Contras must be supported

The question recently debated in the House of Representatives concerned whether we should give $100 million to the Contras in their fight against the Nicaraguan government.

I'm not all that saddened by the House's refusal to go along with the President's request since I believe the federal branch has other avenues open which can accomplish the same feat.

My stand is very simple: we should do everything in our power to oust the Communist dictatorship in Nicaragua. And, yes, I fully support sending in "our boys" to achieve that, if necessary.

Last week, I listened to all the pros and cons of U.S. involvement. Some noted that other governments are trying to seek a peaceful settlement of the issue. Some called the situation "another Vietnam." Some worried about world opinion. And some said we should "live and let live."

The problem with all those statements is that they skirt the central issue. This is one of those cases where it's black and white. The question is:

Should the United States allow a Communist government to rule in Nicaragua?

As I've written, we are involved in a war with the Russians global-wide. Instead of using our own troops and the Russians using theirs, we are fighting our battles with surrogates.

If you don't understand what "surrogate" means, please find out because this will be one of the key words used in the coming decades.

Thus, the U.S. is backing Angolan fighters, Afghan fighters, Nicaraguan fighters as they oppose Communist regimes. And the Soviet Union is backing Filipino fighters, Salvadoran fighters, even some leftist groups in the United States.

So what we have in Nicaragua is part of that worldwide battle. And by not giving our fullest support of the Contras means a possible major loss in that particular corner of the world (but I hope the President will find another way to back the Contras - soon).

If Nicaragua were in a place like Angola, for example, I don't think we'd be all that concerned. But, unfortunately, that nation occupies a strategic area in our hemisphere. We will suffer for it - and the amount of money we will need to ship neighboring nations to beef up their military forces will make that $100 million to the Contras look like chicken feed.

And by the way, anyone who really thinks the Communists will make a peaceful settlement with the Contras or have truly democratic elections is really naive. Communist methods call for complete control by their party - period. We have lots of examples in history to pick from to prove this point - from Czechoslovakia in 1948 to Cuba in 1959 to Ethiopia today.

By allowing Nicaragua to stabilize as a Communist dictatorship, we open the doors for more Communist involvements throughout Central America. And in case you have forgotten, one of the Communists' key goals is to force the United States to kneel before them.

Today, the Kremlin brokers are celebrating. They have their world maps before them and their quick minds are already plotting how the Communist victory in Nicaragua can be exploited. More aid for the Salvadoran rebels. Action against Guatemala. Starting a guerilla movement in Mexico. "Greater Nicaragua." Controlling the Panama Canal.

And after the Soviet Union begins stationing nuclear missiles in Nicaragua, the United States will have to initiate a defensive network across its southern boundaries. This will cost us billions and billions of dollars in higher taxes. And it will make our nation more open for Communist attack in the event of a global war.

If the United States were just a second-rate power, I don't think any of us would give a hang for Nicaragua. But we are the world's democratic leader and responsibilities go along with that. We have no choice other than to be in the forefront of opposition to the Communists; that's our duty, our obligation.

ALLIE BURRIS

They bought a two-room house for $17

Allie Burris moved southeast of Clovis in 1927 with her husband Roscoe, a brother and her father from Wellington.

They traveled by covered wagon to Clovis. She couldn't remember how many days or weeks it took. Her brother had already moved here and was working on a farm.

Her husband was making $30 a month.

They worked on the Leonard Mills' place southeast of Clovis, gathering grain and corn. "The grain was brought to Farwell, because you could get more for your money," said Mrs. Burris.

"We moved from the Mills' place after the crop was done. We rented a two room house. We raised broom corn and milo. Since we didn't have an icebox we kept our milk in a wooden trough and we cured our meat. The beef hung in the windmill. My husband didn't like beef and he wasn't upset when the windmill collapsed and the dogs at the meat," said Mrs. Burris.

"I also planted a garden and canned a lot of food. We lived there for about two years."

The Depression was coming on and times were getting tough. Money and jobs were hard to find.

"We moved to Portales and lived in a two-bedroom house. This was during the Depression and times were really bad," said Mrs. Burris. "We bought a mattress business in Portales from a Mr. Gatewood. We remade the mattresses. We charged 75 cents for the ticking and $3.50 for a full size mattress.

"We stuffed feather mattresses by hand. We had to be sure that the same amount of feathers were on each side. We kept the business for about a year. We had to quit as people didn't have any money. This was back in 1930 and 1931."

In 1932, the Depression was getting worse.

"We worked for Mr. Herrington and lived in his barn. We didn't stay there long as we moved to where the old Texico highway was.

"Then, we left for Oklahoma and farmed. We bought a two-room house for $17. We moved this house with us. We used a wagon and 4x4's. We farmed and worked on one oil well. We made one crop but our house burned." We had a Dodge touring car.

Her husband started working at Standard Abstract Company, which put plastics in gas and oil tanks. After a short while they were sent to Dumas for about one year.

"Later, we bought a farm southeast of Clovis. We had 100 hogs, chickens and 20 cows. After we moved back over here we adopted four children. They are - LaJune of Midwest City, Okla., Wanda Raye of Washington, Garry of Alabama, and Zadene of Dallas. This was about 1954."

In 1958 her husband died. She was able to continue to farm and with the help of neighbors. She kept the farm for about 24 years before selling it. Then she moved back to Texico.

She has six grandchildren and will be a great-grandmother soon.

"I've enjoyed life even though times were hard," said Mrs. Burris, who also worked about 16 years as a clerk at Rose Drug.

It's BTD planning time

Border Town Days Committee will meet for its initial session of the year on Monday, April 7, at 8 p.m. CST at Luce's Restaurant.

Members will begin plans for the annual celebration for the Twin Cities of Texico and Farwell, which will take place the weekend of July 25 and 26.

Theme of this year's Border Town Days celebration is "Happy 150th, Texas" to tie in with the Texas Sesquicentennial, so it will be an extra special event.

The BTD Committee is comprised of representatives of all civic, social and city groups in Texico and Farwell, and the following organizations are urged to have representatives at the meeting:

Commissioners deny school request

The Parmer County Commissioners Monday voted to deny a request from Farwell Schools on a division of permanent school trust funds.

Voting to deny were Ernest Anthony and Raymond McGehee. Opposed were Tommy Williams and Robert White. County Judge Porter Roberts broke the tie in favor of denial.

The Farwell School Board request involved the nearly $900,000 in school funds administered by the commissioners. Earlier this year, the commissioners denied a request by Friona Schools for their portion of the funds.

The Farwell request did not seek any part of the fund but asked for a division of it so that four separate accounts (one each for Farwell, Friona, Lazbuddie and Bovina schools) would be set up under the commissioners' administration.

City of Farwell, City of Texico, Farwell Chamber of Commerce, Texico Chamber of Commerce, Farwell Study Club, the Sesquicentennial Committee;

Also, the volunteer fire departments from both cities, Lions Club, Rotary Club, Theta Rho chapter of ESA, Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi; and all of the churches in the Twin Cities.

Any other organizations or individuals interested in the planning or having ideas for the 1986 celebration are welcome and urged to attend the meeting.

Election of officers is also scheduled for the April 7 meeting.

Here's what the Farwell request said:

"The principle of the Parmer County Permanent School fund be divided into not less than four separate accounts. The exact amount in each account should be dedicated to each of the four county

Students have school Monday

Farwell School students will have school Monday.

Originally, it was a day off for the students but has been changed to a school day to make up for a day lost.

It used to be that Texas schools had an option of either making up a day or just losing one or two each school year, but that option was removed under recent state legislation.

'Teacher of the Year' program adopted

The Farwell Chamber of Commerce Tuesday voted to begin a "Teacher of the Year" program. Here's how it will work for the Farwell Schools:

First, any employee can nominate a teacher from each building. Administrators will compile the nominations and form a second ballot with the names of the top three nominees from each building.

Then the three names will be submitted to the same building (elementary, junior high and senior high) they were nominated from. The staff from that building will then ballot, from which one finalist from each building will be picked.

After a nominee from each building is selected, each building will compile a data sheet to explain why their nominee should be Teacher of the Year.

The names and data sheets, which include civic, school and personal information, will be turned over to the Chamber for final selection. The winner would be named at the school picnic held each May.

In addition, the person named will receive a $50 honorarium. A plaque will be placed in the school system with the names of the winners each year.

The suggestion to begin this program was made by Farwell School Supt. John Grigsby.

In other business, Chamber Secretary Dutch Quickel said that Col. Stewart, one of the American astronauts, has agreed to come to Farwell to speak.

He will need six weeks notice to arrange his schedule. The Chamber will ask him to come to Farwell in September and speak before the Farwell students at an assembly.

Also, Texico students will be invited to hear Col. Stewart.

The Chamber agreed to contribute $50 for the Boys' and Girls' State delegates from Farwell High.

Five persons were suggested to serve on this year's Chamber Board of Directors - Grigsby, Steve Breckenridge, Ron Fechner, Peggy Gikas and Gwen Hughes.

A special board meeting will be called soon to nominate officers for the Chamber. John Getz is current president.

Quickel noted that the Chamber has 28 members and there is good room for growth since Farwell has more than 60 businesses.

First Baptist holds open house

The numbers were large Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Farwell.

They showed 255 people attending Sunday School, more than 300 for the meal following the dedication service for the new addition, and another 100-plus attending the open house.

The new addition includes six classrooms, a fellowship hall which can seat more than 300 and a large kitchen.

At the dedication service, thanks were given the vision committee chaired by Ralph Franse and the building committee chaired by Don Williams. Individual committee members were thanked, along with volunteers who worked on the project.

Here's the chronology of events:

Feb. 14, 1985 - Building committee meets for the first time.

March 1, 1985 - Building committee tours facilities in Hereford and Amarillo.

March 6, 1985 - More facilities in the Panhandle and Clovis are toured.

March 10, 1985 - First Special Conference for discussion with church. Questionnaires sent parishioners showed overwhelming positive response to construction of addition.

April-May 1985 - Building plans drawn up.

June 27, 1985 - Contractors bid for 7,580 sq. ft. addition, ranging from $238,000 to $255,000.

June 27, 1985 - Charlie Hromas approved as contractor.

June 30, 1985 - Special Conference Plan approved. Harvest Drive with $80,000 goal approved.

Aug. 6, 1985 - Construction starts.

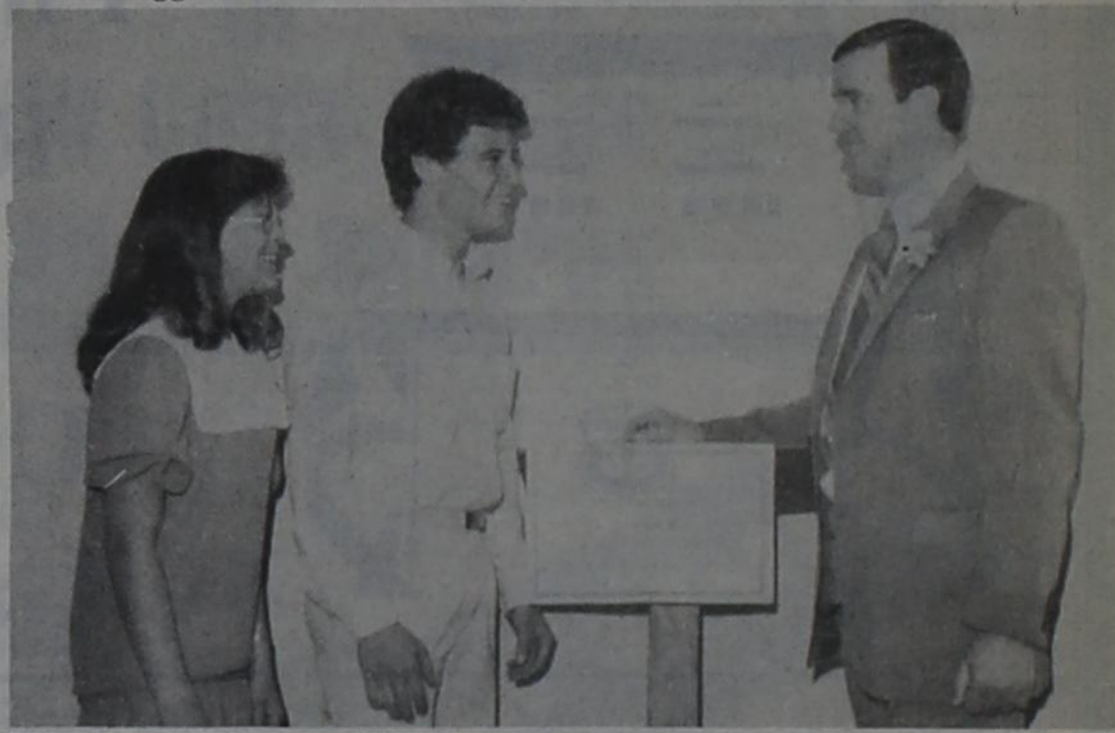

Feb. 16, 1986 - Harvest Drive goal surpassed; $89,000 raised.

March 23, 1986 - Dedication Day.

Riley shows a classroom to two Lazbuddie visitors - Lorre and Brad Johnson of Lazbuddie. The Johnsons, who attend First Baptist School in Lazbuddie, are the grandchildren of Clarence Johnson of Farwell.

Subdivision opposition voiced

Several residents of Ave. F, just outside the southern boundary of Texico, voiced opposition Tuesday night to the proposed subdivision of Jim and Carolyn Burrows at the Texico City Council meeting.

The main reason is because the present plans call for the subdivision to have an alley at its southern boundary. The alley would face the front of the Ave. F homes.

The Burrows are planning a subdivision on their 17 acres which are in the city limits. The area, currently grassland and used for horse grazing, would be divided into lots for single-family dwellings. The site is directly south of City Hall (to the south of the railroad tracks).

The original subdivision plans called for a street to be located at its southern boundary, which apparently also marks the southern boundary of Texico. But, said Burrows, due to problems with gas and water lines, the plans were changed so that an alley would be its southern boundary.

Among the Ave. F residents present were Roy Thornton, Glenn Neie, David Lynn and J.K. Barfield.

Burrows had suggested to the Ave. F residents that they pay for paving a street at their boundary but the amount of money called for was unacceptable to the residents. Thornton said they wouldn't mind paying a reasonable fee but the overall cost should be shared in by those who would be buying lots in the subdivision.

The council listened to discussion by the Burrows, their engineer, Robert Lydick of Clovis, and the Ave. F residents. No decision was needed because the Burrows' master plan for the subdivision won't be presented until the next meeting.

The council also plans to organize a plan commission, to handle matters such as this. But it has not been set up yet. So the council, which would have the final decision even with a plan commission, will make the final decision on the Burrows' proposal.

Councilmen Steve Chancy and Doyal LaRue urged the Burrows' and Ave. F residents to meet within the next two weeks and try to work out a compromise.

In other business, the council approved allowing Leon Meeks to move a road on his property about 70 feet. Meeks will pay for it.

After finding out that the dues to join the Eastern Plains Council of Governments is $287 for the year, the council voted to rejoin COG but just pay for one quarter - $71.

Easter Sunrise Service planned

A community Sunrise Service will be presented jointly by the Hamlin United Methodist Church and the First Baptist Church of Farwell at 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday, March 30, in the Farwell City Park.

Families in the community and surrounding area are invited to attend services. Chairs will be provided.

Fellowship will follow in the First Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Both churches also will have regular Sunday School and morning worship.

correct time to set up four accounts, he said.

These accounts remain in the control of the Parmer County Commissioners until such time as any individual school district may request that all or a portion of its dedicated portion be distributed for the legal purpose described in the Texas Constitution.

In other business, County Clerk Bonnie Warren told the commissioners that she had received a $50 bill in the mail. A note with it said, "The enclosed is for use in any of your farm programs." The note was unsigned; the envelope was post-marked in Tyler, Texas. The commissioners voted to put the $50 in the county general fund.

A fifth or extra fund be created for the purpose of collecting any new revenues that may be generated from new leases or the sale of any of the property of the Permanent School Fund.

The commissioners voted a $5,000 advance to Sherrill Lumber for its work on the district courtroom renovation.

In explaining his vote, Roberts said that he saw no reason to divide the account into four separate accounts at this time. When the commissioners do vote to give a school its portion, then that would be the

Over and over again, history shows us that the way to prevent major war is through being strong. Adversaries rarely want to attack a strong enemy.

No other avenues open than for us to either militarily attack Nicaragua with U.S. troops, or fully support the Contras.

Not giving the Contras aid is a sign of weakness. It will not go unnoticed throughout the world. It will be a boon for Communists everywhere fighting U.S.-supported groups.

Ralph Franse of Farwell received a really nice recognition last week. But because he's a modest person, he ordered yours truly not to print anything about it in the Tribune. So if you see Ralph, please don't ask him about it.

Even though our backed government in South Vietnam lost, I will always consider that experience as a victory for the U.S. in that it told the world we would stand by our allies. You never heard Red China call us a "paper tiger" after 1965, did you? It was a turning point in how our adversaries viewed us.

Computers must be mastered

BY JOHN A. GRIGSBY
 Farwell Independent School District Superintendent

is virtually impossible to operate without successful management of "the economies of scale."

Consider the changes in the car industry. Cars are now equipped with on-board computers. They not only function for better efficiency, but also for diagnostic purposes. The new automechanics must be able to operate complex machines which assist in diagnosing problems and repair.

Another example is the school business. Over the past two years, our administrative procedures and paperwork has grown over 100% due to accounting changes and reports caused by new state mandates. Without a computer dedicated for administrative functions, we could not keep up.

We have acknowledged the growth and importance of computers here at the school by increasing the number of computers used to train students. We have two fully-equipped labs, one each in the high school and junior high, with eight at the Elementary School. Yet, more are needed. The secondary labs must be continually updated. On the elementary level, a computer in each room is necessary in order to provide all our students enough time, daily and weekly, for them to become computer "literate."

Our primary goal is to train students on the computer while at the same time integrating them into other curricular or subject areas. One example is to teach a student how to use a word processor to generate a report or theme. A secretary could easily correct an error on a report generated on a word processor without having to retype the entire report merely for that error.

Computers are not a threat to us. They are merely instruments which we must master to become more efficient. But, to become more efficient, we must master these machines and teach our students the benefits of that mastering.

Technology - Computerization: There is no denying its impact on our present-day lives, both at home and at work.

Already we are witnessing dramatic changes in the methods of manufacturing. We are rapidly moving away from labor-intensive manufacturing processes to new processes involving robotics and computerization.

The same holds true for farmers. Farmers are mechanizing their operations rather than using farm labor for prolonged periods. Tractors, feeders, planters and other equipment are more accurate, complex and efficient, and sophisticated due to on-board computers.

Computers are also being used for bookkeeping purposes. I personally know of one farmer in another community who realized considerable cost savings on his audit due to office computerization.

Farmers and ranchers no longer compete in purely local markets; they are having to compete in both national and international arenas. It

Farwell youths receive superior ratings

Five local students from the Stratton School of Music of Clovis received ratings of superior (1st division) at the Junior Festival of the New Mexico Federation of Music Clubs March 21-22.

Receiving state and national honors with ratings of superior in solo auditions were: Clint Austin, Leonard Hillock, Cody Monk and Jeffrey Stewart on the guitar; and Jarrod Franse on piano.

Receiving individual superior ratings for guitar duets were Clint Austin and Cody Monk; Leonard Hillock and Jeffrey Stampe, and Michael Turner and Jeffrey Stewart.

Austin performed two solos, "Devils Dreams" and "Triple Vibration"; Austin and Monk did a duet "Oh! Susanna" and "Chipanecas"; Stewart's two solos were "Melancholy," and "Amazing Grace". His duets were "Frankie and Johnny" and "Chuckin Around."

Monk's two solos were "Rock with Bach" and "She'll be Coming Around the Mountain." Franse's two solos were "Shovel That Snow" and "The Pet Shop"; and Hillock's solos were "Melody In F" and "The Gauchos" and duets were "Minuet In G Major" and "Duet in D Minor."

Pre-nuptial shower held

Krista Fowler and Kirk Magness, both of Odessa, were honored at a pre-nuptial shower Saturday afternoon at the Methodist Church in Farwell.

Special guests were the bride-elect's mother, Marilyn Fowler; her aunt, LeAnna Hand, both of Odessa; the prospective bridegroom's mother, June Magness, and his grandmother, Mae Magness, both of Farwell.

Assisting with opening and registering of gifts was Kirk's sister, Kris Spearman of Clovis.

Guests were served assorted cookies, nuts and punch from silver and crystal appointments. A mixed spring bouquet centered the white lace-covered table, and lavender napkins were imprinted with the couple's names.

Hostesses were Tommie Snodgrass, Dorothy Lovelace, Dorothy Quickel, Irene Jones, Beth Howard, Alice Vinton, Peggy Gikas, Lillie Christian, Dot Christian, Linda Gerries, Karolene Inman, Yaunda Martin, Yolanda McFarland, and Wanda Mayfield.

It's a Boy

Dennis and Louise Gilchrist of Texico announce the birth of a son, Jeremiah Dillon, March 21 at the Roosevelt General Hospital in Portales.

Jeremiah weighed 8 pounds and 3 ounces and was 21 1/4 inches long. He has a brother, James David, 2 1/2 years old and a sister, Jacqueline Danielle, 13 months.

Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Alta Mosier of Cordell, Okla.

Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Louella Gilchrist of Mineral Wells, W. Va.

Also, the Gilchrists thanked Dr. Lowry and the nursing staff at Roosevelt General for "letting us have a wonderful and beautiful experience with the hospital's new birthing-room. It will be a memory that we will treasure for the rest of our lives."

High Yield Food Corn

Conlee's 202 is a new and improved single cross hybrid yellow corn that is unique with a white cob, making it preferred as a food grain. Crop yields, however, meet and most often exceed comparable feed corn yields. This hybrid has bred-in disease resistance and presents the best of parental lines in yield and quality. The big, well shuck covered ears are well placed for easy harvest. The big root system and sturdy stalks provide good standability, reducing the hazards of lodging. Conlee's 202's leaf habit allows for closer plant spacing, thus increasing plant population. It responds very well to moisture becoming a favorite with both dryland and irrigated producers. Proven to be adaptable from deep South Texas to the North into the Plains and Mid-Western States, the popularity of this Conlee hybrid has exceeded expectations, making seed availability limited. Order your 202 corn seed early to assure availability.

300 Texian prisoners massacred near Goliad

1836: SUNDAY, MARCH 27. On this Palm Sunday, one of the most dastardly deeds in the history of civilized nations occurred when 330 Texian prisoners were brutally massacred near Goliad. It was by direct order of the Mexican commander-in-chief, President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, who is now encamped at Bexar. It is thought that only 27 prisoners were able to escape.

Colonel Jose Nicolas de la Portilla, in charge of the prisoners at Goliad, received the order last night by special courier, with detailed instructions as to the mode of execution. This is despite the solemn treaty of surrender, in both English and Spanish, signed by General Jose Urrea for the Mexicans and Colonel James W. Fannin for the Texians, which assured the Texians of prisoner-of-war status and repatriation to the United States within eight days.

A total of 445 men were being held prisoner at Goliad, including the men under Colonel William Ward. Besieged at Refugio, they had managed to escape, but were later captured. The prisoners also included 80 men under Major William P. Miller of Tennessee, who were captured at Copano immediately upon landing there. Their ship had run aground, and seeing a large Mexican force on shore, they threw their arms into the water and claimed to be peaceable immigrants. Since they had done no fighting, they were spared from Santa Anna's order. Also spared were four doctors and four hospital assistants needed by the Mexicans to take care of their wounded.

At daybreak this morning, all able-bodied prisoners were lined up and marched out in separate groups under various pretexts. Some were told that they were being taken to Copano to embark for the United States, some were told that they were being removed to make room for Santa Anna. After being marched a short distance from the fort, the Mexicans in charge of each group turned their guns on them and killed them.

The medical personnel being spared were held under guard nearby. They report that they heard yells and shouts in the direction of the fort. "Although some distance from us, I recognized the voices of my countrymen," said Dr. Joseph H. Barnard. "We started, and turning my head in that direction, I saw, through some partial opening through the trees, several of the prisoners running at their full speed, and directly after, some Mexican soldiers in pursuit of them."

He says that at this point, the Mexican colonel guarding them turned toward them, and with his face showing utmost distress, said: "Keep still, gentlemen. You are safe. This is not from my orders, nor do I execute them."

"In the course of five or ten minutes," Dr. Barnard continued, "we heard as many as four distinct volleys fired in as many directions, and regular firing which continued an hour or more before it ceased. Our situation and feelings at this time may be imagined, but it is not in the power of language to express them. The sound of every gun as it rang in our ears, told but too terribly the fate of our brave companions, while their cries, which occasionally reached us, heightened the horrors of the scene."

Many tried to escape, but most of those who survived the first volley were cut down by pursuing cavalry. It is believed that 27 is the total number of those who were successful.

The wounded prisoners had been left behind in the fort. They were now dragged out and killed. Colonel Fannin was kept until last, and was informed of his fate. He calmly handed his watch to the officer in charge, and asked that he be shot in the breast and not in the head. He also asked for a proper burial. The officer agreed. Neither request was later carried out.

Shortly before Santa Anna's order arrived yesterday, Colonel Portilla had received instructions from his commanding officer, General Jose Urrea, presently at Victoria, to "treat the prisoners with consideration, and particularly their leader, Fannin." Today he addressed an apologetic letter to General Urrea, stating that as a subordinate officer it was his duty to carry out Santa Anna's order. "I feel much distressed at what has occurred here," he wrote, "a scene enacted in cold blood and having passed before my eyes which has filled me with horror. All I can say is, that my duty as a soldier, and what I owe my country, must be my guaranty."

1836: TUESDAY, MARCH 29. The ad interim government of Texas is now located in Harrisburg, on the Buffalo Bayou above Galveston Bay. It was decided on March 18 to move the government there from Washington-on-the-Brazos. At the same time, ad interim President David G. Burnet issued a proclamation to the people of Texas, especially those east of the Brazos, expressing grief and surprise that under the influence of "idle rumors," so many of them are so precipitously leaving their homes.

All members of the government except Secretary of the Treasury Bailey Hardeman reached Harrisburg on the night of March 22, a week ago today. They stopped at the house of Mrs. Jane Harris, widow of a founder of the town. "No corn or other food to be got for our horses," reported Colonel William F. Gray, who was with the party. "Had to turn them loose to graze." The house was crowded that night. He says: "I slept on the floor under the same blanket with the Secretary of War. The Secretary of the Navy and the Attorney General also slept on the floor. The President, Vice President and Secretary of State were accommodated with beds."

The retreat to Harrisburg was probably essential to the continuation of the government, but it has not pleased General Sam Houston, currently encamped at Mill Creek. "For heaven sake," he wrote to Secretary of War Thomas J. Rusk, "do not drop back again with the seat of government! Your removal to Harrisburg has done more to increase the panic in the country than anything else that has occurred in Texas, except the fall of the Alamo."

1839: SATURDAY, MARCH 30. The Texas Navy this week commissioned its first steamship, an ocean-going sidewheeler with three boilers, and paddlewheels on both sides, and also equipped with a full set of sails. It has been christened the Zavala, in honor of Lorenzo de Zavala, a native of Yucatan who served as the first Vice President of the Republic.

Of the original Texas Navy, only the receiving brig Potomac remains. The Liberty was sold for debt in New Orleans in July, 1836. The schooner Independence was captured by the Mexican brigs-of-war Libertador and Vencedor del Alamo on April 17, 1837, and is now serving the Mexican Navy. The two remaining ships, the Invincible and the Brutus, went aground and were wrecked the following August 27 in a fight with the same two Mexican warships.

The Zavala marks the beginning of a new Texas Navy. Six additional ships, all sailing vessels, are now under construction for Texas by the Baltimore shipyard of Schott and Whitney. They are a sloop-of-war, three armed schooners, and two brigs. They are expected to slide down the ways later this spring and during the early summer.

There has been some controversy over the commissioning of a steamship for the Navy, since the machinery is largely untried, and there are no mechanics in Galveston who would be able to repair the engines should trouble develop.

The Zavala was previously the S.S. Charleston, and was purchased in that city by General James Hamilton, a former governor of South Carolina who is currently serving as the Texas consul in Charleston. It was converted to a man-of-war by James Dawson of England, in return for five-year Texas bonds at 10 per cent interest totalling 40,350 pounds sterling. It has been provided with a long 18-pound cannon, a long 12-point pivot gun, and four 18-pound medium range guns. There is additional space for two more 18-pounders. The engines are coal-burning, although cord wood can also be used. The ship attains an average speed of nine knots.

The conversion of the ship was supervised for Texas by John G. Tod, who as a young man served in the Mexican Navy, and later transferred to the United States Navy. He remained in that service until 1836, and came to Texas the following year. He is highly regarded by President Mirabeau B. Lamar, who is a strong supporter of an effective Texas Navy.

The Zavala will be under the command of Captain A.C. Hinton. Like Tod, he is a former United States

Navy man, having served for seven years. He resigned to come to Texas in 1837, served for three months as a government clerk, and then established a law practice in Houston. He gave this up to accept command of the Zavala.

Robin Niece marries Allan Myers

Robin Renee Niece and Allan Lee Myers were married Sept. 20, 1985, at the First Assembly of God Church in Clovis with Rev. J.M. Barnard officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Niece of Clovis, Juanita Hadley of Texico, and Lee Myers of Greenville, Texas.

Carnations in pastel shades of pink, blue, yellow, and lavender, entwined with greenery, enhanced the white, wrought iron wedding arch, which also featured white wedding bells at the center. Additional greenery and tall candelabra bearing white votive cups completed the decor.

Musical selections and accompaniment were provided by Mike Teague, pianist, and Mrs. Jeanetta Barnard, organist.

Candles were lighted by groomsmen Matt Meeks and Jeff Holland. Afterward the groom escorted to their seats: Mrs. Bessie Paulie of Dumas, his paternal great-grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Al Myers of Dumas, his paternal grandparents; Mrs. Edith St. Clair of Muleshoe, his maternal grandmother; Mrs. Marie Kear of Oklahoma City, the bride's maternal grandmother, his mother; and the bride's mother.

Before the entrance of the wedding party, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Markham sang "This Is The Day."

As Melvin Niece escorted his daughter to the altar, she presented her mother with a long-stemmed, red silk rose. Robin's wedding attire was particularly special to her. The chapel-length, white dress was worn by each of her sisters in their weddings. It featured an empire waistline, long, fitted lace sleeves, a high neckline with a lace ruffle, and a double ruffle lace yoke. The A-line skirt was accented by double lace flounces.

The bride's shoes were worn first by her mother when she and her husband wed on Feb. 14, 1959, and by Robin's two older sisters.

Her white, wide brimmed straw hat was enhanced by a lace ruffle and chapel-length veil. In addition, Robin wore a starburst diamond necklace, her parents' gift for her seventeenth birthday.

Something old was the bride's shoes; something new was the hair and veil; something borrowed was her mother's pearl ring, given by the three daughters for Mother's Day, 1985; and something blue was the traditional garter.

Robin's bouquet was composed of pink, blue, yellow, and lavender silk roses with white satin steamers and bows.

For his wedding, Allan chose an ivory tuxedo with tails; ivory shirt with ruffled front and cuffs; and ivory bow tie and shoes. His boutonniere was a pastel blue silk rosebud.

During the ceremony, Doug and Sherrie Markham sang "Surely the Presence" and Debbie Neal sang "That's the Way." While Allan and Robin lighted the unity candle, Sherrie Markham sang "There Is Love." As the couple withdrew from the altar, Robin presented a long-stemmed, red silk rose to Allan's mother.

Christy Brewer of Topeka, Kan., longtime friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kim Bell and Melva Duffield, sisters of the bride, and bridesmaid was Nancy Hand, all of Clovis.

The attendants wore tea-length dresses of pastel shades of pink, blue, yellow, and lavender; white shoes; and white, broad brimmed, straw hats with slender ribbons matching the dress shade encircling the crown and falling into streamers. Each carried a black, wrought iron candle holder bearing a clear votive cup with a candle matching the dress hue. Silk flowers matching the attendant's dress color surrounded the votive cup.

Flower girl, Jessica Hadley, sister of the groom, was attired in a floor-length pastel pink dress, and white gloves and shoes. In her hair Jessica wore pink rosebuds and slender pink ribbon streamers, and she carried a white straw basket filled with pastel blossoms. In 1971 the bride also carried the basket in a cousin's wedding.

Tracy Morelack of Ruidoso, friend of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jeff Holland and Matt Meeks of Texico and Jimmy Love of Texico. The male attendants wore grey tuxedos, white tucked-front shirts, and boutonnières matching the dress of the girl each escorted.

Prior to the ceremony, Jan Webb Clovis, friend of the bride, registered guests at a white, lace-covered table bearing a basket containing the couple's lavender wedding scrolls.

A reception was held in the fellowship area following the ceremony. The bride's table featured a white undercloth covered in white net which fell into wide Austrian-style swags set off by narrow white satin ribbons and bows.

The three tiered bride's cake was surrounded by four individual heart-shaped cakes, all decorated with pastel roses. Pale yellow satin roses topped the cake, with a Precious Moments bride and groom occupying a place of honor on the second layer.

Crystal and silver appointments completed the table, along with pale lavender monogrammed napkins bearing the couple's names and wedding date. Coffee, punch, and mixed nuts were offered in addition to cake.

MR. AND MRS. ALLAN MYERS

Honoring Robin and Allan by serving were Rhonda Nixon, Connie Hamilton, Kristi Kear, and Dana Kear, all cousins of the bride from Oklahoma City.

The groom's table featured a white cloth trimmed in lace, and silver and crystal appointments. The chocolate cake displayed a spray of roses in the dusty rose shade and bore the legend "Through the Years," as did the duty rose napkins. Guests were served cake, hot spiced punch, dusty rose mints in the shape of wedding bells and roses, and heart-shaped chocolate mints.

Three silver-framed pictures highlighted the table: Robin at age five and Allan at eighteen months flanked the couple's engagement picture. A single spray of dusty rose silk flowers lay on the table before each picture.

Serving at Allan's table were an aunt, Mrs. Darlene Pierce of Spearman, and a cousin, Mrs. Darlita Pierce Ellis of Midland.

Holly Duffield, niece of the bride, distributed rice-filled wedding bells and rice bags. She wore a yellow dress identical to those of the bride's attendants. Randy and Teresa Stone of Bovina, cousins of the groom, acted as junior host and hostess at the reception.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rita Niece wore a blue, street length dress, white shoes, and a corsage of blue and white silk carnations. The groom's mother chose periwinkle blue tea-length dress and shoes and a white, silk carnation corsage.

The couple honeymooned in Ruidoso. Mr. and Mrs. Myers are at home in Clovis, where Robin is employed at First Federal and Allan by Ponca Wholesale Company.

YEAST BISCUITS

1 scant c. warm water
3 t. sugar
1 pkg. dry yeast (dissolve in warm water)
2 c. flour

1/4 c. Mazola oil
2 t. salt

Mix. Let rise 30 minutes. Make into rolls. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Historic Recipe of the Week

BUTTERMILK PIE

Yolk of 3 eggs, 1 1/2 cups buttermilk, 2 heaping tablespoons of flour, 1 1/2 cups sugar, butter the size of an egg. Flavor with lemon. Top with meringue and brown.

Cream sugar and butter, add beaten yolks of eggs and mix thoroughly; then milk and lastly the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Be careful not to use too much flour. Add just enough flour to handle dough without sticking. Fry in hot lard. Mix baking powder with flour. Use any flavor desired.

'Grandteacher' adopted

Students in grade 3A at Farwell Elementary School have adopted a "Grandteacher."

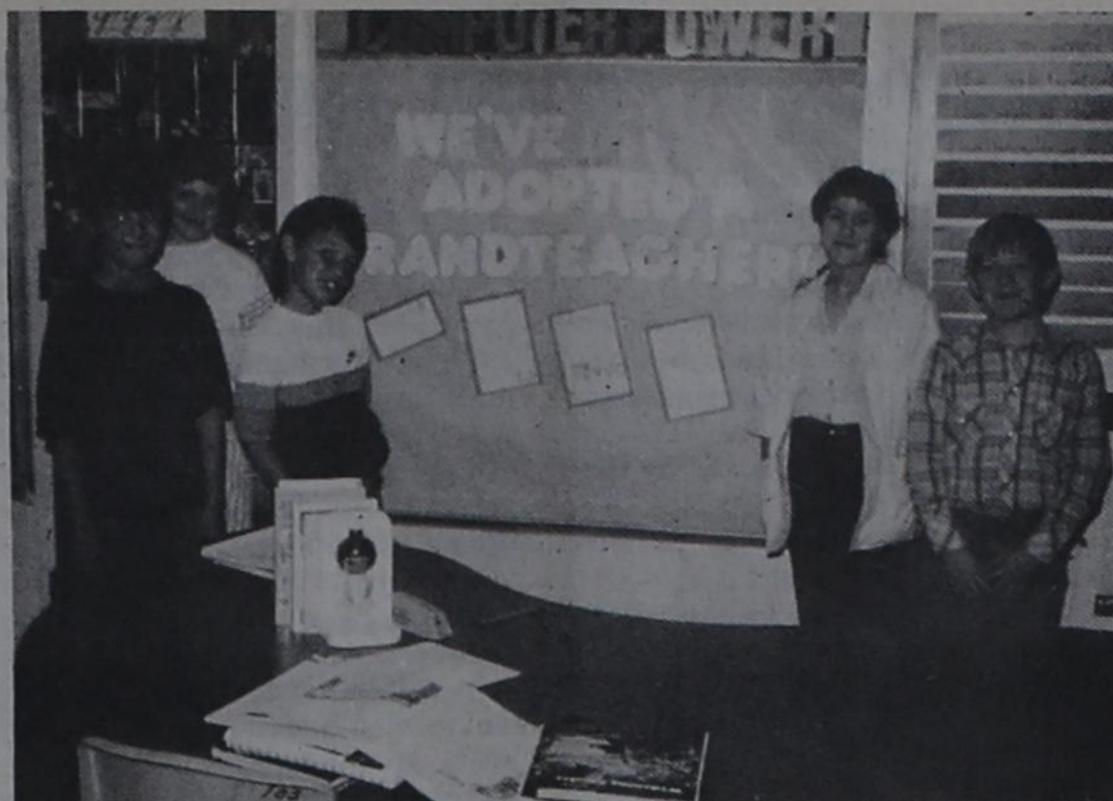

She is Mrs. Laureta Pool, formerly a Farwell Elementary teacher. Mrs. Pool retired 10 years ago and presently resides in High Point, N.C. During the 30 years Mrs. Pool taught in Farwell she taught nearly every grade, but she taught third grade both her first and last years.

All the children have written letters to Mrs. Pool. Some have sent pictures of themselves. There are plans to share products of their creative writing, art work and other activities.

Mrs. Pool has written to the class and has also sent a personal letter to each child. Each letter contained special information just for its recipient. Many of the letters recalled memories of days gone by when their parents were in Mrs. Pool's classes.

A special pleasure for the class was the gift of a newspaper, the 100th anniversary issue of the "High Point Enterprise." The children read it for days, according to their teacher, Mrs. Nelle Craig.

Mrs. Craig said, "Mrs. Pool is a 'Grandteacher' in every sense of the word."

Birthday celebrated

Curt Christian, son of Vick and Denise Christian, was feted with a Sesame Street birthday party in honor of his second birthday March 19.

Helping celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Christian, Carrie Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ellison, all of Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Tom Young and Mr. and Mrs. Donny Young of Kress; Mr. and Mrs. Darren Young and Nathan of Plainview and Todd Christian, of Lubbock.

Guests enjoyed a hamburger cook-out, cake and ice cream.

'Tent Party' planned

Boy Scouts of Troop 200 of Texico-Farwell will hold a "Tent Party" on April 1 at 6:30 p.m. at Charles Aycock's home. The time will be used to clean and repair the equipment before their next outing.

On April 11, there will be a weekend trip to Palo Duro Canyon. April 18 is the Scout Fair in Clovis. Scouts are selling tickets for $1 each. The tickets can be redeemed for discounts on food at local restaurants, or used for the Scout Fair. These tickets help the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts earn money for their scouting program and win prizes at the same time. Last year, Troop 200 won Best in Show for its demonstration at the Scout Fair. A backpacking trip to Las Vegas, N.M., is planned for May.

Her first birthday

Brooke Elise St. Clair, daughter of Robert and Beverly St. Clair of Lubbock, celebrated her first birthday March 26.

Maternal grandparents are Bill and Lynn Roberts of Farwell. Paternal grandparents are Byron and Marcella St. Clair of Baytown.

Maternal great-grandfather is Homer Whitlow of Lubbock and paternal great-grandparents are Isia Campbell of Borger and Dr. W.L. Campbell of Pampa.

Mahaney interviewed

Jody Mahaney, a Farwell School fifth grader, appeared on Amarillo television Saturday night. Mahaney was one of the Farwell Cub Scouts attending the Cannon Air Force Base open house Saturday and watching the Thunderbirds. He was picked by a TV crew for an interview on what he saw and what he thought of the program. The interview was carried on the 10 p.m. news broadcast.

Caprock to accept high moisture corn

Caprock Industries Inc. has recently announced plans to accept High Moisture Corn at their newly acquired Bovina location. Caprock Industries headquartered in Gruver, Texas is a subsidiary of Cargill Inc. Caprock consist of six feedlots located in Bovina, Dalhart, Gruver and Lockney, Texas, as well as, one in Leoti, Kansas. The company has a one time on feed capacity of 270,000 head. Caprock has been ensiling High Moisture Corn for the past 10 years at their various Texas and Kansas locations. In recent years, 4-6 million bushels per year have been put up by the company at these locations. C.C. "Cap" Naegle, manager at Bovina, stated that the high moisture corn is fed at levels ranging from 20 to 50% of the ration. He added that, historically, both cattle performances and cost of grain have been extremely competitive when fed at these levels. The competitiveness is due to price adjustments made to compensate for the wetter ration. The corn is usually ensiled at a moisture range from 22-28% with the average usually being 26%. The corn will be tested for moisture at the feedlot and adjusted back to 15.5% at a 1.3 adjustment factor. Payment for the corn would then be made from the shrunk or "dry" bushel total. Naegle also outlined Caprock's various methods of purchasing the corn. He stated that there were four alternatives available at the present time. They are: 1) a flat price, 2) priced date of shipment, 3) basis contract, and 4) a minimum price using options. All contracts would be based on the C.B.O.T. December corn future. Naegle adds that the current bid is 10 cents/Bu. over the December corn futures and is subject to change.

Golden Circle class meets

The Golden Circle class of Texico Baptist Church met in the home of Mary Dorris for a breakfast and meeting. Mrs. Nora Day opened with prayer. There was no old or new business. Velma Kelley brought a devotional from "The Open Window." Those enjoying the breakfast were Ethelene Bell, Velma Kelley, Minnie Hagler, Nora Day, a guest, Hillie Harrison, and hostess Mary Dorris.

The Latest

Woodrow and Dorothy Lovelace visited with their daughter Diane and son-in-law Robert Mayes and their daughter Maggie of Houston. The trip was mainly sight-seeing the countryside. They returned March 17. Mrs. Lovelace said, "Not too far from the Mays' home is the landing platform of the Goodyear blimp. I did not ride on it." Visiting Dutch and Dorothy Quickel last week were their son Bill Quickel, his wife Linda and three children.

Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann
Activity Director

I recently spent a week in Sioux Falls, S.D. at the Ev. Lutheran Good Samaritan Society Home office. We spent 41 hours of class work and evenings meeting 34 other Activity Directors from other Good Sam Centers. What an exciting experience! The one that comes across time and time again is family. They are all one big sharing family. Hopefully, the ideas they shared with me for new activities we can put into reality soon. Now is a perfect time for me to thank all of you who took over for me in my absence. Everyone of the residents pulled their weight in sharing of the responsibilities of the exercise classes. I've heard nothing but praise about them. Of course, I knew they were good - but - now so does everyone else. We have our birthday party this Friday the 28th at 3 p.m. The Border Town Four will be with us! Please come and share our fun. Again, my thanks to the nurses, nurses aids, Mary Kay, Ron, Debbie and my good friend Linda. Thank you all for being my friends.

Sodbuster provisions take effect

The sodbuster and swampbuster provisions of the 1985 farm bill went into effect on Dec. 23, 1985, when the President signed the Food Security Act of 1985.

"That date is very significant for any producer who plows out highly erodible land or drains wetlands after the law was signed," said Bill Donham, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Friona. "It could mean the producer would have to forfeit USDA program benefits in 1986 if the land is used to produce a crop in 1986."

"The Department has not had time to publish and implement rules and regulations since the legislation was signed," Donham continued. "That is why we do not know the specific criteria that will be used to determine which lands will be covered."

He said anyone who plans to plow out or drain land not-now in crop-land should realize that there is a possibility that such land will be subject to the sodbuster and swampbuster provisions.

"We have been advised by our national headquarters that the rules and regulations providing detailed information should be published within the next 90 days," Donham concluded.

Crim makes annual forecast

The annual March 22 weather prediction was made at Weldon and Alma Crim's residence at Lazbud-die.

Crim lit the tepee pile to predict the weather and crop prospects for the coming year. Prediction was "Poor to Fair." The wind was blowing from the southwest to the northeast.

Crim is carrying on the tradition of his father, the late J.S. "Indian" Crim, who learned the weather forecasting rites from Weldon's late grandfather, Taylor Crim. He was taught the ritual from Indians. J.W. Crim carried on the tradition from 1923 until his death in 1980, and his ceremony was well-known throughout the Panhandle and South Plains area.

Those attending were: Weldon and Alma Crim, Vickie and Rodney Crim from Muleshoe. Son Greg and Sherry Crim from Dallas and a friend Greg Christopher also from Dallas. Fred and Evelyn Curtis of Farwell, Lesley Curtis of Farwell and Robert and Jane Curtis of Amarillo.

Weldon Crim stands along side the tepee-shaped pile of wood before lighting it.

Texico girls prepare for track season

The Texico Girls track teams are getting ready for the annual Texico Track Invitational April 5.

There are six returning lettermen on the varsity girls team, and two ae seniors.

Competing for the varsity girls track team will be Kelly Lynn, sprinter and high jump; Loretta Gonzales, long distance; Twilla Longo, shot put and discus; Geneva Garcia, sprinter and high jump; Angie Liggins, sprinter and shot put; Robin Pierce, sprinter and discus; Terresa Thomas, sprinter; and Stephanie Cooke, long distance.

"We are looking forward to the season. As of now we don't have a lot of numbers in the high school but in a couple of weeks we will move five or six junior high kids up to run on the varsity. This will allow us to run all the relays and try to qualify them for the state meet. So far, in the first couple of meets we will be running mostly individual events," said Coach Roy King.

The junior high girls will be:

Seventh grade: Amy Chadwick, sprinter; Melissa Cox, middle distance; Krystalie Cross, sprinter and hurdles; Denise Gonzales, sprinter and hurdles; Josefina Martinez, middle distance; Shellie Morris, middle distance; Penny Pierce, sprinter and hurdles.

Eighth grade: Valarie Cavallero, sprinter and hurdles; Raelynn Autrey, middle distance; Annissa Edwards, sprinter; Esperanza Estrada, long distance; Jennifer Gentry, sprinter, shot put and discus; Lynna Hunter, long distance; Ysidra Martinez, long distance; Melissa Montano, middle distance; Christy Robinson, sprinter; Jennifer Williams, sprinter and middle distance.

Ninth grade: Tracey Askev, sprinter, hurdles; Tammy Attaway, sprinter; Andria Chadwick, sprinter; Leslie Steward, sprinter and hurdles; Kayla Thornton, sprinter and hurdles; and Roxanne Wise, sprinter.

"We have a large number of junior high girls out this year and they are excited about the season. If we can develop some field event people, I think we can be competitive. Overall, this team has a little more speed than we have had in the last two or three years. Our short sprints and relays could be the strong points," said King.

Being safe

When you are away from home:

--Leave on some inside lights, radio, and/or TV to give the appearance that someone is at home. Setting timing devices to go on and off at different hours in different rooms is also a good idea.

--If no one will be at home for more than a few days, arrange to have a trusted friend or neighbor to pick up your mail. Have deliveries (including newspapers) stopped or sent elsewhere.

When you return home:

--Have your door key in your hand when approaching your entry way.

--At night, keep car headlights on and car doors locked until you can check your garage or parking area. Look around before you get out of the car.

--If you are driven home, ask the driver to wait until you are safely inside.

--Do not go into your home if anything seems unusual, such as an open door, a broken or missing screen, or lights on or off in a room. Go immediately to a place where you can call the police. Do not go into your home until it is safe to do so.

CARD OF THANKS

The children and families of Lizzie Rolland Killion would like to thank the people of Farwell and Texico for the many deeds of service shown to us during the loss of our Mother.

We especially appreciated the staff and members of Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church. The Rev. W.T. Perry and Rev. Steve Stephens for handling the many details and arranging the very beautiful service. Margaret Aycock for playing and the members who provided food and served the wonderful meal. The many flowers, memorials and sprays contributed to the impressive service.

We were once again reminded of the wonderful spirit of service that exists in the community where we all grew up. We indeed love each of you.
