Chris Prentice Named County Spelling Champ

Spelling champions for Lamb County are Chris Prentice of Olton and Anita Bryant of Littlefield. Chris, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Prentice of Olton, is an eighth grader and won the championship by correctly spelling "withhold" and then spelling "wondrous". Anita is the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bryant of Littlefield, and also is an eighth grader. (Staff Photo)

Nine spelling champions from schools in Lamb County met Saturday afternoon in the District Courtroom of the courthouse in a spell down match, and Chris Prentice, 14-year-old Olton eighth grader, came out the winner.

Prentice raced Anita Bryant, 13-year-old Littlefield eighth grader, in a long battle into the "W's" before she tripped up on "withhold", and he went on to correctly spell it and "wondrous" too.

Both misspelled "trawl" further up the line, and the match continued through the remainder of the "T's" and into the final words.

The first speller was downed with "addle", the second with "adjust", and the third with "attrition". Other words that knocked contestants out of the race were "balance", "brandish", "frailty" and "homage".

Prentice is son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Prentice of Olton, and Miss Bryant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bryant of Littlefield.

If Prentice is unable to participate in the 23rd Annual Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock April 5, Miss Bryant will represent Lamb County.

The regional bee is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. in the Smylie Wilson Junior High School auditorium at 4402 31st Street, with 21 counties to be represented.

The winner of the competition there will be awarded a loving cup and an expense-paid trip to Washington, D. C. for the National Spelling Bee June 2-7 in the Mayflower Hotel. The top nine contestants in the Lubbock bee will receive special prizes.

Contestants at the national event will compete for prizes worth more than $5,000.

During the stay in Washington, the contestants will take trips to points of interest and visit with dignitaries.

Non-Profit Housing Authority Organized Friday For City

Steps were taken Friday evening toward organizing a non-profit housing authority for Littlefield.

The housing authority would apply for a federally guaranteed loan to provide additional middle income housing.

The group appointed Rev. Clem Sorley as chairman, and his committee members are Quinton Hodge, Mancil Hall, Charles Duval, and Tom Tollett. Others present for the meeting were Warren Dayton, Jim Blagg, Tom Hilburn, Paul Carmickle, and Wm. Y. "Bill" Adams.

Representatives John Gildersleeve and Bill Powell of the South Plains Community Action Program were also present.

Upon a recommendation by Hilburn and Adams, representing the Chamber of Commerce, the group decided to go ahead with the paperwork involved in applying for a non-profit corporation charter, but to postpone actual application for the program. According to Rev. Sorley, this would allow more time for private investors to take some positive steps.

With the textile mill, Littlefield should be more desirable for private investors to provide more middle income housing. "However," Sorley continued, "we need more housing, and that's why we're looking at this non-profit housing authority as a means of getting more." The group plans to meet again April 3rd to evaluate the housing survey, possible building indications by private investors, and the advisability of aggressively pursuing the guaranteed loan. See HOUSING, Page 4

Wildcats Capture District 3-AA Volleyball Crown

The Littlefield Wildcats won the District 3-AA Volleyball crown in Wildcat Gym Monday by virtue of a 15-6, 15-1 sweep over Morton.

Earlier in the day, Littlefield had defeated Olton, 15-11, 13-15 and 15-2. Morton had won the right to meet the Wildcats in the finals by defeating Friona.

Members of the district championship team include Carla Price, Sheila Dangerfield, Sharon Healy, Kay Wesley, Debra Johnson, Debbie Birkelbach, Shelley Bitner, Monica Phillips, Rhonda Hall, Sharla Birkelbach, Lisa Berry and Debbie Spencer. The coach is Bobby Pylant.

For their regular meeting, councilmen will set the date for a public hearing on an application by Texaco, Inc. for an oil well drilling permit; will review the Board of City Development's annual report of expenditures for the period ending Sept. 30, 1974; will consider an appointment to the position of fire marshal, which was vacated by the resignation of John Gregg; will consider amendments to the well drilling ordinance; and will discuss the purchase of additional refuse containers.

Other routine matters will include the discussion and approval of the minutes of the last meeting, the discussion and approval of the financial statement; and review the departmental reports.

Other areas currently under study or in progress include: 1. Review of city building and utility codes; 2. Salary and wage plan; 3. Community development funds; and 4. Sanitation collection system.

LaPOYNOR'S high jumping Flyers plagued the offensive efforts of the Spade Longhorns throughout the championship game in Austin Saturday night as scenes like this occurred often. The Flyer's 6'2" Larry Cumby deflects a Jay Burchfield shot. LaPoynor defeated the Longhorns for the Championship of Class B basketball, 52-42 for their 42nd win in a row. Spade ended their season with a 40-5 mark and the number-two spot in the state Class B basketball circles. (Staff Photo by Wade Warren)

Spade Longhorns Capture 2nd Place In Class B

Playing the team which Coach Jim Haynes describes as "the best team we've ever played" on equal terms for more than three quarters, the Spade Longhorns put a scare into what has been described as "perhaps the best Class B team ever", before bowing in the final game of the State Tourney in Austin Saturday night to LaPoynor (Larue), 52-42.

The Longhorns earned the right to play in the finals by defeating Megargel earlier in the day, 61-56.

In the championship game, the win marked the 42nd in a row for the Flyers while Spade ended their season with an exceptional mark of 40 wins and only 5 losses.

Spade took an early lead over

LaPoynor by virtue of the shooting of Tommy Batson, who played two outstanding games in the tournament, and the ability of the Longhorns to curtail the Flyers' fast break early in the game.

The Longhorn press, which has been an effective tool all season, slowed the Flyers down and did not permit them to run and shoot at will as they have done all season. However, when the Flyers did get inside for a shot, the high-jumping LaPoynor team completely dominated the backboards, often getting as many as five shots in a row on their offensive basket.

For the night, LaPoynor had 43 rebounds and Spade had 21.

By JOELLA LOVVORN

WHETHER IT BE lunchtime or snacktime, it's important that we get real nourishment from whatever we eat or drink—and that's as true for adults as well as for children.

Here's a fabulously tasty drink recipe that can be whipped up in a whiz—a gloriously foamy mix with healthful cranberry-apple drink as its base. To this is added a scoop of vanilla ice cream, and peach, pear or apricot nectar. Then just shake it up, or whirl it in a blender.

This fruitful shake will come up as a pretty pink concoction, tangy and appetizing but not too filling.

Perfect to serve with a sandwich for lunch, a good choice might be whole wheat bread spread with cream cheese and jelly cranberry sauce. Or serve this delectable drink with cookies when those eager snacksters come home from school.

CRANAPPLE FRUIT SHAKE
(Makes 1 serving)

- 1 cup cranberry-apple drink, chilled
  - 1/2 cup apricot, peach or pear nectar, chilled
  - 1 scoop vanilla ice cream
- Combine ingredients, cover tightly and shake until well blended and frothy (or whirl in blender until smooth). Pour into tall glass and serve at once.

GOD HAS GREATER THINGS FOR OUR LIVES

There is a moment in Biblical history I would love to have shared. It has fascinated me from the moment I first read of it. God calls Moses to Mount Pisgah and shows him the Promised Land. I would have liked to have eavesdropped on that conversation. "No. You can't go. I cannot answer that prayer of yours affirmatively. I know what you have been through. I've suffered along with you through every bitter moment. But I cannot let you go in. You will be buried here—today—by Me. Trust Me, for I love you very much."

In a sense it is exactly what God said to David when he asked to be permitted to build the temple.

It is in essence what He said to Jesus Christ when He prayed "Let this cup pass." It is what He said to Paul who prayed, "Please remove this thorn from my flesh."

Here is what you and I should engrave on the door posts and lintels of our hearts:

God always has greater things in store for us than those we ask for and are denied. Always!

It is thus that "The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:7)

 ... and Marvin Matthews, who played two good tournament games, led the 'Horns in scoring with 15 and 11 points respectively.
 ... who scored 22 points in the win over Megargel, had 10 points.
 ... had four points and Jay Burchfield had two for Spade.
 ... Spade hit on 43 percent of the field against the Flyers who lived up to their name by displaying an amazing jumping ability and their "talent from nowhere" to deflect a shot.
 ... Spade maintained a one-point advantage, 23-22.
 ... Spade hit on a respectable 11 of 21 attempts from the floor for a 52 percent average and had committed seven turnovers that led to six LaPoynor points while the final winners hit only 36 percent in the first half and also committed seven turnovers that led to four Spade points.
 ... goal shooting in the second half reversed however, as LaPoynor hit 40 percent and Spade managed only 35 percent.
 ... the third quarter was nip and tuck all the way as the Flyers scored 14 points to Spade's 10 to take a 36-33 lead going into the fourth quarter.
 ... hit on a layup early in the fourth quarter to make it 36-35 and then with 1:30 left in the game, Reed took a shot under the basket from Matthews and put the ball in to put Spade ahead for the last time, 37-36.
 ... LaPoynor's Larry Cumby, who had been averaging 22 points in regular season play, scored six of his 10 points in the final minutes of play to insure the win for the Flyers.
 ... Matthews pulled the 'Horns closer in the second and a half minutes left as he hit the ends of a 1-and-1 to make the score 44-41 but the Longhorns scored only once more on a free throw and LaPoynor scored eight more points to make the score, 52-42.

In the Saturday morning game, Spade had to overcome a 30-24 halftime deficit to win, 61-56.

In addition to Batson's 22 points, Matthews had 19, Reed 14 and Mills, Burchfield and Mark Cowan had two points each.

The teams exchanged baskets until Cowan hit on a jumper in the fourth quarter to put Spade ahead 52-50 and then Reed and Batson added one each from the floor to make the score 56-50 with 5:10 left in the contest.

Reed scored the final two points for Spade on two free throws for the final tally of 61-56.

Coach Haynes, reflecting back over the tournament, stated "we had a good tournament and for the most part, we played very well. Batson had two good games and his shooting in the first game gave us the momentum to go ahead and win."

"Matthews also had two good games and his rebounding kept us in the first game."

"LaPoynor was every bit as good as we had heard and they certainly had playoff experience— appearing in the state tourney for the past three years."

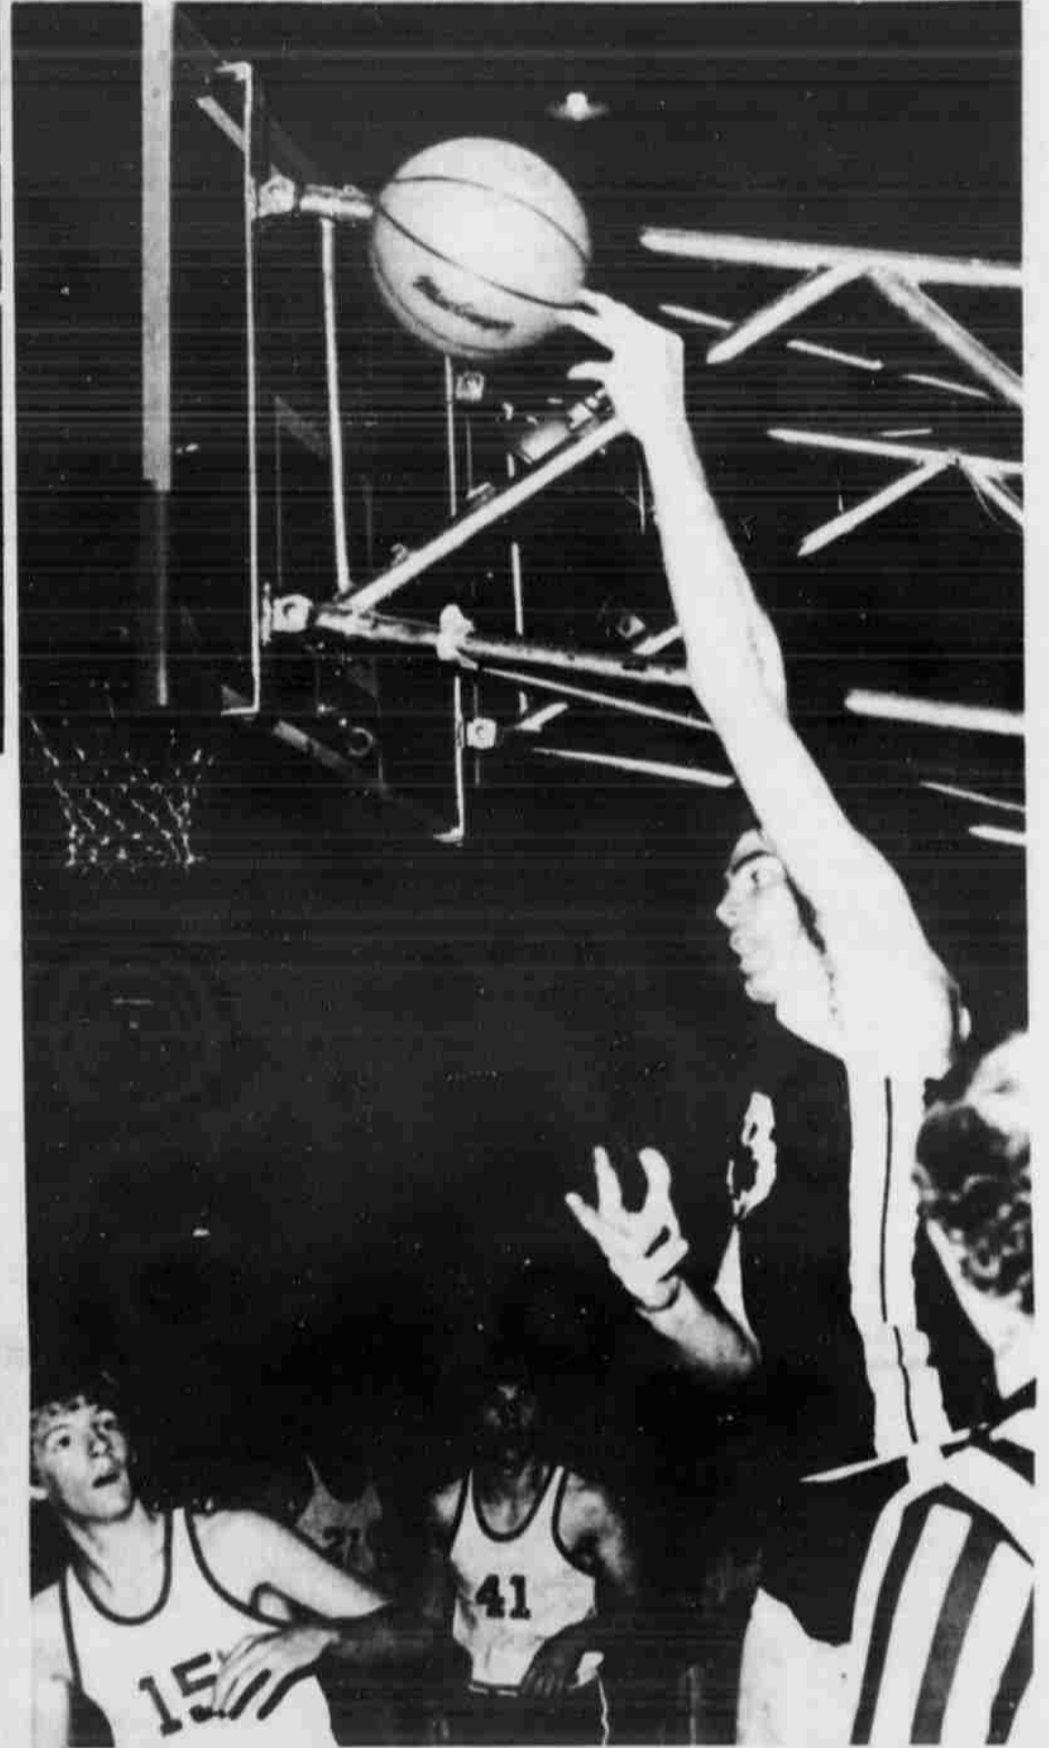

"All the boys played well— Mills probably had his best two games of the year and Burchfield had a good Saturday night game. Reed had some problems in the early going of the first game, but came back with a very good championship game."

"We played well— LaPoynor just had a better team," Haynes stated in summing up the championship game.

1974 CENSUS OF AGRICULTURE January 1975

Beef Consumption Setting New Records

"Americans are eating more beef than ever before and loving it," says Dr. John Hopkin, distinguished agricultural economist and head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University.

"Average consumption of beef in 1974 was 117 pounds per person and a new high in the U.S.," according to Hopkin. "And present indications are that we'll see another new record in 1975—exceeding 120 pounds per capita."

Our supply of beef is well able to handle such gains. In fact, Hopkin says, per capita consumption might have to exceed 130 pounds per person if we are to see any material decline in cattle numbers.

Hopkin has ample reason to know what he's talking about. He's the chairman of the recently appointed Council of Economic Advisors to the American National Cattleman's Association. The council, a group of distinguished college and industrial economists, will meet periodically to consider the total economic problems of the industry and suggest courses of action.

The council will focus on the broad, long range economic picture. Their work is intended to complement, not displace, present information programs of the American National Cattleman's Association.

Hopkin, who is Stiles professor, also has responsibilities with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He formerly was vice-president of the Bank of America agricultural program.

"At our council's first regular meeting in Denver on February 28th," Hopkin says, "it was determined that the issue emerging as a paramount problem is adequate financing for the cattle industry during its current crisis."

"Under the direction of the council, a group of experts will convene on the Texas A&M Campus, March 21-April 11 to begin focusing on the dimensions of the problem. They will attempt to assess the seriousness of the present financing problem, project the capacity of the industry to generate cash flows to service existing and expected debt loads, and evaluate alternative approaches."

"There is a world surplus of beef right now brought on by a combination of interlocking factors: the energy crisis, feed grain prices, economic downturn here and broad, government interference in Europe and to a limited extent in the U.S., and too optimistic an expansion of breeding herds."

"Fortunately for the cattle industry, the supply of other meats will be down this year. Estimates are that pork supplies will be down for most, if not all, of 1975—possibly by 12 per cent."

"Present indications are that the supply of poultry will be down 10 per cent during the first half of the year. However, if feed grain prices move down a bit more, as they might well do, supplies of broilers can be increased rather quickly."

"Unlike poultry and pork, the demand for beef is characterized by a high income elasticity. When the 'real' incomes of consumers decrease, their demand for beef usually drops off. This may be significant at the present time when rates of inflation are reducing the real income of many people.

"Yet the upward trend in the consumption of beef has not been reversed. In fact, it appears that per capita consumption of beef hit a new high during the fourth quarter of 1974 and is continuing at an equal or higher rate during the current quarter."

"More importantly, this increased consumption has occurred at a time when retail prices for beef were rising relative to the prices of pork and poultry—which is a real indication of the rising preference for beef. Moreover, consumer expenditure for beef appears to be inching up. It was 2.42 per cent in 1971, 2.54 per cent in 1972, 2.56 per cent in 1973, and possibly reached 2.63 per cent in 1974."

"Nevertheless, as rapid inflation continues, consumers are becoming more cost conscious in shopping. We have seen this already in the way housewives have absorbed the volume of non-fed beef at a modest price discount when compared to 'choice' beef."

"My impression is that this strong demand for ungraded, non-fed beef has surprised many people in the retail trade who had come to believe that the American housewife wanted only 'U.S. Choice'."

"Part of this shift is in response to lower prices of non-fed beef. But some of it may also be the housewife's response to her first opportunity to express an interest in buying leaner meat for most of her weekly menus. I earnestly feel that this matter needs serious study."

"The experience in Western Europe this past year has shown the problems that can arise when supplies increase and incomes decline. Their real income due to inflation even worse than ours. Government policies and beef prices at relative levels. As a consequence, we have experienced a real reduction in beef consumption."

"The significant concern of the U.S. is that, given the real income, the increased per capita consumption of beef made possible only at a price."

"When the shock wave hitting the cattle industry over, I expect fed beef to continue to be a vital part of a great industry. But I expect a return to the 1970 level when fed cattle comprised 80 per cent of the total beef production. Perhaps 90 per cent or less is far more realistic."

"This means that the spread between Choice and grass-fats will have to narrow rather significantly; the large will depend primarily on the price of feed grains."

"On balance, the demand for beef is strong—and it will remain that way in the United States. But for the sake of all—consumer and producer—we need to discover and supply the beef buyer wants."

"Only in this way can we insure a steady source of desired quality at a price a consumer can afford, while the producer in business."

"We must research and avoid a boom-bust situation's attendant shortages and glut," Hopkin concluded.

Check Your Boat Now

Don't be surprised by spring, warn the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's boating safety experts.

In Texas, cold, dreary weather gives way to spring rather quickly, catching outdoor recreationists with their boats totally unprepared for the first outing.

If your boat has sat inactive for the past few months a little maintenance is probably in order. This could range from a few minor checks to avoid inconveniences to very important matters which could make your day in the sun not so much fun.

First, give your boat hull a good cleaning while it is still on the trailer. Be sure to drain any standing rain water if your boat is stored outside and give the interior a good scrubbing.

Wooden boats should be stripped of all old and cracked paint and be repainted.

While you're chipping away at the old paint, check the caulking to see if it is still smooth and doing its job. If it's cracked, replace it with fresh caulking before you repaint.

Fiberglass hulls should be cleaned thoroughly and given a luxurious coating of wax. This helps the boat slip through the water, producing both speed and fuel economy.

Safety equipment should be more than just a quick glance. For example, your personal flotation devices, by law, must be visible. Yank on the straps of the fabric tears, it's not the device should be replaced. The kapok bags inside should be fluffy and light. If the bags are heavy, one of the bags may be ruptured.

Make a quick check of running lights and bulbs. Replace any bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine dim, your battery needs charging and you should consider yourself lucky you found this out before you reached the lake.

Your fire extinguisher needs a check for cracked broken hoses or obstructed nozzles. Check the pressure, locking pins and wires. Recharge if your indicator extinguisher pressure is low.

Having the engine of your boat cough and sputter in the middle of the lake and you can spoil your day, so it's a good idea to tune it before your first trip out.

Boat checked out, you're ready to go, right? Quite. If you haven't checked wheel bearings on your boat, you should know regular bearings are hard to find Sunday afternoon.

Wheel bearings should be packed with grease at the end of the season. If you find rust on the bearings, clean them.

There are some other parts on your trailer that need attention. Lubricate all parts of the complex, tilting mechanism, brackets and rollers.

Check your tires for pressure and wear, and the hitch on your car. Hook your trailer to the test the lights.

A little extra time taken these precautions can make a big difference on whether your first boating trip of the season is a boom or a bust.

Root-Knot Nematode Has Enemy In Barley

Cotton growers in the grain-growing areas of West Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona who have a problem with root-knot nematode have an ally in barley, according to two U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers.

Their recommendation is to rotate cotton with barley. This keeps the land productive and reduces the nematode population to almost zero, thus eliminating the need to fumigate the soil before planting cotton.

Continuous culture of cotton in many parts of the four States produces high populations of the root-knot nematode that require chemical control. As alternative methods of reducing the high nematode populations, the researchers Dr. William W. Carter, nematologist, and Santos Nieto, Jr., agricultural research technician, evaluated crop rotation and clean following.

Growing barley and clean following were both effective in reducing root-knot nematode populations after 9 and 10 months, respectively. Grain sorghum was ineffective in controlling the pest and was actually comparable to cotton in maintaining high nematode populations.

The researchers reported that some might consider barley to be a fallow treatment, since the crop was grown during cool weather and matured by May, before soil temperatures were favorable for nematode production. However, greenhouse trials showed barley to be an unfavorable host for root-knot nematode.

dered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, according to Dr. Cal Parrott, area beef specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the terms of the order the 14-day withdrawal period for livestock feeders using oral diethylstilbestrol (DES) is immediately effective and the certification program became effective March 16.

And, under the terms of the order, feeders will be required to file a certificate stating they have not fed DES to livestock in the 14 days prior to slaughter.

DES is a synthetic chemical used to boost animal growth.

Dr. Parrott said that the certification program had been dropped in 1972 when the Food and Drug Administration voted to ban oral DES.

In January, 1974, however, a federal court reversed the ban order. But the USDA did not reorder the certification program until now. The order is to insure compliance with DES regulations.

The earlier rules, in effect prior to 1972, required a 7-day withdrawal. The 14-day period, said USDA, more effectively insures freedom from DES residues in beef livers.

New regulations provide that certificates showing proper withdrawal from DES must be presented to a federal inspector before slaughter. Marketing agencies or dealers may issue certification based on the certification from previous owners.
