

FROM THE HOPPER

Imagine our surprise Sunday evening upon answering the telephone, when the voice at the other end said, "Hello? This is C. O. Foerster Jr. of Elsa, Texas."

Foerster is the fellow we have spoken of previously in this column. You may recall that he was one of the numerous unsuccessful candidates in the U. S. Senate election two months ago.

On his campaign, he visited Farwell, Bovina, and Friona—and, in fact, "every little town in the whole state." We were intrigued by the man's drive and ambition, so asked him about his background.

When he got around to telling us he had several years under his belt as a promoter of wild-cat oil tests, our ears picked up. "Why don't you come up and drill in Parmer County?" we once suggested to him, half jestingly.

As politicians so often do, he promised that he would do just that. We thought no more of it, but just for the fun of it, dropped him a letter last week asking him if he was still interested.

The discovery by Shell Oil Company of a good pay zone north of Adriar in Oldham County wouldn't excite the average man on the street, since there is closer production to us than that, by quite a bit.

However, to the professional petroleum geologist, and to the amateur oil scouts, of which Texas abounds, this is very significant news. By looking at the accompanying map, which is a reasonably accurate—though hand sketched—map of the Plains, you can see that Parmer County is well within that area known geologically as the Palo Duro Basin.

The well in Oldham County is the first discovery of any significance in this basin, in spite of its tremendous size.

This has prompted, in recent weeks, considerable leasing activity in not only Oldham and Deaf Smith, but even in north, eastern, central, and southeastern parts of our own county.

So, that is the story behind Foerster's telephone call. He followed up with a letter. (The map is part of the letter). Here it is:

It was a pleasant visit we had together when we talked at breakfast in your city. Yes, we did discuss the possibilities of oil and gas in your county before the above discovery was made by the Shell Oil Company on that vast basin known as the Palo Duro Basin.

There are 32,000 square miles of area in this basin which could have oil and gas traps. They have to be discovered before they have any value to anyone.

You might be interested in the history of this discovery well in Oldham County, known as the Shell Number 1 Alamosa Ranch, Section 41, League 310 of the Capitol Lands Survey, Block H-3 as per the above map.

In the year 1919, which is now 38 years ago when I was five years old, a man by the name of Charles N. Gould mapped a large surface structure and wrote a report on this Bravo Dome. The Prairie Oil Company 29 years ago drilled and abandoned their Levinger Number 1 only one-half mile north of the Shell Oil Company's discovery.

The Prairie well was located in Section 46 and it was a deep test for the time, having been drilled to 5,645 feet with cable tools. If they would have carried the well 500 feet deeper, they might have discovered the zone that Shell discovered in April of this year.

There are about 549,760 acres or 859 square miles of land area in your county. If you think that 85 to 90 percent would cooperate in getting your county developed for oil and gas, it can be done. I do not believe that you will get 100 percent cooperation, as Christ has one out of his group who wouldn't

Texico Grade School Graduation Monday

Texico's eighth grade graduation will be in the form of a pageant this year. Graduation exercises are to be Monday evening, May 13, at the auditorium starting at 8 o'clock.

Included on the program will be addresses by the three honor students, Patricia Patterson, valedictorian; and Gary Singletary and Glendon Moss, co-salutator-ians; a vocal duet, and the presentation of awards and diplomas. Following the commencement, members of the class are to be honored at a reception at the Woman's Club building.

Hostesses for the reception include Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Jim Moss, Mrs. Robert Servatius, Mrs. Tena Roth, Mrs. Ansel Doolittle, Mrs. Louis Caillouet and Mrs. Ruth LaRue.

Texico Seniors To Graduate Tuesday

Texico High School seniors will receive their diplomas at the commencement exercises at the school auditorium on Tuesday evening, May 14, at 8 p.m. (CST).

C. Kelley, Anita Watts, Peggy Weeks, Maggie Lancing, Betty Pendergrass, Carolyn Curd and Mikala Faville.

Man Wanted For Forgery Returned To Farwell

George Grindle, 35, was returned to Farwell last Wednesday where he is facing a forgery charge. The man was picked up in Georgetown, Texas, and is charged with forging a check at Piggy Wigly.

He was recently indicted by the Parmer County Grand Jury and will face trial at a future date. Grindle is also charged with theft at Texarkana.

Lovelace also reported a car theft which occurred in Farwell on April 22. Jose Leo Uriaste, Clovis, drove off with a 54 Ford from the McKillip Motor Company used car lot, but was apprehended in Clovis the same day.

Clovis officers picked Uriaste up and phoned back to Farwell before the car was discovered gone by the local firm.

First Lions Breakfast Sunday

The first of two breakfasts to raise money for the summer youth program is to be in the Farwell School lunchroom this Sunday morning. The pancakes, bacon and coffee will be served from 7-9 a. m.

Tickets to the feed have been on sale for the past three weeks and this week students of both Farwell and Texico Schools are assisting with the sales. Tickets may still be purchased from any Lion and they may be obtained at the door Sunday morning. Adult tickets sell for 75 cents and children under 12 will be admitted for 50 cents.

The cooking and serving of the meal Sunday will be done by the Lions and many of the items for the feed have been donated. General Mills will furnish all of the Bisquick, Waples Platter, through Bradshaw Grocery, is doing the coffee. Bacon for the feed is being obtained at cost from State Line Grocery.

The entire proceeds from the breakfast will aid in financing the recreation program for the small fry of Texico-Farwell. The amount of money derived will determine how many activities will be offered in the program.

The second breakfast is scheduled for next Sunday, May 19.

Steers Backs To Wall

The Farwell Steers have their backs to the wall in the District 3-A baseball race which has come to a close except for two remaining games for the league leaders against the cellar-dwelling Steers.

Oddly enough, though, the district race is so tight that by winning both remaining games, Coach Calvin Murray's team can throw all four teams into a tie. Thus far, every team in the conference has split with one another in the home and home series.

The standings are now Friona 3-2, Morton 3-2, Springlake 3-3, and Farwell 1-3. Farwell plays Friona here tomorrow (Friday) and then plays host to Morton in the final game Tuesday. In both previous games against the two foes the Steers have come out on the short end.

However, playing on their home field should make a difference. Farwell's lone win has been at home and the three losses have been on the road.

If the Steers do cop both remaining games, the district will be right back where it started and a special playoff will be necessary to determine the regional entry.

The Steers dropped two games this past week to put them in the cellar. Last Friday they went to Springlake and bowed to the Wolverines, 8-2. The Wolverines collected only five hits off Donnie Carpenter, but by bunching them, (Continued on Last Page)

NO PAVING PROJECT NOW

May Pave Whole Town In Five Years

Plans for the long-discussed second paving project for the City of Texico came to an abrupt halt Monday night when the City Commissioners decided against a project for the present time.

Reason for discontinuing the plans for paving this summer was due to the excessive cost of paper work and handling of the small project. It was decided that this cost, which would be about the same as for a larger project, would take too much of the remaining one-third of the city-assessed gasoline tax, leaving too small an amount for the actual paving.

Paving projects one and two in the city, involving 27 blocks which were completed in 1955, are being paid for by the one-cent per gallon tax. Two-thirds of the proceeds have been ample to retire the bonds and it was planned to have another project, to be paid for by the remaining one-third.

It was hoped by the commission that a bond purchaser could be found who would take the bonds on the expected tax revenue. However, all bonding companies have indicated that there must also be liens on the property which the paving surrounds. The cost of acquiring the liens runs into a considerable amount of money.

On the first project, the liens were acquired before the city assessed the gasoline tax to retire the bonds. Since then, the bonding companies have had a double-barreled security and the same would be required on another project.

Del Fowler, a representative of Quinn and Company Investment Securities in Albuquerque, was present at the meeting and pointed out the situation the city faced. After studying the problem, the commission voted to retire the present paving bonds as quickly as possible with the total gasoline tax.

If the gas tax continued to derive revenue at its present rate, the entire bonds can be retired in five years. By paying it off this soon the interest payments will be lowered considerably and at the time the bonds are completely paid off, the city will be in a position to pave every block in town.

There are now 27 paved blocks and 38 are left in the town unpaved. If the gasoline business continues at its present pace, the remainder of the town can be paved five years from now in one big project.

Should the city go ahead with 10 or 15 blocks at the present time, it will be at least 10 years before any more paving can be done. With that in mind, the commissioners thought it best to take the long-range plan.

By having a huge project at a (Continued on Last Page)

Huffman to Speak At Athletic Banquet

Burl Huffman, a noted after-dinner speaker, will talk at the annual Farwell School athletic banquet, next Friday, May 17, announces Jack Williams, superintendent. Huffman is a former football coach at Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico.

He is also a past Chamber of Commerce worker and is presently employed by the government in Santa Fe.

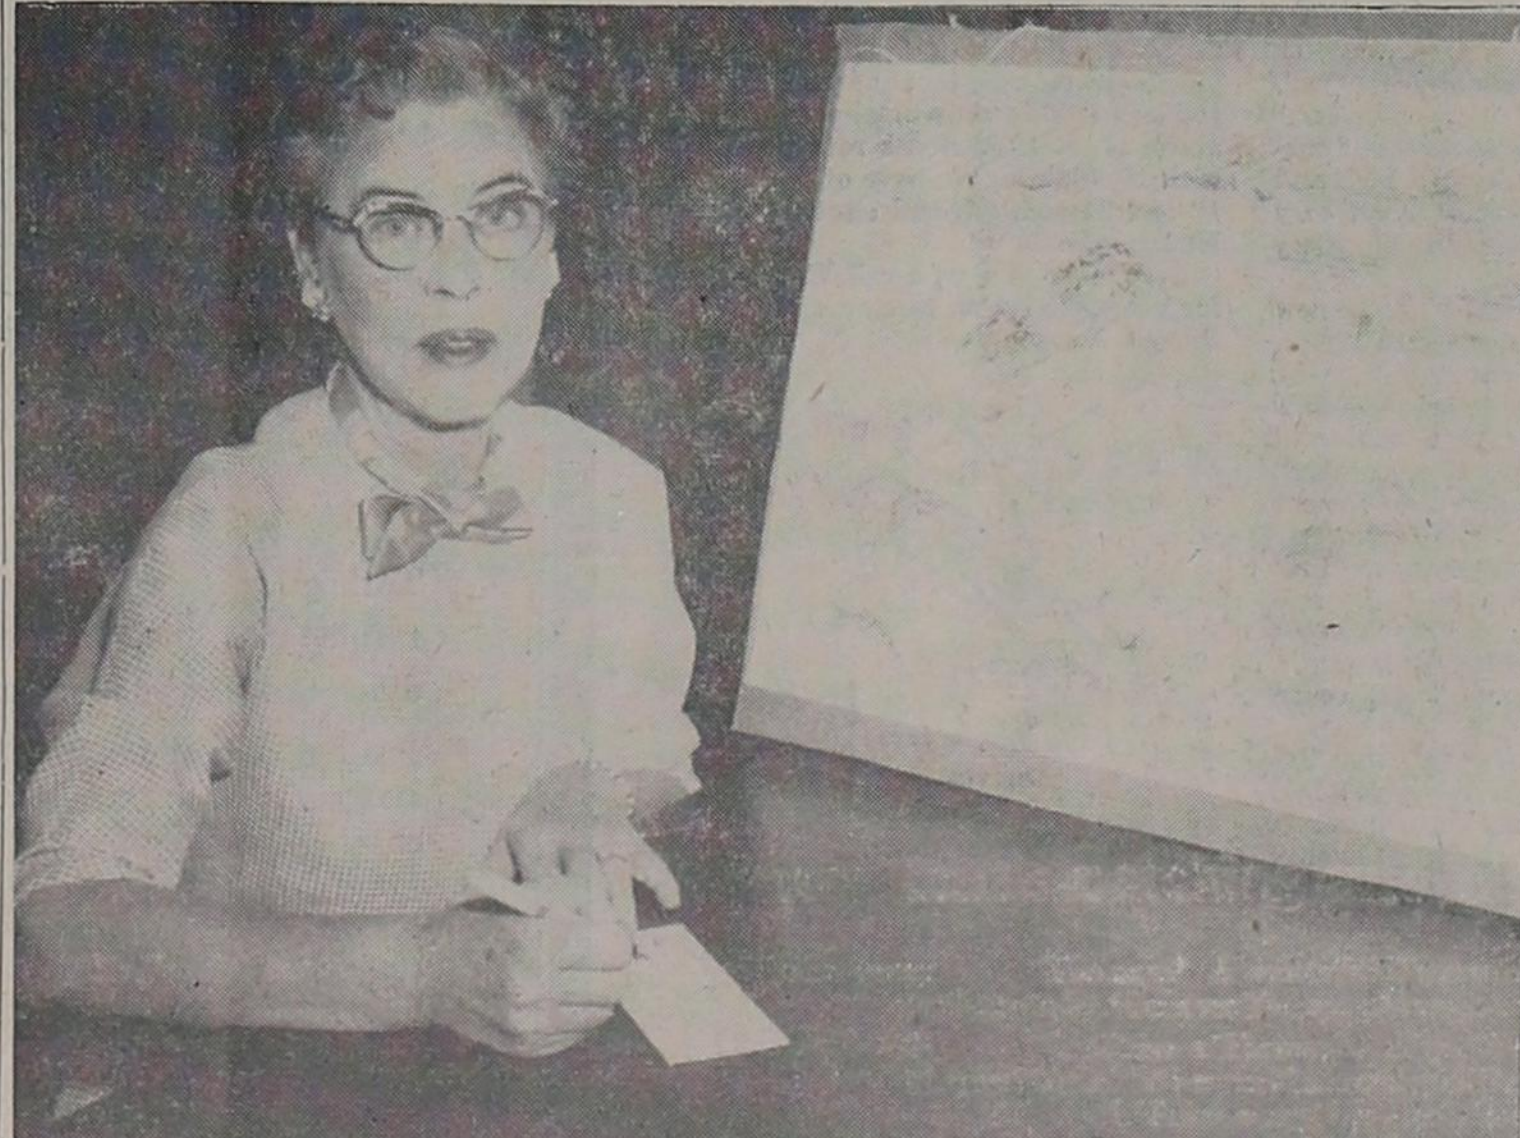

At the banquet, the various sports awards will be made to the outstanding players of the year, Williams says. To receive awards will be outstanding football player, the outstanding basketball players (both boys and girls), the athlete of the year, the hardest blocker and tackler in football, and the athlete attaining the highest scholastic achievement.

To be shown at the banquet will be a film on the Farwell-Hale Center bi-district football game.

Williams points out that only about 50 outside tickets will be available for the feed and asks that anyone wanting to attend to call the school to make reservations. The large number of athletes and their guests will take up most of the space, the superintendent says. Admission price is $1.50.

ANOTHER DONATION — Joining in on the drive to raise money for the Texico-Farwell swimming pool project during the past few weeks has been the Farwell Woman's Club. Here Mrs. D. W. The money was derived from an electric skillet give-away and it brings the total contribution from the Woman's Club to over $250.

Farwell City Dads Have First Meeting

Farwell's new city commission had its first regularly scheduled meeting in the City Hall Friday afternoon with about 10 outsiders present. Numerous items of business were discussed and some acted upon by the two members of the commission present.

Unable to be on hand for the initial meeting was Smokey Gast, who became ill Friday morning. Carrying on the business for the city were Sam Aldridge, mayor; L. E. McKillip, commissioner; and Wilfred Quickel, clerk.

Little discussion was heard on the city's new fire station and the site, due to the absence of Gast. However, Otis Huggins, fire department promoter, was given permission to work out plans on some type structure not to exceed $6,000, the present cash on hand for the station.

Huggins is to consult with Joe Crume of Kemp Lumber Company and have a plan worked out by the next meeting. Quite likely to be worked out will be a cement tile structure, large enough to house the truck, meeting room, and possibly an apartment. If, with the available money, a building can be built large enough to include an apartment, completion of the living quarters will not be done until a later date.

If such a building can be constructed, it will include only the shell of the apartment and will be completed when more funds become available.

As for the site, the two commissioners exercised the opinion that this would depend on where one can be obtained at the best price and still not be located in a congested area. Nothing definite was worked out and the commission plans to bring it up at the

Raymond Hadley Gets Scholarship

Raymond Hadley, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hadley, and a sophomore at Texico School, is the recipient of the first band scholarship presented by the Texico Woman's Club. Mrs. Fred Danforth, club president, says that it is hoped that the scholarship can be awarded every year.

Mesdames Curtis Miller, Don Fought and Guy Cohee were on a committee to contact Fred Danforth, Texico band director, concerning the choosing of the deserving student.

The scholarship pays tuition, fees, and room and board for Raymond at the band clinic to be held June 2-15 at Eastern New Mexico University.

Basis for selecting the deserving student for this award includes the student's interest in band, his contribution to the band, need and ability.

Hadley has been playing in the Texico band for the past five years and has played E-flat saxophone. Four months ago he started playing the BB-flat bass, and Danforth says that he is doing quite well with this instrument.

Members of the Woman's Club feel that the presentation of this scholarship each year will stimulate interest in the band and that it will encourage other students to work for it.

Other Texico band members who are making tentative plans to attend the band camp are Christy Bowers, saxophone; Charles Stockton, saxophone; David Lockhart, cornet; Don Johnson, cornet; Beth Peyton, clarinet and twirling; Connie Tharp, clarinet and twirling; and D' Rene Danforth, saxophone and twirling.

Former Resident Wins Trip Around World

Mrs. Glenn Williams of Canyon, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Williams, has been notified that she was the first place winner of a television contest and has been awarded an expense paid trip around the world for two.

Other prizes she received for winning the contest included a watch valued at $300, luggage, a camera and numerous other items.

Mrs. E. G. Williams says she does not know exactly what contest it was that her daughter-in-law entered, but reports that the Williams home in Canyon has been swamped with telephone calls ever since she was notified she was the contest winner. People the family didn't even know called to tell them they would take care of their three children when they decided to make the trip.

The prize winner isn't sure yet when or if they will take the trip, and according to her mother-in-law, rules of the contest say that they do not have to take the trip at any specific time.

Mrs. Williams will be remembered here as Travis Chapman.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Public Meetings

Texico-Farwell citizens have no excuse for not keeping up with the happenings of the city governments. Since Farwell started having regular monthly meetings, all sessions of the Twin City officials are open to the public.

For those wanting to do so, they may attend all meetings and keep well-abreast of commissioners' actions. Very few will take advantage of the open sessions, but no longer can the citizens complain about not knowing what's going on. The fact that the people have been told when the meetings are and given a standing invitation leaves it up to them to keep up with what the elected officials are doing.

It has been said many times before that it doesn't do any good to have public meetings as no one will attend, anyway. That is certainly true, as past experience has shown that most people aren't interested in attending a city meeting.

However, there is something about open meetings which seems to create better relations between the average citizens and the governing bodies. When the people know that the city dads do not wish to do anything under cover they seem to express confidence in the officials and have few complaints about what is done.

When the meetings are not public, though, the townspeople adhere to the thoughts that everything is not on the up-and-up, even if the city business is carried on in the best interest of the public. This is only a logical conclusion because when something is done in the open, people can rest assured that it is being done in the right manner.

For that reason, The Tribune is happy to see that the City of Farwell once again has regular scheduled public meetings. It makes an extra meeting for us to cover, but this is our job and by being present at a city meeting we find it a much easier task to keep up with the city business ourselves. Too, it better helps us to inform the public.

While the Tribune covers all city meetings and tries to give a first-hand account of the happenings to those who do not attend, it would benefit local citizens if they would make it a point to attend a city council meeting occasionally.

Some are most interesting, and if more citizens would attend a city meeting they might better appreciate the work and understand the headaches of the city dads. Too, by attending these meetings, any citizen can make suggestions on certain problems and he can rest assured that the commissioners will listen. They are citizens like the rest of us and in working out the problems confronting a town, many times they like to have citizens express themselves.

Sitting in on a city commission meeting is one thing everybody can still do, and it wouldn't hurt anyone to do it now and then.

NEW PIG PARLOR — Recently completed on the Barney Kelly farm north of Texico was this new pig parlor. Kelly's three sons, Leon, Allen, and J. C., are pictured by the new-fangled pighouse, which is the latest thing in swine raising. Construction of the parlor was engineered by the Texico FFA chapter.

Kelley Farm Site Of Pig Parlor

A pig parlor, which appears to be the coming thing in swine production, has recently been completed on the B. A. Kelley farm north of Texico. The building of the parlor was the result of extensive study by the Texico FFA Chapter.

Trying to find an answer to the inconsistency of making money in the hog-raising game, the boys came up with the pig parlor as an answer. Designed for sanitation, improved feeding, and for the purpose of controlling temperature, the Texico parlor is one of few in the area.

The FFA lads came to the conclusion that the pig parlor was what was needed to make hog-raising profitable, following considerable reading up on the subject and writing to various universities and colleges where scientific studies have been made.

The Texico study has been made under the supervision of the ag instructor, Tom Hudson, and the raising of hogs has been a major part of the local FFA's supervised farming program for the past three years.

The FFA is not sponsoring a hog-raising project at the Kelley farm, as cost of the structure was footed by Kelley and his three sons, Allen, J. C., and Leon. The pigs which have been placed in the parlor belong to the Kelleys and the FFA Chapter will assist with the monthly weighing and record keeping as an educational project.

The FFA assisted with its construction and the parlor is to be an experiment. Considerable interest is being shown in the project by other Curry County businessmen and farmers. Some of the operations will be kept on film by Everett Jones of the REA in Clovis. T. E. Willmon of the Citizens Bank and Howard Martin of the Clovis National Bank will assist with computing the feed cost per 100 pounds gain in weight.

Also, assisting with the keeping of the records will be Alan Staley, vocational agriculture instructor at Clovis High School and Leroy Tucker of the Clovis Production Credit Association.

The parlor on the Kelley farm is 20x30 feet, with both a concrete floor and a concrete roof. The semi-walls are removable and for the summer months, steel mesh sides may be installed.

The cement roof is a factor that makes it cooler and it was also cheaper than tin. Sheeting was first nailed to the rafters and the coat of concrete was run on top.

The floor to the parlor is slanting slightly, which makes the cleaning easier. Daily flooding and disinfecting will be done and in the summer months, a constant flow of cool water will be another means of temperature control.

The parlor is complete with automatic feeders and waterers and the fancy house will hold 50 pigs from weaning age to market age. Last week, 45 pigs were to have been placed in the parlor to get the experiment underway.

If this new method works out, there may again be some money in hog-raising, Kelley believes. He points out that in the past, the high cost of buying pigs, plus the cost of feeding them, overshadowed what could be obtained at market.

Two Collisions At Same Intersection Sunday Afternoon

Within 30 minutes of one another Sunday afternoon, two minor collisions occurred at a Main Street intersection, both being caused in about the same way, reports Chas. Lovelace, Farmer County sheriff.

At 4 p. m. Dan Joe Yell, Farwell, was attempting to make a left-hand turn, going east on Main Street near Kittrell's Service Station. On making the turn he was run into by Thomas Franklin Haire, Del Norte, Colo. Haire's car, a 1953 Chevrolet, received damage estimated at $200 and Yell's car was only slightly damaged, Lovelace says.

As the sheriff completed his investigation of this accident and started to leave the scene at 4:30, another mishap occurred at the same place, only the vehicles involved were traveling in the opposite direction.

Johnny Welch, Albuquerque, driving a 51 Chevrolet, was making a left-hand turn toward the school house, when a 50 model Buick, driven by Jesse Meeks, collided with him. Damage was light to both cars, estimated at not more than $20 on each, says the sheriff.

Informal Ceremony Unites Miss Williams, 1st Lt. Liethen

In a simple ceremony with only close family members and friends in attendance, Miss Jo Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Williams of Farwell, became the bride of First Lieutenant Mark Liethen at the Base Chapel of Clovis Air Force Base at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Saturday. Lt. Liethen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Liethen of Appleton, Wisconsin.

Palms formed the background for the single-ring service, and white stock and yellow carnations were arranged in silver altar vases to complete the setting. Father E. J. McDonald of Clovis Air Force Base performed the marriage ceremony. Soft organ music was played by Sgt. Lou Falcon during the service, and traditional wedding marches were used.

Matron of honor was a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Elmer Hargrove, who wore a powder blue shirtwaist dress with a yoke inset of matching lace and Peter Pan collar and a fitted bodice, accented by minute unpressed pleats in a full skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and Stars-of-Bethlehem. Best man was a close friend of the bridegroom, Lt. Roger A. LaFond of Malta, Mont., who is also stationed at Clovis Air Force Base.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a pure silk shirtwaist dress in subdued yellow, with a fitted bodice, small pointed collar and three-quarter length sleeves. The tiny waist accented the full flowing skirt over crinoline. Her shoulder-length soft yellow veil of illusion was attached to a small halo hat of yellow sequins and seed pearls.

She carried a prayer book which was a gift of Mrs. Penny Anderson of Bovina. The book was topped with a single white orchid arranged in a shower of stephanotis.

For something old, Miss Williams chose a ring which had belonged to her sister, Flossie; new was a St. Christopher necklace which was given her by the bridegroom; she carried a borrowed linen handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Mrs. M. A. Snider; and her blue garter was a gift of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bert Williams. Her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Stone, gave her a penny of the year of her birth, to wear in her shoe.

Mrs. Williams chose a pink linen ensemble designed with a portrait neckline and embroidered in seed pearls and rhinestones. Her accessories were pink and she wore a green orchid corsage, tied with maroon ribbon.

Others attending the wedding were Major and Mrs. W. M. Sullivan and Lt. and Mrs. Robert McGee. A reception was held in the Williams home in Farwell following the wedding. The house party included Wilma Liner, Mrs. Bert Williams, Mrs. Penny Anderson, Mrs. Glenn Phillips, Simone Maignie and Mrs. J. H. Stone, grandmother of the bride, who greeted guests. Hostesses for the reception wore corsages of yellow iris. Emphasizing the chosen colors of the bride, yellow and white, were the serving tables. Twin tables were laid with matching cutwork cloths, belonging to the mother of the bride and an aunt, Mrs. Jack Williams. Centerpiece for the punch table was an arrangement of yellow roses and white stock in a silver bowl, with matching three-tiered silver candlesticks holding white tapers. Little clusters of yellow roses were caught at four places in the folds of the cloth. Milk glass punch service and silver appointments completed the motif for the table. On the second table, white columns divided the three tiers of the tall wedding cake which was decorated with soft yellow roses, minute confection bluebirds and pastel colored leaves, and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Surrounding the cake was a garland of baker's fern and pom-poms and white tapers in individual candleholders completed the arrangement. Napkins were printed with the names "Jo Ann and Mark." Guest register desk held a tall vase with three yellow roses and fern, and the coffee table was accented by small individually-tied net bags of rice, in a basket.

Registering for the reception were Pauline Sheets, Mrs. W. H. Graham Jr., Mrs. Don Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Phillips, Wilma Liner, Mrs. Willie Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sheriff, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. M. A. Snider, Mrs. Junior Snider and Kim;

Mrs. J. H. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vincent, Marilyn Edwards, G. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Stone, Major and Mrs. W. M. Sullivan, Lt. and Mrs. Robert H. McGee, Lt. Roger A. LaFond, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Anderson Jr., C. J. McDonald and Lou Falcon.

For her going away suit, Mrs. Liethen chose a fitted beige silk ensemble with a drape effect over the hips of the jacket. Her accessories were white and she wore a matching beige pillbox hat and a white orchid corsage.

The young couple left for a trip to Appleton, Wisconsin, to visit his family. They plan to be at home after May 20 in Clovis. The bride attended Farwell Schools and received her degree in commercial teaching from Texas Tech in Lubbock. For the past few months, she has been employed by her father at Shirley Grain in Farwell. The bridegroom, a pilot at Clovis AFB, received his high school education at Appleton, Wisconsin, and attended the University of Wisconsin in Madison, where he majored in chemistry, before entering the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Williams honored the wedding party with a pre-nuptial supper on Friday evening. Baked ham, beans, baked potato with sour cream dressing, hot rolls, coffee and German chocolate cake were on the menu. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Penny Anderson and David of Bovina, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hargrove, Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Williams, the honor guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Williams and Mark and Barry.

The Golden Circle class held its regular meeting on Monday evening of this week.

Rev. Morgan was guest speaker at the county-wide 4-H Club meet held Sunday afternoon at the church. His topic was "The Four H's" and he used home, happiness, hindrance and hope as the four main points of his talk.

Fifty men and boys were present at the annual father-son banquet sponsored by the Brotherhood Tuesday night at the church. Guest speaker for the program was Gordon Wicks, layman of the First Baptist Church of Clovis, who spoke on "Prayer."

Luther Pearce, R. L. Douglas Sr., and Sid Thomas of the local church, presented special music. Menu for the evening included barbeque, creamed potatoes, vegetable salad, relishes and assorted pie and cake.

Everyone attending reported that it was a truly inspirational meeting.

New Rates for Power Users

In the future, the rates on power used by Farwell commercial and industrial firms will undergo a change. Otis Huggins, manager of Southwestern Public Service Company in Farwell, and C. O. Green, Clovis, appeared before the local city commissioners last Friday, explaining the rate change. It is to go into effect May 22.

It is not a lowering of the rate for commercial and industrial users, Huggins says. However, it will mean about a 10 percent decrease to 71 Farwell users. The reason for the rate change is just to simplify the rate schedule which has been in effect in the past, the local manager points out.

In the past, there have been 25 different rates applying to various types of businesses and under the new setup it will be divided into only three general rates. He explains that for some it will mean a slight increase and for others a decrease.

"It just so happens that most of the Farwell users will receive a decrease," Huggins says. "Some local users have received an increase but for the 71 effected by the change, it averages a 10 percent decrease."

The change is being made all over the area by the public service company. The rates have been in effect in Texico for the past month.

go along, and people are like that. But I know of one tract of land in Fort Bend County that the sale of the producing interest on 1,000 acres brought $8,000,000 and that is about equal to all the deposits in all the banks of your county.

I have a plan whereby you can bring this prosperity to your county if its citizens will cooperate with me and trust me. It cannot be done overnight, but it can be done within five years.

Incidentally, "Fearless" Foerster, as he referred to himself in his campaign days, has dropped the title of Fearless. "I've abandoned that," he told us matter of factly, for "Crude Oil Foerster." (Please note that Crude Oil's initials are C. O.)

Well, to begin with, we're speechless. First off, we'd say, though, that it wouldn't be any picnic to get a block of leases in the county at this particular time, since some large companies have already been nosing around.

About two weeks ago Giles Williams leased a big block (think it was about 6,000 acres) north of Bovina and west of Friona.

Furthermore, we have no assurance—and don't know of anyone who does—that Foerster is all he claims to be. Such a proposition from anyone merits caution on the part of landowners.

If we understand Crude Oil's proposition, though, there wouldn't be much anybody could lose. The way promoters of his type operate is this:

He gets as many leases together as is possible—the more the better. Sometimes the landowners are paid money, sometimes the lease payments are delayed, and sometimes they lease their land for free for a short period of time, with the understanding that the leasee MUST arrange for a test within a specified time.

We suspect the latter would be what Foerster has in mind, though we don't actually know. The promoter will then take his block of leases and attempt to get someone "loaded" at that particular time to come in and drill. The man who does the actual drilling is the only man who ever puts up any money to speak of.

If he hits, everybody's happy. If he misses, everybody's sorry, but he's the only one who has lost money, usually.

Anyway, we'd like to know what some of our readers (preferably landowners) think about encouraging such a promoter. We got a letter this week from E. P. Harbison of Flint, Michigan, who is an absentee land owner. He says:

"I noticed in 'The Hopper' this week that you are going to contact Foerster in regard to a wildcat well. My brothers and sister and myself own 160 acres close to Bovina. We would certainly be glad to consider leasing for that purpose."

Perhaps others feel the same way. At least, we'd sure like to know.

No More Paving For Texico - At Least For Now

later date, the proportionate cost on the paving would be cheaper, paper work would be less, and the interest rate on the bonds would be lower than on a small project at the present time.

The commission plans to investigate several possibilities of selling bonds without acquiring liens. If this can be done, the city will go ahead with a project this summer, but the chances of doing so are somewhat remote.

Following the discussion on the paving the commission voted to use the present money in the bond fund to call six bonds on June 1. Nine $1,000 bonds have already been called paid off, making this calling $15,000 in all on the $68,000 project.

Other business for the Texico officials Monday night was of the routine nature. On hand for the meeting were Scotty Levins, mayor; Joe Helton, Judge Stone, Bud Peyton, and Olan Schlueter, commissioners; Earl Hartley, city attorney; and Juanita Autrey, city clerk.

Bills for the month of April included:

Cemetery Fund—Farmers Electric Coop, $4.45.
Water and Sewer Fund—Petty Cash, $9.75; Jones Brothers, $100; Jim Martinez, $2.50; Sam Lewis, $8.50; Precision Chemical Pump Co., $231; Mountain States Telephone Co., $3.35; and Farwell Waterworks, $11.66.

Farwell City Dads Have First Meeting

clerk is to contact Bill Sheehan, county attorney, concerning the filing of suits.

In most cases, the delinquent city taxes involve the same individuals who are also delinquent on county, state, and school taxes. If the county attorney does not file suits for all three tax-supported bodies, the city plans to take action on its own.

Gene Lovelace appeared before the commission and asked for the lowering of the assessment value on some of his personal and real property on First Street. Lovelace was of the opinion that the assessment was too high and the city acted in his favor. Lovelace's First Street lots were valued at $457 on the tax rolls and the commission lowered this to $200 each, to be in line with other vacant lots in town. The assessed valuation is half of the real valuation, making it $100 per acre. Personal property valuation reduction involved some Lovelace Grain and Storage property, including warehouses, scales, and office building.

Felix Winegeart was present at the meeting and asked the commission for permission to graze calves on some property at the Farwell dump grounds. In return for the grazing Winegeart offered to repair the fence around the grounds. The commission was to inspect the dump grounds and the fence before making a decision on this.

Due to many area residents making use of the dump grounds at undesignated times in the past, the fences have been torn down to gain access to the grounds.

The fence has been repaired several times, but of late it has been left down. The commission indicated that they will take steps to prosecute any violators of this city ordinance in the future.

It has previously been passed by the Farwell commission that the dump grounds be open to the public only on Saturday afternoons.

Also, discussed at the meeting was the proposed budget for the present fiscal year. It was decided to take no action until the third commissioner was present.

year award is made possible by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce. To be eligible for this, an athlete must be a senior, must have lettered in two sports and have an average of 85. He can't have less than 70 in any subject and he must have the proper attitude in and out of school, plus school spirit.

In selecting this award winner, a faculty committee nominates three and the names are turned over to the Chamber, who then selects the winner.

To be eligible for the W. M. Roberts scholastic award, an athlete must have lettered two years in football and have a high scholastic rating. He must at least have a B average in all subjects. This award was first given by Roberts, high school principal, in 1954-55.

The Jack Williams awards go to the outstanding football and basketball players. Selection of the winners is done by several nominations on the part of the lettermen each year, then the winners are picked by the superintendent, coaches, and one member of the faculty.

The players select four members of the football squad to be considered and in both girls and boys basketball, three players are nominated. The Smokey Cates award goes to the hardest blocker and tackler on the football team. The recipient is determined by the coaches. It was first presented in 1954-55 when Cates served as Steer head coach.

Local organizations which have already helped to make the trip possible for the Farwell students are the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Texico-Farwell Fire-boys, Farwell Woman's Club, and the inactive American Legion post.

Larry will be in Austin attending Boys State June 5-11 and Naomi will be in the state capitol June 10-19 participating in Girls State activities. The meeting for the boys will be on the University of Texas campus and the girls will meet at the Texas School for the Blind.

The main objective of Boys and Girls State is to educate the youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American Citizenship. The citizens of both Boys and Girls State organize their own city, county and state governments and then choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures.

They learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices and introduce and argue their own bills in a legislature. All the representatives "learn the principles of government by doing."

This past Tuesday, the Farwell nine went to Morton and once again took a pasting, this time by a 10-3 count. Carpenter was the losing pitcher, giving up eight hits. The Steers got only two hits.

Sam Lewis Tries 28 Cases In March

Twenty-eight cases were tried in Texico justice of peace court during April, reports Sam N. Lewis. All were found guilty of various charges and were fined from $10 to and including $50, plus court costs.

Breakdown of the cases tried shows violation of State Corporation Commission laws topped the list with 17. Others were overloaded 1; expired license plate 1; speeding 8; and overweight 1.

Also, one case was tried in police court during the month. A local man was fined $10 and costs for being in a drunken condition.

Weed Control Time Here For Farmers

Spring is here, rains have come and our enemies have begun to show up. The chief ones that everyone should be concerned about says County Agent Joe Jones, are the field bindweed and Johnson grass.

There are many ways to fight these and farmers report some success from all. For the bindweed a good soil sterilant properly applied seems to do the best job when infested areas are not too large. Some of the soil sterilants that have proven effective are sodium chlorate, 5 pounds per square rod; Atlacide, 7 pounds per square rod; Borascu, 30 pounds per square rod; Karmex W, 3/8 pound per square rod.

"Karmex W is one of the most potent of soil sterilants and may leave land sterile for long periods of time. You should border areas where this material is applied to prevent it from moving from where applied," says Jones.

The results obtained will depend a lot on how uniform the sterilant was applied and the amount of moisture in the soil. Where practical, bindweed areas should be bordered and 3 to 4 inches of water applied immediately following application. The soil should not be disturbed for at least one year. If no rain is received, another three to four inches of water should be applied to the area in about one month.

If applied to dryland it is a good idea to disc the sterilant into the top inch of soil to prevent its blowing away and breakdown from heat. All the above sterilants can be applied dry except Karmex W which should be applied as a spray.

"Don't forget that sodium chlorate and Atlacide are very flammable when they come in contact with organic matter. The safest way is to apply dry and don't get it on you. If it does get on shoes, clothing, or equipment, be sure to treat as if it were gasoline as it is very flammable," adds the agent.

JOHNSON GRASS

The same materials can be used to control Johnson grass but are used at a reduced rate. Also several other materials are good when applied properly. Naptha type oils, Dalpon and others have proven very effective.

BLUEWEED

Spraying the foliage of thrifty blueweed in the late bud stage at the Amarillo Experiment Station in June 1954 with one pound of 2,4-D ester in 40 gallons of water per acre reduced the stand 98 per cent by September 1955. Similar results were obtained from the use of one pound of 2,4-D ester and 6.4 pounds of Drest in 40 gallons of water per acre.

The same soil sterilants as are used on bindweed are also effective for blueweed.

OTHER METHODS

Because it is too expensive to eradicate large infestations of bindweed with soil sterilants, cheaper methods of control have been tested. These were intensive cultivation, the use of 2,4-D and cropping systems with competitive crops.

Perennial weeds, such as bindweed, are killed with cultivation by gradually depleting the food supply in the root system. Each time the weed grows after it has been cut off by cultivation, food material must be transported from the roots to the growing area near the soil surface. As a result, repeated cultivations cause a depletion of food reserves.

A sweep-type cultivator should be used to be certain that the plant tops are severed from the roots. With repeated sweep cultivations, crop residues are conserved and left on the soil surface, greatly reducing the hazard of wind and water erosion.

All cultivation in the experiment at Bushland were made at four inches, the most economical depth of cultivation. Weeds were cultivated every nine to 15 days after emergence throughout the growing season. This treatment gave 89 per cent control in three years.

The first cultivation in the spring was given between April 15 and May 1, when the bindweed runners were about four to six inches long. The last cultivation in the fall depended on moisture conditions and varied from September 24, 1952 (a dry year) to November 10, 1949 (a wet year). The number of days between cultivations varied with moisture conditions.

During wet periods, the weeds emerged in about four days after cultivation; during very dry times, the weeds required 30 or more days to reach the soil surface.

One-way plows, disc harrows, lister plows and rod weeder tend to cover weeds instead of cutting them off, and the root reserves of the plants are not reduced. Bindweed also escapes cultivation with a sweep plow if the shovels do not have enough overlap.

A practical approach for using an intensive cultivation program would be to cultivate every three weeks. If growing conditions are favorable, cultivations at intervals of two weeks will be required. However, if it is dry and the bindweed has not emerged in three weeks, cultivation should be delayed until after the weeds have emerged.

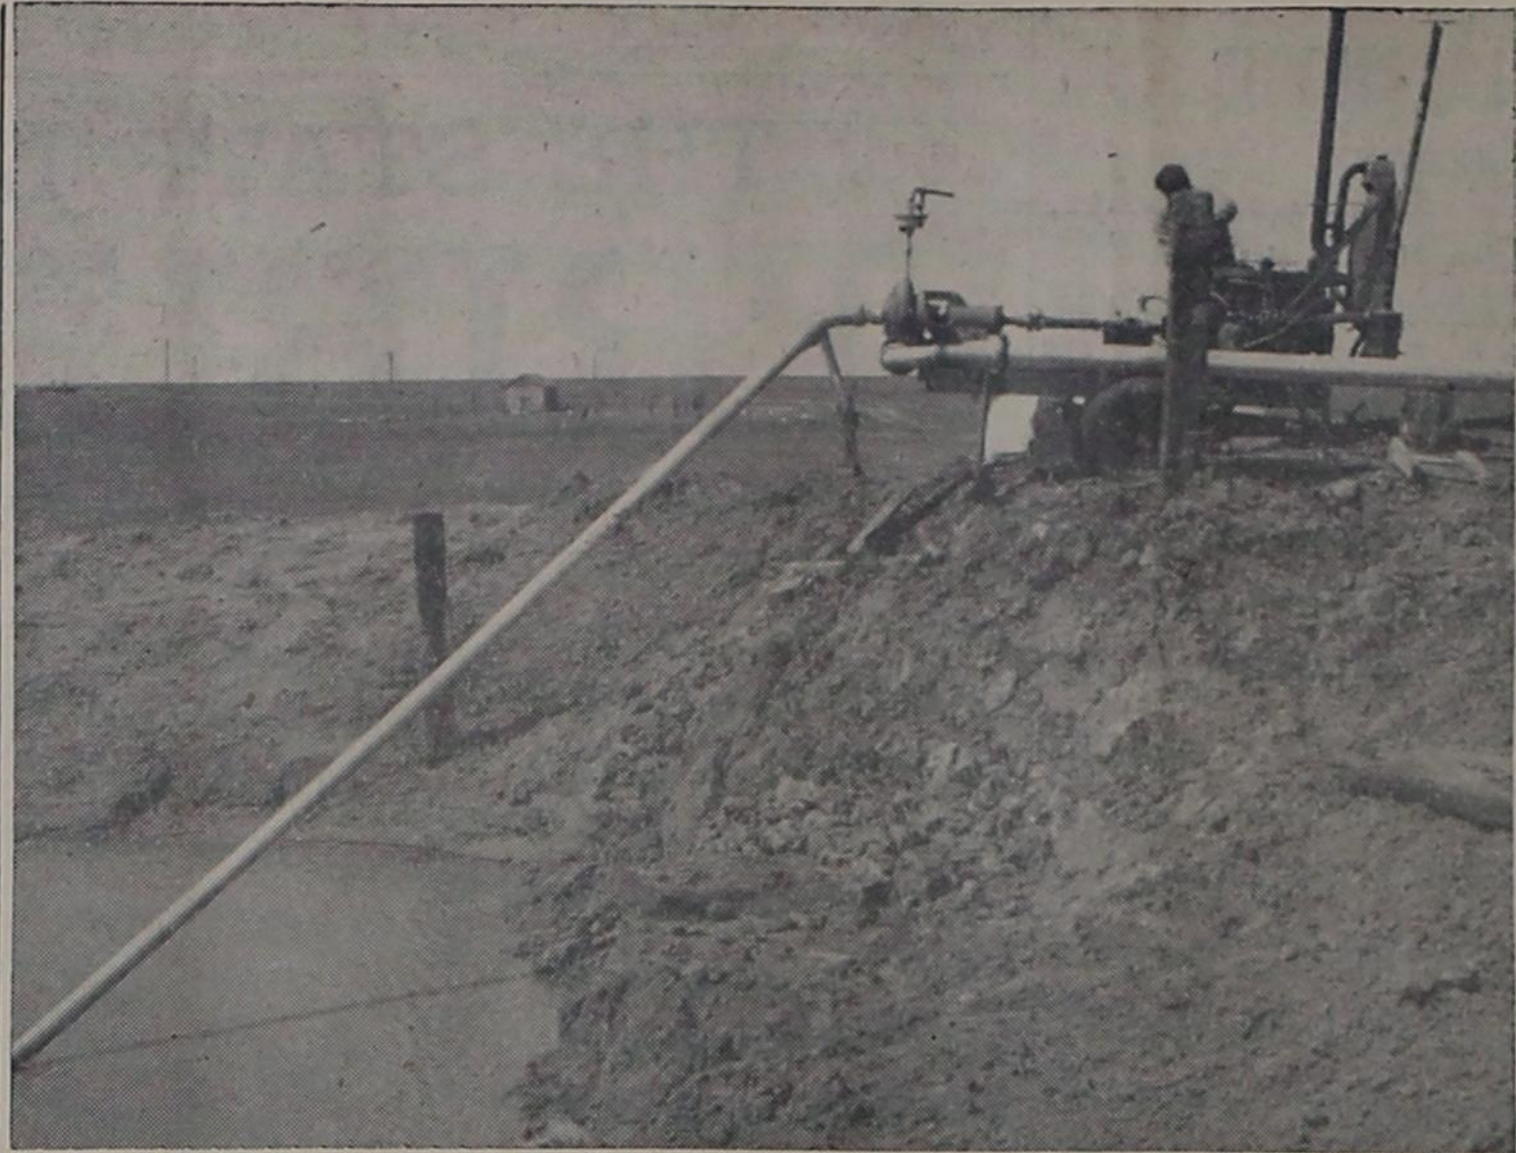

For cost-sharing assistance on field bindweed control on cropland, make prior application to the ASC office. Cost-sharing for bindweed control on crop land runs as follows: sodium chlorate, $6.50 cwt.; Atlacide, $6.50 cwt.; Polybor chlorate, $6.50 cwt.; Karmex W, $1.70 per lb.

For further information on cost sharing, check with the ASC office. For further information on weed control see your county agent.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

REA will celebrate its 22nd birthday this Saturday, May 11. David A. Hamil, administrator, who is a native Coloradoan, says he thinks the future is a bright one for REA. In a statement last week, Hamil said, "If I have any one hope for the future, it is that Farm Bureau members and REA users should do everything possible to keep service up and standards high for the future of farm-diameter were drilled at varying distances and directions from the test well in order to determine what, if any, effect the recharge might have in adjoining water bearing formations.

SAVING "TAIL WATER"—Surplus irrigation water, which runs off a sloping irrigated field to the east of this lake on the C. W. Dixon place southwest of Friona, is reclaimed. It is pumped by centrifugal pump to the irrigation ditch at the top of the field, and surface aluminum pipe speeds the job. This is a water collection basin at the edge of the lake. The suction pipe and the pump primer can be seen leading to the power unit.

The recharge water that was injected into the test well was treated with common salt so that it could be easily analyzed and identified wherever it turned up.

The tests at Amarillo indicated conclusively that the lateral movement of water returned to an irrigation well is very small indeed. That is, the water which was returned to the sands showed very little indication to "move away" from the injection site.

In fact, graphs prepared from the tests made it appear that water can be "stacked" under a well in the water-bearing formation as though the water were dominoes or some other firm-bodied material.

Thus, it would appear that Farmer Jones, for example, should not feel that it would be a waste of time for him to return water from a lake during winter-time to the sand under his farm through his irrigation well, for the often suspected reason that the water would, in a period of several months, move away through the sand and benefit Farmer Brown who lives one mile south-east.

The Amarillo tests proved that pumping a well for any length of time (such as an irrigation well) causes a cone-shaped depression in the water formation that disappears very slowly, and that recharge water will fill this depression and then "stack up" under the well like cordwood.

The Amarillo experimenters observed that they could inject the water in, then turn around a little later and pump the same water back out with no trouble. That is, it didn't run off.

They figure that water moving through the Ogallala has a speed of about 100 feet per year. It'd take a long time for Farmer Jones to help Farmer Brown at that rate!

ing and the future of their cooperatives." Hamil is a member of the Colorado Farm Bureau.

If you did not get to attend the cotton growers meeting in Bovina Monday night make it a point to attend the one at the Friona School Auditorium this Friday night. This is not a Farm Bureau meeting, but President Kaltwasser was called upon to send notices to members to attend the meeting, which he gladly did.

Asphalt coated cotton sacks have contributed seriously to down grading of cotton picked in them because of tar spotting from the coating in years past. In an effort to eliminate the use of these sacks, Kaltwasser has sent letters to vendors of cotton sacks in this county to refrain from offering asphalt coated sacks to their customers. Plastic dot, plastic coated or plain duck sacks are free from the contaminating tar.

Monday night, May 13, in the Friona study hall, a meeting will be held for the purpose of inaugurating a program of mosquito prevention. HD Agent Jimmie Lou Wainscott and her clubs are taking the initiative and asking all civic and farm organizations to participate. Farm Bureau will be represented.

Secretary of State Dulles, testifying against the House recommendation for a cut of some 19 million dollars for salaries and expenses, stated that this would necessitate a cut of about 700 employees in that department. According to our calculator, that would be a little over $27,000 per year for each employee. He complained that many of these people have had to work overtime without overtime pay. With equipment furnished by you, the taxpayer, we wonder how much we should add to the $27,000 for overtime past eight hours.

CONSIDER THIS: The lot is cast into the lap; but the whole disposing thereof is of the Lord.

Cotton Council Men To Be At Meeting

Three representatives of the National Cotton Council will attend another in a series of grower-meetings to be held in the Friona High School auditorium Friday night at 8.

The programs, sponsored by Parmer County ginners, are designed to acquaint producers with the problems facing the industry as a whole, and also with possible solutions to these problems.

One of the meetings was held in Bovina Monday night, and a story concerning the talks heard there appear elsewhere in the Farm and Home section.

One result of the tests that stood out, however, is deserving of special mention, we feel. The Amarillo tests were conducted under especially careful conditions, and many measurements on various phases of the recharge project were carefully maintained.

We've been reading what the Friona Star Editor has to say about teachers and their pay. We've also read the replies that he has received. We'd like to get in our two-bits worth, too. We are a firm believer in paying for what you get. We'd like to see good teachers get a pay increase and poor teachers get a salary cut. Seems to us that anybody that is paid by the government is encouraged to become mediocre, and that anybody who doesn't enjoy teaching for the money he receives should find another job.

The people around Bovina will soon have Aubrey Rhodes calling on them as a representative of the Parmer County Implement Company. Mr. Rhodes is a salesman for us and will appreciate your calling him when you need anything that is sold by the Parmer County Implement Company.

Long ago in Texas, a widow, to save her four small children from starving, took a cow that belonged to a ranchman. She was indicted for cow-theft: a grave offense. The woman told her sad story and the jury of chivalric sons of the West returned a verdict: "We, the jury, find that the defendant stole the cow but she stole it in self defense."

Cotton's Problems Discussed Monday

Cotton is being out-researched, out-priced, and out-promoted by aggressive competitors and it will take an all-out effort to meet the challenge.

In a special presentation, "Cotton's Problem, Program and Potential," staff members of National Cotton Council brought this conclusion in to sharp focus at a meeting in Bovina School Auditorium Monday night. Some 60 interested individuals were on hand to hear the program.

Council field service representatives, Earl Sears, Robert Love, and Dale Anderson, warned that despite a strong consumer preference for cotton's superior qualities, rivals are threatening from every side.

The plain facts, the speakers said, are these: Cotton's surplus is up, acreage has been cut, costs have risen, and profits are trending downward. Competition has increased a total of 21 million cotton bale equivalents since World War II. Synthetic fibers, domestic and foreign, have risen by some 8 million bales, paper by a million, and foreign cotton production has gone up 12 million bales. All these things make it urgent that cotton get competitive on a three-way basis of price, promotion, and research, the speakers said.

Regarding price, it was pointed out that cotton's position in relation to the newer synthetics is good, but, compared with rayon, cotton's major rival, it's poor.

Promotion-wise, the synthetic producers spend $20 million annually to sell their products, compared with less than $1 million a year spent by the raw cotton industry.

In this connection, the speakers noted that cotton's present and future sales promotion opportunities are unlimited. Using slides and other visual aids, they demonstrated how cotton can be effectively sold in those markets where personal preference and opinion are major sales influences.

A grave disparity exists on the research front, too, the speakers reported. Recognizing quality de-ciency as their basic weakness, the synthetics have been pouring $60 million a year (compared to cotton's $14 million) into research. This effort has resulted in the development of man-made fibers superior to cotton from the standpoint of strength, abrasion resistance, and color fastness, and fibers equal to cotton in absorbency, heat resistance, and water repellency.

Despite these disquieting factors, however, cotton has made giant strides and great opportunities exist for cotton to forge further ahead. For example, despite limited funds, the program of the National Cotton Council—the organization that represents the entire raw cotton industry—has paid off dramatically, the speakers said.

The Council's program has helped stimulate increased efficiency of production and processing. It has improved quality through research, and has spurred sales through hard-hitting advertising and promotion campaigns. With more production efficiency, more promotion, cotton can hold and steadily expand its market, the speakers emphasized.

In fact, they said, if cotton can merely hold on to its present share of the domestic and foreign market, the present trend can be reversed and a market for 15 million bales can be built in four or five years. And this can keep pointing upward to 17 million bales by 1965. This will come as demand for fiber products grow across the world, and under conditions of continued population growth and improved standards of living.

On the other hand, if consumption of cotton must be increased by but one per cent at home and by 20 per cent of the expected foreign textile consumption rise, then cotton can balloon its total market to over 17 million bales by 1960, and well over 20 million bales a year by 1965.

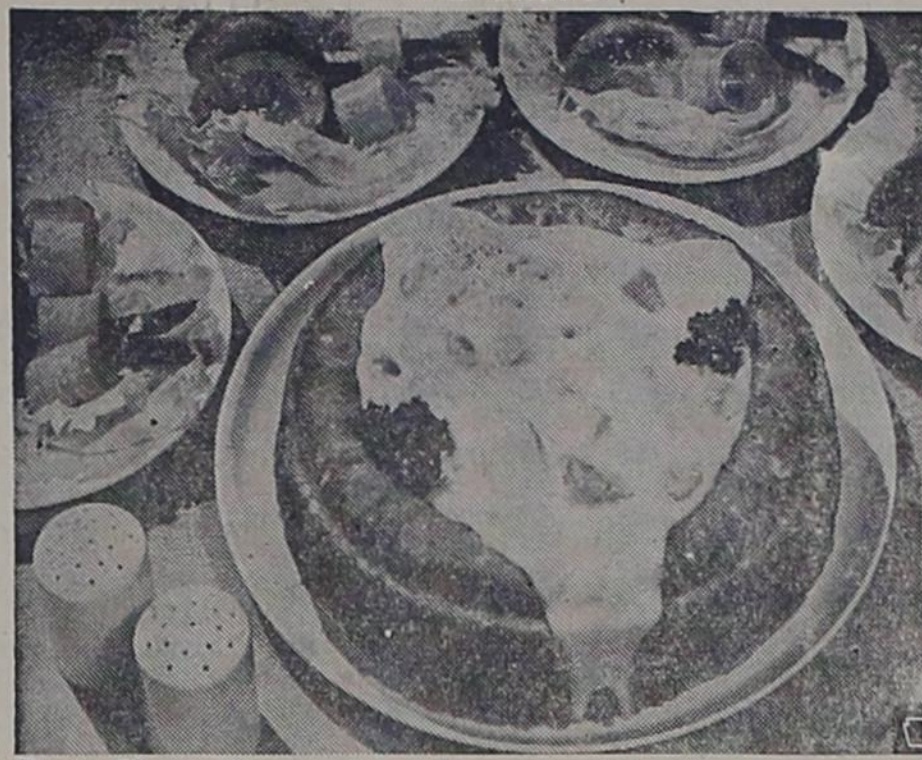

But in projecting these possibilities, the speakers again warned that cotton must at least partially overcome present disparities in promotion and research. If the powerful trend now working against cotton and for its competitors is not halted, domestic and foreign consumption will go down to 8 million bales a year by 1960 and will sink further to 7 million bales by 1965, they predicted.

The Monday meeting was one in a series being held across the nation's Cotton Belt designed to acquaint all those having a stake in cotton's future. It was sponsored by Parmer County ginners.

RABIES SERIOUS PROBLEM

Rabies is currently a serious problem in several sections of the state, reports Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian. Warm-blooded animals are susceptible to rabies and Dr. Patterson warns rural people to be on the lookout for strange-acting animals, particularly foxes, coyotes, skunks and civet cats. Pets coming in contact with suspicious domestic or wild animals should be given a booster shot even if already protected by a standard rabies shot.

CHEESE RING

Tasty Cheese Ring makes a fine main dish when teamed with a hearty ham 'n bean sauce.

Make tasteful use of leftover Easter ham by serving it with this flavorful Cheese Ring. Serve the ham in combination with lima beans in your favorite cream sauce.

The attractive ring is easy as can be to make. Put it together just as you would a batch of muffins, adding cheese to the dry ingredients. Bake it in a well-greased ring mold.

Serve Cheese Ring with piping hot creamed ham and beans and a fresh and colorful relish assortment—tomato wedges, carrot curls and green pepper strips. This is a good choice for luncheon or for a hurry-up supper.

When you bake this Cheese Ring and other muffin-type breads, too, be sure you use enriched flour. Enrichment adds thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and food iron to both your home-baked products and those you buy from the commercial baker.

Farmers Receive Payments

By adopting various conservation practices on their land, Parmer County farmers received $123,991.90 in government payments during 1956, according to a report released this week from the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

The practice which county farmers catered to most was the installation of concrete pipe to improve irrigation. The pipe was installed on 15,712 acres to conserve the water on 110 different farms. This practice took by far the largest percentage of the total payments, $110,175.85.

Second ranking practice in regard to dollars and cents was the control of bindweed. Forty-four farmers put this into effect on 81 farms and received a total payment of $5,556.75.

Cropland chiseling brought payments of $4,709.50 to 52 farmers on 9,419 acres. Other practices during the year included bench leveling, 216 acres on 10 farms, for payments totaling $2,967; summer legumes, 1,402 acres on 10 farms with payments being $482.80.

Installation of waterways on 10 acres of two farms had payments of $220. Also, winter legumes on 100 acres, of three farms brought payments of $150.

As early as 1890, when special schools for nurses were unknown to Japan, the Japanese Red Cross Society pioneered. Since then, a total of over 45,000 nurses have been trained and today the Red Cross society has 4,500 active graduate nurses serving in 95 Red Cross hospitals.

Wheat Referendum Set For June 20

June 20 has been set as the date for the 1958 wheat referendum. On that date, wheat farmers from all over the nation will go to the polls and give their approval or disapproval to quotas on next year's wheat crop.

If quotas are approved, the national average price support for commercial areas will be $1.78 per bushel, 75 percent of the estimated March 15 transitional parity of $2.37, says Prentice Mills, county ASC manager. This compares with the national average of $2 per bushel in 1956.

If quotas are disapproved in the referendum, the price support would be 50 percent of parity.

The national allotment has been set at 55 million acres, the same as 1957. The allotment for Parmer County has not yet been announced, according to Mills.

Skeeter Meeting Monday Night

The rising threat of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) in the area has prompted a special mosquito control meeting to be Monday night in the Friona High School. It is sponsored by the Parmer County Home Demonstration Council.

Dr. Paul Spring, county health officer, will explain the situation that faces area residents, and will have recommendations to make. Since several cases of encephalitis were diagnosed in the area last year, it is anticipated that interest in the subject will be high. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

Valid Well Permits Offered by District

On May 1 the district office of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District began issuing certificates of valid water well permits.

"A situation has developed lately which we think requires some protection for purchasers of land or mortgagees advancing money on land on the strength of existing wells," says Tom McFarland, district manager. "For example, suppose a land owner drilled a well in violation of the district rules and before appropriate action could be taken to close the well, the violator either sold or mortgaged the land. This would give the district the unpleasant task of proceeding against the party who was misled."

The district, to prevent the occurrence of this situation and prevent a cloud on the land title, will begin issuing certificates to abstractors and attorneys to show what permits have been granted on a particular tract of land. The interested parties may then determine whether the wells are at the correct location as specified on the well permits.

The district is perfecting its records so it can furnish certificates on permits on wells drilled after February of 1953. This service has been requested many times by people in the legal and abstracting professions.

It is planned to charge $1.00 for each permit certificate.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

In checking the soil temperature the first part of the week, we found that the temperature is gradually rising. The temperature at 9 a. m. was an even 60 degrees F. It still is not warm enough to put cotton in although it would probably germinate. The soil temperature should be around 70 degrees F. for best results with cotton.

Now that planting season is nearly here, farmers should think of keeping their farm land productive. One practice that is a step in the right direction of keeping land productive is interplanting cowpeas with grain sorghum. This is a summer legume crop which will add nitrogen to the soil when inoculated, thus making more available for next year's crop.

Cowpeas can be interplanted with grain sorghum with a special attachment for this purpose. They should be planted at the rate of 4-8 pounds per acre, at a depth of 1.5-2.5 inches. Attention should be given to the variety planted as some varieties such as Babban tend to cling to and climb the feed stalks. Babban should be used in feeds planted for silage.

Due to the rains, the SCS office is again behind with its work. However, the rain is certainly welcome. We have noticed that the wheat is coming right along with the exception of where the green bugs have hit just recently. We have talked with several people who have already planted cotton; and many more who have said that they are ready to get that seed in the ground. SCS personnel have been running a few ditch lines, but certainly not as many as a month ago, and we are still checking irrigation pipelines.

The Friona SCS work unit has been presented with two USDA Safety awards for 1956—for the prevention of disabling injuries to personnel, and for the prevention of motor vehicle accidents. The work unit is in the process of checking the slope of land on many fields throughout the county. We are trying to work out the most economical methods for applying irrigation water to the soil. For instance the length of runs, amount of water applied per acre in accordance with its needs, etc. We want to conserve as much of the water as is possible; especially cutting down the large amount of tail water that is flowing down the bar ditches to the lakes.

Mr. Businessman, advertising puts your products on display right in the homes of the prospective customers.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

Leading fashion magazine editors predict that the big fashion news for spring and summer is white. It may be a dress, coat, duster, jacket, shoes, hat, or accessories, but the important touch in any well dressed woman's wardrobe is the touch of white.

If you are one of the many women who feel that a touch of white is just what you need, you might like to concentrate on small jackets, capelets, frothy white jewelry, hats, or gloves. The jackets, capelets, and gloves could be of washable material so that it would be easy to keep them fresh for each wearing. Many of these items can be worn with different dresses and make good change offs.

A topping for coffee cake, gingerbread, or spice cake can be quickly and easily made by arranging thin slices of apple on top of the batter then sprinkling with sugar and cinnamon before baking.

There is a new pressing cloth on the market which should be a "must" in every home. The pressing cloth, which has just recently been introduced, is a "see through it" cloth, and can be used with both steam and dry irons. However, if it is used with a dry iron, a little dampening is necessary. The transparency of the cloth makes intricate pressing such as pleats, tucks, darts, binding seams and areas around trimmings and embroidery as easy as simple ironing operations.

Each cloth is chemically processed to prevent the passage of water directly through the fabric being pressed. It also can be used over and over, and is perfect on all types of fabrics. Any homemaker who sews would enjoy having any kind of material.

When pressing seams, ordinary wrapping paper inserted in strips under either side of darts and seams will prevent ridges on the right side of the garment.

Lime Jello makes such a colorful dessert and there are many different ways to use it in salads. Two recipes which are different and yet easy to prepare are Lime-Grapefruit Salad, and Chocolate Topped Lime Cream.

For the lime-grapefruit salad, you will need 2 packages lime flavored gelatine, 3 cups boiling water, 1 20 ounce can spiced grapes, 1 cup liquid from the grapes, 2 fresh grapefruit, and some honey cream dressing.

Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Drain grapes, adding 1 cup of the liquid to gelatine mixture. Chill until gelatine is consistency of unbeaten egg white. Peel grapefruit and separate into segments, removing all white portion and membrane. Pour 1/2 cup chilled gelatine in cold-water-rinsed 2-quart mold.

Arrange grapefruit segments; combine with remaining gelatine mixture and drained grapes. Spoon over gelatine in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with additional spiced grapes, if desired. Serve with honey-cream dressing.

To make this dressing, whip 1 package cream cheese and 1 tablespoon honey together until light and fluffy. Blend in 3/4 cup whipped cream.

For the chocolate-topped lime cream, dissolve 1 package lime-flavored gelatine in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Stir in 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel. Chill until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white, then beat until light and fluffy. Fold in one cup whipped cream. Sprinkle 1/2 cup chocolate wafer crumbs evenly over bottom of buttered 8x8x2-inch pan. Cover crumbs evenly with gelatine mixture. Top with remaining crumbs and chill several hours or overnight. May be garnished with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

New Growers May Apply For Wheat Acreage

Farmers on land which no wheat was seeded for grain for any of the years, 1955, 1956, and 1957, may now apply for a 1958 wheat acreage allotment, says Joe Magness, chairman of the Parmer County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

In order to be considered for an allotment the farmer must apply in writing to his county ASC committee by July 31, 1957, Magness says. Blank application forms are available at the county ASC office for use in filing these requests.
