County Dairy Show Opens At Bovina

Official opening of the second annual Parmer County Dairy Show will be held at the show barn (the old cotton warehouse building) in Bovina, on Thursday, August 24.

County Agent Garlon A. Harper, interviewed the first of the week, stated that the entry list was closed on Friday, and that tests for Bangs disease were completed on all stock by Monday afternoon, the tests being compulsory for participation in the show.

"We have a good list of stock, although not as large as that of last year," Harper said today, adding that two factors had held down the entry list: (1) lack of labor to handle the stock and (2) the restriction allowing only registered Jerseys and Shorthorns.

All cows entered in the milking production contest must be on hand this (Wednesday) evening by 6, with the preliminary milking being made between 6 and 9 o'clock. First tests will be between 6 and 9 o'clock Thursday morning, with the final milking for test between 6 and 9 that evening.

It had been previously planned to conduct a dairy program at the show barn on Thursday evening, Harper announced, but plans for this event had to be cancelled. "We had hoped to have team demonstrations by 4-H club boys," he said, "but lack of time prevented the demonstrations from being worked out."

Cattle Club Banquet

"However," he went on, "one of the highlights of the show—the Cattle Club banquet—will be held on Friday evening, as per schedule. The program for that evening includes talks by Frank Ford, Lubbock Shorthorn producer, and O. W. Thompson, Extension dairyman.

The banquet will be held in the Chamber of Commerce building, and the price is $1 per plate.

At this time also, Robert Morton, Farwell agent, will announce the name of the 4-H club boy who has been judged the outstanding dairy demonstrator for 1944, and presentation of a registered Jersey heifer, from the Shelton Bros. herd, will be made.

Another 4-H club award is scheduled to be made at the banquet, when a committee in charge of naming the boy exhibiting "the best herdsman characteristics by attractive display of his cattle, neatness of stalls, and good showmanship in the ring", will present the winner with a $10 prize.

On Friday morning, at 9 o'clock, Ford will begin the Milking Short-horn judging, with Thompson taking over the placement of Jerseys at 1 o'clock the same day. Ribbons will be awarded at that time, in order that visitors may see the relative placements, and cash awards will be made at the close of the show.

The show barn will remain open through four o'clock Saturday, after which time animals will be removed.

Wilbur Charles Sale Comes on August 29

Perhaps the biggest and best collection of livestock and other chattels to be offered in Parmer county in recent years by one individual will come up on Tuesday, August 29, when Wilbur Charles stages a general clean-up sale at his farm 3 miles west, one north and 1/2 mile west of Bovina.

Charles recently sold his farm, one of the best in the county, and must give possession at once, forcing him to dispose of his livestock and chattels. The Charles family plan to move to Bovina, where they have recently purchased a home.

The sale will get underway at 10:30 Texas War Time and will be in charge of W. L. Wanzor, Muleshoe auctioneer. Jack Williams will act as clerk of the sale. Terms will be cash. A complete list of the goods to be offered will be found in this issue of The Tribune.

The liberation of Paris has been completed by the French patriots. The French capital—first to be freed from the Nazi grip—fell yesterday. This Allied success is announced by Gen. Koenig, commander in chief of the French forces of the interior, who says his 50,000 troops won back the city in four days of bloody street fighting. The fall of Paris comes four years and 70 days after the triumphant Wehrmacht marched through the Arc de Triomphe and seized the city without firing a shot.

Outflanked from almost every direction by the Allied forces, it became apparent several days ago that the liberation of the French capital was imminent, but that the actual task of driving the Nazis from the city would be left to the French patriots, who were known to have been furnished with arms by the Allies.

Funeral Rites For Lovelace, Sunday

Funeral services for Irion (Doc) Lovelace, age 55, were conducted at the Baptist church in this city Sunday afternoon by Rev. W. T. North of Akuff, Texas, former pastor of the local church.

Lovelace died in the Veterans' Hospital in Amarillo Friday night, where he had been receiving treatment for the past several weeks. He had been showing improvement during the past few days, and plans were made to remove him to his home in Clovis on Saturday. A sudden heart attack was given as the cause of his death.

He and his family had lived in the Texico-Farwell community for the past 14 years. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion.

Prior to moving to Clovis some months ago, where he was employed at the Clovis Army Air Base, he was employed by local firms as automobile mechanic.

He is survived by his wife, who lives at the Civilian Housing Project in Clovis; three daughters, Mrs. Morgan Billington of Farwell, Miss Genevieve Lovelace of Amarillo, and Miss Nancy Onita Lovelace of Clovis; a step-son, W. H. Osborne of Belen; two brothers, C. D. Lovelace of Bandera, Texas, and Holt Lovelace of Miles, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Ollie Finney of San Antonio, Mrs. Tom Tate of Dimmitt and Mrs. K. T. Baten of Follett, Tex., and two grandchildren.

With the Johnson Funeral Home in charge, burial was made in the Clovis cemetery, following the final rites.

Out-of-town relatives here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tate, of Dimmitt; Mrs. Thos. K. Baten and son, of Follett; Mr. and Mrs. John Bagwell, of Dimmitt; Mrs. Jewel Tate and daughter of Panhandle; C. F. Kerr of Canyon; and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Birchfield, of Hereford.

New Grain Elevator Going Up at Lariat

Construction work on a 20,000-bushel grain elevator at Lariat, nine miles southeast of here, got underway the first of the week, it was announced today by W. Bart Osborne, manager of the Farwell Elevator Company.

Osborne said the new business is being erected by the Lariat Grain & Seed Company, backed by Fort Worth grain men. The Star Equipment Company of Amarillo has the contract for the construction of the plant.

The elevator is being built just east of the cotton platform in Lariat, where there is plenty of siding, trackage to accommodate at least ten cars. "It will be modern in every respect," Osborne said, and will be equipped with a 50-platform scale.

Osborne was not able to say who would manage the new business, at the present time, but said that it was expected to be ready for operation by October 1st.

Santa Fe Mayor to Address Mens Club

Manual Lujon, mayor of Santa Fe, N. M., will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the local Men's Club when the members gather Thursday night of this week in the basement of the Methodist Church.

Mayor Lujon has been quite successful in curbing juvenile delinquency in Santa Fe by giving the youth something to do that is entertaining and instructive, and he is being brought here to address the local men along the line of his success in handling the youth problem in his city.

C. M. Henderson, chairman of the local club, today expressed the hope that Mayor Lujon would be met by a large delegation of men from the Twin Cities, as well as from other nearby towns and communities.

The usual sandwich, salad and pie supper will be furnished by local members of the club. The meeting will get underway at 9 p. m. Texas time.

Registration at Texico School Comes Friday

Registration of all students of the Texico school will be held at the school building on Friday afternoon, August 25, Supt. B. A. Rogers said today, the listing of scholastics to begin at 1 o'clock, Central War Time.

In order that rural students may be accommodated, buses will make their regular runs on Friday, leaving town about noon, and will take students back to their homes following registration.

Supt. Rogers emphasized that students take note of the fact that the time is 1 o'clock, Texas time, which will mean noon for students living in areas observing New Mexico, or Mountain, war time.

"At present, we lack only one teacher," the school head said on Monday, adding that he hoped to have a vocational agriculture teacher on hand before classes begin August 28th.

Currently on the faculty are Supt. and Mrs. B. A. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sanders; Mrs. Jim Allman, a new addition who will handle home economics and English; Mrs. H. Arnold; Mrs. D. D. Murphy, another newcomer; Miss Viola Rodewald, and Miss Mable Davis.

Classes will begin under these teachers next Monday morning at 9:50, Texas time.

May Open Lunch Room

At a meeting of the official board, held last Thursday, it was voted to continue the school lunch room, and Mrs. Sleta Hall was named as supervisor. Mrs. Hall has been in charge of the lunch room for several years, but Supt. Rogers said the first of the week that she had not notified the board of her acceptance.

Ladies of the community recently spent a day in Clovis at a government-sponsored cannery, where they put up 555 No. 2 cans of black-eyed peas for use in the cafeteria, it was announced.

The peas, 1700 pounds in all, were received from the WFA, and conserved with the aid of Alan Staley and Mrs. Jack Dillon. The school expects a shipment of peaches soon, and would appreciate the volunteer help of all ladies of the community.

State aid is extended such lunch rooms in New Mexico, for Texico on the basis of 9c per student fed, with the remaining charge being paid by patrons. "Last year under this program, we were able to feed lunches at a cost of 15c each to the individual," Supt. Rogers stated.

INTERESTING WAYS TO PRESERVE PEARS LISTED

By MISS GRAHAM HARD
WFA Assistant

Pears will have a better flavor and will be finer in texture if harvested when mature but still green and allowed to ripen in a cool, dark, well-ventilated room. Kieffer pears obtain the best quality when they ripen 2 to 3 weeks at 60 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit. Once ripened, they must be used promptly or discoloration will develop.

Pear Preserves

The Kieffer pear is a variety used for preserving because it holds its shape and has a good flavor. It is important to allow the fruit to reach the firm-ripe stage.

Wash, pare, and cut fruit into uniform pieces, as quarters or eighths, depending upon the size of the fruit, then core. To each pound of prepared fruit allow 3-4 to 1 lb sugar. Combine the fruit and sugar in alternate layers and let stand 8 to 10 hours or overnight before cooking. Or cook at once with the sugar and one-fourth cup water to a pound of fruit. Whichever method is used, stir carefully while heating until syrup is somewhat thick stirring constantly to prevent burning. Pour at once into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Ginger Pear Preserves

A modification of the pear preserves recipe above may be made by the addition of gingerroot and lemon. When the sugar and pears are combined in alternate layers, add 2 pieces gingerroot and 1/2 lemon thinly sliced, per pound of pears. Barely cover lemon slices with water and boil 5 minutes, then add to the pears, sugar and gingerroot.

Pear Butter

Peel and core one gallon of late ripe pears: put in kettle and add two cups water, boil slowly, when done put through ricer or colander. To every four cups of pulp add two cups sugar. Place on stove again and cook slowly until very thick. Stir to prevent sticking. A few minutes before removing, add juice of one lemon. Pack into hot sterilized jars. Leave no head space. Have lids and rubbers hot. Seal.

Pickled Pears

1 gallon pears, 2 quarts sugar, 1 pint water, 1 quart vinegar, 2 1/2 sticks cinnamon, 2 tablespoons whole allspice (more if desired).

Kieffer pears or firm juicy pears are good for this recipe. Wash the pears, pare, cut in half, or quarter and core. Place in large enamel pan. Barely cover with hot water and boil 10 minutes. Drain water off but save 1 pint to use with the vinegar syrup. Mix sugar, vinegar and the pint of water. Add spices tied loosely in cheesecloth. Bring to boil and pour over pears. Boil 10 minutes and let stand overnight. Next morning drain off syrup and boil down until thick. Remove spice bag. If pears are tender, they may be packed into hot sterilized jars and covered with boiling syrup and sealed. If they are hard pears, such as Kieffer, they may be added to the thick syrup and cooked for 15 or 20 minutes, then packed hot covered with syrup, and sealed.

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnstian

There are four forces that act upon an airplane in flight. These are "thrust" and "drag," which control the forward motion of the plane; and "lift" and "gravity," which control its ability to remain aloft.

In an earlier discussion of the function of the airfoil, or wing shape, we spoke of the conditions creating lift. In the forward motion of the plane the force which is involved is known as "thrust". It is called "thrust" because the propeller which winds through the plane through the air. This is brought about by the shape of the propeller which winds through the air, just as a wood screw acts on a piece of board in which it is inserted. Sometimes two loose boards may be brought together by tightening a screw. In the same way that one board is brought toward the other, the air screw causes the air currents to pass swiftly through its blades and past the plane. This carries the plane itself forward.

Different types of propellers are used for specific jobs, just as a carpenter uses different wood screws for various kinds of work. The desired speed or altitude at which a plane is to be flown, or the speed of take-off, are some of the factors which decide the type of propeller. The propeller may also vary with the size and shape of the airplane. Propellers usually are from two to four blades, and in some cases two propellers are used, revolving in opposite directions, in order to get a desired effect.

SANTA FE EMPLOYEES HEAR COM. WASELL

Thousands of employees of the Santa Fe Railway Western Lines have had opportunity of hearing the thrilling experience of Commander C. M. Wassell, whose exploits as a member of the Navy Medical Corps in Java and elsewhere have been preserved in the recent film and book entitled "The Story of Dr. Wassell". Commander Wassell, bearer of many citations, whose courage and humanitarianism in the care of wounded in Java, resulted in personal commendation from President Roosevelt, has appeared before railroad employees at Albuquerque and Belen, New Mexico; La Junta and Pueblo, Colorado; and will resume his tour of Santa Fe points at Amarillo and Clovis early next month.

The noted Commander began this special tour through arrangements with railway officials and the U. S. Navy. He presents a thrilling story of the courage and sacrifice of our men in service. He also urges railway employees to do their utmost in speeding supplies and men to the various fronts.

"The efforts of railroad men and women are just as important in my estimation as our branches of uniformed service," Commander Wassell said. "Railroaders have accomplished much to speed us on the road to victory. We of the uniformed forces depend on them to transport vital supplies and personnel. Without this help our war effort would be hopeless. I honor the men in dungarees and overalls as my 'home front buddies' and urge that they continue to work diligently and unceasingly to supply my buddies of the front lines. There must be no let-up in effort until our enemies are decisively whipped."

How times change. Time was when women had to lift their skirts to cross the street. Now they have to hold them down.

Texas University Begins Reconversion of Work

AUSTIN—After 33 months of round-the-clock war activity, the University of Texas—the South's largest higher educational institution—will begin Sept. 1, its "reconversion" to peace-time activities.

Opening of the school's 61st annual long session will see no slackening in war training, but there'll be evidences of preparation for a long-range program of post-war development.

One of the major changes expected is an influx of ex-servicemen, discharged and ready to resume their educational training. Already several hundred of these are back in the University this summer, but the first large contingent is expected this fall.

The University has already made a number of alterations in its training program to afford greater service to these war veterans, such as lowering the age at which students may be admitted on individual approval and setting up a faculty committee to keep constantly in touch with veterans' needs and problems, so that policies and practices may be revised without delay when necessary.

Many of the new students—and well over a thousand freshmen and transfers from other colleges are expected to enter the University for the first time Sept. 1—will start their training for post-war careers, rather than concentrating, as the great bulk of students have in recent years, on courses preparing for military service or war industry.

Already enrollment in non-technical subjects—such as English, social sciences, law, etc.—is climbing.

The University itself is starting the ball rolling toward a vast post-war expansion. An impressive $21,000,000 building program for the next 20 years has been mapped out, with perhaps half of this construction to take place within the next decade.

A new field of study—junior college education—will be opened this fall, to prepare teachers and administrators to staff the Southwest's growing system of junior colleges.

In its relation to its own students, the University is getting ready to broaden services to the individual boy or girl—through a new examining bureau and an expanded program of vocational and personal counseling.

While housing is still a problem at the University—due largely to the fact that Navy V-12 trainees still occupy all except two of the University-operated dormitories—plans are rapidly maturing to provide as soon as possible low-cost housing facilities, including three men's dormitories, two for women, one for married graduate students and a Latin-American house.

New students who enter Sept. 1 can take their choice of more than 600 courses, in 46 different fields of study.

Well-planned, progressively-taught courses are available to prepare students for careers as engineers, doctors, nurses, dentists, dietitians, teachers, economists, lawyers, pharmacists, artists, musicians, sociologists, dramatists, journalists, scientists, accountants, secretaries, geologists, anthropologists, or in dozens of other fields.

Scores of students enrolled in the University, for instance, are taking pre-theological courses in preparation for the ministry.

To those students who are undecided about their future, however, and the choice between work or studies, University President Holmer P. Rainey has this advice:

"Our nation is going to emerge from this war as the most powerful military and economic nation in the world. In this position of world leadership you are going to be in competition with the youth of the world. If you can match your opportunities with a high degree of intelligence, character and integrity, your possibilities for service to your country and throughout the world, are unparalleled by any generation of American youth."

TOO CHEEKY

A druggist was peacefully snoozing in bed one morning at 4 o'clock when he heard a heavy pounding on his front door.

He managed to rouse himself a bit and call out the bedroom window, "Who's there—and what d'you want anyway?"

"I'm Mrs. Perkins," a squeaky voice replied. "I'm starting out on a vacation trip and I want to buy a box of rouge."

"I'm sorry, lady," replied the fumbling druggist, "but I haven't enough rouge in stock to cover your cheek."

A jokey fellow was visiting a grade school he once attended, and after listening to the pupils saying their numbers, was asked by the teacher to make a little speech to them.

"I've often heard it said before," he began, "but now I'm sure the old saying is true, that it is the 'little things' that count."

Goofy, am I?

Go ahead—that's your privilege—thinking I'm just plain hipped on everlastingly keeping this engine's insides OIL-PLATED with Conoco Nth oil. Maybe there is and maybe there isn't sixty other ways that would have kept engine acids from raising Ned with this pre-Pearl Harbor limousine. But one thing I know is this: it's still running swell on nothing but Conoco Nth motor oil. You needn't be a scientist to know that acids from every explosion are forever trying to spoil an engine. Looks like the proper idea is to try blockading those acids by getting your engine OIL-PLATED. I learned there's a modern synthetic in Conoco Nth oil that reminds you of magnetism, because it makes inside surfaces attract a shield of OIL-PLATING. Acids can't so easily tear right into this. Then your OIL-PLATED engine has an extra chance to last you. When new cars arrive, hurrah! But a real advanced improvement right now is to switch to Conoco Nth motor oil, see.

STRIP MARATHON

If the gals can shed most of their clothes in the summer, wear no stockings and dresses cut to the waist, why should men suffer?

They shouldn't, according to Dr. Victor G. Heiser, medical consultant to the National Association of Manufacturers, who not only advises them to shed their coats for the summer but goes so far as to crusade for short-sleeved, open-neck shirts—and no neckties.

No matter what the labor unions do, the wages of sin remain just about the same.

LUCKY FOR PAT

An Irishman was telling his friend of his narrow escape at Dunkerque. "The bullet went in me chest and came out me back."

"But it would go through your heart and kill you." "Me heart was in me mouth at the time."

Wheat farmers of the North Panhandle can expect an average cash return from their wheat crop this year of $5,000 per farm, a University of Texas Bureau of Business Research statistician estimates. He predicted that district would receive $60,000,000 in farm cash income from wheat alone.

Pickles Are Popular

Pickles, made from cucumbers steeped in brine and seasoned with vinegar and spice, have been popular since B. C. days. The cucumber was first cultivated in those lush and lovely gardens on the Ganges where nearly all our foodstuffs started.

Biblical accounts of feasts list dills among the good things served. Apicius, a Roman food-fancier, left pickle recipes among his memoirs. And in the Middle Ages cucumbers flourished in the monastery gardens, where so many horticultural secrets of the East were preserved for Western days and ways.

But the cucumbers, tended by these gardening-friars, were not the plump fellows we are familiar with today. They were little wizened yellow gourds—sometimes curly as a pig's tail. And so they might still be today had not a famous amateur gardener, the English locomotive builder, George Stevenson, improved the strain until he grew them long, and fat, and greening. But the curl remained!

So he had bell glasses blown, shaped like laboratory test tubes, with which he hoped to thwart the kinky cukes. And the baby cucumbers, left with a choice of going straight inside those tubes—or else, began to lengthen out like an unruly child that's met its master.

From this strain of Stevenson's has descended the cucumbers hanging so plump and proudly on your vines today. And from the annals of time-honored cooking lore have come these recipes for transmuting cucumbers to savory pickles.

Like Stevenson's cucumbers these traditional recipes have been tempered and tested to modern kitchen methods. But you'll find them all as tempting and tasty as pickles were of yore.

Lack of Rain Hints At Big Silage Crop

Current indications are that there will be more than enough sorghum in the county to fill all available trench silos, in the opinion of County Agent Garlon A. Harper and Ellis M. Mills, of the AAA.

This belief was voiced due to the continued spell of hot, dry weather, which promises to injure a good deal of the crop to the point that it will be good for little else than silage—and with the shortage of feed evidenced last winter, wise dairymen and stock operators will plan to fill home silos.

The big catch in the program, Harper said today, can be summed up in one word—Labor. This factor caused several silos in the county to remain idle last year, and could have the same result this year.

Several dairymen in Parmer discovered last year that by grinding their own soybeans and mixing the meal with silage, a balanced ration could be maintained for cattle during the periods of protein feed shortages, and both Harper and Mills advocate this as a wise move.

A hasty checkup this week did not reveal a traveling ensilage cutter in the county for custom work, but this was not definite. Several farmers own stationary cutters, but this type machine requires a good deal of hand-moving of feed, which brings operators right back to the labor shortage problem.

"Practically any kind of feed can be used in silos," Harper said, adding however, "Remember—the better the feed you put in, the better the silage this winter."

Silos play a big part in feeding local herds, Harper and Mills both stated, with the operators reporting good results. Many residents are devotees of the program—always providing that the needed labor can be secured.

REPORTED KILLED IN FRANCE

A well-circulated report, but entirely unconfirmed here, is that P. L. New of Friona has been killed in action in the France theatre of operations. New is well known here, having been employed at the Farwell Elevator for some time prior to his induction. His parents, who formerly lived at Friona, are now residing near Lubbock and could not be contacted for confirmation of the report.

No, Junior, a slacker isn't a woman who wears slacks. Chances are she's a welder.

Machinery Rationing Program Has Changes

Slight changes in the farm machinery ration program for the year of 1945 have been announced through the local AAA office by Ellis M. Mills, supervisor, with the county quotas to be released by October 1.

One change was notable in the coming months, machinery which is under rationing will be tagged for individual counties, and can be sold only to bona fide residents of that particular county. In other words, Parmer farmers will have top priority on machines in their own county, but cannot buy rationed machines out of the country.

Mills tried to make clear one point of the rationing program that has confused many people—that of the apparent mixup on distribution of rationed goods. "The manufacturers, themselves, are allowed to allocate 80% of the machines which they produce to the areas they choose, while the other 20% is handled by the War Food Administration," he said.

In other words, neither the state nor the county AAA offices are responsible for Parmer receiving a low quota of badly-needed machinery, Mills stressed. "Last year, in fact, one half of the 48 tractors which were allowed Parmer came from the 20% which WFA dispersed, which illustrates how low the county was marked down by the manufacturers," he emphasized.

Only nine items of machinery remain under rationing quotas for the coming year, of which tractors, combines and row binders hold the spotlight in this county. Under rationing, but not listed on specific county quotas, are ten items. Grain drills, pumps of various types, and ensilage cutters are the principal headaches for the Parmer board.

School Buses May Not Be Used for Sports Transportation, ODT

With the scarcity of large size bus and truck tires becoming a greater transportation problem, Richard E. Wood, of Lubbock, district manager of the Highway Transport department of ODT today called attention to operators of school buses to the limitations on use of such vehicles.

Some operators of school buses have apparently ignored the ODT regulation against their use to transport athletes or others to games or assemblies of various kinds. This regulation, it was pointed out, is even more important now than in the past as every effort must be made to conserve tires and other material and equipment to keep buses and all other motor transportation moving until those things against are available after victory. Bus operators, in doubt about any proposed trip, are advised to get in touch with ODT district offices.

Tires Wear Out twice as fast at 90°

WHEN YOU SUFFER with the heat, remember that your tires really sizzle on the road... because road-surfaces are usually 25° hotter than air temperatures.

This frying-pan heat saps the strength of rubber... produces doubled wear as the thermometer rises from 60° to 90°... and multiplies tire-failure by twenty per cent.

Obviously, you and every other patriotic driver, want to get every bit of precious mileage remaining in your present set of tires. That is why we bring you these authoritative suggestions:

Avoid hot-road driving as much as you can... Drive at slower speeds... Don't over-inflate tires, but avoid under-inflation as you would a plague... And don't neglect to have your tires cross-switched every 3,000 miles.

Your Phillips 66 Service Man is anxious and waiting to help you. Give him the opportunity, at least once a week, to check air pressures... to inspect for nail holes, cuts, and bruises... to examine tires so he can warn you when re-capping is advisable.

This is only part of the Tire-Saving and Car-Saving Service pledged to you at every Phillips 66 Service Station, to help you "Care For Your Car For Your Country."

In the Nation's interest and in your own, be watchful and intelligent about making your car and your tires last longer and go farther. Drive in for help at the Orange and Black 66 Shield, the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

1800 Bandages Made For Red Cross

An initial allotment of 1800 surgical dressings were finished last Friday night by local volunteer workers and turned over to Red Cross chapter officials in Curry county on Saturday.

Those in charge in Clovis were high in their praise of the workmanship of the bandages made here and the Texico-Farwell Woman's Club, sponsors of the work in the Twin Cities, urged today that all local women try to give at least two hours weekly to assisting in this important work.

"We have plenty of bandages on hand to be made," one worker said today, adding, "This may be our last bunch of the small surgical dressings, as it is expected that in September we will be issued a different type bandage from the Red Cross."

Turnout for work at the Red Cross room in the homemaking department of the Farwell school on Monday night was tops thus far, with 400 bandages being completed. The room is open each Monday and Friday, from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and 8 to 10 in the evening.

"If you are unable to come for the entire work period, at least come for what time you can spare," sponsors said today. "Every dozen bandages means just that many more ready to be sent to the boys at the front lines, where all these dressings go from the Red Cross."

Christmas Mailing for Servicemen Starts Soon

"Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping," local postoffice officials advised this week, in announcing that this year the Christmas mailing period for both Army and Navy personnel overseas falls between September 15 and October 15. After the latter date, no gift parcel may be mailed to the soldier without presentation of a written request from him.

If gifts are to be protected, officials urge that they be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine—and if both twine and tape are used, so much the better. "We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee on the inside of the package as well as outside," they stressed.

Parcels must not exceed five lbs., not more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches overall. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" in order to assure its arrival before Dec. 25. Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

When combination packages are made up of miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened and damage contents or cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolate), fruit cake, cookies, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood metal, or cardboard.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables, are strictly prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials, as matches or lighter fluids, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, as razors and knives, must have edges and points protected so they cannot cut through the coverings.

Officials urge that mailing be made as early as possible, in order that all packages may be delivered by Christmas Day.

For the present, school will begin at 9 o'clock, Texas time, and dismiss at four in the afternoon, Supt. Carter said. When the days grow shorter, during the winter months, it is expected that a 10-to-5 schedule will be used.

Health Notes

By Texas Department of Health

AUSTIN—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bell for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents and physicians should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; however, if not done previously, at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so the scar will be completely healed before school opens."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly desirable, Dr. Cox believes. This disease, which causes serious illness and deaths among young children, can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school, you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defect there will be time to build up his general health and correct dental defects before school opens. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicap."

AUSTIN—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, in outlining the duties of the Texas State Department of Health said in a statement today that public health measures are preventive and not curative.

"In an effort to prevent disease," Dr. Cox said, "the State Health Department carries on an educational program informing the public as to how they may secure protection by vaccination against smallpox, typhoid fever, and immunization against diphtheria; by investigating sources of disease outbreaks; by quarantining and isolating those ill with communicable disease; by the prevention of the spread of the disease; inspection of water supplies and advocating the production and use of safe milk to prevent the occurrence of milk-borne diseases."

Dr. Cox said that in spite of all preventive measures, people will become ill and accidents will happen. The cure of sickness and repair of accidents fall within the scope of the duties of the private practitioner of medicine and surgery. "Of course," he said, "the general practitioner of medicine is also engaged in prevention of disease when he advises mothers to have their children protected against diphtheria and smallpox or to have the family as a whole immunized against typhoid fever."

The general practitioner and State Health Department alike advocate that it is better to remain healthy than it is to recover from an illness, but the State Health Department is engaged in the control and prevention of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state.

WENMOHS JOINS UNRRA

COLLEGE STATION—John R. Wenmohs, for seven years a member of the Extension Service headquarters staff at Texas A and M, has resigned to accept an assignment with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Wenmohs, whose new title will be requirements, coordinations and supply specialist in UNRRA's agricultural sections, assumed his duties in Washington, D. C., August 14. Later, after an orientation period, he will go to London and expects a post in one of the Northern European countries after liberation. In the early days of the Triple A, Wenmohs served as cotton adjustment assistant or assistant county agent in Newton, Orange, and Wheeler counties. Since he joined the headquarters staff in 1937 he has been an assistant in agricultural planning, but the past two years also has served as assistant state farm labor supervisor. He holds an M. SEPTEMBER 1 OPENING DATE FOR UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN—Lights of the University of Texas' 27-story tower will be shining when freshmen and new students are formally introduced to the campus, September 1, because the traditional orientation convocation is going to be a night affair.

Orientation programs customarily precede registration, but since summer classes will continue right up to the last day before enrollment starts, school officials have arranged the convocation program for 7 p. m. of registration day.

Students will get their introduction to the campus from University President Homer P. Rainey; Dean of Men Arno Nowotny, and his staff; Dean of Women Dorothy Gebauer and her staff; Dr. D. C. Reddick, chairman of the faculty committee on religious activities; Dr. J. H. Frederick, chairman of the discipline committee; and student president Mac Wallace.

The new-student program will be held in Hogg auditorium, and will be followed by a party and dance at the Texas Union.

Those who censor the modern bathing suit have scant reason for doing so.

Mr. Wilde, who has only one arm, operates the one-man combine while Laura Lee drives the truck-loads of grain to the elevators. This photo was taken when the Wildes were harvesting the grain on the farm of Congressman R. Ewing Thomason near Valley View, Tex. The Harvest Brigade, organized by the Massey-Harris Co., Racine, Wis., in cooperation with the War Food Administration, is engaged in a campaign to cut more grain with fewer men and machines than ever before in history. Operators of each of the 500 machines are pledged to cut a minimum of 3,000 acres.

The TRUTH about the Lumber Situation

The broad statement that lumber is "frozen" and no longer will be available is not only misleading but false. Due to the unprecedented demands of our world-wide war fronts and the record-breaking industrial consumption incident to manufacturing and shipping war materials, the use for lumber for MANY CIVILIAN NEEDS must be curtailed. For certain purposes not considered absolutely essential NOW, lumber will be unavailable or at least "hard to get" for the time being.

PEOPLE WHO CAN BUY

All consumers who have priority ratings (except AA-55 MIRO and repairmen) will be able to purchase AS IN THE PAST, by giving their dealers the proper certifications. For maintenance, repair and operating needs this includes certain businesses, all governmental subdivisions (federal, state, county and school), hospitals and educational institutions. It also includes utilities, mines, petroleum operations and every job or project authorized by WPB or FHA and industries and businesses having specific ratings.

FARMER

Special provision has been made for essential farm needs through County Agricultural Conservation Committees. This does not include residential, but it does include farm labor buildings for seasonal housing. Farmers are also included in the "uncertified and unrated" group, but little if any lumber will be available in this bracket.

The new lumber control plan (War Production Board Reg. L-335 effective Aug. 1, 1944) regulates the distribution of lumber from mill to consumer. Retailers may sell only to the consumers and for the purpose specified in the order. Every dealer is allowed to sell a VERY SMALL quantity of lumber on what are called "uncertified and unrated" orders. This quantity is so small that many dealers will be permitted to sell LESS THAN FIVE PER CENT of the normal needs of their customers in the "uncertified and unrated" bracket.

A MEANS OF APPEAL

Anyone unable to purchase ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL lumber because of lack of priority rating (or one high enough) may apply to the WPB for the necessary rating. Your dealer will tell you what application form to use for this purpose.

This program is new. It is an attempt to allocate lumber, based on actual production, to the various needs IN THE ORDER OF THEIR ESSENTIALITY. It is a flexible program. As soon as more lumber CAN be made available for civilian uses it WILL be made available. No one knows how soon that will be. It may be a matter of only 60 to 90 days or it may be longer.

THE ORDER DOES NOT COVER

This new plan does not control shingles, posts, hardwood flooring, cement, brick, windows, doors, insulation, asphalt roofing, paint or the HUNDREDS OF ITEMS OF BUILDING MATERIAL OTHER THAN LUMBER. Building material dealers can still sell lumber for MANY uses and can sell other material and supplies for all uses.

New Forms Given for Vehicle Applications

A new and simplified application form to acquire new commercial motor vehicles, designed to expedite action on applications and to reduce the information required from operators, is announced by Richard E. Wood, of Lubbock, district manager of the highway transport department on ODT.

These forms replace the old ones. While old forms may be used until Sept. 1, ODT prefers that new forms be used to speed up action on applications.

On all applications for light and medium trucks or truck-tractors, (below 16,000 pounds gross vehicle weight), with the exception of bus chassis, it will not be necessary for applicants to show the make or model designation on the forms.

On approved applications ODT officials will attach a form giving instructions to the seller.

Friona Soldier Dies In Action in France

The death of Cpl. Owen Drake, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Drake of Friona, has been announced by the War Department, occurring on July 30, while Cpl. Drake was in action somewhere in France. The message was sent to the soldier's wife, who lives in Arizona, and relayed by her to the parents.

Memorial rites were held at the First Baptist Church in Friona on Friday afternoon, with Rev. R. L. Jenkins in charge, assisted by Rev. E. A. Irvine, Friona Methodist pastor.

It is understood here that Cpl. Drake had been in England for less than a month, and his mother is in receipt of a letter presumably written the day previous to his death, which indicated that he was killed in his first combat action.

A good speech has a good beginning and a good ending, close together.

Baby Bounty

A few days ago, when I was walking in the country, I came across an old log building set high upon a hill. I took the footpath up the ridge and found a churchyard all about me. There were markers, centuries old. At first I traced the records idly.

Here lay a famous Indian fighter and his family—there the village doctor—a Revolutionary soldier—a pastor—and a farmer. Then I read, "Elizabeth Rebecca, aged three months . . . Sarah Evelyn, just one year . . . Deborah Jane, with us six months". I looked more closely then, and saw on every hand these small white markers—memorials to tiny children who lived so briefly, such a long, long time ago.

And I thought of all the miracles of modern science, perhaps the greatest is our skill in baby care. For we understand now, how to rear our children. Epidemics are controlled. Sanitation is a science. And infant feeding—well, we've surely gone a long way from the old-time methods there!

Now doctors know that the milk-and-gruel diet of the past, did not contain enough, of the right kinds of foods, to nourish growing babies. You see—scientists have discovered that babies must have certain nutrients to grow on. Nature equips them with a good supply at first. But, a few months of lusty living, and these nutrients are all used up. So they must be replenished if babies are to have the best chance to be well and strong.

Rich sources of many nutrients are found in vegetables, cereals, and meats. But, of course, a tiny baby's tender tummy could not handle these in the same form as adults do. Then scientists discovered that if these foods were cooked carefully and finely strained, so all the coarseness and stringy fibers were removed, tiny babies could eat them easily. Moreover, on such a diet, tiny babies thrived!

But the trick lay in the cooking. For many of these nutrients proved will-o-the-wisp in a cooking pan. But scientists are not easily deterred. Again they busied themselves in the laboratory working out new methods of cooking under pressure, so that a maximum of baby-body-building elements would stay in foods where they belonged. From their discoveries stemmed the great strained foods industry for infants. Today prepared baby foods are always available. They are consistently high in quality. They are reliably nutritious. And, best boon of all to busy mothers, they are ready to heat and serve.

Scientific progress in strained baby foods did not begin and end with cooking methods either. Agronomists searched for the most productive growing country in the U.S.A. They laid out spacious gardens, planting new and improved strains and seedlings. Each year, now, these precious crops are cultivated with great care. At the peak of ripeness the harvesting begins. Then the tender crop is rushed to nearby factories where, within a matter of minutes, the cleaning, cutting, and cooking has begun.

Small cans, sized to infant servings, are used to pack these products in. And, as an extra guarantee of care and caution, enamel linings are provided in each can. Four different kinds of enamel linings are employed—each designed to keep color, flavor, and food value of certain foods at perfect pitch. Attention like this, to every detail in the preparation, is one reason why our strained-foods-fed babies have the world's best chance to live and grow.

Red Cross Workers in Meeting Tuesday Nite

Fifteen officers of the Parmer County Chapter American Red Cross met in the Chamber of Commerce building at Bovina, Tuesday night, to review the work of the Chapter and discuss plans for future activities.

County Chairman Aubrey Brock presided at the meeting and presented Mrs. Waunita Hutcheson, general field representative of Plainview, who discussed various phases of the work, laying particular emphasis on the importance of a well organized disaster committee in the county. She called attention to the fact that disaster might strike the county at any time, hence the need for a well organized disaster committee to cope with such an occurrence.

Mrs. Hutcheson reviewed the county budget and pointed out that there were ample funds in the treasury to carry out a well balanced program in Parmer.

Mrs. A. H. Boatman, production chairman, stated that material for making kits was in her hands and she needed the help of the women of the county in making up these articles. Parmer County has been given a quota of 144 kit bags and 144 "housewives", and at this time only a small number of these articles have been completed.

Mrs. Hutcheson urged that the material for these badly needed items be placed in the hands of the various women's clubs in the county.

She also explained that no bandage quota had been or would be assigned to Parmer. All such quotas have been given to counties having a population of 10,000 or more, she said. She praised the work of the Texico-Farwell ladies in helping the Curry county chapter prepare its quota of bandages.

MOVE TO HEREFORD

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LeVeque and son, Martell, moved the past Friday to Hereford, where they will make their home. LeVeque has been put in charge of FSA work in three counties, and will maintain central offices in Hereford. A working schedule of his visits here was not available today, but the office will be kept open each week day with Miss Juanita Petty in charge.

CONTINUES DRY

Despite the local showers that fell over a large part of this section last Friday, it continues dry here and crops are suffering. Less than a quarter of an inch of rainfall was recorded here on Friday. The weather has been somewhat cooler the past week . . . but there is still plenty of room for improvement.

BUYS REGISTERED STOCK

Wedol Christian young farmer of the Oklahoma Lane community, added to his herd of registered Jersey stock the past weekend, by purchasing four heifers out of the Shelton Bros. herd, of Brownwood. One of the animals is exceptionally good, in the opinion of County Agent Garlon A. Harper, the heifer being sold to Christian only on the provision that strict records of milk production be kept.

Henry White, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. White who is attending a radio school at Port Arthur, Texas, is here spending a few days with his parents.

Renewal Forms For Gas Books At Stations

Renewal application forms for "A" and "D" type gasoline books are now available at most filling stations and at the local ration board, it was announced today, with motorists urged to get the forms and complete them as soon as possible.

In addition to the renewal form, applicants must attach the back cover of the current "A" book, properly endorsed. In case applicants may have lost their original back covers, they must attach state automobile license receipts to the forms, which receipts will be returned by mail with the new books.

Board members stressed the point of mailing the renewal forms. "We expect to be extremely busy, and to have some one call at the office will take up extra time and delay the issuance of books," one worker said. "Your new books will likewise be returned by mail as soon as they are complete."

The current A books expire on September 21 with new coupons going into effect the following day, or rather, at midnight September 21.

News dispatches have carried the word that there will be less coupons, and an increased amount of gas per coupon, however, this report has not been verified locally. In any case, the ration will remain the same.
