Negress Slashes Amherst Man With Knife Monday Night

Harold Myers of Amherst was slashed across the right leg by a negro woman whom he reported to police held him up at Thirteenth street and Avenue G Monday night.

Fifteen stitches were taken to close the wound, it was said at West Texas hospital, where Myers was given emergency treatment.

The woman obtained $7.00 from the man, who said he was enroute from his home to Conroe near Houston, where he had a job.

The negress approached Myers at the street intersection, jabbed a gun into his stomach, and ordered him to hold up his hands, he said. While the hijacker was removing the money from his watch pocket she turned the gun to one side. Taking advantage of this Myers said he hit the negress on the head and knocked her down, and that she then started whittling at his leg. He managed to kick her loose, and she grabbed up the gun and ran.

RAYFORD AUSTIN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FALL FROM TRAIN SATURDAY

When he missed his grip boarding a train at Texaco early Saturday afternoon, Rayford Austin was dragged some little distance, and suffered severe scalp and neck injuries, and a fractured skull. He was immediately taken to the Baptist hospital at Clovis, where he is in a serious condition, but hope is being held out for his recovery.

The young man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Austin, and sister and brother, Nova and Willie, who live 1 1/2 miles southeast of Littlefield, immediately on learning of the accident, left for his bedside.

Mr. Austin was working for the Union Compress before leaving a short time ago to work with a threshing crew above Clovis, and was on his way home when the accident occur-

Lamb county folks will think they are back in the midst of "the good old times" when they gather from the four winds to celebrate the Fourth of July and the Big Trades Day in Littlefield Monday, July 4.

Every plan has been made and carried out to make this one of the most attractive events ever staged in this section of the Plains country. Every business house in Littlefield will be wide open July 4th to welcome the throngs that will gather here.

The giant celebration is being sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, the American Legion and the Littlefield band in conjunction with the other citizens of Littlefield.

Big Musical Program.

Music will be furnished throughout the day by the Littlefield band and guest bands from various towns. A special band concert will be given as a part of the morning program, beginning at 10 o'clock.

The many visitors in Littlefield on this special day will be given the opportunity to fill their needs with any and every kind of merchandise—and at very low prices. Merchants are making every effort to arrange their stocks of goods in such a manner as to enable the hurried shoppers to make their selections with the least effort and with the greatest satisfaction. Stores are offering special values for this day, and Littlefield's trade territory will take advantage of this splendid opportunity to do its shopping while enjoying the July 4th celebration.

$40 in Prizes.

One of the big features of the day will be the awarding of $40 in cash prizes. This event will take place at 5 p. m. Ask Littlefield merchants about Trades Day tickets. Five dollars of the $40 to be given in cash prizes will be awarded to the family coming the greatest distance to the celebration.

A special feature of the day will be a program of horse racing and a rodeo, which will be carried out from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the baseball teams of Littlefield and Anton will go to bat in what promises to be a most interesting tussle. The game will be played at the Ball Park.

Hestand-Kimbell Wholesale Grocery Warehouse Is Entered Tuesday

Cigarettes, valued at about $475, were stolen from the warehouse of the Hestand-Kimbell Wholesale Grocery, between 1 and 4 a. m. Tuesday.

Entrance was gained at the rear of the building, the thief or thieves prying loose a window bar with a piece of one and one-half inch gas pipe.

A ladder was used in reaching the window, the ladder being supported by a box car and the window sill. After gaining entrance to the building the loot was removed through a rear door, the padlock of which the thief or thieves broke.

CONGRESSMEN-AT-LARGE

Those who are not familiar with the machinery of elections will be somewhat confused, possibly, over the fact that the ticket this year in the primary will have some forty names on it for congressman-at-large. These will be indicated under "place number 1," "place number 2," and "place number 3." The Texas law requires that before a state candidate may become the nominee of a party he must have received a majority of the votes cast in his race. Under this law the state committee could not put all the names in the pot and then let the people vote on the three high names because there would not be substantial compliance with the law. Presumably, there will be a run-off in each race and in the second primary one man or woman will have been nominated for congressman-at-large in each "place" in a vote in which he or she received the majority of the ballots cast. And thus the party will have three legal candidates to offer the people in the fall election.

Fourteen names appear on the ballot for "place number one," eleven for "place number two," and fourteen for "place number three." You get to vote for one under each head. And when we finish this fall Texas will have three more representatives in the hall of congress than ever before.

Fortunately, the mother whose small boy likes to play in mud can reflect that it is a normal condition of childhood and does not necessarily mean that her son will grow up to be a politician.

The annual debate about what is to be done about censoring the bathing suit seems to have been, this year as usual, much ado about nothing.

There is a saying that the instant a law is passed nearly everybody wants to break it, but that's not true. New York has a law against dancing on a tight wire over a street.

EIGHT YEARS AGO IN LITTLEFIELD

(Exerpts from Lamb Co. Leader)

Last week the surveying of the Hay Hook ranch in Lamb county was completed, and turned over to the realtors to put on the market. This ranch comprises some 17,000 acres of fine plains land, and has for several years been one of the well known landmarks of this section. It was the property of John James of Muleshoe.

The Commissioners' court in session Monday allowed the highway petition opening up a public road across the John Kling place west of town.

The Yeager Chesher land company report the following sales made during the past week:

Sam Shaw, 265 acres, W. J. Shaw, 177 acres, J. W. Stewart, 177 acres. All these men come from Cotton county, Oklahoma.

Messrs. V. C. Nelson and L. A. Wells, representing the land interests of Howard and Frank Paul, of Amarillo, passed through here Sunday enroute to Sudan, where they will begin the selling of 14,000 acres of this land which has just been surveyed and put on the market.

Cora Anna, the 11-months old babe of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Collins, living four miles south of Littlefield, died Sunday from colera infantum.

The funeral services were held from the residence Monday afternoon and interment was made in the local cemetery.

Miss Jimmie Silvers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Silvers, and "Tollie" Gray were quietly married at Morton, in Cochran county, last Sunday morning.

The wedding came as a distinct surprise to their many friends of this community, and it is said to be the first wedding license issued out of the newly organized county of Cochran.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of Littlefield, while the groom is one of the rising young farmers of the community.

Boy Scout Outing Planned for July

At a special meeting of the Boy Scout organization committee and the scout members Monday evening, a ten day scouting trip for the boys into New Mexico was planned for July. It is expected that about twenty boys will attend the outing, which will be under the supervision of J. E. Chisholm, chairman of the committee. The outing is being planned for about July 15, when Tularosa, Carlsbad, Elephant Butte Dam, etc., will be visited.

Reports are to the effect that A. J. Beckner is furnishing the truck to carry the boys free of charge.

"Speaking out of the paper." Captain Breen, who held all book learning in contempt, listened on such occasions, and smoked his pipe, shifting his short legs about in uneasy fashion, his eyes peering from under shaggy eyebrows. "Mother kin read!" Johnny Breen always said this to himself whenever he thought of reading.

Johnny Breen had been around the city many times, but each succeeding trip around the Battery found him gazing in growing fascination toward the piles of buildings banked upon the shore. He noted and remembered many things about the city. The sharp metallic clang of fire engines, the clatter of horses, iron-shod hoofs on Belgian blocks; the harsh rattle of elevated trains—how fast they went! Would he ever ride in one?

Captain Breen was a dogmatic man close on sixty, a squat, incapable man, seeing but a short distance through a veil of red. Harriet Breen, the woman who married him, managed him. Sixteen years before, when the barge was new, he accepted a responsibility. The owners preferred a married man, Harriet came on board upon him anew. A torturing thrills closed his throat. His torn shirt was streaked with mud and grease. His hair was matted with dried slime. His eye-lids stuck together, his swollen lips were dry and hot and his pants were hanging by half their buttons. His bare feet and legs were bruised and caked with dry mud and manure. He began to cry, tears forcing through the sticky eyelashes, streaking down his pitiful face. He had the aspect of a forlorn waif, only his bare body was brown and muscular, but his mouth curled down and utter sorrow claimed him.

His bed, among the bales of waste paper, was jerking and swaying, and, as he cried, a canvas flap was lifted. An evil face glared into the van.

"What tha hell!" A thick and unfriendly voice shouted at him. The face had a wicked mouth, edged with broken teeth, brown and green. Johnny saw a monster, a dragon, glaring and cursing him. "Git tha hell out of there! Git out, ya crummy rat!"

Johnny, still crying, sat up amid the bales. His head bumped the ribs of the van. He rubbed dirt into his eyes and smeared the dried filth on his face wet with tears. He was a dismal sight.

"Out ya git!" The driver reached for his whip; Johnny slipped back over the load of paper. "Out an' ta hell wit ya!" The team, fresh, full of fear, sensing the whip, started on a gallop with the heavy load. The wagon reeled toward the curb and Johnny, sliding from the bales of paper, dropped to the tailboard and under the end flap. He let go and fell to the gutter, stunned by his impact with the cobblestones.

The street was on a fringe of tenements, where the Ghetto touches the wharves. It was a fearsome neighborhood. High houses loomed over him, strange smells and noises confounded him as he slowly rose to his feet, standing in the midst of a curious crowd of half-grown children who suddenly materialized, as if it had sprung from the stones. It was an eager Saturday morning crowd of waterfront boys—a gang.

"Hully chee, lookit dat bum! What in 'ell's bitin' 'im? He's lousy. Whew—what a stink!"

The crowd rubbed near Johnny. He turned as they milled about. He backed to the center of the street and stood defiant, legs apart, his trousers torn and half down, covered with dirt, his shirt ragged and streaked, his matted yellow hair over his eyes. Hostile boys closed in and surrounded him.

"Doity. Where ja come, outta de sewer? Hey, stinkey! Soak 'im! Lemme at 'im!"

Several bigger boys, tough, daring, with the heartless ethics of the pack, kicked and cuffed as Johnny turned in torment. Idle men in shallow derbies, men in black coats, and bearded men such as John had never seen, paused to watch the boys.

"De Grogan Geng is out! Oy, what a business, de Grogan Geng!" The tough boys were really the Grogan Gang, of part of them. A boy taller than the rest, wearing a dented derby, came close to Johnny and spat in his face. A hard dirty brown fist shot out with desperate force. The tall boy howled, his derby rolling at his feet in the gutter. The blow was utterly unexpected. It caught him in the stomach, and he doubled up. The crowd backed and then came at Johnny.

"He hit 'im below de belt. He fouled 'im." The crowd looked ugly, and missiles gathered from the gutter began to fly. "Kill 'im!" Suddenly there was a hush. Down by the river a blue coat moved toward them. "Cheese it, de cops! Cheese it, beat it! Cops!"

The crowd began to run, Johnny Breen at their head, having dashed through the circle of boys under a rain of tin cans and refuse.

By a supreme effort he distanced the mob and the Grogans, long lost in the rear and off for other excite-ments, but the wave continued. Johnny, running into newer and stranger crowds, suddenly was greeted by a terrific crash of noise as he dodged under the shadow of a cross street. The maw of the city seemed about to grasp and grind him, body and soul. In a final effort to escape annihilation, he closed his eyes and plunged headlong into a hole; a human rat seeking oblivion. He jumped into an open basement doorway—an elevated train thundered overhead and behind him.

For a long while he lay in the hole, his head doubled under his arms, in a dark, damp corner among rubbish. All was dark; many trains passed by, and he began to regain his breath and sense. At last he determined to crawl toward the light, when the trap door to the walk flopped down. He heard the snap of a padlock.

the Cavalier. She was an upstate girl. Breen rubbed his eyes, but he was ready to accept anything, even a wife, for she demanded her papers. Four months later Breen became the father of a son. He accepted the gift without undue complaint. If he drank to excess, Mrs. Breen was not the one to complain. The detachment, and strangeness of the broad river suited Harriet Breen. She sang to her baby boy. A calm insensibility possessed her. She was still a handsome woman, twenty years younger than the captain, when the Cavalier rounded the Battery on that misty evening in spring.

The years go fast on the river. John Breen became a strong and capable barge hand, an expert swimmer, a great help and comfort to his mother. Suddenly he had grown, grown almost over night, bursting out of his clothing. The fact that his laugh and a certain trick of pawing through his hair reminded her of another wild impetuous boy caused Harriet Breen to flush. John's father had been only a few years older, when she came to the Cavalier.

"We got to put Johnny to school," Mrs. Breen remarked to Captain Breen, busy at the small coal stove, turning a pan of biscuits with the hem of her apron.

"All right, Mother, we'll send him, when we lay up this year." He began filling his pipe. "It's getting mighty thick."

"Where we now?"

"Turned up of the East River. Them's the Fulton Ferry bells. I'll call John."

Johnny, his eyes drawn into the deepening blur of the warm enveloping night, hearing strange sounds, thinking huge thoughts, heard the talk below, coming up out of the square of light. How he loved his mother! He was going to school—perhaps to school in the city—the monumental city shrouded in the fog. Suddenly there was a crash!

In the Morning Advertiser of Saturday, May 12th, 1900, fourth page, column six, near the bottom of the page, smothered on one side by a reading notice for Peruna, was a scant news item:

THREE DROWN ON BARGE

The brick barge Cavalier of Haverstraw, McGurney Brothers Brick Company, collided with an unknown craft in the East River just south of Brooklyn Bridge during the heavy fog last night and sank. Captain Breen, wife, and son are missing.

At the point where Manhattan shoves an elbow into the river and the Brooklyn Bridge swings high above the shipping, we must take up the story of Johnny Breen. His dreaming kept him on deck. The conversation below, the warm mystery above, the river moaning and whispering, held him in a spell. Then a terrific blast was followed instantly by a crash of rending wood, the snarl of rushing water, the panic cry of Mother Breen—"Johnny!" It was the last word he heard; he was tossed over the side by the sudden impact and sank beneath the surface. The weight of water drummed in his ears as he went down. He struck out boldly. He gained the line of piers, his hands slipped from the slimy cluster piles, he washed upstream, swimming bravely. At the next pierhead he made a desperate effort, lifted himself on a cleat roughly nailed to the piling. It was the bottom of one of those rude ladders sometimes found on pier ends; devices nailed by the river rats—the thieves. Johnny Breen dragged his aching body above the water, climbed to the stringpiece and rolled exhausted in the mud.

For a time Johnny Breen lay there stunned. His muscles were sore, his head throbbled, he was sick, nauseated, from vile water he had swallowed. The World spun about him in a maelstrom of disaster. He stood, then walked unsteadily in the dark. He saw the dim shadow of a covered van. It offered shelter, he climbed in. He sank between two bales, the sounds of the river were stilled. The water was blotted from his clothing, a warm glow crept over him; strong arms seemed to enfold him. The terror and turmoil of the night melted away.

THE GHETTO

Johnny was awakened by the movement of the wagon.

"Mania!" he cried with a start of terror. The horror of the night burst

One-Tenth of Town's Population Plays In W. T. C. C. Official Band

Who says life is dull in the small town?
Consider Anton, Hockley county; population, 500 to 600. More than one-tenth of that population is enrolled in its junior band of 20 musicians and its 42-piece senior band, the official 1932-33 band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, elected at the Sweetwater convention. Jimmy Thornhill (right) is the director of this remarkable organization of boys and girls, young men and young women. He organized the band only 18 months ago, with five members, of whom only three had had any musical experience. The "official" designation is the band's second honor. The first was in the Chamber of Commerce-Avalanche pageant in Lubbock last December. The band is now one of the best known in West Texas. It is ready to play any time anywhere.

Clifton Grundy, Paul W. Whitfield and R. D. Webb are assisting the director in the bands' business affairs.

In the playing personnel are: Cornets—H. C. Osborne, Calvin Smith, Rector Minton, Essie Webb, Newtie Smith, Mavis Gilbert. Clarinets—Mrs. J. G. Thornhill, Bailey W. Joe E. Boyd, Pastor.

SHALLOWATER LOSES TO LITTLEFIELD AT ANTON SUNDAY; SCORE 11-8

Last Sunday the Littlefield club met Shallowater on Anton grounds, due to the rain out sign being placed on the ball park for the day, both in Littlefield and Shallowater. The Anton team had for their opposition the strong Levettian team at Levelland. The Shallowater boys opened up in the first stanza and tallied twice, while the locals put one score across. Thereafter, the home nine took the lead and were never in real danger. Guy Aldridge did mound duty for the first five innings and gave way to Bill Gregory, who held the Shallowater team to a few scattered hits for the remaining four innings. Errors on both sides figured largely in additional scoring for both teams. L. Gregory and Simmons were the willow welders for the home aggregation, while Big Gale was the power house for the visitors, holding down the catching job for his team and packing a dangerous wallop at bat. A game at Amherst is billed with the strong Amherst team for next Sunday. Previous engagements with the Amherst nine has resulted in close games and a minimum of scores. The game is called for 3:30 p. m. in the Littlefield ball park.

More Rainfall This Year than Since 1915, Says Mr. Esau

The rainfall is greater this year than since 1915, is the opinion of J. K. Esau, a farmer living one mile north and two miles west of Littlefield. Mr. Esau moved to his present location in 1915, and says that much moisture fell that year, that bumper crops were enjoyed by the people of this section, and that he gathered 60 bushels to the acre of corn. He says he grew two crops of Irish potatoes, watermelons, maize, hegar, etc., and that all his crops were excellent.

District Court is in session and will continue until July 2nd. My duties as District Attorney must be attended to, and I will have very little time left in which to see the people in the interest of my candidacy. I want all of you to vote for me, and am taking this means of asking for your support and influence, if you think I am entitled to re-election.

Of necessity, my candidacy is in the hands of my friends and I will appreciate their work in my behalf.

Mr. Treadwell was Hot . . .

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY.
Gentlemen:
"During my recent vacation I had occasion to give Germ Processed Oil a real test, driving some 1,600 miles, temperature from 105 degrees to 111 degrees. The car never previously stayed as cool, and drove nicer, and I attribute it to no other cause than the use of Germ Processed Oil. Yours truly,
"T. P. TREADWELL."*

Conoco's exclusive, patented Germ Process gives it extra "oiliness" other oils don't have. That extra oiliness reduces motor operating temperatures. It guards against thinning out caused by heat and crankcase dilution. It gives Germ Processed Oil more stability.
And, no matter how hot the weather, the Hidden Quart stays up in your motor and never drains away. It's always on duty when you start, cutting down costly wear during the starting period, when almost half of all motor wear occurs.
For Summer, for Winter, any time—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is a better oil for your car. Change now at any Conoco Red Triangle station.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.

The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its freight and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The railroad CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.

In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $900,000,000, or four times as much.

What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.

The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.

● THE RAILROADS CANNOT SUBSIST ON LOW GRADE TRAFFIC ALONE.

state will have the opportunity to get a close-up squint at their favorite (or otherwise) candidate. The stump will be held during the afternoon by many of the leading candidates for governor, congress, legislature, as well as district and county offices. Littlefield's main street will be thronged with eager listeners as the candidates present their views and give their reasons for being elected to office.

Nor does the pleasure end with the setting of the sun. Beginning at 9 o'clock at night, a mammoth street dance will be staged on Littlefield's "main drag." The very best dance music has been arranged for this gala event, and, no doubt, the "floor" will be crowded to its capacity with happy couples.

Littlefield has long been pointing toward and planning for this great day. Not only have plans been made, but actual work has been done to make this a happy and profitable day for the many people who will gather from far and near to be guests of Littlefield and enjoy the occasion.

The day—Monday, July 4th.

The place—Littlefield.

The folks—they'll be here early and stay late.

County Agent

During the past week the county agent visited 60 4-H club boys on their farms, and assisted getting the demonstrations properly started. Boys with field crops are using pure seed, are spacing their crops according to directions for every different kind of crop, and following cultivation suggestions. Five boys in the Spade club reported being haled out, and several in the Sudan territory reported being washed out.

Unique Gasoline Is Introduced Here by Phillips Company

"Unique", a new low-priced, high quality gasoline has been introduced for the first time by the Phillips Petroleum company, and is now being handled by local Phillips service stations and dealers.

The new gasoline has been developed to take the place of Phil-Blue Grade, a third grade gasoline, and will in the future be offered the motoring public along with Phillips "66" High Test and Phillips "66" Ethyl. However, Unique gasoline, according to its refiners, is not to be confused with either of the other two higher grades of motor fuel.

Phillips Unique gasoline, which is of better quality than the discontinued Phil Blue, is colored light green for identification purposes only, according to the local dealer.

Infectious scours among young calves is prevalent in places in the county, and can be controlled only through vaccination, and is the best method to control this disease. Information can be obtained from your veterinarian, and your county agent.

For controlling plant lice use Black Leaf Forty, at the rate of one teaspoonful to each gallon of soap suds. The soap aids in spreading this over the plant, and should be put out with a spray. For controlling of worms on your cotton wood and poplar trees, and other worms in garden, etc., spray or dust with calcium arsenate, and you will find it very effective. Use on a basis of 4 lbs. to fifty gallons of water, or wet down plants or trees, and dust through a gunny sack. Avoid the use of white arsenic, but arsenate of lead can be used.

25 4-H Club boys are in the Lankart Cotton contest, being sponsored by the Lankart Cotton Seed farms, of Waco. Most all of the boys are using Acala cotton in this contest. All report good stands, and the crops growing fast.
