The roof of the second kitchen caved in, and considerable heat and smoke damage was done to the interior of the building and to the equipment. It was not known what caused the blaze, but through possibly defective wiring may have been the cause.

Some insurance is carried on the building and contents.

We have too little time left to plant cotton, but farmers have two to three weeks left to start a possible record grain sorghum crop.

R. E. Karper of the Lubbock Experiment Station and director of all the investigations on the crop in Texas, said most farmers with abandoned dry land wheat and cotton acreages would concentrate on grain sorghum to produce at least one cash crop this fall.

But the noted grain sorghum specialist can talk grain crops convincingly with dollars and cents as potential profits—with even irrigated farmers.

Karper offered an "average" 3,000 pounds of grain sorghum produced on an acre that would sell for $2.50 a hundred such a situation would gross $75.

For the "average" cotton situation, Karper offered a production of three-fourths of a bale, selling for 30 cents a pound. The profit would be $102.50.

Plant up to July 1—But the approximately $27.50 advantage in cotton would largely be absorbed in the labor costs, Karper pointed out.

The ideal planting season is underway now and will continue until around July 1. But additional planting with earlier varieties will continue to around July 10.

Karper said three varieties are probably best suited for the normal planting. These are: Martin, Combine-Kafir and Redbine-60.

For the later planting he suggested early Hegari and Hi-Hegari. The general characteristics of these types, as reported in the Progress Report of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, which Karper helped edit are as follows: Iowa:

Hi-Hegari Adaptable—Hi-Hegari is a tall variety developed for forage and silage uses. It was distributed by the Texas Station in 1950. It was obtained by crossing Hegari with a tall mutation in Early Hegari and selecting the recombination of extra height and Hegari maturity. Hegari has long been noted as a palatable, high forage which is relished by livestock as a bundle feed and as silage. Hi-Hegari is a tall type of Hegari and has the same maturity, adaptation and grain yield as ordinary Hegari but it yields approximately 20 per cent more forage per acre.

Early Hegari is now replacing much of the acreage planted to ordinary Hegari. The stalk is more slender than Hegari, bears 11 to 12 leaves and produces tillers. When planted whether quite early or quite late, and exposed to short days during growth, the plants are likely to be dwarfed and can be harvested with a combine. It may not stand well after frost, however under some conditions.

Early Hegari produces a cylindrical, compact head with short seed branches. Exsertion from the boot is good. Seeds are chalk-white with an undercoat like Hegari and are of medium size and hardness. Like other early varieties in the sorghum family it has fewer leaves, smaller stalks, better exsertion of the head on a longer peduncle and greater certainty to head out and produce grain, even under adverse conditions where ordinary Hegari would fail to FORTH WORTH—The first marketing day of the summer season at Fort Worth Monday was a typical blazing hot one which saw liberal receipts in the cattle yards off Texas fields and ranges. The sheep run was seasonally large, too.

Trade in the cattle yards was about on par with last week's low ebb on most classes of cattle and calves in over ten years. Grain-fed steers were lacking, and creeped heavy calves and a few yearlings made up the choice fat offerings in the cattle division.

Pat and Wren Jackson, Lampasas, had two toppy loads of cows at $12, that averaged 1,053, and C. P. Gray & Son, Brady, had 45 cows and heiferettes averaged at 1,081 pounds that topped at $13. Most other butcher cows sold for $8 to $11, and canners and cutters drew $5 to $8. Bulls sold from $7 head. These characteristics, however, prevent it from being potentially as high a producer of grain and forage as Hegari under unusually favorable conditions.

to $12.50, odds to $13. Good and choice fat yearlings and heifers drew $17 to $22, and common and medium grassers sold from $8 to $15, with rannish kinds in the $5 to $8 field.

Good and choice stocker steer calves sold from $12 to $17, and heifers sold from $14 down. Stocker steers yearlings drew $10 to $14, a few to $15. Heifer mates to steer calves and steer yearlings usually sold around $3 under.

Good and choice fat calves cleared at $13 to $17, a few to $18, and some fancy creeped yearlings weights to $20.50, from Lloyd Hanchew of Iredell. Common and medium kinds sold for $8 to $12, and culls drew $5 to $8.

Sheep and lambs were steady, some fat lambs a little stronger. Good and choice fat Spring lambs $17 to $23, and common to medium sorts $10 to $15, with culls from $5 to $10. Stocker and feeder lambs $9 to $14.50.

Fat yearlings $9 to $13, and culls around $5 to $8. Feeder yearlings $10 down. Old wethers $6 to $8. $10 ewes $3 to $4.50.

Hogs topped at $25 to $25.50. Sows drew $18.50 to $22, and feeder pigs sold at $20 downward.

Your Name Must Be Accompanied By Social Security Number To Get Credit

His name was Smith, and his mother in a burst of originality had christened him John. A good solid name that goes back to the Founding Fathers, and beyond. But Mr. Smith lost his identity when he neglected to put his social security number on the tax return at the time he made the social security report on self employment last March. Now the social security people are trying to pick him out among the 1,287,315 other persons named Smith for whom social security accounts are kept. The first name, John, doesn't help much. There are 59, 345 John Smiths to whom social security account numbers have been issued. They'll get him straight, but it will take time and trouble for all concerned, including Mr. Smith, and it will cost some social security taxes to get the job done.

"Your name on the quarterly report of your wages, or on your annual report of your self-employment income that counts toward old-age and survivors insurance is not enough to identify your social security account," John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office, pointed out.

Unless your name is accompanied by your social security number, just as both appear on your social security card, there is no certainty that you will get credit for your earnings.

The nine digit number on your social security card is different from the number shown on any other security card. Mr. Hutton said that well over 100 million numbers have been assigned by the Social Security Administration. "No two of these numbers are the same," he added.

The numbers preserve the identity of each worker and his earnings account, making possible the principle that social security benefits are geared to the amount of each person's own earnings.

"The confusion, trouble, expense, and possible loss of benefit payments that result from reporting a name without a number, or with an incorrect number, are not restricted to the Smiths," Mr. Hutton pointed out. Social security accounts are kept for nearly a million Johnsons, and 857,753 Browns, 730,884 Williamses, 696,120 named Jones, 617,120 Millers, 556,845 named Davis, 418,367 Wilsons and 413,393 Andersons.

"Even if you have a name as unusual as that of a character in a Charles Dickens' novel, don't rely on it alone to identify your social security account," Mr. Hutton cautioned. He said you'd be surprised to learn how many unusual names are not so unusual where the social security account records are concerned.

Workers are advised not to attempt to memorize their social security numbers. A change or transposition of one digit might result in crediting your earnings to another person.

In conclusion, Mr. Hutton said: "No matter whether your name is John Smith or Ichabod Crane,

Marine Corps Exhibit To Be Here Tomorrow

Making its debut in the South Plains, A Marine Corps traveling exhibit, containing a variety of interesting displays will arrive in Littlefield tomorrow (Friday). Captain David R. Cowling, Inspector - Instructor of the 40th Special Infantry Company, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, Lubbock, announced the exhibit would be in Littlefield for one day.

The large van-type trailer contains exhibits on the different uniforms worn by the men and women of the Marine Corps. It also gives a preview of new communications equipment.

The armored vest now being used by Leathernecks in Korea is also on display, together with a three-panel section showing the modern arm weapons used by Marines.

Highlights of the exhibit are a replica of a bunker similar to those being used by Marines in Korea today and a 3.5 inch rocket launcher with dummy rocket.

Other display features include a map of the world, pinpointing posts and stations of the Corps battle streamers of the three active Marine Divisions, medals and decorations, and a cartoon depicting interesting points in Marine Corps History.

Captain Cowling added that there is no admission charge and all are invited to tour the exhibit during its stay here.

The exhibit will be on the First National Bank corner and will be open from 10 a. m. until late evening, Cowling said.

be sure that it is reported along with your number just as both appear on your social security card. If you change your name, ask for another card, which will show your new name but the old number. Once a social security card is issued to you, it is yours for life. It is your link to the record of your earnings which will set the amount of your payments.

The brick front (SR60) shown at the top varies only slightly in roof line and window treatment from the frame exterior (SR61). Either house can be built without basement by relocating the rear bedroom's closets and using the stairway space shown in this plan for a heater room. These designs are by Elmer Gyllick, architect, 191 So. Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. In either version the house covers only 1,176 square feet without porch and garage, which are estimated separately. With only two bedrooms, the house is designed primarily for the small family.

Festive Desserts For July Fourth

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We Wouldn't dare interfere with main-course regional tradition on July Fourth. Fried chicken it is in some parts of the country, salmon and green peas in others. Thus has it been, thus it will be—and we're not the one to try to persuade you to change! But when it comes to the end of the meal, we're ready to make suggestions. We firmly believe in patriotic looking desserts with a touch of red, white or blue.

If you are planning to picnic after the fireworks, we suggest you pack a basket with fruit, a cool drink, and these wonderful tasting tartlets. Old-fashioned they are, with rich flaky crust—practically out of Grandma's cook book. And of course there's red raspberry jam peeking out of their luscious centers to give them a Fourth-of-July look. You can make the pastry for the tartlets the day before the holiday, chill it overnight, then roll, fill, and bake the next morning.

If you're celebrating on your porch, here's another idea. Let everyone be independent and make their own patriotic sundaes! For these you'll need vanilla ice cream, a big bowl of blueberries, and one of red raspberry jam. Have a basket of ripe bananas and some fruit knives handy, too. A dip of ice cream, a sprinkling of blueberries, a few strips of banana, and a topping of the bright red raspberry jam will make a real holiday ice cream split.

Another appropriate dessert for porch eating, is a watermelon half scooped out and filled with an assortment of fruit. Remove the seeds from the firm juicy pulp and scoop out small watermelon balls. If you haven't a regular scoop, a round-bowl measuring spoon works fine. Wash and drain blueberries. Flute bananas with the sharp tines of a fork, slice them and let them stand in orange juice so they'll keep their creamy look. Chill all the fruit. When you're ready to serve, fill the melon bowl with the watermelon balls and the blueberries. Top with the drained banana slices for a red, white and blue look.

RASPBERRY JAM TARTLETS
Ingredients: One 8-ounce package cream cheese, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup red raspberry jam.

Method: Soften the cream cheese and butter; blend thoroughly. Gradually mix in the flour to form a dough. Chill several hours or overnight. On a lightly floured board or a prepared pastry cloth, roll one-fourth of the dough at a time to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut into 3-inch rounds. Cut centers from half the rounds with a small scalloped cookie cutter. Place the plain rounds on a baking sheet and spread about 1 1/2 teaspoons raspberry jam on each up to a quarter inch of the edges. Top with cutout rounds; seal the outside edges together with the floured tines of a fork. Bake in hot (450F) oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 16 tartlets.

Mother Of Local Resident Dies

Mrs. Mary Cleste Brashear, 79 a resident of Houston and mother of Mrs. William N. Orr, 309 East Eleventh Street, died at noon Wednesday in a local hospital. She had been visiting in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Orr. Funeral arrangements are incomplete but she will be buried at Houston. The body is at Hammons Funeral Home.

Kings and Queens Entertain

The hostess who is casting about for something original for an after-bridge buffet might well take her cue from the June coronation of Elizabeth II, creating a simple, but dramatic setting such as this, with Coronation the basic theme. Sprightly tulips, in a mug designed by Josiah Wedgwood in honor of the Coronation, form the centerpiece and, of course, Coronation silverware, so appropriate with its sculptured tulip motif, carried out in fluted lines and pierced detail. There are kings and queens at this table, as there will be at Elizabeth's; in this case, ordinary playing cards, effectively spread against the nubby texture of the cloth. Creamy white Wedgwood coffee cups complete the service.

Hearings To Start Next Week In Washington On Cotton Acreage Hike

Cotton acreage under crop control allotments for most West Texas counties will be increased if a three-year average on cotton acres in cultivation is substituted for the present formula which is based on a five-year average.

Hearings are due to start in Washington before congressional committees during the coming week on House Bill 5655 and Senate Bill 2106, which propose the substitution widely supported by many western cotton growers.

Information developed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from records published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that all but 20 of 117 cotton-growing counties in West Texas would gain acreage by passage of these bills, largely because of new acreage put into cotton production during recent years.

The low now provides that allotments be based on an average acreage of five crop years—1947, 1948, 1950, 1951, and 1952. The year of 1949 was specifically omitted.

The new proposal would change the basis to the three years of 1951, 1952 and 1953.

West Texas as a whole would gain 688,900 acres for 1954 if the new formula is approved by Congress. The WTCC urges every grower to give his Congressman his opinion of the more desirable formula.

Lamb County would be allotted 238,800 acres on the proposed three-year basis and 205,300 on the present five-year basis.

It's Easy To Waterproof Your Raincoat

AP Newsfeatures

It's a smart girl who learns how to clean or launder her own raincoat and re-waterproof it at home.

Many of the gay raincoats currently on the market can be tossed into the family washing machine, but unless the water repellent is renewed after laundering, they may not be very effective in shedding rain.

Others can be cleaned at home, but here again it is necessary to renew the waterproofing substance after the garment is dunked in cleaning fluid.

The business of renewing the water-repellent surface of a coat usually is fairly expensive, if done by a professional cleaner, and in time the upkeep of the coat may amount to more than its original cost.

Whether or not you clean your own coat, you can keep down the upkeep cost by taking care of it. After it has been out in the rain it should be pressed, to keep it from looking rumpled. A steam iron is recommended for this purpose, to achieve a smooth finish and avoid damaging the water-repellant surface.

Remove soil spots as soon as you see them, using a damp cloth or cleaning fluid, as required by the fabric. Work quickly and, if you use soap, rinse at once, as soap damages the waterproofing.

Most coats nowadays can take two or three cleanings before they need to be re-waterproofed. You can apply the water repellent easily at home using a widely available waterproofing substance which comes in a flexible bottle and can be sprayed on the garment.

Other water-repellant compounds, still in the experimental stage, may simplify the process even more. Chemists are at present working on one product which can be mixed with cleaning fluid, so that a coat may be waterproofed as it is cleaned. Another may make it possible to put the water-repellant directly into a steam iron, and waterproof the coat as it is pressed.

The American muskrat was imported into Great Britain for fur farms, but going wild, it did so much damage to river banks that further imports have been forbidden and efforts have been made to exterminate it.

A LION OR TWO

The Tail Twister says that a going concern could be going in the wrong direction.

Lion Bill Street says - "I eat my peas with honey. I've done it all my life. It makes the peas taste funny. But it keeps them on my knife."

The Littlefield Lions club welcomed two new members last week. Lion Lonnie D. Cole is the assistant county agent of Lamb County. A Texas A. & M. graduate, Lonnie came to Lamb County directly from the service. Mrs. Cole is an athletic instructor in the schools and is also connected with the youth recreation program this summer. They have no children and reside at 1404 West Tenth Street. We welcome them.

The other new member is Lion Tom C. Land, manager of Cicer-Smith Lumber Co. Tom and his wife, Bonnie, have two girls. Linda Dawn is 10 and Sue Ellen is 7. The Lands came here from Winters and reside at 123 East Thirteenth Street. Tom has been in the lumber business for the past eleven years. Welcome to the Lions.

Women's styles may change, but their designs remain the same. That is according to Lion Tom Brittain.

Lion Lonnie Cole is in College Station this week with a group of judging teams from the 4-H club. The Lions, along with other clubs, donated $25.00 toward their expenses. There's really a fine group of boys and girls—those 4-H ers.

We appreciate the ladies of the Wesleyan Service Guild agreeing to serve in the Methodist Church the next few weeks. We'll enjoy that group's hospitality.

The Lion Tamer thought this story might bring out a good point: The pig was lamenting to the cow he was unpopular. "People are always talking about your gentleness and your kind eyes," said the pig. "Sure, you give milk and cream, but I give even more. I give bacon and ham; I give bristles; they even prickle my feet. Still nobody likes me. I'm just a pig. Why it it?"

The cow reflected for a time and then said, "Well, perhaps it is because I give while I'm living."

The Lions club is giving a "Pancake Supper" Tuesday night, July 7 at Dyer's Cafeteria. "ALL YOU CAN EAT FOR 50 cents—and you can't beat that anywhere. There will be pancakes, bacon, coffee, milk, butter, syrup, and all the trimmings. It will be a good chance to take the family out and help us in some worthy activities too. Proceeds will be used for Lion youth and community activities. Our thanks to the many donors who have given material for this event. We'll list them next week for you. Lion Boyd Roberts has done a wonderful job as general chairman.

Tickets will go on sale today or tomorrow and may be purchased from the Lion member carrying the RED CANE or in his place of business, which will display the Lions emblem on the door.

Soap and Water Treatment Beautifies Your Jewelry

AP Newsfeatures

Even your jewels can use a good dunking once in a while. So whether your treasure chest contains pearls, porcelain or plastic it needs to be emptied occasionally into a bowl of good soap suds. Summer jewelry needs to be sparkling clean to be effective. This season beads and pearls are into warm soap suds and rinsed. All-medal pieces can go straight into suds, too.

If you keep these jewels bright and pretty, here are some tips on how to do it, suggested by experts. Most of these pointers can be applied to the "real" thing as well as costume jewelry:

1. Plenty of jewelry, including pieces that are strung or set in prongs, can be plunked right down against a hard surface.

3. Use a small pointed brush, like an artist's oil or water color brush, working the lather into each tiny "depression" of baroque-type pieces.

4. Pins, earrings, necklaces or bracelets that are glued should be washed with a soft, well-lathered brush—out of the water. If there is a shaving brush in your house hold, you might borrow it for a few minutes for the job. A baby's hair brush with its fine bristles is perfect for this project, too.

5. Rinse glued pieces with a clean damp brush, instead of immersing them.

6. Put your jewelry on a clean dry turkish towel when the job is finished so any excess moisture will be absorbed right away. Let it dry and it is all ready for wearing or storing.

Soap and water care for jewelry is simple and easy, and it is the best way to keep your little treasures sparkling.

Joe Hutchinson

W. O. Hampton, president of the School Board here, expressed the regret of the School Board at Hutchinson's resignation, and said the board was receiving applications for filling the vacancy. New Building Completed During the seven years Hutchinson has been superintendent here, a new high school building has been constructed, eight rooms have been added to the primary school building, Dunbar School has been increased from two to 10 rooms, the scholastic population has been increased by approximately 500 students and the high school has become a member of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Hutchinson recently was honored with a lifetime membership in the Parent-Teachers Association here in which he had taken an active part.

Other changes effected during his tenure have included the reorganization of the business office of the school and the refinancing of school bonds, which have saved the school district about $50,000.

The School Board is taking applications for the vacancy, and a called meeting will be held tonight for the consideration of applications received.

Expresses Appreciation

In an interview with a Leader representative Saturday, Mr. Hutchinson said:

"I am going only because I feel it is a promotion. Everyone has been most gracious to us. We have our home here, and it was a hard decision to make. Please express my thanks to the School Board, the citizens and student body for their many courtesies and splendid co-operation shown me since I came to Littlefield."

The Leader joins the other Littlefield business concerns and individuals in expressing regret at the loss of such a capable school head as Superintendent Hutchinson, but wishes for Supt. and Mrs. Hutchinson success and happiness in their new location.

Mahon Urges

They think the government can best do to aid farmers and ranchmen in the drought stricken country.

"I have suggested to the secretary that a program of more ample credit to the farmers on a long term basis is essential. This could be done through the Farmers Home Administration which is already in operation in all farm areas. I have joined with other Congressmen in asking Secretary Benson to try to work out a system of making available to farmers and ranchers on some practical basis some of the government held stocks of grain and cotton seed meal. This would have to be done in a manner that would avoid further depressing the price of farm crops.

"The Secretary plans to be in Lubbock throughout the day on June 27, and he assures me that he will be available to receive reports and recommendations from representative farm and ranch groups at some time during the day. A suggestion was sent early this week that farm and ranch groups select a small committee from each county to join with others in conferring with Secretary Benson as to the facts of the situation and as to what should be done to meet the problem. It is most important that full information as to conditions be submitted to the Secretary."

Dr. Faust's Article Published In Medical Times

The Medical Times, a monthly journal of the general practice of medicine has honored Dr. Faust by publishing an article on Anticoagulation and Alphotocopherol. Dr. Faust has been studying the effects of vitamin B (alphotocopherol) since 1946. During the past three years the relationship of blood clotting and vitamin E has been studied at the Payne-Shotwell Foundation in twenty-seven coronary thrombosis (acute heart clot cases), seven phlebitis (clots in veins of leg), four cerebral thrombosis (stroke or apoplexy), four pulmonary thrombosis (lung clotting), and one combined pulmonary phlebitis (milkleg).

Dr. Faust found that combining the vitamin E (alphotocopherol), and Calcium treatment with Dicoumerol of Tromexan (extract of spoiled sweet clover), greater advantage in controlling the lengthening of the clotting time (anticoagulation) was attained, thus allowing the blood to circulate more freely and supply nourishment to injured areas.

Dr. Faust and family have been in Littlefield since June of 1948. Dr. Faust has recently been singled out as recipient of a certificate by the American Academy of General Practice. The ideals of which are to encourage at least one hundred and fifty hours of study in medicine each three years. This is the fifth article by Dr. Faust, published in a nation wide medical journal.

Second Annual Fiddlers Contest To Be Held At Hale Center July 4

Hale Center is tuning up for its second annual fiddlers contest.

This busy little town in the heart of the High Plains irrigation belt is going all out to revive interest in old time fiddling with an old fashioned fiddlers tournament and reunion that is expected to attract many of the best fiddlers in the southwest.

Hundreds of invitations to enter the contest have already been mailed out to fiddlers in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Missouri. Entries have been received from three states. The tournament is open to all fiddlers men and women, all ages.

Prizes Outstanding

Hale Center is backing up the tournament with prizes that outshine awards offered at any of the big attractions. A total of $350 in cash prizes will be awarded champions and runners-up of three divisions.

A $150 cash prize and handsome trophy will be awarded to the winner of the open division compared to $125 awarded to the world champion fiddler at Crockett last week. A $50 cash award will go to the runner-up of the open division.

In the ladies division, $50 will be awarded the winner, with the runner-up making $25. To the winner of the division for fiddlers 75 years of age or older will go prizes of $50 for first place and $25 for second place.

To Be Televised

The event will be televised by WBAP-TV, Fort Worth, and recorded and aired by several radio stations.

The fiddlers contest will be staged in connection with the annual July 4 homecoming celebration in Hale Center. Other outstanding events scheduled for the day are a parade, barbecue, old fashioned home-made carnival, amateur roping contest, street water fight, fireworks, and Western dance.

Hale Center's first fiddlers contest, staged last year, was a popular hit that attracted 22 fiddlers. Only $50 was given to the first place winner, but fiddlers rated the contest as one of the best they had ever played in. Uncle Jack Maiera, Lubbock, who captured the world championship at Crockett last week, was one of the top performers. Uncle Cal Brown, Plainview, outclassed Eck Robertson, Amarillo, undefeated world champion and early-day recording star, for the title.

Eck Robertson, who learned to play a fiddle on a gourd with strings before he started on the long road to fame, has already entered this year's contest, and Maiera, the present world's champion, is expected to enter.

Cal Brown has already entered the contest to defend the title he won last year.

Other early entries have been sent in by Bobby Rhodes, Sara Jon, New Mexico; Mrs. J. L. Davis, Ralls; Lewis Franklin, Vernon; W. M. Wells, Post; J. M. (Pop) Lee, Hereford; Sonny Curtis, Meadow; Tom Mitchell, Sweetwater; Bob Selner, Hereford; Wallace Waldrip, Chillicothe.

Pap "Little Willie" Wardlaw, Hale Center postal clerk, is the sparkplug behind the contest.

Summer was never like this!

Says Mr. Elmo McClellan of Lubbock, Texas

SEE YOUR REDDY KILOWATT DEALER FOR YOUR ELECTRIC ROOM COOLER

"That is, it wasn't until we got our room air conditioner. Now, as you can plainly see, it's a real relief to come in after a long day of hard work," Mr. McClellan adds.

Folks, there's just no place like home—when it's cooled by electric room coolers—during a southwestern summer. Take Mr. McClellan's word for it, then try it—and see.

REUNITED AFTER 29 YEARS—Mrs. Alfred Romero (left) of Port Arthur, Texas, and Mrs. William H. Colligan of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, are shown as they met in Port Arthur for the first time in 29 years. The sisters were separated after their mother, Mrs. Mabel McGregor, placed them in Tulsa, Oklahoma, orphanage. Mrs. Colligan was five and Mrs. Romero was three at the time. Don't Let Independence Day Make You a Dependant!

Unless this forthcoming holiday is different from all that have preceded it, thousands of Americans will become dependents on Independence Day.

They will be the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned. For the rest of their lives some of the maimed will have to depend on others for their physical care and comfort—some of the widowed and orphaned will have to depend on relatives or the state for their financial support.

And the dependency of the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned will be the result of Independence Day accidents.

In addition, several hundred Americans will pay for their celebration with their lives.

All this because of accidents that need not happen.

Holidays have become horror days in the United States. In recent years many holidays have brought such a high accident toll that they assume the proportions of a national catastrophe. And this carnage need not occur. Accidents are not acts of God. They are acts of humans who foolishly bet their lives for dubious rewards.

The driver who speeds to get to his destination—what different does it make whether he arrives 10 or 20 minutes later?

The youth who attempts to swim across the lake—what is gained by trying to show off in front of a crowd?

The father who cannot deny his children the "pleasure" of fireworks—what pleasure will the child derive from sightless eyes?

Motor vehicle accidents lead the list of Fourth of July Hazards. According to the National Safety Council, one out of two persons now living in this country has been or will be injured in a motor vehicle accident before he dies, unless our present accident rate is greatly reduced. And many of these accidents occur on holidays when traffic is especially heavy.

Second high on the Fourth of July accident list is drowning. Falls, fireworks and firearms, sunstroke and heat exhaustion, food poisoning and miscellaneous accidents also exact their toll.

Independence Day tolls are not inevitable. They can be prevented. Police departments and other officials all over the country will be alert to prevent as many accidents as possible. But as always the size of the toll depends chiefly on the good sense of every American. Take it easy on the Fourth. Don't let Independence Day make you dependent!

ESTATE PLANNING IS TASK FOR EXPERTS

A lawyer can be of considerable assistance in advising a client how to bequeath his estate so as to take care of his loved ones and at the same time to effect maximum savings in estate taxes.

To illustrate, suppose John Doe and his wife have amassed community property worth $200,000. John wants his wife to be well taken care of during her lifetime. To save an attorney's fee he writes his own will leaving everything to his wife. He dies soon thereafter and his wife dies six years later. The federal estate taxes on his one-half of the $200,000 estate amount to $4,800.

When the wife dies her estate is worth her original one-half of $200,000 ($100,000) plus the estate she inherited from her husband, $95,200. The federal estate tax on her estate, enhanced by what her husband had left her, is $31,200. If instead of leaving the property to his wife he had left her the income from it for life (the remainder to go to their children upon her death), her taxable estate would have been only $100,000. The federal estate tax thereon would have been $4,800.

There would have been a tax saving of $26,000 ($31,200 less $4,800, the tax on her $100,000 estate). Yet the wife, during her lifetime, would have been well provided for. She would have had $100,000 (her half of the community estate) plus the income from her husband's half of the community ($100,000 less estate tax thereon of $4,800).

Many a man has worked hard and lived frugally all his life in an attempt to provide for his loved ones long corridors of security stretching far into the future but has cheated them of the full benefits of efforts by failing to plan properly. Perhaps he has failed to make a will. Maybe he has undertaken to write his own will with the result that it fails to take into account contingencies that did not occur to him, or he has prepared a will that is so artlessly drawn that those he loved most became involved in bitter lawsuits. Such legal controversies over estates are wasteful and often leave scars that rankle for years.

The drafting of a will involves the making of decisions requiring special judgment which can be obtained only by years of training and study. Only the practicing lawyer can avoid the innumerable pitfalls and advise the course best suited for each individual. A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters may be obtained by sending your name and address on a postcard to State Bar of Texas, Austin 15, Texas. (This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform not advise.)

Salt.. A Preventative in Heat Sickness

If you work in such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo W. Cox, State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95 degrees and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat lag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating. Alcoholic drinks should be avoided.

Heat cramp is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

"I think there must be something wrong with the old ticker!" It ain't necessarily so. People who consult a doctor because they fear they have heart disease often find their symptoms are of little or no importance. Of course their alertness is worth while because if heart disease is present, it is discovered in time for treatment to do the most good. Also, disease in other parts of the body may be disclosed.

A number of symptoms may point to or be confused with heart disease. The following is a partial list: rapid beating of the heart (palpitation), tiredness which is brought on easily, shortness of breath, pain in the heart and stomach region, fainting, dizziness, trembling, loss of feeling or swelling (edema) of parts of the body, or cold, clammy hands and feet. Medical examination can reassure the patient he's all right or no disease if found or led to early treatment if it is. Prompt, correct treatment of heart ailments in most cases adds years to the life span and permits the patient to lead a happier, more useful life. Several procedures are indispensable to the doctor in examinations of heart disease. First, as in other diseases, the medical history and physical examination are of utmost importance; the patient's complaints contribute much to a correct diagnosis. Several machines give precise information about the heart. The electrocardiograph traces a pattern of the heart's action. With the x-ray machine may be seen the size and shape of the heart, appearance of the heart's chambers and valves, and perhaps defects of the heart and nearby blood vessels. Dyes or opaque substances that will cast an x-ray shadow can be injected into the veins; when they reach the heart, its parts can be seen clearly and in great detail. Interpreting the results of the many varieties of tests made with these machines requires much skill. Some diagnostic methods can be carried out only with the use of special equipment and medical teams that include heart specialists (cardiologists).

Two chief causes of heart diseases are rheumatic fever and high blood pressure (hypertension). The former attacks chiefly children and young adults; the latter, more mature persons, usually 30 years and older.

In the South, rheumatic fever is less common and usually strikes in a milder form. In fact, its mildness may cause its early symptoms to be overlooked completely, with the first evidence lying in a damaged heart. All victims do not have this complication however. Doctors have noticed that rheumatic fever almost always follows a "strep" infection, such as "strep" throat, tonsillitis, erysipelas, scarlet fever, or mild ear infection.

If the attack is mild, symptoms of hot, swollen joints may be taken for rheumatic fever. Children who have rheumatic fever are susceptible to subsequent attacks when exposed again to the germ. Therefore, medicine is to guard in every way by isolating them from others who may have "strep" infection.

High blood pressure yields to conservative measures, such as diet, exercise, and drugs. Many new safe and effective drugs have been developed. Several operations performed carefully selected patients given good results. One removable of a diseased kidney which is known to be responsible for hypertension. Another "sympathectomy", is a part of the sympathetic system, two chains of nerves along each side of the column. Not entirely safe, these nerves supply the glands, smooth muscles, and blood vessels of the body. Early heart ailments, if forward to a longer, more life.

REMEMBER

The following was news August 2, 1934 as published in the Lamb County Leader of that date.

C. O. Robbins was elected public weigher for precinct No. 4 in last Saturday's election. Mr. Robbins received 605 votes and Mr. Matthews 445 votes.

Available returns indicate that former District Judge R. C. Joiner of Plainview was returned to office as judge of the 6th Judicial District in last Saturday's primary.

E. J. Foust, commissioner of Precinct No. 4 and a candidate for re-election, was returned to office without a run-off in last Saturday's election. He defeated Grady W. Simpson and J. P. (Jim) Gibson.

R. D. (Don) Bryant, commissioner of Precinct No. 1, and a candidate for re-election, was returned to office. He defeated W. C. (Dad) Carpenter.

C. A. Daniel, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, and a candidate for re-election, was returned to office. He defeated H. R. Haber.

The final, unofficial tabulation of votes from last Saturday's primary by the Texas Election Bureau accounting for 901,354 votes out of 1,999,999 estimated, showed that Attorney General James A. Allred was leading Tom Hunter by 50,000 votes in the race for governor.

While it is believed that A. H. McGavock will be in the run-off for County Judgeship, this question will not be definitely settled until the vote in Saturday's election is officially canvassed. Figures turned in by the Littlefield Election Board show that Mr. McGavock nosed out O. H. (Dad) Reeves by three votes to be in the run-off with County Judge Simon D. Hay, seeking re-election.

Sheriff Len Irvin, candidate for re-election, defeated C. W. (Jack) Smiley.

Sam Hutson was returned to office as constable of Precinct No. 4 in last Saturday's election. He did not have an opponent.

Judge J. B. Sikes, former justice of the peace for this precinct, was returned to office in last Saturday's election. He defeated T. L. Kimmel, and will succeed in office. Judge B. L. (Josh) Cordill.

Extending thanks to the voters in ads in the Leader of this date were: Ellis Foust, Len Irvin, C. O. Robbins, Simon D. Hay, L. D. Rochelle, Clint Griffin, Mrs. W. P. McDaniel, Roy Gilbert, I. B. (Doc) Holt, G. M. Vann, A. H. McGavock, Charles H. Dean and Roy Gattis.

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the service and burial was in charge of Hammons Funeral Home.

Marking a step forward in their already progressive business career, Garland & White Auto Supply are now doing business in two locations, their old site near the east end of Highway No. 7 paving and the new location, the former Ford Motor Company building.

The recent acquisition of the Dodge and Plymouth Agency for motor cars and trucks, enable them to offer to the motoring public another dependable product in addition to their already numerous lines of automobile merchandise.

Mrs. Eva Florence Maddux, aged 13, wife of J. B. Maddux, passed away at her home five miles east of Littlefield Saturday July 28, at 6 a. m.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon, at 5:30 o'clock at the grave in the Littlefield Cemetery by Bros. Walters and Gregg. Interment, in charge of Hammons Funeral Home took place immediately following.

J. H. Welch, aged 60, of Earth, was instantly killed when the car he was driving, a Ford coupe, collided with the rear of a truck about three miles east of Earth about three o'clock Sunday afternoon. He suffered a crushed chest and other injuries. He is reported to have been returning from a ball game to his home near Earth when the accident occurred.

Mr. Welch was deputy sheriff in Precinct No. 2 under Sheriff Irvin at the time of his death.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hilliard and daughter, Betty Ann, have returned from a month's trip through the southern states. They enjoyed a wonderful trip.

SPICE SYRUP FOR COLA DRINKS
Ingredients: 1/4 cup bitter orange marmalade, 1/3 cup water, 2 tablespoons raisins, 8 whole cloves, 1/2 cup unsweetened canned grapefruit juice.

Method: Put marmalade, water, raisins and cloves in small saucepan. Stir over low heat for 5 minutes. Cool; stir in grapefruit juice; chill until ready to use.
To Serve: Pour 2 tablespoons of the cola syrup over frozen cola cubes in glass; fill glass with chilled cola beverage. Garnish with slice of orange, maraschino cherry and mint. Makes 8 servings.

The night before July Fourth, fill a couple of ice-cube trays with cola, ginger all or any other flavored carbonated beverage you like, and have soft-drink ice cubes all ready to use on the holiday. For best results, chill the beverage in the bottle before you pour it into the tray, then the flavored ice cubes will be "bubbly".

It may be the good summer time to some, but to other young people time hangs mighty heavy on the hands. Lucky kids with parents who have the time and money to travel or to spend a summer at a resort can get away from it all. A change of scenery is good for the morale.

But what about young people whose parents are pinned to jobs that keep them tied to the old homestead? They must stay at home pretty much, except for day-long junkies at neighborhood playgrounds—until Dad decides to take the family in the buggy for the two-weeks-with-pay vacation.

Younger kids go off to camp. Dad and Mother have confidence in camp officials. But when teenage daughters get to the restless age, parents are reluctant to let them vacation away from their watchful eyes.

If you have talent, you might be in luck. One thing that your parents might enjoy for you is a vacation where your special talents are encouraged. There are exciting vacations to be had in summer stock or at music workshops. These are usually chaperoned to the satisfaction of most parents, who are happy that you are learning something while summer fun is in progress.

Such an idea has been worked out at Indian Hill at Stockbridge, Mass., the musical center of the East. The summer camp sponsored by Mrs. Serge Koussevitzky and other music notables is a music workshop camp, with recreation activities, conducted along the lines of a master-apprentice system. The idea is to promote the talents of musically gifted youngsters.

All the members of the faculty are professional artist-teachers. Mordecai Bauman, the director, is a famous baritone. Eve Gentry, noted modern dancer, teaches dancing and choreography. Other teachers include Wallingford Riegger, American composer and award winner, Sidney Harth, violinist who has won the Naumburg and other awards. Seymour Lipkin is guest conductor of the orchestra.

The summer program in Indian Hill is balanced so well all music and no play doesn't make a lot of Jumping Jacks and Jills. In the morning there is chorus singing and piano or voice practice followed by music and art instruction. The early afternoon is free for sports and other activities, except for private lessons if needed. Late afternoon is ensemble practice and opera workshop. Lectures, discussions, recitals and folk dancing takes place in the early evening.

The fee covers room, board, tuition and private lessons. The school term is from July to the end of August. It is a non-profit venture. Several scholarships are awarded each year, through contests judged by music experts. Gifted children who are part of the master-apprentice system are well worth hobnobbing with for inspiration. These include . . .

Ruth Meekler, 16, of Detroit, Mich. She was a first place winner in the adult division of the Chopin Commemorative Contest sponsored by the Detroit Musicians League. At that age she played also the Beethoven Concerto with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. She has given three solo recitals.

Jerome Rosen, 13, of Detroit, Michigan. He, too, has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, in the Beethoven Violin Concerto.

Edith Jerchow, 14, of New York City, is a promising ballet dancer . . . Robert Kreis, 17, of New York has written sonatas, rhapsodies, etc., one of which was performed on a television program.

There are many reasons why Indian Hill and similar ventures should appeal to parents who wish to encourage their children's interests in music.

WATER SHUT-OFF ASKED IN CASE OF FIRE

Frank White, Sudan Fire Chief and City Water Engineer, Friday asked all Sudan citizens to cooperate in event of a fire by turning off all hydrants and sprinkling systems.

White said that there was no immediate indication of a water shortage here, but that storage facilities at this time of the year were inadequate and local water users late in the evenings were using water faster than city pumps would provide it.

With temperatures averaging around 100 degrees daily this week Sudan people are using about 750,000 gallons. White said in recent years he could remember when pumping 50 gallons of water per minute was sufficient for Sudan's water needs. At present he said Sudan facilities were producing about 750 gallons of water per minute.

White pointed out that through use of an emergency valve a small amount of water is retained in the storage tanks for emergencies, but that in the event of fire, unless local water users cooperated by turning off water, a disaster could result.

The accident happened on his ranch. England's famous coronation chair was built in 1300 on orders of Edward I to enclose the famous Stone of Scone which he captured in 1296.

Credit Control Removed By V. A. Office

Veterans Administration this week spelled out what the recent removal of controls on GI loans means to the home buying World War II or Korean veteran.

The action, effectively recently and authorized by the Housing and Home Financing Agency, removes the last vestige of credit controls which were applied to GI loans under the Defense Production Act.

In addition, VA said it has removed restrictions on how the four per cent graduity payment made to veterans who obtain GI loans may be applied.

The graduity payment made by VA made by VA equals four per cent of the guaranteed portion of the GI loan up to a maximum of $160. Previously under credit controls, the graduity had to be applied to reduce the principal amount of the loan.

Now, the lender and the veteran may also apply the gratuity in other ways, for example, to pay the first two or three installments on the loan, or to pay all or part of the first year's taxes and insurance.

The removal of credit controls means that under VA regulations it is now permissible for veterans to obtain GI home loans with no down payment and with a repayment term up to 30 years.

VA emphasized, however, that since VA guaranteed loans are made by private lending institutions, the lender makes the decision as to the terms of the loans it makes.

The amount of down payment and the length of the repayment period are matters to be agreed upon between the veterans and the lending institution making the loan.

Prior to the action removing controls, veterans were required to pay at least 5 per cent down in most cases, and the maximum loan was usually restricted to 20 or 25 years.

Credit controls were first applied to GI loans in 1950 shortly after the beginning of the Korean conflict as an anti-inflationary measure.

Production and Marketing NEWS

Although domestic demand for food and other farm products continues high, seasonal movements and other farm products continues high, seasonal movements and heavy marketings brought a further decline in the average of prices received by farmers during the month ending April 15. Most of the decline was due to lower prices for potatoes, truck crops, and milk. In mid April prices of farm products averaged 11 per cent below a year earlier. Prices paid by farmers for commodities, interest, taxes and wages, off slightly from mid March were only 3 1/2 per cent below April 1952. The parity ratio (ratio of the index of prices received by farmers to prices paid including interest, taxes and wages) declined 1 point over the month to 92 in mid April. This was the lowest since June 1941 and compares with 100 in April last year.

The index of prices received by farmers declined about 2 per cent during the month ending April 15, and was 11 per cent lower than April last year. Truck crop prices dropped 18 per cent from mid March and were 34 per cent less than a year ago. Much of this decline from mid March was due to a sharp reduction in prices of new crop onions in Texas as a result of increased marketings from this year's large crop. But prices were also lower for tomatoes, spinach, cabbage, and lettuce. An 11 per cent drop in prices for "other vegetables" — potatoes, sweet potatoes and dry edible beans—reflect a sharp decline in potato prices. Plentiful supplies of old crop potatoes, coupled with a record early spring crop and prospects for a big late spring crop, continued to depress the market. Although prices for all fruits in the index, except apples and oranges, increased between mid March and mid April, higher prices for strawberries were largely responsible for the 5 per cent increase.

Prices received by farmers for dairy products were down another 5 per cent in the month ending April 15 as milk production on farms increased seasonally. Lower average prices for beef cattle, calves and sheep were almost offset by higher prices for hogs and lambs as the meat animal index eased off about 1 percent. Higher

ANDERSON HOME GUTTED BY FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Anderson was gutted by fire in the wee hours of the morning Tuesday of last week, making the second fire in the home within a year. The house had recently been remodeled after a $5,000 fire damage.

Earth volunteer fire department answered the call at 1:10 a. m., to discover the blaze well under way, apparently originating around the gas water heater. The heater and kitchen range had already egg prices more than offset the decline in prices of chickens and turkeys. In mid April, eggs were nearly 30 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Federal Crop Insurance The deadline is drawing near for reporting your acreage under your Federal Crop Insurance Contract, and several have failed to report their acreage.

We would like to again remind you that June 30, is definitely the final date for reporting your acreage. If not reported by this date your acreage will be estimated by a representative of the corporation and you will be billed for your premium accordingly.

Inasmuch as it is your responsibility to report the seeded acreage on your farm (s) to this office, please review and understand the following. The acreage report must be as nearly correct as possible as far as actual acreage is concerned. Your premium will be computed on your reported acreage unless you have a loss. In the case you report a loss, the corporation will measure the acreage and your indemnity will be paid on the smaller of the report acreage or the corporation's measured acreage. Therefore, if you report the acreage too high and do not have a loss, you will be paying too large a premium. On the other hand, if you report too small an acreage and have a loss, you will be paid on the reported acreage thus not receiving your fair indemnity. Too, your share in the crop and different fields to cotton, whether or not the land is irrigated and total acreage. (If you have more than one field) is all very important and must be reported correctly or you will not receive satisfaction from your insurance.

If you are one of these who has failed to report your acreage, PLEASE DO SO IMMEDIATELY.

Don't Bake Baby

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
Please don't roast your baby in the sun.

Any Mom who uses an oven thermometer in baking should know better than that. But every day one sees little tots broiling in the summer sunshine, with mother sitting under a parasol quite aloof from it all.

An agonizing sunburn can scare a little tot into the shade for a lifetime. But if Mom takes time and energy to instruct her child in the proper procedures of sunbaking, a good time can be had outdoors.

Here are some tips worth observing if baby and Mom plan to enjoy their outdoor sessions this summer:

1. Before your youngster leaves the house have her assemble sunglasses, suntan lotion, a hat with a brim, long coveralls, long-sleeved light-weight blouse, a large Turkish towel.

2. When she arrives at the beach, show her how to apply the suntan lotion.

3. Children who have been sitting in the sun are likely to shiver after a dip in cool water. When she has been blotted with a towel, have a warm sweater ready to keep her from chilling until she warms up again.

4. Bring an alarm clock so exposures to the sun may be timed. Time consuming relaxers such as reading and knitting are likely to take your thoughts from your child until she is scorched. Be sure she wears sunglasses or little cotton eye pads when she is lying down in the sun.

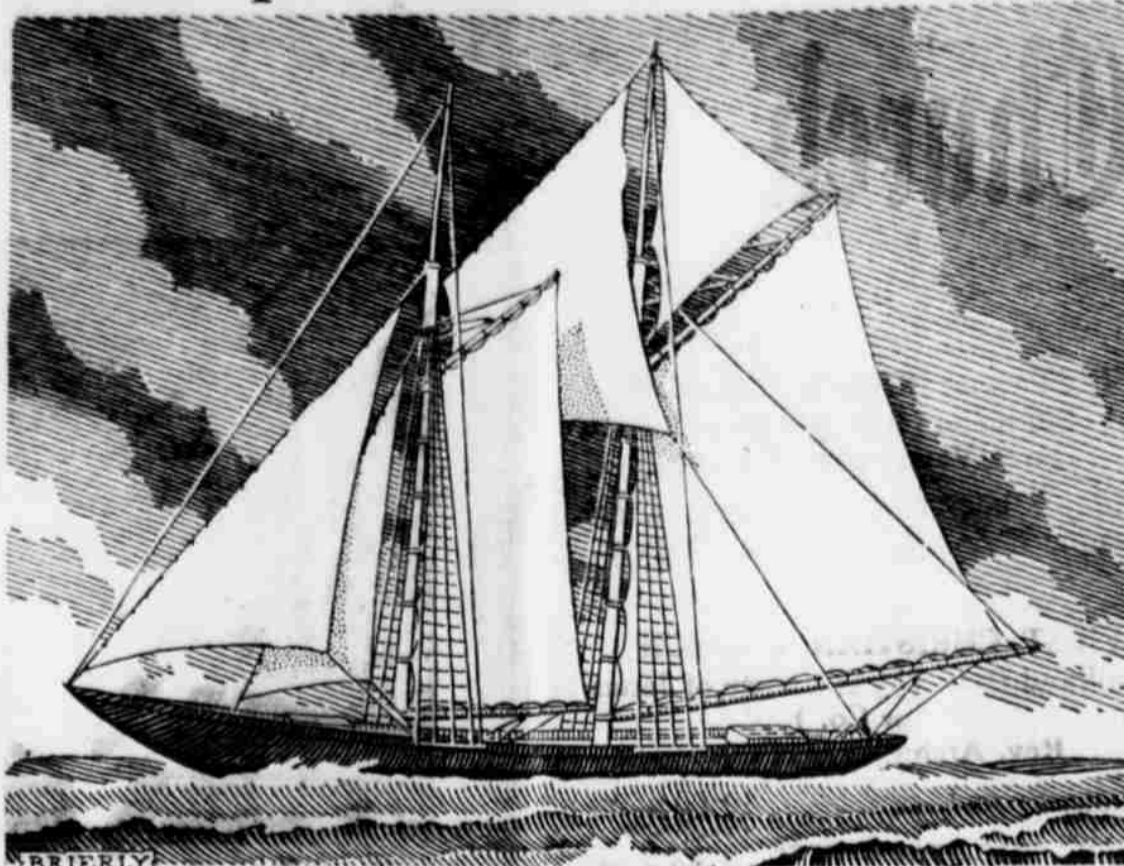

5. Keep her from munching food and drinking icy drinks while she is in the direct sunshine. When it is time to have lunch, sit in a shady spot or under a parasol.

6. Unless she is a good swimmer, train her to ask permission when she wants to wade in the water. It is Mother's job to accompany her youngster in water that is more than ankle-deep.

7. Keep your child calmed down as much as possible. She is likely to become overheated from playing the simplest little games on a hot day.

When choosing beach equipment, make sure that bathing suits will dry easily, that sunglasses are approved by your optician and that suntan lotions are effective and

Ships of America

AP Newsfeatures
Although the oceans had been dominated for years by steam ships, the Gloucester Fishing Fleet still operated mainly under sail, until about 1916. Leaving port for the Grand Banks they often staid out for weeks. Upon reaching the fishing grounds, all but the captain and cook took to the dories, set their trawls, anchoring one end; then went back, hauling in the fish. The schooner followed along, picking up each dory with its catch at the end of the day. There were risks in this business. Sometimes a dory was lost in the fog and sometimes, cut in two and sent to the bottom in this same deadly fog, by an ocean liner. After the catch was complete, all sail was set, to be the first home and to get the best prices. The necessity for speed created the Knockabout Fishing Schooner, with lines like a yacht and a long bow overhang in place of a bowsprit, making it easier and safer to furl headsails in rough weather. The Helen B. Thomas (in the sketch), built in Essex, Mass. 1901-2 was the first of the "knockabouts".

"WHAT A SWIMMING HOLE THIS WOULD MAKE" the thoughts of Wayne Long, right, Monahan, Tex. member of Commerce Tourist Promotion Chairman, as he contemplates the future uses of the city's recently acquired 45 million gallon concrete tank with O. G. Rudy, Chamber of Commerce president. The tank was leased to the city for $100 a month by the Shell Oil Company after being empty since oil production here some 22 years ago. If the water problem can be solved, the city may seriously consider use of the tub as a swimming hole.

BATHING BEAUTIES... Mother and daughter enjoy the beach protected from sun's harmful rays with liberal use of suntan lotion and a parasol.

How to Make the Most Of Summer Leg Lure

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

The lure of legs is as old as man. So it behooves every would-be charmer to be conscious of her limbs. Summertime casts a magic spell over a woman's charms. So don't let the boys down. They'll expect your bare legs to be smooth and lovely as they envision them in your nylons.

It is not an easy task to keep legs defuzzed and pretty.

The average girl takes her choice of hair removal instruments and products with an eye to speed and practicability. Creamy pastes, unices, electric razors and safety razors are popular depilators. Here are essential facts about the use of these, especially for neophytes:

1. Creamy pastes are applied according to directions on the package, and these are effective only if the proper time elapses before the goo is washed off (usually by holding legs under lukewarm water in bathtub or shower.)

pure. The American Medical Association Committee on Cosmetics has put its stamp of approval on certain protective lotions especially good for tender-skinned children.

2. Pumices are nuisance to most people and the abrasive may be irritating to some skins. Pumices must be used skillfully with a light deft touch for best results.

3. The safety razor requires a good steady hand to avoid nicks and scratches, and it should be used after soap or feminine cosmetic made for the purpose is applied to lather the skin. The razor should be used carefully, never quickly, to accomplish good results.

4. The electric razor is quick and easy to use and is preferred by many women. But the man of the house owns the razor usually, and unless he can be convinced

Man Finds Pitfalls Driving 70 Years

But this spring, Snell failed to get his automobile license and found it difficult to get to the track. In Main, a person over 80 must take an annual test for a driver's license.

Al Snell had another sad story. He had to retire his 13-year-old standardbred for 10 years. Snell says Trampholm was out of the money only once in the past seven years.

However, things may be looking up for Snell.

Armand La Pointe of Auburn, owner of Doctor Hilldale, has been transporting Snell and the horse to the track.

80-year-old harness driver Al Snell has been a harness driver for 70 years.

Pitcher's Thrills

By BOBBY SHANTZ
As Told to Frank Eck
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

My greatest thrill in baseball was a home run I hit in Yankee Stadium in 1950 against Allie Reynolds.

That day I was a relief pitcher in a losing cause. The Yankees beat the Athletics, 7-2.

It was the only home run I ever hit in baseball.

Winning the American League Most Valuable Player prize last season gave me a big thrill. I won 24 games but I'd like to say that my teammates deserve a lot of credit. They always seem to play inspired ball.

My first All-Star game gave me a kick even though it went only five innings in the rain. But it isn't every day that a fellow can strike out fellows like Whitey Lockman, Jack Robinson and Stan Musial in Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia.

I got another kick last year when I beat the Yankees in 14 innings. Casey Stengel has been saying that everybody wants to beat the Yankees. Well, why not? They are the champions.

Will Europe Get Middleweight Boxing Crown?

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—One thing is certain regarding the American middleweight championship bout between Paddy Young and Carl (Bobo) Olson.

Nobody will accuse either of them being another Ray Robinson, Tony Zale or Mickey Walker. Or to go back still further, they cannot be confused with Harry Greb or Stanley Ketchell.

BOBO OLSON

PADDY YOUNG

Young is a tough righter. He holds permanent possession of Ernie Durando, says the boys in the trade. He has beaten Durando three times in five meetings. Of the other Durando meetings one was a loss and the other a draw, both in 1951.

Had Rugged Year
Young had a rugged year in 1951. He was also knocked out by Eugene Harrison in two rounds.

Paddy also lost eight bouts during his career which began in 1946 at the age of 17. He's now 24. Besides losing to a pair of practically unknowns like Tony Viserto and Fred Menna he has bowed to Tony Pellone, Laurent Dauthille and Kid Gavilan and has been stopped by Hairston and Tuzo Portuquez.

Olson, a native of Honolulu, has been beaten five times but his victors have had class. He lost to Ray Robinson in a 15-round title bout in San Francisco in 1952 and in 1950, Robby knocked him out in 12 rounds. Olson also has bowed twice to Dave Sands and once to George Duke.

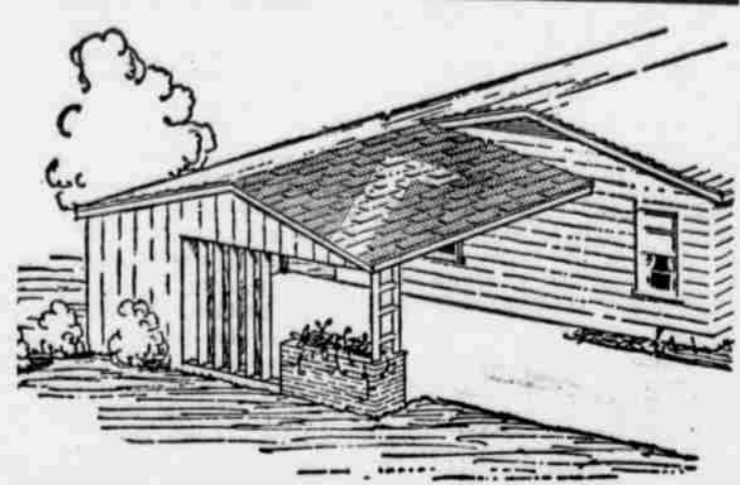

Robinson's retirement has left the middleweight situation in a muddle. The winner of Friday (June 19) night's Madison Square Garden fight will meet Randy Turpin, possibly here in September for the world's middleweight crown.

Chances Are Slim
The chances are neither Young nor Olson will be able to handle Europe's champion. If such happens it will be the first time a European will have held the title since Marcel Cerdan whipped Tony

City, N. J. Cerdan knocked out Zale in 12 rounds.

The Frenchman, one of Europe's greatest fighters of recent years, lost his crown to Jake LaMotta on June 16, 1949, at Detroit. Cerdan hurt his shoulder early in the bout but continued a one-armed fight as long as he could. He was unable to come out for the 10th round and LaMotta was credited with a KO.

This was Cerdan's last contest. He was killed in a plane crash a few months later.

Bad Case of the "Ztutters"

From where I sit, people are like that sometimes. They often don't know when to stop. Like those who are prejudiced against someone with an accent, perhaps ... or against someone who likes a cool bottle of beer with his supper. So, in these columns I try to persuade everyone to "throw the switch" on prejudice so it won't get repeated.

Hearing To Start In Washington On House Bill 5655 On Cotton Allotments

"Cotton's New Frontiers" will be discussed at length by many of the leading industry men from throughout the nation's cotton-producing area when the American Cotton Congress meets in Lubbock, Texas on June 25, 26 and 27. All phases of the cotton industry will receive their share of attention during the sessions which are held annually to exchange ideas and discuss "What's new in the cotton industry."

Highlighting the three-day program will be important address which will be given by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. This talk has been tentatively scheduled for Saturday, June 27. Secretary Benson told the Congress planning committee that he would be pleased to address the open meeting. In the event that emergency world conditions prohibit Secretary Benson from leaving Washington, he will send Under Secretary of Agriculture T. D. Morse to deliver his speech.

Various individual phases of the cotton industry will be represented on the distinguished panel of speakers who have been invited to present papers to the seated sessions and lead the discussions. These men will introduce many of the newest developments in the cotton industry and discuss some of the problems which are being faced by the industry.

Among those invited to participate on the speakers' program are: Bryan T. Shaw, of the Agriculture Research Administration, Washington, D. C.; Dr. N. K. Horn, chief economist of the American Cotton Council, Memphis, Tenn.; W. A. Sibley, South Carolina cotton manufacturer; Earle Heard, a member of the cotton mill industry from West Point, Georgia; and W. B. (Bill) Coberly, cotton seed crushing expert from Los Angeles, California.

Two tours have been scheduled for the visitors. These will include stops at several of the larger area cotton farms, a gin, the State Experiment Station where many of the newest production methods have been developed and Lubbock's cotton oil mills which have a combined daily capacity for processing 1,600 tons of cotton seed, the largest production of any city in the world.

During the final day of the Congress, June 27, the delegates and other visitors will be taken on a tour of the Textile Engineering Department of Texas Technological College and the laboratories of the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, Fibers Branch, on the Tech campus. While on the campus the visitors will see the complete manufacturing progress from the raw cotton stage through the woven cloth. Technicians will also run tests for fiber strength and color durability.

A large stationary display of the latest machinery and implements will be arranged on the campus for the public to inspect.

The theme of this year's American Cotton Congress, "Cotton's New Frontiers", was selected by the committee because of the site of this year's meeting—Lubbock and the South Plains of Texas. Burris Jackson, general chairman for the Congress, said that this area has developed into the "gold nugget" of the cotton industry within the last seven years, and is in reality the most productive "new Frontier" of the entire cotton industry. He pointed out that within a 75-mile radius of Lubbock approximately one-tenth of the nation's cotton is produced. Final 1962 crop ginning figures show that the 20-county Texas South Plains produced 1,444,010 bales of the staple.
