

The Counter Attack.

Again, and upon a larger scale than before American troops have proved their fighting quality. America is very proud of this. It is not necessary for us to forget the tried fortitude and magnificent valor of our allies or to lose sight of the fact that our forces are as yet a lesser factor in the great struggle in order to feel a just and deep satisfaction in what our men are showing. They could have no greater honor than the praise of the men who won at the Marne and flung back the foe on the Yser, at Ypres, at Verdun. If our British, French, and Italian allies approve we need no further assurance that our men are soldiers of the best.

We at home send them our heartfelt gratitude. We wish they could hear our cheers. They are bringing new honors to the old flag, glorious upon the battlefields of a century and more, sacred in the blood of patriot fathers. Our faith in them is firm, our love and admiration without bounds.

As for the military estimate of the counter attack so brilliantly initiated, it is too early to hazard opinions. It would be well, however, for the American public to restrain its expectations. So far as disclosed the operations appear to be merely an effective counter blow to relieve the pressure on the Reims flank and perhaps to exploit the possibilities of a surprise and turning movement which may result in a German retreat from the Marne. The strategy is obvious.

The most hopeful fact is that Gen. Foch now feels able to assume the offensive under promising conditions for the first time since the beginning of the German advance on the Somme March 21. It is premature to expect a general allied offensive and we must still await a heavy counter blow, which British expert opinion seems to look for on the British front. However, the failure of the Austrian offensive on the Paive and the German attack of last week, with the initial success of the Franco-American counter attack, give good ground for hope that the west front is safe and the tide turned. We ought to avoid an impatient expectation of speedy and decisive results. There is

The Man Behind The Monocle.

(From the Toronto Globe.) Many local newspapers throughout the United States are daily publishing copies of home letters received from boys at the front who went from the communities these papers serve. The experience of the Sammys in the trenches and on the fighting fields is yet comparatively new, and they write their impressions with a freshness and frankness that make them most interesting.

Our young American cousins and allies are encountering many an eye opener. One confession repeatedly characterizes their home letters; new and somewhat amazed admiration for the young British officer—"the man behind the monocle," as one young Texan expresses it. Young America met the man with the monocle on the stage. It saw in him, as Lieut. Macquarrie writes in his "How to Live at the Front," an "Algy" very smartly turned out and rather pleased with himself. It treated him with amused tolerance and contempt.

But at the front the Sammy is getting closer to the man behind the monocle. He finds him to be a quiet, self-possessed, unostentatious hero. He has located him in the midst of danger, in the face of certain death, steadying his men with courageous words, talking in the same perfectly modulated tone, calm, detached, and unafraid. The man behind the monocle is a new man to his American comrade.

"These fellows are no joke," writes young Private Don Lyon, a Kansas soldier, to his mother. "Three months ago I would have had a good laugh over them, all dolled up and wearing monocles. But you can't beat them. They never quit. They don't know what fear is. Say, mother dear, I never knew courage was so common."

in all probability a long and costly trial ahead. But confident as we are of ultimate victory, we may now also feel that the clouds are visibly lightening.

WHICH ARE YOU?
There are two kinds of people on earth today—Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood
The good are half bad and the bad are half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health;
Not the humble and proud, for, in life's little span
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man;
Not the happy and sad, for the swift flying years
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No! The two kinds of people on earth that I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.
And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I mean
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In what class are you? Are you easing the load
Of over-taxed lifters who toil down the road?
Or are you a leaner who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

Former Camp Kearney

Men Are In Action. Camp Kearney, San Diego, Calif., July 23.—Men from this camp, whom it was announced several days ago, had arrived in France, have been in action, officers said here today. Their statement, they said, was based upon notifications to relatives that some of the men had been wounded. No casualty list so far has indicated men from Camp Kearney have been in action.

Pending publication of casualty lists containing the names of the Camp Kearney men, reported wounded, details were withheld. Officers pointed out, however, that the men sent to France had been highly trained, some of them having been in virtually continuous service for two years.

The Pinto Bean Victory.

To the people of New Mexico who have not been in close touch with efforts to growers and food administration officials to introduce the pinto bean throughout the country the announcement made at the county administrator's conference Sunday came as a surprise. It came as a welcome and gratifying surprise.

The pinto bean industry is important to the state as well as to the nation. There are vast areas suitable to bean production which if used for other purposes would fall short in returns to the people. With an organization perfected for the sale and handling of the colored beans such as the growers and food officials are working out, and which will at the same time stabilize the price and standardize the industry, a new source of wealth to New Mexico will have been provided.

Mr. Hoover has told the housewives of America that the New Mexico pinto bean is as wholesome and contains as much nourishment as any other variety. It is pretty generally understood now that the black eye given the New Mexico commodity in the beginning was a deliberate plan by growers of other varieties in other parts of the country to discredit a competitor for their own profit.

The New Mexico pinto has beaten the Michigan white bean on its home grounds. There is no reason why its popularity should not continue to spread throughout the country.

The action of the food administration in organizing the growers with the purpose of producing cleaner and better grades is the first logical step in that

After the call July 26, which comprises 28 men, and the call of August 5, which is for 50 men, but 22 men will remain in Class 1-A of the original registration. The reclassification which took place Tuesday when the local board accomplished this task, has placed several registrants back in Class 1-A, who were at first given deferred classification. Subsequent calls will now fall as a responsibility of the newly registered men, of whom there are about 67 registered in this county.

Fifty Men Are Called To Entrain Here August 5.

The local board received advice Tuesday morning of a call of fifty registered men, who are slated to entrain on August 5, or within the five-day period thereafter. It is not known where these men will be sent, but presumably to one of the Texas cantonments.

Every patriotic citizen sympathizes with Col. Roosevelt because of the loss of his son, Quentin, who was killed on the battlefields of France. The nation at times disagrees with the Colonel politically and has voiced its sentiment rather forcibly in this respect, but no one can doubt his patriotism or the patriotism of his noble sons, all of whom are on the battle front.

Luther Temple and wife arrived Thursday morning from Yuma, Arizona. Luther is in the draft age and expects to go into training about August 5th.

Splendid Rains That Came Rushing "Over the Top."

After a week of manoeuvring and camouflaging by the liquid elements of the sky, Monday evening after a terrific electric barage, the clouds came rushing over the cap-rock from three directions—and the Texico area was enfiladed in a pocket or salient by a down pour variously estimated in the different sectors at from 3 to 6 inches of liquid precipitation.

It was the greatest rain, say old-timers, that has fallen in this plains country in eleven years. It has put season in the soil to insure the growing of feed crops; it has turned the carpet of this area from somber to green—and this grass means fat cattle to start into winter.

No longer do tourists and others chase mirages across this section—but every depression is a lake of real water, covering from an acre to 100 acres and from a foot deep to 20 feet in depth. It is the most beautiful sight imaginable now on these plains.

One of the common pleasure recreations for the city folk now is swimming parties. Autos packed with girls and boys in bathing suits are evening visitors to Newton Lake on the State line half mile north, which is 5 or 6 feet deep; the Hunter Lake southwest, which is 15 to 30 feet deep. In fact, great natatoriums in all directions.

Pershing Praises Wounded Men In Hospital.

Paris, July 24—"Your country is proud of you and I am more than proud to command such men as you. You have fought splendidly."

General Pershing thus addressed wounded American soldiers lying in the American Red Cross hospitals in Paris today. In each ward of every hospital he talked to the men. He inquired if they were being well cared for, how and where they were wounded, what regiments they belonged to, and expressed his sympathy to scores of the patients.

General Pershing also talked to the physicians, surgeons and nurses and thanked them for the work they were doing in caring for the wounded.

"No one can ask more of any fighting force than that they should do as well as you have done," he said to his troops.

The General added that he wished he could talk personally with each and every man in the hospital, but this was impossible. So he asked Major Perkins to repeat his message and say to each individual man: "The American people are proud of you."

ALLIED VICTORY.

Soissons, Chateau Thierry and Rheims form the points of a triangle with the Marne and Vesle Rivers as two sides and the railroad from Thierry to Soissons forming the third side. These sides are perhaps thirty miles in length. The American soldiers are pressing in on the west side between Thierry and Soissons; the French are across the Marne on the south side between Thierry and Rheims.

The Germans have about 300,000 men in this triangle and this army is depending on one line of railroad for supplies and ammunition.

The latest reports indicate that the "nut-cracker" is pinching very hard on the Huns and the capture of the crown Prince's army has already taken place or is impending.

The German loss in the past ten days is estimated at 200,000 men and 600 guns besides vast stores of supplies.

The real significance of the past week's fighting is in the fact that it puts an end to any serious danger from a great German offensive.

More About Flying.

One morning in June a squadron flying officer of the royal British air force in France was due to leave for England before lunch. Heavy clouds and rain seemed to forbid a last blow at the enemy, but after breakfast the weather cleared, and at 9:40 the machine left the aerodrome.

Eighteen minutes after the officer met five enemy scouts and a two-seater. He promptly shot down two scouts—crashed—and the pilots of two others so lost their heads that their machines collided and both smashed in mid-air. Then the airman attacked the two-seater, thus destroying five out of the six enemy machines.

Returning to his aerodrome the officer took an early luncheon and left for England just before noon.

Nursing The Nickel.

Comic artists have gone out of the way to make sport of fellows who are not free with their money.

They call them "nickel nurses."

The "good fellow" spendthrift is given a niche several degrees higher than that upon which they place the "nickel nurser."

In real life, it doesn't work out that way. Usually the nickel "nurser" has money when that proverbial rainy day rolls round. He owns his home. He educates his children. He has something laid by for Liberty Loan and Thrift Stamp investments. It is seldom that a nickel nurser's widow has to take in washing to support the children after their daddy has passed away.

If it were not for the man who is as "loose as ashes" with his money, orphan asylums would have many vacant rooms.

He Told The Truth.

The Prussian house of lords has expelled Prince Lichnowsky because he dared tell the truth about Germany's part in instigating the war. The Prussians with all their precise logic, with all their rationalizing about the necessity of expanding Germany's borders through force, are nevertheless still somewhat sensitive when the direct accusation is made that they started the war for purposes of territorial conquest. That is in effect what Prince Lichnowsky charged, and he, if any one, was in a position to know the facts.

Great Shortage In Autos Soon.

It requires 750,000 new cars yearly to replace the ones worn out and thrown into the scrap heap. The reduction in steel and coal cuts the annual output to 500,000. In other words, the country will be 250,000 short of the present number of cars very soon. Auto manufacturers are keenly alive to what this means as soon as the war restrictions are taken off.

American Prisoners In Germany.

Only those who have read the names of their own men under the awful word "missing" can appreciate to the fullest the work of the American Red Cross Bureau of Communication. If the Red Cross searchers find that the man has not been killed, but is a prisoner in the hands of the enemy, his family is notified of the name of his prison camp as soon as possible. Letters may be sent to him if these directions are followed: The address should give the name of the man, his number and rank (if any), his regiment and company, and the German prison camp in which he is held. On the upper right hand corner must appear the words "American Prisoner of War, Post Free." On the lower left-hand corner must appear the words "via New York." These letters should then be mailed in the usual way. In New York they are turned over to the National Censorship Board. Each letter should be written on one side only and not more than two sheets of paper. No mention should be made of the war or government matters. Money may be sent to prisoners only through the Bureau of American Prisoners' Relief, American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. Checks, drafts or postal orders drawn to the order of the American Red Cross and sent to this bureau will be forwarded weekly through the International Red Cross.

The American Red Cross sends two 10-pound parcels of food per week from Berne, Switzerland, to the American prisoners, enough to keep the prisoners in good health; these parcels also contain tobacco and soap. Relatives of prisoners wanting to send packages should consult a United States postmaster concerning the Post Office Department's special rules for such parcel-post packages, or may address War Service Editor, McCall's Magazine, 236-250 West 37th Street, New York City.

Saving for Service

WHEN the war began The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company was ready to render instant service to the Government. It at once, on its own initiative, made the needs of the Government paramount, giving them precedence over general economic requirements, and adopted a policy of strict conservation of all its resources.

To meet all the wartime telephone needs of our territory the Mountain States System has restricted to war purposes new construction and the limited supply of material and labor, as far as possible without impairing the general service. Every bit of plant equipment has been utilized and new methods of handling traffic devised.

Each telephone user is an essential part of the system upon whose cooperation the conservation of its resources and the maintenance of good service depend.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company was incorporated September 28, 1917, under the laws of New Mexico. Authorized capital is Ten Million Dollars. Fully paid and non-assessable. Par value One Dollar and is sold at Two Dollars per share.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company now has more than Fifteen Hundred Stockholders living in ten states. Experienced automobile people say we have made more progress in these seven months than any other automobile company has ever made in the first year of its existence.

This Company occupies its own three story brick office building. This structure is modern in every detail and is said to be one of the most complete office buildings in the state of New Mexico.

Our temporary assembling plant in the East is producing the Cannon Ball Four-38 model successfully. Six of these cars are now used by our salesmen in their work. Within the next thirty days we are promised the Cannon Ball Masterpiece Six-60, the "Star of the Highway."

When the first unit of our factory is completed this Eastern organization will be transferred to Texico ready to begin the construction of cars at home.

SUCCESS CERTAIN.

The success of the Cannon Ball Motor Company is assured for the following reasons:

The manufacturing of automobiles is a very profitable business. The Automobile Industry ranks third in volume of business but the net earnings far exceed any other industry. The demand for automobiles is constantly increasing. This means the business is permanent and its future assured. The big profits of other companies were made in the automobile alone. The Cannon Ball Motor Company will manufacture Trucks and Tractors in addition to automobiles. This makes its earning power three times as great.

The location of the manufacturing plant at Texico on the state line between the great States of Texas and New Mexico gives unusual freight rate advantages. Our raw materials and markets are within easy reach. The saving on freight alone means good dividends.

The character and business ability of the men who manage the Cannon Ball Motor Company is the best assurance of its continued success. These men are leaders in their respective fields of endeavor. Their combined experience and united efforts contributed to the management of this company is the best evidence that the business is being conducted in an efficient manner.

SERVICE.

The plan of organization of the Cannon Ball Motor Company from the assembling of the capital to the distribution and selling of its manufactured products is unique in the history of industrial developments. This plan has the approval of the leading experts who are intimately acquainted with this line of business.

Service is the key note in the Cannon Ball organization. The county is the unit for distribution. The County Distributor will carry a complete line of all necessary parts for our machines. In other words each county, where our organization has been perfected, will have a supply house properly equipped for the repair of our cars and machines.

No long waits for repairs and vexatious delays in securing the parts from a factory a thousand miles away. No need of wiring to the central agency for something needed. Everything necessary is within a few miles distance and can be obtained in a short time. Our expert mechanic thoroughly trained in our factory is right there in your county-seat town ready to serve you at once.

Service is the one distinct thing that usually makes one organization superior to another. All automobiles are made from certain parts now pretty well standardized but there is a vast difference in the service these companies render.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company will rank among the first in the service it is preparing to render its patrons.

The automobile business has grown to gigantic proportions. A few years ago there were One Hundred Thousand cars in use. Today there are Four Million Five Hundred Thousand. No man dares estimate what the next ten years will bring in this wonderful industry. The demand for Trucks is many times the supply. The day is near at hand when the Tractor industry will assume gigantic proportions.

PRUDENT MAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company is engaged in a business that is permanently profitable at unusually favorable location under the management of men who have been pre-eminently successful in their respective fields of business experience.

More fortunes, large and small, have been quickly made in automobile stock than in any other commercial success in the history of America—these fortunes were made by people who bought early in the new producing companies.

The Cannon Ball Motor Company is young and full of ambition; its plans are carefully laid along sound lines. Right here is a rare opportunity for a safe and profitable investment.

The prudent man will investigate Cannon Ball Motor stock with a mind open to the possibilities of an investment that may bring him financial independence.

Touching On Preparation.

Dashing Americans Brought

Terror To German Prisoners.

Paris, July—"The finest thing of the combat was the dash of the Americans," writes Lieutenant Entraygus, the special correspondent at the front for the Temps, in describing the opening of the great counter-offensive. "It was a fine thing to see those grand fellows, with their tunics thrown off and their shirt sleeves rolled up above their elbows, wading the rivers with the water to their shoulders and throwing themselves on the Boche like bulldogs."

"Anyone who has seen such a sight," he goes on, "knows what the American Army is good for henceforth and to the end of the war. At the sight of these men, magnificent in their youth, physical force, good temper and dash, the Germans fled 'with every leg' or surrendered without awaiting the order to throw away their arms and take off their suspenders, which is the first thing a prisoner is told to do in order that he may be compelled to keep his hands employed and out of mischief."

"The Germans hurried toward our lines gripping their trousers, haggard and mad with terror."
"Would that every mother in France who has lost a son in the war could have seen that epic sight. They would have seen themselves revenged and it would have been some consolation to them in their sorrow."

McCoy-McElroy.

The beautiful suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. McElroy was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday afternoon when they gave in marriage their daughter, Lois, to Homer McCoy, a volunteer in the Texas cavalry. To the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Garland McCoy, the young couple were met at the double colonnades of the receiving suite by Reverend Thurston who united their lives in a brief but impressive ceremony.

The bride looked sweet and girlish in a pretty white lace frock, bound with a beaded girdle. And the groom looked every inch the man we would have our American soldiers be.

The marriage coming as a surprise to the family, only a few of their many friends were present to wish them all joy and that the parting so soon to come would be of brief duration.

A pleasant hour followed in which a number of old love songs were sung.

Dad Proficient As Instructor.

(From Harper's Magazine.)

When father came home to dinner he observed a vacant chair at the table.

"Where's the boy?" he asked, nodding to the chair.

"Harry is upstairs," came in a tone of painful precision from the mother.

"I hope he is not sick." There was an anxious pause.

"No, he is not sick," continued the mother. "It grieves me to say, Richard, that our son, your son, has been heard swearing on the street. I heard him myself."

"Swearing!" exclaimed the father. "I'll teach him to swear!"

And with that the angry parent started upstairs in the dark. Halfway up he stumbled and came down with his chin on the top step.

When the confusion had subsided Harry's mother was heard saying from the hallway:

"That will do, Richard, dear. You have given him enough for one lesson."

In The Home Trenches.

We imagine the male population of the United States can reconcile itself patriotically to most prohibitions and rationing, eat wheat substitutes, wear wool substitutes, do without booze, get along without beer, give up beefsteaks, take one lump or none, take money to the coat dealer in a scuttle and bring the coal home in the pocket, go to bed at 8:30 to save light, etc., etc., but when it is intimated that the needs of smokers in France will bring a tobacco ration in the United States there is a most uncomfortable feeling that the war is most uncomfortably NOT 3,000 miles away.

If the fellows in France need the tobacco they shall have it if every male inhabitant in the United States has to go around chewing gential root or nails or gum. But the male population of the United States will be certain of one thing: When a tobacco ration is necessary in the United States the trenches have come right up where the clothes-line used to hang.

How The 1917 Crop Of Pintos Was Handled.

In checking up our records of the 1917 crop of Pinto Beans handled by the U. S. Food Administration after March 1st, we have the following figures which we believe are interesting and of value to you:

1. Total amount of beans contracted by Colorado growers, 31,671,172 lbs.
2. Total amount of beans shipped from Colorado, 46,766-500 lbs.
3. Total amount of beans contracted by New Mexico growers, 5,462,557 lbs.
4. Total amount of beans shipped from New Mexico, 9-174,300 lbs.
5. Total amount of beans contracted by Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, and Texas growers, 862,829 lbs.
6. Total amount of beans shipped from Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Texas, and Oklahoma, 1,027,000 lbs.
7. Total amount of beans contracted by entire territory, 37,996,558 lbs.
8. Total amount of beans shipped from entire territory, 56,967,800 lbs.

In most counties there were more beans delivered to the Food Administration than were contracted by the growers on account of many growers delivering beans direct to shippers without signing a contract.

Beans have been shipped to the following points:

Los Angeles, 1 car; Eau Claire, Wis., 2 cars; Elyria, Ohio 2 cars; Marshalltown, Iowa, 9 cars; Baltimore, 15 cars; Cincinnati, 25 cars; Kansas City 44 cars; Philadelphia, 50 cars; Indianapolis, 52 cars; Albion, N. Y., 54 cars; Boston, 76 cars; St. Louis, 117 cars; New York City, 150 cars; Chicago, 154 cars.

We are advised that the large shipments to the various eastern cities mentioned above are being distributed generally throught the entire eastern territory, especially in the New England States. We have shipped 13 carloads direct to the canners. All reports from the canners who have used Pinto beans are very satisfactory. The canning trade should be a good market for the Pinto bean in the future. Just recently two straight cargoes of Pintos were sent abroad.
