"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF PARMER COUNTY"

NUMBER 40

SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR

25 CENTS

This week President Reagan paid a visit to Ireland, the home of his ancestors. As far as we are concerned, from a diplomatic standpoint, better he should have stayed at home. We really cannot think of a good reason why the United States has to carry any favor with that part of the world.

Our recollections, stretching back over quite a few years, tell us that Ireland has not been too friendly a ground for United States' interests. In fact, we recall that this country came quite close to being a thorn in the side of the Allies in WWI and a doubtful friend in WWII. The main goal of the Irish seems to have been to do anything that would embarrass the British and anybody who was their friend.

While they apparently gave us President Reagan, they are also responsible for Tip O'Neill, so we will just call that a draw. Tip would have been better received by the ban the bombers, and assorted peace-nicks, that harassed Reagan's visit.

It does lead to a little reflection. The various groups protesting Reagan's policies were there because tens of thousands of their betters fought and died on the beaches of Normandy during D-Day.

June 6th commemorated the 40th anniversary of the Allied invasion of the continent to rid the world of Adolph Hitler and his vile ilk. Had not the people of the United States responded to this global challenge to freedom with their utmost effort, there would not be such demonstrations anywhere, anyplace, anytime.

Freedom, all through the ages, has been bought with the blood of dedicated patriots. It is something that must be purchased with sacrifice on a re-occurring basis. Today it is under attack by the most savage, well armed, and dedicated cabal the world has ever seen.

It amazes and disgusts us to see the wide assortment of people so eager to throw themselves, and the rest of the world, into the communist Moloch.

In the Texas Democratic primary runoff election, Lloyd Doggett has been declared the winner over Kent Hance by 466 votes. This is less than two votes per county in Texas. Further boiled down, it is less than a single vote in each voting precinct. One vote does count, and all those who stayed away from the polls should realize this fact of political life.

If this count stands up under a canvass of the votes, it means that the fall Senatorial election will be fought on a liberal vs conservative basis.

This runoff also proves the value of the rural vote. The votes of the country cousins put Hance in the lead in the first election and came within an eyelash of winning it all for him. Don Richards in the 19th Congressional District race also depended on, and won, with the rural vote.

Hopefully, politicians will get the message of rural voting power. On the other hand, the boondocks must respond with a large percentage of voters or all future political races will be fought and won in the big city precincts.

We cannot think of a single more significant way for small communities to ensure their fair share of political rights than to stage massive get-out-the-vote campaigns. Chambers of Commerce, civic clubs, church organizations, farm organizations, etc., need to join hands in every election and get out the vote.

If we don't, the big city bosses will stick in their thumbs and pull out the political plums, and the rest of us will get the pits.

$500 For Community Center

Friends of Bluegrass, area musical group, last week donated $500 to the City of Farwell, designated for the Farwell Community Center building fund. Doyle Green, left, vice-president of the group, makes the presentation of the check to Fred Chandler, Farwell city councilman. Chandler is also a member of Friends of Bluegrass. The donation was made possible from the proceeds of the Benefit Jamboree held last month by the Bluegrass "pickers" at the Center.

Friends Of Bluegrass Donate $500 To Center

The area Friends of Bluegrass recently held a Benefit Jamboree at Farwell Community Center, with the proceeds of the benefit designated to the building fund of the Center. The evening festivities brought in $500, which the group donated last week to the City of Farwell for the Center building fund.

Two groups provided entertainment that evening, the "Every Other Thursday Night Farwell Community Center Pickers" and the "Curry County Chip Flippers."

Members of the Every Other Thursday Night band include Phill and Connie Elliott of Texico, and Brian Vinning, A.M. Perry, Wesley Perry, and Herb Mayfield of Clovis.

Members of the Curry County Chip Flippers are Jim Elliott, Clayton Elliott, Bob Macafoo, and Rob Macafoo, all of Clovis.

Approximately 60 persons were in attendance for the benefit concert, enjoying the music and the fun. During the course of the evening, a fiddle that the group gave away netted $250, admission charge netted $180, and donations totaled $73, making the $500 donation possible.

Friends of Bluegrass meets every Thursday night in the community center where they have a jam session. Several of the 97 members of the club attend and enjoy pickin'. Local pickers are Doyle Green, Connie and Phill Elliott, Joe Hughes, and Fred Chandler.

The group's weekly picking session was to be held this Thursday evening at Farwell City Park. According to Doyle Green, vice-president of Friends of Bluegrass, the association is planning to hold as many of their sessions outdoors during the summer as possible.

Green added that Friends of Bluegrass is for everyone's enjoyment and they welcome participation from anyone, whether it be to pick and play, make coffee, or just enjoy the music. All are welcome, he said.

Membership dues are $10 a year per family, said Green, but you don't have to be a member to come and enjoy the fun.

Two Important Changes - -

Plans Progressing For Big Celebration

Plans for the 1984 Border Town Days celebration which is scheduled for July 27 and 28 in the Twin Cities are beginning to take shape, due largely to the efforts of the LTD Committee. Nineteen members of the committee met for the third planning session of the year Monday night at the Spur restaurant.

The community event is planned each year in conjunction with the High Plains Junior Rodeo, which will be sponsored again this year by the JCCAs, even though the organization has currently disbanded. The rodeo will take place two nights, July 27 and 28, unless a large amount of rodeo entries force the event to go three nights as it has on occasion in the past.

Changes in two major contests will take place this year:

In the LTD Queen Contest, a talent performance by the contestants will not be required. The contestants will still be judged on their personality as well as poise by out-of-town judges at a noon luncheon and one other planned event. They will be introduced in the gazebo during the park activities Saturday afternoon, but will not perform a talent.

In the Beard Contest, anyone with a beard may enter. Contestants will not be required to be clean shaven on a certain date, so all you whiskered gents may enter even if your beard is full grown or on its way. Ridley Lonsdale at Red's Barber Shop in Farwell is ready to sign up contestants, and early entries are urged.

The annual LTD parade on Saturday, July 28, will begin at 11 a.m. CDT, sponsored as usual by the Texico-Farwell Lions Club. Weldon Smith is parade marshal. Parade entries must be signed up in order to be eligible for the many prizes. To sign up, call the State Line Tribune, 481-3681, to assure a place in the lineup.

Theme for this year's event is "Holidays on Parade" and committee members urge clubs, businesses, and other groups to enter a float in the LTD parade using this theme.

The annual barbecue, sponsored again by the Texico-Farwell Rotary Club, will be served in Farwell City Park following the parade, and serving will continue until everyone is served. One change that will not take place is the price of the meal. It will be the same as last year; $3.00 per plate for adults and $1.50 for children under 12, drink included.

The two local sororities, Alpha Rho Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and Theta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, will be in charge of coordinating the park concessions. Groups interested in having a booth for the sale of wares or concessions should contact Altha Herington at 481-9351, Pam Smith at 481-3231, or Cynthia Thigpen at the Parmer County Extension office, 481-3619. Cost of the booth space this year is $7.50.

No commercial booths or individuals will be allowed in the park area with resale items. The booth spaces are available only to area civic or non-profit groups.

The Arts and Crafts show will be set up on the front lawn of the courthouse, and spaces are available at $10 a booth. Spaces may be reserved by calling Janie Bowery at 481-3620 days or 481-9251 nights.

ESA Sorority will sponsor games for the kiddoes in the park Saturday afternoon.

Another highlight during the park activities will be the Merchants Promotion where many prizes will be given away. LTD Committee members, Anne Cooper, Pam Smith, and Gladys Hardage, were appointed to assist Benny Haney, local merchant, with the promotion.

To climax the activities will be the Texico Volunteer Fire Department's promotion. To be given away will be 1984 GMC Sierra half-ton pickup valued at $14,000, a 19-inch color TV, 1/2 beef cut and wrapped, and other prizes. Donations are $20 each, and proceeds will go to help the department purchase a new Brush truck.

Many attractions are still in the planning stages, but the committee promises entertainment for all ages.

Members present at Monday night's meeting were Martin and Frances Kube, Joel White, Martin Chandler, Bryan Kube, Orie and Peggy Jones, Gladys Hardage, Maurine Caywood, Curtis and Pam Smith, Anne Cooper, Altha Herington, Ruth Anne Bennett, Sam Drager, Janie Bowery, Sharon Menning, and John and Joann Getz.

Next meeting of the LTD Committee will be July 2 at 8 p.m. CDT at the Spur restaurant.

Border Town Days Prize

This 1984 GMC Sierra Classic pickup will belong to some lucky person during the Border Town Days celebration on July 28. Martin Kube of the Texico Volunteer Fire Department shows off the grand prize. The fire department will also give away a half of cut and wrapped beef, as well as a 19-inch color television set during the Saturday afternoon park festivities.

Twin Cities merchants are also contributing many prizes to encourage all local and area residents to attend the annual Texico-Farwell celebration and rodeo.

Not Good Enough - -

Excellent Voter Turnout In Parmer County Runoff

A total of 1096 Parmer County voters who went to the polls in the Primary runoff elections Saturday was termed an excellent turnout for a runoff.

Even though the voter turnout was only 27.3 percent of the registered voters, it beat the 15 percent average voter turnout in previous runoffs, according to Bonnie Warren, county clerk.

But it was not enough to put Kent Hance in the U.S. Senate seat. He lost in the Democratic runoff to Lloyd Doggett by only 467 statewide votes. Parmer County with its 4010 registered voters could have easily made up the difference. Hance will probably call for a vote recount.

Parmer County, out of step with the rest of the state, overwhelmingly chose Hance with 1022 votes to only 24 for Doggett.

In the runoff for U.S. Representative, District 19, Don Richards won the district-wide race over Tom Richards. Parmer County gave Don Richards 704 votes to 308 votes for Tom Richards.

Parmer also went along with the rest of the state in the runoff for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 2, giving W.C. Bill Davis 505 votes to 246 for Roy E. Greenwood; and for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 3, Bill White won over Thomas B. Thorpe, 519 votes to 239 in Parmer County.

In the Republican runoff election for U.S. Representative, District 19, Larry Combest easily won over Ron Fleming, with 40 Parmer votes to only 5 for Fleming. Combest also won in the district.

In the runoff for Parmer County Republican Chairman, Martin Kube won with 28 votes over Steve Struve with 13 votes.

Rotary Club To Sponsor Youth Exchange Student

Texico-Farwell Rotary Club will sponsor a student in the Rotary International Youth Exchange Student Program this fall, and will in fact, be bringing the student here to live in Farwell.

The student which the club recently selected is Franka Bungarten of Krefeld, Germany. Franka is 17 years old, and has just finished her seventh year of high school. Students in Krefeld attend high school for ten years altogether before graduating and going on to college. Currently there are 957 students enrolled in her school.

Franka's father is Dr. Johannes Bungarten, headmaster of the high school gymnasium. Her mother is Waltraud Elisabeth Bungarten, an architect. Franka has four sisters; Paul, age 12, Gisela, 15, Anna, 19, and Nina, 21.

An above average student in school, Franka can speak several different languages fluently, thanks to three years of Latin, seven years of English, four years of French, and one year of Greek, which were taught at her school. She is a class representative, and enjoys participating in sports three times a week, and Bible circle once a week. Her favorite sports are gymnastics and handball, both of which she says she plays quite well.

Following graduation from high school, Franka hopes to attend college and get her degree, enabling her to teach mentally disabled children. She is currently working with handicapped children in her community.

In deciding to sponsor an exchange student, the local Rotarians wrote to the district coordinator of the youth exchange program requesting several applications. The Rotary Club then selected a committee who in turn selected Franka. With the club's approval, Franka was invited to spend the year here.

Before she arrives, however, a lot of preparation will go into making her stay a success. Her parents, for example, will need to arrange for her transportation, passport and visa. They will also need to make sure she has appropriate clothing for her stay here, as well as her spending money.

Franka herself will be getting ready by attending an orientation, along with her parents, which her own Rotary Club will set up to insure that she understands fully the rules of the program. The orientation will also prepare her for her visit here and acquaint her with the cusoms of this country and this community.

Texico-Farwell Rotarians will be busy making preparations for her stay. They are currently searching for two families for Franka to live with. The club hopes that by dividing her time spent in Farwell between two families, the experience of leaving won't be as traumatic as if she had spent the entire year with just one family.

The local Rotarians will also be making preparations for her education, at Farwell High School, such as paying her fees and seeing to it that she is in the right grade level for her education. They will also be setting up a monthly allowance for her to help with her expense in attending various school and community activities, and buying her school lunch tickets.

In spite of all this necessary preparation, both the Rotarians and Franka are looking forward to her trip. They have already been corresponding. On her application sent to the Rotary club, Franka said that during her stay in our country she would like to improve the relationship between our two countries. She said that she would very much like to get to know our country and its people, speak the language fluently, and understand the political aspects of the relationship between the two nations.

In a recent letter to the Rotarians, she added, "I think that this year with you will be a neat and special experience, which will help me to manage difficulties in my future life. You don't know how excited I already am! Lots of Love, Franka."

Clovis Pioneer Days Celebration Underway

The Pioneer Days celebration is in full swing in Clovis this week, having officially begun with the crowning of Miss Pioneer Days and Miss Pioneer Days Rodeo queens last Friday night.

The annual Chili Cook Off took place last Saturday, with the Farwell Side Winders chili team winning the third place showmanship award. Members of the team are Ted Magness, Walter Hughes, and Barthell Ford.

Highlight of the celebration is the Pioneer Days Rodeo which was to have gotten underway Thursday evening at 8 p.m. MDT, and will continue Friday and Saturday nights.

At daybreak the mornings of June 9 and 10, Saturday and Sunday, the Pioneer Days 5th annual Balloon Fiesta will be launched at 21st and Thomas streets. State Senator Caleb Chandler will serve as balloonmeister.

Traffic will be directed at each corner of the launch grounds, and visitors will not be permitted to enter south on Thomas Street.

Saturday morning, the annual Pioneer Days parade is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. MDT. It will form at the Hilltop Plaza and continue the length of Main Street. Clovis Chamber of Commerce has reported that Mickey Mouse will be in the parade, and will be available to talk to the kiddoes before and after the parade.

Other events on Saturday include the Friends of the Library book sale to be held in the lobby of the Lyceum Theater beginning at 8 a.m.; the annual 4-H Barbecue immediately following the parade on the courthouse lawn; and the fiddler's contest sponsored by the Curry County Fiddlers and Music Association scheduled at 1:30 MDT in the Lyceum Theater.

These are only a few of the activities that will take place this weekend. For more information or a complete list of all the scheduled events, contact the Clovis Chamber of Commerce, 763-3435.

Emergency Farm Loan

Applications Being Accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by 1983 adverse weather conditions are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Farwell, FmHA county supervisor Billy R. Boling said.

Farmer County is one of 67 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the drought.

Boling said farmers may be eligible for loans up to 80 percent of their actual losses, or the operating loan needed to continue in business, or $500,000, whichever is less.

For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate on the first $100,000 borrowed is 5 percent; interest rate is 8 percent on the balance borrowed over that amount.

For farmers who can obtain commercial credit but who choose to borrow from FmHA, the interest rate is 13.75 percent.

As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan, Boling said. Farmers participating in the PIK or federal crop insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until December 4, 1984, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly carry over into the new farming season, Boling said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens, and to farming partnerships, corporations, or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FmHA office in Farwell is open from 9:00 to 5:00 Monday through Friday.

Vitamin C Linked To Dental Problems

People who munch on chewable vitamin C tablets to ward off the common cold could be damaging their teeth, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

The ascorbic acid in vitamin C has long been associated with dental erosion, says Mary K. Sweeten. Vitamin C syrup which clings to the teeth is not recommended for this reason.

Until recently, vitamin C tablets were not thought to be related to dental erosion. But the marketing of chewable vitamin C tablets containing mega-dose levels may present dental health problems, says the specialist.

A recent American Dental

Association report indicated that the acidic level of three 500-milligram chewable vitamin C tablets, when dissolved in distilled water, is about equal to that of stomach acid. While saliva has a certain buffering effect, it can provide only limited protection when there is daily direct contact between ascorbic acid and teeth.

If you are using chewable vitamin C tablets regularly, check with a dentist for any sign of a dental problem, advises Sweeten.

Sun Fuels Car Hazards For Children

The Texas Medical Association (TMA) has issued a warning urging parents to be careful when leaving children in cars this summer because even a pleasantly warm day can heat a car's interior enough to burn children or cause heat stroke.

Heat stroke is a major risk to a child in a car, the Texas Medical Association says, although anything from fire to kidnapping can occur. Children never should be left in a car when an adult is running even a very short errand because the adult could be delayed long enough for problems to occur.

One study showed that temperature inside a car rose to about 110 degrees Fahrenheit after only 15 minutes in the sun. The temperature outside was 83 degrees and the car windows were open about two inches. The temperature rose above 100 degrees with the front windows rolled halfway down, the study in a 1976 issue of Pediatrics magazine showed.

Such conditions could be very uncomfortable even for an adult. Children are much more sensitive to heat and serious effects can occur more quickly. A 16-month-old boy suffered brain damage after staying in a closed car for 30 minutes; a slightly older child died after spending an hour in a car with the back windows down.

Parking in the shade and rolling all windows down completely can lower temperatures but may be impractical. The best advice is not to leave the child at all.

Another hazard to children is hot vinyl, plastic, or metal in a car interior. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says that when the temperature outside is only 79 degrees, black vinyl in a closed car can heat up to 192 degrees, which is hot enough to blister and burn a child's delicate skin.

Hot metal or plastic in a car interior may be uncomfortable to an adult's thicker skin, but small children can be injured by the same materials unless a light-colored blanket or towel covers the seat securely. An adult who is going to be out of the car awhile should cover vinyl car seats of any color in case seats get too hot while the adult is gone.

Farwell Council Meets For Special Session

If all goes well, say city officials, the grant will be approved and the city will receive financial aid in installing a new sewage system.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Walter Kaltwasser, councilmen Jerry Monk and Fred Chandler, and city clerk Janie Bowery.

Osteoporosis Concerns Women
Recent publicity about osteoporosis has left many women with questions about calcium in their diets.

Osteoporosis is a degenerative disease that involves an abnormal loss of bone tissue. It's a serious problem because it has been linked to more than 200,000 hip fractures suffered by older women each year.

Most experts agree that it is normal for women past age 35 to begin losing some bone at a very slow rate, but osteoporosis speeds up that loss. After years of bone loss, an older woman may develop "dowager's hump" or have a reduction in height.

According to health and nutrition specialists with Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service, certain groups of women are thought to be more at risk of developing osteoporosis. These include:

- *Women with calcium deficient diets.
- *Thin women, especially those of small stature.
- *Women who smoke cigarettes, do not exercise, or drink alcohol to excess.
- *Caucasian women.
- *Any woman with a history of osteoporosis in her family.
- *Women who have never been pregnant.

Some of these factors obviously cannot be controlled. But most women can do something about their diet, exercise, smoking, and drinking habits that might prevent or slow osteoporosis, says the home economist.

It's important that women make sure they are getting enough calcium. The average calcium intake for most women over 25 is 500 milligrams a day. Yet the recommended daily allowance is 800 milligrams, and some researchers suggest that this should be increased to 1,200 to 1,500 milligrams after menopause.

Drinking three 8-ounce glasses of milk each day would provide the equivalent of 1,500 milligrams of calcium.

You can also get equivalent amounts of calcium from eating a variety of dairy products, including yogurt or cheese. Leafy green vegetables, canned sardines, and kidney beans are also good sources of calcium, she advises.

If you are worried about weight gain, select from among the many low-fat or non-fat dairy products on the market.

Exercise is equally important since reduced physical activity can hasten bone loss. Almost any form of exercise, and especially walking, can help. Healthy women should exercise regularly and as vigorously as possible to maintain their bone mass.

Once osteoporosis is diagnosed, a physician may treat the disease in several ways. These include increasing calcium and vitamin D intake, recommending an exercise program, or prescribing certain drugs.

Any woman who thinks she has osteoporosis should, of course, consult her doctor.

Hopefully, more women will make sure they are getting a nutritious diet, including plenty of calcium-rich foods and enough exercise so this will be less of a health problem in the future.

The average person can distinguish about 150 different colors; while someone with an expert eye can pick out more than 100,000 hues.

Walter, Meet Walter

Farwell Mayor Walter Kaltwasser was recently introduced to another Walter, a 14-year-old Nazareth donkey who travels with Mrs. Jennifer Roy, an advocate of this country's disabled veterans. Mrs. Roy is currently walking across the United States, from California to Washington, D.C., in hopes of raising money for New Life Camp, a camp especially designed so that veterans may enjoy the out-of-doors. Mayor Kaltwasser met Mrs. Roy and Walter upon their arrival in the Twin Cities. The Neil Stewarts of Farwell, who were also among the greeters, offered lodging to the travelers for the night.

California Grandmother Walks For Disabled Vets

by Leigh Ann Woods

Jennifer Roy and Walter are on their way to see the President. Not by car, not by plane, not by train. By foot.

Mrs. Roy is a 59-year-old grandmother from Lone Pine, Calif., who is very well-known there for her work and support of the disabled veterans.

Walter is the 14-year-old Nazareth donkey and friend who is pulling a covered wagon which houses her supplies for the journey.

Currently they are traveling across the country in an effort to raise money for Mrs. Roy's latest project, the New Life Camp. New Life Camp is an outdoor camp designed and set up especially so that disabled veterans will be able to enjoy the out of doors.

Mrs. Roy and Walter left Lone Pine on November 8, 1983, and have since traveled across Death Valley, through the back country of Nevada, and across Arizona and New Mexico. It is this journey that brought them through our Twin Cities recently.

The pair was a few miles outside of Texico when Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stewart spotted her and decided to make a donation for the camp. Upon visiting with her, the Stewarts offered her lodging in their home for the night. Walter was to enjoy the privilege of the back yard.

As word of Mrs. Roy's journey and her cause spread through the community, people began to watch for her arrival. She was even joined on her walk into the Twin Cities by the Stewarts' daughter, Sharla, and Mrs. Walter Kaltwasser.

It was very late when the group arrived in town, because of the number of people who stopped to offer donations. Upon her arrival, she was welcomed into town by Farwell's Mayor Walter Kaltwasser, who especially enjoyed meeting his namesake.

Mrs. Roy said Walter, the donkey, liked the town right away, and that when she unhitched him, he did seven rolls across the Stewarts' back lawn in approval. "I always tell him he's worth a hundred dollars a roll," commented Mrs. Roy, "so last night, he was worth $700."

Although Mrs. Roy's visit was such a short one, we did get a chance to visit with her the next morning and learn more about her trip and the reasons behind it. "I was inspired by the Lord," said Mrs. Roy. "He asked me to make the journey to see the President and commend him on his Christian values and views in running this country."

"I especially want to commend President Reagan for his support of the 'prayer in public schools' issue, and thank him for his support in proclaiming 1983 the year of the Bible. That's why I chose to begin my journey in 1983, it was the year of the Bible."

When she arrives in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Roy plans on presenting President Reagan with a scroll signed by people she has met along the way who support a President "who is getting us back to basics."

On discussing the other purpose for her journey, the New Life Camp, Mrs. Roy said, "I am making this trip to raise money for my camp. I chose the covered wagon because I admire the spirit of the pioneer women. I chose to walk on behalf of all the veterans in this country who can't...those who paid such a high price for our freedom."

"We always remember those who fought and won the freedom which our country now enjoys," she said, "but I don't want us to ever forget about those veterans who are alive today who have fought to keep that freedom. They are special."

Mrs. Roy and Walter hope to arrive in Washington by the end of the summer. They try to walk approximately 20 miles a day, and when they are not offered lodging in a town, they enjoy sleeping outdoors. So far, she says, they have not encountered any dangerous situations or problems.

"The Lord is my wagon master. And he will see to it that we are taken care of."

The first matches had to be dipped in acid before they would light.
