

You can do us and several families a real service this week if you will help us recover as many of last week's Tribunes as possible. Anticipating a large demand for the papers which carried the stories of the deaths two weeks ago, we printed an extra 100 copies.

These, however, got away from us before we knew what was happening, and we have turned up short. If you still have your Tribune of July 8, and do not wish to keep it, we certainly would appreciate it if you would bring it to our office, or see that the Williams, the White, or the Anderson families get it.

After several months of observation, we are forced to admit that we have just about reached a state of confusion insofar as farm problems are concerned; at least one problem, that being the matter of supported prices.

All along now, we have sided with the administration in most of its efforts at farm legislation, believing that whatever was in the interest of the farm over the long haul would be the best deal for the farmers and the country too.

However, Secty. Benson has not had such good luck with the dairying program, which was more or less handed to him like a guinea pig for experimentation. He was given the option of reducing support prices to 75 per cent of parity instead of 90, which he did, in an effort to move out of storage a vast amount of that commodity stored under the government loan program.

Results looked encouraging at first, but when you get right down to it, Mr. Benson has just not sold the butter like he had hoped he would.

Yet, we wonder if this a fair test of his program inasmuch as the dairy cow is in some ways an almost obsolete farm resident. How can she, for example, be expected to compete with the vegetable butter, or oleomargine, that often sells for around 19 cents a pound? We don't think the cow can be made to produce butter that cheaply, period.

We have talked with people who were all sincere in their arguments on farm price supports who were poles apart in their ideas of how to make the agricultural program work.

Yes, we have even talked with successful farmers, and more of them than you might think believe that the administration's program of flexible supports is at least worth a trial.

There are many evils in the present farm situation that are not the direct result of the high price support program. Anyway, we don't think they are the result of the theory of supports.

What more than anything else has caused all the bad publicity about rigid support prices has been the way that the program has been administered. In other words, we have not been content to allow our legislators to permit the program to work in the manner in which it was drawn up.

With supports at 90 per cent of parity, we are supposed to agree to subject our acreage to control in order that the production of certain basic commodities can be regulated. Yet, whenever we have a very successful year with one certain commodity, and that commodity's acreage for the next year is drastically cut because of the surplus on hand, we too often set up such tremendous objection to the acreage reduction that our legislators are obliged to tamper with the fundamentals of the program to make it more palatable politically. That's why it isn't working, we think.

Back to our original statement, we are really confused at the present time. We depend more on advice from folks whom we consider well informed than on any other thing. And we have been amazed to observe how oppositely some of our best informants reason; all of them being what we call well informed, sincere people, too.

As for ourselves, we are interested in finding the best thing for the farmers on a long-time basis. We think it is foolhardy to do what is expedient only at the moment, for we know that somebody (usually us) will have to pay for nearsighted mistakes on down the line.

Our own propositions would not suggest definite ways to arrive at these aims, but we think that here are a few things that the farm program ought to be doing for the country:

- 1. Eliminating the competition to the farmers from outside investors who have gone into farming not as a hobby but because it has been made profitable for them to do so.
- 2. Getting our surplus commodities into the hands of people all over the world who desperately need the food and fiber, and who don't have money but perhaps do have goods or services that could be exchanged in lieu thereof.

Deadline Is Tuesday For Absentee Voters

Persons who wish to vote in the Democratic election with an absentee ballot are reminded this week that the deadline for applying for an absentee ballot is Tuesday, August 20.

Through this Tuesday, 14 persons had cast ballots using this method, records at the clerk's office in Farwell revealed.

Martin's Garage Moves To Hotel

Martin's Garage and Automotive is now located in the Texaco Hotel building. It was moved there recently from the former location at the Border Salvage in western Texico.

Delbert Martin, owner, says he has been in Texico approximately one and a half years. The Martins have five children. The family moved here from Oklahoma where he was a mechanic.

1954 Wheat Harvest Runs 750,000 Bushels

Combines ground to a stop in virtually all the dusty wheat fields of the area over the past week or ten days, and as elevator men, farmers, and interested onlookers summed up the result of the 1954 harvest, they were pleased to report that about three-quarters of a million bushels have been taken into commercial elevators in Texico-Farwell and Parmer County.

Converted to cash, this would mean that the summer small grain crop rung up a total of around $1,500,000, which will help to offset the typical summer financial slump experienced by farmers in this part of the country.

The dryland crop this year was a near-miss if not a total failure. Those farmers who managed to get back their seed considered themselves lucky. It was the 15,000 acres under irrigation that held up the yield.

Measured against last year, the 1954 harvest was an improvement of about 50 percent insofar as the total yield was concerned. Over Parmer County, the harvest averaged about 25 bushels on irrigated fields, and from four to six on dryland.

The wheat had several rough experiences this year. A very late freeze this spring, coupled with considerable hail damage, cut the yield drastically in some spots.

Even though extensive hail and freeze damage cut the crop almost in half, estimated Arthur Drake, manager of Friona Wheat Grower's elevator, and Joe Moore at Sherley Grain Company in Bovina, most elevator men handled more grain than they had expected.

A few loads of wheat were still trickling into elevators early this week, but the consensus of opinion was expressed by Drake when he said that the harvest "will probably wind up this week." Some operators considered the harvest already finished.

This year's crop amounted to more than last year's by about 250,000 bushels. One reason for this increase is that there has been an increase in the number of acres irrigated. Another is wider practice of fertilization. The results of this practice, however, cannot be measured with any degree of accuracy because of the freeze and hail damages suffered.

Wesley Long, who lives eight miles east and one south of Bovina, produced 48.9 bushels per acre on potato land. Wheat planted on potato land on the Ralph Shelton farm five miles east of Bovina made 33 bushels per acre.

Yields on irrigated fields ranged from Long's 48.9 on down. Pete Braxton, manager Tri-County Elevator Co. of Black, estimated that the over-all average yield for irrigated wheat was 25 bushels per acre. Some dryland wheat made 12-15 bushels per acre, but the average was eight to ten.

Hospital-Clinic Planned For Construction Soon

Plans to build a $30,000 hospital-clinic in Farwell were revealed to the public this week, although the project has been "on the fire" for several weeks previous.

The announcement was made by civic leaders that Dr. M. F. Green, formerly of Mulehoe, has agreed to move here and invest in the venture. He, his wife, and one son are now looking for temporary housing in Farwell, as well as a temporary location for his practice until the hospital building can be erected.

The $30,000 cited as the needed capital to finance the hospital-clinic is a sum which includes the cost of the building and its equipment as well.

G. D. Anderson the first of this week said that "$20,000 of this money is now on hand," indicating that quite a bit of financial work already has been done.

Dr. Green, a resident of Mulehoe for the past eight years, operated the Green Hospital there until only a few weeks ago when it was sold to a group of Amherst doctors.

He is known to have been interested in this area for some time, however, and he has owned land east of Farwell several years.

The hospital-clinic plan, now in formative stages, calls for 3,343 square feet, which will include beds for a capacity of eight patients. In the building will be rooms designated for the following purposes:

Lobby, consultation, treatment, laboratory, emergency operation, electrocardiograph, treatment, supply, business office, kitchen, foyer, and the patient rooms.

Construction is scheduled to begin before August 1, report men working on the project, and blueprints for the building are now being drawn.

Dr. Green has indicated that he anticipates engaging another doctor when the building is completed, and the arrangement of the building at the present time is for two doctors.

The hospital-clinic will be built in such a manner as to make it relatively simple to add on other rooms as the need may arise.

Plans for ownership of the hospital are to have it incorporated with stockholders being those who have contributed toward its erection. "It will be a non-profit organization," said Anderson, however, "and no one plans to make any money out of it." The management likely will revert to a board of directors.

Location is as yet undecided.

Wheat Referendum Coming Next Friday; Camp Answers Some Typical Questions

As July 23 approaches, the date for the wheat referendum, more and more growers are asking questions about the marketing quotas and the referendum, according to office manager Joe Camp of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Some of these questions are answered below.

The result of the referendum will determine whether marketing quotas, with penalties for over-planting acreage allotments, will be in effect for the 1955 crop. They will also determine the level of price support which will be available. These and other basic questions are being studied carefully by wheat growers.

"Some have asked, 'Who is eligible to vote?' The answer is, any farmer who would be subject to the quotas. Farms will be subject to the quotas if the wheat to be harvested for grain in 1955 is more than 15 acres.

"If quotas are in effect, what will be the penalty for failure to comply with acreage allotments?" The penalty on excess wheat will be at the rate of 45 per cent of the May 1, 1955, parity price.

Another frequently asked question is, "How does the referendum affect 1955 price supports?" The answer is: If two-thirds or more (Continued on last page)

Dowdy Indicted, Two Others Fined During Past Week

Paul Dowdy of Benton Harbor, Mich., driver of a truck involved in a collision two weeks ago in which three Bovina people were killed between Farwell and Bovina, was indicted as charged by the grand jury last Friday.

The jury set his bond at $3000, but the man will likely remain in jail until his trial, which is expected to be heard within two weeks. If he enters a plea of guilty, District Judge E. A. Bills can dispose of the case himself the next time he is in Farwell. If, however, Dowdy pleads not guilty, it will be necessary to impanel a jury for the case.

Arnold Gillian, Bovina, was picked up Monday night west of Bovina and charged with driving while intoxicated. He pled guilty, and was fined $100 and costs in Judge A. D. Smith's county court.

Joe Langer, also of Bovina, pled guilty to a charge of possessing liquor for the purpose of resale, and was fined $300 and costs and assessed 30 days in the county jail.

Control Measures Should Be Immediate For Cotton Insects, Warns County Agent

Farmers, especially cotton farmers, had better keep on their toes if they want to prevent yield losses to insects, County Agent Joe Jones warned this week, and right now is a good time to start watching out for infestations.

Already, fleahopper invasions of sufficient number to prove dangerous have been reported in the southern part of the county, and may be expected to move to other areas unless control measures are rigidly adhered to.

Some lygus bugs, too, have been reported in rather isolated spots, and these two insects bear watching, especially when cotton is in the tender stage such as the present, believes the agent.

The fleahopper infestation has proved to be especially noticeable around the West Camp area south of Farwell, and farmers have already begun control measures such as aerial spraying.

"Check your cotton for fleahoppers and lygus bugs now," says Jones, "because it is very important that we succeed in setting our early fruit. These insects can reduce yields when attacking the cotton plants at their present stage."

As to when it is advisable to undertake control methods, the agent notes that recommendations vary with conditions. Generally speaking, it is advisable to start spraying fleahoppers when as many as 15 to 35 are noted per 100 terminals.

"We have more insect threats at this time than at a similar stage in 1953 or 1952," warned Jones, "and farmers should step-up their control measures accordingly."

A few bollworms are showing up over the county, reports Jones, but not in sufficient numbers as to pose a serious threat. The main things at the present time are the 'hoppers and lygus bugs, and once again the agent emphasized the great need of controlling insects when cotton is in its present stage, as it is "very vulnerable now."

Guides on identification and control of cotton insects may be had at the agent's office in Farwell.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

David Was a Piker

David, the Biblical giant-killer, was a piker compared to Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah. The governor wants to abolish the income tax! He might just as well try to abolish love and courtship. We're plugging for the governor, though, and not because we have any hope he'll get to first base with his program. We think that the more publicity that is given to the problem of excessive personal and corporate income taxes, the sooner the people of America will wake up to the reality that they are being drug ever nearer to a socialistic state.

There Is a Limit On Everything

In America, a land blessed with more opportunity than any other country in the world since its beginning in 1776, there has grown up the conception that there is no limit on how much people can earn. This is basically a good philosophy if, at the same time, it is understood that how much they can earn is governed by how much they can produce.

The closing down of the famous anthracite mines in the Panther Valley in eastern Pennsylvania is a case in point. Unemployment now grips that once prosperous area, and the tentacles of a local depression have drawn tightly around the necks of the towns of over 5000 mine workers.

Under the reign of the United Mine Workers, these laborers have been led to press for greater and greater pay, while they in turn produced less and less coal as time wore on. Coal, a great industrial fuel, is now facing serious competition from natural gas and fuel oil, and the mine owners have been obliged to raise the prices of their coal even higher to keep up with the spiraling demands of the miners.

Now it has reached the point where coal costs so much to get to the surface of the earth that it cannot compete on a dollar to dollar basis with these other fuels. Management of the coal companies has had no choice but to close down the mines. There simply was no longer any reason for keeping them open.

Where, now, are the interests of the coal laborers? What have their continued and excessive demands for pay raises gotten them? Unemployment!

Yes, we will admit that organized labor is a necessity in the world today where agreements are made under pressure. Yes, a union is the only way through which they could bargain effectively with their employers. Yes, the unions have lifted the estate of the common laborer to a point where he can now afford a decent home, a car, and a few of the more common luxuries of life.

But the pendulum has swung too far away from what is economically sound. The miners, at the time the mines were last operated, were drawing $16.95 a day. They also benefitted from a short work week with time and a half for overtime, hospitalization, paid vacations, and a host of "fringe benefits" that do little more than add to the overhead cost of operating the mines. That, we think, is too much money for unskilled labor, even with prices the way they are nowadays and conditions the way they are in the dirty mines. The workers simply priced themselves out of a job. It was nobody's fault but their own.

The last thing they did was apply for another round of wage increases. Instead, they got the doors shut in their faces, and their incomes cut off. There is a lesson for all of us in this unhappy occurrence in eastern Pennsylvania.

Read 'Em and Weep

In the issue of July 29 will be carried the proposed amendments to the constitution of the State of Texas. You subscribers who live in the Lone Star State had sure better do some careful reading, because there are some things proposed there that might make your hair stand on end.

We will try to give a very brief presentation of the basic tenants of these proposed amendments in The Tribune in readable form, but just to play safe, it would certainly be for your own protection if you will read the amendments in the original.

4-H Boys Camp To Be August 2-5

Plans for the annual 4-H boys camping trip were completed at a meeting of members and leaders last Thursday, reports County Agent Joe Jones.

The camp will be August 2-5 in the New Mexico mountains. The exact camping site has not been selected, but the county agent's secretary will be able to tell parents where the boys are.

Only boys who had 4-H club projects this past school year or have projects now are eligible to attend camp. Letters and cards to be filled out and returned to the county agent's office are being mailed to all boys this week. If anyone who is eligible to attend fails to receive a letter, he should come in to the office and get one, says Jones.

The boys will be accompanied by Jones and adult leaders. "We still need more men to go," says Jones and he asks all who can go to come in and volunteer. "It will just save our having to chase them down."

Those already planning to go are Levi Johnson, Oklahoma Lane; Wendol Christian, Oklahoma Lane; Rene Sneed, Friona; James Mabry, Friona; John Aldridge, Farwell; Shorty Hughes, Lariat; and Dee Chitwood, Lazbuddie.

The group will travel by truck and pickup and will camp out, cook out, and sleep out. Tents will be on hand in case of rain.

Cost will be $7.00 per person. This amount will cover all camp expenses and everyone, including leaders, will pay. Money must be in the county agent's office by July 27.

Trucks will pick up boys at Friona High School on August 2 at 6:45 a.m.; at the Bovina High School at 7:15 a.m.; at the Lazbuddie store at 7 a.m.; and at the Parmer County courthouse at 7:45 a.m. The campers will be returned to the same places around 7 p.m. on August 5.

It was decided to assign program dates to each member, and if the designated chairman does not fulfill his assignment, he will be fined $2. Jerry Poteet, Farwell delegate to Texas Boys' State, gave a full report on the activities of the group.

Committee heads for the group are attendance, Chas. Bieler; constitution and by-laws, Agrie Jones; convention, M. H. Poteet; finance, Joe Helton; Lions information, Nelson Smith; membership, James Patrick; program and entertainment, Otis Huggins; publicity, Lenton Pool; agriculture, Robert Morton; boys and girls work, Joe Crume; citizenship and patriotism, John Adams; civic improvement, Rev. League Teams Lose To Clovis Boys

The Pony League baseball game, scheduled for last week, was called because of the rain in Clovis, but games were played Monday, for both the Pony League and Little League, says Calvin Murray, co-director.

Both local teams were defeated by the two Clovis All-Star teams, with the older boys losing by only two runs, 8-6 and the younger boys suffering an overwhelming defeat. Tommy Williams was pitcher for the local Little League with Donnie Carpenter on the mound for the Pony League.

The younger boys play the Clovis Braves this afternoon (Thursday) on the Farwell diamond, and the older team will go to Clovis to play the All-Stars at Bickley Field tonight.

Murray says the local teams were hindered last week, because a large number of the first string boys were away at camp or on vacation.

"a 65¢ call...

was the difference between spending the night in the car—or a good night's sleep."

"Everything had gone just fine that day...till about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. We had covered 275 miles, and could easily reach the Black Hills by 5..."

"And then our first flat tire...and 15 minutes after that was fixed, a detour...we were now about an hour and a half behind schedule...all the hotels and motor courts would be filled up."

"So we stopped at a drug store, and I invested 65 cents in a long distance call that confirmed a reservation for the night."

When big emergencies occur, most people nowadays use "Long Distance" as a matter of course.

More and more people are learning, too, that many of the "little emergencies" which so often arise to complicate their existence, can be solved in no time, by a long distance telephone call.

NO PRICE CAN MEASURE ITS USEFULNESS

Long distance calls now cost you less because Federal Excise Taxes have been reduced.

Delegate Ruling Texas' Supreme Court has been asked to determine how Democratic delegate strength shall be counted this year.

Significance of the question is that its solution will have a strong bearing in deciding control of party conventions.

Previously the State Democratic Executive Committee had called for computation of delegate strength by considering both Democratic and Republican votes that Shivers received as a cross-filed candidate in 1952.

Anti-Shivers loyalists, backed by two lower court decisions, have argued that the convention strength should be based only on Democratic votes recorded in the last state election year.

It is the first time in Texas political history that the question has arisen.

Drought Aid
John C. White, the state commissioner of agriculture, went to Washington and asked that federal assistance be given to 27 Central Texas counties, hard hit by drought.

White told federal authorities that Central Texas people face possibly the worst crisis in history unless help—in the form of money or rain—comes soon.

Receivership
Into permanent receivership went the General American Casualty Company of San Antonio, so ordered by District Judge Jack Roberts of Austin.

Judge Roberts ordered the Company's over 120,000 policies to be cancelled after stating that he had delayed the receivership move in the hope that the firm's officials could reorganize, but that they had been unable to raise the necessary financing for another try.

Red Law
Texas' new anti-Communist ruling that outlaws membership in the Communist Party or any organization attempting to overthrow the government by force may not hold up in court, says Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

Shepperd, who called the legislation the "most inclusive and far-sighted anti-communistic law in the nation," warned state lawyers that a former court ruling holding that control of sedition belongs exclusively to the federal government might render the law invalid.

Shepperd added that the ruling, handed down by a Pennsylvania court, might "knock out all state sedition and treason laws."

Duval County Suspended by the Supreme Court was an order halting the prosecution of Duval County po-

Mrs. Windbourn Hardage tells us her favorite recipe is for iced tea, for this time of year anyway.
But she does have a year-round favorite—pecan pie.

Pecan Pie
Mix together 1 cup sugar, three-fourths cup white Karo, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 eggs, few grains of salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup nuts.

Pour into an unbaked crust, bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees.
"These pies come in handy when stored in the freezer, if company arrives unexpectedly," Mrs. Har-dage says.

We don't have any infallible theories, but we have been wondering. When we received a news release from the army on Cary Joe Magness last week, we couldn't help but notice the address given for his parents, Mr.
and Mrs. Clyde Magness.

It was very easy to decipher and must have been correct—but was listed as Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Magness, 200 Lonesome Lane, Farwell,

Wonder if Cary Joe had to fill in that address? Maybe "lonesome" was just how he felt.

MORE MONEY for SCHOOLS

During Governor Allan Shivers' administration more money has been spent for schools than ever before.

The result — better schools, more and higher paid teachers, and better guidance for your children.

Since Allan Shivers became your governor, school funds have increased from 145 million to 211 million dollars per year. Teachers get $1000 a year more. Your child receives individual attention from 15,000 more teachers.

This educational climb is your child's guarantee of a profitable and happy future. For you it means assurance about his growing-up years. It means a better Texas for everyone.

IN PARMER COUNTY $231,286.57 was spent for your child's education during the last fiscal year. He got better teachers with higher salaries and an administration that had more money to spend for its needs. Texas veterans received more educational aid.

The money went for other—but mighty important—things too, like school buses and cafeterias with hot noontime lunches. It meant more vocational help for your child. It went for many things, all necessary for a better education for him.

AUSTIN—Texas politicians turned to the grass roots trails, trying to swing undecided votes, as the campaign wound into its final days.
Most attention was centered on the governor's race, in which Allan Shivers and Ralph W. Yarborough flung charges and counter-charges at each other in a dazzling exchange. Some of Shivers' contentions were:

That Yarborough was using "vile methods in an attempt to cover up his tie-in with the CIO-PAC which was trying to take over the government of Texas."

That Yarborough campaigners had spread false rumors to the effect that Shivers wanted to abolish the orphans state home at Corsicana.

That Yarborough has promised George Parr to call off the clean-up campaign in Duval County.

Yarborough Retorts
Yarborough came back with these accusations:

That Shivers had tried to suppress an FBI investigation of the Gatesville school last year.

That Shivers is a "hyphenated Democrat-Republican".

That Shivers had not reported all of his campaign expenditures.

Positive Side
Both candidates, stump speaking in the villages and towns, also had their positive statements to make, in addition to charges against each other, although the latter phase made the most headlines.

Shivers, saying that he was drawing surprisingly good crowds, emphasized his record in office, pointing to more money spent for roads, schools, and welfare programs.

Yarborough pledged improvements in the state government and more money for state services.

He also expressed interest in a state youth program to combat juvenile delinquency, and was critical of the slash in appropriations which wiped out the Community Services Division of the Youth Development commission.

"The field representatives of the Commission who worked with local government and groups, and also as parole supervisors for youngsters released from state

POPPIN' OFF... WITH POP

Consider the hammer. A good one doesn't lose its head and fly off the handle. It finds the point and drives it home. It looks on the other side and clinches the matter. Occasionally it makes a mistake, but rectifies it. It keeps pounding away until the job is done. It is the only knocker in the world that does constructive work.

It's commendable to get in and dig, but be careful where you throw the dirt.

State President Jon Hagler of La Grange and six of his regional vice-presidents have met with a planning committee of San Antonio business men and report plans for one of the finest conventions in the organization's history.

Raymond Hinders of Canyon is vice-president for this area.

On the schedule are a parade, a fun night, individual sightseeing trips, entertainment at the Plaza Hotel, business sessions, and educational exhibits.

Commissioners Talk Noxious Weed Control

The county commissioners, in session Monday, discussed the matter of noxious weed control in the county, and although no decision was made relative to this, plans are being considered for cooperative efforts with the Santa Fe Railroad and the State Highway Department.

Action by the latter two bodies is expected in a week or two, and control measures on such weeds will begin.

FFA Members Plan Summer Trip

Tentative plans for the FFA summer trip were discussed at a meeting Monday night, reports Robert Morton, sponsor.

August 11-17 have been set for dates and Balmorhea State Park south of Pecos is the proposed site. Some 15-20 boys are expected to take part in the annual camp during which the boys are divided into groups of four or five and are responsible for their own meals and accommodations. Morton will be assisted by other adults in supervising the trip.

Plans will be completed at a special meeting July 26, at the school.

Muleshoe Ropers To Sponsor Rodeo

John Freed of Muleshoe has advised The Tribune that the Muleshoe Roping Club will sponsor a rodeo there the weekend of August 12-14.

Freed reports that at least one dozen sheriff's posses from neighboring counties will participate in the affair, and there will be the usual performances of calf roping, bronc busting, bareback riding, and so forth.

The Club extends an invitation to folks of Texico-Farwell and Farmer County to come over and join with them on the fun, Freed says.

E. R. Coffman of this city; and Clifton Coffman, James and Leroy Weiss, and T. E. Coffman of Amarillo, were in Raton over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Randol were dinner guests of their daughter and family, the Leon Cantrells, in Clovis Monday.

FHA Office Now Open Daily

Wilma L. Liner, assistant emergency loan clerk at the Farmer's Home Administration office, announces that the office will now be open Monday through Friday instead of the one day per week that has been the custom in the past. The supervisor will be in the office on Tuesday regularly and on Thursday also during the present emergency.

Farm Bureau Directors Meet in Bovina

Farwell Farm Bureau directors met in Bovina Monday night to discuss the weed situation in the county. The directors were particularly interested in the bindweed situation for Farmer.

They decided to send the office secretary, Mrs. Letha Turner, to a Farm Bureau Institute at College Station August 1-5.

3. Make it possible for the farmer to pursue individual soil saving programs of his own such as crop rotation, a thing that is difficult to effectively do at the present time because of acreage controls. That is, he now feels as though he "has" to plant all the wheat or cotton he is allotted in order to keep his base.

We have lots of other screwy ideas on how to fix up a better farm program, but there probably are also a lot of farmers who could tell us how to run a better newspaper, so maybe we'd better shut up.

Several people have been very complimentary about The Tribune during the past few weeks, and we certainly appreciate their fine remarks. We hope that we live up to their praise.

Even our editorials have come in for some compliments, and when a country newspaper gets a bouquet for its editorials, we think that's going some.

A local real estate man called up last week to endorse our support of Gov. Shivers for re-election. We always hear from people who don't like what we say, but it is rare indeed to receive approval, and we appreciate his remarks.

REFERENDUM—

of the farmers who vote favor quotas, the full level of price support which is authorized for the 1955 crop—apparently somewhere from 90 to 75 per cent of parity—will be available for those who comply with their wheat and other acreage allotments. If less than two-thirds favor quotas, price support will be at 50 percent of parity for those who comply with their acreage allotments. No price support is available for those who fail to comply with acreage allotments, with or without the marketing quotas.

In answer to another frequently-asked question, Camp states briefly how the farm allotment is determined. First the national acreage allotment is apportioned among States, and then among the counties, according to the acreage seeded to wheat during the latest 10-year period, adjusted for weather trends and other factors. This year the national acreage allotment is 55 million acres, the level specified by law under present supply conditions. Allotments are determined for farms according to past wheat acreage, tillable acres on each farm, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and topography.

Farmers in doubt about their eligibility to vote in the referendum, or any program question, should see their county ASC office.

of the Wesley Foundation at Purdue University. She served on the staff of European work camps in the summers of 1951 and 1953. She has previously served as a youth member of the caravan program for three years.

Caravans lead discussion groups, share in fellowship experiences with youth of the community and the church, and serve as resource persons in planning the youth program. They also assist in leadership education, set up workshops for practical experiences in youth work, and in additional ways are available for service in the local church. Each youth member is given specific responsibility for leadership; Robert with older leadership; Dorris Smith, seniors, and Jim and Gay, intermediates.

Farming Practices Shown on Tour

About 40 county farmers participated in the community soil conservation tour over the county last week, reports Joe Jones, county agent. The tours were jointly sponsored by the county agent's office and the Soil Conservation District service personnel.

Schedule of the tours was July 6, Rhea; July 7, Lazbuddie; and July 8, Bovina. Colored slides of the practices of various farmers of the county were shown by Steve Bavousett of the SCD.

Water conservation, better use and proper application of water for the prevention of soil erosion, and the importance of building up and maintaining soil fertility were the highlights of his talks.

Weed control was the topic of talks by Jones. He pointed out the object of and the difficulties that would be encountered in a weed control program proposed by the two officers. Interest was high in such a program and it is hoped that it can be started in the near future.

Back's BEN RAMSEY For LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

BEN RAMSEY as a man who has fought the battle of water and soil conservation, knows it is the state's foremost challenge. A statewide coordinated program, integrating flood control, soil conservation, power and recreation Ramsey says, is necessary to the state's welfare and economy.

Mrs. O. S. Waggoner OF ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO, SAYS—

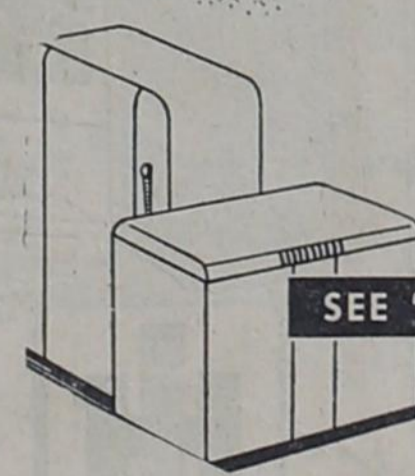

"MY HOME FREEZER GIVES ME Convenience Plus!"

"Right at my fingertips, I have extra food for unexpected guests, an after school snack for my two boys and their friends, or an out-of-season food that can be served when it tastes best, and costs the least.

"I cook electrically, too, and the freezer and the electric range are perfect companions. I bake ahead, and freeze cakes or pies for use whenever I need them. I know they'll taste just as good, after they have been in the freezer, as they do the minute they came out of my electric range.

"Convenience puts the pleasure in electric living, and my freezer does its share—and then some."
