LAMB COUNTY RED CROSS DRIVE PASSES TWO-THIRDS COUNTY GOAL

The Lamb County Red Cross campaign, which has been quoted at $9690, had passed the two-thirds mark toward goal, as of Friday morning, but lacked $3870, of full achievement, a total of $5729 having been reported subscribed up to Friday morning, with ten days of the month of March, which is Red Cross month, to complete the drive.

Local Red Cross officials, who are working and tabulating results and reports as received, remained optimistic that the quota would be met, if not exceeded.

In Littlefield, the $4300 quota is still $1,000 short of attainment, but several large contributions have been negotiated, and are expected to be received in the next few days. Springlake was late in launching their drive. They are working through the school, and expect to raise their $492 quota.

Fieldton has reported $113 collected, $37 short of quota.

Spade has reported $346, and expect to raise the remaining $174 before the close of the month.

Amherst has pledged $333, of a $985 quota. They are planning some special fund raising events, including benefit basketball games.

Olton has delayed opening their drive, but will do so next Monday, and have pledged to raise their quota of $994 in a whirlwind one-week drive.

Sudan has reported collecting $862 of a $1374 quota.

Pleasant Valley has not yet reported. Their assigned quota is $126.

Hart Camp and Earth communities, have both achieved their quotas, but from Earth comes the word that they are still working and will actually exceed their quota.

Ingin Of Balloons Over Area Is Being Checked rang high in Littlefield following the unidentified balloons over the city. Investigation revealed that two balloons floating reanu, came to earth a mile north of KVOW, on the farm of G. M. Nickleson. It was reported to have settled to earth at around 12:30 noon Friday.

The other balloon was seen floating at a high altitude shortly after 1 p.m. Friday, and according to a report Saturday morning it was last seen going off into the distance in a northeastwardly direction.

Made Of Plastic

An investigation of the balloon which landed, revealed that it was made of a lightweight transparent plastic material, and was reinforced with a special tape compound. The balloon was estimated as being from 50 to 60 feet in diameter, and was supposedly filled with helium gas.

Marks of identification were found on the balloon, but the serial number was obliterated, and the only remaining mark was the number of the balloon. The marks of identification have been sent to the Reese Air Force Base for correct origin of the balloon, and its possible purpose.

J. D. Jordan, who worked with weather balloons during the war, observed the object Saturday morning, and stated that more than likely this was a weather balloon, although it was considerably larger than any he had used while observing the weather. These balloons are released with a calibrating box which sends temperature and height signals back to the weather stations, and while the ropes and ring were with the balloon on the Nickleson farm, no box was found anywhere in the vicinity. Jordan said that these balloons often burst when they reach a height of 35,000 to 40,000 feet.

How Much Of Your Income Really Goes For Taxes?

What today's taxes mean in dollars and cents to the average American family, is revealed in an article in the March 17 issue of Newsweek Magazine. The average American is paying 32c out of every dollar he earns for direct or hidden taxes, the story discloses, basing its data on the results of research by the Tax Foundation.

No longer can the lower income groups feel complacent that "taxes are for the rich" . . . for the large corporations . . . and for the people who can best afford them. It is the American consumer, at every income level, who is shouldering the load.

On a $3,500 annual income, the average family pays income taxes amounting to about $300—while "hidden" taxes of which they may or may not be aware eat up a grand total of $795.

Examples are given of how direct and hidden taxes—state, local and federal, hit every day items such as gasoline, the family car, a ton of coal, food and clothing, in a typical U.S. community.

During the war years, the taxpayer gave the government anywhere from 23 to 31 cents for each earned dollar, depending on his particular income. This year and next, at current tax rates, the taxpayer will be paying between 22 and 29 cents. His income is higher, which means a bigger take for the government while his dollar continues to buy less and less.

It is no longer a joke that in some cases a rise in income puts the taxpayer in the next tax bracket. For the $25,000-a-year man, each additional dollar where his additional dollars actually cost him money, nets him but 60 cents. For a $100,000-a-year man, each new dollar means but 22 cents.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

What does indictment by a grand jury mean? Lawyers find that many persons are inclined to confuse indictment by a grand jury with a court conviction for a crime.

This misconception is unfair to anyone who becomes the subject of a grand jury investigation. Justice, in the United States, is based on the theory that a man is innocent until proven guilty, and public opinion should withhold its verdict until the courts have had an opportunity to determine guilt or innocence.

An indictment is simply a written accusation presented by a grand jury to the district judge. It charges some person or persons with a crime. It is NOT a conviction. When a grand jury indicts a person it merely affirms that there is sufficient reason for him or her to stand trial. That is as far as the grand jury goes.

After that, the judge and the trial jury take charge of the case. At the trial the indictment is simply the State's pleading in the case, to which the defendant may plead "Not Guilty." The trial jury is instructed by the judge that it must not consider the indictment as any evidence of guilt.

All felony offenses in Texas, that is all offenses punishable by imprisonment in the State penitentiary, must be prosecuted on an indictment by a grand jury. A grand jury may indict an individual for a misdemeanor, an offense punishable only by a jail sentence or by fine, but this is rather an unusual procedure.

Misdemeanor cases are customarily prosecuted on the basis of an "information" filed by the County Attorney. This serves the same function as a grand jury indictment.

The importance of a grand jury verdict is this: If it votes a "True Bill"—that is if someone is indicted—the District Attorney must prosecute the person indicted; but if the jury votes a "No Bill"—that is, not to indict—the suspected person cannot be tried.

In most cases, the District Attorney informs the grand jury of persons or crimes to be investigated and produces the evidence for it. However, the jury is free to order any further witnesses it may wish to hear brought before it, and is by no means limited to the evidence the District Attorney produces.

A grand jury cannot require a suspect to testify before it. But suspected persons sometimes ask to be allowed to appear before a grand jury to testify in their own behalf. They may do so and still be prosecuted and convicted.

The grand jury procedure is one of the basic protections enjoyed by the common man against outrageous procedures of would-be tyrants, and dates from early Anglo-Saxon times. It assures that no person shall be forced to stand trial for a felony on the basis of a malicious or frivolous accusation having no apparent factual support.

When called to serve on a grand jury you share with a group of fellow citizens some of the most solemn responsibilities known to our democracy. Consequences of life-or-death importance may hinge upon your vote.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

SNIFF SESSION—Fort Worth police have a sniff session at every roll call these days to make sure they recognize the aroma of marijuana cigarettes. A lighted referer is passed around to all officers for a smell. No one takes a puff, and the bag is kept burning by an atomizer bulb attachment device. Here, Lt. W. "Chick" Matlock, left, holds the cigaret while officer J. D. Fulbright does the sniffing. —APPhoto

Equal Rights For Lady Skippers

HAMBURG, Germany — Equal rights for women sea captains is Frau Anneliese Teitz's goal.

She is West Germany's only licensed female skipper. For the time being, however, she is land-bound as a teacher in an elementary school at Blankensee, a suburb of this big port.

Broad-shouldered and square-jawed, Anneliese decided to go to sea when she was studying geography at the University of Hamburg in 1934. She passed through the various grades of merchant officer to captain. After that, she had a hard time finding work, although the transport ministry certified that there was no law against employment of women aboard ship.

With most of Germany's merchant shipping lost by the end of the war, she was forced to quit the sea. Now the trade unions are opposing her application to command a ship again, but other groups are supporting her. She expects a decision soon from the government.

Sometimes she dons her captain's uniform, which has trousers instead of a skirt, and goes to the harbor, casting a yearning look at the many ships which come again to Hamburg.

...who came to Hollywood a half year ago and stars of a stage musical has done most everything since, believes it a way to beat the trap in the movies. SOUTHWEST'S TALLEST BUILDING
INCREASED IN SIZE

Additional floors have been added to the Republic National Building, now being erected in Dallas. The floors have been added to the section facing Pacific and Ervay Streets to seven stories, resulting in the floor space of the building being increased to 822,000 square feet. Certain other changes have been made to the exterior of the building base, all of which adds to the appearance of the building and further enhances its already impressive Dallas skyline. This 40-floor building—tallest in the Southwest—will rise 598 feet above ground and will incorporate every modern convenience.

Regional Officers Of Texas Safety Assn. Named At Dallas Meeting

So did a lot of other folks. But Flippen was cast as an escaped convict in "They Live By Night," and proved he could be as tough and desperate as any con without a comedy past could hope to be. "I got a reverse twist on that when I was up for a comedy sergeant role in 'Flying Leathernecks,'" Flippen grinned. "But that guy's a heavy, a killer," somebody said. "and this is a comedy role." So I could see I'd made progress, and got my tracks pretty well covered. Flippen got the sergeant role. Which, incidentally, is an inferior rank to the two-star general he plays in "Jet Pilot."

One of these days, Flippen thinks he may have the hardihood to tackle a song and dance man role in a musical, which was what he was during most of his twenty years on the Broadway stage with the Shuberts.

The Texas Safety Association revealed in Dallas at its annual Texas Safety Conference, the names of those who will serve from this region as its officers during the forthcoming year, according to W. Regional director for school safety—J. W. Reid, Lubbock Independent School District, Lubbock.

Regional director for traffic safety—Murrell R. Tripp, Murrell R. Tripp Adjustment Company, Lubbock.

Regional director for membership—Alton L. Aboft, Yellow Gab Company, Lubbock.

What's Your Notion of Magnificent Motion?

WE'LL admit that we're taking in a lot of territory when we use a word with the definition shown above. But no lesser term can do justice to all the things that make a Buick such a joy to drive and to own. Splendor and sumptuous adornment you'll certainly find in its rich interior—grandeur you'll certainly find in the mighty flow of its power. But this is only background for what is justly termed its Million Dollar Ride. Yes, sir, magnificent is the word for this majestic beauty in motion. There's such an earth-hugging, mile-skimming feel to it, as it bullets along the highway.

It holds a straight course without weave or wander—seems to snug down to the road on curves. A massive X-braced frame gives it solidity. A torque-tube firms its keel. End-sway and side-roll are neutralized. The engine is Hi-Poised mounted on rubber pillows—and big, soft-acting coil springs on all four wheels soak up the jars and jolts, float you over road-ripples, "washboard gravel" or weather-pocked macadam as if they weren't there. Even its Dynaflo Drive* contributes to the smoothness of its forward motion by cushioning the transmission of its power.

How about taking one of this year's Buicks—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—on a cruise of discovery all your own? Touch off its Fireball 8 Engine that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—head it out for the roads you know by past experience—and let it speak for itself. Even the price tag is eloquent proof that this is the car for you.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

During the business session of the meeting, the office of both conductress and associate conductress were declared vacant, by special dispensation from the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Flora Best Boise, and members voted Mrs. Doris Frey to the office of conduc- tress and Mrs. Pearl Brandon, as- sociate conductress. Youthful Designer New Rage of Paris

AP Newsfeatures

PARIS—The "find" in the Paris fashion world is 25-year-old Hub- ert de Givenchy, next to Dior the most talked about designer in Paris this spring.

"I never dreamed it would be this way," the gangling, six-foot, six-inch designer with rumpled blond hair and grey eyes keeps saying. "We've been literally swamped ever since opening night."

All the major American buyers, as well as those from Italy and other countries, have been buying from Givenchy's first collection. Already he has had to rent extra space to expand his workrooms.

He has had to abandon his modest plan to run his house like a de- partment store, open to all comers with models displayed on dummy mannequins. Daily parades by live mannequins have become a fixture—by popular demand.

To others he may be a talented youngster, but Givenchy doesn't consider himself a tyro.

"I've been designing profession- ally since I was 17," he points out politely. Givenchy was born at Beauvais, in the north of France, where his grandfather was director of the famous Beauvais tapestry works. His mother was of English origin (but her son speaks no English), and his family wanted him to be a lawyer. He rebelled, choosing the school of Beaux Arts in Paris in- stead.

After three years there, he left to work for fashion designer Jacques Fath. Terms with Lelong Pi- quet and Schiaparelli followed.

When friends asked how he dared start a new fashion house in such unpropitious time, Givenchy said stubbornly, "People need good-looking but less expensive clothes. They've no time for couture meth- ods. I mean to give them the same quality for less money."

This is a new trend, he declared just before his opening. "My clothes will be simple, chic skirts, sweaters, tops and jackets. Above

Mrs. Bellomy Reviews 'Straw In The South Wind' At Literary Club Meeting

"Straw in the South Wind," by Donald Joseph was reviewed by Mrs. Quinton T. Bellomy for the literary department of the Wom- an's Club and their guests, at a meeting held Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock at Littlefield Country Club.

Mrs. R. W. Badger read excerpts from a letter written by Donald Joseph to a local friend, and chair- man of the literary department, Mrs. C. S. Duncan, who was unable to attend Wednesday's meeting.

The author of the book, is a na- tive Texan, born at Cuero. He now makes his home near San Antonio. He is the author of "October's Child," "Long Bondage," "Four Blind Mice" and "Straw in the Wind"—his latest novel to be pub- lished. At present most of his writ- ing consists of book reviews which appear frequently in The Dallas News. Mr. Joseph received his edu- cation at the University of Texas and at the University of Toulouse, France. He has worked in a bank in San Antonio and taught French at the University of Texas, from which position he resigned in Jan- uary, 1945, to devote his full time to writing. His recreations include gardening, swimming, contract bridge, and reading the history of the sixteenth century in France.

Mrs. Bellomy is a former pupil of Mr. Joseph, having attended one of his French classes in Texas Uni- versity.

"Straw in the South Wind," has for its setting the very heart of the south at the time when the Panama Canal was being constructed when Teddy Roosevelt was president of the United States. The book deals with racial problems in the south, and also tells of the tragic break- ing up of a marriage, because the fundamental principles and moral codes of a husband and wife are so contradictory to each others per- sonalities.

In her review of the novel, Mrs. Bellomy vividly brought out the adorable and peculiar characters including, "Aunt Heppy"; the man- ly little boy, "Brett"; the charming "Constance De Vere" (a truly gra- cious lady of the Old South), the overbearing and arrogant "Judge De Vere," the chivalrous "Clark Livingston," the coquette "Felicia Brossels," and the tragic negro mistress "Jane Thompson."

Mrs. Bellomy, in her usual charming manner, gave a most in- teresting review of the book, which was well received by the many who were present for the occasion.

Mrs. J. H. Barnett and Mrs. U. D. Walker were co-hostesses.

Lip Service to Spring

By BETTY CLARKE

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Lips are going to be painted in juicy shades this season—as pinky- ripe as Mom's delicious fruit preserves.

Favorite lip rouge shades of strawberry, raspberry and cherry hues for Easter parade glamor will enchant girls of all ages. Good rich pinks that really are indelible have been sought eagerly by smart young beauty queens who like the delicate glow of a lipline that doesn't look too artificial.

Up until now many deep pink lip rouges were merely pretty comple- ments to their lipstick cases and when put on the lips they were faded and colorless. There is no point in coloring the lips if the tint does not enhance the natural color of the lips.

A number of exciting pink lips rouges are available now, however. A good pink as vivid as the hun- ter's jacket is a cherry-pink, a splash of brilliant color that does not disappear even under fluores- cent lights, we are told.

Some lipsticks do not take hap- pily to fluorescent lighting, which is likely to be cold, harsh and un- flattering to many women, particu- larly if the light is overhead.

One good tip to remember for spring is that the natural lip line is with us still, perhaps slightly pointed up or played down. If your lips are too thin, the natural line of the lips should be filled out, but not too voluptuously. The lip- palette with a deft hand is play- ing lip rouge. It is far better to make up large lips carefully their full proportion, than to achieve a sloppy mess by try- ing to give them the appearance of half the size by coating with foundation and powder.

As with all makeup, the lips to find out how they are enhanced to their best advan- tage. When you make a dress you and tailor the gown until it is ac- tually right for you. Why waste as much time and thought on makeup?

Following the program an "April Shower," will be given for the Youth Center. Hostesses will include Mesdames Dennis Jones, Van Clark, Carl Arnold, Mathew Brown, W. J. Ches- ter, Albert Lockwood, C. A. Duval, J. S. Pikes, Bob Crowell, Wayne Waters and W. H. Terrell.

VA Announce Number Of Military Personnel Returned To Civilian Life

Veterans Administration recently announced for the first time the number of military personnel who have returned to civilian life as veterans since the Korean conflict started June 27, 1950.

As of January 31, 1952, there were 655,000 living veterans with U.S. military service since the Korean conflict began. This is an average discharge rate of nearly 35,000 a month for the 19-month period.

Man of these since-Korea veterans also saw service during World War II.

A total of 135 veterans who were disabled in service since June 27, 1950, were being rehabilitated on January 31, 1952 under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act to overcome the handicaps of their disabilities.

Of the 135 veterans, 99 were in school training; 4, in institutional on-farming training, and 32, in job training. Institutional on-farm training combines class room studies with practical work on the farm.

As of December 31, 1951, a total of 3,988 were drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities or pension for nonservice-connected disabilities.

VA hospitalization was being provided on January 31, 1952, for 1,862 veterans with service since Korea.

In addition to living veterans with service since Korea, VA was furnishing benefits to dependents of deceased veterans of the Korean conflict. As of December 31, 1951, 17,061 dependents of 8,895 such deceased veterans were receiving VA death compensation or pension.

On the same date, VA had allowed 4,521 claims for indemnity payments to survivors under Public Law 23, the Servicemen's Indemnity and Insurance Acts of 1951. This is the law that provides a free indemnity of up to $10,000 less any GI insurance in force, for the immediate family of eligible servicemen and women who die in service or within 120 days of their discharge from service.

Nineteen Year Olds Can Now Apply For Aviation Cadets: Men Needed

Ten thousand men are needed immediately to undergo pilot and aircraft observation training. To increase the amount of applications, an experimental plan lowering the requirements for entrance into aviation cadet training has been released by Headquarters, Flying Training Air Force, Waco.

Nineteen-year-olds can now apply for aviation cadets.

The lowering of the age requirements from 20 to 19 came last week from personnel officials at Headquarters, Air Training Command, after approval from USAF headquarters in Washington.

It marks the third major change in the cadet application requirements during the past three months.

Late last year the two years college requirement for personnel in the Air Force was abolished, thus allowing high school graduates to apply for pilot and observer training. Civilian applicants still are required to have two years college training.

And recently the 18-month service requirement was lifted, giving thousands of airmen, previously ineligible, a chance to apply. There are no service restrictions for civilian applicants.

Airmen in basic training will get career counseling in the pilot and observer fields and can apply for cadet training right at the indoctrination center.

Applications have fallen off at a rapid rate during the past few months, according to ATRC personnel officials.

Attention Called To Water Well
 Drillers

The attention of farmers, ranchers, water well drillers and pump distributors is called to a new provision in CMP Reg 6 by the US Department of Commerce, National Production Authority District Office in Lubbock.

This provision allows the farmer or owner of a water well to self-authorize the use of used and foreign steel in addition to the five tons of new construction order. This means that a farmer or owner of a water well may use without application 5 tons of new casing or other mill forms and use an unlimited amount of used casing to supplement this amount without application.

Second hand casing may be used throughout a well now without making application regardless of the weight of casing involved.

MRS. HARRELL IMPROVED

Mrs. G. P. (Annie) Harrell was reported slightly improved at Littlefield Hospital, Thursday morning. She was admitted last Thursday, March 13, for medical treatment, and her condition has been considered serious.

Because of this decrease in applications, the Air Force has appreciably lowered its entrance requirements.

Thus, as officials pointed out, the road to the symbol of the Air Force—the "wings"—plus a commission, is open to more men than before the Korean conflict.

One personnel official put it this way: "The same high class product—wings in the U.S. Air Force—is still for sale, but the asking price—preliminary qualifications—have been reduced."

For complete details on how to apply for aviation cadet training, contact the local U.S. Army and Air Force Recruiting office, room 20 3at the post office in Lubbock.

J. C. Penney Company Head Sees Big Opportunity For Growth

To commemorate his founding of the company bearing his name, J. C. Penney was presented with a sterling silver plaque at the company's recent convention in San Francisco, Calif. The company, which was founded by Mr. Penney in 1902, is celebrating this year its Golden Jubilee. Above, left to right: J. C. Penney, chairman of the board; G. E. Mack, executive vice-president and treasurer, and H. H. Schwamb, vice-president in charge of personnel.

America still is a land of opportunity and, so far as J. C. Penney Company is concerned, there are two "enormous areas for development and growth right here in the United States."

That was the opinion voiced by A. W. Hughes, president of the Penney Company, speaking to nearly 1,000 store managers, central office associates, warehouse and field men meeting in San Francisco Calif. to celebrate the opening of the company's golden jubilee.

Taking note of progress in this country since 1902—the year J. C. Penney Company was founded—Mr. Hughes said it was impossible to foretell what the next 25 years would bring or the size and extent of the Penney Company in 1977. But he described two opportunities he sees for development and growth of the Penney Company specifically and the merchandise business generally.

The first opportunity, he said, as far as the Penney Company is concerned, is in its present 1,625 stores. In the last six years, he said, 1,199 were enlarged or improved at a cost of more than $75 million—all with the objective of serving customers better. "There is no limit, or ceiling, on our opportunities in our present stores," he said, "except the limit we place upon ourselves—and that of course applies to all business."

The second opportunity, he said, lies in physical expansion to serve areas not now being directly served. For instance, he pointed out, there are 872 towns and cities with populations over 7,500 where Penney stores will be as important and as great an asset to our country—and, we believe, to our country—as are the 700 Penney stores today in similar locations. . . . not to mention the undeveloped potential of large metropolitan centers." He added:

"All these new areas will provide new opportunities and new jobs for thousands . . . not this year, or the next, perhaps. But certainly they will in the next 25 years—if we serve our fellow-Americans as they want and need to be served."

Mr. Hughes said the Penney Company, like other responsible members of the business community, would continue to develop and grow in the hands of men of character and integrity who know how to "split open a problem and find opportunity." Penney managers, he said, have four responsibilities:

1. The responsibility to do better in their present jobs and thereby prepare themselves for bigger jobs.
2. The responsibility to "train men who will do better than you are—if you don't how can we count on a better company tomorrow?"
3. The responsibility to find and employ men of character and ability who will constitute the "Penney team" of tomorrow.
4. The responsibility to be interested, honorable and respected citizens of the communities in which they live and do business.

Business Forum—

morning. Dr. Timms has appeared at a number of other business-farmer forums held in other states, but this forum, is the first of this kind ever to be held in the state of Texas, and probably prefaces many others which will follow in other parts of the state.

The Forum will be an all-day affair that is expected to bring an attendance of upwards of 250 persons, and will be staged at Littlefield Country Club, with a noonday luncheon featured.

There will be several other out of town speakers, and each panel, farmers and business men, will have two speakers in the conducted forum.

At the conclusion of the talks or remarks by the panel speakers, everyone present will be given an opportunity, asked to join in the discussion, either by expressing their individual viewpoints, or by asking questions.

The first panel discussion will be on the locally pertinent topic "What is the Future of Cotton, as to foreign trade, competition from synthetics, and acreage controls?"

The afternoon panel discussion will be on the subject "Are We Exchanging Our Personal Freedom for Security?"

The office of the county agent in Amherst is actively supporting the forum, and urging a generous attendance by farmers.

David Eaton, county agent, in commenting on the forthcoming forum-meeting Friday said:

"Agriculture and business are growing closer socially, economically, and politically. For example, this past year farmers in the United States bought more things in town and traded with a greater number of business men than ever before.

"The forum will be a little toward a more understanding and better appreciation of the mutual problems, ties, interests and now facing both agriculture and business."

"Free and intellectual democracy is perhaps the strongest goal for the settlement of any problem is expected—no other groups are asked for. All that we are asking for at the end of the person attending will be in a better position to his own mind about the team" of tomorrow.
