

FROM THE HOPPER

By Hop Jr.

We don't want to cast any reflections on our in-laws, but sometimes we do wonder just what kind of an upbringing our wife had in her younger years. She certainly missed some of life's more important things.

While out to a party the other evening, we picked up some favors that brought to mind our childhood years. Among them were a top and a sack of glass marbles. The party was inside so it wasn't a good place to practice with the top or the marbles, but we fell to playing with the top string, which when knotted at the end, converted into a loop of about the right length for some fun.

We first circled the string about both hands and passed our index fingers under each loop and turned the string wrongside out to perform the "sawing logs" stunt our daddy had taught us a long time ago.

The idea of doing things with a length of string caught on instantly and pretty quick June Magness had threaded up a "Jacob's ladder" for us. From that we graduated to a "crow's foot" as demonstrated by Beulah Williams.

It was amazing to see how the secrets of these parlor tricks had been retained in the minds of our friends through the years. Most everybody had a stunt they wanted to do—everybody except the wife. She didn't know what was going on.

Incidentally, on the subject of tops, what is the accepted style of throwing them: spindle down or spindle up? We learned to throw them spindle down but have seen boys who throw them vice-versa. Some of the old hands at the party maintained that the upside-down tops is the mark of really good top-spinners, so maybe we learned the wrong way.

Something else: this particular top that was going the rounds at the party had a sharp spindle. When we were spinning them, round spindles were preferred. The reason was because a sharp-pointed one would stand in one place as it drilled a small hole in the yard where we played, whereas the rounded one would dance around and stand a much better chance of kicking a bottle cap out of the ring.

About the only time we brought sharp spindles into play when we were a boy was to purposely try to damage somebody else's top that might be spinning in the ring at the time. The sharp point could, when launched with a hard throw, actually split other tops right in two if the hit was made just right. We've done this a time or two and had our own tops chopped up also. That's when the game gets a little mean.

"Well, they just don't make 'em like they used to" is applied to almost everything these days, and we guess it applies to tops, too. The one we were checking over last week was definitely out of balance. A fellow could hardly be expected to do much with such slipshod equipment. Looks like top-making has gone to the dogs, too.

Another thing that the wife has never been exposed to is ants in a jar. When this spring's first ant bed popped up about 50 feet from our front door, we were given explicit instructions to get out and poison them before they strung one of our two boys.

On the surface, such a mandate makes sense, but then the wife is forgetting the dignity of the ant, and what great entertainment these little critters will provide if just given half a chance.

We were about half way through poisoning the bed when we just couldn't stand the thought of killing off all of that fun, so we stopped long enough Monday evening to get a quart jar, fill it three-fourths full of sand, and pick up a dozen stragglers before they got killed.

The jar lid was screwed down tight and an air hole or two opened. We assured the wife that the ants could not get out but she seemed dubious. At this writing, we are still waiting to see just how enterprising our new ant colony will be. They are, of course, supposed to dig tunnels down the sides of the jar, enlarge small chambers near the bottom, and carry down some wheat or other small grain that we may drop in for them.

In a few days we'll know if modern ants are like the ones we used to watch when we were in short pants.

Scouts Reschedule Camping Trip

An overnight camping and fishing trip to Redlake planned for last weekend by the Texico Boy Scout Troop has been rescheduled for Friday at 6 p.m.

Purpose of the trip is to instruct Tenderfoot Scouts in camping, cooking, and first aid. Recreation will include fishing. The scouts will return sometime Saturday morning. The Conquistador patrol of the troop made the most points on an observation hike to the caliche pit Monday night. Nineteen scouts participated.

STREAKING OVER the low hurdles is Larry Pike of Farwell, who finished second in a blistering field at the state finals Saturday. Nosing him out is Ronnie Bull of Bishop, who won with a time of 19.5 Pike's time was the best of his career and often good enough to win the state meet, but it was second best Saturday.

Steers Place At State

Brilliant performances by Larry Pike in the low hurdles and 220-yard dash, plus a sixth place finish by Glyn Hardage in the 880-yard run pushed the Farwell High tracksters to a seventh place finish in the fabulous state meet in Austin Friday and Saturday.

Pike's showing in the hurdles was not unexpected but his third place finish in the 220-yard dash came as a surprise. Running in an elite field of champions, Pike turned in a 21.7 clocking in the furlong over the black cinders of Texas University's Memorial Stadium.

The Farwell flash's time of 19.7 in the 180-yard low hurdles was also a record performance for Pike who won his heat Friday with a 19.9. In the regional meet at Lubbock, Pike won his conference with a 20.6 mark. Ronnie Bull, Bishop High School all-state footballer, won the event with a timing of 19.5.

Pike also competed in the 100-yard dash but failed to place in the top six in the finals after being third in his preliminary heat Friday.

Curry Teachers Get Pay Hike

Texico faculty members and other Curry County teachers will receive an average increase in pay of about $700 as a result of a budget increase approved last week by budget authorities.

Increments will range from $195 to $900 per year and the base pay will jump from $3600 to $4300 for a bachelor's degree and from $3800 to $4700 for a master's degree.

Superintendent Agrie Jones says the raise is typical all over the state and that the Curry County system still rates about tenth in the state.

A revision of the credit allowable for teaching experience in and out of New Mexico was also approved.

Commission OK's Rededication

The request of property owners in the Hillcrest addition for the rededication of the subdivision was approved by the Farwell City Commission at its regular meeting Friday afternoon.

Location of the farm-to-market road south of town prompted the property owners to ask to change the locations and/or directions of several streets and alleys and lot dimensions.

Commissioners also discussed with representatives of the Farwell Study Club the idea of the club's responsibility of redecorating and furnishing the city hall and making it available for their meetings and other activities that would not conflict with public use of the building. Details will be worked out later. Representing the study group were Mesdames Sam Rundell, D. W. Bagley, and

★ ANOTHER JONES BOY

He may be just another Jones boy, but he's quite distinctive in many ways.

Not only is Brent Scott, who was born Saturday morning at Clovis Memorial Hospital, the first child for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jones, but he is also the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Partin Austin.

The list doesn't stop there, either. The 7-pound, 7½ ounce youngster is the first great-grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith of Clovis, as well as the first boy in the Austin family. He also makes Don Jones an uncle for the first time and Sherri Austin an aunt for the first time.

And, needless to say, they're all quite proud of him. Mrs. Curtis Jones frankly warns anyone who calls to inquire about the latest addition to the family that it will take at least two hours.

Farwell Seniors Take Tests

Farwell seniors are taking advantage of various tests offered in this area. Naomi Hubbell, Martha Smith, and Phillip White took the New Mexico Merit Tests at Texico, April 29. The same three students plus a number of alumni, plan to take a civil service test this summer, according to Mrs. R. B. Tucker, school counselor.

Four seniors and one alumna will take advantage of the GATB test battery, to be given at Clovis May 10.

PIKE GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Larry Pike has been notified by West Texas State College that he is the recipient of a scholastic scholarship. He received word of the honor Sunday.

The announcement was made before it was learned that Pike is valedictorian of the senior class of 1958 at Farwell, says Mrs. R. B. Tucker, counselor.

Texico Okays Budget

Approval of the town budget was the chief item of business at a meeting of the Texico board of trustees Saturday morning, J. H. Winegeart, newly-elected mayor, presided for the first time.

The board also voted to proclaim a city-wide clean-up week, examined a verification of the balances of the books through the end of Mayor Ira S. Levins' term and allowed routine bills and building permits.

The temporary budget, totaling $63,975, is subject to changes by the state department of finance and administration. A budget hearing is scheduled for June 12 at 3 p. m. in the Clovis City Hall. A breakdown of the budget is below:

Total operating budget for the general fund, $6,680 of which $952 is property tax; fire fund, $17,000; water and sewer fund, $21,745; general obligation bonds, $1,150; judgement $2,000; recreation (funds from state cigarette taxes), $400; and street paving bonds, $15,000. Total of all funds is $63,975.

According to city clerk Juanita Autrey, no over-all changes have been made in the budget since last year. In fact, many line items have been reduced and there are no provisions for raises anywhere.

May 19-26 was designated town clean-up week, and civic organizations as well as individuals will be asked to cooperate.

Trustees also authorized the fire department to begin the preliminaries necessary for purchasing a vehicle to transport emergency equipment and to begin specifications for the remodeling of the town buildings to provide housing for the vehicle.

Red Cross Course Ends Wednesday

Nine women participated in a Red Cross Home Nursing course which ended at Texico High School Wednesday. They attended class for one hour daily with second year home economics students.

Adults enrolled were Mesdames James E. Jones, Ben F. Pritchett Jr., Betty Baldrige, Auline Walker, Aileen Pearce, Margaret White, Velma Kelley, Ray Tharp, and Lola Richardson.

Mrs. Will Haynes Buried Tuesday

Word has been received here of the death of a former resident, Mrs. Will Haynes, in Lawton, Okla. Funeral services were in Silvertown Tuesday.

The family lived here until about 15 years ago. She was preceded in death by her husband and is survived by her two sons and two daughters. Details were not available.

MORE PHONE SERVICE BUT AT HIGHER RATES

The thing that appeared impossible for so long is about to take place. Texico and Farwell telephone users will be tied in with Pleasant Hill, South Clovis, and Ranchvale subscribers in an extension of telephone service.

Dialing these three additional exchanges without toll will become possible as soon as equipment to connect the new phones can be installed, and local users can now call these new numbers through the operator without a charge.

To compensate for this extra service, the City of Farwell granted Mountain States Telephone Company rate increases that took effect Wednesday of this week—the same day that free calls to the rural exchanges were started.

One-party business service is now $14.15—up from $12.25. Two-party business is $9.60, compared with the old rate of $8.40. For residential service, one-party is now $6.25 instead of $5.05; two-party $5 from $4.10, and four-party $3.85 from $3.35.

These rate increases were authorized by the city commission at a called meeting Tuesday afternoon, when they adopted an ordinance spelling out the new service and rates applicable to it.

This new development broke the four-month stalemate between Farwell and the telephone company. The city has steadfastly refused to go along with rate increases which were asked for last fall, claiming that "our citizens have telephone service they don't need and need service they don't have."

The main bone of contention revolved around the Pleasant

Hill and South Clovis exchanges, which are in the Texico-Farwell trade territory but which have never been accessible on a dial and toll-free basis to local residents. The rural exchanges are operated by RTA, a cooperative.

Meanwhile, in New Mexico the higher rates Mountain States was seeking went through and in recent weeks Texico has been paying more for phone service than was its sister-city, Farwell.

Announcement that Pleasant Hill and South Clovis would be tied in came as a big surprise to local people. Telephone representatives had maintained it a virtual impossibility to acquire this service, but it finally was accomplished.

The cost of extending the service will be born by both RTA and Mountain States, says C. H. Forester, Clovis phone manager. He said he had "no idea" of the amount of investment necessary to make the change and added that he could not tell how long it would take to install the equipment.

Forester and Mayor Sam Aldridge and Commissioners Smokley Gast and Lawrence McKilip sat down Tuesday in an atmosphere minus the strain of some previous meetings, when neither side would come to terms on what should be done.

The commission would agree to a raise, but not without South Clovis and Pleasant Hill. They didn't seek the Ranchvale exchange also, but it was thrown in by the phone company.

Forester and Aldridge both expressed appreciation to the other that the matter has been settled amicably.

The rates authorized by the city will be for three years.

Farwell Baseball Champs

Farwell Steers stampeded to the District 1-A baseball championship Tuesday afternoon with a 6-0 win over Springlake. It was the final conference game and the victory put the Steers in the top spot with a 4-0 win-loss record.

Coach Calvin Murray says arrangements for a bi-district game will be made this weekend and the game will probably be played next week.

Pitcher Owen Huffaker hit 3 for 4 with two triples and a single. He shared hitting honors with Johnny Lovelace who hit 2 for 3. The two players accounted for 5 of the 6 hits of the game.

Scoring for the game was Farwell 111 012. Totals were Farwell 6 runs, 6 hits, 2 errors, and Springlake no runs, 3 hits, 4 errors.

Huffaker pitched a no-hitter against Friona last Friday on the Chiefs' diamond. He walked the men who tallied the hosts' 3 scores to the Steers' 8. Totals looked like this: Farwell 030 030 2; and Friona 010 002 0. Losing pitcher was Charles Hough.

Highway 60 Work To Total $831,000

Although Parmer County got left out of the main or arterial intra-state master road program that was drawn up a year ago, improvements scheduled for this year to Highway 60, which slices from the southwest to the northeast corner, will be substantial.

The county this week was notified by the Texas Highway Department that the $831,000 will be spent on the highway this year in improvements. O. L. Crain, district engineer, Lubbock, says the road will be widened, improved, and seal coated with the funds.

Official confirmation is lacking, but observers expect the improvements to compare with the stretch in Highway 60 from near Summerfield in Castro

County to Hereford, which was completed last year. This work will not result in additional lanes but will give traffic substantially more room in addition to a smoother ride. From the Castro County line at the northeastern corner of Parmer County, Highway 60 stretches 36 miles across Parmer County, passing through Black, Friona, Bovina, and the top of Farwell.

The highway was widened to four lanes in both Bovina and Friona last year. America's intra-state highway network, drawn up last year, selected Highway 66 (through Amarillo, east and west) and Highway 80, (through Odessa, east and west) as the main four-lane routes for West Texas.

Approval has been given to the increased telephone rates in Farwell. The rate which went into effect in Farwell Wednesday, May 7, brought them up to those which have been paid by Texico telephone users for the past month.

This makes telephone rates paid by all Mountain States Telephone subscribers in the Clovis extended calling area identical. Concurrent with the increase in rates, the calling area for Texico-Farwell was extended to include Pleasant Hill, Ranchvale, and South Clovis. The charges previously made for calls from Farwell and Texico to those three communities have been eliminated. There has been no change in the method of placing calls to those communities.

We sincerely hope that the extended calling service meets with your approval and that you take advantage of the removal of the long distance charge.

Three Farwell seniors missed the junior-senior banquet—all three were away on school business. Larry Pike and Glyn Hardage were at the state track meet in Austin, and Johnny Armstrong was on the campus of Texas A&M, to take tests.

We are still waiting for more calls about our "share your cellar" campaign. Mrs. Elizabeth Turner was the first to call us about the plan, and we appreciated her interest and cooperation so much.

If we should have occasion to need underground shelters and you had failed to call; and if your friends and neighbors should be injured, you would never forgive yourself. We hope to hear from you cellar owners.

If we had seen the new director's room at the band before writing our story last week, we would have used more adjectives.

We had called Bob Anderson to get the information for the story and when we were in the bank Friday, we had an opportunity to look over the improvements.

The paneled walls in the room are so attractive, and the warm tones look like something from one of our "home" magazines. The best part, of course, is the coffee center. They have a coffee maker, and a cabinet with a sink to wash up the dishes. It's lovely.

Many youngsters will be embarking on the road to education in a few months. Of special interest to us was a list of things parents should teach their children before sending them off to the first grade. You might check to see if Junior will fit into the "ready to go to school" category.

Here are some things teachers can encourage parents to do in preparing a child for school:

1. Call the child by his real name.
2. Get his birth certificate ready.
3. Have him vaccinated early.
4. Let him dress and undress himself.

5. Encourage him to go to bed early.
6. Encourage good eating habits.
7. Encourage good bathroom habits and self care.
8. Take him to Sunday School.
9. Talk about "Stop" and "Go" signs.
10. Encourage him to tie his shoes.
11. Invite children of his age to the home.
12. Let him help select school clothes.
13. Encourage interest in books.
14. Provide experiences with clay, paints, paste, and scissors.

Wheat Looks Good In Parmer County

Some wheat is hurting this week, but on the whole, prospects for a big wheat harvest continue the best since 1949, indications are this week.

Dryland wheat, which has been doing extremely well until about a week ago when some of it began hurting for rain, still promises to yield well, although the rainfall of the past few days that has broken into scattered showers instead of general moisture has checked prospects.

Rainfall, high winds and sand, insects, and disease are the main factors affecting dryland wheat production on the Plains. Most all of these have been in favor of the farmer this year for the first time in many years.

In fact, this spring has been virtually without sandstorms and insects, and disease, except for mention of rust on the Eastern High Plains, is no problem, either.

Also, there has been no widespread damage from hail—but farmers are keeping their fingers crossed.

Irrigated wheat, which constitutes about half of the crop, is being watered as needed and will continue to make good progress whether rains come or not. Nearly all farmers are watering wheat this week with prospects of rain so scattered.

Parmer County farmers have about 84,000 acres of wheat up and coming, and unless hail and severe weather intervenes, all of this acreage will be harvested, believes Prentice Mills, county ASC office manager. The county allotment this year was 109,000 acres.

The price of wheat is dropping as the market anticipates a big crop over all the Great Plains and, in fact, almost all the country, USDA predictions are that the crop will be 36 percent larger than last year's crop and 13 percent larger than normal.

The government support program is expected to be the "price" of much of the 1958 crop with this case. In Parmer County, the wheat support price (still unofficial) will be $1.77 per bushel.

This is the gross support price, and storage and service charges will result in a net to the farmer of about $1.66 if he does not claim the grain from the loan before it expires.

Last year the support price was $1.99 (gross) in Parmer County.

Production of nickel-containing stainless steels in the United States occasioned by reduced defense requirements, was less in 1957 than the all-time high record established in 1956. However, the nickel-containing types accounted for a greater percentage of the total stainless steel output during the year than for any year since 1948.

It's cotton planting time on the High Plains again, and Glenn and T. O. Lesly are just like hundreds of others who have been "gettin' with it" this past week. Here they work as a team, seeding eight rows at a time.

The seed boxes must be frequently filled when planting cotton. Here T. O. dumps in a fresh supply of delinted seed. Most farmers have raised planting rates in anticipation of lower germination this spring.

Rushing Planting Of Area Cotton

Parmer County area farmers are rushing to get their cotton seed into the ground this week as fair weather prevails and, almost suddenly, the days have turned downright warm for this time of year.

In the southern part of the county, where a slight difference in climate plus lighter soils usually starts the season off earlier for the cotton grower, a few stands could be noted by the middle of the week.

An early stand—a really good one—is the pride and joy of every Plains cotton farmer.

Without that good early stand he figures he is waging an uphill battle all year long to produce the maximum amount his land and his labor is capable of producing.

So, the few farmers who had evenly-spaced shoots a-shinin' in the rows were wearing big smiles this week.

Most others, though, were atop their tractors or in the fields near at hand to see that the planting was done just so. It's one of the most important phases of cotton production, especially in this latitude where the chance for error caused by a "tight" growing season is not very tolerant.

Parmer County farmers have a cotton allotment of 47,298 acres this year, nearly all of which will be planted. The soil bank program has made very little difference.

The Texas Beef Council recommends this basic method for braising: brown meat on all sides in fat in heavy utensil. Season with salt and pepper. Add small amount of liquid if necessary. Cover tightly and cook at low temperature until tender. Economy fore-quarter cuts of beef are particularly delicious braised.

Today finds the producer of beef in a position much improved from the one he has been found in between now and about 1952. There have been some ups and downs, but mostly, cowmen haven't been getting their fair share until just pretty recently.

Beef production is one of the few really bright spots in agriculture at the moment. Just how long this will last is uncertain, of course. If anybody really knew, he could make some money.

But prices are good now, and demand is continuing strong as Americans, even though a "recession" is supposed to be gripping the country, continue to ask for red meat at the market.

How is it that the cattle industry has managed to come up in good shape at a time when many other segments of agriculture are gravely concerned about short-term prospects?

There are a number of reasons for this, and some are wholly beyond the reach of both producers and the USDA. Neither the cowman nor the government had anything to do with the drought just now ending, which reduced cattle populations, especially in our own Southwest, and brought supply more nearly in line with demand.

It is notable that the cattle industry is the biggest part of agriculture still outside the realm of government control, though we are quick to recognize that the government does play a hand in beef production and marketing.

Although producers were sustained with the much-abused drought relief feed program through the lean years and the USDA from time to time made government purchases of beef in the market place to bolster sagging prices, the cattle business has righted itself without production quotas or a support price on live cattle.

Essentially, then, today's good condition of the industry is a tribute to the members themselves, who have ridden out another streak of "hard times" to find things better and their business still their own.

The nation's producers of beef have been among the first to recognize and take advantage of market development and product promotion. They have engaged in an "eat more beef" campaign that has been sustained for several years and is now showing results.

If they pursue the present course, they may expect to continue to see consumption of their product increase, as a result not only of the natural growth of this country and broadening of the market because of an increase in population, but per capita-wise as well, because they are educating Americans to eating more meat.

Just what the producers of wheat, feed grain and cotton want in the way of a farm program for the long pull is a moot question. It is argued that land farmers—the producers of the so-called "basic" commodities—are too many in number and that they are too unwieldy a group to work together for themselves to control production and market their commodities effectively.

That may be perfectly true for all we know. But the cattle industry, whose empire extends to every corner of the country, is pretty big itself, and it seems to be able to average things out surprisingly well.

Agriculture is a business, in addition to being a way of life. The sooner more people come to realize this, the better for the farmer. Science and technology are changing farming just as surely as they revolutionized manufacturing and brought about the industrial revolution.

An offshoot of the new era coming for the nation's growers of feed, food and fiber is what the agricultural economists call "vertical integration." This is a scary term, but it isn't nearly as frightening as it might seem at first. It's a lot easier to think of it as "contract farming" because that's what it actually is. And, it's certainly nothing new, in industry OR agriculture.

Under this system, a farmer contracts with a processor to grow a certain number or a certain amount of products at a set price. This price is agreed to before production is ever undertaken, and holds firm regardless of what happens to the market in the meantime, or how high or how low the production costs may be for the producer.

Contract farming is not way out in the future, either. It's taken over the biggest part of the broiler industry, and is headed out of the chicken yard straight for the hog pen.

Because pork production is not nearly so specialized a business as broiler raising, it will take years to make the change there, but farm economists say the switch is almost inevitable.

Here in the Southwest where we pride ourselves with being first in so many fields, it would not be unreasonable to think that somebody may try contract production of beef, especially since the High Plains has established itself as such a prodigious producer of feedstuffs.

Both Nitrogen, Phosphate Needed In Sandier Land

Experimental plots for wheat on the Beryle Nix farm near Lariat offer promise that a combination fertilizer application of both nitrogen and phosphate is the best way to increase yields on sandier lands.

This is the second year that tests, arranged in cooperation with the Amarillo Experiment Station, have been run of such land. On the Nix farm, 194 plots 10x50 feet each have been treated with 13 different fertilizer applications. The results of this fertilizer is apparent to even the casual or inexperienced observer.

County Agent Joe Jones, who has arranged for two field trips to see the tests, says farmers and fertilizer dealers have been impressed with the difference that varied fertilizing makes. The plots will be carefully harvested by special machinery and the grain weighed before results will be considered conclusive, but there's plenty that meets the eye already.

Close definitions of what's best for the individual farmer should await this harvest, but the trend appears to be headed in this direction:

1. Irrigation alone on sandier soils will probably not raise yields sufficiently to justify expenses.
2. Nitrogen-type fertilizer, the most common kind in use today, will increase the yield.
3. But nitrogen alone cannot produce a yield as great as nitrogen and phosphate in combination.

Most observers agree that the formulas 120-40-0 and 120-80-0 look the most promising at the test site.

These steps were taken on the Nix farm: the land was broke, listed, fertilizer was applied in bands, and the wheat was watered up. It was Temmarq.

This sandier type soil probably accounts for about one-third of the total farmland in Parmer County.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Do you think the people who do the work producing the equipment and supplies you use in farming should be allowed to demand and get higher pay for their work when it is known that that increase in pay will be charged to you in purchases you make? If you don't think the above is right, it won't hurt to write your congressman and representative and let them know how you feel. It appears that there are some legislators who will agree with you and it is possible that this uncontrolled monopoly may be weakened, if not broken.

Farm Bureau officially urges Congress to place labor unions under the same anti-trust provisions under which their employers must operate. So there can be no misunderstanding about it, we make this statement: Farm Bureau asked the president to veto the "freeze" resolution on the farm program, and when he had done so, stated that he acted with "courage and good sense." In opposing the price "freeze," Farm Bureau made it clear that it favors price supports where appropriate as an aid to orderly marketing and as a protection to farmers during periods of change and adjustment.

J. Harrel West, Texas Farm Bureau President, speaking to Service Representatives in Waco last week, said that he was strongly in favor of working with commodity organizations and other farmer organizations where possible. He said that he thought it could strengthen Farm Bureau, and maybe strengthen the other groups, too, to which he surely had no objection. The main objective is to get farmers more closely united in their principal objective, to gain opportunity for a good net income from the production and marketing of their commodities.

Do you talk with the Farm Bureau director in your community about your farm problems so that he can present them at regular directors' meetings? If not, why don't you just attend one of them yourself, the first Monday night of each month in the office in Friona? CONSIDER THIS: To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice. Proverbs 21:3

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Now that planting time is here, farmers should keep in mind ways that they can keep their farm land productive. One practice that is a step in the right direction is interplanting cowpeas with grain sorghum. This is a summer legume crop which will add nitrogen to the soil when inoculated, thus making the nitrogen available for the next year's crop. It will also increase the water intake and the water holding capacity of the soil.

Cowpeas can be interplanted with grain sorghum with a special attachment for this purpose. They should be planted at the rate of 4-8 pounds per acre, at a depth of 1.5-2.5 inches. Attention should be given to the variety planted as some varieties such as Brabham tend to cling and climb the stalks. Brabham should be used in feeds planted for silage.

An interesting fact was called to our attention about the effect organic matter has on soil temperature. Two temperature checks were made side by side. One was on land which had cotton burrs applied, the other without. The soil temperature where burrs and anhydrous ammonia were applied was 8 degrees higher. We also know that in soils with high organic matter there is an insulating effect in the summer and soils are cooler, thus have less evaporation.

Organic matter also improved the infiltration rate of the soil. Conserve your organic matter.

Bindweed Control Continues In 1958

The noxious weed eradication committee sponsored by the Parmer County Farm Bureau is continuing operations again this year under the direction of Chairman Raymond Schueler, Rhea; and Vernon Symcox, Farwell, secretary.

Members include A. G. Schlabs, Black; A. R. McCutchan, Bovina, Joe Jesko, Lazbuddie; and R. D. Dale, Farwell. Excellent cooperation has been received from County Agent Joe Jones, Prentice Mills and the county ASC committee, the Soil Conservation Service and the county vocational agriculture departments, the committee reports.

The work of the committee has been primarily in the eradication of field bindweed. They are working on the control of all other noxious weeds as the committee realizes the increased trouble that will come as farmers increase and intensify irrigation practices.

Other programs include working out eradication programs for the county, state, and railroad rights-of-way, educational programs in the schools, and regular attendance at the Bushland experiment station field day on weed control.

Cooperation with the commissioners court has been very good, the committee reports. In 1957 the commissioners court made available sodium chlorate to farmers to treat bindweed on the county right-of-way adjacent their farms. The chemical is free to the farmer if he will also treat the bindweed on his own farm. He must pay for the sterilant used on his own land. This program will be continued in 1958.

Cooperation with the State Highway Department has been good, also. In 1957 a group of farmers surveyed the highway rights-of-way in the county and marked each plot of bindweed. The Highway Department immediately went to work treating all bindweed plots that were on the road way. This is done at no cost to the farmers.

Four years of conferences with the Santa Fe Railway were climaxed in 1957 with the awarding of a contract to Doherty Weed Killers of Plainview to eradicate 2.65 acres of bindweed on the Amarillo branch of the Santa Fe. At a conference in Amarillo on April 24, 1958, a representative of the Santa Fe system told Raymond Schueler they plan to eradicate all bindweed on their rights-of-way in Parmer County before moving into another area.

The railroad requires, however, that the farmer or businessman next to their right-of-way must also clean up the bindweed on his property before they will cooperate.

This leaves the largest area in the county for bindweed infestation on individual farm lands. In a survey taken in 1957 through the cooperation of the county ASC committee, it was found that a minimum of 242 farms have bindweed infestations. This was not a complete survey as the survey was voluntary and less than 50 percent of the farmers cooperated. These infested farms range from a few sprigs scattered over the place to 80 percent coverage on a 1/4-section farm.

Since bindweed spreads 1/3 each year the best time to control it was yesterday but today is the next best time. In 1955 Parmer County farmers purchased and applied sodium chlorate to approximately 400 acres of field bindweed. The 1957 survey shows however there is still a tremendous acreage in the county.

The county ASC committee has agreed to continue paying approximately one half the cost of a soil sterilant where it is used on field bindweed at the recommended rates and time. They emphasize, however, that payments can be made only for application to bindweed plots. Johnson grass or blueweed is not eligible.

Methods of control vary for types of infestations. For the small isolated plot a soil sterilant is the best method of control. Sodium chlorate at the rate of five pounds per square rod is the recommended application. If possible the treated spots should be flooded with irrigation water. This will greatly increase the rate of kill. For the large area infestations where it is impossible to use soil sterilant, the best control method is a five-year program of fallow, wheat, fallow.

The ground must be clean cultivated every 11 to 14 days during the growing season for this program to be successful. It must be emphasized that bindweed is a perennial plant and haphazard cultivation will not do the job. It must also be emphasized that cultivation during a summer crop will only spread bindweed. Bindweed can be spread either by the seed or roots.

If you are considering a cultivation control program and have not had any previous experience along this line, it is recommended that farmers talk to some of the professional agricultural workers or a farmer who has had experience in this line of control. Suitable cultivation equipment and proper plowing times are the key to the success of this program.

Two bulletins on the control of noxious weeds are available in County Agent Joe Jones' office. Any member of the weed committee or any of the professional agricultural workers in the county will help work out a program of weed control for the farm. Any person who does not know how to identify bindweed can call on any of the above persons for assistance.

Don't you enjoy serving whole strawberries and cherries in preserves? Our grandmothers spent long periods of time making these delicacies, but it is not necessary for us to follow their methods. For quick and easy strawberry or sour cherry preserves, try the following recipe:

5 cups fruit (About 2 1/2 lbs. ripe sour cherries, pitted, or 1 1/2 quarts ripe strawberries)
5 1/2 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
Water (3/4 cup for cherries, 1 cup for strawberries)
Measure 5 cups fruit (firmly packed without crushing) into a large saucepan. Add sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring carefully. Remove from heat. Mix powdered fruit pectin and water in small saucepan and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Add to hot fruit and mix well. Skim off foam. Stir and skim by turns for ten minutes to prevent floating. Ladle into glasses and cover at once with paraffin.

Don't overlook using your deep fat fryers for preparing fried pies. A standard recipe for any kind of fried pies has been sent to us by one of our readers and we are passing it on:

We need some help. Will someone who has an issue of the Parents Magazine in which the Mrs. America recipes were printed please come to our rescue? For the past two weeks much time has been spent in an effort to locate our copy which contains a Happy Homemaker column. So far we have failed to find it.

If someone will be kind enough to lend us a copy, we will make every effort to keep up with it and return it to its owner after we have finished with it.

Mother's Day is just around the corner and some of us have not bought gifts for our mothers yet. Sometimes it is difficult for us to find something to buy that is different. In one of our newest magazines we ran across an item that would make an ideal gift for any mother who works in her yard.

The name of this particular gadget has escaped our memory, but it was a simply constructed combination holder for small items and knee protector. The main part of it was box like with one side left open. Handles were mounted on each

1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon shortening
Enough flour to make stiff dough

Cooked fruit
Mix and sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening and buttermilk to make stiff dough. Roll thin and cut in circle the size of saucers. Spread half of circle with mashed, stewed and seasoned fruit. Fold over other half of dough and crimp around the edges with a fork. Fry in hot shortening until golden brown on both sides. Serve warm.

Our appreciation goes to everyone who writes us letters, cards, or sends in recipes. We are grateful to each of you for your consideration. Maybe some of our readers fail to sign their names to communications because they do not want us to print the names.

We would appreciate it very much if any one of you who care to write would do so, and if you don't wish to have your name in the paper, just let us know and we will be glad to comply with your wishes. However, we'd surely like to know who you are.

Laboratory and field tests conducted by workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that Terraclor, when properly applied, will give effective control of Southern Blight in peanuts. Details on the tests may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and asking for Progress Report 2014.

The new "Market-Matic" system installed by the Port City Stockards Company of Houston is a direct result of a recent survey conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

On Wednesday, April 20, the Parmer County HD kitchen leaders met in my office for a training meeting on kitchen cabinets.

Storage of all equipment and supplies where you need it, easy to reach, get rid of all things you don't use, store together things you use together, place utensils, dishes, and food supplies so that moving one to get to another is not necessary and other pointers were discussed.

Then the leaders went to my apartment to see the kitchen storage devices that I have in my cabinet. These devices include half and one-quarter width shelves and step shelves placed in the cabinet to conserve space and fit articles that I have to store. For instance, I have service for 12 of china stored in the space of two regular shelves. Knife racks and spice shelves were also shown.

If you are interested in any of the articles contact me and ask for Kitchen Storage Devices You Can Make, MP 209. It will give you some good ideas.

If you're annoyed at tattle-tale gray clothes and a ring in the bathtub, better check the soap you use, according to extension home management specialists.

Whatever you choose—either soap or syndet (synthetic detergent)—should be right for your water supply.

In hard water, soap mixes with the minerals in the water to form a scum. It's hard to rinse this out, so your clothes take on a gray look. However, if you have natural soft water or soften both the hot wash water and the rinse water, soap will do as good a cleaning job as a syndet.

In hard water, syndets do a better cleaning job than soap. They soften the water so that no curd is formed.

Choose the soap or syndet made for the washing job you plan to do. For heavy-duty wash jobs special ingredients added to soaps and syndets give greater cleaning power. Most packages for heavy-duty wash are marked with "all-purpose," "family wash," or "wash everything."

Jobs for the light-duty deter-

gents or mild soaps are marked on the package—"wash lovely lingerie, protect your hands in dishwasher, for baby things, etc."

For washing satisfaction, check your water carefully, keep special laundry problems in mind and choose the soap or syndet accordingly.

Even the most reckless driver is not entirely useless, according to the Texas Safety Association, because he can always be pointed out as a horrible example.

Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist, emphasizes the importance of getting a good stand with the first cotton planting. High quality cotton planting seed, he says, may not be available for excessive replantings. Germination will be reduced, he adds, if the seed are planted in soil which has not reached the proper temperature of 70 degrees F. at a 3-inch depth for 3 successive mornings at 7 a. m.

Both Nitrogen, Phosphate Needed In Sandier Land

Experimental plots for wheat on the Beryle Nix farm near Lariat offer promise that a combination fertilizer application of both nitrogen and phosphate is the best way to increase yields on sandier lands. On the Nix farm, 194 plots 10x50 feet each have been treated with 13 different fertilizer applications. The results of this fertilizer is apparent to even the casual or inexperienced observer.

This sandier type soil probably accounts for about one-third of the total farmland in Parmer County.

County Agent Joe Jones, who has arranged for two field trips to see the tests, says farmers and fertilizer dealers have been impressed with the difference that varied fertilizing makes. The plots will be carefully harvested by special machinery and the grain weighed before results will be considered conclusive, but there's plenty that meets the eye already.

Do you think the people who do the work producing the equipment and supplies you use in farming should be allowed to demand and get higher pay for their work when it is known that that increase in pay will be charged to you in purchases you make? If you don't think the above is right, it won't hurt to write your congressman and representative and let them know how you feel. It appears that there are some legislators who will agree with you and it is possible that this uncontrolled monopoly may be weakened, if not broken.

Close definitions of what's best for the individual farmer should await this harvest, but the trend appears to be headed in this direction:

1. Irrigation alone on sandier soils will probably not raise yields sufficiently to justify expenses.
 2. Nitrogen-type fertilizer, the most common kind in use today, will increase the yield.
 3. But nitrogen alone cannot produce a yield as great as nitrogen and phosphate in combination.
- Most observers agree that the formulas 120-40-0 and 120-80-0 look the most promising at the test site.
- These steps were taken on the Nix farm: the land was broke, listed, fertilizer was applied in bands, and the wheat was watered up. It was Tenmarq.

Farm Bureau officially urges Congress to place labor unions under the same anti-trust provisions under which their employers must operate. So there can be no misunderstanding about it, we make this statement: Farm Bureau asked the president to veto the "freeze" resolution on the farm program, and when he had done so, stated that he acted with "courage and good sense." In opposing the price "freeze," Farm Bureau made it clear that it favors price supports where appropriate as an aid to orderly marketing and as a protection to farmers during periods of change and adjustment.

J. Harrel West, Texas Farm Bureau President, speaking to Service Representatives in Waco last week, said that he was strongly in favor of working with commodity organizations and other farmer organizations where possible. He said that he thought it could strengthen Farm Bureau, and maybe strengthen the other groups, too, to which he surely had no objection. The main objective is to get farmers more closely united in their principal objective, to gain opportunity for a good net income from the production and marketing of their commodities.

Do you talk with the Farm Bureau director in your community about your farm problems so that he can present them at regular directors' meetings? If not, why don't you just attend one of them yourself, the first Monday night of each month in the office in Friona?

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Now that planting time is here, farmers should keep in mind ways that they can keep their farm land productive. One practice that is a step in the right direction is interplanting cowpeas with grain sorghum. This is a summer legume crop which will add nitrogen to the soil when inoculated, thus making the nitrogen available for the next year's crop. It will also increase the water intake and the water holding capacity of the soil.

Cowpeas can be interplanted with grain sorghum with a special attachment for this purpose. They should be planted at the rate of 4-8 pounds per acre, at a depth of 1.5-2.5 inches. Attention should be given to the variety planted as some varieties such as Brabham tend to cling and climb the stalks. Brabham should be used in feeds planted for silage.

An interesting fact was called to our attention about the effect organic matter has on soil temperature. Two temperature checks were made side by side. One was on land which had cotton burrs applied, the other without. The soil temperature where burrs and anhydrous ammonia were applied was 8 degrees higher. We also know that in soils with high organic matter there is an insulating effect in the summer and soils are cooler, thus have less evaporation.

Organic matter also improved the infiltration rate of the soil. Conserve your organic matter.

Bindweed Control Continues In 1958

The noxious weed eradication committee sponsored by the Parmer County Farm Bureau is continuing operations again this year under the direction of Chairman Raymond Schueler, Rhea; and Vernon Symcox, Farwell, secretary.

Members include A. G. Schlabs, Black; A. R. McCutchan, Bovina, Joe Jesko, Lazbuddie; and R. D. Dale, Farwell. Excellent cooperation has been received from County Agent Joe Jones, Prentice Mills and the county ASC committee, the Soil Conservation Service and the county vocational agriculture departments, the committee reports.

The work of the committee has been primarily in the eradication of field bindweed. They are working on the control of all other noxious weeds as the committee realizes the increased trouble that will come as farmers increase and intensify irrigation practices.

Other programs include working out eradication programs for the county, state, and railroad rights-of-way, educational programs in the schools, and regular attendance at the Bushland experiment station field day on weed control.

Cooperation with the commissioners court has been very good, the committee reports. In 1957, the commissioners court made available sodium chlorate to farmers to treat bindweed on the county right-of-way adjacent their farms. The chemical is free to the farmer if he will also treat the bindweed on his own farm. He must pay for the sterilant used on his own land. This program will be continued in 1958.

Cooperation with the State Highway Department has been good, also. In 1957 a group of farmers surveyed the highway rights-of-way in the county and marked each plot of bindweed. The Highway Department immediately went to work treating all bindweed plots that were on the road way. This is done at no cost to the farmers.

Four years of conferences with the Santa Fe Railway were climaxed in 1957 with the awarding of a contract to Doherty Weed Killers of Plainview to eradicate 2.65 acres of bindweed on the Amarillo branch of the Santa Fe. At a conference in Amarillo on April 24, 1958, a representative of the Santa Fe system told Raymond Schueler they plan to eradicate all bindweed on their rights-of-way in Parmer County before moving into another area.

The railroad requires, however, that the farmer or businessman next to their right-of-way must also clean up the bindweed on his property before they will cooperate.

This leaves the largest area in the county for bindweed infestation on individual farm lands. In a survey taken in 1957 through the cooperation of the county ASC committee, it was found that a minimum of 242 farms have bindweed infestations. This was not a complete survey as the survey was voluntary and less than 50 percent of the farmers cooperated. These infested farms range from a few sprigs scattered over the place to 80 percent coverage on a 1/2-section farm.

Since bindweed spreads 1/3 each year the best time to control it was yesterday but today is the next best time. In 1955 Parmer County farmers purchased and applied sodium chlorate to approximately 400 acres of field bindweed. The 1957 survey shows however there is still a tremendous acreage in the county.

The county ASC committee has agreed to continue paying approximately one half the cost of a soil sterilant where it is used on field bindweed at the recommended rates and time. They emphasize, however, that payments can be made only for application to bindweed plots. Johnson grass or blueweed is not eligible.

Methods of control vary for types of infestations. For the small isolated plot a soil sterilant is the best method of control. Sodium chlorate at the rate of five pounds per square rod is the recommended application. If possible the treated spots should be flooded with irrigation water. This will greatly increase the rate of kill. For the large area infestations where it is impossible to use soil sterilant, the best control method is a five-year program of fallow, wheat, fallow.

The ground must be clean cultivated every 11 to 14 days during the growing season for this program to be successful. It must be emphasized that bindweed is a perennial plant and haphazard cultivation will not do the job. It must also be emphasized that cultivation during a summer crop will only spread bindweed. Bindweed can be spread either by the seed or roots.

If you are considering a cultivation control program and have not had any previous experience along this line, it is recommended that farmers talk to some of the professional agricultural workers or a farmer who has had experience in this line of control. Suitable cultivation equipment and proper plowing times are the key to the success of this program.

Two bulletins on the control of noxious weeds are available in County Agent Joe Jones' office. Any member of the weed committee or any of the professional agricultural workers in the county will help work out a program of weed control for the farm. Any person who does not know how to identify bindweed can call on any of the above persons for assistance.

Don't you enjoy serving whole strawberries and cherries in preserves? Our grandmothers spent long periods of time making these delicacies, but it is not necessary for us to follow their methods. For quick and easy strawberry or sour cherry preserves, try the following recipe:

5 cups fruit (About 2 1/2 lbs. ripe sour cherries, pitted, or 1 1/2 quarts ripe strawberries)
5 1/2 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin Water (3/4 cup for cherries, 1 cup for strawberries)
Measure 5 cups fruit (firmly packed without crushing) into a large saucepan. Add sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring carefully. Remove from heat. Mix powdered fruit pectin and water in small saucepan and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Add to hot fruit and mix well. Skim off foam. Stir and skim by turns for ten minutes to prevent floating. Ladle into glasses and cover at once with paraffin.

Don't overlook using your deep fat fryers for preparing fried pies. A standard recipe for any kind of fried pies has been sent to us by one of our readers and we are passing it on:

FRIED PIES
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon shortening
Enough flour to make stiff dough
Cooked fruit
Mix and sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening and buttermilk to make stiff dough. Roll thin and cut in circle the size of saucers. Spread half of circle with mashed, stewed and seasoned fruit. Fold over other half of dough and crimp around the edges with a fork. Fry in hot shortening until golden brown on both sides. Serve warm.

Our appreciation goes to everyone who writes us letters, cards, or sends in recipes. We are grateful to each of you for your consideration. Maybe some of our readers fail to sign their names to communications because they do not want us to print the names.

We would appreciate it very much if any one of you who care to write would do so, and if you don't wish to have your name in the paper, just let us know and we will be glad to comply with your wishes. However, we'd surely like to know who you are.

Laboratory and field tests conducted by workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that Terraclor, when properly applied, will give effective control of Southern Blight in peanuts. Details on the tests may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, and asking for Progress Report 2014.

The new "Market-Matic" system installed by the Port City Stockards Company of Houston is a direct result of a recent survey conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

On Wednesday, April 20, the Parmer County HD kitchen leaders met in my office for a training meeting on kitchen cabinets.

Storage of all equipment and supplies where you need it, easy to reach, get rid of all things you don't use, store together things you use together, place utensils, dishes, and food supplies so that moving one to get to another is not necessary and other pointers were discussed.

Then the leaders went to my apartment to see the kitchen storage devices that I have in my cabinet. These devices include half and one-quarter width shelves and step shelves placed in the cabinet to conserve space and fit articles that I have to store. For instance, I have service for 12 of china stored in the space of two regular shelves. Knife racks and spice shelves were also shown.

If you are interested in any of the articles contact me and ask for Kitchen Storage Devices You Can Make, MP 209. It will give you some good ideas.

If you're annoyed at tattle-tale gray clothes and a ring in the bathtub, better check the soap you use, according to extension home management specialists.

Whatever you choose—either soap or syndet (synthetic detergent)—should be right for your water supply.

In hard water, soap mixes with the minerals in the water to form a scum. It's hard to rinse this out, so your clothes take on a gray look. However, if you have natural soft water or soften both the hot wash water and the rinse water, soap will do as good a cleaning job as a syndet.

In hard water, syndets do a better cleaning job than soap. They soften the water so that no curd is formed.

Choose the soap or syndet made for the washing job you plan to do. For heavy-duty wash jobs special ingredients added to soaps and syndets give greater cleaning power. Most packages for heavy-duty wash are marked with "all-purpose," "family wash," or "wash everything."

Jobs for the light-duty deter-

gents or mild soaps are marked on the package—"wash lovely lingerie, protect your hands in dishwater, for baby things, etc."

For washing satisfaction, check your water carefully, keep special laundry problems in mind and choose the soap or syndet accordingly.

Even the most reckless driver is not entirely useless, according to the Texas Safety Association, because he can always be pointed out as a horrible example.

Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist, emphasizes the importance of getting a good stand with the first cotton planting. High quality cotton planting seed, he says, may not be available for excessive replantings. Germination will be reduced, he adds, if the seed are planted in soil which has not reached the proper temperature of 70 degrees F. at a 3-inch depth for 3 successive mornings at 7 a. m.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

We need some help. Will someone who has an issue of the Parents Magazine in which the Mrs. America recipes were printed please come to our rescue? For the past two weeks much time has been spent in an effort to locate our copy which contains a Happy Homemaker column. So far we have failed to find it.

If someone will be kind enough to lend us a copy, we will make every effort to keep up with it and return it to its owner after we have finished with it.

Mother's Day is just around the corner and some of us have not bought gifts for our mothers yet. Sometimes it is difficult for us to find something to buy that is different. In one of our newest magazines we ran across an item that would make an ideal gift for any mother who works in her yard.

The name of this particular gadget has escaped our memory, but it was a simply constructed combination holder for small items and knee protector. The main part of it was box like with one side left open. Handles were mounted on each
