

"THUMBED" RIDE WITH LAW OFFICERS—ARRESTED

... something like this has happened before... but not in this county, as far as is known.

Between Littlefield and Amherst he "thumbed" a ride. The car he happened to "thumb" was driven by Sheriff Sam Hutson, who was accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Sid Hopping. The deputy sheriff got into the back seat and Fulcher climbed in beside the sheriff. Fulcher didn't say anything and Hutson didn't recognize him until after he got into the car. The sheriff reports that he asked the man his name and that Fulcher replied: "Bruce... you know me, Sam." Hutson didn't lose any time about serving his warrant and placing Fulcher under arrest. In fact, according to the sheriff, he had been looking for Fulcher ever since the grand jury indictment was returned. Fulcher told the law officers that he had been in Arkansas and Oklahoma and that in the time he had been away he had traveled a great many times by freight car.

"And to think I had to hail the sheriff down," commented Fulcher, according to Sheriff Hutson. The officers continued their trip to Sudan and returning to Littlefield, placed Fulcher in jail.

Griffin & Chesher Assemble Block Of 8000 Acres For Prospector

Climaxing months of surveys in Lamb county, by big and little oil operators, the prospects for a flow of "Liquid Gold" in this section, brightened up considerably during the past few days, when landowners and real estate operators around Littlefield did a very brisk business in the leasing of mineral and oil rights. Old-timers who are wise in the ways of oil prospectors, predict that these brisk leasing activities are—more than likely, forerunners of tests even if no drilling obligations were stipulated in the leases made up to the present.

Assembling a block of 8,000 acres of land north of Littlefield has been completed and land northeast, east and west has been placed under lease by wildcat lease brokers during the past week.

The block has been assembled by Griffin & Chesher, but Mr. Griffin stated Wednesday at noon that there had been no drilling obligations, although the block was leased for a major oil company.

These leases have been made as a result of the work done by seismograph crews, who have worked in this territory during the past year, making geographical surveys.

Rotary's Place In City Life To Be Theme Of Talks At Luncheon

C. Hewitt will be in charge of program at today's Rotary luncheon. Following a short class-room talk by F. H. Patrick there will be a talk on Rotary's Place in Community. President Garlinghouse urges the members to uphold fine attendance record which has been maintained since the first year.

Joe Louis retained his heavyweight championship at Madison Square Gardens last night.

The scheduled 15-round bout with John Henry Lewis went two minutes and 20 seconds.

The champion knocked John Henry Lewis down in the first half minute. Two or three punches followed and the champion again knocked the challenger down. John Henry came right up from the first two knock downs, but the third was too much for him; he took the count. First a body blow, then one to the face and John Henry went down on his back. He was clawing the air and kicking as they counted him out.

Postmaster Storey Takes Charge Of County's Drive For FDR's Birthday

Definite plans for the celebration of the president's birthday, Jan. 29, were under way here this week, after Postmaster W. D. T. Storey was appointed chairman of the committee for Lamb county, by G. W. Briggs, vice chairman for Texas.

"The March of Dimes," better known as the Infantile Paralysis drive, will be held here Saturday, when a committee will work selling birthday cards with receptacles that hold 10 dimes. Buttons will be given to each person who purchases a card. The pins have "Fight Infantile Paralysis 1939," with the insignia, March of Dimes on a woman's head.

The quota for Lamb county in this drive is $100, and Mr. Storey stated that Sudan, Amherst, Olton and Earth postmasters would cooperate with him in raising this amount.

Jimmie Beisel, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Beisel, suffered a fractured left leg between his knee and hip, Tuesday about 12:15 noon, when his motorcycle and a light automobile driven by Otto Lichte collided in front of the Lichte residence on West First street.

WPA Controversy Meets Compromise Over Relief Funds

A reduction in relief funds was approved Friday by a senate appropriations subcommittee, but with an added provision that work relief rolls shall be maintained almost intact through the winter months, according to an associated press report from Washington last week-end.

This action, intended as a compromise, was nevertheless followed by definite indications it had served, if anything, to sharpen the controversy over how much shall be made

CAN LITTLEFIELD'S STREETS BE PAVED?

Paving of the streets of Littlefield was again the topic of discussion at the meeting of the directors of the local Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon, at the secretary's office.

E. O. McIver, president, appointed a committee to push the project through to a conclusion, and they will ask to have the project reinstated with the public works administration. They are busy this week collecting data and information, and the local Chamber will make greater efforts to get the project completed, because of the dire need and the condition of the streets of Littlefield.

Approximately 35 home owners agreed several months ago to cooperate with this plan.

O'DANIEL GETS STARTED WITH DAILY SPEECH

Suggests Transactions Tax To Meet Burden of His Promised Pension

Austin, Jan. 23.—The first week of Governor Lee O'Daniel's regime closed today with a second message to the legislature, in which he again stressed economy and reduction of governmental expenditures. After a busy week of appointments, recommendations and tax proposals, the state's new executive prepared to drive home, to the legislators, the urge for Economy and More Economy.

NEW TAX SUGGESTED
Immediately following his inauguration, the governor announced that he would fight for a transaction tax of 1.6 per cent. This is a glorified sales tax, and borders closely to a violation of the National Bill of Rights. If this measure is approved by both houses, it would have to go to a vote of the people. Since this announcement has been made, the members of the legislature and senate, have been besieged by their constituents—with urgent demands—to kill this measure. From a survey of public opinion, it appeared extremely doubtful whether this proposed tax measure would advance beyond its first presentation and debate.

CHARGES EXTRAVAGANCE
Shortly after this radical measure was proposed—Governor O'Daniel announced that all the state employees were extravagant in their expense accounts. The governor stated

We Mean Business

The announcement in last week's issue of the Lamb County Leader, that two new industries for Littlefield were more than a mere vision and a hope, brought forth a great deal of discussion.

There is—naturally, the usual attitude of "Let George Do It" and "Let's Wait and See Which Way the Cat Jumps in Washington."

Dr. C. G. Rook, of Gladewater, the chemist responsible for the perfection of the new insulation material, has again been contacted.

A preliminary meeting of prominent men who have Littlefield's welfare very much at heart, is now being planned. Arrangements will be perfected for the immediate investigation of these projects and their practical possibilities.

Yes—Littlefield is positively past the procrastination stage. We are going to do things here in the good year 1939, and make no mistake about it.

us. Providence has brought us Millions in the way of timely rain and moisture; the Federal government through its agricultural and public works departments, has invited us to show them how government funds can best be invested towards practical and permanent relief of the farmers, and we have found out that Littlefield is the logical place for these much-needed industries.

The orders are "Forward March." Will you come along and—by your interest and efforts, help us achieve these things that we have set out to do?

Ports of Entry

The further the states that have ports of entry go with their crazy idea of stopping all traffic at state lines and giving the riders the once over, the gladder one becomes that Texas has adopted an exactly opposite plan of operation.

Ports of entry may serve a good purpose in some respects. But the idea originates in Europe, it is selfish, silly and will do more harm than good in the long run.

Many Instances of Full Rehabilitation Cited by Farmers

Lamb County Families Given New Start Through Federal Farm Loans

By MARGARET BANDY

The long, friendly hand of the security administration reaches across every county and into every community of America. Lamb county is only a small nook in the vast map of the nation, but this county has had a part in this great work of helping staunch men who are losing everything prior to the rehabilitation loans which made it possible to rebuild farms,attered credits, and confidence in low men.

There are 150 such homes in Lamb county belonging to families who would not have known what they would have done without the benefits of the FSA program. True, in all human endeavors, the FSA rehabilitation program shows results. Daily they are being eliminated. Possibly one thing that can never be helped is the instance of misapplied assistance—of helping some men who, after the loans are paid, will eventually fall back to where they started from. But to America it should be worth the price of the administration—that is the total cost—to see such cases as that of Comer Hall of eight miles east of Littlefield.

Mr. Hall's case is unique in its very basis.

He started with a 1934 model car and a house trailer. Today—less than one year later—he has a farm and a home.

Mr. Hall, reared on a farm, by necessity became a farm laborer, later worked on roads, with the constant moving, sapping his income to the bone.

He longed to return to the soil—to own his own farm.

There came a chance in Lamb county, and he managed to get the down payment on his land for his car and house trailer.

FSA advanced him the money to operate on.

Since getting his loan in April, 1938, he purchased cows and chickens, and after the first crop, which amounted to practically nothing, he had paid the local FSA office $87 on his loan, and he has realized $132 from dairy products and $73 from poultry and eggs.

Carefully kept record books show his steady rise toward success. The farm shows the ingeniousness of his capable hand. He has a chicken house built for a total cost of $1.17. He, and his industrious wife have graced him with four heifer calves from his four milch cows—hard work has graced him with the happy smile he wears continuously. His whole effort is reflected in his broad, square shoulders, the sincere gleam of clear eyes. Today he is optimistic, has a different outlook on life—this time last year he had decided the whole world was against him, but his chin has been elevated, and he no longer frowns on the universe.

The farm security administration stands in service only to those low-income farmers of America whose credits have been exhausted. Because of the budgets and farm plans worked out by the man and woman specialists of this agency—because of the necessary records kept by these farm families—because of constant assistance in the way of helpful advice, it is safe to say that in some instances this supervised agricultural credit agency compels farmers to succeed in spite of themselves.

Its aid has done the humble homes of many, and by their own sincere voice they acclaim it as the greatest benefit they could have received.

As long as American men can take the route of the Comer Halls of the nation, working their way to the freedom of life and living that democracy offers, the United States will always be—

"The land of the free and the home of the brave!"

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday is "Young People's Day" in our church. The junior department will have charge of the devotional period at the morning service. The text for the morning service is Zeach. 8:5. "And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof."

The subject for the evening service, "God's plan for your life." The intermediates and seniors are urged to be present for this service. We feel that any service that will be of interest and helpful and the children and young people should also be of interest and a help to the fathers and mothers, so bring the whole family to these services Sunday.

ROY SHAHAN
Pastor

METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor will preach at both the morning and evening services Sunday, with special music by the choir. The church school begins at 9:45 a. m. with the young people, intermediates and children meeting in their Epworth league meetings at 6:30 p. m.

Special interest is being manifest in the Bible study being conducted by the pastor 7:30-8:30 on Wednesday evenings. The group is beginning the discussion of the Book of Revelation. Those who come bring their Bibles, and all enter into the discussion.

Following the Bible study, the choir rehearses from 8:30-9:30 p. m. A cordial welcome is extended to all to the services of the Methodist church at all times.

Minister's subjects next Sunday: "The Way of Life" (morning); "The Remission of Sins" (evening). The text for the morning sermon is Matt. 7:13, 14: "Enter ye in by the narrow gate, for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many are they that enter in thereby. For narrow is the gate, and straitened the way, that leadeth unto life, and few are they that find it." The evening sermon is a discussion of what remission of sins is, and the way we can know, beyond any doubt, that we have remission of sins. All who are interested in doing the will of God will appreciate this sermon. We invite you to come.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

Walter J. Luecke, pastor.

Divine services were well attended last Sunday. On this coming Sunday the pastor will touch on the historical side of the Lutheran centennial. God's providence and care brought our forefathers to this blessed country of America, which in fertility and natural resources as well as the wonderful religious freedom even excels the promised land of Canaan of Jewish history. This rich legacy not only of material blessings but particularly of spiritual doctrine and knowledge of salvation demand our earnest prayers for constant watchfulness, and thankful living unto the Lord. Therefore a true Lutheran Christian must be a good citizen, and one who will constantly strive to be worthy of the rich heritage God has granted.

Services and Sunday school begin at the usual hours. The Sunday Bible lesson treats of the flight into Egypt. The new literature has arrived for the little ones. Any of you parents not having your child enrolled in a Sunday school are heartily encouraged to bring your child to our school. The Lord demands, Deut. 6 "These words which I command you this day shall be in thine heart and thou shalt teach them diligently to thy children. Will you."

The young people's society met last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. P. Manthey and Willie and Albert Lorenz served a delightful lunch. Various games were enjoyed, several of them provoking much laughter.

The following are the results of the elections: C. Boriack, chairman; Thomas Mauk, vice-chairman; Mrs. W. Timian, secretary-treasurer; P. Manthey, service chairman and zone contact man; Henry Ogerly and Mrs. C. Boriack, U. Y. E. committee; Mrs. H. Timian and Mrs. H. Goertz, program committee.

Hundreds Of Musicians From Wide Area To Gather For Program

Constituting one of the most outstanding events ever to be undertaken by Littlefield high school, plans were continued this week for the all day high school band clinic to be held here March 3. Acceptances have already been received from several of the South Plains band organizations to whom invitations were extended last week.

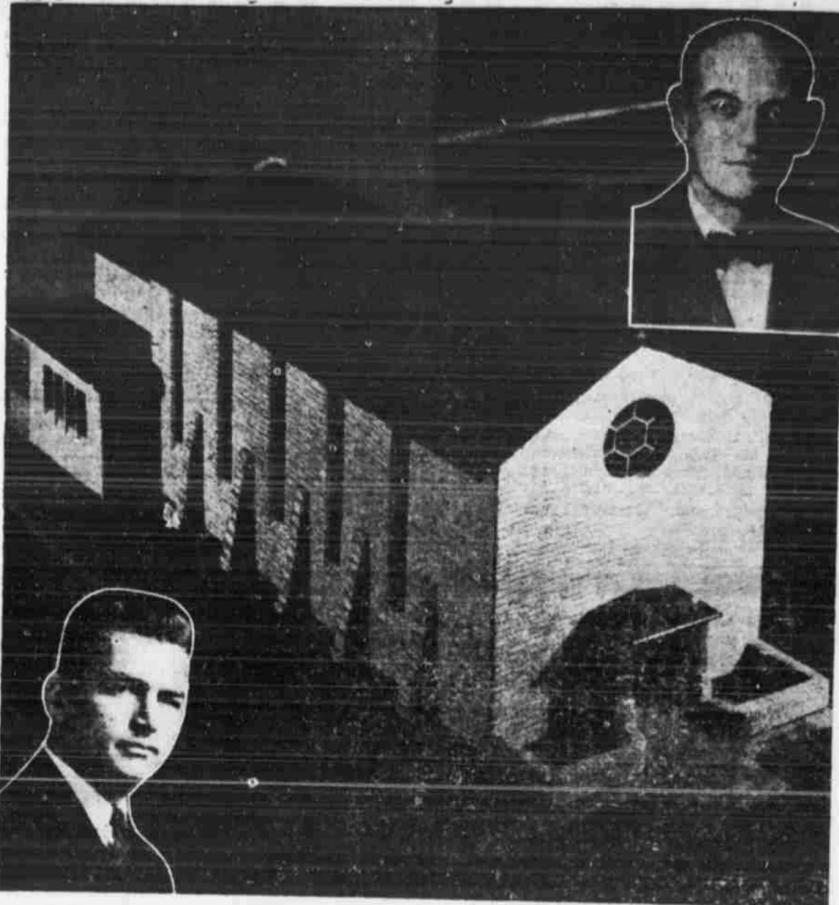

Highlight of the full program planned on that date will be a 70-piece all-clinic concert, open to the public, composed of selected musicians from visiting bands and directed by D. O. The local high school band will form the nucleus of the spectacular evening performance, and will be assisted by outstanding members of each of the attending organizations, Morgan Layfield, sponsor of the event, stated. The performance is to be presented at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Other plans for the clinic include a full day's program consisting of special studies of class B concert numbers, sight reading, and other activities connected with band work. Mr. Wiley will assist with instructions during the day.

Adding to the color of the event, visiting band members are requested to wear their school uniforms, regardless of whether they play in the concert. Schools invited to the clinic include Lamesa, Slaton, Lubbock, Plainview, Floydada, Levelland, Brownfield, Post, Hereford, and Clovis, N. M.

Lamb County Ranks 4th In Total Crop Land Allotments

With the best season for land preparation that the South Plains has known in many years, in the past half century, are preparing to plow their than 4,323,617 acres of land will be available for 1939 crop. Already, a number have over furrows since early January rains, but the greater number probably not start to get into shape until after the first of month.

Lamb county ranked fourth total crop land allotments, and proximately 314,804 acres will be planted to cotton, wheat, and general crops.

Favorable weather of the weeks following the Jan. 7-11 aided the rainfall in penetrating sub-soil. Latest indications are the soil down to a depth of 36 inches and more has an abundance of moisture, that will be sufficient for 60 to 90 days.

Figures announced from Co Station, by state AAA officers, indicate the acreage for crops in counties on the South Plains, exceed 4,323,000 acres, of which 967,997 is in wheat and most now growing; 1,421,316 acres is slated for cotton and 1,935,218 for general crops.

Cotton acreage allocations 1939 are slightly less than 300,000 acres above those for the 1938 crop. There may still be some adjustments and additional acreage. General acreage, that is for all crops and including wheat amount, 2,902,301 acres; or 1,935,218 acres in sorghums, sudans, corn, broom corn, irrigated lands and other crops.

In total crop land, wheat, cotton and other crops, Hale county ranks first; Lubbock is second; Swisher, third; Lamb, fourth; Floyd, fifth; Parmer, sixth; Hockley, seventh; Dawson, eighth; Lynn, ninth; Castro, tenth; Crosby, 11th and Terry, 12th. All have more than 200,000 acres each in crops.

For other crops than wheat and cotton, Parmer ranks first; Lamb second; Lubbock, third; Hockley fourth; Dawson, fifth; Terry, sixth; Hale, seventh; Swisher, eighth; Terry, ninth; Lynn, tenth; Floyd, 10th. All have in excess of 100,000 acres available.

General acreage, for 1938, show rankings as, Swisher, first; Hale second; Parmer, third; Floyd fourth; Castro, fifth; Lamb, sixth; Lubbock, seventh; Hockley, eighth; Terry, ninth; Crosby, 10th; Lynn 11th; Bailey, 12th. These show both wheat and other crops, the 12 counties having 100,000 acres or more.

Cotton counties rank, Lubbock, Lynn, Lamb, Dawson, Hockley, all with more than 100,000 acres each for 1939; for 1938, Dawson placed fifth and Hockley fourth.

LITTLEFIELD FIGHT TOURNAMENT A BIG SUCCESS

Large Crowds View Boxing Matches At High School Gym

Approximately $350 Raised By Athletic Council Towards Purchase Of Football Togs

The first mitt-aling program staged in several years in Littlefield determined eight champions to point in the Golden Gloves tournament, in the invitation boxing tournament at the local high school gymnasium Monday and Tuesday nights, sponsored by the Athletic Council.

All available seats were taken both nights, with standing room filled, and literally sitting double-decked. Receipts amounted to approximately $350, Ed Seely, president of the Athletic Council, reported. Proceeds will be used to purchase new game and practice suits for the Littlefield high school football squad.

First and second place trophies—gold and silver miniature boxing gloves were awarded to winners and runners up, Tuesday night by the Littlefield Athletic Association.

At least two boxers in each weight division will go with fighting hearts to the district Golden Gloves event in Lubbock Feb. 6 and 7. Most of the second place winners and several other boxers who had the ill fortune to lose in the preliminaries, but who are capable of rounding out in condition in the next couple of weeks, have been formally invited to compete in the Golden Gloves tourney.

The CCC boys practically "boxed" the tourney both nights, with their 14 fighters who did a whale of a lot of training and conditioning under the direction of George Hull of the Littlefield civilian conservation corps, and in the final analysis, they came away with one blue ribbon and three second places. Two of them had to fight it out for light-weight honors.

Bantamweight title was determined Monday night, when a slugger little number of human dynamite named W. D. McCarty, seen in Golden Gloves activity last year, survived a first round knockdown and general whipping to come back and take Bennie Moore of Brownfield in tow for the last two rounds and win an easy decision. McCarty had drawn a bye in the first round, there being but three entries in the division, and Moore had outpointed "Pee Wee" Bennett of the CCC in an earlier fight, winning all three rounds going away. He tired quickly after the first round in the second fight, after almost winning with a knockout early in the game. He smote McCarty a piledriver left to the button, and McCarty was literally lifted off his feet by the blow. He fell with a shock, but proved that he "could take it."

Only five knockouts were recorded in the 13-fight card Monday night.

Monday night's results in brief: Flyweight—Curtis Lebow, Abernathy, outpointed "Chicken" Connally of the CCC.

Featherweights: Horace Wood, CCC, decisioned Roy White, Sudan. Bantamweights: Bennie Moore, Brownfield, outpointed "Pee Wee" Bennett of the CCC. Lightweights: W. M. Farris, CCC, outpointed Clyde Lee.

Lightweights: L. J. Russum, CCC, decisioned Marshall Johnson, CCC. Welterweights: George Miller, CCC, stopped Gregory Wilson in first round with technical knockout. Lightweights: E. J. Smith, CCC, decisioned Lester Waters, Whitharral.

Welterweights: John D. Hazle, Abernathy, stopped Dud Winkle in first round, technical knockout.

Welterweights: Marshall Edwards, Amherst, outpointed F. O. Luber, CCC.

Welterweights: Elmer Kimball, CCC, knocked out Cecil Oliver, Whitharral, in second round.

Welterweights: Sigle Tomlin, Levelland, knocked out W. D. White, Whitharral, in second round.

Welterweights: Dick Gramlin, CCC, stopped R. Lee Gibson, in second round, technical knockout.

Bantamweight final: W. D. McCarty, outpointed Bennie Moore, Brownfield.

Only one clean knockout was registered on the final night of fighting, happening in the semi-finals of the light-weight division, but it was a wallop that was heard all over the entire school campus. E. J. Smith, who came along later to win the title, connected with a bludgeoning right to the head of W. M. Farris after one minute, 20 seconds of the first round, and almost knocked Farris off the platform. Champions named and how they won decisions Tuesday night:

Flyweight: Curtis LeBow, Abernathy, won by technical knockout from Wayne Binkley, Whitharral.

Featherweight: Alvin McCarty, decisioned Horace Wood, CCC.

Lightweight: E. J. Smith, Littlefield CCC, outpointed George Miller, CCC.

Welterweight: John D. Hazle, Abernathy, won by default over Sigle Tomlin, Levelland.

Middleweight: Edward Wood, won by technical knockout from Raymond Wright, CCC.

Light heavyweight: Herman Dittickson, won by technical knockout from Harland Woolard of Whitharral.

Heavyweight: Hall Rowe, won by default from Ramey Wilson of Amherst and Horace Baize.

In the featherweight division Tuesday night, Alvin McCarty, who had drawn a first round bye, met Horace Wood of the CCC camp and won a decision after one of the toughest and roughest bouts of the program. McCarty dared him on, and Wood, who had beaten Ray White Monday night, came on. McCarty took the first round by an edge, but Wood came back to bother the red-head with a victorious left and take the second round, flooring McCarty once. The third was McCarty's, although both were down once. Wood went down three times, but was fighting at the finish.

Veteran ring observers surmised that Horace Wood would bear watching, and with his left, he'll give stiff competition in the Golden Gloves tourney at Lubbock.

Swinging willows and the "whack" of leather against leather was enjoyed by local fight fans, and groups of people came from neighboring towns to watch this popular sport here Monday and Tuesday nights.

We will be seeing you at the Golden Gloves tournament in Lubbock in February.

50 Miles Of Poles Placed For REA Line; Work Continues

Approximately 50 miles of poles have been placed and wire will be strung next week on the Lamb county rural electrification project, which is steadily moving forward.

Local officials reported that it would be hard to state just when the current could be turned on; as farm owners continue to lag behind in getting their homes wired, and they are asked again to start at once, as it is necessary that two houses per mile be current users before current can be turned on. The project is employing about 20 local men, who have been assisting in the pole setting.

O. Ball Suffers Painful Burns To Right Hand

O. Ball, truck driver for Payne Wood, suffered painful burns to his right hand Wednesday of last week, when in the act of repairing his truck, at a point 15 miles north-east of Tatum, N. M. The gas line had stopped up, and he was trying to fix a short in the plug. When he put the plug back, the spark plug sent a spark which caught fire to the sleeve of Mr. Ball's coat. He was obliged to pull his coat off to avoid serious results, and in so doing his right hand was badly burned. Although he is still carrying his hand in a sling, he reports it getting along nicely.

FIFTEENTH INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS

Jocelyn Harlowe, raised in a French convent at the age of 18 joins her mother, Marcella, in New York. Worried about her safety, because she is unfamiliar with the modern world and has developed into a beautiful woman, her mother's first wish is to get her safely married. Attending her first ball, Jocelyn meets Felix Kent, rich, handsome and 19 years older than herself. Encouraged by her mother, she and Felix quickly become engaged. Alone in her apartment one night, a cripple, Nick Sandal, enters by the fire escape, confides in her that he is her father and that her real name is Lynda Sandal. Visiting her father in his apartment, Jocelyn meets Jock Ayleward, a gambler. When she mentions the name Felix Kent, he tells her story of how he was a mining engineer, worked under Kent, and was sent to jail for making what was adjudged a false affidavit. Jocelyn refuses to believe him, but, after seeing more of Jock, and after he has kissed her passionately during a moment they had alone, she says that she will search Kent's safe for papers on the case. When asleep one night, Jocelyn's mother wakes her and says that her jewels have been stolen and Jocelyn suspects Jock or her father. She goes to see her father who seems to know nothing about the jewels. She meets Jock there, who kisses her against her will. But she tells him she will search the safe, manages to get the combination from Felix, goes to his office in the middle of the night, finds the papers showing Jock's story is true, tosses them out the window to Jock, is captured and taken to a room to await Felix's appearance.

Then Felix Kent, staring down at her, turned scarlet and his eyes changed. He turned to one of the men.

"Here, let me alone with her a moment. I think I've seen the girl before. There's more in this . . . This is hardly a police matter. I'll explain. Just let me have her for an instant and I think I can find out all I want to know."

The men, curious, grimly amused and cynical, went willingly away. He moved close to Jocelyn, caught her wrists in his two hands and drew them up to his breast, pulling her nearer to him in a gesture that was passionately possessive, furious, masterful.

"Now," he said between his teeth, "if you haven't gone mad since I left you yesterday—at your own request, as I seem to remember—or if I have not myself lost the use of my wits, you will please explain this preposterous joke. And you will please return the papers you took from my safe. I see now why you coaxed that combination out of me. At least I begin to see why."

"Let me go, Felix," said Lynda Sandal. Her voice was resonant. "I'm not a child. Nor any property of yours. I'll not be held like this, bullied and threatened."

"Do you know what you've done? Do you even begin to know what you are up against? You, Jocelyn Harlowe, have been caught in the act of house-breaking and theft. You are in the hands of the law. Do you know anything about its power?"
"More than I did."

"You know very little as yet. Listen to me, Jocelyn, and don't dare to defy me. It is my generosity alone that can get you out of this ugly, this horrible fix. Do you want to go to prison? State's prison?"
"You've sent other people to prison," cried Lynda, "people very much less guilty than I am."

"Whom have you in your mind? What secret influence has been at work in your life? What has led you to deceive me, Jocelyn? To deceive your mother? Do you remember that we are to be married tomorrow at noon?"
"No."

"Yes. Nothing you can possibly do or say can prevent you now from becoming my wife tomorrow. I'll take you out of this and carry you home and when you've told me the truth of your ugly and wicked escapade, you can wash yourself and burn those horrible clothes. And get some sleep and then you will put on your wedding dress and come to St. Peter's."

He went out, locking the door. He came, mopping his bitten lip and laughing, to the desk.

"Look here, Cracken," he said. "This isn't at all the sort of case it looks like. The girl is one of these silly debutantes. She's been put up to a wild sort of prank by some of her friends and she's had her lesson."

"I want to hush this thing up and withdraw the charge and take her home with me now. The poor kid is all in."

"About them papers, Mr. Kent?"
Kent's laughter was difficult but it still came, a short, hard laughter.

"That's all right. I'll get them back. The little devil wanted to give me a scare. When I lay hands on the boy that helped her—"

His fist on the desk top whitened. The police officer who looked down at it whistled.

How different a creature she looked, crouched in the corner of the soft back seat, from the glowing Jocelyn Harlowe. Felix pulled down his shades.

"As soon as you are back at the apartment, Jocelyn, and have had some strong coffee, I mean to hear every word of the truth. I will have those papers."

As they moved silently up the city's crowded avenues, Felix did not waste his leisure. He thought, "U-hum . . . the Rappell parson's son . . . Jock Ayleward."

"Where and how did you meet him?" he asked quietly.

She said, "I met him in my father's room."

"Your—father's?"
"Nick Sandal. He is in this city. He came one night to see me in the apartment."

"Did your mother know?"
"I never told her. I was not permitted."

"Not permitted?" He laughed. "Who in heaven's name, had the right to permit you to betray?"

"I love Nick, Felix."

"Have you ever, may I also ask, loved me?"

"That is a question you have never yet troubled to ask me, Felix."

"I hardly thought you would be willing, Jocelyn, to—promise yourself to me unless you loved me."

"You knew I did not love—your kiss."

"I've kissed you rather often, however. Especially of late."

"Yes. I did not know—what I should feel . . . then. And afterward . . . it was too late. I—can't make you understand. My mother said—it was right and natural to

. . . to want to . . . kill you."
He let go his hold on her arm and drew in his breath. "For God's sake!"
"You've been consulting your father?"
"I've been to see him at night. I would climb down the fire escape from my bedroom window."
"You met Jock Ayleward in your father's room?"
"Yes. I did not like him. I did not believe in him. I believed in you."

And at that, remembering how lost was her faith and by her own act, her heart broke and she began to sob and to cry and to beat her hands together.

"Now," he said, breathing hard and speaking through his teeth "you will give me the whereabouts of this gentleman whom you did not believe nor like nor trust but for whose sake you made a spectacle of yourself in the New York streets at night, and lied and dressed like a man and stole and would ruin me."

She could not answer. For the time being, she was incapable of anger or of pain. She went in at the familiar entrance of the apartment past the staring doorman and the inquisitive elevator boy, held up by Kent's grasp, her head down, Nick's cap over her eyes.

Quickly and as noiselessly as possible, Felix took Jocelyn through the outer room and down the passage and thrust her in at her own bedroom door. "Get into your own clothes; be quick," he commanded and managed to close her in and to be back in the front room by the time Marcella, with Mary at her heels, came into it herself.

Felix came and took her hands. "It's all right, thank God, Mrs. Harlowe. No harm done. But we must look after her more carefully from this time forward."

"Felix, tell me—do you think that she knows anything about . . . Marcella's voice had an almost sinister furtiveness as she looked about and behind her, then at him, "about my—jewels?"

Felix was startled, for an instant, away from his own biting preoccupation.

"I didn't know—"

"Of course. I forgot you were not to be told. I have had some jewels . . . here, hidden. They are not mine. They are a trust. They've been stolen. Felix, I've had a detective . . . but you mustn't say a word."

At this point Felix realized that the woman before him was not in a condition to bear any emotional strain; that a shock of fear or pain might bring on some frightful catastrophe, physical or mental.

He spoke soothingly: "You must tell me all about it, Mrs. Harlowe. It is my privilege to help you in any of your difficulties. Perhaps now it might be wise for you . . ."

Mary reentered quickly. "Mrs. Harlowe, Mr. Cating is on the telephone. He's sort of urgent, ma'am."

"Yes. Yes. He told me he had a clue, that he would have news for me. I'll speak to him over my room telephone, Felix."

The murmur of this exchange of confidence between her mother and the private detective reached Jocelyn's ear in her own room.

Weak and sick, she hurried, however, out of Nick's clothes and hid them. Mary came back to say, "Here's a bundle, miss, some one handed in at the kitchen entrance."

Jocelyn took the bundle, an unskillful package addressed in printed letters and, alone again, she opened it.

The little jacket and tam, the pleated skirt and that other dress she had taken to Nick's rooms. She stood beside her bed and looked down at these mute, eloquent garments. Abruptly she crossed to her door and locked it.

Rapidly and surely she got herself into the queer little symbolic costume and even ran her fingers through her hair.

She went into the living room and stood there facing Felix Kent. "Now," she announced clearly and even with pity for him in her cool voice and eyes, "I will tell you everything, Felix. I am not afraid of you any more at all."

Felix, after a long staring look, said, "What in heaven's name are you pretending to be now?"

"I am not pretending. But I am not Marcella Harlowe's daughter, not the girl you want to marry. I've fought for my life here without any help from my mother or from you. I've tried often enough to show my real self to you. Now, by treachery if you choose, certainly in secret, I've discovered for myself your real hearts and minds and truths, I know, Felix Kent, how you made some of your wealth, what you did, one of the evil things, you did—"

"That's enough. Keep quiet." Felix strode toward her. "Listen to what I have to say. If you don't tell me the whereabouts of Ayleward in 10 minutes—where he's gone, where he lives, what he's going to do—back you go to the police station. I set the police on his track with or without your information and it won't take them long to pick it up. Convenient. I'll get Sandal and Ayleward and I'll get them right. And I'll get you. All of Josiah's money won't buy you off. I'll get you either as my wife or as Ayleward's accomplice. Gem thieves and safe-openers. The choice is yours."

"I love that man. I want him to clear himself even if it must be at the price of your ruin, Felix. Justice must make your ruin necessary since your dishonor and your guilt are provable."

"You choose me for your enemy then? People who have had the courage or the folly to do that have regretted it."

Marcella came into the room. She started toward Lynda with a quick cry of relief, then checked herself, staring.

"It isn't Jocelyn. Tell me—" She stood looking from Kent to the tall strange girl. All at once her face deeply colored. She ran over to the door that led back into the apartment and locked it, still with her scared eyes upon Lynda; then she gestured to Kent to repeat this action with the glass door.

"Look out. Be careful. Don't let her get away," she whispered. "This is the woman. This must be the woman Cating described. You know—the woman who was seen going in and out . . . the woman who took the jewels!"

that he and his Hillybilly band, had always been able to get by on 35 cent meals, and he couldn't see why anybody would eat more than that. He also said that he intended to prescribe a maximum of $1 a day, for room rental for state workers. In his second message today—he urged the lawmakers, to act quickly to have the state auditor subject to appointment by the legislature instead of by the governor as has been the law. He also pressed them to provide for a budget director. Both of these suggestions will probably be adopted without opposition as they have long been favorably considered by the various legislatures.

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS

Appointment of Carr P. Collins of Wallas as chairman of the state highway commission and Joe Kunschik of Austin as state labor commissioner was announced Monday by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. Collins is an insurance company executive and a close friend and political advisor of the governor. Effective Feb. 15 His appointment is one of the most important the new chief executive had to make. Salary of a highway commissioner is $4,000 a year. Collins' appointment will be effective Feb. 15. He will succeed John Wood, an appointee of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. A highway commissioner's term is six years. Other members of this important administrative body are Robert Lee Bobbitt of San Antonio, present chairman, and Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, both appointees of former governor James V. Alfred.

The governor took time out to commend the work of the state highway department, but intimated that he would make strenuous efforts to divert some of the $50,000,000 budget to other channels. It is expected that any disturbance of the fine work being done by the highway department, will be viciously opposed by the legislature because the highway lobby is one of the strongest and most active in Austin.

BUDGETING AND AUDITING

O'Daniel said in his finance message, that corrective budgeting and proper auditing of state incomes and expenditures, were the most vital issues awaiting prompt action. He pointed out that of approximately $300,000,000 spent each biennium, only about $70,000,000 is expended in response to itemized legislative appropriation bills. The other money is expended based on broad grant of power from the legislature.

WATCHING AND WAITING

While old-timers viewed with awe, the new governor's radical recommendations, the press and public, throughout the Lone Star state, were generally agreed, that the new governor was "Up and at 'Em," and gave every evidence of becoming one of the most searching and active governors that Texas has had in a long time. There is the attitude of—"Give Him a Real Chance"—prevalent in the state capitol, and the majority are reserving opinions and decisions, until he has had time to get his bearings.

work includes renovating and repairing donated clothing and household articles, exclusive of furniture and mattresses and making toys and rag rugs, using scrap material. The products will be distributed free of charge to charitable institutions or to the needy, and no federal funds will be expended for the purpose of distribution, Mr. Crockett stated.

Oil Leasing—

It is reported that there is a possibility that a wildcat test will be made, but all of the land leased in this county up to date, has no drilling obligations; just straight commercial leases, with brokers paying the usual prices of one to two dollars.

Independent buyers from Midland and Wichita Falls have leased several sections, but neither the independents or the major oil companies are ready to give any information as to their plans for making definite tests for oil in Lamb county.

Right-of-Ways Secured

Right-of-ways have been secured on the road south to the Hockley county line, and work will start soon on paving that part of highway 51 in this county. Several men from Littlefield will attend the meeting in Vega Saturday.

available for WPA for the remainder of the fiscal year.

President Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000, but the representatives in the house cut the figure to $725,000,000 with an amendment requiring that the number of relief workers shall not be reduced by more than 5 per cent before April 1.

The administrator of WPA will make an immediate investigation looking to the elimination from the work relief rolls of "those not in actual need."

Drivers' License—

—and because a new licensing law is in prospect the public safety department may await its effective date before renewing permits. The proposed new law levies a $1 fee for the two year period which would readily produce enough funds to increase personnel temporarily.

Under the current and proposed law, examiners can require physical and driving tests of renewal applicants whose abilities appear doubtful. Officials hope to use this restriction in continuing to weed out dangerous and incapable drivers.

Littlefield Cagers Take Whirlwind Victory In Sudan Tourney

The Littlefield Kitties staged another whirlwind victory in the Sudan basketball tournament last week-end, bringing home the first place trophy, 10 gold basketballs with "Champions" engraved on them, and two girls on the team, Mallie Carter and Christine Carpenter, made the all-tournament team and won two more good basketballs.

The Kitties have won 21 of the 22 games that have been played this season, and under the capable coaching of Miss Lillian Baker, those Kitties are liable to give stiff competition to the opposing teams in the tournament at Ralls this week-end.

Playing Spring Lake Friday night at Sudan, the local girls stacked the score with a 51-16 win. Saturday morning they went into battle against the Spade Longhorns for the fourth time and won a 22-point difference, 47 to 25. This left the Kitties in the finals against Muleshoe.

In the third game played with Muleshoe for first place, this year, ended with a score of 38-24, favoring the Kitties.

The Littlefield Wildcats played Spring Lake Friday night in the tournament, carrying a lead at the end of the game of 24 to 14. They went back on Saturday morning and lost to Lazbuddy by a score of 25 to 34. The Lazbuddy team went

LOCAL INSURANCE MAN REPORTS CLOSE OF FINE YEAR FOR HIMSELF AND HIS CO., STATE RESERVE LIFE

State Reserve Life And General Agent C. N. Kennon, Have Banner Year; Report First
Approved at Austin

C. N. Kennon of Littlefield, general agent in this district for State Reserve Life Insurance company of Fort Worth, reports another year of splendid progress for his company, not only in the Panhandle of Texas but in the entire state as well. Thoroughly imbued with the value and service of life insurance to every individual, Mr. Kennon is making an enviable record as a large personal producer in his territory. Starting from scratch on May 1st of this year, Mr. Kennon submitted to his company, from that date to close of business Dec. 31, 1938 applications for life insurance, an average of four and one-half applications each week. He received a substantial cash bonus from his company for continuous weekly production during the 332 weeks and in less than four months qualified as a member of the Hustlers club, composed of leading producers of his company. Not only is Mr. Kennon a booster for State Reserve life, but he is an enthusiastic booster for this section of the state, where he has substantial investments in farms and other properties, showing his belief in the country and community in which he lives.

FROM COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE By DONALD TURNER, COUNTY AGENT

The county agent's office is closed each Saturday afternoon. This time will be used for giving instructions to the clerks and bringing up odds and ends that have accumulated during the week. W. T. McKinney, assistant county agent, and a group of 4-H club boys and farmers from the Hart-Camp community visited the Spur experiment station and studied soil and water conservation, pasture management and vitamin A deficiency of feeds.

Most of the flock of chickens that we have looked at were lousy. Probably the best way to control lice is by the use of sodium flouride. The pinch method is best. When the material is applied by this method it is placed on a table in an open vessel, and the fowl is held

Wrong Size Lamp Bulbs Are MISFITS Too!

If you don't mind eyestrain, you can "see to read" with one lone 25-watt lamp... and save on your bill too! But that's foolish as any one can reason... because for the price of one pair of glasses, you can buy 125 100-watt bulbs.

So, for real eye comfort, it pays to use the right size bulb. And that means: Be sure you have at least a total wattage of 100 watts for your reading lamp.

For your eye-protection, we offer a carton of six 100-watt lamps, or any standard size smaller, for only 90c. Ask about our special assortment of lamps for 75c. And if you so desire, don't forget to tell us to put it on your next month's service bill.

the 1938 agricultural conservation program are being signed at the rate of 400 applications per day. For the convenience of the farmers, these applications are being signed in the communities, thus saving a drive to the county office. Farmers are being notified through the mail as to the time and place of signing applications.

Now is the time to plan to replace dead and badly diseased trees in the orchard. Each farm family of five members should have one-half acre of vine and tree fruits. Grapes, cherries, and plums do well. Other fruits bear well where weather conditions are favorable.

To secure high egg production during the winter months, it is necessary that the hens be properly fed. When hens go on a strike during the winter, it is usually found that they are being fed a strictly grain ration, and cannot be expected to produce many eggs unless other feeds are added to the ration.

A complete ration must contain not only grain but mill feed, animal protein, green feed, minerals and water. In most instances good poultry rations can be mixed from home grown feeds. The county agent will be glad to furnish you with information regarding proper poultry feeding.

There will be a grape pruning demonstration at G. M. Vann's farm two and a half miles west of Spade at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Jan. 27. Another demonstration will be held at the farm of J. W. Hopping Monday, Jan. 30, at 2:30 p. m. All persons interested are invited to attend.

Long-Time Land Use Planning Program Underway in Texas

A long-time land use planning program whereby farmers, ranchmen, and their families are expected to take over major responsibility in formulating policies for agriculture is underway in Texas.

cies who recently met at College Station to set up a tentative state committee.

The state committee will have representatives from the various agencies as members but will be dominated by farmers and ranchmen. Meanwhile county agricultural and home demonstration agents are settling up committees within the counties.

One outgrowth of the plan is expected to be a closer coordination of state and federal agencies and the application of the democratic process to formulation of agricultural policies.

Land use planning is part of the U. S. department of agriculture's program of placing responsibility for agricultural policies in the hands of farm people.

Texas 1938 Sales
2.5 Per Cent Lower
Than For Year 1937

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 21.—The seasonal year-end splurge of shopping—for clothing, toys, gifts of all kinds—brought sales of Texas department stores and clothing shops during December to a figure more than 50 per cent above that of November, the bureau of business research at the University of Texas reported today.
Even this large increase in retail sales was not sufficient to reach the December, 1937, total, data sent to the bureau from more than 100 establishments showed.
Department stores, men's clothing stores, women's specialty shops, and dry goods—apparel stores increased their business 54.8 per cent over November, but in comparison with December last year it declined 2.6 per cent.
For the entire year 1938, sales were moderately below those of the preceding year—2.5 per cent—but the decline in dollar volume was less than the decline in prices, so that the actual physical volume of sales was greater than 1937, the bureau's report said.
"The proportion of credit sales to total net sales during December was greater than during December, 1937, and the percentage of collections to outstanding accounts was less," the report said. "This situation has been noted quite consistently during the year, suggesting that the inclination to buy is increasing more rapidly than current income."

Year-End Moves By Tenant Farmers Cost Co. Huge Sum

Year-end moves will cost Lamb county tenant farmers more than $25,308, and that is only the beginning of the cost to them and to the general public, it was stated by T. Euel Limer, county supervisor of the farm security administration. The supervisor estimated that 444 farm tenants of this county move every year. The actual cash cost is around $57 per family, he said, but the final cost to the tenant and to the public is much greater. Most of the tenants who move could be stabilized through leasing methods which would encourage them to remain upon the same farm and to improve it, the supervisor stated. He said that the FSA flexible lease form, now being distributed by his office is winning favor with both landlords and tenants and that a considerable number of farms in this county will be operated under it during the coming year.

"A tenant who stays upon a given piece of land for only a year has no opportunity to build up that land and no incentive to do it," Mr. Limer continued. "Instead, he is inclined to take out of it all he can. The land owner may be struggling along like the tenant on an inadequate income. He has his money invested in the land and taxes to pay, so he also is interested in having the tenant get the most possible out of this year's crop, letting the future take care of itself. In many cases, the landlord does not live in the county or the state, and fails to realize what is happening to his soil."

The supervisor said that tenant families move during the winter after the crops are harvested, which means that the movement is made at a time when the children must be taken out of school. "They not only lose several weeks of school, they often stay out for the remainder of the school year. When they do go back to school they are likely to be set back in their classes, and become discouraged and disinterested. The same discouragement and lack of interest occurs with the tenant farmer himself, and with his wife, in regard to participation in community activities."

The estimate of tenant farmers moving in this county was based upon the state average of approximately 40 per cent of the tenants moving annually, and the last census figures show the number of tenant farmers in this county to be 1,110.

APPLICATIONS FOR CROP LOANS BEING RECEIVED

To Be Made Only to Those Who Cannot Get Credit Elsewhere

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1939 are now being received at Littlefield, by L. S. Keen, field supervisor of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration.

Loans Will Be Limited
The loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who can not obtain credit from any other source. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1939 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock.

Farmers who can obtain the funds they need from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concern are not eligible for crop and feed loans from the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration. The loans will not be made to standard rehabilitation clients whose current needs are provided for by the farm security administration, formerly known as the resettlement administration.

To Give First Crop Lien
As in the past, farmers who obtain emergency crop and feed loans will give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or a first lien on the livestock to be fed if the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase feed for livestock.

Where loans are made to tenants, the landlords, or others having an interest in the crops financed or the livestock to be fed, are required to waive their claims in favor of a lien to the governor of the farm credit administration until the loan is paid.

Checks in payment of approved loans will be mailed from the re-romance which inspired the whirlwind courtship of Cooper and Miss Oberon and cause a sizeable dither in the scandal columns.

Among the outstanding sets constructed for the production is a palatial Florida mansion, the screen home of Miss Oberon, the very spot in fact, where the impetuous young damsel pretends that she is only a lady's maid and proceeds to employ three experimental methods to ensnare her man.

The screenplay for "The Cowboy and the Lady" was jointly written by S. N. Behrman and Sonya Levien from an original script by Leo McCarey and Frank R. Adams. It was directed by H. C. Potter for release through United Artists.

"The Cowboy and the Lady" at Palace Saturday Midnight

The high, wide and handsome adventures of a streamlined social registerite who causes considerable eyebrow-lifting in Washington's upper crust when she "middle-classes it" with a roving cowboy from the western plains is both humorously and dramatically unfolded in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Cowboy and the Lady," co-starring Gary Cooper and Merle Oberon, which is scheduled for its initial showing at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

Supporting Cooper as the bronzed he-man from the sage-dotted hills and Miss Oberon as the madcap modern who takes her romance neat, is a hand-picked cast headed by Patsy Kelly, Walter Brennan, Mabel Todd and Fuzzy Knight. Miss Kelly, who is now trim and sylph-like as a result of her recent diet cure, is romantically paired with Walter Brennan, while Mabel Todd, blonde comedienne, is the "heart-interest" of Fuzzy Knight. In fact, it is these two honest-to-goodness
