Wildcats Take Early Lead Over Mules

The Idalou Wildcats came roaring into Muleshoe Friday night looking for action, football action, and defeated the Muleshoe Mules 35 to 0.

Even though the Mules played good ball, they were no match for the Wildcats. The Wildcats had a lot of speed and the Mules just couldn't hold them.

The Wildcats received the opening kickoff and put the ball into play on their own 28 yard line. A 72 yard drive and 1:42 into the game the Wildcats scored their first touchdown in the game. The point after was good and the Wildcats led 7-0 over the Mules.

After picking up two first downs, on their first possession of the ball, the Mules fumbled the ball and a Wildcat recovered on their own 35 yard line.

The Wildcats marched the ball on down the field, picking up three First Downs before hitting pay dirt with 4:02 left in the quarter. The point after kick was good and the Wildcats led 14-0 over the Mules.

On their next possession of the ball, the Mules put it into play on their own 27 yard line. Two plays later, the Wildcats intercepted a pass and returned the ball for another touchdown. The point after kick was good and with 3:42 left in the quarter, the Wildcats led 21-0 over the Mules.

The Mules picked up two First Downs on their next possession of the ball, before being forced to punt it away.

At the end of the first quarter, the Wildcats led 21-0 over the Mules.

On their next possession of the ball, the Wildcats picked up four First Downs before turning the ball over to the Mules on Downs.

With 8:07 left in the half, the Mules were forced to punt the ball away. The Wildcats blocked the punt and returned it for another Touchdown. The point after kick was good and the score stood 28-0.

At half time the score was 35-0. In the last half of the game both teams picked up a few First Downs, but were unable to score.

Next week the Mules will be playing Lubbock Cooper at 8 p.m. in Benny Douglas Stadium. Wear your black and white and support the Mules.

Water Use/ Loss Now Being Studied

Because cotton production hinges on weather conditions, scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) in Lubbock aren't satisfied to just grow the crop and measure the yields.

It's necessary to find out how the water in the soil is being used by the plant; whether it's lost to evaporation, infiltration or to drainage in the soil, says Dr. Robert Lascano, soil and water researcher at TAES.

Transpiration is the amount of water the plant uses, and maximizing this quantity is the objective to be achieved by using a wheat-cotton cropping system that is being evaluated by TAES.

Evaporation is soil water that is lost and doesn't contribute to plant growth and development. Infiltration is that water received from rainfall minus the water that is lost to runoff.

"The purpose of this cropping system is to increase crop transpiration and decrease losses due to evaporation, runoff and drainage below the root zone in the soil," Lascano said. "This in turn will increase the efficiency of crop production in a dryland system."

To measure these water related factors, Dr. Louis Baumhardt has set up a program in a field at Wellman to record the data. Baumhardt is a soil and water researcher with TAES.

Flumes, containers that collect water, are placed down the rows of cotton in the field. They record the water that flows through them as well as the water that is leaving the field. An automatic data logger then samples the flumes whenever

Local Educator Named Regional Teacher Of Year

Region 17 Education Service Center has announced the 1993-94 Regional Teacher of the Year award recipients. Pat Watson, English teacher at Muleshoe High School will represent the Region as the secondary teacher of the year.

Carolyn Watt, fourth grade teacher at Murfee Elementary School in Lubbock, has been selected as the regional elementary teacher of the year.

Both teachers will receive a $500 cash award and will compete with representatives from the other 19 Education Service Center regions for Texas Teacher of the Year.

Mrs. Watson received her degree from Eastern New Mexico University and has earned post-graduate hours from Texas Tech University. She has been teaching for 20 years, all in Muleshoe. Her career includes experience at all levels, elementary through high school. She is beginning her tenth year at Muleshoe High School where she teaches 11th grade English, creative writing, literary genres, and Honors English. She is also the yearbook sponsor for the school.

Ms. Watt received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Tech University. She began her teaching career in 1970 and started with the Lubbock ISD 15 years ago. She taught at Guadalupe, Wolfforth, Wheelock and Hunt elementaries. She is beginning her eighth year at Murfee Elementary where she teaches in the CIMA (Creative Instruction for Maximum Achievement) program.

Six semi-finalists for the state award will be selected by a panel of teachers who represent various teacher organizations. These six teachers will then be interviewed by a panel of judges, including the 1992-93 Texas Teachers of the Year and representatives of professional associations and the State Board of Education. The panel will select two finalists, one elementary and one secondary, and choose one of them to represent Texas in the National Teacher of the Year Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Rotarians Receive Arch Club Award

The Arch Club Award was presented to Rotarians Max King, Kenneth Henry, J.D. Cage and Buck Campbell, during the noon Rotary meeting Tuesday. Others earning the award but were not present included: Randy Field, Sam Harlan, Terry Hutto, Don McElroy and Mark Morton.

President David Tipps opened the meeting and Curtis Shelburne gave the invocation. The pledge was led by Max King. Shelburne led the group in singing "Sing Out A Song of Rotary", and "Smile-Sing A Song."

The program for the day was Classification Talks and began with Buck Johnson.

"I moved to Muleshoe in 1945, when my dad purchased the International Harvester Dealership," Johnson said. "I graduated from Muleshoe High School. I attended Texas Tech University two years on a Track Scholarship and worked my way through school the last two years. I graduated in 1957, and took a commission in the Air Force. I went into the service in 1958 and flew a F-100. I got out of the service in 1963 and came back to Muleshoe to manage the dealership. I sold it in 1971, and went back to Tech. Later I taught school in Lubbock before going to work for the Texas Education Agency. I came back home three years ago and I love it," Johnson is assistant superintendent of operations with the Muleshoe Independent School District.

Next on the agenda was Thurman Myers. Myers stated that he was born at Muleshoe and graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1980. He attended Texas Tech University. He came back to Muleshoe and got married. That same fall he attended auctioneer school and then bought into the business.

Mike McDearmon was next on the agenda to give his qualifications. "I graduated from

Borger High School in 1977 and attended West Texas State University," McDearmon said. "I married in 1981, and we both attended West Texas State University. I went to work for Southwestern Public Service in 1988 and moved to Muleshoe two and half years ago. We hope to continue to make our home in Muleshoe." The McDearmons have two daughters, five and two and a half years of age.

Dr. James Bell, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, stated that he was born the sixth child of a farm family in Hale Center and moved to Plainview at the age of 10, and helped to run the family farm.

He stated that he answered a call to preach at the age of 15 and began to preach immediately. He became licensed to preach at the age of 17.

"I attended McMurray College and took my first church at 19 years of age, at Blackwell," Bell said. "In 1955 I went back to SMU and attended Seminary. I got involved in Missionary work."

"I went to the Black Feet Indian Reservation in Montana where we built two churches on the Reservation. From there we went over to the Sous Reservation at Bismark, North Dakota."

Leaving his sons with friends, he and his wife spent two years in Korea. He told of his work over seas. "We had the opportunity to go and we couldn't take the boys. We had a great time, a difficult time," Bell continued. "We came back to America in the fall of 1983, where I became the associate pastor of the First Methodist Church at Midland. In 1988 we accepted a church at Post and moved to Muleshoe in June to pastor the local church."

Since the club was running short of time, Gary Montgomery will give his qualifications at the next meeting.

Eighth Grade Mules Defeat Idalou 16-0

The eighth grade Mules defeated Idalou 16 to 0 in football play Thursday night in Benny Douglas Stadium.

Idalou defeated the seventh grade team 20 to 0 Thursday night.

The first half of the eighth grade game neither team were successful in scoring.

Michael Woodland came back with a four yard run in the third quarter putting the Mules on the scoreboard. A two point conversion gave the Mules an 8 to 0 lead over Idalou.

In the fourth quarter, Toby Villa caught a five yard pass from Layne Kemp adding more scores to the scoreboard. Kemp ran in the extra points and the Mules led 16 to 0. "I was really proud of our team," said Coach Donaldson. "The guys really enjoy playing together. We had several first game mistakes but we feel like we can take care of those this week. We're looking forward to a great season."

The seventh grade boys didn't fare quite so good, Idalou defeated them 20 to 0.

"Our kids played pretty well for the first game," said Coach Donaldson. "We have a lot to learn yet. They work hard and I know that they work hard and I know that they will make rapid improvements in the next couple of games. Idalou had a really big tailback and we just couldn't handle him this year."

Both teams will play Lubbock Cooper next week in Benny Douglas Stadium.

News From Baylor College of Medicine

For young children, settling in to a good homework routine is the best lesson they can learn.

"Homework begins as early as kindergarten and first grade," said Dr. Florence Eddins, a child psychiatrist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "These early years are the time for parents to lay the foundation for good study habits."

Eddins believes children's experiences in learning basic skills taught in the early grades will set the tone for how they perceive the rest of school.

To begin a homework routine, she recommends that parents teach by example.

"When it is time to do homework, sit nearby with some work of your own," Eddins said. "This way you give your child an idea of how to do homework."

Flexibility is the next key in creating the right homework environment. Eddins cautions parents to remember that what works for them may not be right for their child.

"A child's attention span is much shorter," she said. "You may need uninterrupted quiet to get work done, but your child may need short breaks."

Eddins warns parents not to let struggles arise over these differences.

"Some children may like music or television in the background or may need a play period before settling down to work," Eddins said. "The important thing is to experiment and learn what works best for your child."

As homework guidelines are established, Eddins encourages parents to let the child play a key role in the decision-making process.

For example, if a parent feels that listening to music is becoming detrimental, Eddins suggests talking it over with the child and trying homework without music for a week to see how it goes.

"If your child has trouble establishing a good routine, help them set time limits for completion," Eddins said. "Gradually you and your child will find what works best."

Homework success also depends on good communication between the parents and teacher. Parents should learn what the school expects of the child and of the parents.

Teachers can establish a system for sending home written notices of homework assignments if a child is having difficulty remembering to do homework or failing to tell the parents about homework.

As grades begin to come in, Eddins urges parents to acknowledge both the successes and the failures.

"The best reward is that parents take notice and admire their child's efforts in school," Eddins said.

Couple Weds In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony at the First Assembly of God Church of Clovis, Heather Merritt and Michael Silva were united in marriage on Thursday, August 5, 1993 at 6:00 p.m. Parents of the couple are Tom and Marjorie Merritt of Clovis, formerly of Muleshoe and Hope Passmore of Clovis. Grandmother of the groom is Dominga Sepeda of Texico, NM. Pastor Mac Barnard officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The twin aisles of the church were lined with cascading pew markers of Ti leaves, white queen Anne's lace, purple delphinium, and white star burst lilies, carrying out the brides colors of emerald green and purple. Family pews were indicated with larger arrangements of the same flowers. The ceremony took place before two candelabra trees and two arched candelabras with white tapers, Ti leaves, white Queen Anne's lace, white star burst lilies, and purple delphiniums.

Escorted and presented by her father, Heather wore a traditional gown of white satin fashioned with a princess line featuring an off the shoulder shawl collar, decorated with embroidered lace and cathedral train. Cutouts from the same lace adorned the bodice, sleeves and hemline. The bridal veil was waist length tulle attached to a pearl encrusted wreath adorned in the back with four satin puffs, accented with pearls. The hemline of the veil was adorned with the same lace as her dress. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white calla lilies, Queen Anne's lace, sweetheart roses, stephanotis, and purple delphinium. Heather carried a handkerchief belonging to her late maternal grandmother in her sleeve for something old. Something new was her dress and veil. Something borrowed, was a strand of pearls belonging to her mother. She wore the blue garter worn by her mother twenty nine years before.

Brides maids were Tina Foster of Portales, Tammy Duncan of Clovis, and Amy Russell, cousin of the Bride, of Carlsbad. Tina and Tammy wore tea length dresses of emerald green satin in a princess line with an off the shoulder shawl collar. Amy's dress was of purple satin made in the same style. Matching shoes completed the ensemble. They carried cascading bouquets of white calla lilies, sweetheart roses, Queen Anne's lace, purple iris, and delphinium.

Michael wore a black "Spencer Tracy" tuxedo with white tie and cummerbund. Best man was David Curtis of Bovina, TX. Groomsmen were Stuart Williams of Texico, NM and Luis Ortiz, brother of the groom of Las Vegas, NM. They wore black tuxedos with ties and cummerbunds coordinating with the bridesmaid's dresses. Deanna Curtis attended the guest register. Joel Barba of Texico, NM, cousin of the groom and Ralph Russell of Portales, NM, uncle of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

Prelude music was provided by Jeremy Bruns of Muleshoe on the piano. The candles were lit by Frankie and Johnny Ortiz, of Texico, brothers of the groom, to a piano rendition of Kenny G's "Silhouette". Before the wedding party entered, Chris Eubanks and Tammy Duncan sang "A Whole New World". The bride's processional was Pachelbel's "Canon in D", performed by Jeremy, between the commitment and exchange of vows, Chris Eubanks sang, "Love of a Lifetime". During the lighting of the unity candle, Tammy Duncan sang "When I Look Into Your Eyes". The recessional was "All I Ask Of You".

Following the ceremony, the guests were invited to celebrate the union at a buffet and dance at Holiday Inn of Clovis. Jewel Mitchell, Donna Bridwell and Irma Barba served refreshments to approximately 150 well wishers. The bride's cake featured three tiers separated by purple iris and greenery and was topped with a hand blown crystal heart enclosing two love birds. The grooms cake was a german chocolate sheet cake, topped with chocolate roses. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Muleshoe High School and a 1991 graduate of Vogue Beauty College of Clovis. She is employed by J.C. Penny's salon in Clovis. The groom is a 1987 graduate of Texico High School and is a student at Clovis Community college and is employed by Town and Country food stores in Texico. The couple will make their home in Portales.

Lane Reunion Held In Littlefield

The Community House in Laguna Park, Littlefield was the sight of the Lane Reunion, Saturday and Sunday, September 4th and 5th, 1993.

Dr. Jack and Mutt Still treated family members to a Fish and Chicken fry on Saturday with fish they caught in Novia, Mexico.

A baby shower honoring Joshua Lane, baby son of Link and Jami Lane of Arlington was given Saturday evening. Joshua is one of the newest family members along with Elizabeth Ware, baby daughter of Neal and Tammy Ware, Amarillo, TX.

Sunday breakfast was cooked and served by the men. It was a great meal with all family members showing up to enjoy.

The home-made "auction" was held Sunday afternoon. A lot of hand-crafted items sold really well. A straw hat birdhouse made by Jimmy Lane sold for $55.00 and a "large" tomato grown by Jack Lane brought $20.00

Games and entertainment proved to be an exciting time for everyone.

Those attending were: Verge and Ruby Lane, Doc and Mutt Still, Littlefield; Lonzo and Ardyce Pierce, Pat and Jo Ann Stephenson, Keith and Kamie, Dennis and Nancy Reeves and Kelsey, Charlie and Lana Timmons, Kay Carpenter, Michael Bushea and William, Shannon Bushea and Shane, all of Lubbock.

Others attending were Jack and Anna B. Lane, Stegall; Roger and Danette Hatcher, Lakin and Kalee, Clovis, NM; Obie and Michelle Standard, Creston and Tiffany, Stegall; Jimmy and Linda Lane, Tammy Ware, Matthew and Elizabeth, Amarillo; Joe Ann Lane, Link and Jami Lane, Ashleigh, Bobbie and Joshua, Shawn and Tonya Bratchlor, Kristen and Brandon, all of Arlington; Cynthia, Melissa and Jonathan Bennett, Stegall; Burl Wingo, Muleshoe and Ruby Lee Walser, Sudan.

Arthritis Doesn't Have To Be A Pain

The Arthritis Foundation is encouraging people to take advantage of the many services that can help maintain or even improve their quality of life, despite the pain and limited movement arthritis may bring.

Two million Americans say they have arthritis but have not seen a doctor for care—even though a number of medical treatments and other helpful services are available to make life with arthritis easier and less painful, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

"Many people mistakenly view arthritis as a part of aging for which nothing can really help," said Arthur Grayzel, Arthritis Foundation senior vice president of medical affairs. "The reality is that arthritis can bring pain, limit movement and make ordinary tasks very difficult. But there are ways to help you limit its impact and continue to enjoy life."

In addition to prescribed medical treatment, there are other options that can be very helpful. These include Arthritis Foundation services such as warm-water exercise classes, self-help courses support groups and a wide variety of information.

"The keys to coping with arthritis are to recognize that arthritis is serious, see a doctor for proper diagnosis, learn all you can about the disease and take action to control its impact on your life by contacting the Arthritis Foundation," Grayzel said.

However, unproven arthritis remedies can do more harm than good. Patients should take caution when using unproven remedies. One in ten people with arthritis has tried an unproven remedy to relieve the chronic pain, only to suffer sometimes harmful side effects, according to a government survey.

The survey conducted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services also found that 58 percent of the respondents first learned of an unproven arthritis remedy from well-meaning family or friends.

"Many unproven remedies are not harmful, such as copper bracelets or acupuncture, said Arthur Grayzel, senior vice president for medical affairs for the Arthritis Foundation. "But the effects of others are not known, such as bee venom, fish oil or certain diets. Still others we know can be harmful and should not be tried, such as snake venom, DMSO, megadoses of vitamins and drugs from other countries that may have hidden ingredients."

According to the Arthritis Foundation, suspect an unproven remedy if it:

- Claims to work for all types of Arthritis
- Uses only case histories or testimonials as proof.
- Cites only one study or a study without a control group.
- Has no warnings about side effects.

"A major rule of thumb is to learn as much as possible about an arthritis remedy before trying it or even telling others about it," Grayzel said. "If you do decide to try an unproven treatment, talk to your doctor and continue your prescribed medical treatment."

For a free brochure about unproven arthritis remedies, contact your local Arthritis Foundation chapter or call toll-free the Arthritis Foundation Information Line at 1-800-283-7800. News USA

Healthy Eating

By Harold Ligon, M.D.

Fiber is known to dilute calories, clean teeth and soften stools.

In recent years it's potential for lowering cholesterol has been demonstrated. Fiber is now thought by many to be highly desirable food, beneficial in several ways and probably beneficial to the heart.

Remember, however, that fibers in meat don't count as beneficial dietary fiber. Eating plenty of plant foods insures that one's diet contains adequate fiber.

Duck Fall Flight Expected To Be Similar To Last Year; Better Flights Of Geese Anticipated

The number of ducks flying south during this year's fall migration should be about the same as the last 3 years, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimates in its 1993 "Fall Flight Forecast."

The Service anticipates a fall flight of 59 million ducks from the surveyed area this year, compared with 62 million in 1992. This year's flight might have been even smaller except improved habitat conditions in a number of areas resulted in more broods produced than in 1992.

"Overall, the fall duck flight will not be that much different than what we have seen the past few years," said Richard Smith, the Service's Acting Director. "But the Service continues to be concerned about duck populations limping along at levels well below long-term averages due to unfavorable weather and habitat loss."

The total estimated breeding population for all ducks in the survey area—covering 1.3 million square miles across the north-central United States, western and northern Canada, and Alaska—was 26.3 million, down from 29.4 million in 1992, as numbers for many familiar species declined.

Waterfowl habitat conditions monitored during the spring duck survey generally improved from last year in the north-central United States and southern Alberta. However, conditions deteriorated in southern Saskatchewan and southern Manitoba because of dry weather and the effect of agriculture on wetlands and associated uplands. Water levels were lower than normal in northern forest regions of the prairie provinces but improved in the Northwest Territories and Alaska.

Since the spring survey, more

Contest. The names will be announced on Monday, October 18.

Both state finalists will receive an additional cash award and, along with all the Regional teachers of the Year for 1993-94, will be honored by the State Board of Education at a recognition ceremony and reception tentatively scheduled for November 6.

The Muleshoe ISD Board of Trustees will recognize Mrs. Watson at 7 p.m. Monday, October 11 in the Board Room of the Administration Building.

Water...

If the system proves successful, a herbicide will have to be applied to kill the wheat.

The wheat-cotton cropping system is still in the development stages and will require further evaluation to determine if the wheat uses too much water and will sacrifice the established cotton crop. The system has been under scrutiny for the past two years, but will require another two to three years to pinpoint its success. Nonetheless, a system of this type would revolutionize the way crops are grown in terms of water use.

precipitation has fallen on the north-central states and southern Alberta, and much-needed rainfall has benefitted the drier regions of Prairie Canada.

Better habitat conditions have resulted in an improved outlook for duck production in a number of areas, offsetting the effects of reduced breeding populations on the fall flight. Ducks that fail to successfully nest in the spring can try again during early summer if habitat conditions are right.

The 1993 mallard breeding population was estimated at 5.7 million, essentially unchanged from the 6 million estimates in 1992. Large increases in mallards were seen in Montana and the Dakotas, while sharp declines occurred in southern Saskatchewan and southern Manitoba. Overall, mallard numbers were 20 percent below the long-term average. The number of mallards expected to migrate south this fall is 8.8 million, compared to last year's prediction of 9.2 million.

Blue-winged teal numbers declined 26 percent from last year and were 23 percent below the long-term average. Numbers for other key species, such as the northern pintail, green-winged teal, American wigeon, and canvasback, remained roughly at 1992 levels.

But levels continue to be significantly below the long-term average for the American wigeon, northern pintail, redhead, and scaup. For example, redheads were 17 percent below the 1955-1992 average, while scaup numbers were 27 percent below the long-term average.

On a positive note, gadwall and northern shoveler remain above their respective 1955-92 averages.

The fall flight forecast for ducks does not represent an actual count of birds, but is a projection based on surveys of breeding populations and estimates of brood production. Biologists regard the duck breeding population as a more accurate and reliable figure than the fall flight index.

Most North American goose populations are at levels above long-term averages. An early spring thaw led to good to excellent nesting conditions across much of the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions.

The overall outlook for goose production in 1993 is good to excellent, particularly in the eastern Arctic; and represents a substantial improvement over the poor production year of 1992. These favorable conditions should benefit

Crop Strategies Workshop Offered

Risk management will be the focus of a special Crop Strategies Workshop September 16-17 at the Texas A&M Computer Training and Education Center here. This workshop will emphasize the use of various risk management computer decision-aids and will be team taught by instructors from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Tarleton State University and Federal Crop Insurance Corp.

The first day's topic will be price risk management. This segment will be taught by Carl Anderson and Jackie Smith of the Extension Service. The second day will feature production risk management tools including crop insurance. Instructors for the second day will include Dottie Sampley, FCIC district manager; Ashley Lovell, Agricultural economics department head at Tarleton, and Stan Bevers, extension economist from Vernon.

Specific topics will include market, price, production and financial risk management, introduction to the futures market and options, options decisions, market situation and outlook for crops, estimating costs of production, developing a marketing plan, and other risk management strategies.

Receiving special emphasis the second day will be the new Group Risk Plan that is being pilot tested for wheat in selected counties this year. The GRP is being developed as an alternative to the current crop insurance offered through the FCIC.

The course will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. The registration fee is $50, which includes lunch and course materials. Registration is limited to 30. Prior computer experience would be beneficial, but is not required.

The training center is in the Moody Building at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station facility, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Hwy. 70. For more information, or to register for the course, call Jackie Smith at the Lubbock Research and Extension Center (806) 746-6101.

Migratory Bird Hunting Framework Released

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has issued final regulations for early (opening before October 1) migratory bird hunting seasons. There are no major changes from the Service's initial proposal released in July.

Under the regulations, hunting of teal will be allowed only after sunrise, except where states undertake studies on the impact of pre-sunrise hunting on non-target ducks. This is a change from 1992 when hunters were allowed to start hunting teal one-half hour before sunrise.

The only other significant new restriction deals with the special sea duck season in the Atlantic Flyway. This year hunters will be allowed to have a maximum of 4 scoters in their combined 7-bird limit for scoters, eiders, and oldsquaw. Last year, they could have any combination.

The Service also opted to expand September Canada goose hunting opportunities, approving 3-year experimental seasons in Maryland, New Jersey, and Virginia.

In addition, the Service approved extended Canada goose seasons for Massachusetts, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, southeast Pennsylvania, and Washington. Requested by the states, these seasons are intended mainly to harvest resident Canada geese before migratory Canada geese arrive. A number of states are experiencing problems and conflicts caused by rapid growth in the number of non-migratory Canada geese.

Under the final regulations, the Service also eliminated permit requirements, enlarged bag limits, and extended the season length for Canada goose hunting in Washington and Oregon.

Other than these changes, this year's final regulations are largely the same as last year.

The regulations apply to doves, woodcock, band-tailed pigeons, rails, snipe, common moorhen and purple gallinules, sandhill cranes, sea ducks, and special September waterfowl seasons, as well as migratory bird hunting seasons in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Complete regulations will be published in the Federal Register. Hunters should check state hunting regulations for specific local information on permits, bag limits, and open areas.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison and her attorneys received "formal invitation" letters from a Travis County grand jury last week asking her to appear either Wednesday or Thursday to testify in an investigation of alleged improprieties during her tenure in the state treasurer's office.

Last week, Hutchison said she would not appear voluntarily before a grand jury, increasing speculation that she may be subpoenaed.

Earlier, Hutchison's attorneys said she will not appear because prosecutors renege on an agreement to first meet with them outside the jury's presence to brief them on what the grand jury wants to know.

Hutchison lawyer John Dowd of Washington, D.C., said he and Hutchison attorney Jim Darnell and two prosecutors made the agreement Aug. 3.

But First Assistant Travis County District Attorney Steve McCleery said no such agreement had been made. District Attorney Ronnie Earle said in a statement issued last week, "On Aug. 11, Sen. Hutchison was asked through her lawyers to appear before the grand jury on any date between the week of Aug. 30th through Sept. 3 or Sept. 7th and 8th."

"This office has been informed repeatedly by Sen. Hutchison's lawyers that she will not appear voluntarily before the grand jury as requested."

On June 10 prosecutors and police raided the state treasury, seizing paper and computer records, and a grand jury investigation began over alleged improprieties during the senator's tenure as state treasurer. The grand jury is scheduled to disband by the end of September. Hutchison spokesman David Beck with repeated an earlier assertion that the investigation was launched to create a public spectacle to undermine Hutchison's re-election bid.

Harris Quits, Parker Runs
Republican Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris of Dallas announced last week he would not seek re-election, but Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he will be back for yet another campaign.

As dean of the Texas Senate, Harris, 61, was known as an effective legislator, but was criticized for helping special interests such as the insurance, liquor and horse racing industries.

After months of consideration, Parker, 59, decided to run for office again instead of returning full-time to his law practice.

Harris was elected to the Senate in a special election in 1967 after serving a term in the House.

Parker served in the House from 1963-76. He won a seat in the Senate in 1977. Parker has been noted for his strong stands in support of education.

Harris said he will return to his law practice, while pursuing legal activities with the Legislature and state government.

Prison Chief to Quit

James Lynbaugh, executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, will resign this fall after six years on the job.

Lynbaugh, 53, who has faced increased opposition from Gov.

Ann Richards' appointees to the criminal justice board, will go to work for the University of Texas Medical Branch.

Gov. Richards, an advocate of substance abuse treatment for convicts, said changes are needed in the administration of the prison system.

David Nunnelee, a spokesman for the prison system, said Lynbaugh will be taking a financial director's position at the UT Medical Branch.

Forgiveness Is No Optional Item

The Apostle Peter once came to Jesus with a question: "Lord, how often do I have to forgive?" (Luke 18:21). "Lord," he seems to be saying, "I'm a reasonable man. I want to do the right thing. If my brother keeps sinning against me, how many times do I let it go by? Maybe, say, seven times?"

Focus On Faith
Curtis Shelburne

It seemed reasonable. It seemed fair to Peter. To be honest, it seems fair to most of us. But you know how Jesus answered: "No, not seven times, but seventy times seven." There is no limit to forgiveness, Christ was saying. You must forgive your brother times without number!

"But, Lord," we're tempted to protest, "aren't you carrying this forgiveness thing too far? You don't know what that person has done to me!" (Most of us have noticed what a nice concept forgiveness is -- until we actually have something to forgive!)

But still Jesus speaks clearly: "Forgive." He never says it's easy. He just says it is absolutely necessary. To help us understand Jesus does what he does so well. He tells a story.

You may remember the story. It's the story of the unforgiving servant. It seems that a very wealthy king once showed great mercy by forgiving the debt of a servant who owed him a huge sum amounting to millions of dollars.

As he was leaving the king, the forgiven servant met a creditor of his own who owed him twenty dollars or so. He lunged at the man, tore at his throat, and screamed at him to pay his debt immediately. The man could not pay, so the servant threw him into jail.

Remember the king's reaction to this injustice? He was absolutely furious. He immediately reinstated the wicked man's debt and had him sent to prison until he could pay the entire amount.

Jesus makes his point clearly: "That is how my Father in heaven will treat every one of you unless you forgive your brother from your heart" (Luke 18:35).

Our Lord's words are as true today as they were when he first spoke them. Forgiveness is not an optional item in Christianity. If we would receive forgiveness, we must be forgiving people.

New Approach To The Study Of Drug Abuse

Scientists in Texas are exploring new approaches to the study of drug abuse, focusing on how nicotine addiction develops in the brain.

"Nicotine is a major drug of abuse and major killer," said Dr. James Patrick, a neuroscientist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "The evidence is in more than 440,000 tobacco-related deaths annually in the U.S. and Canada."

In hopes of developing ways to overcome nicotine addiction, Patrick, himself an ex-smoker, is studying the molecular aspects of nicotine action in the brain.

"People often seem to think drugs of abuse achieve their results through 'magic'" he said, "but, in fact, they modify the body in some way that causes it to need that drug."

In the case of nicotine, one of the most addictive of drugs, Patrick thinks the modification is an increase in the number of some of the sites where nicotine chemically binds in the brain.

Research indicates the nicotine binding sites in the brain are about double the number in smokers as in non-smokers.

Studying how, where and why nicotine reacts with these sites has been the focal point of Patrick's scientific career for more than 20 years.

He is studying how nicotine changes the abundance of the sites in the brain and the possible tie to addiction.

"Telling people to 'just say no' after an addiction has developed is inappropriate and naive," Patrick said, "because at that point, it's a medical problem rather than simply a matter of choice."

The number of lives lost each year to nicotine addiction is about 10 times greater than the number of people who die as a direct consequence of all other kinds of drug abuse, Patrick said.

Do you sometimes get a burning or aching in the chest? You may think it's indigestion, but don't bet on it. Your heart could be sending you an early warning signal.

Dr. Raymond Bahr, director of the Paul D. White Coronary Care System at St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, says that many people who need immediate medical attention delay seeking help, even though they may have tell-tale symptoms hours, days or even weeks before they get into serious trouble. They simply deny their symptoms or believe that their discomfort is brought on by a harmless condition, such as indigestion.

Dr. Bahr's comments are included in a series of videotapes produced, in part, with a grant from Marion Merrell Dow Inc. Consumers first learned about the availability of the tapes from a recent issue of CardiSense, a quarterly health care newsletter published by Marion Merrell Dow.

In his videotape series, Dr. Bahr gives advice to viewers on when to seek medical help and answers some of the most commonly asked questions about heart disease. The

Prevalence Of Substance Abuse In Elementary Schools

Forty-six percent of Texas six graders have drunk alcohol at least once, with 22 percent stating that alcohol is very easy for them to get, according to a survey recently released by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, which measures alcohol and other drug use among fourth through sixth graders.

A total of 34, 025 Texas public school students in grades four through six were randomly selected from districts throughout the state. The students were asked questions concerning their use of tobacco, alcohol, inhalants and marijuana.

While the survey shows a general decrease in drug and alcohol use among fourth through sixth grade students between 1990 and 1992, the use of tobacco and inhalants remained about the same. Lifetime use of alcohol showed the most significant decreases: 33 percent of elementary students in 1992 admitted ever drinking alcohol, compared to 42 percent in 1990.

"These results parallel the decreases we are seeing in the secondary school population, indicating that use of these substances is down across all grades," said Bob Dickson, Executive Director of TCADA. "While we are pleased that prevention efforts are having a positive effect on our youth, we are certainly not going to back down on these efforts, particularly in the elementary grades."

"What happens in elementary school sets the stage for events in later years. When fewer elementary students use alcohol and tobacco, fewer than go on to use marijuana in secondary school. Similarly, the fewer that use marijuana, the fewer that move on to use other drugs. Therefore, the factors that delay the onset of substance use among elementary students are exceedingly important."

The survey found that, on the average, sixth graders were 10 years old when they first tried alcohol, which is the same average age of first use as tobacco. Students were also asked where they obtained the alcohol they drank. Students in fourth grade (13 percent) and fifth grade (15 percent) were most likely to indicate that they got alcohol at home. Twenty-two percent of sixth graders indicated that they have obtained alcohol from home, 16 percent from friends; and 17 from other sources other than home or friends.

Sixth graders were also asked how many times during the past year have they consumed five or more drinks at a time, which is a lot of alcohol for a person 12 years old or younger. Seventeen percent of sixth graders stated that they had drunk five or more beers in a row during the school year; two percent claimed doing so several times per week. In addition, almost 18 percent reported having drunk 5 or more wine coolers in a row.

The survey also found that more elementary students (19 percent) had used tobacco (cigarettes as well as smokeless tobacco) than any other substance except alcohol. Eleven percent of fourth graders, 18 percent of fifth graders and 27 percent of sixth graders have used tobacco. Twenty percent of sixth graders said cigarettes were very easy to obtain. Only 59 percent of fourth graders and 52 percent of fifth graders believe that it is "very dangerous" to smoke cigarettes-- lower than the average for all eight substances, suggesting that fourth and fifth graders may be less fearful of cigarette smoking than using most of the other substances.

Other findings include:
• 3 percent of sixth graders have tried marijuana

• 9 percent of elementary students in 1992 had ever sniffed glue, 6 percent had sniffed gasoline and 6 percent had sniffed correction fluid.
• The most noticeable substance use increase is between fifth and sixth grades, indicating that many students begin experimenting with substances for the first time in sixth grade.

• 85 percent of fourth and fifth graders received information about drugs and alcohol in the past year from their teacher.

• 17 percent of elementary students are unsure of their parents' attitude about kids their age drinking beer, and 13 percent do not know how parents feel about marijuana use; among secondary students these numbers are much lower (only 9 and 7 percent, respectively).

• 25 percent of fourth graders and 27 percent of fifth graders have been offered beer to drink.

Watch for these signs... think SAFETY!

American Pipeline Company and its affiliated companies, Westar Transmission, American Gathering, L.P., American Gas Storage, L.P., American Processing, L.P., Caprock Pipeline, Red River Pipeline and Picor Pipeline, operate natural gas pipelines in West Texas and the Texas Panhandle. Signs similar to the ones pictured above are placed in areas where our natural gas pipelines are located.

Our pipelines are safe and we keep them that way by designing, installing and operating our pipelines to exacting standards. If natural gas pipelines are damaged, people may be injured, property destroyed or energy supplies lost. Therefore, American Pipeline and its affiliated companies conduct an ongoing surveillance program to detect factors which might threaten safe pipeline operations. We also conduct a damage prevention program to inform the public of the importance of using safety measures when digging or excavating near natural gas pipelines.

If you are planning to dig or excavate in an area, remember to look for warning signs indicating natural gas pipelines. If you see an American Pipeline marker, call us at our toll free number, 1-800-562-5879, before you begin working. We will send a company representative to mark the location of the pipeline.

Natural gas cannot be seen and normally cannot be smelled, but gas leaks may still be detected. Any one of the following is among the common indications of a gas leak:

- Dust blowing from a hole in the ground
- Continuous bubbling in one spot in wet or flooded areas
- A gaseous or hydrocarbon odor

If you suspect a natural gas leak in an area where American Pipeline markers are located, immediately leave the area and call us at our toll free number:

ARMED FOR Self Protection

The cactus plant requires little for its growth and sustenance. It endures where soil is rugged and barren. It has a tough coat to protect it from blowing sand and other elements. The thistles protect it from being eaten.

We need to...
be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God...

Attend church and receive strength for each week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
