Officers Hired To Prevent Halloween Damage Here

Annual Costume Parade To Begin At 5:30 P. M. With March On Phelps

The city government has announced that steps are being taken this year to discourage the destruction of property and the erection of traffic hazards through the Halloween period.

X-Ray Unit Coming Here

The portable x-ray unit of the State Health Department will be in Littlefield Saturday to give free x-rays.

The unit will be located next door to the Onstead Furniture store on Phelps av. Hours of operation will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The x-ray unit will be in operation Monday and Tuesday at the same hours. Littlefield Jaycees will furnish clerical assistance.

Home stressed that the x-rays are provided by the health department free of charge and that county physicians are urging 100 per cent participation. X-ray reports will be confidential and it will not be necessary to undress. No one under 15 years of age is eligible. It was pointed out that even healthy persons should be x-rayed once per year.

Additional police have been hired for the occasion and streets and alleys will be patrolled in an effort to curtail destructive pranks.

Mayor Lee Hewitt said the police do not wish to dampen the fun of "trick or treaters" or other innocent pranksters, but that persons caught playing obstacles in the streets or destroying property will be arrested and fined.

Meantime, preparations have been completed for the annual costume parade which will march down Phelps av. at 5:30 p.m. today. "Best prizes will be awarded to boys and girls judged the most typical of Halloween.

Highlight of Littlefield's celebration of Halloween will be the P-T-A carnival following the parade tonight. For days children have been selling votes for queen favorites and her coronation will be held at tonight's ceremonies.

Presbyterian youth spent Tuesday evening "trick or treating" for the Christian Rural Overseas Program. Under the program, the government will match CROP contributions twenty-fold, so that a 10-cent donation will buy a cup of milk a day for a year for a hungry child overseas.

The Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship joined the Presbyterian youth in trick-treating Tuesday and held a social afterwards in the Tom Hilburn home. The Methodist youth collected $50 for CROP.

THE CARPENTER receives $10 from Vocational Nurse Gloria Brown after winning a talent show held Monday night at the high school. Looking on is Elmer Lloyd Spencer, second prize winner. Also present were Karen Williams and "Her Silent FIVE," and third prize of $2.50 was awarded to "Bessie's Group" of Farwell. (Photo by Taylor Studio)

Spade Farm Worker Shot 'Family' Argument

A Mexican cotton worker on a farm near Spade was shot twice Wednesday evening in what Lamb county sheriff deputies termed a "family argument."

Sheriff Dick Dyer said the incident happened on the F. O. Maston farm near Spade about 7 p.m. The wounded man was identified as Yarnal Moreno, about 38.

The sheriff said Moreno was struck in the side and stomach by two bullets fired from a .22 caliber pistol. He said a relative of the wounded man is being held in the county jail. No charges had been filed yesterday at noon.

Preparation of tomato dishes was the demonstration given Friday at the meeting of the Oklahoma Avenue home demonstration club in the home of Mrs. H. W. Odum.

Mrs. C. H. Messer and Mrs. Fred Lietke prepared a meat loaf, containing non-fat milk, equivalent to one quart of whole milk, and tomato juice, meatballs and rice with tomatoes and breaded tomatoes.

After the demonstration, Mrs. C. E. Jones presided over the short business session. Mrs. C. T. Solosbee led the opening exercises with the group singing, "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds." She also gave the thought for the day.

Sixteen members answered roll call with a favorite tomato dish. Also present were three children and two visitors, Mrs. Rex Matthews of Durant, Okla., and formerly of Littlefield, and Miss Marjetta Carter of Oklahoma City.

CHAMBER MEETING
SUDAN - The Sudan Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the First National Bank community room, according to President Gus Rockway.

AMHERST (Special) - A housewife who had been visiting a veteran son, seriously ill in a Denver, Colo., hospital, returned here last week and found her home ransacked and most of her belongings stolen.

Mrs. Maud Bennett told a reporter that so many articles had been taken from her home that it was impossible to enumerate them. The burglars, who had opened cans of fruit juice and left two dirty cups for Mrs. Bennett to wash, made off with practically everything they could carry.

In the loot was an electric blanket, electric iron, electric percolator, an eight-piece set of silver ware, a clock, all of her bedding, a gun and tools and other items which had belonged to her late husband.

Last month several farm homes northwest of town were entered and a number of articles stolen, but it is thought that Mrs. Bennett's home was broken into only a few days before her return from Denver.

Chesher bought the building for $750 and plans to use it as a "nexus for laborers on his ranch." The 30' x 50' building is of brick construction.

Other buildings sold at public auction were the sheet iron building 12' x 24' now occupied by the Texas Department of Public Safety; a frame building 24' x 28' formerly occupied by the Texas Highway Department; and one stone building 24' x 40' with 12' x 14' addition now occupied by the Department of Public Welfare, Red Cross and Library.

Chesher Buys Old City Hall

Want to buy a City Hall? No, nor the Brooklyn Bridge, either. Not unless there's sentimental value attached. Which might be the reason former Mayor A. C. Chesher was the top bidder for the frame building 30' x 50' now occupied by the City of Littlefield when four buildings located on the public square were sold at public auction at Commissioners' Court Tuesday morning.

The building, sold individually, brought a total of $275. Terms were cash and removal of building will be at purchaser's expense within ten days after notice by County that the buildings are vacant.

The building occupied by the Public Safety department was sold to Kenneth Hook for $475. Hook also purchased the Red Cross building for $725. The building formerly occupied by the Highway Department was purchased by W. E. Bennett for $825.

School Begins Early Tomorrow

The buses will run 15 minutes earlier than usual in order to have students at school when classes start at 8:30 a.m. The buses will run again at 12:30 p.m. Schilling suggested that parents of younger children, grades one through sixth, send sandwiches or fruit since these grades are accustomed to eating lunch at 11 a.m. until noon. No lunch period will be observed tomorrow in order to turn out at 12:30.

No Hair Pullin' Gals Play Gals And Boys Root At Spade Today

The girls will be well protected in uniforms and pads and the boys in the red squad will be armed in short skirts. Coaching the senior squad will be William Staden while junior coach will be Cecil Bailey.

Senior favorites are Lylee Kelsey and Don Stinson and junior favorites are Earlene Young and Wayne Loman. Admission will be 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Congressman Hits On Foreign Policy, Communism In Brotherhood Talk Here

U. S. Representative George Mahon of the 19th Texas District Tuesday stressed a need for the spirit of brotherhood in both international and national policies of the United States.

Congressman Mahon was principal speaker at a brotherhood luncheon sponsored by the Littlefield Junior Chamber of Commerce, which was also attended by members of the Lions and Rotary clubs.

Hitting briefly on international politics, Congressman Mahon said he is 100 per cent behind a foreign policy which has an "objective of peace without surrender, and short of war."

He added: "You can't destroy the idea of communism with an A or an H-bomb" and through the spirit of brotherhood "the big lie can be defeated by the big and glorious truth."

Predicting This Week's Games

By JAMES HINE

The South Plains AA "Game of the Week" will be unveiled in Littlefield tomorrow at 3 p. m., when the Wildcats play host to the Yellow Jackets of Kermit. Kermit, ranked as one of the top AA teams in the state, had a hard time subduing the Brownfield Cubs Friday by 7-6. However, Brownfield is a tough team to beat on its own field especially when it is celebrating homecoming which happened Friday.

The Wildcats haven't participated in an afternoon game since Kermit defeated them in a bi-district contest in 1952. The small group of fans that made the journey to Kermit was deeply appreciated by the Wildcats, but the team wondered why more didn't come. The Littlefield boys may better watch their fans in encouragement.

GOOD COACH

Coach Max Jones' Yellow Jackets will be sporting a string of 19 consecutive victories and will expect to add their eleventh one Kermit is favored by "those who know" as a good two-touchdown favorite since the Yellow Jackets shared district honors last year and are expected to be the champ of AAA this year.

Kermit has 13 returning lettermen from that same tri-championship team, which is a good indication that it is loaded with both offensive and defensive talent. This, with the fact that Kermit is coached by one of the best in the business, will be an extremely hard obstacle to overcome.

My prediction for this one: With a little good luck, a positive attitude in mind and body by the Wildcats, and a good crowd of boosters, Littlefield should win by a touchdown, which would be the upset of the year since Kermit has defeated two AAAA teams by wide margins this year.

Don't forget—it's an afternoon game here at Greely stadium if the Wildcats win this one, the single will be set for Andrews' visit here next week.

OLTON TO WIN

Talis visits Olton tomorrow night for a district 2AA game. Olton needs this one in order to be considered as a possible candidate for district honors. Both teams suffered losses last week. Olton was defeated by Floydada in a district game, 26-14, and Price college of Amarillo trounced Talis, 13-6. If Olton can get their offense going they should win by a touchdown, say 21-14.

T-KROSS KANGAROO

Conducted by Danny Byars, will be out to spoil the Spring Lake Wolverines' homecoming celebration tomorrow night. The Kangaroos lost their last contest in a game to the Dismal Bulldogs, 40-0 last week. This game should be almost a repetition with K-cross scoring, but Spring Lake winning to the tune of 45-6.

MRS. JAMES JOLLY

Miss Reagan, James Jolly Wed in Candlelight Service

Baskets of dahlias in the bride's chosen colors of lavender and yellow formed the setting for the exchange of wedding vows at 8 p.m., Oct. 22 by Miss Betty Reagan and James Jolly, both of Littlefield. Flanking the baskets of dahlias in the Ninth St. Church of Christ were white candelabra and greenery.

Miss Reagan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Reagan of Littlefield. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jolly sr., also of Littlefield.

The tapers were lighted by Misses Delois Duncan and Linda Kaye Emfinger. They wore identical dresses of powder blue taffeta with a white dahlia corsage.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Tommy Williams, minister of Ninth street Church of Christ.

The traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Virginia Williams, Whitharral, Misses Yvonne Meadows, Sunny McCormick, Lois and Virginia Jolly sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Reagan, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white taffeta. The full skirt was gathered into a fitted bodice with short puffed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline with pearl and rhinestone trim. It was designed and made by a close friend of the family, Mrs. J. I. Carrell of Littlefield.

Her bridal veil was elbow length with pearl and rhinestone trim on a white taffeta tiara. Her bouquet was white carnations carried on a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She wore the traditional blue garter. For something old she wore a ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Carl Conner of Anton. Her "something borrowed" was a lace handkerchief which belonged to an aunt, Mrs. Dewey Dunlap of Levelland. Her wedding attire was new. She wore a penny in her shoe given to her by Mrs. Leonard Graham.

Mrs. Lela Williams, an aunt, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a pink linen street length dress with black accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of white dahlias.

Bridesmaid was Miss Lenza Graham, who wore a street length dress of antique teal blue taffeta. She wore black accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of small white dahlias identical to those of the matron of honor.

Mrs. Roseann chose for her daughter's wedding a chartreuse suit dress with black accessories and a white dahlia corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a suit of grey and white nincheck and a rose dahlia corsage.

Wavlon Jennings served as best man. Ushers were Jerry Carr and Cecil Williams.

Mrs. Jarred Shockley and Miss Patsy Emsley registered the more than 200 guests.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents at 1214 W. Fifth St.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over pink, a wedding gift from Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blackney of Snade. The 3-tier wedding cake centering the table was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Graham who baked and decorated it. It was a large white cake adorned with white roses and apple blossoms and topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Green pineapple punch and the cake were served by Miss Patsy Trotter of Anton and Miss Molly Bell of Littlefield, assisted by Mrs. Paul Hollican of Tulla.

For a short wedding trio the bride chose a grey wool suit with green accessories. Her ensemble was accented by her corsage of white carnations.

Home To Head Dimes Campaign Drive In January

Appointment of Howard Horne, to head the 1955 March of Dimes in January was announced today by George L. White, chairman of the Lamb county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"Mr. Horne is assuming leadership of the polio campaign at a critical time in the fight against the disease," White said. "There is reason to hope that the American people are on the verge of winning the fight against polio. A vaccine that holds great promise has been tested, and results of the trial will be known later this year."

Meanwhile, 1954 was one of the best polio years on record and thousands more will be struck down in 1955, White pointed out. "Seventy-two per cent of all money contributed through the March of Dimes goes to pay doctor and hospital bills and other costs for families who need help. Thousands of polio patients are receiving help from the March of Dimes this winter."

"The people of Lamb county contributed $10,448.16 to the March of Dimes in 1954," the county chairman said, "and we know that we must set a high target for the 1955 appeal, to make certain that there is no let-down in the polio program at the crucial point."

Editorial

Congratulations

The electric light and power industry of America for an excellent TV program Sunday night, calling attention to the fact that it has been 75 years since Tom Edison learned to turn electrical energy into light.

It was probably the best two hours of varied entertainment TV ever came up with. Plus, through it ran a subtle and of an idea—the idea that made America great and her people prosperous—the idea that the individual is important. It is a precious idea and one that the bigots and the despair are always trying to sweet talk us out of with their promises the greatest good for the greatest number masses they promise us pie in the sky for just another sequential surrender of just a little bit more of our individual freedom.

This two hour story of America did not try to pressure us into the idea; it wagged no fingers. But it subtly showed Americans have gotten pie on the table by being free individuals, each striving to better himself by honest toil trading instead of by being part of a collective whose members decree how much each shall have.

The electric companies are more conscious than most of the need for strengthening our idea. They live under constant threat of nationalization. They have been and are a prime target of the people who think they can run affairs for us better than we run them for ourselves. Perseverance is this ever present threat to their very existence that made them act as if they had direct competition. Many of the public utilities have a tendency to act like monopolies, but the electric companies nearly all seem to behave just like the same as a filling station operator who gives customers the best service he can and at competitive prices. lest he lose them to the station across the street. Of course, they are fortunate in that their industry is one in which cost per unit goes down as volume goes up. But the remarkable part of this is that they have willingly shared savings with their almost helpless customers. During the 75 years of development, members of the electric industry have time after time voluntarily reduced rates. Although the only increases have been small ones resulting directly from runaway wartime inflation.

Monopoly is a dangerous thing, even when regulated. Since it is inevitable in the electric business, we are glad that our electric business is in such good hands.

We Can't Buy Prosperity

In an editorial on the federal budget question, the Wall Street Journal observes that government can't buy prosperity, and adds: "All the Government can buy with its manured credit money is an inflationary spree like the one last recovered from."

We should be frequently reminded of that fact. During the inflationary spiral, the great majority of us confused symptoms with causes. We blamed business, labor, farmers, and everything but the principal cause of inflation . . . which is government spending and ever-increasing deficits. No real attempt to effect a cure. Inflation comes again, it will come from the same cause.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter because I hope that you will print it and also hope that something can be done about activities at the school that are prohibiting my child attending a pop rally at the school, merely because I could not attend a function of the P-TA last Tuesday night.

This week, my child brought home a printed message from the P-TA telling me that all children whose parents attended the function at the school Tuesday night, will be allowed to attend a rally. Of course I assume those children whose parents could not attend will be penalized because of that, and they can not go with the other kiddies in their class.

I don't want a misunderstanding. I am for the P-TA and their principles. But when they make my child stay in his or her room, while other children attend a rally, then, I think they have overstepped their proper function.

I am a widow, and of necessity, have to work all day, and many times late at night in order to make a living for my family. I resent very much that my child has to pay this penalty, merely because I am trying to earn enough money to feed them.

I agree that there are many times when only drastic steps will make students' parents participate in P-TA affairs, but I sincerely hope that we never again have to see the children punished because their parent or parents have to make a living.

UNHAPPY PARENT

By Louise C. Allen

One of the funniest sights we can think of is a small women's organization, in which everyone wants the other to hold office. It goes something like this:

"Some of you women without young children will just have to take the chairmanship! With one at home and two in school, I have my hands full."

"But at least you're home all day. By the time I teach all day, grade papers all evening, go to teachers meeting on Saturday — I hardly have time to wash the breakfast dishes."

"You two think you're busy! How about me? I don't even have a husband to help me make a living. Besides, there's my sick mother."

"Well, I can't help this year. I'm chairman of the This-and-Thats already, and they're having a state convention here next spring."

"I'll take my turn, but it'll have to be year after next at least."

And so it goes, until one wonders who thought up the thing in the first place.

"We are a great believer in women's clubs. They keep housewives from bogging down in domestic doldrums. They give business women an opportunity to dress up

The Vine and the Branches

By Tommy Williams, Minister

After Jesus had eaten the passover supper with his disciples, and had instituted the Lord's supper with bread and "fruit of the vine" (John 13), he preached to the disciples the discourse recorded in chapters 14, 15 and 16 of John. In that sermon, and with such an appropriate setting, he used a beautiful figure of speech to impress important teachings about the relationship of himself to his disciples. He said, "I am the vine, ye are the branches. Read chapter 15, verses 1 to 8. Let us study some of the lesson:

1. The vine is indispensable to the branches—So is Christ to his disciples. "As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me."

2. Cleanliness is essential; branches are purged. "Now

A Personal Column It Might Be That TV Has Some Entertainment Value

By DON PERRY

We began thinking—after a delightful program Sunday night—that television might have some worth as an entertainment media.

Singing commercials, downright bad acting and 20-year-old movie re-runs of long dead heroes have kept us from turning our set on except to watch a newscast or a sports event.

But the two-hour Sunday night program on the 75th anniversary of Tom Edison lighting up two strands of cotton in an odd-shaped bulb for the birth of the electric light, gave us the feeling that the TV industry in the past hasn't been putting its best efforts forth for good entertainment.

For proponents of "there's too much advertising on TV," the 75th anniversary of light program should be a fine example of what can be accomplished without the often nauseating spiel on some product.

After the first hour of the program there was one commercial and it merely said the program was being brought to this area by Southwestern Public Service.

"It took money, and lots of it, to produce such a program. But we believe it was well worth it because of educational values received.

Millions of persons had probably never read John Steinbeck's classic "Leader of the People" but a fine cast led by Walter Brennan and Brandon De Wilde brought home the point that progress in America didn't end with colonization of the West.

We liked the program because and "socialize" after working hours. They make newcomers feel welcome, give old-timers a chance to meet strangers and vary the pattern of the neighborhood sli-

But just once in awhile, when we hear a dihard argue that the woman's place is in the kitchen, we wonder if he hasn't been listening in on one of these "I'm busier than you" elections.

ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you."

3. Vines are pruned: unfruitful branches are cut off and burned. "Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away." Such branches are "withered; and men gather them into the fire and they are burned." Even the disciples of Christ are warned.

4. Branches adorn and glorify the vine rather than stand for individual glory. So disciples of Jesus do not live for personal glory, but rather to glorify Christ. As God is caretaker ("husbandman"), the usefulness and beauty of the vine with all its branches contribute to his glory. "Herein is my father glorified that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples."

There are always a certain number of families in the United States with serious financial troubles. At this time, the number is relatively few. To those few and to their creditors, this column should be of particular interest.

The principal reported causes which throw families into financial difficulties are: inflation and high taxes, inability to resist "impulse" buying, combined with easy credit, illness or other emergencies, or just plain bad judgment and mismanagement.

Some people in financial difficulty, when threatened with legal proceedings to collect outstanding debts, seek the relief offered them by federal bankruptcy laws.

The purpose of bankruptcy laws is to permit an honest but unfortunate or weak debtor to surrender or account for all his property for the benefit of his creditors and in exchange be discharged of his debts.

Any debtor who is insolvent may become a voluntary bankrupt by having his attorney prepare for him a bankruptcy petition, together with schedules of his assets and liabilities, and then file the same in the proper United States district court.

After the debtor is adjudicated a bankrupt he is required to appear for examination as to his assets in the bankruptcy court, and if he fully accounts for his assets and has not violated any of the bankrupt laws he will thereafter receive a discharge of his debts.

If he is granted a discharge of his debts, he has started a new financial life as of the date he filed bankruptcy. The assets which he thereafter acquires cannot be reached to satisfy the old debts, nor will creditors be permitted to sue him on the old debts.

Dishonest debtors sometimes endeavor to gain advantages for themselves not allowed by the bankruptcy laws. In these instances, upon objections to discharge by creditors, they not only will be denied a discharge of their debts, but the courts will be prone to deal harshly with the offenders if they have violated the criminal laws.

The head of a family is entitled to claim as exempt any property which is exempt under Texas homestead laws, which in the ordinary case will be his home, his household furniture, wearing apparel, the family automobile and tools of his trade or profession. However, if any of this property is covered by a mortgage or conditional sales contract he must pay any balance due thereon, or the owner of such mortgage or contract may repossess.

Bankruptcy has a lasting effect upon a person's future credit in the usual case causes the creditors to lose their entire debt.

Many bankruptcies could be avoided if the "overloaded" debtor would make a timely effort to sit down with his creditors and work out plans for reduced payments over extended periods.

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Sudan Garden Club President Cites Club's Progress In Two Years

By MRS. EVELYN M. SCOTT

SUDAN—Mrs. George Gilkerson, president of Sudan's youngest federated club, the Garden Club, says that it is wonderful the progress the club has made since organizing two years ago.

In July, 1952, a group of Sudan women with two things in common—the possession of a "green thumb" and a desire to learn about flowers, landscaping and garden work—met in the home of A. L. Robinson. It's first meeting, and organized a club in that they might meet to share their mutual interest. There are fifteen charter members in this civic organization.

Gilkerson says she especially enjoys her Garden Club work because of her natural interest in work that stems from serving the Home Demonstration agent in and Martin counties for years. She received her B.A. at Hardin Simmons university and majored in home economics.

object of the Garden Club study of all phases of gardening and the furthering of community beautification. Though in two years, the results of its "garden plans" can already be seen in the landscaping of a triangular plot of ground in the east part of town. The club chose the location of this plot for a three-year project. They have the ground prepared and set out plants and plan to add shrubs and evergreens.

The project was placing club at the city limits on highway leading into town. The club presented a Flower Exchange in connection with the Fall show for the past two years. Near they held their first Flower show in connection with the Festival and received 175 entries. The show was viewed by hundreds of the community.

club members have attended Show Schools to further their knowledge of Garden Club and to become familiar with the qualifications of judging shows. The club is most responsive in neighboring garden clubs activities when the occasion arises.

achievements of the club were first in the District for 1952-53 year book; and, two flower arrangement club meets the third Thursday each month. September and May Workshop meetings continued through the summer discussion of current garden problems and flower arrangements.

Gilkerson states that inter-club programs for the year have planned, and out of town trips will be featured on various.

Gilkerson's hobbies are work and collecting plates. She has collected plates for a number of years and has plates from numerous states, also among her collection.

Gilkerson and husband moved to Sudan from Oklahoma in 1951 and reside at 300 St. Gilkerson is engaged in business and is office manager of the Gin. They have one son, a Lubbock lawyer, who married and has two sons.

Work Worthwhile
 Lesson for October 31, 1954

SOME very kind-hearted persons remarked that something good could be said about everybody. "What good could you say of the devil?" he was asked. "Well," he answered, "the devil's a mighty hard worker!"—which goes to show that work, by itself, is not necessarily a good thing. It depends on what you work at, and on what comes of your efforts. Work is certainly not good if it does harm. If only the devil had been born lazy, how much better this world might be! Work is not good, Dr. Foreman either, when it is nothing but "busy-work," mere effort with no purpose, nothing to be gained by it. A person could go down to the seashore with a large shovel and pile up a mountain of sand one day and shovel the whole thing flat again the next day . . . but so what? Aside from the exercise, no use at all. And the exercise itself might be better gotten in other ways.

Work and Value
 Work has dignity, work is worthwhile, only under certain conditions. One of these conditions can be expressed in this way: Does the work increase or create value? A piece of iron is worth far less than the same iron made into steel watch springs. The work done adds to the cost, of course, but also to the real value. A steady, eroded field is not worth what the same field is worth when it has been worked, fertilized, planted, cultivated and a fine crop of potatoes, cotton, wheat or what not is growing there. Karl Marx pointed this out in the 19th century, only he overlooked something important. He seems to have had the notion that the only work that adds to the value of things is manual labor.

It is true, as he said, that the toil of the miners goes into the value of the coal you burn; but he was wrong in thinking that labor contributes everything, management nothing. A president (a good one, no stuffed shirt) sitting in his office may not do enough physical work in the course of a week to raise a drop of perspiration. But his plans and decisions are work too, and they may add more value to what his plant turns out than any 30 stevedores on the pier.

Work and Character
 Work has dignity too, and it is worthwhile, when it produces that highest of all values, character. The many contrasts in Proverbs between the worker and the lazy lout bring this out. The worker is not only adding to the sum of values in the world, he is building his own character. The hand of the diligent shall rule, one Proverb says. That is, the worker grows capable by the very work he does. The reward of good work is not usually a vacation but a promotion, that is to say, a chance to do more work on a larger scale. Most Presidents of the United States, however capable they were when they were elected, left the White House staler men than when they entered. This is all just as true on the humbler levels of life. All work has dignity, all work is worthwhile, when it adds to human values and when it builds the character of the worker. A garbage collector is adding to the health-values of the community; and if he is a good one (no stuffed blue shirt!) he can be growing in character too. There is a certain professional cleaner of grease traps who looks on his work with such pride and satisfaction that he has been an inspirer of other men.

Laziness is a Sin
 The Proverbs point out three sins in this area of life. One is pure laziness. The lazy man does not usually think of himself as a sinner. He isn't doing anything. But that is just the point. Not doing what needs to be done is a real sin, it eats out the lazy man's character in no time. Another sin is slackness, the "sin of slapdash." The man who is slack in his work is brother to the destroyer, it is said. How many buildings have burned down because of "defective wiring!" And what does any price of defective wiring spell but somebody's carelessness on the job? How many crops have been lost not because any one destroyed them but just because what had to be done was not well done?

Newsfeatures
BERLIN—One of the world's fastest sprinters is flashing his speed this fall in the backfield of a U. S. Army football team here. But he hasn't made the first team yet.

Track star James (Jet Jim) Golliday, a private first class in the Berlin command, sees action at right halfback for the Sixth Infantry Regiment's Berlin Bears. The thing that keeps the fleet-footed Negro out of the starting lineup is a potentially costly tendency to fumble.

"If he could hang on to the ball," says Coach John Serafin, "Jim would see a lot more action."

The Bears are playing a nine-game schedule this fall against other Army teams in northern Germany.

Serafin, a first lieutenant from St. Albans, N. Y., who played football at Syracuse University, says: "We're using Golliday in spots where we think his speed will pay off. That's mostly on wide end sweeps."

Golliday isn't worrying about the possibility that a football injury might ruin his chances for the 1956 Olympics track team.

He figures football will help keep him in condition and says with a grin: "I've been hurt before."

Golliday presently weighs 170 pounds, some five more than he considers his best weight for track. Before entering the Army, Golliday won all but five of 357 races.

He arrived in Berlin early this year and was assigned as a supply clerk in a battalion headquarters of the sixth infantry regiment, the American garrison here.

Golliday, who comes from Chicago, is rated by many track ex-

Family Fun Advocated As Delinquency Curb

What this country needs, says an expert on juvenile delinquency, is a good old-fashioned family that has its fun together.

"There is a definite trend away from family activity," insists William N. MacKay, parole officer of the Connecticut Third District Juvenile Court.

"The mother has her interests, the father his, and the child goes his own way. Family activities in which parents and children work and play together are fast disappearing from the American scene."

MacKay thinks that in thus breaking up the family unit, our American culture is also promoting juvenile delinquency. It has two basic characteristics, he says, which cause most of our trouble with youngsters. They are:

1. Selfishness.
2. Delinquency, neglect, divorce, desertion, immorality, alcoholism and the acquisition of money to the neglect of family solidarity are all symptoms of our culture that are based on selfishness.
3. Our social thinking lags behind our ability to create.
4. "We must teach our children to develop their social thinking so it can compete with their scientific skills. We can build a car that goes 100 m.p.h., but we cannot teach people to drive it without killing others. We build a hydrogen bomb, but cannot harness it for peace."
5. MacKay says there will always be problem boys and girls until an answer is found to the broken or emotionally disorganized homes that produce them.
6. "Neurotic and immature parents produce similar children who become the same kind of parents. Rarely does a child surmount the deending frustration of a broken or disorganized home."

Of his cases, MacKay says, 40 per cent of the youngsters are from broken homes and another 40 per cent are from homes where the only surviving parent or both parents are working.

Juvenile offenses are symptomatic of underlying personal or family problems, explains MacKay. "You protect the community by treating the offense. To bring about a readjustment in the child, you must also treat the underlying causes."

Most delinquent or emotionally disturbed children suffer from

- definite lacks in their living patterns, MacKay says. A few are:
1. Lack of love and affection.
 2. Lack of security—material and emotional.
 3. Lack of recognition.
 4. Lack of discipline.
 5. Lack of variety of experience.
 6. Lack of character training.

Dunks To Safety . . .

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A rail buckled on the Southern Railway. A few hundred feet away John Becker, with his wife, Rita, and children, John 6, and Jackie 3, stood beside a pond watching a train approach.

Suddenly Becker noticed one car was off the track raising a cloud of dust. He grabbed the children and he and his wife ran. In the excitement he fell into the pond, but the spot from which they ran was buried in twisted steel of wrecked railroad cars.

Make It Apple Juice for "Tricks or Treat" Halloween Callers

"Tricks or Treat" is the merry demand on Halloween when you answer your overworked doorbell. So, in the spirit of the occasion, offer a treat . . . apple juice! It's appropriate, acceptable and agreeable. It's delicious, delectable, and delightful. It's healthful, happy and heartening. In short, a good bet for the time and occasion . . .
and an economical one.

You might offer the apple juice in the individual six-ounce cans with a hole punched in top and straw inserted. Or, as a fancy touch, place orange or lemon stick candy in the hole. Either way, this is no trouble to you and it's sheer delight for the Halloweeners. Just park the little cans in the refrigerator ahead of time so the juice will be well chilled.

And let's remember the grown-ups, too. On occasion they'll go for the informal straw but for a company occasion, here is a special way to serve it.

Sparkling Apple Juice Julep

3 cups chilled apple juice 1 1/2 cups chilled ginger ale
4 maraschino cherries with stems

Just before serving, combine apple juice and ginger ale. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with maraschino cherries.
Yields 4 servings.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 4:17—"Whoever knows what is right to do and fails to do it, for him it is sin."(RSV)

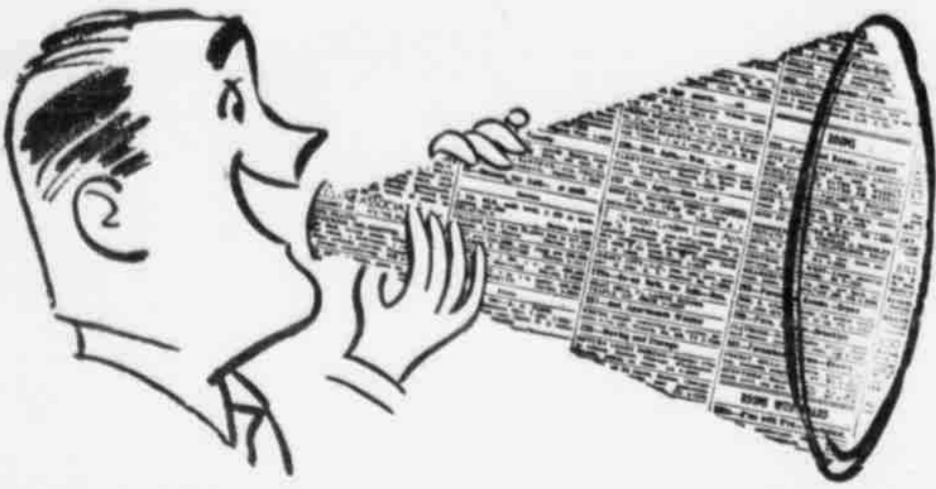

This passage has two aspects; an implied positive and a certain negative.

Only those who have a certain amount of knowledge relative to right and wrong need apply the passage to themselves. This, almost certainly, includes all those sufficiently literate to read this feature. These words of St. James refer to what we sometimes call the sins of omission — which are legion.

To seek knowledge is good; to apply knowledge is better. To seek God's will for our lives is necessary; to do God's will is imperative.
The latter calls for more dedication and self discipline than the former.

Most of us know more about the good life than we ever achieve. Our practice of Christian principles and ethics falls far short of our understanding of them. To increase knowledge is relatively easy; to improve conduct is difficult.
Ignorance of the law does not excuse us before men; ignoring the law indicts us before God.

The best way of honoring God is to believe
His word, as revealed in the Scripture; to trust
His Grace as manifested by the Son and to act upon the knowledge that has been imparted to us by the Holy Spirit. To do otherwise is to sin.

Twist Nail Holds Insulating to Sheathing

By EDWARD S. KITCH

inch diameter, cold rolled steel rod, slotted at one end and inserted in a wood handle.

Nails used to secure insulating board to wood sheathing should be hot dipped galvanized, minimum size 1 1/4 inches and 13 gauge, 3/4-inch head.

When 5-16-inch plywood is used for sheathing, nails should be barbed type. When putting on corner pieces use 2-inch nails.

The minimum construction requirements by FHA for sheathing paper and vapor barrier materials inside the wall when using insulating siding are available in Materials Bulletin 12 from the U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

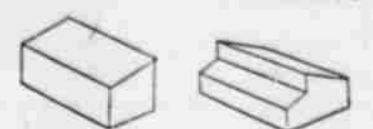

Too Much Cooking, Too Many Baths Make Roof 'Leak'

Think your roof might be leaking? Maybe it's not. Maybe you take too many baths. The fact is that often, when a roof appears to be leaking, condensation on the under surface of the roof deck, not holes in the roofing material, is actually the cause. Asphalt roofing shingles have a long service life and high "weathering" ability. If an inspection of the roofing shows it to be sound, any moisture on the inside of the roof is probably the result of condensation. Moisture from cooking, baths, or air-conditioning, rises with warm air and condenses when it reaches the cold roof sheathing. Condensation may be minimized by ventilating the under-

Asphalt Shingles Now Applicable to Both Low and Steep Roofs

Farmers now can apply colorful asphalt shingles to roofs on farm buildings with slopes as low as two inches per foot. The shed-type roof of the milk house, the machine shed, or the chicken house now can match the steeply-pitched roof on the farm home and the barn in color, pattern, and texture.

This makes possible uniformity of appearance in roofing that is essential to the attractiveness of a farmstead. In addition to economic, ease of application, and fire-

Formerly, three-tab, square-but asphalt shingles were not recommended for application to roofs with slopes of less than four inches per foot, but following 18 months of testing, a method of application has been developed that assures farmers of a wind-tight and weather-tight roof even if the roof is almost flat.

On both old and new roofs, application specifications call for: 1—Covering the entire roof deck with two layers of asphalt saturated felt. In cold climates, the layers are cemented together along the eaves. 2—Cementing down of shingle tabs. After the shingles are securely nailed, the tab of each shingle is lifted slightly and dabbed with quick-setting asphalt cement about the size of a 50 cent piece is put on top of the shingle underneath with a caulking gun or a putty knife. The tab then is pressed firmly into the cement. This is the same method farmers in high wind areas have been using successfully to make steeply pitched asphalt shingle roof wind-tight.

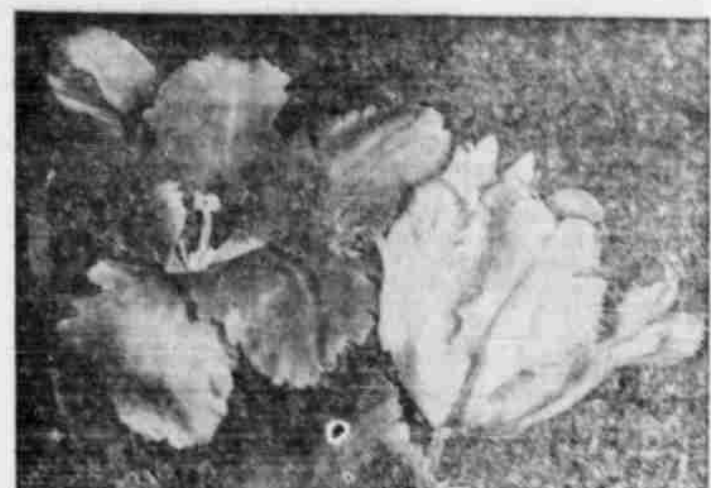

If the roof deck is sound, it is not necessary to remove old roll roofing before applying a new roof of asphalt shingles to the shed-type roof. The underlayment of saturated felt can be placed directly over the old roll roofing. If there is any sign of decay or rot, however, the old roofing should be removed, defective boards replaced, and the deck surface made smooth and clean before the new roof is put on.

Window Units Easy to Use

Buying and installing a wood window is much simpler today than it was just a dozen years ago. The reason is that manufacturers are converting most of their production to complete, factory-assembled window units. A modern window unit of ponderosa pine consists of the frame, sash, weathersipping, metal fixtures, and balancing device. If the window is of the double-hung type, screen and storm sash are also available as part of the unit. All parts fit together as if they were made for each other—which they are.

The advantage of a unit over separately installed frame and sash is that the fit is more snug, and operation smoother, thanks to factory precision methods which cannot be duplicated on the job. Ponderosa pine units pass rigid laboratory tests for air infiltration under wind pressures up to 50 miles per hour.

Modern Parrot Tulips Tops in Size and Color

Petals of Parrot tulips are attractively fringed.

Though parrot tulips have been known since the seventeenth century, in the last few years they have gained over all other types in popularity and beauty.

They have larger flowers than any other tulips, with thicker petals, which are lacinated, which means "slashed into narrow pointed lobes." The colors are seldom solid, but always brilliant, and usually include a touch of green, their resemblance to the colors of a parrot gives an obvious explanation of their group name.

In present times parrot tulips were usually sold only in mixtures, including different colors. The first named variety was Fantasy, still considered by many to be the most beautiful. It was said to be a mutant of the Parrot tulip Clara Bell, a favorite from 1910. Mutants are new plant forms that are not intentionally bred, but rather discovered growing in a planting of their close relatives.

Since the war, numerous other named varieties have been introduced, many of them said to be mutants of popular Darwin varieties. There are purple, orange, red, yellow, violet and near black varieties.

The modern parrot tulips have stronger stems than the older types. They grow from 20 to 24 inches tall, and hold their huge, brilliantly colored flowers upright. When a group of them is planted in the border where their large size, decorative form and brilliant colors serve as a garden accent, they can be depended upon to attract attention.

The thick petals of parrot tulips are long lasting when the flowers are cut. The flowers are effective in vaseage arrangements. Cultivation of their bulbs is the same as for other late tulips, except that they are not so likely to endure without being lifted for many years. It is advisable to lift the bulbs annually after the leaves have turned yellow, and replant the larger bulbs the following fall. Small bulbs can be grown in a nursery row until they attain flowering size.

WHO DOES WHAT

C. O. Burt, one of the owners of the Riley & Burt Implement Company, is pictured demonstrating the new Kosh Steering-Aid to Robinson, Anton farmer.

The Kosh Steering-Aid is a steering wheel with an automatic clutching device built into the hub. It replaces your present steering wheel, and contains no hydraulic or electrical mechanism. The new device is manufactured for use on all tractors. The Steering-Aid prevents steering wheel shock on all farm tractors, yet costs less than one-fifth as much a hydraulic power steering. Like an "automatic pilot," it frees the operator's hands and keeps tractors on their course.

With a steering-aid, there's no more fighting the wheel. It holds the steering wheel positively stationary, regardless of "kick-back" caused by the front wheels striking obstacles or going over rough ground. The steering-aid automatically releases as you turn the wheel so that you can steer the same as always—but without shock. It lessens steering fatigue by holding tractor front wheels in any position you set them. It makes rut driving like road driving.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A SHOE SHINE BOX

Dad and son should work together in making the shoe shine box. In addition to easing the household problem by providing the boy with his own handy polishing outfit, it gives dad a chance to teach a lot of basic carpentry.

brace and let, plane, sand paper, and paint brush. The lumber used is all 1-inch material. All joints should be glued as well as nailed, using 6-penny finishing nails. The box should be finished by sanding and rounding all sharp edges, then stained or varnished to make it as attractive as well as a useful, piece of furniture for the boy's bedroom.

SKIN SAVER . . . Use a clean puff and keep that complexion.

Keep That Makeup Kit Spotless

By VIVIAN BROWN

Newsfeature Beauty Editor

Cleanliness should go right down to your pocketbook. The inside of your purse should be as clean as a teddy bear's ear. It doesn't make sense that freshly shampooed hair be messed up by a comb or hobby pins dug out of a dirty purse or that a nice complexion should be sullied by a powder puff laden with bacteria. Lovely skin and lustrous hair must be kept clean to preserve their beauty. Sometimes the girl who carefully shops for the latest Dior dress copy is stingy about investing in a new compact. She'll tolerate broken mirror, a bad closure that causes leaking powder and a scratched up case, always trying to squeeze the last bit of use out of it. A new compact is a glamor investment. A box of cotton puffs that are inexpensive enough so that a fresh one may be used each day is further complexion insurance. The puffs are quilted so that the cotton will not adhere to your foundation or your lipstick. They'll slip into your compact easily, and fluff up when you put them in use. One way to insure clean hair, skin and fingernails in spite of using hurried in-the-bag beauty accessories, is to put compact, lipstick, comb and nailfile in a separate little container such as a small makeup kit. Also in the kit should go your hair pins, kept in an empty lipstick case or glass vial. Your charm perk-ups should be kept away from other paraphernalia such as dusty theatre ticket stubs, tobacco, leaky fountain pens and tidbits of lead pencil. A chic New York model noted for her svelt and elegant looks solved the clean purse problem by keeping all of her beauty aids tied up in a large handkerchief in her handbag. Every couple of days she would flatten out a clean handkerchief on her bureau top and put her beauty props in it. This gave her a good opportunity, too, to check her compact and fill it with new powder, replace the old tired puff with a new cotton puff, sharpen her eyebrow pencil to a new point, check the color her lipstick to her costume, clean her comb and eyelash brush. Ring on Little Deer . . . LANESVILLE, Va. (AP) — For the hunting season, Mrs. John Fervis has put the bell on Bambi again. Bambi is a buck deer the Previses rescued from a pack of dogs three years ago when it was a young fawn. Now very much domesticated, Bambi has no fear of humans and constantly panhandles them for crackers and candy. Lanesville, is in the heart of Virginia's deer hunting country. But for three seasons Bambi's bell has been a safe badge of domesticity. Sugar beets are white, not red.

1954 State Farm Bureau Convention Set For Nov. 8

GALVESTON — Acreage allotments, price supports and the farmer's cost-price squeeze are likely to get top billing when the Texas Farm Bureau holds its 1954 convention here Nov. 8-10. Some 1,500 members, representing every phase of agriculture in Texas, are expected to converge on this resort city for the state farm organization's 21st annual session. Policies to guide the organization in its dealings next year with Congress, various government agencies and officials will be formulated by voting delegates from about 180 counties. A state wide resolutions committee will meet here for four days prior to the convention to draft tentative resolutions for the delegate body's consideration. These drafts will be based on county resolutions. Registration for the convention will begin Sunday afternoon, Nov. 7, in the Buccaneer hotel. A vesper service will be held that evening. An open hearing on tentative resolutions will be held Monday morning, with conferences on various commodities scheduled for that afternoon. QUEEN CONTEST Finals of the state-wide Farm Bureau queen contest will be held Monday night. Thirteen district nominees will compete for the state crown and its accompanying prize, a trip to New York. The convention proper will get under way Tuesday, Nov. 9, with the morning session featuring TFB President J. Walter Hammond's annual address. Two nationally-known speakers will address the convention that afternoon. They are Senator James Eastland of Mississippi, and Howard Hill, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation. Banquet speaker Tuesday night will be the well-known Dr. (Bill) Alexander, pastor of the First Christian church of Omaha City. Voting on resolutions will place on the final day. Balloting will begin after credentials committees and delegates are seated. Adopted resolutions dealing state matters will become official policy of the Texas Farm Bureau for 1955. Approved resolutions on national issues will be recommended to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting which convenes 12-16 in New York city. Teddy Roosevelt was said to have clocked a lion which weighed 100 yards in 2 seconds.

Power Saw Cuts Stone, Metal, Wood

The home handyman who owns a portable electric saw can cut almost any substance used in home repair work—including wood, metal, stone, concrete, fiberglass, hardwood, tile, and gypsum board. All he needs, says American Builder magazine, is a saw that is engineered and powered to do the work, with three basic blades: 1—A steel blade for wood cutting. 2—An aluminum oxide abrasive disc for cutting metal. 3—A silicon carbide abrasive disc for cutting masonry and related materials. Portable power saws reduce cutting operations from hours to minutes, American Builder says. These saws are available in three diameters—6-inch, 7 1/4-inch, and 8 1/2-inch. Abrasive discs used for cutting materials other than wood are generally known as cut-off wheels. These discs are useful in cutting concrete or cinder block. A fine-tooth steel blade is recommended for cutting wallboard or sheathing board. Corrugated or sheet aluminum is cut with a metal-slitting blade.

The flex cut-off wheel cuts soft concrete. Diamond grit blade is for hard concrete.
