TEN-MAN GROUP NAMED TO DIRECT CONTEST OF SUIT

More Than $700 Of $5,000 Needed Raised Quickly

The legal action filed in District Court last Friday, by General Telephone Company, in which the company seeks to enjoin the City of Littlefield from enforcing telephone rental rates, now in effect, and set by City ordinance—to the end that they shall be permitted to raise all classes of local telephone monthly rates, in varying amounts, and averaging in the neighborhood of 50 per cent increase, will be contested.

That action was decided upon here at a mass meeting of citizens, which numbered approximately 100, held at the Palace Theatre Tuesday morning.

Meeting Called By Mayor The mass meeting was called by Mayor Chenber, who had personally been legally served with papers, in the court action in District Court, brought by the telephone company.

The mayor presided at the meeting, and explained that he had called the same, so that the City Commission and himself could be advised by representative citizens, as to the further action citizens wished the commission to take, both in enforcement of the ordinance, and whether the increase should be allowed to go into effect, or should be contested in court.

Two Are Killed In Sunday Car Accidents

Two automobile wrecks, which occurred on Lamb county highways last Sunday evening, one at 6:50 p.m., the other about 8 p.m., resulted in the death of two persons, and the injury of at least seven others, all more or less seriously, with the dead being taken to Hammons Funeral Home and the injured to the two local hospitals, and some to the Olton Hospital. All of the injured are expected to recover.

Dead is Thomas Jeso, aged 22, a Latin-American cotton field worker from San Angelo, who was fatally injured in one of the crashes which occurred eight miles south of Olton on the Anton road and expired in the Olton Hospital about two hours after the crash. Injured in the crash was John Dukatnik, aged 18, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dukatnik, Whitharral area farmers, and two brothers, Paul and Parfello of the man killed, and his sister, Louisa.

Officers investigating the wreck reported that Dukatnik was driving his 1948 Chevrolet toward Olton, and the death victim was driving southward in a 1947 Ford. Both cars were practically demolished.

The other wreck which cost the life of Amador Rosa, aged 24, and resulted in the injury of three others, Estedon DeLeon, Pablo Moreno and one other whose name was not learned, occurred near Springlake, on the Littlefield highway.

This crash involved only one car, which was driven by the dead Latin-American and for some unknown reason the car went out of control, and turned over several times.

Rosa was not instantly killed, and was brought to Payne-Shoemaker's Foundation, where he died about 2 a.m. Monday morning. All of the other injured occupants of the car were also brought here, and will recover.

Rosa's remains were sent to Rio Grande City where funeral services will be held. He was said to have been married, and has been working on a farm near Barta.

WHEN I CAN'T SUPPORT ALL OF THE NOMINEES OF THE PARTY—I WILL CEASE TO BE A MEMBER OF THE PARTY"—SAM RAYBURN

Sam Rayburn Tears To Shreds The Shivers-Daniel False Tideland Stand South Plains Broadcast

Rayburn emphatically urges Texas voters to put our country under control of Northern Republicans—before the Eisenhower Election means a Mean Loss of Both Senate and House—a Vital Body Blow to the entire South.

Here's The Text of the Great Speech Made by Sam Rayburn at Lubbock Monday night, after his 15-minute introduction by Congressman George Mahon. We Believe That Every Man, Woman and Child in Lamb County and in Texas Can Read Every Word—in profit to Self and Country.

... and the South will be the losers should the Republican in the election on Nov. 4. Rayburn, Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, warned that approximately 1,100 Democrats attending a Democratic rally at Lubbock Senior High School Monday night.

... have received much recognition under the Democrats and Southern states have been most of the important assignments in the Democratic Congressional bodies, the veteran Speaker, who served in the post longer than any in U.S. history.

... if the Republicans win, I won't be a man below the Dixon line chairman of any committee less a committee in Texas," Rayburn declared. "Yet we people right here in Texas want a Republican President, and put the country in the power of the Northern States."

... ute talk, compared to 23 times Gen. Eisenhower was applauded in his 19-minute talk at Lubbock Municipal airport last Tuesday.

... Cong. Geo. Mahon, who introduced his colleague in Congress, was also applauded 21 times in his 15 minute introduction of Rayburn.

... "This may be a fateful year in U.S. History," Speaker Rayburn told the attentive and friendly audience at the outset of his talk. "The issues are as broad as the universe... The economy and the peace of the world may be at stake."

... "I think we would be making a tremendous mistake to turn it over to the Republicans again," Rayburn declared. "In their last time, in 12 years they took our nation from the highest point of prosperity to the lowest point... to its lowest point of want..."

... "You can remember what your farm and ranch products sold for in 1920 and in 1930. You can remember 4 1/2-cent cotton, 2 1/2 cent hogs and 3-cent steers..."

... "In 1932, when the Republicans were ending their 12-year reign, the total farm income of the nation was only $1,800,000,000... In 1961, after we had wrecked the farmer, so they say, this income had risen to more than $15 billion."

... He cited how bank deposits had risen from $61 billion in 1932 to $161 billion in 1951 and how corporate income had increased from more than three billion in the red in 1932 to 18 billion in 1951.

... "And this was after we had destroyed free enterprise, so they say," Rayburn declared.

... Citing strides made in soil conservation, the farm program and other phases of agriculture, Rayburn asked:

... "Did they ever think of these constructive measures for agriculture? Did they ever think of soil conservation. When we put in the 90 per cent parity price support program, they fought us on every turn as they did three months ago... Yet their candidate now goes around saying he's for 100 per cent parity."

... Hita G.O.P. Slogan "Can you forget that today more than 90 per cent of all the farm homes in Texas have all the modern conveniences of an urban home? Can you forget all these things and go after a slogan 'it's time for a change?'"

... "Now let's just take a look at how bad off you are in Lubbock County," Rayburn reminded his listeners. "In 1932, the banks of Lubbock had on deposit $3,011,000, but in 1950, the last figures I have, these banks had $140,145,000 on deposit. That's how bankrupt you are, my fellow countrymen."

... "In 1929, at the height of what the Republicans claim as prosperity, the products of your farms and ranches sold for $4,558,992. In 1949, and that wasn't a peak year, the products of the farms and ranches of Lubbock County sold for $35,088,211."

... "Let's take stock and see if we're ready for a change," Rayburn declared.

... Referring to the GOP presidential nominee, Rayburn said: "He is a good man," and with a twinkle in his eyes, added: "He ought to be he was born in my congressional district."

... "But being a great general and

... hold the highest civilian office in a good man, doesn't qualify him to the world's greatest democracy. He was in military service 40 years, from the time he was 21 until he was 61, but I've been in Congress nearly 40 years and I've studied constantly on all the great problems of our nation and haven't found a solution for them all.

... "But if I were to master all of them, that wouldn't qualify me to lead an Army," Rayburn declared. "Being a great engineer and a good man didn't qualify Herbert Hoover to be president."

... "I believe in the age-old doctrine of every workman to his bench," he added.

... Praises Stevenson Citing Gov. Adlai Stevenson's long record of public service, Speaker Rayburn declared: "In the person of Adlai Stevenson we present a man equipped to be President of the United States."

... He then told of the Democratic candidate's early experience in Washington with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, when he helped with the problems of the farmer. Later, he said, he was selected by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, a Republican, to be his assistant.

... "He sat in the San Francisco conference that created the United Nations. He served in the State Department ably and well. And then when the people of Illinois, after eight years of the most corrupt of Republican administrations, selected him as the party's candidate there he was elected by the biggest majority any man was ever elected Governor of Illinois."

... Hita At Nixon Again referring to the GOP candidates, Rayburn warned: "If you elect Ike Eisenhower President, you'll also be electing Dick Nixon vice president. I tremble to think, as an American, that there could only be one heartbeat between the White House and Nixon."

... Citing Nixon's fund and the report on television he made to the nation, Rayburn declared: "He still hasn't explained one big item. How he bought a $41,000 house in Washington and still owes $21,000 on it. Where did he get the $20,000 he paid down on it?"

... "There are no degrees of honesty. You are 100 per cent honest or you are not. There are no degrees of truthfulness. You either tell the truth or you do not."

... Cites Attacks On Marshall Referring again to Eisenhower, Rayburn charged he "has hurt more people in this campaign" and cited the case of Gen. Geo. C. Marshall.

... "Every promotion he got in the Army was a recommendation of Gen. Marshall and approved by President Roosevelt and President Truman, yet he goes out to Indiana and puts his arm around Jenner, who called Gen. Marshall a 'living lie' and McCarthy of Wisconsin, who accused Gen. Marshall of being a 'front for the Communists.'"

... "I wouldn't do a thing like that to be elected to all the offices in the U.S.," the Speaker declared and the crowd cheered lustily.

... Turning to the fight against Communism, Speaker Rayburn again referred to Woodrow Wilson and his fight to establish peace in the world.

... "Isolationism has again crawled out of the shadows... out of the slime," Rayburn said. He said al-

... most to the year and the month that Wilson predicted the second World War, it began.

... "We got into the second World War for the same reason we got into the first World War. We spent $350 billion fighting this and if we spent $50 billion this year and $50 billion next year and the next, I'd rather spend the money now, for if war doesn't come, it will be because we are strong."

... "We were attacked by the Japs because they thought we were weak. I can recall those days back in 1939 when we pleaded with an isolationist Congress. But where there is no vision the people perish..."

... "Now 59 nations have joined the United Nations to try to save the peace of the world. We joined in that movement. We said to the people of the world we will oppose aggression wherever it appears."

... "Suppose we had pulled out of Korea" the Speaker asked. "Suppose we had violated our pledge to oppose aggression... The United Nations would have been dead and we would be in World War III. I choose to fight this war in Korea rather than have the world in flames."

... Mahon Hits G.O.P. Slogan "Now they're saying that Eisenhower will stop the war all at once and bring your boys home. That is thoroughly dishonest. It is not true."

... In closing Speaker Rayburn said he hoped to see the day "when unreasonable men will come to reason and we may march to our destiny and see peace on Earth."

... In introducing Speaker Rayburn, Cong. Mahon assailed the GOP slogan, "It's Time for a Change."

... "The Republican party was elected in 1946 by the people to control the 80th Congress," Mahon said. "But after two years of experience with the Republicans, the people decided it was time for a change. With that exception, the Democrats have been in power for 20 years. In the broad sweep of history, 20 years is not a very long time."

... Committee Changes Cited "It is never time for a change unless the people have an opportunity to change for the better," Mahon declared. "In a true sense, I like to feel that we are constantly changing, changing for the better." Mahon cited the Congressional committee changes that would take place if the Republicans win.

... "Unless there is some good reason which has not been explained to me, I just cannot see why the people from the South and the Southwest should give up their power in Congress. Unless we are seeking a position of helplessness, we cannot afford to."

... "Surely it is evident that Texans have a great stake in electing a Democratic administration," the Lubbock Congressman added. "We have difficult days ahead. I shudder to think of turning over farm legislation to the leadership of a man from Kansas and a man from far away Vermont."

... "I know of the co-operation which I have received from a Democratic farm matters, crop insurance, acreage problems, Canadian Dam legislation, and in my efforts to retain the 27 1/2 per cent depletion for oil men and land owners."

... "Time for a change?—yes, it's time for a change for those who want to make a change for the worse."

Hearty Fall Meals

SAUERKRAUT-STUFFED APPLES—New trick for old favorite

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Pork, kraut and apples make a hearty, nutritious and thrifty trio when crisp weather demands hearty meals. Put these good foods on your menus often during October 25 to November 30; during these six weeks there will be specials on them for budget-minded cooks.

Some night when you are serving chops, sauerkraut and mashed potatoes, top the meal off with this delicate lemon dessert.

SAUERKRAUT-STUFFED APPLES

Ingredients: 4 large baking apples, one No. 303 can sauerkraut (drained), 1/2 pound ground fresh pork, 2 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Wash apples; remove core, being careful not to cut right through apple at one end. Hollow out inside of apple, leaving 1/2-inch shell. Chop 1/2 cup apple pulp. Mix thoroughly the chopped apple, sauerkraut, pork, sugar, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Firmly pack sauerkraut mixture into apple hollows. Pour 1 teaspoon butter over top of sauerkraut stuffing in each apple. Arrange stuffed apples in baking pan containing 1/2-inch water. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven 1 hour, or until apples are tender. Makes 4 servings.

LEMON CAKE CUSTARD

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup bottled lemon juice, 3 eggs (separated), 1 1/2 cups milk.

Method: Cream butter; blend in sugar, flour, salt, lemon juice, well-beaten egg yolks and milk. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Spoon mixture into 5 or 8 greased custard cups or a 1-quart casserole. Place in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven 30 to 35 minutes for custard cups and 40 to 45 minutes for casserole, or until done. When baked, the dessert will have custard on the bottom and sponge cake on top. Makes about six servings.

Football Fortunes Of Giants Depend On Rote's Knee

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK—Rote is ready—and the Giants are jittery.

Kyle Rote, the former S.M.U. grid star, is now in his second year as a member of the New York football Giants but has played little due to a knee injury sustained early last year. The knee failed to heal properly and Rote was used for kick-off purposes only. An operation in May made the knee sound again but Coach Steve Owen used the youngster sparingly in pre-season exhibition games.

However, all fears were dispelled when Rote blasted off tackle for a 52-yard touchdown sprint against the Dallas Texans in the opening game of the season. And he did it right in his own backyard—the famed Cotton Bowl.

Few players have jumped from the collegiate to the pro ranks with as much ballyhoo as did Rote. Long a legend in Texas football he began collecting his accolades in high school. He continued hitting the headlines as the chief Mustang of S.M.U.

In 1949 the tow-headed youngster from San Antonio practically singlehandedly nearly whipped a Notre Dame juggernaut that hadn't tasted defeat in four years. The final score was 27-20 with the Irish eking out the victory in the last quarter. Kyle scored all his team's 20 points and had the Notre Dame defenders literally standing on their ears.

His farewell to the college grid-iron came in the annual East-West game. Rote bowed out with a dazzling display of football prowess and was named the outstanding player of the contest.

Coach Owen, who has been guiding the destinies of the Polo Grounders since 1931, has high regard for Rote's all-around pigskin ability. Although a rather conservative individual when it comes to praising his squad, stout Steve claims that "Rote is the most versatile back the Giants have had since Tuffy Leemans played (1936-1942)."

Now if Rote's knee holds up for the remainder of the campaign, the fortunes of the Giants will go soaring. The New Yorkers gave the Cleveland Browns a tough tussle for the division title last season and all indications are that the same two teams will battle it out for the diadem this time.

With Chuck Conerly's passing, and the hard running of league ground-gainer champ Eddie Price together with Kyle Rote, the Giants hope to go all the way.

Bible Words to Live by

It would be difficult for me to select any one verse of Scripture as the one which I would place above all others, as a favorite, but certainly one of my favorites is the 12th verse of the 1st Chapter of John, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." I like this verse because it draws a contrast between the experience of being merely a physical child of God through creation and a spiritual child of God through the deep religious experience of receiving Christ into our hearts. It assures us that when we are willing to receive Him, God provides all the necessary power with which to make the required changes in our attitudes, relationships, and behavior.

The "Other Side" Of A CONTROVERSIAL TEXAS ISSUE

There were few Democrats in Texas, who wanted or had any quarrel with Governor Allen Shivers, when it was announced that he might go fishing on election day.

Later, he publicly and openly said that he could not support the Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson—and coupled it with the announcement that he would support the Republican Candidate, Dwight Eisenhower.

There could be no quarrel with that either—because even though Allen Shivers is the Governor of Texas, he still has the full rights of any other citizen of Free America, and a citizen of this great state of Texas, to cast his personal ballot as he pleases.

But the Governor hasn't been content to stop there. Seemingly, he isn't even satisfied to be in the spotlight—he seems to have decided that he is the spotlight—and if he isn't now telling Texas Democrats how to vote, he is certainly coming closer to it than has any other public official in the entire political history of the state of Texas.

Admittedly a number of Texans will go along with the Governor, not because he is the Governor, but because they, too, happen to think his way. Then there is another large group of Democrats, that will go along with the Governor, for the reason that he is the Governor, is going to be the Governor for some additional years, and the Governor has the power of handing out both business and personal favors.

But there is still another group of Democrats in the state, and this group is made up of men who ask no favors, wear no halos, and heartily resent any attempt by any individual to tell them how to vote, or even to influence their vote, no matter what the vote issue nor the reason—and this same group is very seriously questioning the reasons and the acts of Governor Shivers, as well as their propriety.

"Tidelands" is the magic word which the Governor waves before the radio microphones, and in numerous personal appearances before Texas voters—yet the truth of the matter is that there isn't one citizen of the State in fifty who has anything much better than a smattering knowledge of what this "tidelands" issue, which he stresses is all about. We've studied the matter ourselves, and we're still a long ways from being fully informed.

We also are reminded that men like John Nance Garner, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Senators Tom Connally and Lynden Johnson, as well as our entire Texas delegation in Congress including our own George Mahon of this district, have been working for years and years in the interest of Texas in this same tidelands matter—some of them before Texas youthful governor could have known too much about it or be more than superfluously interested.

Most of those men seemingly think that Texas tidelands will get as fair treatment from Stevenson as from Eisenhower—because they are openly announcing their support of Stevenson.

And if the tidelands matter is ever settled to the satisfaction of Texans, as we certainly think it ultimately will be, it will not be because of the flag-waving, and speech-making of Governor Shivers—it will be through the efforts of those other loyal Democrats—despite this 1952 flag-waving, if you please.

We think that Governor Shivers is making Texas a very good Governor. We rather believe he can and will continue to do so after this election is over—no matter who wins the National election.

Governor Shivers open support of a Republican presidential candidate will still not be the thing that will bring the ultimate solution of the tidelands matter—the continuing efforts of our Senators and Congressmen will still be the balance which will swing tidelands ownership back to Texas.

If the Governor thinks there is anything like 100 percent support for his 1952 campaign activities among Democrats—the Governor is very much—mistaken.

When any man seeks and is elected to the high office of Governor, he ceases to be a private citizen—becomes a public servant for the period of tenure of office. So far as he is concerned, his rights of free speech as a private citizen should be subjugated because he speaks not as the citizen but as the State.

The Governor, in his latest utterances, may be serving himself well; may be serving some groups in the state well—but his efforts which if successful, would have the effect of creating two Democratic parties in the State of Texas, in our measured opinion—does not serve the best interests of ALL of the people of Texas—certainly DOES NOT serve them well.

A challenge issued by Dr. Weldon B. Meers, pastor of the Littlefield Missionary Baptist Church, XIT Drive and 8th St., to Rev. Bedtime Rules For Children

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Education Reporter
Most mothers want their children to be happy at bedtime. To get through the necessary preparations tranquilly, especially if both parent and child are tired, is not always easy. It may happen of itself several times a week, but too often the hour that ought to be full of pleasure is a trying climax to a wearing day.

According to the National Kindergarten Association, not many children settle down to sleep directly after hilarious romping; more come to grief as a result of such a mistaken privilege and are found to be better off if they have their lively play earlier in the day.

One mother, says the Association, finds it worth-while to begin bedtime preparations a full half-hour before it is strictly necessary. Then, with clothes neatly arranged, bath over, and toys in place, there is time for quiet play before the good nights are said. A special box of crayons and a pad of plain paper should always be within reach. The psychological effect of being ready for bed makes it simpler to keep the small boy or girl quiet than when the extra times is allowed downstairs.

This is the ideal period for stories, but when the mother is without a maid her leisure hour usually comes earlier or later. Unquestionably, it is wiser for little ones under six to have a light, early supper than to sit at the family dinner table at night. Once accustomed to this arrangement, they will consider the quiet play period, in dressing gown and slippers, sufficiently compensating. And, after ten or fifteen minutes of such relaxation, they will usually be happy to sing a stanza of a hymn, repeat their prayers, nestle down contentedly, and go to sleep.

Many mothers resort to "rewards" for going to sleep quickly, says the Association. But just where rewards verge on bribery is not always easy to determine. One little girl cited by the Association, would lay serenely waiting for sleep each night because of the "Fairy Package" which—if bedtime found under her pillow in the morning was quiet and happy—would be a length of colored ribbon, or a piece of silver foil; occasionally it would be a penny. It sometimes taxed the mother's ingenuity, but it meant that after careful attention had been paid to the small daughter's needs, there was peace instead of insistent demands to satisfy wholly imaginary wants. In this case, it meant, too, that when, after a few months, the mother declared the idea worn out, the little girl had acquired the habit of relaxing for sleep promptly.

The package was purposely limited to something in itself insignificant—a few raisins in an envelope, a length of colored ribbon, or a piece of silver foil; occasionally it would be a penny. BONN, Germany — The folksy president of West Germany wears no man's collar, but anybody's hat.

Forty-eight million fellow citizens chuckle with Theodor Heuss (rhymes with Royce) as he gleefully covers his white locks with an endless variety of headgear.

The 68-year-old former history professor has to attend a continual round of official ceremonies ranging from accrediting foreign ambassadors to christening ships and opening fairs. With a troupier's zest, he changes his black silk topper for a businessman's homburg or a sailor's knitted cap—or whatever else fits the occasion.

Speeches Contain Humor
When he makes speeches, which is frequently, he vaids ponderous academic language and flavors his remarks with good humor.

The younger generation likes him, because he has junked starchy formality. Oldsters are startled by his home-spun manner but find it, in the long run, as appetizing as apfelstrudel.

Political feuding passes Heuss by. On the high and impartial level of the presidency, he makes many friends inside Germany and rarely a foe. Since 1949, when rival republics were sponsored by the Allies and the Russians, Germany has had two presidents. Communist Wilhelm Pieck heads the Soviet Zone state.

The West German president is strictly limited by the constitution to symbolic duties. He can not intervene in the government or veto parliament's laws. He must keep himself above all parties and hold no other public or private office while he is president.

Politically Desirable
Heuss was on the Allies' white list, along with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, when Germany was occupied in 1945. Certified as politically desirable, he was picked by American authorities to become co-publisher of the first postwar newspaper in Heidelberg, the Rhein-Neckar Zeitung.

He has always relished the smell of printer's ink. From 1912 to 1918 he was chief editor of the Neckar Zeitung in Heilbronn. He has written biographies of German philosophers, industrialists, and statesmen.

Critics used to raise two points about Heuss' career, but that did not block his rise to the presidency:

He was a deputy of the German Democratic Party in 1933 and joined with many other anti-Communist but non-Nazi deputies in voting emergency powers to Adolf Hitler after the Reichstag fire was blamed on the Reds.

Later on Heuss was a brief contributor to Das Reich, a cultural periodical before it was taken over openly by Nazi propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels.

Allied investigators cleared Heuss of any suspicion of pro-Naziism, however. He did not prosper in the Third Reich, where his books were finally burned on Hitler's order.

Heuss considers himself a good European and is committed in general terms to federation of the continent. He also predicts that the German people will not be duped by neo-Nazi fanatics into another nationalistic binge. "The restless fever to impose our will on the rest of the world is dead forever," he claims.

Although he assails the hideous crimes of the Nazi Reich, he was out of sympathy with the mass "denazification" which the Allies began after the war and then dismantled piecemeal.

He regarded Allied dismantling as economic nonsense. Allotment of U. S. funds to rebuild German steel plants soon after they were torn down gives some backing to his viewpoint.

LITTLEFIELD TWINS WIN IN "TWIN CONTEST" AT TEXAS STATE FAIR

Rudolph and Adolph Smith, 11 year old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, entered the "twin contest," held at Texas State Fair, at Dallas, October 13, and walked off with the $15.00 prize purse, for that age group.

October 13 was Negro Achievement Day at the Fair, and all contests were strongly contested by representatives from all over the State. Ages for participants were from 6 months to 83 years of age. Rudolph and Adolph won first place in their age group, as identical twins. They were attired in cowboy regalia, wearing blue jeans, jackets, with gray cowboy hats, and red handkerchief around their necks.

Incidentally this was the boys' first trip to Dallas, and needless to say they got quite a thrill out of the trip. They had the privilege of posing for several professional photographers.

The local contestants were sponsored by Dunbar School, with principal Maurice Powell, accompanying the boys and supervising them while there.

The twins are in the third grade at school, and are pupils of Mrs. Arab Garrett.

The parents of the boys are both employed as laborers at Littlefield Union Compress and Warehouse.

Mass Meeting—

pledging financial support of the legal defense of the action.

Fund Being Raised
At the close of the meeting, those attending pledged or gave more than $700 toward the fund which a committee of nine is now working to raise, to finance the legal defense.

City Attorney Arthur Duggan also addressed the meeting, and unofficially expressed an opinion, that legal contest of the action to raise rates in the amount asked, would be effective if properly presented.

He warned however, that it probably would be expensive to contest the action, and suggested a figure of $5,000 as the amount defense of the suit would cost.

City Must Hire Auditors
He reminded that defense would entail the hiring of qualified auditors to study and check telephone company books, as well as extra legal talent, qualified in cases of this nature, and also other expenses of the case, through lower, and possibly higher courts.

The Mayor bluntly told the meeting that the City and City Commission had no funds available to finance defense of the suit, expressed the opinion that it should be contested, but told the meeting that financing of the defense would have to be borne in almost full measure by citizens and telephone users who would be affected.

He pointed out that there are approximately 1500 local telephone users, and that it has been estimated that if the asked for increase in rates were put into effect, that he added cost would amount to something like $3,000 per month, or $36,000 per year. (Telephone company estimate is $34,092 annually.)

Rates Raised In 1949
He stated that telephone rates were previously increased by the telephone company in 1949, and it was after that rate increase, that the City enacted the present rate ordinance.

He called attention to the fact that the company is asking the rate increase on a local investment of approximately $350,000 (telephone company figure is $327,365.27), but for purposes of city taxation the company listed investment figure locally at only $79,000.

Before he concluded, he stated that several citizens had already contacted him since the suit was filed, and had proffered individually to financially support fighting the court action, with up to $500 contribution, to a fund.

Proposed Rate Increases
Increase of rates in Littlefield are asked in the legal action in five classes of service, as follows:

Service	Present	New
1-Party, business	$6.50	$9.50
2-Party, business	4.75	7.50
1-Party, residence	3.25	4.75
2-Party, residence	2.75	4.25
4-Party, residence	2.25	3.75

(On the above figures, the rate increase figures slightly more than fifty per cent) No increase is asked for extension service.

After voting to contest the court action seeking to increase local telephone rates, the mass meeting elected Tom Hilburn, secretary-treasurer of an organization which will contest the action. At the same time it also elected an over-all steering committee of nine members, to actively arrange for defense of the suit, employment of legal counsel, and the raising of funds to support the action.

Following the meeting, the committee went into session, and divided their group into three individual committees, who immediately started work on the matter. These committees, which also form the overall committee are:

Legal Committee—Alvin Webb, A. P. Duggan, Pat Boone, Jr., Public Relations, Finance Committee—Tom Hilburn, Jim Mangum, A. P. Duggan, General Committee—A. C. Chesher, A. R. Ward, M. M. Brittain, I. D. Onstead, J. C. Chisholm, sr., W. C. Cannon, C. A. Duvall.

The District Court hearing on the action for temporary injunction is set for December 1, 1952.

Another factor which cannot be overlooked, and which will still further increase overall tax bills which are rendered for service, is the matter of Federal tax on telephones. The newly requested rates do not include Federal taxes, and these are added in the amount of 15% to each bill. If the rate increase goes into effect, Littlefield phone users would also have to pay more than $5,000 more in Federal tax than at present on their phone bills.
