Bugs, Worms Add To Woes

LEONA HARMS took the $20 cash prize as winner in the arts and crafts division of Littlefield's Third Annual Sidewalk Art Festival Friday afternoon. Her unique "Uncle Sam", done in various size and color of nails, received 176 votes of a viewing public to cop the top honors. Other Art Festival pictures may be found inside.

"Bollworms and cabbage loopers are serious pests for cotton crops in Lamb County, and the grain sorghum mites have begun to do some damage to maize and corn," said Lamb County Agricultural Agent Buddy Logsdon.

"We have widespread infestation of the pests in dryland and irrigated crops, and to date we've experienced great difficulty in controlling the worms," Logsdon said.

Cabbage loopers, (sometimes known as measuring worms) eat leaves of the cotton plant and give it a very ragged appearance.

"The opinion of a lot of cotton producers is that if you begin control programs, the process should continue with at least three to five applications at five-day intervals or less—so, this gets to be quite an expensive operation," Logsdon said.

He continued by saying, "It's a hard decision to make because of the expense involved and the difficulty of control. Those with good production prospects might want to go ahead with spraying."

Heavy infestations of the cabbage looper in cotton could possibly defoliate plants and are cause for concern this early. "The small worms are pretty easy to kill, but unfortunately, cabbage loopers are extremely difficult to control with chemical treatment. However, natural controls usually control the looper populations. In several fields which were checked the past few days, up to 20 percent of the loopers appeared to be infected with the polyhedral virus, which is the best control that we have for the looper," Logsdon said.

Light bollworm infestations in fields have been reported and are being observed in many areas. Producers are urged to observe their fields and should conditions warrant it, control procedures should be applied.

"Grain sorghum mites are making appearances in Lamb County fields again. They were bad about two years ago and caused a lot of damage before farmers knew what was wrong," Logsdon said.

He said farmers who have been spraying for greenbugs should have these insects under control.

When mites begin sucking sorghum or corn plants, the plants turn brown, die and sometimes fall.

Logsdon said farmers may look on the under side of sorghum or corn leaves and observe closely for movement of the small brown mites.

"We need to alert the farmers on this problem, because the mite is causing extensive damage to corn in the Olton area," Logsdon said.

"They are easy to control with parathion," he said.

"Greenbug activity has almost ceased in many areas. Some spraying is still being done in isolated cases and parasitic wasps have 'cleaned' the greenbug populations in many areas. Much of the grain sorghum is approaching harvest and should not require further chemical treatment," Logsdon concluded.

Child Fatally Injured When Hit By Auto

The third accidental death inside Littlefield city limits in less than three weeks occurred Thursday afternoon when 17-month-old Lewis Rios was struck by a car.

Parents of the child are Mr. and Mrs. Amado Rios.

Assistant Police Chief James Cox and patrolman James Tiller investigated the accident. Cox called the accident unavoidable, saying the toddler dashed out in the street in front of the auto driven by 16-year-old Larry Purdy.

Investigating officers said the child lived on the south side of the street, at 1116 E. 14th where the accident occurred, and the child's grandparents live on the north side. The boy was visiting his grandparents, they said. Purdy was going east on 14th at the time.

Dr. Larry Shipp pronounced the child dead on arrival at the Medical Arts Hospital where he was taken by a Hammons ambulance. Funeral services are being handled by Hammons Funeral Home.

FIDDLERS E. K. Angeley of Pleasant Valley and Leldon Phillips of the West Camp community, will be among entertainers at the 20th Annual Lamb County Pioneers Reunion Tuesday afternoon in the Littlefield Community Center. About 350 pioneers are expected to attend the event, which begins with registration at 2 p.m. Halsell Ranch will provide the barbecue for the 6 p.m. supper, and Lamb County firemen will be special guests for the day.

Water Plan Possible Yet Says Rep. Bill Clayton

Water, Inc., have pledged their efforts in bringing the Texas Water Plan from the drawing board to the plan was narrowly defeated by the Constitutional Amendment on Aug. 5.

"Tex" Watson, Water, Inc., said the regional organization would double its efforts toward ultimate adoption of the plan. "West Texas must have supplemental water if we are to grow and prosper," he said.

Representative Bill Clayton emphasized that West Texans should not take a defeatist attitude. "We know the job can be done," he said, "and we are dedicated to doing it."

In the areas where there are Water, Inc. groups, the Texas Water Plan gained overwhelming support. The amendment was defeated in Houston where a plurality of more than 50,000 voters opposed it.

Clayton said that in spite of the defeat, much progress has been made in Texas in a shorter period of time than in most states. He cited the California water plan which required six years from inception to approval by the California legislature, then five more years for public approval. Clayton said that in Texas, another proposed constitutional amendment could be submitted to the voters in November, 1971, and predicted that it will be accepted even in areas such as Harris County where opposition was heaviest.

One of the reasons for optimism, he said, is that by mid-1971 studies now underway to determine the extent of surplus water in the Mississippi River would be far enough along to determine availability. Also he said, the Louisiana and Mississippi Delta study would have progressed to the point that "we can go to the people in that area and sell them on this idea."

Clayton and Watson expressed appreciation to those who worked in promoting the Texas Water Plan, and called on all who helped, financially and otherwise, to continue in the "uphill battle for water."

Earth Wildcat Set

Larry Willis Trustee, of League City, Texas, has staked an oil drilling location for a 4,100-foot Glorieta wildcat, two miles southwest of Earth in Lamb County.

The drillsite is 467 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of Section 85, block 2, W. E. Halsell subdivision.

The location has been designated N. 1 Ewing Halsell Foundation. There is no nearby production.

Two Big Dates For Footballers

Every day is a big day for Littlefield's Wildcat football team, as the enthusiastic athletes prepare for their 1969 campaign under new head coach Deverell Lewis.

But the two dates this week that have taken their attention are Tuesday and Friday.

The "Cats and their fans will be feted by the Quarterback Club at 8 p.m. Tuesday with an annual ice cream supper. This will provide an excellent opportunity for fans and parents to become acquainted with the team players as well as their new coaching staff.

Then Friday, a lot of questions will be answered for everybody. It will give some indication to the players, their coaches and the fans as to what kind of football team Littlefield will field this season.

Answering the questions will be a scrimmage...almost an annual event now...with the Seminole Indians. The fracas is slated to start at 7 p.m. at Wildcat Stadium.

Quarterback Club members are reminded by president Junior Graham to bring freezers of ice cream Tuesday for the supper.

Tornado Seen Near Anton

A tornado accompanied by high winds, some hail and heavy rains easily got the attention of Anton residents Saturday afternoon.

A funnel was sighted southwest of the town by several residents of the area, including Leader-News staff reporter Nilah Rodgers. No damage was reported, however.

It was sighted about 3:45, but stayed on the ground for only a few moments.

TO CONQUISTADORS

Canyon Looked Like Yellow Houses

To the Spanish conquistadors the caprock of yellow limestone bluffs just above the headquarters of the Yellow House Ranch looked like a row of high yellow houses. So the leaders of the Spanish conquest named the old river bed "El Canyon de las Casas Amarillas," or "The Canyon of the Yellow Houses."

From the time the Yellow House division of the XIT was named headquarters, all the ranch buildings and corrals have been painted a canary yellow. The sunny color in the yellow sunshine casts a golden haze about the place.

The only non-yellow structure on the Yellow House Ranch is the Goerge White ranch home. Located on a rise beneath a ridge of the yellow bluffs, the present three bedroom, three bath home is built of stone and green siding.

This is the third owners' home. The original house burned to the ground in 1925 when a ranch hand threw kerosene on live coals.

A four bedroom home was built in 1933. On a Sunday afternoon in 1960 the second house was struck by lightning. The house burned before ranch hands could get the furniture off the porch.

Water has always been important at the Yellow House Ranch. Comanche Indians once guarded pure spring water gushing from the canyon floor.

At least one battle between red and white men occurred at the Yellow House Canyon spring. Sometime before 1874 Plains settlers built a fort just above the spring. A rock wall was built to block the approach of the Indian, and the steep slopes afforded protection on the three other sides.

The fierce Comanche attacked the settlers in their fort under the cover of darkness. Details of the battle have been lost, but evidence indicated this was a long and fierce battle.

Even today arrowheads can still be found around the ruins of the old fort.

Pure spring water no longer runs the year round on the Yellow House Ranch. Four springs still have running water, but those that run all year have salty water.

The "tallest windmill in the world" that was located west of the Yellow House Ranch headquarters is legend. In addition to this mammoth structure, the ranch once had 64 regular windmills. A windmill crew did nothing except make the rounds of all the windmills and keep them in proper working order. Out of the entire year the windmill crew seldom stayed in camp more than a month, and this was only to come in for groceries and parts. Then they loaded their wagons, hitched up the mules and started making windmill rounds again.

Now there are only six windmills on the Yellow House Ranch.

Much of the water drilled for on the ranch is gypsum water.

The only good drinking water is located about two and one-half miles west of the ranch house, and is piped in to the headquarters. More than 20 miles of underground water pipe line is used at the ranch.

Quite a few dams are located on the ranch, but the ranch owner doesn't rely on tank water as those before him did.

During the Depression, Littlefield was the site of a CCC camp on the strength of the work boys could do at the ranch. CCC members put in many hours and lots of hard work at the Yellow House Ranch where they reworked the dams, placed rocks on them and cored some out down to hard rock.

County Jails 3, Records Thefts

County officials jailed one for being drunk, one for check law violation and one for liquor law violation this week.

Beatrice Cano was jailed for check law violation Thursday. She was released Friday after paying a $50 fine plus costs.

Henry Scott of Sudan was jailed for liquor law violation Sunday. Scott was released on $1,000 bond Monday.

Three battery thefts from irrigation motors were reported. In each case where batteries were taken, farmers were irrigating crop lands.

Sunday, O. L. Tomlinson, who lives three miles east and one and one-half north of Littlefield, reported a Gebo battery taken from his irrigation motor that was running prior to the theft.

Walter Gray, three and one-half miles south of Littlefield had a Delco heavy duty battery taken from his irrigation motor sometime Monday.

A battery was taken from Duane Phillip's motor across the road from Rocky Ford Church early last week.

A piggy bank containing $7 or $8 was taken from the Olse Lewis home, 1020 E. 12th last Thursday.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

REMEMBER

to keep it

HOLY

In the Ten Commandments, which do you suppose gets the larger treatment? Reverent observance of the divine order for a day of rest and of worship gets chief emphasis. A moment's reflection makes the reason clear. The man who does not take time to keep the Sabbath will likely forget to worship the God of his fathers; he who does not reverence God cannot be expected to regard his neighbor and his neighbor's goods. Sabbath observance stands, therefore, at the very center of religion and of morality. Then if you disregard the Sabbath you do it at the peril of your soul!

Notice the argument of Moses. God could get His work done in six days, even the creation of a universe and all its creatures. Surely you do not need the seventh day for the lesser tasks of your doing.

You are under the command of God; you are a part of His creation; there is nothing more important for you than that you remember God and your relation to Him. The Sabbath is such a time of remembrance. The church bell, the rest from daily toil, the quietness in the busy street, the need of your own soul, unite to remind you of your God and His day. The law giver commanded His people to keep this one day sacred to the Lord, to use it for one's own profit is to rob God of the time which belongs to Him.

Here is an ancient command, never more important than today. The press of the material and the secular was never more insistent; things want to get in the saddle and hide mankind. Remember the Sabbath, then you will worship God and know that you are the eternal child of the Highest. He who remembers the Sabbath most is most likely to remember to attend his church.

TODAY'S DEVOTIONAL

Processed For Glory

REV. JOHN CONAWAY
Bible Missionary Church

WE READ in James 1:2, "My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations;"

For those who are steadfastly resisting the Devil in this age there can be no doubt that the powers of sin and Satan are increasing in the final struggle which will end in their defeat.

As never before in the history of the Christian Church, shallow seeking, weak testimonies, and indefinite victories testify on the need for a wholehearted wakefulness to the tactics of the enemy.

It is at just this point, too, that Satan is likely to win his greatest victory; for we in the twentieth-century holiness movement are in danger of missing all the joys that a conquering army should have.

Sadly, despite the face that Christians often come through trials and temptations victoriously, many never see them as more than a necessary hindrance to the heavenly race.

IF ONE REALLY stops to consider, it is surprising to note that Christian virtues are to a large degree and from the practical standpoint, well-developed attitudes.

Faith is the attitude of simple trust which leaps above reason and rationalization to grasp that which lies beyond their scope.

Humility is the attitude of realizing one's own utter helplessness outside of God's grade. Love is the attitude of relaxing into the image of spirit of One whose very essence is love.

And so it is with hope, mercy, longsuffering, meekness, and all the other Christian virtues, that attitudes are the determining factor of their essence.

Certainly, if we could maintain the right attitude to the temptations and trials of our day, then we would not fail to make of them the blessing which they are intended to be.

OSWALD CHAMBERS has said that "it is part of Christian culture to know what God's aim is." God's Word clearly reveals that His ultimate purpose on our behalf is to restore us to His image. Man, though created in God's image, through sin fell from his holy estate.

The withdrawal of the Holy Spirit at the fall of man, like the withdrawal of life from the body, brought on corruption and putrefaction which only God's wonderful plan of salvation and restoration can end.

God has outlined three steps in the restoration of fallen man to His image, and to attain to each of them is to realize God's present plan of triumph over sin.

THE FIRST STEP—the new birth—which "if we confess our sins, he will cleanse us from all unrighteousness," God here by putting under the blood of all of our past sins by which Satan has damn us.

The second step—entire sanctification by which God will "cleanse us from all unrighteousness." God triumphantly crucifying self and all of the carnal tendencies and filling the soul with the Holy Spirit.

The final step—glorification—comes as the final enemy of death and fully restores the image in which he was created.

WHAT ALL OF THIS has to do with temptations is readily apparent too; we grasp the magnitude of God's purpose we can only cry out with the psalmist take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, necessities, in persecutions, in dishonors, Christ's sake."

Though all trials and temptations are possible because of the existence of the world, God permits their existence as of His children as a means of processing for the glory world.

As we spiritually become stronger that trials are meant as much to teach us as they are to test us.

Sinking into the simplicity of a walk with the Lord must always mean casting off the bad than taking on the good.

HAVE I, through a grasp of God's plan and a correct attitude toward temptations learned to "count it all joy?" God wants to take me through temptation or trial to give me enough so that he can permit Satan to send me one a little further on.

We have but to read the Bible and times that joy and rejoicing are manifest that real Christian joy comes frequently in the midst of victory over.

AS DR. GODBEY has said, "The conflicts with the strong intellect constitute our grandest means of grace of Heaven."

Like Job of old, may God individually to see that "the knowledge that I take; when he hath tried me I shall forth as gold."

"The Restless Ones", a motion picture produced by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown in Littlefield Monday, Aug. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of First Baptist Church.

With the accent on youth, this feature-length film deals with the teen-age crisis. With a background setting provided by the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, and woven into the story pattern, "The Restless Ones" is an approach to our social problems.

"Here is a film which dares to be different, a story which will stir the heart and mind. Having seen "The Restless Ones," you will never be the same," said Rev. R. B. Hall, pastor of First Baptist Church.

"As one reviewer said, 'Here is a picture that tells the truth and comes up with an answer, not any easy answer, but an answer that will challenge and inspire young and old alike and will encourage churchgoers. The message comes through in the midst of a realistic situation, cleanly and unflinchingly. Swift-moving episodes highlight opportunities facing church,' Rev. Hall said.

"Screen writer James C. H. Smith has skillfully brought focus the contemporary problems of both teen-agers and parents. A sensitive script, produced by World Wide Pictures under the direction of Dick Ross resulted in a 'breakthrough' film, 'The Restless Ones'."
