it was necessary for some organization to be responsible for the manning and care of the vehicle. Here the Farwell Volunteer Fire Department came forward and assumed this obligation. This means that members of the Fire Department will furnish drivers and attendants who are trained in first aid; will see to the care, maintehance and garaging, and will set and collect fees for use of the vehicle. This is a large order and one that will impose additional responsibilities on this dedicated group. The community owes a big debt of thanks to this relatively small group of non-paid public servants. They bring us immeasurable peace of mind by their presence. And certainly not to be overlooked is the fact that the functioning existence of the Department saves us all hundreds of dollars in insurance premiums. All in all, the cooperation between the City Council and the Volunteer Fire Department in this action speaks highly of the spirit of this commun-

All the news media in the area were recipients of press passes to the Spiro T. Agnew dinner and speech in Amarillo this past Monday evening. Gil Patschke of KZOL had other plans afoot and was kind enough to offer his pass to the editor and his wife. Having two $100 tickets and an opportunity to hear our outspoken Vice-President was more temptation than we could stand; so we attended the dinner in the Amarillo Civic Center auditorium. From a news gathering and picture taking standpoint, the evening was a flop. # Area Agricultural Outlook Good In considering this purchase twas necessary for some oranization to be responsible for Despite Early Freeze Damage

Parmer County is very good this week in spite of an early freeze on October 8," states Mack Heald, Parmer County Agricultural Agent. The main damage occurred in the late planted cotton scattered throughout the county. It is not plain as how much damage was done, but an approximate estimate of five per cent was possibly lost in certain fields due to the freeze. There are 33,700 acres of cotton in Parmer County. Estimating an over the county average of 1 1/4 bales per acre could mean a total production of 42,100 bales. However, if five per cent of the cotton were damaged, this could drop total production down to 40,000 bales.

Most farmers stopped the water on the cotton by Aug. 20. This made the green bolls less sappy than they would be if watered later. In this way they survived the freeze in much better shape. Many of the green bolls will open into fully developed locks of cotton. Most of the crop was much more mature than is normally seen this time of year. There was less moisat the time of the freeze. It has been estimated that this year's crop is the best since 1965, by Jacquelyn Langford I have been in 4-H for four years and have taken several projects.

One of the projects that I have enjoyed most is Foods and Nutrition. I have learned a lot in this project. I have learned about the nutritional value of foods, how to prepare and serve them, the four food groups, and how to preserve them.

We have contests to show what we have learned. They are food shows and demonstrations. In this project I have earned seven blue ribbons, one red ribbon, and a high point award in the Food Shows.

Softball Tourney

Texico High School will be host for the annual EPAC softball tournament for girls at Saturday, Oct. 17. Junior High and Senior High teams from 10 schools have entered the tournament which will begin Saturday at 10 a.m.

Texico's two teams played games with Melrose on Tuesday afternoon so that there would not be so many games on Saturday's schedule. The Junior High girls beat Melrose 21-0 on the strong hitting of the local team and the fine pitching of Sue Hall.

Texico's Senior High girls won a hard fought 2-1 contest over Melrose. Winning pitcher was Vicki Richardson who allowed only three hits during the game and struck out 11 batters before allowing a single hit. She walked only two batters during the entire game.

Teams entering tourney action besides Texico are Melrose, Causey, Grady, Ft. Sumner, Elida, Floyd, San Jon, House and Dora.

All area fans are urged to come out to see the games.
