BUILDING NEW "ERAS" THEME AT STATE MEETING

Littlefield Schools Represented At Meeting

Prof. A. B. Sanders, Miss Lillian King, Miss Nila Jones, Miss Everington, and Miss Lois Kirkwood returned to Littlefield Sunday attending the Texas State Teachers' Association meeting at Austin, which convened Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

According to Prof. Sanders, the main theme of the meeting was "Building New Eras". The idea back of this theme was that the New Deal spread to the fiber of the social and that Education should be the order in the matter of building new order. The New Eras will be the product of the new Education. The welfare of the folks who make up the population of the new Era will be the product of the New Education. It is the new order of things. This meeting as in other state district meetings of late the attitude of education in Texas showed a small amount of concern about curriculum changes that are necessary to adjust the New Education to the needs of the people of the new deal. The things that are taught in the schools will formulate life in the attitude of solving problems of life are in demand. Some

SUNDAY PLANE MISHAP PROVES FATAL TO THREE

Funeral Services Held For Manuel Kelm, Crash Victim, Tuesday

Manuel Kelm, 24-year-old Littlefield pilot, and John Alexander, 24 farmhand of near Frederick, Okla., and James Benton, aged 26, of Brownfield, were killed when a plane piloted by Kelm crashed into a dry water tank a mile northwest of Brownfield at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services for Kelm, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kelm of three and one-half miles northwest of Littlefield, were held at the family home at 2 o'clock and in the Littlefield Lutheran church at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. W. J. Luecke, Lutheran pastor officiated. Hammons Funeral Home was in charge of the burial which took place in the Littlefield cemetery.

Kelm had been in the air only a few minutes before the crash occurred. Spectators said the light biplane appeared to be out of control at about 300 feet and began gradually to lose altitude. With Alexander and Benton in the front cockpit, the machine struck a brow of the tank and nosed over into the basin, tail in the air.

The motor was driven back into the forward cockpit by the impact. Benton, whose feet and upper legs were crushed, died at 5 p. m., without regaining consciousness in a private clinic at Brownfield, where the three victims were taken immediately after the accident. Alexander's lower jaw and both feet were crushed and his right leg broken. He died at 7:50 p. m., conscious only long enough to murmur his name.

The impact threw Kelm's head and face against the instrument panel, crushing both jaws. The control stick pierced the pleural cavity of his right

SUCCUMBS TO WEEK'S ILLNESS FRIDAY MORNING

For Many Years Connected With Yellow House Land Company

Littlefield and the South Plains Sunday mourned the loss of one of its most beloved citizens, a man of sterling character, a true, loyal and faithful husband and father in the death of Thomas Arthur Henson, 52, who passed away at a Lubbock Hospital, Friday, November 30, at 6:15 A. M. following a week's illness.

Following an attack of Flu, Mr. Henson suffered from what was believed to be a rising on his nose, about which he complained Friday a week previous. Accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Delbert Paxton, a trained nurse of Denver, Colo., he went to a Lubbock hospital and underwent an examination, following which he returned home. His face becoming swollen and very painful he returned to the Lubbock hospital Monday, and was assigned a room. His condition however, was not considered serious until Wednesday.

NEED CITED FOR NEW HOMES AND APARTMENTS AT WEEKLY MEETING OF BOOSTER GROUP

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce met as usual for their regular weekly luncheon Tuesday noon in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, with the President, A. R. Hendricks, presiding.

Secretary-Manager Joe Hale reported that the community cannery was open and in operation.

Mr. Hendricks spoke on the matter of the Littlefield Federal Home Loan Association, stating that those interested are awaiting final action from Washington on the application.

Saturday Trades Day was discussed, and the Chamber pledged its support to the merchants in the movement.

Mr. Hendricks made a short talk on the National Housing Act, stating that loans for repair work may be secured from the Government for $100 up to $750.00 payable monthly to run over a period of from one to three years. It was pointed out that parties could secure loans under this act for the erection of garages, additions to homes, sidewalks, fences, redecoration of homes, installation of refrigeration, or any other fixtures that might be considered permanent.

It was stated at the meeting that it is not necessary that the property be clear of incumbrance in order to secure a loan for improvements. However, it is required that all taxes be paid, and that interest and principal on any former indebtedness be paid to date.

Mr. Hendricks pointed out the dire necessity in Littlefield for new modern residences and apartments, stating there was a great scarcity of living quarters here, saying that

We Do Our Part

ON CHRISTMAS GIVING

The general run of men and women this year have more money to spend for Christmas than they have had for the last two or three years. Retail merchants throughout the country are reporting heavier Christmas trade, setting in earlier, than for a long time past.

The custom of general giving at Christmas time is a comparatively recent one. Less than a hundred years ago Christmas was exclusively for the children, so far as gifts went. Today those are few who do not share the holiday spirit of making presents, in nothing more than a Christmas card, to a wide range of friends and acquaintances.

This year, more than ever before, in spite of the wider distribution of money in the pockets of the people of the United States, there is need of Christmas giving to help those who otherwise would have to fall back upon Government for relief of their needs.

Every dollar given for such purposes does double duty. It blesses him that gives and him that takes. And there is a very real reason for making as generous contributions as one's purse will permit for these charitable ends. The tendency to "let Uncle Sam do it" is, we think, becoming altogether too widespread. It is time that we resumed the duty of looking after our own unfortunate and distressed, as we have always done in the past.

We shall never rebuild the morale of our people until we get back, as well as we can, to the principles of self-help.

THE TIMEPIECE OF THE SUN

In the roof of the Shrine of Remembrance, which encloses the tomb of Australia's Unknown Soldier, there is a small, round hole. This hole is so situated that every year, at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, the anniversary of the "cease firing" bugle call that ushered in the Armistice and brought the great war to an end, a ray of sunlight will enter through this hole and rest for a moment upon the tomb.

This, it seems to us, is a beautiful and inspired conception. But something of the same sort was done by the ancient Egyptians, and perhaps even before their day by the ancient Britons.

Many ponderous and learned volumes have been written to prove that in the construction of the Great Pyramid astronomical science was called into play, so that at a given instant on a given date the light of a particular star would shine through an aperture and so serve some purpose, more or less obscure after the lapse of centuries, but connected in some way with the mystic rites and ceremonies with which the Egyptians honored their royal dead.

On Salisbury Plain in England stands an even more ancient structure, Stonehenge. Enclosed within two concentric circles of upright stones is the blue marble "alter stone" upon which the priests of the late Stone Age used to sacrifice their victims to the Sun God. And astronomers have figured out that the arrangement of the stones is such that only on the instant that the sun crosses the Equator, on its northward return at the vernal equinox, did its rays fall upon the sacrificial stone, giving the signal for the spilling of blood to appease the gods of fertility and so to insure bountiful crops.

We are glad to learn that the Australians have made use of the eternal timepiece of the sun, not as a signal for fresh sacrifices but as a reminder to commemorate the great sacrifices of their gallant young men who gave their lives for the Empire. Perhaps in another five thousand years, when some world catastrophe shall have destroyed the records of our present civilization, the astronomers and archaeologists of a new era will stumble upon this Melbourne memorial and speculate upon its meaning, as we of today speculate about the pyramids and Stonehenge.

Takes Carload of Broom Corn to Lincoln, Nebr.

Lawrence Taylor, of Sundown, just recently for Lincoln, Nebraska, with a truck load of broom corn, which had been sold to a factory at that place, at a price which was considerably higher than that prevailing in this section.

Notwithstanding the present year drought, considerable fine broom straw was raised on the S. J. Taylor farm near Sundown. He has also threshed out over 200 bushels of Black Draught seed from fifty acres planted to that variety. Last year, Mr. Taylor paid $10 per bushel for seed, of which he had 100 bushels, and should be able to realize half this much this season. The crop will be a very profitable one. These seeds were shipped to the wholesale seed houses and will be sold through the regular channels.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

For All Seasons

Every day is "burrain day" with electric refrigeration. Specialists in health, whether they be physicians, druggists, dietitians, or teachers of home economics agree unanimously that the keeping of the food compartment uniformly cold is, perhaps, the outstanding advantage in electric refrigeration. Enterprising grocers and market-men have full confidence in the proper conservation of wholesome food values that they sell when stored in a good electric refrigerator. Any housewife proudly adds to her reputation as a "smart manager" through the aid of daily savings from waste in obsolete refrigeration. She recognizes, too, that savings in fall and winter are as important as in spring and summer.

The design fits admirably in the kitchens of today while the excellent mechanism frees one from any thought of unsatisfactory operation. It is the responsibility of this company to see that a dependable electric service assures you the maximum efficiency from your refrigerator. You'll be satisfied with the low operating cost required to keep foods in a state of beautiful preservation—a matter of small consideration.

At this season a splendid opportunity presents itself to "make Xmas" a little more timely. There is no model to meet your requirements that may be obtained from your dealer or a convenient purchase plan.

SLIM FITTED SLIP

Pattern 8372—In these days of the slender, smooth-fitting frocks, one cannot fail to realize how important it is to have slim moulded-to-the-figure foundation garments. They make or mar your appearance, whether you are wearing a house frock or an elegant gown.

The slip sketched combines all of the features most desired. Its smooth fitting lines conform to the figure. It is fitted at the bust by means of three small darts, and the straps may be made of ribbon or material. Added to this is the separate shadow proof panel, which may be omitted if desired.

Crepe silk or satin in tea-rose blue or pink would be pretty. Or make a more sturdy slip of it by using linen.

This is our first word through the press since our return for another year. We certainly appreciate all the cordiality shown us upon our being appointed for another year to this church. We will endeavor to show our appreciation by doing all in our power to be a worthy citizen and an efficient churchman.

"TRIUMPHANT IN DEFEAT," will be the subject for the morning sermon, and for the evening, "IS MY SON ABSOLAM SAFE?" In this last topic it is the purpose to discuss what makes Absalom unsafe. What are the pit falls?

The large choir will carry out their part of the worship periods. Large and interesting audiences find satisfaction in these services each sabbath. You might also, it is at least worth looking into—trying out.

"show" them by going to the big city and winning the great six day day race.

He takes his pal along with him and the two get jobs as messenger boys in order to eat until they get the big prize for the winning team. Joe sees his rival, imagines his girl has eloped with him, starts a battle and is thrown into jail on the very day the race is scheduled to start.
