The structure just below number one is the cafeteria where portions of the roof in the cafeteria and stage were torn off. Arrow number one points toward the gymnasium. The topless shell is the girls' dressing rooms; the boys' dressing rooms are to the west side and the west and north ends of the gym are demolished. Number two arrow is the remains of the ag shop. WHITHARRAL HARD-HIT

Tornado Leaves 1 Dead, 6 Hurt

By NILAH RODGERS
Leader News Staff Writer

A raging tornado which left the Whitharral community in shambles Friday night claimed the life of a Littlefield man Saturday morning.

In addition to the death, the toll of injured included at least six persons, and damages reached into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

William G. (Bill) Ellis, a Lamb County REA engineer was dead on arrival at Littlefield Hospital Saturday morning after he came in contact with a hot line northwest of Whitharral.

Ellis was attempting to restore power to the stricken community.

Another REA employee, J. D. Cox, received minor burns when he pulled Ellis off the line.

The storm left four members of the Joe Chavez family with superficial cuts when it swept through the community Friday night.

A truck driver was injured when the semi-tractor truck he was driving hit a utility pole on U. S. 84 two miles west of Anton Friday evening. Donald Lomb of Riverside, Calif. was the driver of the vehicle which struck the pole and became entangled in highline wires. He was treated at Littlefield Hospital for lacerations on his face and hands and released.

The tornado came out of black, stormy skies and "exploded" on the Whitharral community like a giant "ball of fire."

The Whitharral Elementary School, the cafeteria, high school gym, the vocational agriculture building, the Farmers Co-op Gin and a big gin-owned employees' building were hard hit, with damages yet undetermined.

Although few residents were in cellars when the tornado struck, the only personal injuries were to the Chavez family, who lived in the building northwest of the gin.

Minutes before the tornado, about 30 persons were playing volleyball in the gym. Rev. Clarence Teddar, pastor of the Whitharral Baptist Church, warned the players of the tornado sighted at Whiteface and the building was vacated about 10 minutes before the twister struck.

"It hit Walden's Grocery store like a big ball of fire," said J. C. Taylor who lives across the street north of the Whitharral schools.

"It was so bright, we didn't even know when the electricity went off," R. L. Heard said. Taylor said the fire extended 100 feet up in the air and the length of the power lines as far as he could see to the east when it hit the ag shop and gin.

"The whole town was lit up," Heard said. "Then after the tornado passed, it was deathly quiet and dark."

A high wind preceded the cyclone, then there was a period of stillness before the twister unleashed its destructiveness.

The Chavez family had gone to bed when the twister hit,

Mr. and Mrs. Chavez had time only to fall across their children on their beds. The building was destroyed and debris was scattered up to two miles.

Chavez, an employee of the gin, lived in the front of the building that also contained several other family units that weren't occupied at the time.

Chavez suffered a cut leg and finger and the oldest son, Eddie, had a shoulder injured.

Some heavy appliances and household goods ended up in a field across the road northeast of the gin property. The only piece of the building not disturbed was a commode bolted to a concrete floor.

The newest school structures at Whitharral received the most damage. The brick elementary school, built in 1965, was damaged beyond repair. Every room in the building was structurally damaged, with walls pushed out, ceilings falling in, and tree limbs and trunks protruding through windows.

The concrete block vocational ag shop built six years ago was demolished, while the old frame ag shop just to the south and the frame bus barn that were built in the 30's were lightly damaged.

The school cafeteria-auditorium built in 1953 had extensive damage, with the walls on the west side pulled away from the roof, and heavy water

Hot Line Kills Littlefield Man

Friday night's storm reached Littlefield Saturday morning with the death of William G. Ellis, 43, an REA engineer who was helping repair rural lines northeast of Whitharral, and with the hospitalization of J. D. Cox, another REA employee, who pulled Ellis off the hot line.

They were working on a line nine miles south, two east and 1 1/2 south of Littlefield when the accident occurred.

Ellis was dead on arrival at Littlefield Hospital and Cox is being treated for minor superficial burns, according to the doctor's report to the city police department.

All reserve REA employees were busy Saturday getting lines and about 75 poles back in place in the storm-stricken area.

In ordinary circumstances, Ellis would not have been working on lines.

Funeral services for Ellis were pending at Hammons Funeral Home at presstime Saturday.

The threat of the season's first tornado and the blast of the city's warning system sent hundreds of Littlefield citizens to storm shelters.

Mixed sizes of hail--from small to pea-sized, to some as big as golf balls--hammered rooftops, automobiles, windows and foliage about 9 p.m. to begin the storm's threat in the city.

Butch Sutton, 44, was struck by a hit-and-run car on Tenth Street while he was attempting to reach a storm cellar. According to reports, he was bruised only slightly in the mishap.

About 100 homes in the Crescent Park Addition along East 14th to 18th Streets, had window glasses blown out and sections of yard fences blown down.

Two businesses reporting missing windows were Littlefield Motor Parts and Allen

Area Damages High In Twister's Path

The tornado that hit Whitharral was apparently the same funnel that first hit Whiteface and then left a devastating path as it cut through toward Anton, Bainer Switch, Spade, Hale Center and Cotton Center.

Damage reports in this area in addition to those at Whitharral include a wellhouse roof and barns blown away at the Edward Meltons northwest of Anton.

Several buildings were damaged in the Bainer Switch area, including extensive damage to a new hog plant operation owned by Dr. Clifford Payne.

The Lindell Holly and W. B. Jones farm homes near Spade received heavy damage, but there were no personal injuries since both families were in Lubbock when the tornado struck.

Part of the Holly roof was blown off and two helpers' houses and a tractor shed were flattened two miles west and one south of Spade.

A portion of the roof was lifted and layed over in the front yard of the Jones farm two and one-half miles west and two south of Spade.

Fifteen hundred feet of aluminum pipe was scattered, out buildings and two trailers were destroyed and windows were broken out at the W. E. Byrd farm one mile west of Spade. The farm is leased by Bob Nickels.

OTHER WEEK NEEDED

Anti-Hail Funds Near Goal

Lamb County Weather Association hopes enough money collected by end of this week to all of Lamb County the Pep area from hail the entire 1970 crop

May 15 through October 30. Although the Earth, Spring-lake and Olton areas did not join in the initial county weather improvement fund raising drive, the residents of these communities have their own program and are raising their share of the money to finance the northern part of the county's protection.

Only four farmers in the Pep community paid in on the hail protection program and because this isn't a representative amount, these persons will be refunded and this block will be left out of the program.

Thomas J. Henderson, president of Atmospherics, Inc. will be present for the open house at the Plainview airport May 13 to show off the equipment and personnel that will be employed in the hail suppression that begins May 15.

Hale County will be footing about half of the total cost for the hail suppression program. Approximately 4,000 acres in Floyd and almost that many acres in the eastern edge of Bailey County will also be included.

Three twin-engine planes will be used to seed all threatening hail clouds with silver iodide to prevent damaging hail storms. Three cloud seeding pilots, one radar operator-technician, a radar system, project vehicles, cameras, seeding devices, support equipment and supplies will be used over the approximately 2,000 square-mile area.

See page for a map showing farmers who have contributed their cost share of 32 cents per acre and a list of businessmen and money contributed toward the program.

Cancer Drive Nets $3,539

A grand total of $3,538.79 had been deposited in the bank by Friday afternoon for the American Cancer Society from funds collected over the county to that date.

According to Mrs. Nell Cotter, the house-to-house drive in Littlefield had brought in $1,105.75 of the total, with nearly all of the money in that drive turned in.

Chairman of the business drive, Tom Sawyer, said late Friday that $1,542 had been turned in, with two or three reports still to be made. He was in hopes that portion of the city campaign could reach $1,600.

According to Mrs. Eloise Cox, publicity chairman, the cancer drives in Sudan and Amherst have netted a grand total of $1,081.91.

H. H. Potter, chairman of the Sudan drive, reported a total of $454.69.

Amherst Chairman Mrs. John

Enloe, turned in a total of $627.22.

Both of these chairmen are closely associated with cancer in their families and wanted to express a special "thank you" to the people in the Sudan and Amherst areas," Mrs. Cox said.

Run Clock Up

It's nearing "Spring Forward" time again, and Lamb County and Texas citizens have only one more week of Central Standard Time before they have to switch to Central Daylight Saving Time.

Residents will again advance their clocks an hour in order to "save" an hour of daylight for working in their yards, or for leisure.

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 26, and clocks will remain advanced until the last Sunday in October.

The incident occurred sometime after school was out Thursday and before 2:30 a.m. when police found the damage.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

How We Take It

By BOB WEAR

THE BIG DIFFERENCE in people is in how they take what happens to them. The same general experiences make some people bitter and some people better.

The people react in different ways to the same kind of happenings.

TO SOME PEOPLE, difficulties are stumbling blocks, but to others difficulties are stepping stones.

The most difficult life experience can be handled quite successfully if we are wise in the way we take it: and we can be wise.

WE CANNOT HAVE EVERYTHING just the way we would like it to be. No one does, but we can decide how we are going to take what happens. "No life is so hard that you can't make it easier by the way you take it." -Glasgow.

If we expect life to be easy, we expect what never was, and never will be. Living is not easy, but can be a highly successful experience, and richly rewarding. Everything depends on how we take it.

"Life has no smooth road for any of us; and in the bracing atmosphere of a high aim the very roughness stimulates the claims to steeper steps, till the legend, "over steep ways to the stars" fulfils itself." -W. C. Doane.

ADVERSITIES CAN MAKE US or break us. Sooner or later they will enter our life situation, and then we will learn what kind of persons we actually are.

Of course, it must be admitted that all of us can learn how to accept these adversities. We can even learn how to turn them to our profit.

"Adversity exasperates fools, dejects cowards, draws out the faculties of the wise and industrious."

A WOMAN'S VIEW

By PEARL BRANDON

RECENTLY I SPENT a few days in Midland with a niece who is suffering from brain damage caused from head injuries she received in a car wreck a few years ago. She was in the hospital undergoing tests and her little son was very concerned about her.

ONE EVENING he came in and lay down on the couch near me and said his head hurt.

He had brought in poor grades that day and with his mother ill, he had troubles.

We talked a little while, then he said, "Aunt Pearl, do you really think God hears people when they pray?... I don't believe He hears me...and I can't hear Him. How can you tell when God hears you?"

THIS WAS REALLY a stumper. How can you explain spiritual things such as God and prayer to a disturbed little boy? Children take things so literally. I had to do some deep searching.

HOW CAN WE TELL when God hears us? Does He really answer prayers, even for little boys? Then I said:

"Well, Kent, sometimes in the night when I'm afraid I pray, and I ask God to help me...then I'm not afraid any more. Isn't that answering me?"

puts the modest to the necessity of trying their skills, awes the opulent, and makes the idle industrious." -Anon.

IN TIMES OF STRESS and strain, it is not what happens to us; but what happens within us that determines whether we fail or succeed in our living.

Someone has said, "Tribulation will not hurt you, unless it hardens you, and makes you sour and narrow and skeptical."

EACH PERSON has the privilege of deciding how he is going to take the tribulations which come into his life.

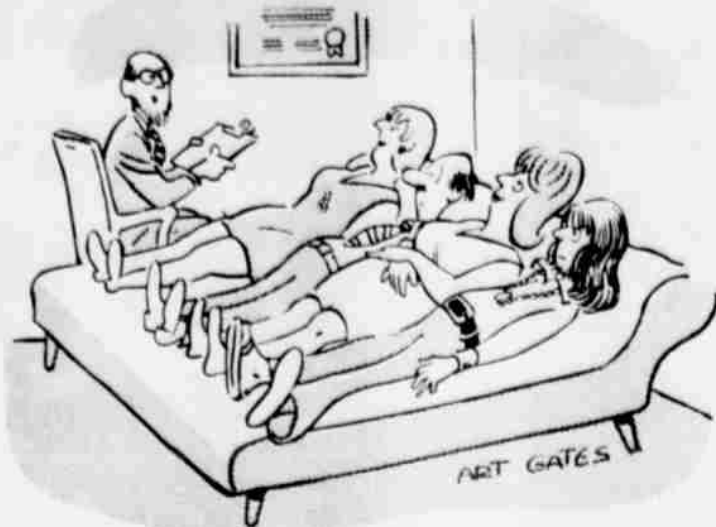

If they are taken in the best possible way, they can become blessings. This is what we must do, even if, at times, it is necessary to get help from someone who understands.

IT SEEMS EASIER to take the pleasant happenings, the successes and the good fortune. It is not necessarily so, because there is a wise way and an unwise way to take these happenings.

We can be arrogant and haughty, or we can be humble and grateful. The first way just about ruins our good fortune, but the second way enhances it. When we are humble and grateful, we add to our own self-betterment; and improve our relationships with others.

SOMEONE HAS SAID, "Your greatest trial comes at the moment of your greatest good fortune." This is probably true. It all depends upon how we take it.

WE DO NOT ALWAYS have a choice about what happens to us, but we always have a choice about how we take it.

"First, let me welcome you all to group therapy!"

Pottery Poisoning

Homemakers can test their own Mexican pottery to detect harmful lead in the glaze. The lead can cause severe illness through lead poisoning.

Recently the Food and Drug Administration warned that continued use of some Mexican pottery or earthenware for food purposes could cause lead poisoning.

Lead is a cumulative poison so it is essential for people to take all steps possible to see that lead intake is kept to a minimum, according to Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

The homemaker can place vinegar in the dish or casserole and let it stand overnight. The dish should be only partly filled with vinegar so she can easily see if there is any difference in the glaze below the vinegar line, says the specialist.

If she detects a change in the glaze, the dish should be used only for non-acid foods. Acid foods include fruits such as tomatoes and citrus fruits and vegetables such as green beans, spinach and broccoli. If the homemaker wishes to bake in the pottery, Miss Reasonover suggests lining the dish with aluminum foil.

Pottery that shows a rough or dull glaze rather than a glossy one gives the most lead when mildly acid solutions are placed in it, Miss Reasonover says. She recommends that the careful consumer test any highly glazed dishes before using them for foods with a high acid content.

The warning has been conveyed by FDA to all state health authorities as the first in a series of steps to remove hazardous products from the market. Action is based on FDA's legal responsibility to protect the health of the U. S. consumer the specialist adds.

The U. S. government has informed the Mexican authorities of these measures in order to cooperate in finding a solution to the problem.

FDA chemist test glazes with a five per cent acetic acid solution. They let the acid stand overnight in the dish then analyze the solution for lead. In all of the dishes they have tested lead showed up when the glaze had been visibly dulled by the acid solution.

PAUL HARVEY

A Liberal

STUDENT MALCONTENTS, reacting violently in what they call a "revolution against the establishment," have been called by California Gov. Ronald Reagan "cowardly little fums."

Vice President Spiro Agnew characterizes them as "kooks and misfits."

Will today's misguided young rebels grow up to regret their grotesque misbehavior? I don't know.

I CAN TELL YOU what happened to one "revolutionary" student of a generation or so ago--when he grew up. Call this "the unmaking of a liberal."

When William was a cub reporter on the New York Evening Journal he was a flaming radical. Off-work evenings, on a soapbox in Newark, N.J., he preached to any who would listen that socialism was "the hope of the world."

BY 1913, WILLIAM had taken a wife and his revolutionary ardor cooled. When a child was born to their happy marriage, he melted more. And William remembers it was more the miracle of that child than any increase in his economic status that changed his whole philosophy.

In 1913, taking graduate studies at Columbia University, he revolted against his own previous notions of "socialist equality." He decided that "nature had never read the Declaration of Independence and so had continued to make us all decidedly unequal."

NOW WILLIAM is 84. If you have not guessed his name, I'm reciting the rest of the story of one of the world's most esteemed historians, Dr. Will Durant.

Looking back, Dr. Durant would rewrite a few chapters of his own and our country's history, if he could.

WHEN HIS RESEARCH shifted from biology to anthropology and history, Will Durant discovered that our civilization is really precariously young.

Man has been on earth a million years, yet he has accomplished all he has accomplished in barely one-fortieth of that time. With the discovery of agriculture 25,000 years before Christ, his nomadic hunting days began to end. Man settled in communities, established social order, partly by law and partly by moral code.

UNDER THIS UMBRELLA of social order, communal life expanded, literature developed, philosophy ruminated, the arts and sciences grew and flourished.

So when you show historian Will Durant a society in which morality and law are in retreat, where hunting-age instincts of violence are increasingly unchained and untamed, he sees this not as progress but as retrogression backward toward the mud whence man came.

THERE IS EVERYWHERE evidence that the arts are in trouble: Opera is in the red; museums curtail acquisitions, hours and maintenance; music schools, symphony orchestras, dance companies and eminent public libraries are--in the world's wealthiest nation--threatened with bankruptcy.

Newest statistics show today's school-agers are measurably, on average, less rather than more advanced.

With the fertility of incompetence breeding the human race from the bottom--while the relative sterility of intelligence lets the race wither at the top--civilization again is threatened by barbarians, these from inside.

DOWN TO EARTH

Make It Fit

By JIMMY R. ALDRICH

MAKING THE PUNISHMENT fit the crime is one of the key factors in the control exercised by a society over destructive behavior of its members.

Penologist generally agree that certainty of punishment and swiftness in exercising it are also essential factors.

SADLY, our society does not achieve these factors because of the slow and often ineffectual turning of the wheels of justice.

The traditional picture of the Goddess of Justice is that of a blindfolded woman holding a set of scales.

There's a frustrated feeling today that she is also deaf and dumb. The fault lies as much with the apathetic public as it does with the structure, enforcement and interpretation of law.

WHILE CERTAINTY of apprehension and swiftness of punishment are constant and elusive goals, some interesting efforts are being made to achieve flexibility in making the severity of punishment fit the crime.

For instance, the proposed drug control legislation (S3246), now before the nation's Congress, would give the judge a choice of punishment, ranging from counseling and treatment without criminal record for first-offender marijuana users to imprisonment for life without parole and forfeiture of possessions for the drug peddler who proves

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

ALRIGHT, ALREADY!--So Mr. Andrew Tully is upset because the users of the Postal Service are gonna have to foot the bill for the recent pay-raise of it's workers!

He laces the president up one side, and down the other because it has been so decreed!--Where, for Pete's sake, SHOULD the money come from?--The Boy Scout fund?

MR. TULLY don't even know that I exist, and probably cares less, but, from what I've read of his writing, I'm of the opinion that he has more trouble finding something to write about than I DO!--If the presidency and congress were suddenly abolished, HE'D be a DEAD DUCK!

SURE, and I'm against the federal waste of our tax dollars. The seemingly hopelessness of Vietnam, and the helplessness of the taxpayer, but, I haven't given up on our president. Yet!

SEEMS TO ME that it's sound judgment, in this matter of the postal raise, to let it's patrons pay the bill.--Isn't every other business run on this basis?--Looks like, to me, that we'd be in better shape, governmentally speaking, if more phases of our government programs were run on the same plan.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Old Sayings

(Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm ran out of newspapers this week but that didn't seem to stop him.)

Dear editor: Of and on over the years, in between newspapers, I've been working on a fence out here on this Johnson grass farm and was hard at it more or less the other morning when a neighbor stopped by and said:

"Still working on that fence, huh? How long you been at it? Must be 15 or 20 years now. My grandfather once told me a man should never start something he can't finish. See you later."

Not having a newspaper to read I sat down and thought about what he'd said. After long reflection I have concluded it's just another of those old sayings, like what goes up is bound to come down, which was said by a man who never paid any taxes.

You follow the principle of not starting something you can't finish and see where you get. For one thing, we wouldn't have any high-to be part of continued criminal activity.

PROPOSERS of the legislation point out that part of the drug world controlled by organized crime is populated with profane who would not be deterred by sentences and light fines.

Hence, they say, society must be protected from this type of law breaker by more severe measures.

WITHOUT "SOFTENING" the attitude toward illicit drugs, the proponents contend that a marked distinction should be made between experimenting use of first offense and the person possessing drugs with intent to sell. They propose to spell out the difference so the judge can make the punishment fit the crime.

THE ISSUES will and should be thoroughly debated. Christians concerned about protecting lives and redeeming people should become thoroughly informed about the issues.

Provision of the widest possible latitude in fitting the punishment to the crime is urgently needed one step in making restraints meaningful.

ALTHOUGH ULTIMATE solutions lie in changing lives from within we should support meaningful attempts to restrain evil-doers as wisely as possible.

Why should I pay taxes to subsidize the railroads if I don't subsidize them?--The airlines, and steamship lines, likewise?--If I ain't got no cents worth to say to aunt Sophia I shouldn't write in the first place. WOULDN'T IT MAKE just as much sense for the government to bill over the telephone, and tax everyone on an equal basis to pay the bill?--Yeah, I gotta telephone, and the farther, and the longer I talk the more I payee!--Yet, I don't have to have a telephone, and don't have to pay for long-distance calls unless I make them.--Mab sense?

One thing I would like to see is about a twenty cent charge on all that mail that comes to my box, addressed "Occupant" Betcha that'd slow down some of the junk mail!--And from my own experience, a deletion of this kind of mail would cut the needs of postal personnel by about one-half.

SO, A PHOOEY to youse, Mr. Tully!--If you want to "UN-SELL" me on our president, you'll have to come up with something better than hog-Wash you've been dishin' out lately!--Besides, I'm still tryin' to help him come up with a Supreme Court judge that's as spotless as our senators!

If it be Possible

let this cup pass from me" (St. Matthew 26:39). Even the Son of God could not always have His way. The bitter cup did not pass. Even though Jesus prayed three times for the cup to go away, He always concluded with, "not as I will, but as thou wilt". He drank it deliberately in a calm majestic mood, while God stood by in loving sympathy. By drinking that most bitter cup, Jesus became the Saviour of the world. God gave Him strength for the suffering and through this heroic deed, Jesus became perfect. People, all about us, every day, cry the same prayer, "let this cup pass from me". We tremble at the ordeal ahead. Our faith shrinks to know we must suffer such fate as St. Matthew spoke of. But suffering seasons us. It links us to God, for high adventure and noble service through His church.

Is Jesus God?

Rev. E. E. Houlette
United Pentecostal

THIS QUESTION is one that has puzzled everyone.

When only a child I can remember thinking this question over. In my childish thoughts, I would think of Him as an old man showing His age like paintings of the old patriarchs.

Then of a younger man possibly in middle age. The older man was called God and the younger called Jesus.

Could never get a figure to fit the Holy Ghost.

Could vision the older man trying to persuade the younger to go to the earth and die for the sins of the people.

The younger finally giving in and the joy of the older because now man would have a savior.

As we grew older we found this to be the thought of the majority.

BEING A DAILY Bible reader the Scriptures began to tear my theory down.

No longer could I see God as an old man. In John 4:24, Jesus said that God is a spirit.

In John 10:30, "I and my father are one." This seemed confusing. How could they be one and God be a spirit?

Matt. 1:18 states that Jesus was fathered by the Holy Ghost.

Luke 1:35, "He shall be called the son of God." Surely this was confusing. Then maybe God and Holy Ghost might be the same. Was that possible?

Jesus surely was the son of Mary. She was overshadowed by the Holy Ghost at the time of His conception. No man there. Luke 1:35

That being the case, God had to be a spirit. Angels are spirits and can appear in any form. Mary was overshadowed by the Holy Ghost but her child was called the son of God.

This was very conclusive, about God being a spirit and the Holy Ghost, His spirit which is holy.

BUT WHAT ABOUT the Son. Where had He been before Mary gave birth to Him? Had He always been a son with a body?

If so, then how could that son be reborn. Did God perform a miracle so that the body which would have been hundreds of years old be made over into a baby. These thoughts were very puzzling.

However the Bible is self explanatory. In John 1:1, "In the beginning was the Word."

Word is spelled with a capital letter. This tells us it is a name of something or person.

The latter part of the verse stated the Word was with God and was God.

This expression of "with God and was God" had me stopped for a long time. How can a thing be a thing and yet be with it.

History helps us out. George Washington is known by his character, yet his character made him what he was.

Abraham Lincoln was known as honest. Honesty was really the man. It was him and yet was him.

Even so, The Word or His character was what was God and yet was with God. The spirit that makes us do what we do with us and yet it is the real us.

Wonder why it took me so long to see this?

In the 14th verse of John 1, "the Word was made flesh and dwelled among us," had been no son up until this time. It had been the Word.

Now what was the Word is the son. The prophecies had told of the coming of the Son. Had there been a son there would be prophecies telling of one to come.

The printed word surely was with God at the beginning but had to wait until man was ready for man to write it.

TO BE HUMAN as well as divine had to have an earthly mother so Mary was needed. A mother of the family of man but a virgin of the divine or the spirit realm.

Could we say He is God and also man? Why not, as He really is.

The man Jesus, many times, spoke of His earthly mother and also the man Jesus of His heavenly father. John 3:16

"He is the only son of God."
"We are sons of God born of water and of the Spirit, but he was born by an earthly mother, blood alone can save from sin as it has divine in it."

Out of deep study and prayer a great truth was born. No one else will ever see this way.

All of God was not in Jesus as all of a man is not in a son. Solomon said that the heavens could not contain Him.

Col. 2:9 says, "all the fullness of the deity dwells in Him bodily." The apostle Paul explains it this way, "For in Him dwells all the fullness of deity (the God head) who dwells in bodily form giving complete expression of the divine nature."

God came in man to save man. His wonderful plan.

Friend, keep reading with an open mind. I did.

THE VOLLEYBALL net was still in place even though the Whitharral High School gym was destroyed in the Friday night tornado. Rev. Clarence Teddar warned a group of volleyball players in the gym in time to vacate the school grounds before the twister hit.

THE JOE CHAVEZ family had gone to bed when the tornado struck Friday evening. The parents threw themselves across their children on the beds just before the twister struck. Four of the seven received minor injuries, only, although the building was demolished.

damage, but damages to the kitchen area and stage were light. Walden's Grocery had the porch pulled off and damages there were to the front of the store. A few feet to the north, however, a mechanic's garage made of concrete block was totaled. Hockley County Highway Patrolman Don Kuykendall tried to reach Whitharral to warn residents. "But it beat me here," he said. "I've seen a lot of tornadoes, but never one like this one."

It could only be seen sky lit up with lightning. It looked like a big ball more up and down than shaped. It didn't last more than a couple of feet wide, but it could be a quarter mile or more. Members of the Whitharral school board were meeting with insurance representatives Monday at press time. Announcement was to be later stating when school resumes. With the use of the Club Building and the in the community, it was that school could possibly session again Monday.

Polls Open Saturday For Street Election

By JOELLA LOVVORN
News Editor, Leader-News

Littlefield voters go to the polls Saturday to decide on issuance of $365,000 of street improvement bonds.

Absentee balloting in the election closes at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the city secretary's office at city hall, and by Friday afternoon, four persons had cast ballots on the issue.

Qualified voters who are property owners will place their votes in one box and non-property owners will place their ballots in another box. In order for the issue to pass, the property owner's box must carry, and the combined total of the two boxes must carry.

The ballot will simply state "FOR" or "AGAINST" the issuance of $365,000 of street improvement bonds.

Tom Hilburn will serve as presiding election judge and Hazel Clement will be alternate presiding judge.

According to studies made by City Engineer Bill McMorries, the city has completely lost 20 or 30 blocks of streets in the past two years due to heavy rains, snows and freezes.

If the bond issue passes, more than 400 blocks of paved streets will be repaired or completely re-done from the base up. About 20 percent of the total number of streets to be repaired will receive only a single seal coat: 55 percent would receive a double seal coat; and 25 percent of them would be torn up, re-worked and paved with hot mix overlay.

Included in the project will be curb and gutter work on about 20 blocks to improve drainage. Some dips at the intersections will be concreted to save wear and tear on areas where water might stand.

Included in the plan of work to be done is widening of Phelps Avenue about four feet, down an area from 10th Street southward to about 17th. Phelps Avenue is one of the streets which will be torn up, re-worked, and have curb and gutter additions.

If voters approve the bond issue, the bonds will require 15 years to be paid out, at an estimated 6 1/2 percent interest.

Present tax rates are $1.09 per hundred of property value, at two-thirds of value, and if the bond issue passes, the annual increase would amount to about 20 cents per hundred. If a property owner's assessed value is $2,000, his present tax is $21.80 and his tax would be $25.80 after the increase—about 33 cents per month.

Property with assessed value at $3,000 now pays $32.70 in taxes and would pay $38.70, an increase of 50 cents per month.

Property with assessed value of $5,000 now pays $54.50 in taxes and would pay $64.50.

70 Heart Fund Reaches $733.58

The 1970 Heart Fund drive in Littlefield has reached $733.58, according to Mrs. Bonnie Mann, Littlefield Campaign chairman.

With all of the city reports in, there are still some businesses who have not been contacted.

The house-to-house and business drives netted $727.58 for the fund and a special memorial heart fund has $6 donated to it in memory of Mrs. Maudine Massengale, who died Thursday morning.

"We certainly appreciate the splendid response of the people of Littlefield to the 1970 Heart Fund appeal," Mrs. Mann said, "and if anyone wishes to make memorial gifts to the heart fund, we would appreciate it if they would contact James Lee at First National Bank," she continued.

"Although March was Heart Fund Month, we are still getting a few donations," Mrs. Mann concluded.

Taxi Service Soon

Within a week, Littlefield will again have taxi service, and city councilmen decided to waive the monthly franchise tax and bonding of the operator as called for in the provisions of the City Taxi Ordinance, during their regular meeting Thursday night.

Marvin Webster, who will operate the service, appeared before the council and made a request that the provisions be waived. Councilmen agreed to make the waiver effective for a year.

Webster said he would have his proper insurance papers ready by next week and that he would be ready to begin business then.

Councilmen discussed at length a problem at the sewage plant concerning an excess of grease which is causing maintenance problems.

City ordinances governing disposal of grease through the sewage system were discussed, and New City Manager Pat Bradley was authorized to have the grease analyzed to tell whether it is animal or mineral fat.

Four Littlefield residents were appointed to the Tax Equalization Board, with terms to begin May 1. They are Curtis Chisholm, Stanley Doss, Roy Wade and Charles Duval.

The city manager was authorized to re-deposit $145,300 worth of certificates of deposit which matured in April. The certificates will be re-deposited for a period of six months to draw interest.

A Loyalty Day Parade, to be sponsored by the VFW on election day, May 2, was approved by the councilmen. They stated that the parade could not come to the city hall because of the election code and laws governing elections, and that the parade would have to be turned at Fifth Street.

Workmen's Compensation Insurance renewal was approved and councilmen authorized the city manager to check into the renewal of the fire and extended coverage insurance for the city hall and fire station.

Other routine business included:

1. Reading and approving minutes of the previous meeting.
2. Approving monthly bills for payment, and
3. Reviewing and approving monthly department reports.
