carried on with

No other low-priced six will ever give you this

It is not beyond the realms of possibility that some day there will be offered a newly created six, closely approximating in basic design and price the Pontiac Six as introduced a year ago.

But even if that car does make its appearance, it will lack one powerful inducement to ownership that is of paramount importance in contemplating the Pontiac Six:

Its design and construction will not have been proved by millions of miles of actual service in the hands of thousands of owners. And that is essential, even in a car which was tested and developed as the Pontiac Six was for over three years prior to its announcement!

Design and construction so convincingly demonstrated means more than the elimination of fundamental weaknesses. It means peace of mind from one year's end to the other—and that is what buyers have a right to get, no matter how much or how little they pay!

Nellie Downing.

At this Martha Dalton broke her long silence to look triumphantly at Dusty and exclaim: "Aha! You see?"

"Jim," Betty said, approvingly and shook her forefinger in front of his eyes.

But, he explained, he could hardly be held accountable for that. It seemed that one of the peculiarities of his case was his response to emotion—to tears, especially.

"And I learned to do things mechanically. I'd see people put on my shoes for me, for instance, and then I'd be able to put them on by myself after a while.

"And Mollie," he went on, "used to kiss me whenever she was with me, and so I got accustomed to kissing her back. Later I'd kiss her without her doing it first."

He grinned. "That's where Nellie Downing came in. They tell me I used to kiss Nellie. She was good looking, wasn't she, Prof?" he asked, mischief in his eyes.

"Certainly was," his father agreed. Betty pouted, and Jim hugged her more tightly.

"It's all right, Betty," he said. "I was off my nut at the time, and I don't remember a thing about it. Why, they might be kidding me for all I know."

That, Betty pointed out, was hardly likely. "If she had been homely, I might have believed you."

"Well, Boss, have your own way."

"I'm denyin' nothing, not knowin' a thing about what took place."

"But," interposed Rusty, "go on with your story. You've told us all about how your memory was restored and your life saved and one thing and another but, Jim Elwell"—and she pointed an accusing finger at him—"you haven't told us why you put on this big act for us. Why didn't Mollie write and tell us what had happened? Why did she tell us that they had given up hope of your ever getting your memory back?"

"Mollie, why did you do it?"

Mollie Elwell smiled deprecatingly. "Ask Jim," she whispered. "Hell! tell you. I did it because Jim made me do it."

"You must remember," Prof reminded Rusty, "that Mollie was so crazy with joy that if Jim had asked her to jump off the Brooklyn Bridge I believe she'd have done it."

"Jim," said Betty, "tell us—and tell us in a hurry, too. I've a good mind to give you a good scolding. Why, it's a wonder I didn't just die of a broken heart when you walked in the house and sat looking through us with that stare of yours. How could you do it?"

"Well," Jim told her shamefacedly "I'll go all through with it. First of all, you can imagine my surprise when I suddenly came to in that hospital and realized who and where I was. Did you ever leave home for some other city and then wake up in the morning in a strange bed, and before you've really got all your wits about you, you think you're still home? Did you? Well, when I woke up I found Prof and Mollie by my side and I wondered for just a brief minute what they were doing in that ravine over in France.

"The last thing I had remembered was putting on the coat of one of my buddies, John Powell, and then came a big flash and a roar. And when I woke up and found I was in a hospital instead of a battle, I hardly knew what had come over me."

However, Jim said, he would tell them later about all that and about the machine gun nest and the blow-

"And, by the way," he added, "has anybody sent a telegram yet to John Clayton telling him about the happy ending to the story?"

No one had. "I'll run right over to the station now," said Mike Hennegan. "Believe me, I'll send him a wire that'll tickle him pink."

"You wait, Jim," said Betty, "fill you see our Uncle John. Isn't he just a dear, Rusty?"

He certainly was, Rusty declared.

"Well," said Jim, "to get back to brass tacks again and get this story off my chest. You both remember Dick Canfield, don't you Betty—and Rusty?"

Both nodded. But what did Dick Canfield have to do with this?

"Dick," Jim continued, "used to write to me while I was in camp, and he used to mention you kids so often that I came to the conclusion that he was pretty crazy about one or both of you. But Dick didn't say a word about it—even to me. But just the same it set me to thinking, and when I took the ship over to France and pulled away from the United States I began to think that perhaps I'd made a big mistake.

"Dick, you know, was such a square shooter. By the way," he added, "he's coming back from California next week.

Rusty knew that, it seemed. Jim shot her a suspicious look.

"Well, now to finish my story—and then we'll all have a big feed and swap yarns and go to bed. When I was able to talk—which was pretty quick after the thing was all over—Mollie and Prof told me all about you girls being millionaires and all that sort of thing—how the mystery of your birth had been straightened out through this actress we met in Chicago that day—what was her name?—never mind.

"Then she read to me a couple of your letters and—well, I began to realize a few things.

(To be concluded)

Winter Demand For Chevrolets Unprecedented

Responding to a winter demand for cars unprecedented in the history of the company, the Chevrolet Motor Company in January again shattered all production records for that month by building 73,676 units, almost 30,000 cars more than were made in January of 1926.

The January, 1926, production in its turn almost tripled the production of January, 1925.

Under the tentative production schedule for February the company will be prepared to make a total of $84,000 units, which would establish a new monthly production record in the history of the company, exceeding even the record monthly output in September, 1926, of 81,153 cars.

The heavy winter production is the result of demand for "the most beautiful car in Chevrolet history" which Chevrolet buyers have made upon the company's dealers since the announcement of lower prices and numerous refinements in the entire Chevrolet line.

In 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Company led all manufacturers of gear shift cars by building 793,145 cars, an increase of more than 40 per cent over the previous record year. Under a $10,000,000 expansion program initiated in 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Company is equipped for even greater production during 1927.

The new machinery making this enlarged production possible is completely installed in the various plants of the company throughout the country and all necessary changes of dies and tools have been made to insure uninterrupted manufacturing schedules during this year.

The largest unit within the National Education association is the department of superintendents which will hold its fifty-seventh annual convention at Dallas, Texas, Feb. 26 to March 3, inclusive. This department of the association became so large and so far-reaching in its educational influence that it became necessary in 1921 to employ a full time secretary for the department alone. Previously the department's administrative work was done by the secretary of the National Education association.
