County Commissioners Plan $40 Million Budget

Dr. Kay Speaks At Appreciation Dinner

Teachers Honored At Annual Event

Using his experience in the teaching profession, Dr. C. L. Kay, Executive Director of the Center for Business and Economic Education at Lubbock Christian College in Lubbock, gave what was said to be an inspirational type speech to approximately 340 teachers and Muleshoe businessmen who attended the annual Teacher Appreciation Banquet Thursday, August 21 at the high school cafeteria. The purpose of the speech was one of motivation, to try to get the teachers in the right spirit of things to begin the new school year. He made comparisons of the duties and jobs of the teacher in the "olden days" and modern day teaching, tying in a Bicentennial theme.

Dr. Kay held many positions in the teaching profession, including his present position and was active in civic work, the Chamber of Commerce, one of his pet projects. He is presently serving on the Bicentennial Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He has delivered over 3,500 addresses on the principals of the American System of Private Enterprise, the nature of man, comparative economic systems and the religious, historical, and moral values that have contributed to our economic well-being.

The dinner was presented by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture in cooperation with the Muleshoe Kiwanis, Jaycees, Rotary, and Lion's Clubs, and was held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Three-Way Schools Began August 20

Three-Way students began school on August 20. The teachers attended a two-day workshop prior to the opening of school.

The students will be out of school on August 29 due to teachers inservice training. They have school on Labor Day, September 1.

GETTING AN EARLY START . . . These youngsters took advantage of the school library at Mary DeShazo School as they waited for their parents to register them for Monday's classes. Susan Hatley and Jeff Whatley, children of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Whatley, enjoyed looking at some of the books in the library, as did Lisa Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Bennett. Susan and Lisa will enter third grade this year and Jeff will begin Kindergarten.

SCHOOL REGISTRATION . . . Got under way at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, August 21 in the Muleshoe Independent School District. Youngsters and their parents were on hand early at the Mary DeShazo School, where tables were set up in the halls for registration purposes. A table was also provided for parents to sign up for the local P.T.A. Classes resume on Monday, August 25.

Budget Is Doubled Tax Rate Decreases

Meeting in a two-day session this week, August 20 and 21, the Bailey County Commissioners Court will build the county budget on $40 million, double that of last year which was $20 million, based on the total evaluation of taxable property in Bailey County.

"Though the budget has doubled, the county tax rate has decreased over 33 and 1/3 percent," explained County Judge Glen Williams. He pointed out that last year, the county tax rate was 95 cents, special road rate, 15 cents, making a total of 80 cents per $100 evaluation the county will levy.

The Court arrived at approximately $140,364,547 total evaluation of taxable property in Bailey County, as appraised by J. W. McMorries and Associates of Hereford. "We tried to arrive at a conservative market value of all property, whether it be personal, real estate or whatever," said Judge Williams. This includes the houses in town, business buildings, farms, merchandise in the stores, to arrive at this figure. "We are going to apply the same percentage factor to all this. Therefore, a man who owns personal property won't pay more than a man who owns real estate," he said.

"We are going to apply 30 percent to this figure and that is what we will use as the tax value, less five percent, which figures about $40 million, so we will build the County Budget on $40 million," the Judge explained. He stated the County rate will be set at 65 cents per $100 evaluation and special road tax at Cont. on Page 3, Col. 2.

Sheriff Dee Clement said Acosta put up $750 bond and was released.

Bill Brown Last Rites Held Friday

Funeral services for William S. (Bill) Brown, 44, of Lazbuddie, were held at 2 p.m. Friday, August 22, in the Methodist Church of Muleshoe with Rev. Walter Bartholf, minister of the First Christian Church officiating. Burial was in the Lazbuddie Cemetery, under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home.

Bill Brown died at his home in Lazbuddie around 4:30 a.m. Thursday, August 21, following a lengthy illness. A farmer, he had lived in the Lazbuddie area for 23 years, moving from Anna, Texas. #### SCS Offers Help In Landscaping For Birds

People who enjoy having birds around their homes will find a new Soil Conservation brochure, "Invite Birds to Your Home," a big help in planning and landscaping for birds.

The brochure, written by Olan W. Dillon, Jr., SCS biologist, tells the birdlover how to satisfy habitat needs of nesting and wintering birds with trees, shrubs, and food. It tells how a conservation landscape plan used in the selection of trees and shrubs will beautify your yard and attract the kinds of birds you like.

"A conservation landscape plan will guide you in placing bird-attracting features near a window, patio, or terrace so you can observe the many varieties of birds you like."

Mrs. Homer Richardson

Craig and Connie are students in Three-way school and are both very active involved in school and community affairs such as 4-H and other youth activities. Kym is from North Point, near Dallas, and spends much time with her aunt and uncle in the Maple community. She has attended Three-way school in the past.

Kym, Craig, and Connie joined approximately 40 other young rural Texans for the 11-day trip. The youth traveled to and from Washington, D.C. by bus.

During the 5-day stay in the nation's capital, these young people saw the United States government in action; visited with the Congressman and Senators, saw various government agencies and sites of historical significance. Included on the agenda were visits to: Arlington Cemetery and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Nation Archives, Mt. Vernon, the Library of Congress, and many other places.

On National Youth Day, the group met approximately 1,000 young people from 30 states for a program coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. The morning program was Cont. on Page 3, Col. 2

TFW Won't Trespass On Purpose' - Orendain

Antonio Orendain, head man of the Texas Farm Workers Union, in an interview with the Bailey County Journal stated that he was no longer associated with the United Farm Workers Union. He said that he had been with the UFW working with Cesar Chavez since 1950 but after 25 years working with Chavez, he disassociated himself from the UFW in 1966 so that he could help Eugene Nelson, who started the strike against La Casita Farms in Rio Grande City. Orendain said he first came to Texas under Chavez' direction to help Nelson. At that time, Orendain said, he was secretary-treasurer of UFW. Orendain and his group are in Muleshoe to organize a strike of the area farm workers to "seek higher wages". Orendain claims he was not asked to leave UFW, or "kicked out" of the organization, but was asked to come to Texas to help Nelson with the strike.

He blames the Texas Rangers for destruction of the Union effort in Texas in 1966, saying that they took the Rangers to court in 1968, accusing them of police brutality, and violation of their Civil Rights. Orendain stated that the courts found the Rangers guilty. That a three-panel jury of judges heard the case and ruled in the union's Cont. on Page 3, Col. 1.

TAES Field Day Spotlights Cotton Varieties-Grain

LUBBOCK -- Two top money makers in the South Plains agricultural spectrum, cotton and grain sorghum, will be featured here Tuesday, Sept. 9, as the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station kicks off its 56th Annual Field Day.

Some 120 varieties of cotton in irrigated, dryland and special glandless field tests are set for exhibition, reports Dr. Earl Minton, field day committee chairman.

Also, a review of grain sorghums with bred-in resistance to greenbug damage will be presented by one of the hybrids originators, Dr. Jerry Johnson, TAES sorghum breeder.

Dr. Levon Ray, cotton geneticist, is scheduled to present the cotton variety portion of the field day program.

Field day activities begin at 1:00 p.m., with field tours continuing until 5:00. Tours via tractor-pulled trailers will leave the Experiment Station headquarters every 15 minutes throughout the afternoon.

Says Ray, visitors will be able to view 61 varieties of irrigated cotton, 44 varieties on dryland and a special field test evaluating the performance of 16 glandless cotton varieties.

Varieties are evaluated under conditions of severe verticillium wilt and in narrow row plantings, notes the researcher. Information gathered on lint and seed yields, fiber properties gin turnout and other characteristics will help producers in selecting a cotton variety for next season.

"Our field day tour will not only afford a first hand opportunity to compare cotton varieties growing side by side, but also to discuss important attributes of varieties including several new varieties just coming on the market," says Ray. Discussing the genetics of the greenbug resistance hybrids, Johnson says, not only do the resistant hybrids have fewer greenbugs than the hybrids presently on the market, but they are able to tolerate larger numbers before sustaining leaf injury from a toxin injected by the insect.

In 1974 tests resistant hybrids produced 5500 pounds per acre. Grain yield of susceptible hybrids was reduced by almost 50 percent, from 5500 pounds to 2600 pounds where the insects were not controlled, the TAES scientist reports.

Johnson will also be on hand to demonstrate the greenbug resistance sorghum varieties at the Experiment Station at Halfway's Field Day scheduled two days after the Lubbock event, on Sept. 11. Halfway field day activities begin at 1:00 p.m. running until 5:00. The Halfway center is located 14 miles west of Plainview on Hwy. 70.

The 275-acre Lubbock station, which houses TAES and Extension staffs, USDA-ARS personnel and the agricultural meteorologist of the National Weather Service, is located 7 1/2 miles north of the city on Hwy 87, just north of the Lubbock Regional Airport.

News Bits From City Hall

John Milford, administrative assistant to the city manager has informed the news that construction is now finished on the one million gallon water reservoir which collapsed recently. He says all the necessary repairs have been made, it has been back-filled and the city plans to go out to bid for the nylon lining. The tank will not be put into service until the lining is in.

The south side of U. S. 84, through Muleshoe is now being torn up in preparation of new pavement being laid. Traffic has been diverted onto the north side of the highway now. However, the paving on the north side is not yet completed as there is to be another layer of asphalt put down before the construction is finished.

Letters have been sent to residents owning property covered with weeds, asking them to have the weeds cut or mowed so as to eliminate a public health and fire hazard.

If property owners do not comply, then the city will have the weeds mowed and the property owner billed for same. If the bill is not paid, then the city may file a lien against the property.

The Parks and Recreation Board met Tuesday, August 20, with Joe King, Elizabeth Watson, Jerry Wenmouths and Sammy Lewis, board members, and Walter Barthol, parks and recreation director, present.

The board recommended policies to the City Council, concerning the development of local parks.

Grain Executive Raps Move To Halt Exports

LUBBOCK, TEX.--Imagine headlines proclaiming "U. S. CATTLE FEEDERS DEMAND IMPORT OF 11 MILLION HEAD OF CATTLE. BEEF PRICES PLUNGE TO 15 CENTS A LB."

Cattle feeders would never do that, but they are doing the same thing when they seek an embargo on U. S. grain exports, claims Elbert Harp, executive director of the national Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

Harp, who also chairs the U. S. Feed Grains Council, Washington, D. C., said that the grain which was exported last year would have added beef equivalent to 11 million head of cattle, had the campaign to halt grain exports been successful.

He pointed out that between October 1, 1974, and July 4, 1975, U. S. exports of corn and sorghum totaled 1 billion, 97 million bushels. Assuming that each steer weighing 600 pounds required 40 bushels of grain to fatten it to a weight of 1,000 pounds, the exported grain would have fattened 27 million more cattle than were already fattened. The additional gains would have totaled 11 billion pounds of live beef, or the equivalent of 11 million head of new cattle.

"Since beef markets were already saturated and the cattle industry in serious trouble, more cattle would have made an intolerable situation even worse," Harp said.

He continued, "Grain exports have proven to be financially beneficial--even essential--for the cattle feeder who might otherwise have little means of restricting total beef production."

Harp said grain producers,

Emergency Loans Available To Stockmen

COLLEGE STATION -- Livestock producers facing financial problems due to current low market prices should take a close look at the Emergency Livestock Credit Act of 1974.

Just over a year old, the Act provides for emergency financial help to the producer whose business has a good chance of success if it can survive the current liquidity crisis.

"Recent changes have been made in the Act that make it more palatable to both the borrower and lender," points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, project leader in farm management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

These changes are as follows:

1. A "line of credit" is permitted, whereas the original Act permitted only a single loan.

2. Anyone with a "substantial operation" in breeding, raising, fattening or marketing is eligible (one who devotes at least 25 per cent of his time when faced with a grain surplus and low prices, often turn to feeding cattle themselves in an attempt to recoup losses and meet their cost of production."

Harp said grain producers,

when faced with a grain surplus and low prices, often turn to feeding cattle themselves in an attempt to recoup losses and meet their cost of production."

3. The Act is extended until Dec. 31, 1976.

4. The loan period can be extended to seven years, with possible renewal for three years.

5. The guarantee by the Farmers Home Administration is increased from 80 per cent of the loss to 90 per cent of the loan principal and interest.

6. The line of credit has been increased from the previous $250,000 to $350,000 per loan.

7. Secondary financing of the guaranteed portion of loans may now be made by the Federal Financing Bank, thus increasing the marketability of the securities to the lender.

8. The total authorization under the Act was reduced from $2 billion to $1.5 billion.

when faced with a grain surplus and low prices, often turn to feeding cattle themselves in an attempt to recoup losses and meet their cost of production."

"So cattle feeders should think twice before assuming that an embargo on grain exports will help them by lowering grain prices," the feed grain executive concluded. "Surplus grain means surplus beef and often spells bankruptcy for producers of both commodities."

Farmers Union Recommends 'Set-Aside' Program

The Farmers Union has recommended to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz that a 25 percent "set-aside" program be established for cotton in 1976 in order to balance supply and demand.

This was announced here today by Jay I. Naman, President of Texas Farmers Union. Naman said the Farmers Union's recommendations were conveyed in a letter to the Secretary by Tony Dechant, national president of the Farmers Union, in response to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's request for the Farmers Union's views on the 1976 cotton program.

Naman said the Farmers Union's views on the 1976 cotton program is recommending a payment rate on the projected yield of the farm's "set-aside" acreage unless farmers are guaranteed parity prices for other commodities grown on the diverted cropland.

The Farmers Union also recommended "that the loan levels for the 1976 crops of all cottons be set at the highest levels permitted under the present law," Naman said.

Other Farmers Union recommendations for the 1976

cotton program are as follows: Recommended that the national production goal and the national base acreage transfers

Recommended that the national production goal and the national base acreage allotment for upland cotton be 11 1/2 million acres; and that the national allotment be apportioned to states and counties and individual farms on an historical production basis, and that acreage transfers outside of counties be limited to those counties where a referendum of cotton producers has approved such transfers.

Recommended that a non-recourse price support loan program be provided for seed cotton, and that the loan level be consistent with the highest loan rate authorized under existing law for lint cotton.

Recommended that price support loans be offered to co-operating farmers on their entire production of cotton stored in facilities meeting Commodity Credit Corporation requirements; favor four years later. Orendain claims it was a unanimous decision that on the part of the judges that the Rangers were "found guilty of everything they were accused of." "The State of Texas, appealed to the Supreme Court," said Orendain, "and they affirmed the judges' decision. This was in 1974, when the Supreme Court ruled in the Union's favor," said the TFW leader.

That loans be extended from year-to-year at the farmer's discretion;

Asked when the TFW was formed, Orendain answered, "about 30 days ago, in order that we might be more responsible to ourselves and the State of Texas," pointing out that they now have a radio program and a newspaper.

Orendain said his movement was financed by church groups, other non-profit organizations and by personal donations. He was asked if the farm workers who walk off the fields to join the union are required to pay union dues and he said "no, because we have no union contract so can charge no dues as yet. When we have a union contract, then we will have union dues."

The question was raised about what would happen to the farm workers who leave the fields to join the strike, if the farmers don't raise their wages and provide "better working and living conditions", but decide to let the workers go. Orendain answered this by saying his organization gives them clothes and groceries, provided by churches and other non-profit organizations that are helping them, until the worker can return to work.

Why they were making their demonstrations under the UFW flag if they were not associated with that union, was asked of the leader and he replied, "The flag is a public domain - just a symbol for Mexican-Americans". Orendain was asked if the UFW didn't mind their using the flag and he said "I have been working with them for over 20 years, helped them decide everything, so I have the right to use the flag."

Orendain said they have had good response from the farm workers here, some are not able to go on strike, he said, but if they have an election they say "I think I can vote for the union."

Our being here is like a last step," said Orendain who pointed out they planned to be in the Muleshoe area for 15-20 days and then go back to the Valley where the citrus industry is.

"Not all our members are on food stamps," said Orendain in speaking of the nine members he said were in Muleshoe helping him, "but some of them are."

Orendain was asked if the TFW pays him a salary for his work and he replied, "no, I don't have a salary, my wife works and supports me. I get food and clothes from other people," indicating the church groups and other non-profit organizations financing them.

Fertilizer Supplies Up But Use Down

Fertilizer supplies are up sharply over last year at this time, but high prices are contributing to low usage. Supplies of fertilizer in the United States are up about 10 per cent compared to 1974 tonnage. Nitrogen supplies have increased more than 8 per cent, phosphate supplies are up 13 per cent, and potash tonnage is up 11 per cent. Fertilizer usage dropped last fall as well as this spring due to high prices for the nutrients while low crop prices were in prospect. Usage was up in the fall of 1973 due to anticipated shortages, price increases and availability of funds to purchase fertilizer. This, along with increased production has led to increased inventories in both the U.S. and in many foreign countries. Ammonia production has increased almost a million tons during the past year and is expected to reach 18.8 million tons by Jan. 1, 1976, up two million tons from 1974. An additional eight million tons are expected to be added to the production line by 1979. Reduced demand for fertilizer in many countries has had a dampening effect on U.S. exports. Exports are expected to drop 9 per cent during 1975, situation for fertilizer was fairly stable during the past two years, supplies are again rising more rapidly than demand. Expanding agricultural production both here and abroad will absorb some of this excess, and usage should also increase if farm prices remain compatible with fertilizer costs.

Fertilizer Supplies Up But Use Down

Fertilizer supplies are up sharply over last year at this time, but high prices are contributing to low usage. Supplies of fertilizer in the United States are up about 10 per cent compared to 1974 tonnage. Nitrogen supplies have increased more than 8 per cent, phosphate supplies are up 13 per cent, and potash tonnage is up 11 per cent. Fertilizer usage dropped last fall as well as this spring due to high prices for the nutrients while low crop prices were in prospect. Usage was up in the fall of 1973 due to anticipated shortages, price increases and availability of funds to purchase fertilizer. This, along with increased production has led to increased inventories in both the U.S. and in many foreign countries. Ammonia production has increased almost a million tons during the past year and is expected to reach 18.8 million tons by Jan. 1, 1976, up two million tons from 1974. An additional eight million tons are expected to be added to the production line by 1979. Reduced demand for fertilizer in many countries has had a dampening effect on U.S. exports. Exports are expected to drop 9 per cent during 1975, situation for fertilizer was fairly stable during the past two years, supplies are again rising more rapidly than demand. Expanding agricultural production both here and abroad will absorb some of this excess, and usage should also increase if farm prices remain compatible with fertilizer costs.

The Judge pointed out that in addition there will be a five cent water tax and a 12 cent State Ad Valorem Tax, which the County has nothing to do with.

"We are going to work on the budget on this basis and hold a Budget hearing on September 8, 1975," stated Judge Williams.

Under other business taken up by the Commissioners Court, was a meeting with four representatives of the Food Stamp Program, for the purpose of discussing the office situation for the local representatives. The Court was informed by these persons that lease money had become available and it is the intention of the Food Stamp Office to rent a building and move their headquarters as soon as possible.

They are going to accept bids and rent an office somewhere in town and move. They expect this to take about six weeks, Judge Williams pointed out.

Also discussed at the meeting by the commissioners and Charles Fritch of Amarillo, who writes and services the insurance policy on county employees.

The Court will seek proposals from other insurance companies before making a decision on the proposed rate increase.

The next meeting of the Bailey County Commissioner's Court is scheduled for September 8, 1975.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Chapman of Muleshoe. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bernatis of Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Gary Little of Lubbock registered the guests. Miss Marilyn Black, organist of Muleshoe, provided the wedding music. She accompanied Mrs. Gordon Green of Muleshoe who sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown and veil, made by her mother, of white mira mist lined with white peau de soie satin. The bodice was of lace and the scooped neckline was accented with white lace flowers. The dress featured a deep flounce at the bottom of the skirt, at the top of which was a row of wide flower accented lace. Lace appliques were scattered along the skirt, veil and sleeves of the dress. The long full sleeves were gathered at the bottom by a lace cuff with satin buttons and loop closures accented with a ruffle that extended to the middle of the bride's hand. The mantilla veil formed the train of the dress and was accented with a row of wide lace encircling the veil. She carried a bouquet of multicolored spring flowers.

In keeping with the bridal tradition, something old was a jeweled hairpiece given to her by her great aunt Mrs. G. V. Brindley, Jr. and something new was her wedding dress.

Something borrowed and something blue was a garter worn by the bride's mother at her wedding. The bride also wore pennies minted in the years of the couple's birth in her shoe.

SCHOOL DAYS!

TEACHERS NEED LOVE TOO!

Besides an education, our teachers are often called upon to provide love and understanding to our children. But, many times, they need love and understanding too!

We at the Muleshoe State Bank love our teachers and appreciate the job they do. We also understand that they, too, sometimes have financial pinches. So if you're a teacher and could use what folks call a "back to school" loan, give us a call or drop by.

We can help.

attired in a traditional gown of candlelight silk organza and pearl beaded Alencon lace. The moulded bodice was applied in lace and seed pearls with a deep plunge neckline edged in natural shell scallops, beaded in pearls and a high duchess collar framing the neck. Long tapered sleeves were applied in a vertical row of the beaded lace ending in the shell scallops over the wrists with button and loop closure. The trim

"A" line skirt was applied down the center front with a wide beaded lace panel which continued on around the hemline in the beaded scalloped motif. Fullness was swept to the back forming a Chapel train. The crescent shaped waistline was defined in the beaded lace scallops. She wore a matching lace mantilla veil edged in scalloped lace and was caught to a lace Camelot capulet. The Chapel veiling encircled the oval train of her gown in alternating scallops of beaded and lace. The bride's cascading bouquet was of stephanotis, white roses, and gypsophilla.

Miss Jessica Duval served as maid of honor. Mrs. Ronnie Johnson, sister of the groom of Houston, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Julia Faulkner of Lubbock, Amy Alexander of Tyler, Deborah Douglas of Lubbock, Lynn Rader of Longview and Carla White of Fort Worth. The bride's attendants were gowned alike in Sunshine yellow Nystea jersey with high-neck lines and the sleeveless bodices were accented with keyhole backs covered with matching capes edged in lettuce edged ruffling. Near natural waistlines were defined in self fabric belts, and the softly shirred dirdle skirts were also encircled at the hemline in the lettuce edged ruffling.

The bridesmaids carried baskets of yellow daisies and babies breath, miniature carnations and tiny white rose buds completed the arrangements. Each attendant wore several flowers in different styles of daisies and babies breath in their hair.

Harmon Elliott, father of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Ronnie Johnson, brother-in-law of the groom, from Houston; Kyle Kimbrough of Muleshoe, brother of the bride; Mike Kerr of Abernathy, Johnny Lutrick of Lubbock, Steve Foster of Lubbock, and Gary Geistweidt of San Angelo. Ushers were Tim Foster, Troy Steinbock of Lubbock and James Lyon of Spearman. Bobby and Jimmy Richey, cousins of the bride served as the candlelighter.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Ruth Crenshaw while the guests were seated. "Annie's Song" by John Denver and "Sunrise Sunset" from Fiddler on the Roof were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vaughn, aunt and uncle of the bride. Mrs. Jim Vaughn sang "The Wedding Prayer" as a background selection while the couple knelt and received a sacred blessing from the minister.

Reception guests were received immediately following the ceremony at the Lubbock Country Club. The entrance was accented with fresh bouquets of yellow spider mums. Adorning the circular stair case were victorian swags of yellow moray caught with vicksburg nosegays of yellow and apricot blossoms.

The ballroom was transformed into a Victorian garden. White lattice hung with southern simlax and english ivy formed the background for the serving area. The bride and groom received guests beneath a large white bird cage filled with summer blossoms of yellow and apricot. Similar bird cages adorned the room. Circulating among the guests were maitred's who served champagne throughout the evening.

The bride's circular cake table was covered with a floor length cloth of illusion and alapca lace. The bride's cake was decorated with hand made confectioner azales and stephanotis blossoms in shades of yellow. Mrs. J. B. Duval assisted by Mrs. Paul Faulkner served the guest.

The circular coffee and punch tables were covered with floor length cloths of yellow over skirts of white chiffon. Centering the tables were candelabras accented by mixed blossoms in yellow and apricot. Assorted fresh fruit balls, finger sandwiches, coffee and pineapple punch were served from brass appointments. Presiding were Debbie Bozeman, Jean Mohr, Brenda Kimbrough, Rhonda Lutrick, Megan Lyon and Linda Moore.

Presiding at the bride's book was Sally Holland of Austin. The registration table was covered with floor length cloth of yellow illusion. A small french arrangement with candelabra accented the table which also held the topiary rice filled florets.

Background music was furnished by Mrs. Ruth Crenshaw at the piano.

The bride selected for her going away attire a yellow skirt with black, yellow and white sleeveless top tying at the neck. The yellow open smock jacket complimented her suit. Yellow accessories completed her ensemble for their wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High School and is a Junior Home Economics major at Texas Tech. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kimbrough of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughn of Winters, Texas and Mrs. Mary Richey of Wolfforth.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and of Texas Tech, where he was member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. He is presently employed with the Lubbock National Bank and is the grandson of Mrs. F. H. Melton of Wellington.

The newly weds will be residing in their new residence at 5203 A 18th Street in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Elliott hosted a dinner for members of the wedding party and their guests in the Hilton Inn in Lubbock at 8:00 p.m. Friday evening. An antique gold candelabrum accented by entwined english ivy complimented the center table. Individual tables were accented with arrangements of votive candles and english ivy. Approximately 50 guests attended the dinner.

The bride and her bridal attendants were honored with a luncheon Friday, August 15, in the Lubbock Club.

Co hostesses were Jessica Duval, Deborah Douglas and Lynn Rader. Special guests were Mrs. Nelavene Kimbrough and Mrs. Harmon Elliott, mothers of the engaged couple.

Goucher Shares Russian Trip

On August 1, we arrived in Copenhagen Denmark on a Pan American plane from New York and spent the day visiting the farming area of the small country. The next day before boarding the Royal Viking Sea cruise ship for a tour of the Baltic Sea and Russia we bid farewell to the little Mermaid as she sat on a rock in the harbor--waiting for a lonely sailor to come by, "they say."

The next morning I arose at about 3 o'clock. It was getting light and we were near the island of Gotland. I peeped out the porthole; the Baltic Sea was as smooth as glass. Wierd and beautiful--a phenomenon I never expected to see. In an hour or so it was over and the sea was rough and choppy as usual.

As the ship docked at Leningrad the 525 passengers were all aglow, with something, a little fear perhaps, and excitement as we boldly walked down the gangplank to Russia--a great adventure. For all of us it was the high point of the tour. There were four chic in-tourist officials to welcome us in Russian style. We formed two lines. One man would look at our passports and visas, then at us, study it a moment to be sure it was all correct, then give it to the other man; he would place the passport in a box and give us a number. Each time we boarded the ship we gave the number back and got our passports back. The two days we were there we traded the passports and numbers back and forth many times without any trouble. Not one of them ever said a word to us and they never smiled.

It's all business on their part. They want to get all the dollars they can to buy wheat, factories, and etc. They have little to sell us, so they're using the tourist system that has proved so successful all over Europe to earn American dollars. One of the main reasons they're so careful in regards to passports and visas is they don't want educated Jews to slip out of the country; they need them.

All of us boarded intourist busses, that were provided by the Government and drove away for a three hour tour of the city at seventeen dollars each. A man drove; an English speaking woman told us about the wonders of Russia and many times what a great man Lenin was. "He gave freedom to all the people," she said, "I couldn't resist a question, 'freedom from what,' I ask? 'From tyranny,'" she replied.

They showed us the big buildings their rulers built long ago and the miles of large apartment houses that the four million people lived in. The Neva River and the many canals that emptied into the sea, they were all very dirty, but they contained fish; at least we saw a few fishermen on the banks of the canals and river.

A store was located near the ship that sold all their goods for dollars. The amount of goods for sale was limited. Prices were reasonable and the Americans were good customers.

We were allowed to take pictures any place, except the police and the military, but we could not use flash bulbs. One of the tourists took a picture of three policemen in a car. They saw him and stopped, took the film out of his camera, destroyed it, and drove away.

One of our Farmer Stockman group asked our lady announcer if he could take her picture? "I guess so," she said, "Could Mr. McCommas our tour leader stand beside you?" He asked, "yes," she answered, "Now Mack put your arm around her," the man with the camera said, "No! no!" she screamed, "not that!" We saw hundreds of thousands of people on the street. They were well dressed and looked healthy. The streets were not overly crowded with cars, but there were cars, mostly Government cars I was told.

The largest building is the Hermitage, built long ago, for the rulers to live in. The building is a museum now and is open to the public free of charge. They say it would take years to look at all the material in it; pictures and old relics etc. We spent about two hours in the crowded halls and rooms and came away completely bewildered and confused. Some of it was great. The luxuries those people had and the gold-studded rooms were fantastic say the least. They have some good points. There's no drug problem. They take care of the criminals rather harshly. It's a profession that doesn't pay very well there. Also if you want to eat, you must work. The elderly women are given a crude broom and are required to sweep the streets. It takes a lot of them to keep the streets clean in a city of four million people. But they do work hard. Those cold winter nights make it necessary to work hard or freeze. I was told they get sixty rubles per month and was also told a ruble is worth about one dollar and sixty five cents.

All of us felt, as we left Russia that it had been worth it. We'd learned something about the other side of the world--even through most of their thoughts, ambitions, and desires are still their very own secrets.

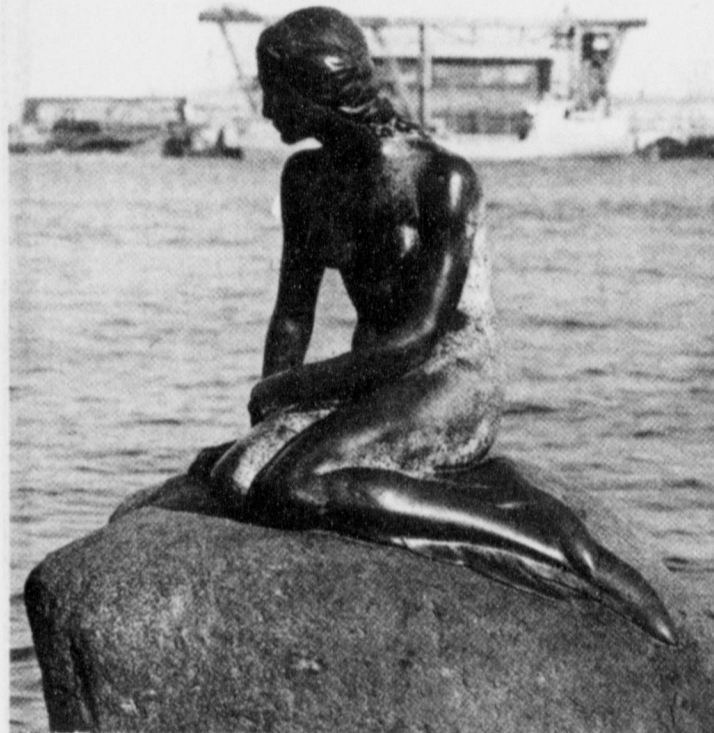

Then we went to Finland, a great little country that is different in every way. They were friendly and asked us a lot of questions. One of the questions our guide asked was, "why was it necessary for Mr. Ford to bring five hundred Government men with him to Helsinki for the summit conference?" None of us could answer her question.

She took us to the cemetery, and there in a flower garden were the graves of sixty-thousand Finnish boys that gave their lives to keep the Russians out in the winter of 1941. Two-hundred-thousand Russians were killed before they conquered the Finns. Russia made heavy demands against the Finns: a lot of their best land, money, ships etc. They paid it all and are free. But they live under great fear. They know all to well what happened to Estonia just across the Baltic Sea.

I am--and I'm sure all the rest of us were for Finland. May she always be free.

LITTLE MERMAID . . . S. E. Goucher's visit to Russia takes him through Copenhagen Denmark where they say the little Mermaid, sitting on a rock in the harbor of the Baltic Sea waits for a lonely sailor to come by.

A Teacher Is SomeBody Special

YOU COULD NOT DO AS SIMPLE A THING AS READ THIS... IF SOMEONE HAD NOT TAUGHT YOU

A teacher is someone who may very well be doing the most important job in the world. And today, a difficult job, because the world is more complex. How much simpler it must have been one hundred years ago to be a teacher, when you taught the same thing, in the same way that had been used for centuries... when a slate, a primer, and a dunce cap, were the main teaching tools. But how many fewer children went to school, and how much less they learned! Today is a good day for us to remember to honor our teachers.

Simon On Food Stamps

Treasury Secretary William Simon is in the headlines (he stays in them) with a blast at the food stamp program. He calls the vast program, which has blossomed out of all expectations, a haven for "chislers and rip-off artists."

Warning that the free enterprise system, the foundation of the nation's economy, is endangered by soaring government spending on programs such as the food stamp program, Simon says unless this program is controlled or greatly reduced, the damage to the economy and the threat to the democratic, free enterprise system will be grave.

Nineteen million are now receiving food stamps paid for by the taxpayer and the racket side has become such a large part of the program smart operators are making a living telling people how to get on the food stamp list, even if their income is as high as $16,000!

The cost of this program to the taxpayer has risen from just $14 million thirteen years ago when it began to more than $6.6 billions this year. There's no end in sight for further increases, as more and more get on the food bandwagon.

Obviously, the present food stamp program should be terminated as out of control and federal food aid should be provided to states and local communities, to be dispensed to those in actual need carefully and judiciously by on-the-spot social workers, whose recipients should be regularly checked. That seems the only equitable solution in the interest of the taxpayer, and preferable to a tightening of eligibility requirements, which President Ford recently requested.

There are any number of people who will do great things if they can do them without exertion.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Fuel Prices-Ford's Course-Congress To Override?

Turkey & Israel-

WASHINGTON, D. C. --

The political high drama of the moment in Washington is whether President Ford will forfeit his chance of election in 1976 if he allows fuel prices to rise sharply, by decontrolling the price of oil.

Industry lobbyists have long pressed Congress and the President to let oil prices seek whatever level they find in the market. This being an almost biblical principle of the free enterprise system. But the oil situation cannot be realistically compared to a free market system.

Congress, therefore, has not bought the industry argument, especially as oil prices have been hiked four hundred per cent in the past year around the world. Congress favors retaining price controls on oil, and doing what can be done to hold increases to a minimum. In this Congress finally has the ear of the average voter. President Ford has thus far accepted dangerous, idealistic advice from some advisors and the oil industry. If he allows prices to be decontrolled and the price of all fuel rises dramatically, he is certain to be blamed by the average voter.

This seems to many the only issue on which the President can cut his political throat at the moment. Yet he seems ready to do so. Democrats are set to have a political field day between now and the election of November, 1976, if the President allows events to take their course.

Perhaps price rollbacks can be legislated retroactively but this will be more difficult. The upshot of the fuel price confusion could be another Ford victory over majority sentiment in Congress. But this victory could cost Ford and the Republicans the White House in 1976.

The inside story on the refusal of Congress to resume military aid to Turkey, according to reliable sources, is the hope of the Israeli lobby that loss of U. S. bases in Turkey will make Israeli bases indispensable to the West. A study of the vote against resuming aid to Turkey (the New York delegation for example) is the tip-off on the Israeli lobby's influence in the Turkish bases dispute.

NEW POLICE VEHICLE

CARBONDALE, ILL. -- Plain-clothes policemen in this Southern Illinois town are trying a stealthy, swift, inexpensive and highly mobile patrol vehicle that's virtually silent and costs almost nothing to run. It's called the bicycle.

WALLACE MAY RUN

CHICAGO-Alabama Gov. George Wallace's campaign manager stated that Wallace will probably announce his candidacy for the Democratic party nomination for president the last week of September or the first week of October.

NEWS NOTES

ON AMNESTY
DES MOINES, IOWA -- Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-SC) has criticized President Ford's amnesty program saying he did not favor amnesty in any form, conditional or unconditional.

REFRIGERATOR DEATH
OMAHA, NEB. -- When Mark Watson, 6, didn't come home on time to take medicine to treat his epilepsy, his mother, Carol, became alarmed and called police. Later Mrs. Watson and neighbors looked in an old refrigerator and found the dead boy.

ON RFK CASE
LOS ANGELES-Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke has ordered the reopening of the Robert F. Kennedy case to determine whether someone other than Sirhan B. Sirhan may have also fired a gun in the 1968 assassination.

School Time

Students all over America are now returning to school and college. The hope of seniors is that 1976 will offer better economic prospects than did June, 1975.

But whatever the condition of the economy next summer, the school year beginning challenges all students to prepare themselves for the task of making a living in a free enterprise society.

That has not always been easy, but one virtue of the American system is that all are free to pursue their own goals as they wish.

That means Americans can choose the work they like best. No bureaucrat makes that decision. That being true, Americans generate more incentive, ingenuity and enthusiasm for their chosen fields of work.

And students who most often rise to the top, who are offered the best jobs upon completing school, are those with the best records. School, then, is a time to build a foundation for success, to take full advantage of the educational process in one's own interest.

ON SOCIAL SECURITY
Social Security, marking its 40th anniversary, is expected to change its benefits structure drastically in the next 40 years to keep up with social changes.

GRANTS PARDONS
The Presidential Clemency Board reports it has granted about 6,000 unconditional pardons to persons who received punitive military discharges or were convicted of desertion or draft dodging in the Vietnam war era.

ON SOYBEANS
Prices for soybeans in the 1975-76 season are predicted to fall from current levels and additional stocks will be built up a year from now.

WASHINGTON NOTES

HOME FOR VP
Nelson A. Rockefeller has scheduled a series of nine parties this fall to show off the new vice presidential residence which the Navy expects to be ready for occupancy by September 1.

NEW TAX CREDIT
HEW has announced that private employers can for the first time claim tax credits of up to $1,000 for wages paid to welfare recipients working as maids, cooks and housekeepers.

FBI Budget
The FBI disclosed its annual budget runs to half a billion dollars, including $82 million for secret counterespionage and crime-busting operations.

PRICES UP
The Labor Department reports that prices spurted 1.2 per cent at the wholesale level in July, pushed up primarily by food costs and partly by fuel prices.

CENTERS TO CLOSE
All U.S. mainland refugee reception centers are expected to be closed between September and December, the director of the Indochina refugee resettlement effort said.

AID AND TURKEY
President Ford said the House jeopardized American foreign policy and undercut national security by refusing to lift the embargo against shipment of military arms to Turkey.

RETURNS RANSOM
Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has returned the $2 million ransom paid by Southern Airways in November 1972 for a hijacked airplane, Sen. John Sparkman, (D-Ala) reports.

With one farm bill dead as a result of veto, Washington lawmakers are now at work on a second one. Members of the Senate and House Agricultural committees are predicting early fall as the time the new bill should be ready for formal consideration. From reports which have come out so far the consensus is that the measure will be pretty much a rewrite of the emergency bill earlier this year. Higher dairy, grain and cotton supports are considered a priority along with a target price program for rice. Some sort of new approach for a commodity reserve system is reported to be under consideration and there may be some changes in the disaster payment program. Perhaps the most extensive part of the bill will be indirectly related to agriculture since support is said to be heavy for an expanded food stamp program.

Each year, August through December, Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. hears a considerable amount of producer criticism for its part in the monthly crop projections compiled by the joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Cotton Estimates Committee.

"Yet in my opinion and obviously in the opinion of a majority of our Board of Directors," says Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "PCG's part in making these estimates is a valuable service to cotton producers, including those who do the complaining."

The PCG-LCE committee's most recent estimate, released August 6, put potential cotton production from the 25 PCG counties at 2,103,000 bales of cotton from an estimated 2,400,000 standing acres, an average per-acre yield of 420 pounds. And the unfavorable comment being heard this year is much the same as every year—the effect that "Your estimate puts downward pressure on cotton prices."

"This is an understandable first reaction," concedes Johnson, "but it is a reaction that fails to take into account several factors."

"First, we have to accept the fact that our crop and its condition cannot be kept secret and that estimates are going to be made. USDA is going to make estimates, cotton publications are going to make surveys and publish estimates, cotton merchandising companies and individual cotton merchants are going to make estimates, and individual producers will do some guessing."

Therefore, he reasons, cotton producers have only two choices. "We can hide our heads and let others assess the potential of our crops as they will, or we can take an active part in the making of estimates that we know to be as realistic and accurate as the vagaries of weather and other uncertainties will permit. And it seems clear to me that the latter option is by far the best."

The base PCG-LCE committee is composed of four cotton producer members of the PCG Board and four cotton trade members of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange—four sellers and four buyers. Also taking active part in the committee's deliberations as advisory members are cotton entomologists and agronomists, the area's agricultural meteorologist, and others in the industry who are constant and knowledgeable observers of High Plains cotton production.

Even with such a group, Johnson agrees "estimates cannot always be right, especially those made early in the season, but they are almost certain to serve the interests of producers better than if they were made without producer input."

Of the August crop estimate Johnson notes that the 420 pound projection is only about 4 pounds per acre above the area's 10-year average, and in the opinion of the committee is about what the area can be expected to make, assuming "normal" weather conditions the remainder of the season.

"Extremely good weather of course could raise the area's total production, while the opposite extreme could result in production well below the committee's estimate," Johnson concludes, "but in the absence of accurate long-range weather forecasts I think most will agree that 420 pounds per acre is a pretty realistic 'middle-of-the-road' possibility."
