

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

By JASON O. GORDON
County Agent

DISTRICT ENCAMPMENT

The greatest program ever scheduled has been arranged for our 4-H Club Boys' District Encampment, at Ceta Glen Park, August 11, 12 and 13. There will be action, entertainment and education.

An even greater rifle match with more attractive medals are available to expert marksmen in that division. I feel sure the experience gained last year will be helpful in planning the rifle matches this year. Every precaution will be used to insure safety—and those Parmer County boys who attended camp last year will agree that very strict rules governed the rifle range. We will be interested to know if Austin Young, of the Oklahoma Lane Sr. Boys Club, can maintain his shooting average or better that average this year. Austin was awarded second place medal last year because of his score among 300 other boys.

In addition to rifle shooting, there will be swimming, baseball games, horseshoe pitching, boxing, and moving picture shows. There will be fun for all . . . and the entertainment fee is less than last year.

"Stuttering Dutch" Horn needs no introduction to 4-H club boys. They say he is better than ever this year. There will be discussions on beef cattle, hog and dairy products.

Highlighting the program will be the appearance of Vice Director George Adams of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Mr. Adams is a capable leader and I know club boys will enjoy his talk. Dan Russell, National Authority on Youth Development, is said to be one of the very best at discussing the problems of young men. He understands their problems and suggests methods of solving those problems.

There will be three full days packed full of fun for those 4-H club boys who attend. Remember, COMPLETE AND ACCURATE record books must be on file in the County Agent's office before a Parmer County 4-H club member will be eligible to attend. Begin now to complete that record so you will be ready to go.

Every precaution is taken to see that no boy is seriously hurt while attending camp. One year we had a boy in attendance, who had never climbed in trees. . . well, he fell and broke a leg. That could have happened at home, because boys who enjoy climbing might get on top of the barn and jump off, thus causing injury. And too, those boys who box should expect to get a bloody nose sometime.

With approximately 375 boys to attend camp this year, we do not expect to have trouble with one or two boys who refuse to obey the rules. Most of those boys wear large, wide belts—and they know how to apply them where they stamp the true meaning of camp rules and regulations.

Last year we had 48 people from Parmer County at District Encampment. We want more than that number this year. LET'S GO, BOYS!

HERE'S HOW TO MAKE EXTRA GOOD PICKLES

COLLEGE STATION—With the arrival of the picking season, county home demonstration agents of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service are receiving numerous requests for pickle and relish recipes.

Grace I. Neely, extension specialist in food preservation, recommends these recipes which are popular with rural club women:

Bread and Butter

Twenty-five large cucumbers, 12 onions (white-medium), ½ cup salt, 1 pint vinegar, 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 2 tablespoons ginger and 2 tablespoons turmeric powder.

Let unpeeled cucumbers stand in water overnight. Then slice cucumbers and onions and place in pan with the salt (no water). Let stand one hour, then rinse off salt, add vinegar, sugar, mustard seed, ginger and turmeric powder. Boil all ingredients until peel turns yellow (about 40 minutes). Pack pickles solid in sterilized jars. Seal and allow to stand 10 days before using.

Dixie Relish

One pint chopped sweet red peppers, 1 pint chopped sweet green peppers, 2 tablespoons mustard seed, 2 tablespoons celery seed, 3-4 cup sugar,

3 tablespoons salt, 1 quart cider vinegar, 1 quart chopped cabbage and 1 pint chopped white onions.

Quarter peppers and remove seeds and coarse white sections and soak overnight in a brine made of one cup salt to one gallon water. Freshen in clear, cold water for one or two hours. Chop separately and measure the chopped cabbage, pepper and onions before mixing. Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand overnight covered in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into sterilized jars and process 15 minutes at 180 degrees F., simmering temperature, and seal.

Corn Relish

One dozen ears corn, 1 head cabbage, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons mustard, 3 sweet red peppers, 3 sweet green peppers, 1 quart vinegar, 1 tablespoon salt and 1 tablespoon celery salt.

Cook corn for three minutes in boiling water to set the milk. Cool and cut from cob. Cook all together for 20 minutes. Place into hot sterilized jars and seal. Store in a cool, dry place.

Sweet Mixed Pickles

One quart cucumbers, 1 pint sliced onions, 1 pint snap beans, cut, ½ pint sliced sweet red peppers, 1 pint cauliflower, cut, 1 pint sliced green tomatoes and 1 pint sliced green sweet peppers.

Remove vegetables from brine, freshen, cut attractively for serving, and drain. Pack into hot, sterilized jars and cover with a spiced vinegar made as follows:

Four cups vinegar, ¾ cups sugar, 1 each tablespoon celery seed, mustard seed, mixed pickle seed; 2 hot red peppers.

Tie spice in a bag. Mix sugar and vinegar together and drop in spice bag. Bring to a boil, cover and set aside to cool. If the mixture is allowed to come to a boil and cool two or three times, more flavor will be extracted from the spice bag. Remove spice bag and pour liquid over vegetables which have been packed into hot sterilized jars. Seal tight; store in a cool, dry place.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Pamela Wants to Be Popular

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

There's one girl and one man who are breaking my heart.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

PAMELA wants to be popular. She works downtown in a lawyer's office; she gets good pay; she maintains a bachelor-girl establishment with another girl; she is 26, pretty enough, smart above the average, but not popular.

"My manner isn't shy, because I take good care it shan't be," writes Pamela. "But way deep down in I'm shy. I know men like my looks, but a lot of them are shy, too, I guess—except the married ones. The only attention I've ever had is from married men, and that doesn't mean much. The younger men in our office, and I could fall in love with at least three of them, will stop at my desk to dictate a letter, ask me if I've seen this picture or that, recommend a good murder story if they see a book on my desk, and then pass by some other girl's desk for three or four words that drive me perfectly mad with bewilderment—and I suppose jealousy. I mean they will say to some really less-attractive woman, 'Fun at that crazy restaurant last night, wasn't it?' or 'Crazy about the new hairdo,' or 'How about Tuesday, honey?'"

Too Tense Among Men.

"Why don't they do that to me? But of course I know why. I know I'm stiff, awkward, stupid with men. I clear my throat and get red and say things I don't mean to them. My clothes are right, but they're just a little TOO right. Clean, neat, dowdy, correct. When I ought to shut up I giggle and chatter and when I ought to break a silence I can do nothing but swallow and stammer. But girls like me, and I know I amuse them, and as I say married men always seem to understand me and I can talk to them.

"Now, what I can't understand," the letter goes on, "is the sort of girl who attracts men and always has lots of attention. They seem to make no effort. Brainless little fools who can't spell are trotting off for lunch with the nicest men in the office; murmuring and blushing and having a glorious time.

Resents Being Overlooked.

"There's one—I didn't mean to get this far, but I may as well admit it—there's one girl and one man who are breaking my heart. The man is my immediate boss, but in a corporation as enormous as this that doesn't mean he's so very high. But he's sweet and big and clean and smart and I like him terribly. The girl is named Lola, she's an uneducated, noisy little thing with badly dyed hair in a wild mop, but whatever she is or isn't he likes her, and she can actually play fast and loose with the dates he tries to make with her; maybe she can go tomorrow night, maybe she can't. If he marries her she will wreck his life, leave him in a few years and take his child with her, and it seems as if I couldn't bear it. Why WILL men fall for girls like that, and never see other girls who really have background and education and code and the love of home and family behind them?"

Well, that's an old, old problem, Pamela, and until men solve it Reno will continue to be flooded by pretty, empty-headed little wives who think nothing of breaking vows and ruining children's lives.

Girls' Uneasiness Affects Men.

Your predicament is not a new one, either. You say your manner is not shy, but shy or not it is awkward and uneasy, and that infects men instantly with something of the same discomfort.

Perhaps you think too much of the

PROBLEMS OF A STENO

Both single and married men pay her attentions during working hours. Pamela is puzzled by reactions of men in the office where she works. She writes Miss Norris to ask if she says the right things to become popular with certain men. And she wonders why girls less attractive than herself, receive more attention from the most desirable men. Kathleen Norris answers Pamela with her usual helpful advice and clarity of thought for any social problem.

impression you are making on them, and too little of the innate qualities that your manner represents. Charm is an elusive thing to describe, because it means very real qualities, it means heart, soul, mind, character, training, self-discipline. With enough of these things any woman is equipped to face life and its changes confidently; she KNOWS she will find friends, win the man she wants, make a success of herself.

Cultivate Charm.

But in your case I wouldn't worry about these casual and temporary conquests. Ignore them for the time being, and devote yourself to the cultivation of charm. Get interested, genuinely, in life, and life will get interested in you. Charm means personal freshness, pleasantness of manner, alert understanding and sympathy for everyone about you. It means that when you are sitting at your desk, idle for a moment between tasks, you are half-smiling; it means that you keep up with your reading on current topics and keep away from tactless controversy and loud-voiced expression of opinion. If you happen to be made of crusader stuff that is of course something else again; crusaders rarely have charm.

To attract the man you like to you make no visible effort. But whenever you get a chance to speak to him have something to say that will immediately draw his attention from the fact that he and that rather standoffish Miss Brown are actually talking together. Years ago a certain shy little member of my family used to start off to dances after asking me seriously: "Tell me three things to say to my boy." Think of three things to say to yours. If it is only, "Weren't you caught in that downpour yesterday?" or, "Is this new time schedule going to mean you have to take an earlier train from Pelham?" or "Did you hear the nice news of the Smith baby?" it will answer the purpose. And if, after a monosyllabic reply you have to begin again, plunge in courageously. "My sister and I were in Brooklyn when that storm started, my mother lives over there. You know, in the Library neighborhood. We live in town, but Mother expects us every Saturday—" and so on, easily and carelessly, just as if you were talking to a woman, until he picks up the conversation again.

Act Friendly—Unembarrassed.

If the shy woman, who feels stiff and tongue-tied with men, could only remember that talking to a newly met man is just like talking to a new woman acquaintance, her whole manner and attitude would change. Girls like Pamela never dread meeting other women; they know that their approach will be friendly and unembarrassed. Try that same friendly lack of embarrassment upon the man you want to attract, Pamela; try it on all men. And at the same time deepen your own character into kindness, interest, understanding of those about you, and by the infallible magic of charm you will not only get your man, but everything else you want in the world.

In Central America
A ROUGH day and a half at sea. Tropical rain fell in sheets. Angry waves smashed against our shiny white steel sides and spray came whirling down the decks. Low hanging clouds sped swiftly across the dull skies dipping oftentimes to scoop up more foamy ammunition. A sailor appeared on the foc's'le. The already well-lit decks blazoned the night with still more lights. Word went round that a raider or a U-boat might be working the Caribbean trade lanes. We were lit up to assure them we were an American boat. And as I walked aft it gave me a very thankful feeling to see Old Glory spotlighted and waving protectively. Usually flags are hauled down at night at sea, but not in our hemisphere since the advent of A. Hitler & Co.

We slid into a tired looking wooden dock at Port Limon, Costa Rica. It was high noon and sizzling. Here there were not the usual colored diving boys. Instead tiny urchins serenaded us. An experienced shipmate advised me to get into the very last coach of the toy train which was to huff and puff for five hours up the mountain to the mile-high Costa Rica capital. After doing the overhand and nearly breaking my neck to get down the quivering gangplank among the first ashore, I swung into the "center seat left-hand side" as directed, but never in my life have I sat in anything so uncomfortable. It was way back, hard as a mountain, and had a tufted headrest in the wrong place. An interpreter told us that this railroad had been built by a British concern in 1885, and for once I was sure this was no chamber of commerce exaggeration!

The lilliputian engine burned soft coal. There was no glass in the car windows and just as we emerged from the dingy shade into a spectacular view of jungle, a cinder bolted into my eye. I had an eye cup—but it was back in my cabin, so I covered my eye with a handkerchief and with the other one this is what I saw: breakers lapping a coconut palm fringed coast on the right—muddy brown, Danubelike river coursing down deep chasms on the left—deep dense jungle growth, spindly trunked trees, some tufted on top, growing so close together they appeared to crowd each other for breath—elephant-eared shiny-leaved plants with large fragrant white blossoms—rustic corrugated tin roofed huts on stilts—swarms of naked native children. At the first village there were two dingy shops, one with a sign "cafeteria." Never have I seen such miscellaneous vegetation. Shiny-leaved coffee trees with bright red and orange coffee berries. Oblong-leaved banana plants with bright green bananas growing upside down. Gnarled banyan trees, fields of fresh corn, sugar cane, pineapples, breadfruit trees, morning glories, giant violets, and thousands upon thousands of wild orchids.

At the mile high mark we crossed the continental divide which separates the Rockies from the Andes. Here the scenery became truly spectacular. The roaring Revatzen river cascaded down a gorge thousands of feet deep. A veritable grand canyon of towering trees formed a backdrop, and mountain mist hovered between the lush tangled vegetation. Far in the distance a scarlet church spire stretched heavenwards. Nestling thatched hamlets on both sides of the train all the way up.

Finally we gasped into the San Jose depot. Barefooted Indian urchins thrust white camellias into everyone's hands. Outside the station we halted until a huge funeral procession snailed by, a typical Spanish one, in which the hearse and all the carriages were outlined with flowers, looking for all the world like floats in a mardigras.

San Jose is one of the world's most picturesque capitals. Though the streets were less winding than others I have been in, in past weeks, they were none the less enchanting. Gay colored two-wheeled ox carts lumbered slowly along, filled with coffee beans in burlap sacks or long stalks of green bananas. Modern motor cars rushed frenzily along. Brunette señoritas linked arms and strolled along the main streets. They wore high tortoise shell combs, too much lipstick and rouge. Hundreds of tiny shops sold native wares, tooled leather, carved batta-wood, bright green baskets, hammered silver and uncut emeralds for next to nothing.

Dropped into a couple of local niteries to look the after-dark situation over. Reminded soft drink dispensaries more than wicked drinking joints, and were serving twice as many ice cream sodas as rum drinks. Few couples sat together and those who did were evidently "aliens." In true Latin fashion the men huddled together around big tables separate from the women. Many had swastikas in their button-holes. The music consisted of an American made coin machine.

Demonstration Club Notes

By Special Staff Reporters

Live-At-Home Club

Members of the Live-at-Home demonstration club met in regular session at the home of Mrs. O. B. Moyer on July 2, with seven members and three visitors present. We will meet with Parmerton club July 9, at Mrs. W. A. Stephens' home, at 2:30.

After a short business session was held, a shower was given Mrs. Moyer, who is moving away. We deeply regret losing such a faithful member from our club.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Rolen, O. B. Moyer, Dennis Robards, Rosa Terry, Claud Osborn, C. P. Warren, Everett Talbot, Glenn Taylor, E. E. Taylor, Miss Elvira Talbot and Helen Taylor.

We will meet with Mrs. Dennis Robards, July 30.

Oklahoma Lane Club

The Oklahoma Lane club had a called meeting, July 3rd, for the purpose of planning the entertainment for the visiting Rhea club, on the 18th. It was also voted and passed that ladies plan a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., between the 13th and 16th of August, instead of sending a delegate to Short Course this year, due to the fact that we are all so busy now. Mrs. Thompson gave the council report. Our mattress making began Monday morning at 8:30 in the warehouse near Lariat.

Those present were: Mesdames Bill Foster, Ernest Foster, Clyde Perkins, A. B. Wilkerson, Charlie Summers, S. H. Sides, W. E. Verner, Ellis R. Barry, E. M. Deaton, Lee Thompson, R. L. Henson, Bryan Smith, J. R. Caldwell, Tom Foster, Edd McGuire, Claude Watkins, E. A. Hromas.

Oklahoma Lane Jr. 4-H Club

The Oklahoma Lane Jr. 4-H club met July 2nd. Members said the club pledge and then the minutes and roll call were read. We decided not to meet again until August 1, when we would bring all our goals to exhibit. Miss Cunningham led us in several games. Those present were: Vernell Berry, June Christian, Louise Donaldson, Barbara Foster, Bonnie Foster, Lola Grissom, Dora Dean Perkins, Billie Roach and Sue Roberson.

Oklahoma Lane Sr. 4-H Club

The Senior 4-H club of Oklahoma Lane met at the club room for the first summer meeting. After the club was called to order by the president, the roll was called and each member present answered by telling of her achievements of the year.

Miss Cunningham, our home demonstrator, gave some interesting lessons on "mending".

The trip to A. & M. was discussed and instructions as to what they will be expected to do were given the delegates.

The meetings for the remainder of the summer were discussed, after which lunch was served. Soups were practiced, and the club meeting of July 2nd adjourned.

Small Farmers Cash Most AAA Checks

COLLEGE STATION—So-called "small" farmers are cashing the bulk of the AAA's conservation and parity payment checks, B. F. Vance, administrative officer in charge of the AAA in Texas, declared here today.

Studying a report made to Congress by the United States Department of Agriculture on the distribution of payments under the 1939 farm program, Vance said that 92 percent of the agricultural conservation payments, and 98 percent of the price adjustment, or parity, payments were for less than $200. The report to Congress, listing the names of cooperators who earned payments of $1,000 or more, showed approximately eight-tenths of one percent of the total number of payees under the program were in that classification, he said.

"Increasing attention has been given the small farmer in the development of the AAA program," Vance declared. "As provided in the Act, automatic increases are made in conservation payments to farmers when the amounts earned are less than $200, the smaller payments being increased proportionately more than the larger ones. Also, any cooperator may earn a minimum of $20, with an additional allowance of $15 for forest tree practices, making a total of $35 which may be earned on any farm. This $35 payment would be increased to $46 under the provisions for increasing small payments." The Act also provides that no in-

Use of Cotton Credit Slips Is Explained

Because merchants cannot give cash change in Cotton Stamp transactions, and since all Cotton Stamps are printed in 25-cent denominations, how will retailers handle sales normally involving change?

Eric Rushing, Chairman of the Parmer County Cotton Industry Committee, said that this situation was very effectively and simply handled by means of "Cotton Credit Slips".

To clarify the situation, he cited several examples. "Suppose," Rushing said, "a Cotton Stamp customer purchases 60 cents worth of cotton merchandise. An alert merchant would probably suggest 15 cents worth of additional cotton items that the customer could use to advantage. The customer could then give the merchant three 25 cent stamps. But assuming that the customer did not wish to get more than his 60 cent purchase at the time, the merchant would accept either two 25 cent stamps and 10 cents in cash, or three 25 cent stamps—giving the customer a 15 cent credit slip for the difference due him."

"These Cotton Credit Slips," he added, "are issued by the individual stores and are good for the purchase of 100% American cotton goods at the same store in the future. From the merchant's standpoint, the use of these credit slips tends to bring the customers back to the stores from which the previous Cotton Stamp purchases were made."

"Accordingly, those merchants who, through aggressive merchandising and advertising, attract both Stamp customers and the general public, have an additional opportunity of gaining repeat business through the credit slips of their Stamp customers. Wide-awake retailers will take advantage of this opportunity for increased business, while at the same time helping our country solve a serious problem involving our Number 1 crop—cotton."

individual can earn more than $10,000 in agricultural conservation payments, but this provision does not apply to parity payments, the AAA official said.

Few Changes in 1942 Range Program

COLLEGE STATION—Except for additional grazing practices and more local adaptation of practices designed to eradicate undesirable plants, recommendations drafted by delegates to the national AAA range conference an tour indicate no major changes in the 1942 Range Conservation Program of the AAA.

That's the word Howard T. Kingsbery, state AAA committeeman and ranchman from Santa Anna, brought back from the conference which was held in Idaho, June 23-27. The conference last year was held in West Texas.

Recommendations of the conference included proposals for many detailed changes, a number of which are aimed at giving assistance to small ranchmen and farmers, Kingsbery said. Two important changes recommended were the revision of the present deferred grazing practice to include limited and rotational grazing on the basis of range management plans approved by the county AAA committee and broadening eradication practices for undesirable plants to make possible more local adaptation of such measures.

In the interest of national welfare, the conference pledged itself "to marshal the range agricultural resources of the country to best meet the needs of national defense," the Texas ranchman reported. The conference also went on record as advising ranchmen against speculative expansion during the present period of more favorable price and urged that a balance be kept between livestock prices and industrial prices to keep the livestock industry in a sound condition.

The group advocated that measures be taken to avoid inflation and that the defense program be supported by higher taxes on excess profits, incomes, and luxury items, along with increased promotion of defense bond and stamp sales. Greater emphasis on better nutrition was also recommended.

MEN OVER 28 SUBJECT TO ARMY DEFERMENT

1941, for discharge, Texas' local boards have today been informed by State Headquarters that the induction of all men who had attained the age of twenty-eight years on or before July 1, 1941, shall be postponed for a period of thirty days, pending final action on the bill.

"Of course, in the event the bill is not passed," General Page added, "such men will be subject to induction in the normal manner upon the expiration of the period of postponement."

In Texas, it is estimated, approximately 400,000 of the 825,429 men who registered last October are affected by this order.

Champion Drivers of Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS, July 2, 1941.—Betty Lee Picard of San Antonio and Donald W. Hawkins of Waco are the champion safe drivers of Texas. They won the titles here late yesterday in a contest sponsored by the Ford Good Drivers League. Both Picard and Hawkins will represent the state at national finals at Dearborn, Michigan, in which they will compete against the champion drivers of the other 47 states and of the District of Columbia for $25,000 in university scholarships offered by Edsel Ford, founder of the league. The winners are shown with Colonel Homer Garrison, Director of the Department of Public Safety, who presented them with prizes. Left to right, Betty Picard, Colonel Garrison and Donald Hawkins.

A LITTLE FUN Jokes to Make You Laugh

After the Quarrel
 "Let's kiss and make up."
 "O. K. with me."
 She got the kiss and he the make-up.

The Two Genders
 "William, what are the two genders?"
 "Masculine and feminine. The feminine is divided into frigid and torrid; the masculine into temperate and intemperate."

Recorded
 A minister, traveling on one of those way-trains that stops at every station on a side line, was reading his Bible. "Find anything about this railroad in that book?" asked the conductor. "Yes, sir. In the very first chapter it says that the Lord made every creeping thing."

Why Wait?
 Father: "There's plenty of time for our daughter to think about marriage. Let her wait till the right man comes along."
 Mother: "Why should she? I didn't."

Serious Malady
 Mose: "You ain't yo'se'f no mo', Sambo. Is yer sick or sump'in'?"
 Sambo: "Ise got insomnia. I wakes up ev'y few days."

From Little Acorns
 Out of curiosity, a farmer had grown a crop of flax, and had a tablecloth made out of linen. Some time later he remarked to a dinner guest from the city, "I grew this tablecloth myself."
 "Did you, really?" she exclaimed. "How did you ever manage it?"
 It was plain that she had no idea of farming, so the farmer lowered his voice mysteriously as he replied: "If you promise not to give the secret away, I'll tell you."
 The guest was eager to promise. "Well," proceeded the farmer, "I planted napkins!"

Heart or Watch?
 Daughter: "Mother, I just know Henry loves me 'cause when he presses me to his bosom I can feel his heart throbbing."
 Mother: "Perhaps so, but make sure it ain't a dollar watch in his vest pocket. That's exactly how your pa fooled me."

Lesson in Economics
 A recession is a period in which you tighten up your belt.
 A depression is a time in which you have no belt to tighten.
 When you have no pants to hold up it's a panic.

Bobbie Still Angry
 Mother: "Bobbie, didn't I tell you always to count 50 when you are angry before you do anything to brother?"
 "Bobbie: "Yes, mother. I counted 50 but was still angry, then I counted another 50 but was still angry, then I counted another 50 but was still angry—so I just hauled off and slapped him."

Baby Chick Convention
 The "little" International Baby Chick Convention of the South will be held in Temple, Texas, on August 25 to 27. This is in reality the annual convention of the Texas Baby Chick Association but it is aptly labeled the "little" International because it is one of the largest, most extensive chick conventions held by State associations. Fifteen years ago when most of the States were still having little one-room meetings, the Texas chick producers had caught the spirit of the International Baby Chick Association's convention methods and was putting on their own State convention. This even has grown every year until now it rivals the size of earlier IBCA gatherings. A. H. Demke, Executive Secretary of the Texas Baby Chick Association, Stephenville, Texas, is in charge of the convention program and exhibits.

Lice and Mites
 Lice and mites can be such a drag on the vitality of a chick as to actually stunt its growth. And mites alone can make poultry houses so uncomfortable for the birds that they prefer to roost outside. A frequent check on both the birds and houses for signs of lice and mites and proper applications with a commercial lice and mite preparation will pay dividends in increased growth, better production, and chicken comfort.—American Poultry Item.

Moving Equipment for Turkeys
 The importance of moving the feeding equipment frequently for turkeys during the growing period is vital in maintaining sanitary conditions of the area immediately around the feeders and fountains. Turkeys spend fully half of their time around the feeders and fountains, and there is hardly a time during the day when turkeys are not eating or drinking. Therefore, although the range may be changed as often as every week, it is necessary to move the feeders and fountains 2 or 3 times per week, especially during rainy periods.

Annual Egg Production
 According to U. S. Department of Agricultural figures, 53% of the annual egg production is during the 4 spring months of March, April, May and June, but prices during December and January were lower than formerly, because a greater percentage of the annual receipts arrive during these months.

 Drill Sergeant—"And who's the dumb-bell over there holding up both legs."

Painful Handicap
 Hostess (at children's party)—"Won't you have another piece of cake, Tommy?"
 Tommy—"No, thank you."
 Hostess—"You aren't suffering from loss of appetite, are you?"
 Tommy—"No, ma'am. I'm suffering from stomachache."

Close Enough
 Farmer (after lightning had struck tree under which his hired man sought shelter): "How close did it come to you Sam?"
 Hired Man (still trembling): "I - I d-d-dunno, but it lit my pipe."

Really Hot Stuff
 A negro preacher was trying to impress on his congregation the terrors of hell.
 "Bredderin and sistern," he asked, "is any of you evah been in Bunningham, Alabama, where de big steel works is?"
 "Ise been there, pahson," said one member.
 "Is you been in de mills, and has you evah seen de hot steel when it comes out ob de furnaces?"
 Yassah, pahson, Ise seen it."
 "Well, den, you knows how hot dat stuff is. I wants to tell all you sinners dat when dat dere stuff comes out ob de furnace, it's hot. It's red hot. In fac' it's so hot dat no one kin come anywhere near it wid-out gittin' shrivelled up. Well, bredderin an' sistern, in hell dey dips yer in dat kind ob stuff and wrings yer out and den dips yer agin and wrings yer out and de last time dey dips dey leaves yer dere to fry and sputter and sizzle foreber and foreber."

Persistent
 "Well, nurse how is the patient?"
 "I gave him the figs you ordered, doctor, but he keeps asking for dates."
Too Many Fractions
 New neighbors moved in next door to Bobby, age 7. Watching intently he saw a boy about his size come around the house.
 "Hey, there," called Bobby, "how many brothers 'n' sisters you got?"
 "I've got two half brothers and one half sister," was the reply.
 "Gee whiz," exclaimed Bobby, "are you the only whole one in your family?"

Luck Charm
 You don't really believe putting that rabbit's foot in your pocket will bring you luck?"
 I most certainly do. It brought me luck only last night, when my wife felt of it in my pocket and thought it was a mouse.

THE BAHAMAS
 The Bahamas, the second largest cluster of islands in the world, present the United States Army and Navy with a negative problem of defense, in contrast to the positive problems presented by the seven defense base sites this country has acquired on British soil in the western hemisphere in exchange for 50 average destroyers.
 Because these islands lie near the United States, the actual possession of base sites is not so important to this country for national security as for making sure that no invader can get a toe hold on one of the coral islands from which operations might be based against this country.
 The Bahamas are a chain of coral islands, with a total area of 4,403 square miles, which lie between the 21st and 23rd parallels of latitude north and between 72 and 80 degrees of longitude west. They extend from off the coast of Florida to the northern shores of Hispaniola, the island shared by Haiti and the Dominican Republic.
 The group consists of more than 3,000 islets and rocks. Of these only 29 are inhabited and have a total population of 66,000. Only the Philippines, which number 6,083 islands (only 2,411 having names), have a larger collection of islands.
 The principle island of the Bahamas is New Providence, on which the capital, Nassau, is situated and which the United States will use for air and naval bases. The capital has a population of 18,000 at the height of the winter season, when American vacationists and winter residents are present.
 The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound. Isa. 61:1.

CRETE
 Farming is the main pursuit of Crete's 400,000 population, where the Nazis and Britain fought such a bloody battle for possession of the little island. Roads are not many, and few are modern. The fertile plains and the lowest slopes of the snow-capped mountains on the 160-mile-long island yield olives, oranges, lemons, quinces. Farm methods are primitive. Grains must be imported in large quantities. Most of Crete's people live in low, whitewashed houses, and the only cities of any size are on the northern shore—Candia, where King George set up his government, and Canea, west of the island's best anchorage, Suda Bay.
 In Mediterranean strategy Crete's position was important. Alexandria, the great British base in Egypt, and Cyprus, the British island that stands guard over the Syrian coast, are each 340 miles from Crete shores. Should German air power prove superior to British naval power and compel the Royal Navy to desert its ancient bases, the Germans might have a clear sea road to the French mandate of Syria—a road that would enable the Axis to skirt uncertain Turkey.

MY CIGARETTE HAS TO BE MILD. I ALWAYS SMOKE CAMELS —THEY'RE EXTRA MILD

CAMELS ALWAYS TASTE SO COOL—SO GOOD!

SURE, THEY'RE SLOWER-BURNING—WITH EXTRA FLAVOR

It's Ralph Flanagan—swimmer of the world's fastest mile—lighting up that All-American mildness favorite, a slow-burning Camel

THERE'S only one Ralph Flanagan—only a limited few who can even give him a good race. But, as a smoker, he's no different from millions of others when he tells you: "Camel is the cigarette that is extra mild—and has a flavor that doesn't wear out its welcome."

Yes, in every walk of life—in the ranks of the Army and Navy, too—the brand that clicks is the flavorful cigarette that is extra mild with less nicotine in the smoke. Science confirms this advantage of less nicotine (see left, above), but get Camels and smoke out the facts about mildness for yourself.

HERE (closest to the camera) is Ralph Flanagan in action at Palm Springs. And they call that stroke a crawl! 5 times All-American—he swam the world's fastest mile in 20:42.6—and he still says: "I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

TEXAS FARM NEWS REPORTS

East Texas counties are actively engaged in the national defense effort of increasing food production, with tomato acreages having been increased and similar steps being contemplated in connection with beans, etc.

Feeding tests on beef calves fattening conducted by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in co-operation with A. & M. College husbandry department show sweet potato dehydrated meal to be practically as good and efficient as corn, according to information received by East Texas Sweet Potato Dehydration Pilot Plant Association.

Texas farmers sent the equivalent of 1,142,402,000 (billion) pounds of Texas-produced milk to dairy plants last year to be converted into creamery butter, ice cream and American cheese, estimates by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reveal. This consumption of raw-milk, was almost two million pounds larger than during the preceding year.

Although Texas cattlemen are rejoicing that prices are good, grass is abundant, and livestock is in good shape, they have a hard fight ahead of them in controlling parasites, says Cameron Siddall, extension entomologist.

Those uncanny devices called planimeters, that enable the acreage of farm fields to be determined from aerial photographs, will soon be working silently on a full-time basis in Dallas county's AAA office, workers report. So delicately does the device measure that corrections must be made if a map is off scale because of tilting of the camera when making the picture from an airplane.

Ben Monroe, of Sweetwater, (Nolan county), is owner of what is reputed to be the largest Ancona chicken ranch in Texas. He houses his 500 birds in a modern plant where his pedigreed flock is a show place for lovers of poultry. A domestic fowl, originating in Italy, Anconas resemble a Leghorn in build, but have mottled black and white plumage, bright red combs and yellow legs. They are especially fine layers, Monroe believes.

Kansas Senator Arthur Capper is trying out a new type of tractor demonstrated by Harry Ferguson, farm production authority. Both the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the British embassy were represented at the demonstration.

F. S. Scroggins, Grayson county farmer, found a potato stalk in his garden growing potatoes above the ground instead of below. The rest of the potato patch is growing normally, and the owner can't explain why one stalk should attempt to establish a "new order," but Mr. Scroggins says this one did anyway.

Putting power behind the corn sheller to speed up farm operations resulted when Alfonso Novak, of Fairchilds, (Fort Bend county), added an old auto rim to his handdriven sheller. With the use of an electric motor, Mr. Novak can shell seven bushels of corn in 15 minutes at very little extra cost on his electric bill, he says.

Texas produced over 14,362,000 pounds of cheddar cheese last year.

Already 314,731 Texas families—most of them farm families—have applied for mattress making materials under USDA's mattress program. Final tabulations being compiled by A. & M. College Extension Service are expected to increase this figure considerably.

Army worms have done a great deal of damage to oats and small grain crops in Ford and Dickens counties, it is reported. Jones county farmers are also getting ready to combat these pests by spreading poison in the same manner as that used to control grasshoppers.

Driven from their haunts in the river bottom area since clearing of timber land began for the Denison Dam, wolves are moving in on farmers in the Randell Lake area northwest of Denison, (Grayson county), farmers declare. Hunters have been asked to come to the area and kill the animals.

Establishment of a new sweet potato dehydration unit flour mill at Bowie, (Montague county), has been announced. The firm's program includes the planting of at least 3,000 acres of Puerto Rico sweet potatoes. The plant will have a capacity of 100 tons of sweet potatoes daily, and will also manufacture dehydrated yam stock feed, yam protein and syrup.

Speaking at a poultry rally in Arlington, (Tarrant county), H. H. Weatherby, poultry husbandman of A. & M. College, recommended that bright-colored marbles be placed in turkey feed. "Fascinated by the marbles, the turkeys will peck madly and consume a quantity of body-building food they otherwise would not get," Weatherby said.

G. C. Hutchinson, of D'Hanis, (Medina county), brought a freak goat, raised on his place, to the San Antonio stockyards recently that had three horns. The extra one growing from the top of the ear. Veterinarians at the stockyards say the composition of the horn is somewhat like that of hair. Incidentally, the goat's name is "Hornaplety."

"The time will come when eggs will be sold in Texas according to government grade," says Myrtle Murray, Extension Service specialist in home industries, as she pointed out that 10 States already have made grading compulsory. Poultry specialists of A. & M. College Extension Service have prepared material on the grading of eggs during summer months, and copies are obtainable from the office of county extension agents.

Co-eds in one of the girls' dormitories at East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, (Hunt county), drank over 7,000 glasses of milk in a recent month, school statistics revealed.

Cotton is grown on a commercial basis in more than 200 of Texas' 254 counties, and to take care of this crop there are 4,000 gins, 150 cotton seed oil mills, more than 100 cotton compresses and hundreds of storage warehouses.

Italy's, (Ellis county), postoffice has delivered more than 40,000 baby chicks to Ellis, Navarro and Hill county farmers during the last two months, according to recent announcement. Reliable estimates place the increase in farmer's poultry stocks at about 40 per cent in this territory.

A set of twin calves is an oddity, but to have three sets of twins from a herd of 25 cows is an unusual coincidence. However, this was the report from the Carroll Brothers on their farm in Gamberville community, (Foard county). One set of twins is Roan-Durham bulls, the second is Whiteface heifers, and the third set is half Jersey and half Roan-Durham.

Mrs. Hassie Morris, pecan grower at Bend, (San Saba county), has received national mention for the record of her Hollis pecan tree. This jumbo pecan tree bears nuts so large it takes just 33 of them to make a pound. The record crop of the tree, which is believed to have been bearing nuts for more than 300 years, is 1,015 pounds in 1919. Last year it bore between 500 and 600 pounds.

R. H. Still and Sport Fambrough, Gregg county stockmen, have constructed apparatus on their places for ridding cattle of the pesky horn flies which are now annoying stock badly. The ranchmen set up four posts about 25 feet apart so as to form a square. From the tops of the posts they stretched a single wire tautly. From the wire they hung grass sacks saturated with crude oil a few inches apart. In the center of the pen was placed a large container filled with 40 pounds of salt, 40 pounds of limestone flour and 20 pounds of bone meal. Cattle are attracted to the pen by this mixture, and as they enter their heads, horns and sides brush against the sacks and become smeared with oil. Horn flies will not light on the oil. "It gets the job done," their county agent reports.

W. G. Stamper, of Paris, (Lamar county), reports an egg laid by one of his hens has his initial branded on it. The letter "S" is perfectly imprinted on one end of the egg.

Planting restrictions have been lifted by the AAA to allow planting of approximately up to five acres of castor beans per farm, depending on size of farm, without being figured as soil depleting.

Because of national defense industrial activity at the present time, the third annual air conditioning short course of the A. & M. College School of Engineering has been postponed until the summer of 1942, it was announced by Wayne E. Long, professor of mechanical engineering. Postponement of the annual short course, which has proved very popular in past years, was in line with the general policy of the institution to place every activity not of an emergency nature in the background so long as the national emergency exists, Mr. Long said.

Farmers should be careful in the administering of the "sleeping sickness" vaccines to their animals, Dr. Herschel Payne, veterinarian, warns. "It should be administered intradermally and this does not mean under the skin," he explained. "Those who have given the 1cc dose have not given their animals adequate protection, as the dose when given under the skin is 10cc, and it must be repeated in 7 to 14 days. This means that each animal must be given 20cc before they are immunized," Dr. Payne pointed out.

Sleeping sickness among horses continues to spread in Cameron county, reports Dr. Grady Deaton, county prevention health unit head. "The fact that two injections of vaccine are necessary in each horse, together with the fact that its results cannot be noted for two weeks, is probably the cause of our failure to make gains now," stated the doctor.

A. M. Rector, who lives about three miles north of Palacios, (Matagorda county), discovered an alligator measuring 10 feet two inches lying next to the manger in a stall in his barn. He was starting to feed his horse, but being unable to get the animal to enter, he investigated and found the huge reptile. It weighed over 300 pounds. Rector and his neighbors advance the theory that the 'gator must have followed a drain ditch during recent heavy rains and became stranded.

Our Boys and Girls

AUNT MARY, Editor, 1809 Ashland, Fort Worth, Texas.

DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS:

Be sure to write me how you and your friends enjoyed the Glorious Fourth of July. This Fourth, particularly, should have a double meaning to all of my young readers because we are now preparing to defend those liberties that our forefathers defended—that they fought and bled for. These liberties are very precious and we must preserve them at all costs. If war should come, it will be our youths who shall bear the brunt of the fighting. I feel sure they will give a good account of themselves, for that has been true of all American boys since the War of Independence.

Long may the Stars and Stripes wave over our beloved land.

With love to all,
(Signed) AUNT MARY.

Try to Reach the Candy with Your Lips

Have you ever tried this balancing feat with a chair and a piece of candy? It is a jolly lot of fun. Place the chair as shown and place a piece of candy on the back. Kneel on the chair in the position as you see in the picture. Now try to reach the candy with your lips. Do you think you will be able to reach the candy? Try and see

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

The spirit of independence had its beginning far back in colonial days—long before there was any sort of trouble between England and the American colonies, even before the British Parliament began its attempt to tax the colonies. The true seeds of American Independence were planted on American soil by the first permanent English settlers.

The search for liberty, either religious, civil, or personal, brought thousands of European settlers to these shores. Young America was peopled with a race of men to whom liberty was more precious than life. From that day to this, our country has clung to the ideals of liberty, planted by her founders and it was because the full liberty of the American colonies was threatened by the British Parliament that the colonial leaders, after many attempts at conciliation with the mother country, finally declared on July 4, 1776, that "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States."

There were then no telegraphs, no cables by which England could keep in touch with her growing American colonies. The slow sailboats took weeks, often months, to carry news across the Atlantic. Here the people, to a great extent, ruled themselves. They had no kings, no nobles, and the power and importance of the common man became, as a result, greater than in the countries of the old world.

When the British Parliament passed the "Writ of Assistance," the "Stamp Act," the "Tea Tax," the "Boston Port Bill," it was resented as infringing upon the rights of the colonies. A feeling of independence began to assert itself, which grew slowly until it culminated in the Declaration of Independence.

Without first a strong colonial union, independence was impossible. Always, boys and girls, it must be remembered that the 13 original American colonies were not in any sense a single unified country as our United States is today. There was no common governor, no common legislative body or Congress. Therefore, it was necessary to bring about some kind of union before the growing desire for independence could take root.

It was in 1774, the year of the famous Boston Tea Party, that such a union was effected. On May 27, 1774, the members of the House of Burgesses met and recommended an annual Congress of Delegates from all 13 colonies. The First Continental Congress met in Philadelphia on the 5th day of September, 1774, and adjourned October 26, 1774, having brought the colonies together in the beginning of a union.

When the Second Congress was called May 10, 1775, hostilities had actually begun with the battles of Bunker Hill and the siege of Boston. The committee which drew up the Declaration of Independence was chosen on June 11. It consisted of the chairman, Thomas Jefferson, and four other members—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, and Robert R. Livingston. The chairman framed the Declaration. A few clauses in the Declaration against the King of Britain were struck out by the Continental Congress, but the declaration as it stands today, is substantially as written by Jefferson. It was reported June 28th and adopted July 4th amid the ringing of bells and a general jubilee. Copies were sent out broadcast over the signature of the President. July 19th Congress ordered the Declaration engraved on parchments.

August 2nd it was signed by fifty-three members of Congress then present. Absentees and other members signed later. The last signature was affixed November 4th. In 1823 a copperplate facsimile was made of the Declaration of Independence under orders of President J. Q. Adams. In the process the artist faded the original text and the signatures until portions are almost illegible. Up to this date the Declaration was shown freely and on special occasions thereafter, but in 1823 it was sealed in a steel case secure from light and decay. It rests in the keeping of the Secretary of State at Washington. The last surviving signer, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Maryland, passed away in 1832.

After more than a century and a half this great document exists not only in letter but also in spirit, for our country, whose birth it announced, "still stands secure upon a foundation of liberty, equality and justice—the great cornerstone of American Independence—firmly set in place on July Fourth, seventeen hundred and seventy-six, when the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of American Independence."

THE FRIENDLY HOBBY CLUB

A million thanks for the many letters written me last month by club members. Here is one of them. It is from Joyce William, who lives in Spur, Texas. She says: "I read your stories every month and like them very much. This is the first club I have ever joined but I think it is a good honest club. I think I shall enjoy the club and club work more than I can tell you."

Do older club members still enjoy the club work? What does the club work mean to you? These are just two questions to which I should like to have an answer. Please write Aunt Mary your answer.

SHIP NAMES

The resounding names of British warships, such as those which took part in the engagement with the German battleship Bismarck, are arrived at more or less systematically, although the rules of selection are not so closely adhered to as those governing the designation of American war craft, (battleships named after States; heavy cruisers after capital cities, etc.).

The British like, first of all, to perpetuate the names of earlier warships. For instance, aircraft-carriers are generally named to end in "ous"—Courageous, Glorious, Illustrious, etc.

125 YEARS AGO IN AMERICA

There was not a public library in the United States. Almost all furniture was imported from England.

There was only one hat factory and it made cocked hats. Every gentleman wore a queue and powdered his hair. Crockery plates were objected to because they dulled knives.

Virginia contained a fifth of the whole population of the United States.

A man who jeered at a preacher or criticized a sermon was fined.

Two stagecoaches bore all the travel between New York and Boston.

The whipping post and pillory were still used in Boston and New York.

Beef, pork, salt fish and hominy were the staple diet all the year 'round.—Scribner's Commentator Magazine.

GLIDERS

Germany's use of gliders for troop transports in the invasion of Crete has proved that motorless planes can play an important role in war. Gliders have many advantages over parachutes. They are harder to detect; eight men in a glider can slip silently in where eight men in parachutes would be spotted. Gliders, too, are safer. The gliding angle of 20 to 1 makes it possible for a glider released at 20,000 feet to reach a destination sixty miles away with an ample margin of safety. The low stalling speed of from 20 to 30 miles an hour makes it possible to land safely almost anywhere.

Mass transportation by glider is simply a variation of the well-established principle that a boat or locomotive can pull more than it can carry. A Junkers transport capable of carrying twenty men can pull from three to five gliders loaded with ten men each or their equivalent weight in munitions. Although the speed of glider trains is somewhat below that of an unencumbered transport plane, on short hops their use greatly increases the troop-carrying

W. G. (Bill) GILLIS, JR.
Kerrville, Texas, June, 30, 1941—According to word received at Schreiner Institute recently, W. G. (Bill) Gillis, Jr., a student at Schreiner Institute for two years from 1935 to 1937, received the Edgerton award at the United States Military Academy at West Point by reason of being the football captain in 1940 and also the Army Athletic Association's trophy that goes to the graduating cadet in the military academy who has rendered the most valuable service in athletics at the academy. Gillis was one of the East's hurdlers during the season just closed.

At Schreiner Institute, Gillis lettered in football and track for two years, and was an honor student as well as an officer in the cadet corps. He is the son of Judge and Mrs. W. G. Gillis of Cameron, Tex.

TRAP NETS FOR UNDER-SEA CRAFT

A recent announcement of the German High Command that a torpedo boat had heavily damaged a British "submarine trap" suggests that some of the anti-submarine devices of the last war are again being employed in the present conflict.

It is known that at the outbreak of this war submarine nets, the oldest of all U-boat traps, were installed at the entrance of all harbors under control of the British Navy. These nets are curtains of toughened strands of ten-foot mesh, 200 to 300 feet deep, with explosives profusely sprinkled up and down the wire. Upon coming in contact with the net, a submarine is immediately blown up.

ARTIFICIAL LIMB COMPANY CELEBRATES

The Hedgecock Artificial Limb and Brace Company, of Dallas, celebrated its 31st year of active business success in June.

The company was founded in 1910 by the late D. E. Hedgecock, who lost a leg while in the employ of a railroad. With his own experimentation, study, and scientific research as a basis, Mr. Hedgecock formed his company, employing skilled mechanics who had lost one or more limbs.

The Hedgecock services in building limbs and braces of every description come under three classifications. First, co-operating with surgeons to effect proper fitting of all appliances. Second, serving the United States government in fitting disabled soldiers. Third, proper fitting for individuals.

"Mass production methods will never apply to the artificial limb business," Mrs. Laura-Price Hedgecock, wife of the founder and now head of the factory, said recently, "because each case must be studied and fitted individually."

CLOTHES FOR VACATION

Whether the vacation is to last a few days or a month; whether you are taking a trip a short distance from home or to a distant point, your clothes will need special attention.

The modern miss has gone far in the conquest of time and space when she prepares for a vacation. Out of one suitcase she can pull more changes than a magician. The wise selection of garments will make or mar this vacation trip.

The wise woman studies the effect she can best create with her type of personality. She can choose to be the demure fragile type or the vivacious exotic type. There is a type of clothing for each.

A guest who can do anything surely endears herself to any host. Whatever program is planned she must be ready for action.

A bathing suit is almost indispensable whether it is for vigorously splashing in the water or for lolling on the sands. Choose your color carefully and certain types of capes can be used both for beach and evening wear.

Bathing suits range all the way, from the dainty deep purple checks in Little Princess cut with white bows applied on bodice and shirt with a gentle but far reaching swath of material. Colossal floral prints and chintz suits with pull-in mid-riff and elasticized straps are important winners.

Slacks are another "must" in the vacation wardrobe. They can be worn on the beach, bicycling or fishing, not to mention siesta, boating and hiking.

A white slack suit with a jacket of blue and white checked shirt with a white hat lined with or trimmed in the checks is really something to "bring home the bacon."

A play suit which will fully advertise your smartness is a knee length white jersey dress with a full pleated skirt and an easy jumper with short sleeves. This brings us to the "jerk-on" suit which can be arranged into many costumes. The "jerk-on" skirt and sleeveless jumper can be most effective if of a natural tone. By combining the jerk-on with other skirts and the neutral skirts with blouses and sweaters one can achieve the appearance of a limitless wardrobe.

A simple evening dress in white or pastel shade is necessary only if one is going to a fashionable resort. For the average Miss or Mrs. America an extra "nice" dress is all that is needed in the way of dress-up.

Shoes should be rather simple so as to limit the number. Of course, white is always appropriate on any and all occasions. A good pair of hiking shoes will serve for many purposes and they must be comfortable to the wearer.

Hats, too, can be simple. One small hat in a neutral tone and one large hat for the beach, picnics, hikes, etc., will usually get you by very nicely if plenty of attractive scarfs are tucked in for good measure.

Plan wisely and shop closely to be smartly dressed for that well deserved vacation. Here is wishing you a happy landing.

ARE YOU A GOOD COOK?

Uncle Sam is feeding his army well, because he firmly believes this is good business. When these soldier boys return to their homes, after the war is over, they may want better cooking.

"Cooking is not difficult. Any person of average intelligence can cook a satisfactory meal provided he takes an interest and follows a recipe." This statement opens the introduction to the training manual for the Army Cook.

It goes on to say further, "As a cook gains experience, he learns to bring out attractive flavors by blending and seasoning foods. The cook's work is not finished when he has cooked the food. He must learn to serve it in an attractive manner. This he learns to do by experience. There is no limit to what can be done to improve a mess by thought and care in seasoning, attractive serving and inventing new combinations and mixtures of foods. The pleasant task of cooking becomes doubly interesting to the cook who is not satisfied with merely cooking well, but takes advantage of every opportunity to find new and pleasing ways to prepare foods. To him cooking is not just a task—it is a pleasure." (Ladies, please make note).

Good cooking is recognized the world over as a fine art, and a good cook always commands respect. Cooks who perfect themselves in their art are always in demand, and many have acquired wealth and fame.

We might take this thought further and in this way help women to realize their important part in the life of America today. Some one has said, "We are the sum and substance of what we eat."

Food is a human need, and supplying meals economically yet nourishingly and well balanced, is an art worth mastering. That is why the army maintains schools for training cooks and why women of today must study and attend schools for the same purpose.

With the rising cost of foods, we will have to think sharply and plan wisely if we are to supply nourishment to keep our families well, yet stay within the family budget. Truly the first line of defense will be our dining tables.

There is a difference in preparing a passable meal and a meal that will bring words of praise from all members of the family. As a cook gains experience and uses imagination, he or she is able to produce culinary triumphs surpassing those of the day before. New and delightful combinations of colors, odors and flavors are to be had in cooking and should be used to break the monotony of a lifetime of three meals a day. The family will rise up and bless the cook who can turn all manner of inexpensive yet wholesome foodstuffs including left overs of former meals, into tasty dishes.

WE DINE

Breakfast Breads to Serve With Honey Tea Muffins

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
4 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream thoroughly; then add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating only until smooth after each addition. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425° F.) 20 minutes. Serve hot with butter and honey. Makes 12 medium muffins.

Corn Griddle Cakes

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup corn meal
2/3 cup thick sour milk or buttermilk
1 egg, well beaten
2 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt and sugar, and sift again. Pour boiling water over corn meal and stir until smooth; let stand 15 minutes. Then add milk and egg; add to flour mixture, beating only until smooth. Add shortening. Bake on hot, greased griddle. Serve with butter and honey. Makes about 18 cakes.

Summer is the trying time for the housewife to satisfy her family's appetite. At this time cool delightful dishes are craved, yet we know they must be nourishing. The use of vegetables in various styles and the generous use of eggs will help overcome some summer eating problems.

Vegetable Salad

2 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups boiling water
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 chopped onion
1/2 cup shredded cabbage
1/2 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped pimientos
2 tablespoons chopped olives

Soak gelatin in cold water. Stir in boiling water, sugar and salt. Add vinegar, chill until moisture begins to thicken. Pour into a mold in alternate layers with the vegetables. Chill in refrigerator until set, turn out on a platter and garnish with jelly, lettuce and mayonnaise. Time 15 minutes.

Any combination of vegetables or fruit may be used with this foundation. Fruit juices may replace part of the boiling water.

FRENCH POSSESSIONS IN THIS HEMISPHERE

French possessions in this hemisphere, currently a matter of concern by the United States lest they should be used as Axis bases, have known many periods of non-French control. Of the four possessions — Guadeloupe, Martinique and Guiana—they are at present constituted as colonies; before the collapse of France they sent Senators or Deputies to Paris. Tiny St. Pierre-Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland, is ruled by an administrator. Their origins are varied.

Guadeloupe was discovered by Columbus in 1493 and was settled by the French in 1635. Later the English captured it and for another period Sweden held it, but it was restored to France in 1818. Martinique was also discovered by Columbus, in 1502. It was given as a grant to a French mercantile company in 1635 and was later purchased by the French government.

Guiana saw many unsuccessful attempts at colonization in early seventeenth century. The first important attempt was made in 1643 at Cayenne. Through the years it was held at various times by the Netherlands, England and Portugal. St. Pierre-Miquelon was settled by the French in 1660.

BRITISH TROOPS USE GUERRILLA TACTICS

Detachments of the British Army—specially selected volunteers—are being trained in tactics having all the guerrilla qualities of independence, venom in attack and extraordinary physical endurance, according to the London Daily Herald's military expert.

"We march twenty-five miles in six or seven hours with a heavy load," an officer told him. "We come in wet, hungry, and short of sleep. Our muscles and feet and shoulders say that it is time to rest. But we don't rest."

"We go on for another fifteen or twenty miles, and, at the end of that, it would seem to be impossible to take another step or make another movement, but we go on and do a quarter of an hour's smart arms, drill, or run to the top of a near-by hill and back, or do a sim-infantry manoeuvre, or practice, say, an attack across a rough bit of country."

"Some of us have marched sixty-three miles in battle order in well under twenty-four hours. And all of have done a sprint march of twenty-four miles with arms and equipment and ammunition in six hours or less."

These men do not wait for or look for bridges with which to cross rivers. They crash into the water as they are, in battle dress, to see whether they can reach the other side. They always do. They practice going two or three days without sleep and for a long period without food.

"It all amounts to the forging by the army of a weapon for attack—attack of the hardest, most cunning nature," the expert adds.
