Self-Help Families Have Groundbreaking

Viviendas Cuauhtemoc's self-housing program in Mulshoe took another giant step forward with groundbreaking ceremonies Thursday, beginning construction of the first home.

The home site of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gonzales was the scene of the ceremonies which included local dignitaries. The Gonzales' house will be the first three confirmed houses to be constructed. Other applications are being processed at the present time, so several more homes should be approved in the near future.

The houses will range in cost from $14,000 to $16,000 and will be financed 100 percent by the Farmer's Home Administration.

Interest rates will range from one percent to eight and an eighth percent, depending on the family's ability to pay.

Besides the Gonzales family, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Pinada and Mrs. Bessie Whisenant have qualified for the program and construction on these homes should start soon.

What is being realized as the area's first self-help housing project, had its origin early in 1973, when the membership and directors of Chicanos Unidos - Campesinos, a non-profit association of rural poor based in Mulshoe, discussed the community needs and began formulating ways of meeting them. As a result of those first planning sessions, in November that year, Chic-anos Unidos received a grant from the Campaign for Human Development and one of its objectives was to mobilize the technical assistance necessary to get a program of self-help housing started in the West Plains area.

In February, 1974, staff and board members of Chic-anos Unidos, working from the Juarez-Lincoln Center in Austin, made what proved to be fruitful contacts with the U. S. Department of Labor's farm worker services division, the Housing Assistance Council, and the Rural Housing Alliance. Meanwhile, in Mulshoe, Chic-anos Unidos organized and incorporated Viviendas Cuauhtemoc, the single-purpose, non-profit housing development corporation which later was to become the actual operating agency behind the self-help effort.

Throughout the summer of 1974, data was gathered concerning the housing need in the area, the availability of building sites, and potential participating farm worker families. All this was assembled into a formal funding request, and by October 1, the Rural Housing Alliance had approved the allocation of $64,000 to Viviendas Cuauhtemoc for loan packaging, credit counseling and construction supervision assistance.

Now, nearly eight months later, the first group of self-help participants is breaking ground on the construction of their own home.

Alfonso Posados, Vice President of the Board of Directors, Viviendas Cuauhtemoc, said "Those whose ties to the program began more than two years ago, however, view this not only as a project which will realize the personal goals of these first families, but also as a self-development effort which will reflect the labors and aspirations of the entire farm worker community."

Cotton Needs Long Dry Spell, After Wind, Rain And Hail

About the only thing left to hit cotton this year that hasn't already hit it is a long, dry spell, and that's just what experts say is badly needed for the tough white gold of the High Plains.

"Although prospects for a cotton crop far exceed those we saw last year at this time, the potential for a cotton crop as large and as good as that in 1973 isn't there anymore," says Dr. James Supak, area agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock.

"The situation is by no means hopeless," he adds, "because a few days of hot, open weather will quickly revive the crop."

Supak says the moisture situation is better than 1973, year of the big bumper crop, but the reduction in planted acreage, delayed planting and poor growing conditions are beginning to take their toll. To produce yields and quality of cotton comparable to 1973 would require sunny summer days and fall conditions similar to or better than those in 1973.

It all started with unseasonably cool soil temperatures in April and May, he recalls. Producers normally don't expect satisfactory seed emergence until the 10-day average soil temperature at the eight-inch depth hits 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Although soil temperatures hit this mark right of schedule (April 25), soils were slow to warm beyond this minimum level.

Another big factor was rainfall. "We entered 1975 with an unusually good supply of sub-soil moisture but still the dryland areas needed a planting rain. Around May 10 we started getting some good rains in the heart of the dryland cotton growing area. As it turned out, rain came just about the time our soil temperatures were hitting the desired levels."

In a sense, the agronomist figures, this was excellent timing because many farmers were having to start the 1975 crop with planting seed that was of questionable quality. Delaying planting until conditions were more nearly optimum did cut into yield potential but increased chances of getting a good stand with the first planting.

Following the rains it didn't take long to get the bulk of the new crop in the ground and most growers were anticipating acceptable stands. Then the problems started.

Scattered, hard rains, blowing sand and hail damaged or destroyed some of the early plantings. Periods of rainy weather were accompanied by cool temperatures which slowed emergence of first plantings or replanted cotton and provided an ideal environment for seedling diseases. Also, thrips infestations were unusually heavy this spring.

This combination of factors -- cool temperatures, seedling diseases and thrips -- seemed to hold cotton at a standstill for almost two weeks.

By the end of May it was estimated that 85 percent of the 1975 cotton crop had been planted (the remaining acreage was planted and we had four days where the temperatures exceeded 90 degrees during the anted (the remaining 15 percent could not be planted due cent could not be planted due to dry soil conditions) and only

It's Dairy Month... Pecan Prospects... Crops Continue to Progress.

This is Dairy Month in Texas. Now is the time to enjoy an extra glass of milk every day; dairymen hope you enjoy an extra glass of milk every day of the year.

Texas is in the top 10 in dairy states in the nation. Texas ranks ninth in total milk production, and it also ranks ninth in milk cows that have calved. The dairy industry is an integral part of the Texas agricultural economy. Milk production in 1974 totaled more than three billion pounds.

Most of the state's dairy production is in the eastern half. Hopkins County is the state's leading county in milk production. Other counties in the top 10 include Erath, Wise, Johnson, Grimes, Comanche, Cooke, Franklin, Archer, and Wood.

The top 10 counties in milk cows that have calved are Hopkins, Erath, Wise, Grimes, Johnson, Comanche, Cooke, McLennan, Wood, and Franklin.

Dairy producers through the years have consistently taken the lead in producing a top quality product. They have also been leaders in developing marketing programs.

As is the case with all agricultural producers, dairymen are caught in a cost-price squeeze. They have watched their costs of production skyrocket while the price they have received has not kept pace.

As a result, dairymen are continuing to search for new ways to cut costs of production and to increase efficiency. However, most dairymen are now doing about all that can be done in those areas.

Meanwhile, you can help the dairy industry as well as helping yourself to better health by drinking an extra glass of milk every day this month, and every day throughout the rest of the year.

TENT CATERPILLAR, walnut caterpillar, or webworms are causing damage to pecan trees and other trees in many parts of central and south central Texas. But in spite of this and recent wet weather, the pecan crop continues to make progress.

A survey was made recently of the pecan producing areas in West Texas by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Pecan trees in commercial orchards in that area total 401,900. Commercial orchards included in the survey each had 20 trees or more.

The 401,900 trees are on 7,520 acres in 19 West Texas counties. This represents an average of 53.4 trees per acre.

Growers intend to plant about 1,250 trees during the rest of this year. Virtually all West Texas pecan trees are under some type of irrigation.

Counties involved in the survey are Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Culberson, Ector, El Paso, Glasscock, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward, and Winkler.

WHILE COTTON AND SORGHUM planting for the state is nearing completion, harvest of wheat and oats is well underway. Rains have delayed harvest to some extent. Harvest thus far is only about half that compared to a year ago for wheat. Oat harvest is less than a fourth completed; a year ago about half that crop had been harvested. Flax harvest is complete.

Rice planting is finished; soybean planting has passed the halfway mark; peanut planting is also more than 50 per cent complete.

"This is my second M-C Dryer. I wouldn't buy any other make."
Elden Berden, Snover, Mich.

When Elden Berden bought his M-C 900E Continuous Grain Dryer, he knew from experience that he was getting a trouble-free, easy to operate machine he could use to dry corn, wheat, oats and even Navy Beans with excellent results. Previously, Elden had owned a smaller M-C 600 on which he "hadn't spent $20 for maintenance all the time he'd had it." About his 900E, Elden says, "I wouldn't want to part with it if I couldn't get another." If you're considering a grain dryer, look carefully at the M-C Continuous Dryer line. It has a size and type to meet your exact requirements in Single Phase, Three Phase or PTD Models—LP or Natural Gas. Then ask any owner about the M-C's automatic operation, automatic moisture control, easy operation and low maintenance cost. In the meantime, may we send you a catalog and complete details?

How about a new house with only 1,200 sq. ft. to 1,400 sq. ft. of space, no garage or carport, no screened porch, no built-ins (such as dishwashers, refrigerators and other extras) and 6 inch lower ceilings than the average house? That's the name of the game that many U. S. home builders are playing. And those houses are selling like hotcakes. The reason is simple enough. The Congressional Joint Economic Committee finds that the median price for a new home in this country is $41,300 which is far above the reach of 85% of U. S. families.

The big buying spurge in the no-frills housing is coming at a time when the housing industry is in one of the worst slumps since the depression. In fact, the economy house is the only bright spot in a de-

Services Held For Johnson Youth

Funeral services for Cary Johnson, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrill Johnson, Jr. of Wilcox, Arizona, were held June 11 with interment in the Sunset Cemetery in Wilcox.

The youth was killed when he was struck by a car east of Spade, Texas. He and his mother were visiting in the area when the accident occurred.

Survivors include the parents; two brothers, Scott and Jeffrey; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Johnson of Wilcox; grandfather, John Bean of Clyde, Texas; grandmother, Mrs. L. Bartley of Tahoka; and a great-grandfather Clark Allen of Tahoka.

Mrs. Doran Reynolds

Griffiths, Reynolds Exchange Vows

On June 7 at eight in the evening at the First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe, Miss Monica Jan Griffiths and Doran Coleman Reynolds were united in marriage. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Rev. J. Waid Griffin, associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Griffiths of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman C. Reynolds of Austin are parents of the couple.

The couple stood before an altar centered by a regal arrangement of candy pink gladiolus, bridal and sensation pink roses, fugii mums and gypsophilla. Candle trees and spiral candelabrum entwined with traditional English ivy, smila and springeria enhanced the altar. The memory candle made by Mrs. Kenneth Hanks, was nestled in an arrangement of gypsophilla, English ivy and springeria from a plant belonging to Mrs. Chester Allen.

Miss Linda Middlebrooks, organist and Miss Cassie Prescure, pianist, presented musical selections. Soloist, Miss Mary Margaret Kyle, cousin of the groom, sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Registering the guests was Mrs. Bill Bruns. Master Greg Young presented thank-you wedding scrolls as the guests entered the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of candlelight alencon lace and appliques on English net. The all-lace bodice featured a sheer yoke of the net shaped to a V and outlined in scrolls of Venice lace. A high duchess collar of lace scallops was designed with tendrils of flowers and leaves spreading to form a sunburst design on the yoke. Long candlestick sleeves were trimmed in the lace scrolls forming a cuff effect with button and loop closure. The full skirt of Angelskin peau-Desie, featured deep inverted pleats on each side, giving a panel-look with fullness worked to the back which formed the train. The hemline was edged with a border of lace scrolls. A cathedral length camelot headpiece held her mantilla veil which repeated the Alencon lace appliques and Venice lace scrolls. She carried a French Colonial bouquet "Flour d' Amour" - a pot porri of pink sweetheart, bridal and sensation roses, stephonitis and gypsophilla. The smilax chaplet atop her first Bible was highlighted with pink and ivory tatted crosses.

In keeping with the bridal tradition something old was her mother's tatted wedding mitts which were carried in the bridal bouquet. Something new was her dress. Something borrowed was a ring given to Mrs. Pat Bobo by her husband before they were married. Something blue was her garter. She also wore pennies in her shoes minted in the year of the couples birth.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Joan Ladig of Houston. Bridesmaids were Miss Tammy Reynolds, sister of the groom, Austin; Miss Jenna Lutes, Plano; Miss Kay Coppedge, Dallas; Miss Jane Dixon, Richardson and Miss Tita Johnstone, of El Paso. The attendants were dressed in identical formal length, jacket style dresses of candy pink Quiana jersey, featuring high duchess necklines with stand-up ruffles. Long sleeves repeated the ruffing at the cuffs. The full skirts peaked to a V-shaped waistline at the front and dipped to a natural waistline at the back. They carried nosegays of the brides chosen flowers with streamers of trained smila, pink tated crosses highlighted each bouquet. Miniature nosegays accented their hair.

Flower girl was Little Miss Amy Rodgers of Lubbock. She wore a long ivory dress of organdy mist accented with a sash of pink. Pink ribbon and ivory lace highlighted the self-yoke. She carried an ivory basket filled with love knots.

Master Chris Young of Muleshoe acted as ring bearer. Dressed in an ivory suit similar to the groom's accented with a pink cummerbund, he carried a pillow trimmed in pink.

Serving as candlelighters were Marty Wiley, nephew of the groom, of Austin and Bret Hanks.

Rodney Reynolds, brother of the groom, Austin, served as best man. Groomsman were Randy Reynolds, brother of the groom, of Austin; Prentice Griffiths, brother of the bride, John R. Young, Jr., and Pat Felix, of San Antonio.

Ushers were John Young, and Bill Bruns; Fred Shussler and David Parker of San Antonio.

In keeping with the bride's chosen colors they wore burgundy tuxedo coats with pink shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a mint green formal length gown of chiffon. The sleeveless bodice was covered with a swallow-tail Poncho cape. Complimenting her attire were matching accessories. She carried a corsage of stephonitis with pearl and soft pink accents on an ivory clutch bag. The groom's mother chose a formal blue dress which was complimented by a corsage of stephonitis accented with soft green and pearl.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Griffiths, paternal grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Chester Allen of Austin and Mrs. W. W. Williams of Portales, New Mexico.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church. The brides' table was covered with an ivory tulle cloth and highlighted by an arrangement of roses, fugii mums, gypsophilla in a brass candelabra with ivory tapers. Atop the traditional wedding cake were fresh flowers, which were entwined throughout and around the table. Crystal, gold brass and copper appointments were used.

The groom's table held a double ring chocolate cake. The table was covered in ivory, overlaid with blush pink. An arrangement of flowers from Southern Africa and foliage from the tropical islands centered the table.

Serving were Mrs. Don Wiley, sister of the groom; Mrs. Rodney Reynolds, sister-in-law of the groom, both of Austin; Mrs. Danny Noble, Miss Jenny Milburn, Miss Janis St. Clair and Miss Brenda St. Clair. Little Miss Vanessa Rodgers of Lubbock wore a long pink dress. She carried a basket of pink tulle rice-filled roses which she presented to each guest.

In the houseparty were Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Winn, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coppedge and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jim St. Clair.

When the couple left the reception for a trip to Colorado the bride was wearing a three-piece crepe jersey pant suit with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and will be a senior at Texas Tech this fall. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority. The groom is a graduate of Crockett High School, Austin and will also be a senior at Texas Tech.

The couple was honored with a rehearsal dinner Friday, June 6 at the Muleshoe Country Club. Assisting with the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jim St. Clair, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Feagley and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnert.

On June 4, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hall hosted a party for the family, honoring the bride and groom.

A bridesmaids' luncheon was held June 7 at the XII Steak House. Hostesses were the maid-of-honor, Joan Ladig, and her mother Mrs. T. O. Ladig, Houston.

Nelda Vernon Honored With Shower

A bridal shower honoring Nelda Jo Vernon, bride-elect of John Luttrell was held at the Muleshoe State Bank Community Room on Thursday night, June 12 from 7:00 until 9:00 p.m.

The bride chose spring pastels as her colors and this theme was carried out. The serving table was covered in an ecru crocheted cloth underlined in pink and featured a candelabra with pink candles and spring flowers. Banana punch was served by Mrs. James Johnson. Mrs. Joe Copley also presided at the serving table and tinted thumbprint cookies, nuts and mints were served.

Mrs. Rickey Vernon, sister-in-law of the bride registered guests at a table which was covered in a pastel lace cloth over mint green and featured a picture of the couple. The gift table was covered in white lace over a pink underlay. Miss Vernon's grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Gatlin was a special guest. Mrs. Verley Vernon, sister-in-law of the bride, was an out-of-town guest from Hereford.

Her matching mantilla style veil was caught to a pearl beaded Alencon lace capulet, with a border of the Alencon lace framing the face. The long chapel length veiling sprinkled in lace flowers completed her attire. She carried the bouquet "Sweetheart", a triangular cascade of yellow cymbidium orchids, yellow roses, fujii mums, stephanotis and English ivy, on her Bible.

Man In The House

College Station --- Discussion of homemaking often refers only to wives -- but husbands have responsibilities in the home too, Roberta Dix, family life education specialist, contended this week.

"A home situation that has one parent away at work most of the day might define the responsibilities each would assume for child-rearing," this specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, admitted.

"But if the wife is the only one to interact with the family, children lose the opportunity to experience a well-rounded atmosphere for personality growth," she said.

"When fathers don't participate in child-rearing, the children lose their most valuable resource for understanding and acquiring male attitudes.

"A chance for observing both male and female behaviors within the home equips sons and daughters to cope with situations they will encounter outside the home."

The specialist explained that it might take added communication between husband and wife to divide child-rearing responsibilities, but the outcome should be beneficial for all.

Freezing Strawberries

COLLEGE STATION—Strawberries, in season now, are a good source of Vitamin C, a nutrient needed daily, Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week. "The family will stay happy if an ample supply of berries is frozen now to serve them throughout the year," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said. She advised selecting firm, fully rip strawberries for freezing. "Wash carefully and cap. Leave small berries whole and slice large ones into a bowl or shallow pan. "If sweetened berries are desired, sprinkle about 3/4 cup of sugar over each quart of berries. Turn them over gently until sugar is dissolved and juice fits. "Pack strawberries in moisture-vapor-proof containers. Press them into juice. Leave 1/2 inch headspace in wide-mouth pint container. Place lid on container, label with name of fruit and date. Then freeze immediately at 0 degree F. or below. Miss Springer noted that frozen strawberries will keep for 12 months at this temperature with hardly any loss of quality.

Fashion

Shirts are popular this season and come in a variety of fabrics. The voile shirts are particularly nice for summer wear but heavier fabrics are also available.

Printed shirts in small designs seem to be favorites.

Mr. Farmer, join the one million farmers who are using Na-Churs Liquid Fertilizer for higher yields and greater profits.

The Product

NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer is a product of modern research that is available in various formulations to meet the varying requirements of different crops in different soil conditions. NA-CHURS is formulated by precise proportioning of exactly the right amounts of raw materials into a chemical reactor to produce a plant food with a pH of 6.8 to 7.0. NA-CHURS is homogenized to blend the nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and chelated trace elements into a neutral solution that is immediately available to plants and does not have to wait on moisture before the nutrients can be utilized. As much as 95% of the plant food is absorbed by the plants quickly and efficiently. NA-CHURS is a neutral, chlorine-free, complete solution that will not clog, rust, or corrode your equipment. NA-CHURS can be applied in the row at planting time or by spraying the crop at critical times during the growing season to meet the specific requirements of various crops. Application is simple and easy. Inexpensive kits are available for attachment to planting and cultivating equipment or foliar applications may be made with aerial sprayers or other conventional spraying equipment.

The Company

NA-CHURS Plant Food Company is the largest company of its kind devoted entirely to the manufacturing and marketing of liquid fertilizer in the United States and Canada. NA-CHURS has an organization of five plants and 250 distributing points and a field serving organization of more than 2,200 persons serving more than a million farmers throughout North America.

Research

From atomic research has come proof of the fast, efficient and almost total absorption of NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer through foliar feeding. This was accomplished through the use of radioactive isotopes made available to NA-CHURS by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Not only can plants absorb nutrients through the roots, but also through the foliage, the fruit, the twigs, the trunk, and even the flowers. Foliar feeding is the best controlled, most efficient, most economical method of applying fertilizer yet devised. As much as 95% of the plant food is absorbed by the plant quickly and efficiently. Research data from Michigan State College shows that in sandy loam soil the foliar application was utilized 20 times as efficiently as in the soil application. In addition millions of gallons of NA-CHURS have been sold to progressive, profit-minded farmers across the United States, Canada, Central and South America. These farmers have proved to themselves through many thousands of check strips that NA-CHURS will bring greater yields, better quality and early maturity to all their crops.

Free Complete Soil Testing

The basis of any fertilizer program is a good soil test. One of the most comprehensive soil test reports you have ever seen is furnished, without charge, by NA-CHURS. This is made in the NA-CHURS Laboratories with an atomic absorption spectrophotometer—a highly sophisticated analytical device—which detects and measures amounts of metallic elements in the soil samples from your farm. You will receive a report which includes an analysis of ph, calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, nitrate nitrogen, aluminum, magnesium, iron, sulphur, copper, zinc, boron, and water-holding capacity, and specific recommendations from the NA-CHURS agronomists of nutrient formulas to balance out your soil. The NA-CHURS soil test report is designed to give you a fertilizer program for your fields that will bring you the best return per dollar invested. There is no way to grow perfect crops from imperfect soils.

Application

Row feeding at planting—NA-CHURS in-the-row and with the seed gets plants off to a vigorous start. Normally, a sprouting seed must rely on the plant food stored within the seed for the first several days after germination, or until the root system is formed well enough to take food from the soil. By using NA-CHURS in the row at planting time, you can give a balanced feeding of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash to the seed at once. The result is faster emergence, bigger root systems, and better utilization of fertilizer.

Foliar Feeding

With NA-CHURS as a foliar spray, applied at critical periods of growth, a small amount of fertilizer produces significant gains in yields and in quality. Applied as a fine mist, NA-CHURS is absorbed immediately without having to travel from the ground up the stem or stalk to all parts of the plant. NA-CHURS foliar feeding is the best-controlled, most efficient and economical method of applying fertilizer. A foliar spray of NA-CHURS, even in small amounts per acre, not only feeds the plant quickly, but triggers a whole cycle of growth which makes the plant utilize more food and moisture from the soil. The plant and stems both absorb the fertilizer directly and are able to use a higher percentage of nitrogen, phosphate and potash compared with any other fertilizer. Absorption of NA-CHURS is fast and complete. As much as 95% of the liquid fertilizer applied to the plant is absorbed. The result is greater size, bigger yields, better quality and earlier maturity.

Na-Churs On The South Plains

NA-CHURS Liquid Fertilizer has been used by progressive farmers on the South Plains for about ten years. These farmers report increased yields and profits on all types of crops. In 1974 James R. Davis produced an average of 929 pounds of lint per acre on 830 acres of cotton in Gaines County by following the NA-CHURS fertilizer program. A Terry County farmer produced over 1,300 pounds of lint per acre with NA-CHURS. Almost 8,000 pounds of grain sorghum was reported by a NA-CHURS user in Hale County.

Contact Your Na-Churs Representative

You can obtain the benefits of the NA-CHURS fertilizer program by contacting your NA-CHURS representative. In addition to the free soil tests, you receive a 500 gallon on-farm storage tank, free delivery of fertilizer.

Artichoke Artistry

College Station --- Artichokes can add variety and glamour to the hors d'oeuvre table, Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week.

"Large, fresh artichokes give best value because they are usually priced per unit rather than by pound. Leaves should be compact, tightly closed, plump and green," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Artichokes may be stored in the refrigerator in a covered container or plastic bag for about four days without much loss of quality.

Turning to specific preparation advice, Miss Springer said, "Cut off the stem and one inch across the top. Clip off thorny tips with scissors. Discard tough outer leaves. Dip in a bowl of water with a small amount of lemon juice to keep edges from turning brown until ready to cook."

"Artichokes may be cooked in boiling water 10-12 minutes or steamed in a heavy saucepan about 20-25 minutes. Cook only until tender-crisp, or until stem end can easily be pierced with a fork."

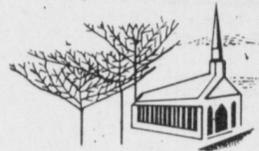

Serve artichokes with any favorite sauce. For the hors d'oeuvre table, chill artichokes and serve with a blue cheese dip.

"Combine 1 1/2 oz. blue cheese, 1 cup sour cream, 1 diced hard-cooked egg and 1 tablespoon chopped chives."

All too often a clear conscience is nothing more than a poor memory.

An investment in Your Future

ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

"HI DADDY"

"Hi Daddy! When are you coming home?"

How happy it would make our Heavenly Father if we responded to His voice in the same joyous manner that this little child has responded to his Daddy's voice.

Enthusiasm for God's Way would turn a greater number of people toward God and His love.

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord" (Psalms 122:1) would be a joyous response to God's command, "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together." (Hebrews 10:25)

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The Lonely Heart

"HELLO HENRY WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN TOWN?"

WASHINGTON REPORT BY Lloyd Bentsen, United States Senator

Traditionally, Texans and Americans with a better idea to market have usually been able to hang up a shingle and open for business. The main limiting factor has been their initiative -- and initiative is something our people have plenty of. Evidence of this surrounds us, in the countless small businesses and enterprises that form the economic backbone in the country. They are responsible for one-third of the Gross National Product. And, especially important during these times of recession, small businesses employ roughly half of the people working in the United States. As much as they provide a buffer against the current joblessness, the healthy and vibrant competition created by the large number of small businesses acts as a cushion between us and the worst aspects of double-digit inflation. Competition has always been the American way and for good reason. It insures that prices are kept reasonable enough for our people to afford. It protects consumers against price-fixing, the main danger of an economy dominated by monopolies and massive businesses. And competition helps guarantee that Americans keep getting quality merchandise for their money.

Undoubtedly, one of the secrets of this country's phenomenal success over the past two hundred years has been our belief that much of our prosperity as a state and as a nation depends on the prosperity of our small businesses -- of that family-owned grocery store in Alpine, that dry-goods business in Mount Pleasant and that fresh fruit market in the Valley. And it is this prosperity that is now being threatened; by double-digit inflation and the high costs of daily operations, by widespread recession and the reduced demand for goods and services, by high interest rates and a tight money policy that make it virtually impossible for small businesses to get capital for expansion and improvements. Our small businesses need help. And it is well worth our while to remember that, as we help them, we will be helping our entire economic situation. With this in mind, I will be conducting hearings of the Senate Finance Committee this month on the present plight of the small American businessman. We will be looking at the major problems they face -- and we will be trying to come up with some solutions. We will be looking at possible tax reforms and how we can best help small businessmen use our tax system to their benefit. As things stand now, our tax laws and incentives are so complex that often only large corporations with specially trained lawyers can take advantage of them. Also high on the list of troubles we'll be tackling is the need to provide ready capital for our small businesses. They must have funds available to them at reasonable interest rates; to help them meet the increasing costs of supplies and labor and equipment, to enable them to expand and modernize, to keep them competitive and strong. These funds are especially important during periods of declining profits -- such as now. According to the National Federation of Independent Business, small enterprises throughout the nation have shown a steady drop in earnings over the past year and a half. With earnings down and costs up, the crisis confronting millions of our small businessmen is obvious. And for those thousands of people not yet established and struggling to get a foot in the business door, the lack of ready money at reasonable rates makes the dream of owning and operating their own establishment almost an impossibility. This works to the detriment of each of us. It deprives America and Americans of new and better ideas. It curtails the creativeness that has steadily provided us with modern inventions. It blocks the initiative that has continually given us improved products. In short, it works against our development as a progressive nation. It was, after all, small inventors and enterprises that led to the development of the xerox industry, or DDT, insulin, cellophane, air conditioning, the cyclotron and other products and processes too numerous to list. We can't afford to stifle this progress by letting the depressed money market discourage new and exciting business endeavors. What we're talking about here, and basically what we're after in helping our small businesses throughout the country, is a return to the sort of climate that has promoted economic growth in America since our beginnings. Economic growth that is healthy. Economic growth that is not inflationary. Economic growth that will keep prices down even as it works to put those eight million unemployed Americans back to work. I am convinced this must be done. And during these small business hearings and others focusing on the economy during coming weeks, we will be laying plans to see that it is done. One cup of dried beans or peas (an excellent protein substitute) will make two and one-half cups cooked.

POWER TALKS by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

WASHINGTON—Crime pays. That's the grim truth. It's time we faced up to it. Figures released by the FBI for 1973 reveal that there were 8,638,400 major crimes reported in America. This included 19,510 murders, 51,000 forcible rapes, 382,680 robberies, 416,270 aggravated assaults and 2,540,900 burglaries. Expressed another way, there were 16 serious crimes committed each minute; one violent crime every 36 seconds; a forcible rape every 10 minutes; a robbery every 82 seconds; an aggravated assault every 76 seconds; a burglary every 12 seconds; a larceny or theft every 7 seconds. That was in 1973. The crime rate has risen substantially since then. The victims pay by far the highest price for this veritable epidemic of crime. But crime bears a price tag that all of us must pay. That price last year was nearly $90 billion. U.S. News & World Report magazine calculated that in 1974, organized crime—through its interests in gambling, narcotics, hijacked goods and loansharking—took $37.2 billion from the American people. Crimes against property and business totalled $21.3 billion. Other crimes, such as homicides, assaults and drunken driving, added up to $9.5 billion. Law enforcement costs were $14.6 billion, and private crime fighting costs totalled $6 billion. Experts list a wide variety of "causes" of crime, but it should be clear to all of us that the principal cause of crime is criminal. And for far too many criminals, crime does pay. The risk they run is too small, compared with the profits, to be an effective deterrent. FBI statistics reveal that only about 21 percent of all serious crimes are "cleared" by arrests. Only about 5 percent are "solved" by convictions. And a steadily diminishing percentage of those convicted are being sent to prison. The prison population in all state and federal penitentiaries is smaller now than it was in 1960, although a vastly greater number of crimes are being committed each year. The principal problem, I'm convinced, is with our courts. Our criminal justice system has become heavily biased in favor of the criminal, at the expense of the victims of crime and law-abiding society as a whole. The time for reform is long overdue. We can, I'm certain, carry out the prosecution of criminals efficiently and with justice, without endangering the civil liberties of the innocent. We did for nearly 200 years before the "reforms" of the Warren Court. We are all in favor of due process for the accused, but we should never forget that the potential victim has just as much right not to be violently molested as the person accused of such crimes has to a fair trial and a skillful defense.

The following is my desire and I try to daily live by it and it is my sincere wish and prayer to our Heavenly Father, God who is our constant help each day of our lives. If we only put our faith and trust in Him to guide us. For without Him we could do nothing. I hope you too will try to live by it and seek His presence each day. It follows: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom, to know the difference". For without our faith and trust in God, our Father, we would surely stumble and fall, but we cannot do those things that are right and just without Gods guidance and mercy.
