War on Drugs totally lost

Back in February, President Reagan announced at a meeting that the U.S. was winning the War on Drugs.

Last week, a major drug lord was convicted by a Florida jury and can draw up to 150 years in prison.

My comment: we're losing the War on Drugs.

What really gets my goat is what I am hearing from all the political candidates: to a man, they all oppose drugs and say "we must do more."

Well, whoopee. I like candidates who take controversial stands. I bet they all favor apple pie and motherhood, too.

It's not important to me to hear a candidate say he's "the general in the fight against dope." What is important is what he is going to do about it. And that's what I'm not hearing.

Using the Coast Guard to intercept drug shipments is so funny it's almost laughable. All these "crackdowns" on the Mexican border fall into the same category.

Let's forget all those blazing headlines about "Big Shipment of Drugs Found" and "$80 million Worth of Heroin Discovered", etc. Let's talk facts, not publicity.

The fact is that more drugs are coming into the U.S. than ever before. And what's even worse is that more are grown or made in our own country than ever before. I'm not sure if this statistic is correct, but I believe that marijuana now ranks as one of the top three cash crops in states like Oklahoma, Oregon and Washington.

I wonder if they can use the Coast Guard in Oklahoma?

And of the drugs entering the U.S. from Latin and South America and Asia, it's usually not by boat. It comes overland from Mexico or by air.

I wonder if they can use the Coast Guard in Chihuahua?

What I have read about drugs like crack is really frightening. You're talking of getting addicted for a drug that costs as little as $3 (although the price from the dealer skyrockets after you are quickly hooked). It may not be prevalent in rural areas like ours, but when Jamaican gangs set up headquarters in small cities like Charleston, W. Va., that tells me it's an epidemic.

And once a person is addicted, you are looking for the crime rate to increase rapidly. And a further breakdown of society.

Longtime readers may recall that I wrote awhile back that I didn't worry about the Russians being our main threat; it was drugs. We would fall from within, like the Roman Empire decayed before the onslaught of the Goths. My opinion is the same. Heck, the Russkis don't need to invade us, they just need to sit back and watch us destroy ourselves.

When you hear these politicians on TV emphasize the need for a War on Drugs, wait for them to add on what it should be fought. You'll probably hear a commercial instead.

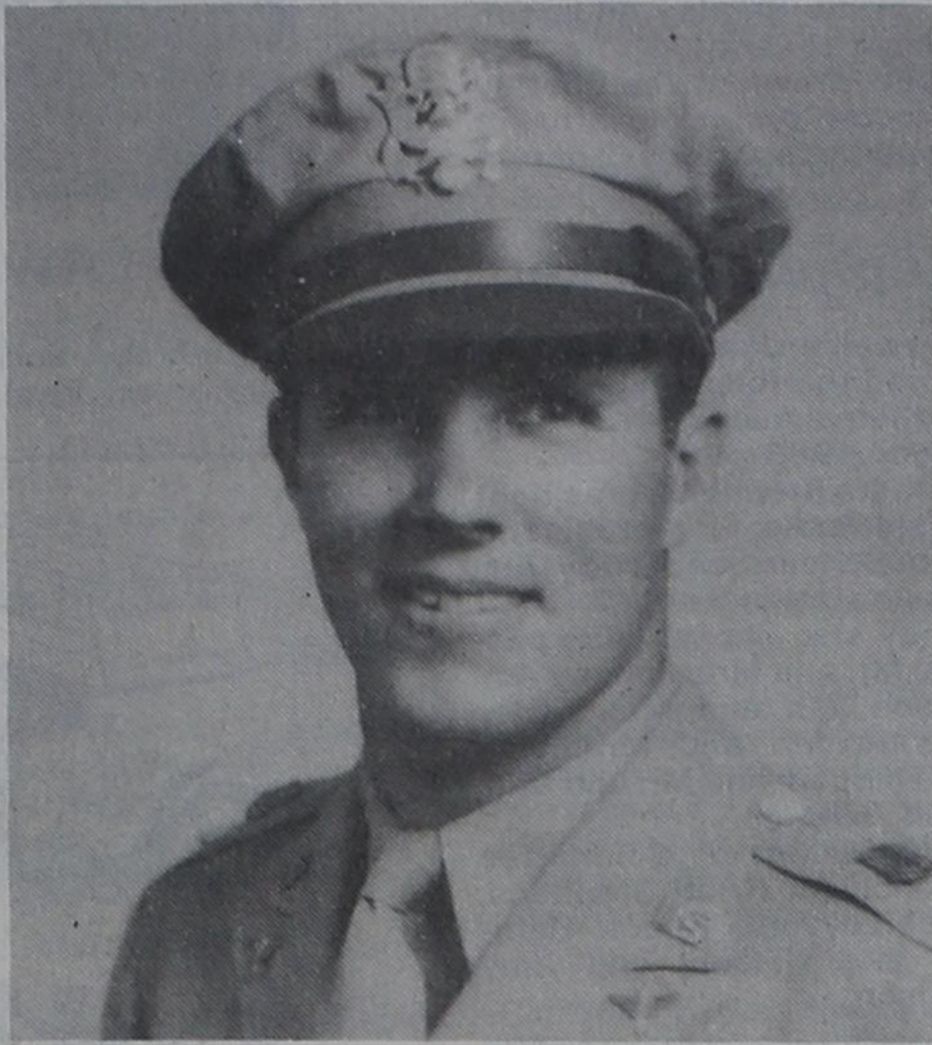

No, folks, the Coast Guard isn't the answer. Nor are more prisons or police.

Oh, yes, there are those who say the way to win this war is to provide more hope for the folks who get hooked, most of whom are low-income.

Well, we discovered in President Johnson's War on Poverty that throwing money at poor folks just doesn't work. That's sad, but it's a fact. We have to understand that there is a constant under-class in our society - just as there always has been.

When folks have little hope or expectations about moving up to the middle class, it's easy for them to turn to drugs. If drugs are available, they'll be taken. And public education has been around a

Joe Helton

From tractors to bombers

Joe Helton was attending West Texas State when the Army Air Corps started taking volunteers in 1940 before the start of World War II. (There was no Air Force in those days.)

He met the requirements by having two years of college and passing the physical. Helton joined up because he wanted to learn to fly.

"Before the war I flew a John Deere tractor in a wheat field," he jokes.

Helton took his training in an AT6A single engine trainer. He got his wings near Sacramento, Calif.

Then he was sent to the navigation training school in San Marcos, Texas, for navigators on bombers.

Welcome center site acquired

Charles Wade, a real estate agent from Clovis who is an outreach aide of state Sen. Caleb Chandler, announced at Tuesday's Texico City Council meeting that the state has purchased 4 acres for a New Mexico Welcome Center near Texico.

He said 4.09 acres of the E.C. Clifton Campground site, a mile west of the Port of Entry, has been bought and that the welcome center should be built this year. It will have information on New Mexico for persons coming from the east.

Wade also discussed increasing the space for the new Port of Entry to be built. He said the state has acquired 10 acres next to the present site at the west end of Texico for a new building. The current one is outdated and an eyesore, he said.

He said the state also wants a site on the south side of the highway and bought 2 acres at the mill site, but it isn't enough room.

Wade suggested that four parcels of land be acquired - those housing the J.J.'s Mobile Home Sales and parcels to its west. If this were done, Wade said, it would help clean up the area and also solve the problem of trucks taking 21st Street to avoid the current Port of Entry. He noted the problem of heavy trucks passing by Texico Schools.

Wade said that Texico now shines better than Farwell and people have been commenting on it.

Wade told the council, "I talked to Sen. Chandler and he feels that if you will write letters to the state highway commission, it might help."

The council voted to do so. In other business, the council discussed the proposed City Hall project.

Warren Pendleton, the architect, wasn't able to be present but had left a note asking if the council wanted to include the senior citizens in the new building plans, and if any special rooms, storage, etc., were to be included.

The council, in general discussion, suggested separate offices for the clerk, marshal and judge; a shop area with an office for the water superintendent; a foyer; a separate meeting room; a multipurpose room for community events; and a kitchen.

The council was unanimous in agreeing that the senior citizens meeting room should be part of a new metal building.

Councilman Steve Chancy said that it would mean maintaining two facilities if the current senior citizens center were left out of a new City Hall.

It was noted that a state grant had been received on the present center, which has 3 years left on it. But it was felt this wouldn't be a drawback to current plans. Councilman Doyal LaRue suggested little landscaping, since it was a costly maintenance item, and favored a concrete parking lot.

Further discussions will take place with Pendleton, who is drawing up tentative specifications.

The council also: - Approved a new budget, including 3 percent pay hikes for city employees. The budget is a shade higher than the current one, said Clerk-Treasurer Marie Christian.

- Approved a revised water and sewer ordinance (the legal ad is elsewhere in today's newspaper). It goes into effect July 1.

- Heard Mayor John R. Hadley say he will contact Max Carter about installing a new sewer between State and State Line Road for $2,942. This is an emergency due to raw sewage in the alley.

- Approved a motion saying that the council not act on variance requests unless they go through proper channels. At the last meeting, requests were approved without past procedure being followed due to a misunderstanding. Also, copies of the procedures will be given applicants in the future.

Friona seeks industry

Two representatives of the Friona Chamber of Commerce attended Monday's Parmer County Commissioners' meeting to discuss attracting industry here.

Kathy Beard, Chamber executive director, and Ab Hendley, board member, asked the commissioners if they would be listen to potential industries who would seek incentives to come to the Friona area.

Although no commitment was made, the commissioners indicated they would listen to any such requests.

The Friona Chamber is sending out 3,000 letters to potential industries.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Agreed on carpeting for the county judge's office from Poarch Furniture, Friona, for $1,267.

- Agreed to have Pete Donahue patch the courthouse east parking lot for $2,650.

- Approved a resolution to be sent by the Texas Corn Growers Association to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department asking that the chemical Azodrin be permitted to be used in Parmer County.

- Agreed to allow Transport Life representatives to speak with county employees about heart and cancer insurance; this is the third firm to be approved.

- Had County Attorney Charles Aycock search into a couple of legal questions, one involving participation in an area narcotics task force, and the other involving maintenance of roads in the Friona area.

Workday set

The annual Memorial Day workday will be held at the Oklahoma Lane Cemetery Monday.

Members of the community will honor their dead loved ones by cleaning, and weeding and keeping up the cemetery.

Drug war

long time in the U.S., so we can't say that if the public were educated, it would turn against drugs. So that leaves the only realistic way to "just say no."

The battle will be won or lost in one place: the courtroom. And right now, the system is tilted the other way. Until that changes, the success in a War on Drugs will only be found in newspaper headlines - not in the real world.

What is needed is far stiffer penalties for dealers AND their associates. And a system which provides quick justice - and lengthy incarceration.

If a man considering growing marijuana in Texas knows that if he is caught he will be executed, he will think twice about it.

If a member of a gang knows that if he is caught with a gun, he will face 40 years in prison, he will think twice about it.

Now? Heck, let's take a look at the recent TV headlines about the crackdown on gangs in Los Angeles. Remember those great visuals showing gang members arrested? The fact is, they've all been released and returned to their occupation of crime. What good did that crackdown do, except provide a few headlines? Nada.

And last week, I read that 3 more folks were gunned down in L.A.

I guess it's time for another "crackdown."

We saw an item in the Amarillo paper the other day that was noteworthy.

After police in Plainview received a complaint from a citizen, a policeman personally observed a Santa Fe freight train stopped at an intersection for more than five minutes - the maximum time a stopped train is allowed to block a city intersection.

Plainview ordinances say that conductors are legally responsible for a train's operation, so the conductor was ticketed. Police said the train was there about 45 minutes.

Santa Fe has 10 days to appear in municipal court on the misdemeanor charge, which carries a maximum fine of $200.

A few months back, residents of a city neighborhood appeared at a city council meeting to complain about trains blocking traffic, and were advised to call the police is another situation arose.

Rumor of the Week: A really fantastic entertainment act is coming to Farwell at the end of June: details next week.

Scattered showers brought a little moisture to the Twin Cities Tuesday evening.

OLD FASHIONED AMERICAN PRIDE

There was a time in this country when the things we made, we made by hand. Skilled craftsmen who cared about the work they did took the time to do the job right. And every object they made was stamped with pride.

That spirit of endeavor is not lost today. You'll find it in Americans from coast to coast — men and women who still care enough to do their best. From artist to accountant, farmer to factory worker, Americans can be proud of the work they're doing. Just as they can be proud of the country that work has built.

It may sound corny today to say it, but we're proud of America — proud of the old-fashioned values this country stands for and still has. America, you're the greatest!

"We were pilots in the training school training command from 1941-44," he says. Helton was in San Marcos when the navigation training school opened, and he was there when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

On Oct. 2, 1943 he married his wife, Dardanella.

In 1944 Helton was given a choice: he could go to El Paso as an instructor pilot, or he could go to Salt Lake City to join a combat unit. His request to go into combat was granted, "I'd rather fly a bomber in combat than train somebody - it's safer," he said.

The Army Air Corps sent him first to the Central Instructors school for four engine bombers in Tennessee. Then he went to Hamilton Field, Calif., to join a crew. His crew was sent to Langley Field, Va. where he trained to do low altitude radar bombing. "Radar was top secret then," Helton explains.

"Every time we'd make a move, it was supposed to be secret. Our orders said that our family would not accompany us. When we rode the train from Blythe to Hamilton Field, we came to a little train station called Black Point, Calif. The town was about the size of Texico. Next to the station was the Black Point Inn, a rooming house.

"When we arrived we notices some ladies standing on the patio. Dardanella and some of the other wives had beaten us there even though they weren't supposed to know where we were going to be," Helton said with a smile.

When his crew finished its training, they got a brand new B-24, and flew to the island of Owie in the Celebes northwest of New Guinea.

He joined the 63rd squadron, 43rd bomb group of the 5th Air Force. "We did night bombing at about 12,000 feet. We'd drop bombs on the shipping lanes. I had about 300 hours of night combat missions," he said.

Helton switched to the A-3 intelligence unit of the 43rd bomb group. He was at Clark Field in the Philippines when the first atomic bomb was dropped.

"We had all heard rumors about the atomic bomb, but they were just rumors until the first one was dropped. We know that the Japanese were warned that we would be using a terrible weapon on them, but they did not believe us until we did," said Helton.

Helton saw B-29 bombers like the ones used to drop the atomic bombs, but the ones he had seen had dropped incendiary bombs on Tokyo and Osaka.

"The only time I was near Hiroshima or Nagasaki, I flew over and saw the results. From the air it didn't look much different than other bombing areas where incendiary bombs were dropped," said Helton.

"I missed a lot of gory details of war because I flew at night," he said.

Twelve days after the peace treaty was signed, Helton flew to an air base near Osaka with I Corps ground units for the army of occupation.

Helton stayed at Osaka until Thanksgiving. "The Japanese were very submissive. They treated us very well, and they said they were there to serve us. We didn't try to mistreat them in any way. They gave us good food and treated us like guests," said Helton.

Helton felt uneasy during his stay in Osaka. "Even now I feel that they were treacherous. I couldn't relax because I always wondered what they would do," said Helton.

Helton explained that his uneasiness stemmed from the facts that the Japanese had carried out the sneak attack at Pearl Harbor, had ignored the Geneva Conference regulations about the treatment of prisoners of war and used kamikaze tactics and other suicide missions.

"We would tell them, 'If you do this, we'll do that.' We used no element of surprise. They knew what we would do, but we never knew how they would react," said Helton.

Helton returned to Amarillo after the war where he worked from Broom Electric.

"There was no job waiting for me when I got out, and there was no parade, either. I applied to TWA as a pilot, but they told me I was a 'Johnnie Come Lately.' There were more combat pilots than they needed for commercial routes in those days."

Hughes, Elker vows told

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hughes

Tim Hughes and Pattye Elker were united in marriage on April 9 at the First Baptist Church in Grapevine, Texas. Tim is the son of Joe and Gwen Hughes of Farwell. Pattye is the daughter of Mrs. Joann Rodzewicz of Livonia, Mich. and Bob Elker of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Given in marriage by her father, Pattye wore a white satin bridal gown with puffed sleeves, v-neckline and chapel train. The gown was trimmed with sculptured lace and seed pearls. Pattye's veil of white illusion was fastened to a lace caplet. She carried a bouquet of silk cascading dusty rose and white blossoms with pearl and illusion heart accents.

Terri Kennedy of Farmington, Mich. served as maid of honor, and Carla Shumaker of Grapevine served as bridesmaid. Both girls wore tea length dusty rose satin dresses completely covered with dusty rose lace. Each carried a white lace fan trimmed with silk roses and carnations.

Gary John Haseloff of Farwell served as best man and Gerald Shumaker of Grapevine was the groomsman. Tim, Gary John and Gerald all wore medium brown tuxedos with chocolate velvet trim. Their boutonnieres were white miniature roses. Andy Pat Hughes served as both usher and candle lighter. Andy wore a charcoal tuxedo.

Shana Blaine of Lubbock sang "You Are My Inspiration." The altar of the church was decorated with two white candelabras and two baskets of white gladiolus. There were two palm tree plants brought to the bride from Florida by her father. The unity candle containing a picture of Tim and Pattye was placed in the center of the altar.

A reception was catered at the DFW Holiday Inn. The guests were served from a three tier bride's cake and a chocolate groom's cake. Also served were Swedish meatballs, chicken strips, small turkey and ham sandwiches, and a variety of fresh fruits. Gary Haseloff made the champagne toast to the bridal couple.

Out of town guests were Bob and Carol Elker of West Palm Beach, Fla. Rick Rodzewicz of Garden City, Mich., and Mike Rodzewicz of Livonia, Mich. Both men are step-brothers of the bride.

From Farwell were Joe, Gwen, and Andy Hughes, paternal grandmother, Lillie Hughes, and Lori Haseloff. Maternal grandmother Goldie Roberts and Donna Jean Roberts, both of Lubbock, Amber Lineberry of Clovis, Kevin and Susan Hughes of Bovina, and Al and Suzann Stone of Cleburne. Unable to attend due to illness were B.V. and Lois Hughes of Portales, and Laquinna Heath of Abernathy.

Reminder

Wedding vows will be exchanged between Jamey Berry and Royce Bethel at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church, Farwell. A reception will follow at the church. All friends and relatives are invited.

Letter To The Editor

A time to cherish

Dear Seniors and Parents, As you are about to leave us to start on your new adventures, I have just a few thoughts to share with you.

Seniors, cherish these last few moments in school. They are the last of your carefree days as an adolescent. The adult world is wonderful with its freedoms but the limits of responsibility often outweigh the joys of freedom.

Seniors, cherish your parents and grandparents. They have made many, many sacrifices in order to provide you with a happy life. They are sacrifices that you will never be able to comprehend until you are parents. Only then can you understand.

Seniors, cherish your teachers and principals. They have watched you grow through the years. They have helped you go from the small child to the young adult. They truly care for you. They have dedicated their entire lives to helping young people grow up. They have tried to nurture you just as a parent would. Although there have been times of pain, so it is and will be all through life. Your teachers love you and wish only the best for you. That's why they are teachers.

Parents, you have shared your children with us and I hope we have helped you raise your children as you wished. Your children have enriched our lives and I hope we have enriched theirs.

Seniors, God bless you and thanks for helping us fulfill our goals. You have made us better people and I hope we have done the same for you.

Respectfully Yours,

John A. Grigsby

Liberty students honor Horne

Craig Allen Horne, son of Rev. and Mrs. Joel Horne of Texico, finished the spring 1988 semester listed on both the President's and the Dean's Honor Roll, scoring a perfect 4.0 in his classes at Liberty University in Lynchburg, Va.

Along with his excellent academic grades this past semester, Craig was chosen one of the 12 "Men of Liberty" by the student body. His selection was based upon his work in Christian service and his winning of the intramural sportsmanship award; an award given to the athlete showing the highest degree of sportsmanship along with a Christian concern for both his fellow players and opponents.

In the intramural spring competitions, Craig won the basketball league scoring title, averaging 42.2 points per game while leading his team to a second place finish. He was also selected to the softball All-Star team as a short-stop, participating in the Virginia State Softball Tournament.

Attending the ESA State Convention in Albuquerque were: Rosa Roberts, Pam Monk, International Representative Liz White, Margaret Aycock, and Angelia Mace.

Convention attended

Four ESA members of the Theta Rho Chapter attended the state convention in Albuquerque, N.M.

Attending were Rosa Roberts, Pam Monk, Margaret Aycock, and Angelia Mace. The women attended meetings that will assist them in future projects for ESA. This was the 41st State Convention for

New Mexico. The theme for the convention was: "ESA is So-o-o Good, It Needs to be Shared."

The convention centered around an "ESA Tribal Ceremonial." Workshops were held at the Hilton Hotel. Linda Smarella shared her workshop on "Women in Stress."

Kelly Lynn selected

Kelly Lynn, from Texico, has been selected as a member of the new Recreational Team at Wayland Baptist University.

The junior is one of six chosen. The recreational group is one of two teams of students chosen to represent the university in various capacities. It will participate in summer camps across Texas beginning in June.

Wayland's other team is a music group. Since their formation in 1982, the two teams have logged more than 100,000 miles.

Members of the groups are carefully selected through an audition process which includes personal interview and talent audition. Students chosen reflect a maturing Christian faith, said admissions coordinator Mike Newsom.

Miss Lynn graduated from Texico High in 1986 and is pursuing a degree in psychology. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lynn.

City of Texico
Ordinance No. 240

An ordinance pertaining to public utilities; prescribing the rates to be charged for water and sewer services; prescribing penalties for violation of certain provisions; and amending prior ordinances in conflict herewith.

Be it ordained by the governing body of the municipality of Texico, New Mexico:

Section 1. Recitals. It is hereby determined by the governing body of the municipality of Texico, New Mexico, that the rates presently being charged for the furnishing of water and sewer services are not sufficient to defray the cost of furnishing and maintaining such services, and that an increase in the rates to be charged to users of such services should be increased. It is further determined that the rates set out in this ordinance are sufficient to defray the cost of operation of the utility services delineated in this ordinance, with no excessive revenues being generated by any such rate increases for transfer to the general revenue accounts of the city.

Section 2. Water Rates Established. All prior ordinances of the City of Texico, New Mexico, are hereby amended so as to establish the following rate schedule for water uses for those customers having access by water supply lines:

Minimum Gallonage	Rate Charge
Required charge monthly for a minimum usage or 4,000 gallons for city users (i.e., these users located within the city limits of Texico.)	$8.50 per month
Required charge monthly for minimum usage of 4,000 gallons for non-city users.	$12.80 per month
For each of the next 2,000 gallons of water actually used monthly by either city or non-city users.	ninety cents (.90) per 1,000 gallons
For each 1,000 gallons used by either the city or non-city users monthly, in excess of 6,000 gallons.	fifty cents (.50) per 1,000 gallons

Section 3. Bulk Water Rates, Rules and Guidelines.

a. No water from the city water supply shall be turned on by any person other than the superintendent of public works or some other person authorized by him to perform this service.

b. In the event any person or entity wishes to obtain water from the city water supply by any means other than the regular service provided hereinabove, such person or entity must obtain prior approval of the city superintendent of public works and meet any requirement of such superintendent to insure proper payment for such service and supply.

c. The rate for such use shall be Ten Dollars ($10.00) for each 1,000 gallons of use, with a minimum fee of $10.00 for each tap of the water source.

d. Any violation of this Section shall be punished by a fine not less than $250.00 nor more than $500.00 or by imprisonment for not less than 90 days of both, and each occurrence shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4. Sewer Rates Established All previous ordinances are amended to establish the following rate schedule for sewer uses:

A minimum user fee of $4.00 shall be charged. For each outlet exceeding a minimum of four (4), an additional fifteen cents (.15 cents) per outlet shall be added to the minimum fee.

Section 5. Applicability. This ordinance shall apply to all individuals, corporations or other entities operating in the city limits of Texico, New Mexico, or using the systems described herein.

Section 6. Effective Date. This ordinance is effective on July 1, 1988.

Section 7. Repealer. All ordinances, or parts thereof, that conflict herewith are hereby revoked and this ordinance is substituted.

We try to find projects, arts and crafts, places to go, and games to play to keep us entertained.

We have made bead necklaces, corsages, boutonieres, wall arrangements and conchos.

We've done ceramics, making vases, boxes, wall decorations, ash trays and numerous other things.

We've planted flowers, grown a lovely garden with onions, corn, watermelons and tomatoes.

We go for shopping trips, rides in the country and visits to the Clovis zoo.

We love to play dominos. We have a twice weekly game set up that is a must for us die-hards.

Bingo is every Monday. Mary and Liz are ever faithful in coming, rain or shine.

Our plans for the summer include watermelon parties, flower boxes Jim built to be painted and planted, trips, hamburger and hot dog cookouts and most loved, homemade ice cream parties!

Do come and join us. We welcome new faces and love the company. Besides, look at the fun you're going to miss!
