

PHONE BUILDING PROPOSED

General Rain All Over South Plains Is Reported

MANY OTHER IMPROVEMENTS ARE DISCUSSED

Favorable Vote of 85 Per Cent of Subscribers Necessary

The installation of a common battery system and the erection of a modern fireproof telephone building are proposed for Littlefield by the Southwestern Associated Telephone company.

If present plans are carried out a large modern brick building will be erected on the Telephone company site, on the point to the rear of the Home Bakery.

With this class of equipment, the necessity of cranking would go in discard, as a mere lifting of the receiver will signal the operator. Speed will be greatly enhanced. Another feature of the new system will be that the large unsightly wall telephones will, of necessity, be replaced with smaller or more attractive types.

In addition to the installation of this more modern equipment, the erection of a new fireproof telephone office will be a creditable addition to Littlefield's rapidly expanding business section. The Telephone company's program will effectively blend with the importance and growth of Littlefield as a civic center. This improvement will represent considerable capital, in that all the old equipment will be entirely replaced with new equipment of greater value.

According to officials of the Telephone company, in order to offset the higher investment in purchasing new equipment and to overcome the costs of increased maintenance resulting from the operation of more costly and delicate equipment, a slight increase in rates will be necessary.

To place the matter before the public, postal cards indicating the present and proposed rates are being sent local subscribers. Service may be enjoyed at the present rate, according to Telephone officials, provided appropriate selective line service is used, and it is desired that selective line service such as this be not confused with the customary two-three and four rings, common to rural lines. This method is termed selective ringing, which means that a subscriber's bell does not ring unless he is being called.

Subscribers are requested to vote "yes" or "no" on the postal cards.

"The establishing of the new service and the erecting of the new building," said R. B. Fairly, vice-president and general manager of the company, "depends on a favorable vote of 85 per cent of our Littlefield subscribers. This, then, is your opportunity to vote on a matter vital to the interests of the community in which you live."

Court Approves Unemployment Ins. Provision Of Act

The Supreme Court held constitutional Monday the unemployment insurance provisions of the social security act.

Justice Cardozo delivered the opinion, which affirmed a ruling in favor of the legislation by the fifth circuit court of appeals and gave the administration another victory.

The unemployment insurance provisions taxed employers of more than eight persons to assist in caring for the jobless and provide a fund against economic depression.

The final rulings on validity of social security act providing old age pensions are yet to come.

NEARLY FOUR INCHES RAIN FALLS HERE

Most Moisture Received At One Time In Past Four Years

Starting with a slow rain Sunday afternoon about 3:30, a steady downpour developed, which lasted, with the exception of short intervals, until early Tuesday morning, when 3.65-100 inches had fallen. Sunday and during that night it rained 2.15-100 inches, and Monday and Monday night 1.1-2 inches.

According to the official weather reporter, L. C. Cawthorn, this is the greatest amount of moisture received at one time in the past four years, or since he has been taking care of the rain gauge. Mr. Cawthorn stated that the gauge ran over for the first time Sunday night.

Although considerable damage was done by the heavy rain and electrical storms, which will necessitate replanting some of the cotton crop, the moisture was more than welcome to this section. It is generally conceded by the farmers of this section that this moisture has prepared a much better season than the average for this time of the year. The feed crops are believed to be in excellent shape, most of it being up.

The Texas-New Mexico Utilities company had considerable repair work to do to the wiring caused by the storm, necessitating lights being turned off for short periods on two or three occasions. Forty telephones in Littlefield were put out of commission by the storm, and workmen were still busy Wednesday morning repairing same.

The rain was reported general over the South Plains. Sudan reported 3.1-2 inches, Amherst 4.1-2, Olton 4.1-2 inches and Antan 6 inches.

Morton reported more than 5 inches with a similar precipitation over all Cochran county. Floydada's moisture was 3 inches, Silvertown between 3 and 4 inches, Qutanua 2 inches. From Lubbock to Texico the precipitation ranged from 2 to 4 inches, with Canyon and Amarillo reporting about 1.1-2 inches, Hale Center 4.1-2 inches, Brownfield 3, Bledsoe 4 inches and Leveland 3 inches.

HOLDS THERE IS NO PRIORITY TO BONDS ISSUED

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson Rules All Bond Holders On Par

In the case of the Bankers Life Insurance company of Des Moines, Ia. vs. the City of Littlefield, Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, in the United States Court, Lubbock, Friday, denied the plaintiff's petition, and ruled that there was no priority, and that all bond holders were on a par with each other.

In investigating the cause of the above suit, those familiar with the facts report that the Bankers Life company, in the early days, when the first water works bonds were issued, that there was a tax of 83 cents levied per $100 valuation, to pay that particular issue of bonds. Later on, the city issued other bonds. Recently the Bankers Life brought the above suit to try to establish the fact that their bonds were a prior lien upon the taxes of the city, and held priority over these subsequent issues, and also tried to Mandamus the city to set aside the 83 cents tax for the payment of their bonds only. As above, the judge ruled there was no priority, and all bonds were on a par with each other, holding that the party who bought the last bonds has equal rights with the company who bought the first issue.

The above case is now believed to be closed unless the plaintiff appeals it.

Leashed Guns of Circle L

by Perry Westbrook

FIFTH INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS: Slim Loyale is paroled from prison after serving 18 months for a crime he did not commit. He returns to his Circle L ranch to father dead and sinister forces at work, trying to make him violate his parole so that he can again be railroaded to prison. The Brockwells and their gang are plotting to gain possession of Circle L ranch and the property of Mona Hall, a neighbor and lifelong friend of Slim Loyale. Slim discovers that Sheriff Starbuck has joined the plot against him. With the help of Dakota Blue and his cowboys, Slim Loyale defies the land-grabbers to do their worst.

He only knew that he had this hated fellow where he wanted him, and that a keen, savage joy flooded him every time his flailing fists found their mark.

He was insensible to the fact that Mona was tugging and crying at him. And even when Abe Fornachon, at the frantic behest of Mona, grabbed Slim by the shoulders and dragged him from his prey, Slim still fought.

But the foreman was powerful. Between him and Mona, they finally got Slim into a chair, where Mona retained him by the simple method of sitting on his lap and wrapping both arms about his neck, at the same time pleading with tearful words.

"Slim!" she cried. "Slim, you don't know what you are doing. They'll take you back — back to Jarillo."

Abe Fornachon, who had been leaning over Leo Brockwell, securing his guns, now looked up. There was a queen pain in Abe's eyes as he watched Mona.

"Not this time they won't Miss Mona," he said quietly. "Remember: if anybody goes to askin' questions, it was me who hit Brockwell—not Slim."

These words, more than anything else, served to quiet Slim. Suddenly the hard-strung tauntress went out of him and he sagged wearily. "I—I'm sorry Mona," he panted. "I reckon I shouldn't have paid no attention to him. But I'm all raw inside, an' that dawg drives me loco! Abe, I'm shore findin' out who my friends are. However, I can't let yuh take the blame on yore shoulders."

"Yuh shut up an' be good," growled Abe gruffly. "Brockwell had it comin' to him. Was I in yore place I'd been just as red-eyed."

With none too gentle power, Abe dragged Leo Brockwell erect and slammed him into a chair. Leo's eyes were glassy and his head rolling, but consciousness was returning. Slowly the light of complete comprehension shined in his eyes, and his bruised, swollen face twisted into a mask of hate and rage.

"When Starbuck hears of this — of this," he gasped, "yore all through, Loyale, yuh damned ex—" Abe Fornachon shook him roughly. "Best thing yuh can do, is close yore mouth an' keep it so, Brockwell. If Starbuck comes snoopin' around here I'll tell him it was me who whaled yuh, not Slim. Now yuh take yore rotten poison off this ranch an' stay off. I told yuh somethin'; get goin'!"

Leo Brockwell went, with Abe Fornachon in close attendance. As the door closed behind them, Mona awoke suddenly to the somewhat embarrassing position she had taken, and slipped away from Slim, faint color whipping through her cheeks.

Slim did not appear to notice her confusion. His head was bent and his eyes staring at the floor. "Mebbe it'd been best if he had plugged me," he said heavily. "Seems like all I'm good for now is to be a liability to my friends. Shore, they can't pack my load forever. Better I reckon that Starbuck should take me back to Jarillo."

Mona stamped her foot. "Stop that kind of talk, Slim Loyale. You're no quitter. You've got a hard fight ahead, but it's worth while, isn't it? You see how your real friends feel about it. They are willing to back you to the limit, believing in you utterly. And if you don't do your part you are throwing them down, rendering their faith in you a worthless, empty thing."

Slim's head came up slowly. "You're right, Mona," he agreed grimly. "I never guessed what real friendship meant until now. Shore, I'll play the game. Dakota Blue tells me that Leo Brockwell has been hangin' around yuh a lot. That don't mean yuh care in particular about him, does it?"

"Does it appear like it?" she retorted. "No, I don't care for him; I should say not. He gives me the shivers, always did. But I've got to get money from somewhere, things have been going so bad for me. And I've been tolerating him merely to put over this sale of stock that Abe was talking with him about. I—I guess it's all off now."

Mona's shoulders sagged a little wearily. Slim stood up and went over to her. "My friends ain't haluin' at nothin' to help me," he stated quietly. "An' I ain't gonna halt at nothin' to help them. How much money

Sunnen Pin Hole Grinder

Has Been Installed to Offer Our Customers the METHOD of . . .

Positive Accuracy In Pin Fitting!

With this equipment we can produce every time—a "run in" fit, free from high spots, free from bell-mouth with absolute bearing surface — and with perfect alignment of bosses.

Sunnen fit pins give thousands of miles of extra service. Sunnen fit pins will not begin to "click" after a few hundred miles of service.

Stop in our shop and let us show you how and why the Sunnen Pin Hole Grinder offers positive accuracy in pin fitting.

With this new equipment it is possible to grind and finish any size hole from .480" to 2.400" and to handle hydraulic brake cylinders.

The REAMER Method

requires a tight fit because of high spots caused by reamer chatter.

These spots vary in height from .001½ inch to .002 inch, depending upon condition of reamer. With this method a tight fit is proper since the depressions between the high spots act as oil pockets and provide some lubrication.

The SUNNEN Method

requires a "free" fit because the hole is finished perfectly round, ("run in fit"), free from high spots and with nearly 100% bearing surface.

With nearly 100% bearing surface a Sunnen-ground hole will show less wear over an equal period of time because it provides more wearing surface to resist wear.

CORRECTION

In the news item last week in the Leader reporting the filing of an order calling for an election to determine if the County Seat shall be changed from Olton to Littlefield, and relating to a meeting of the City Commission at the City Hall, at which the City Commission agreed among themselves to lease the City Hall to the County as a court house, a number of people seems to have gotten the impression that the members of the County Commission were present at the meeting. The Leader did not mean to leave this impression, as it is the understanding of this newspaper that no members of the County Commission were present, but that it was a meeting between the members of the Commission of the City of Littlefield. We trust this explanation will clear up any misunderstanding in regard to the matter, and regret that the news item was misconstrued.—LAMB COUNTY LEADER.

SEEING IS A COMPLEXITY

Eyes are our most complex and useful sense-organ. The visual sense is our most complex and useful sensory process. Seeing is our most universal and valuable controllable activity. Seeing is nearly as complex as living and it is responsible for most of our experiences and therefore knowledge; and for most of our usefulness and, therefore happiness.

How good we can see means nothing about our visual efficiency. Eye corrections when properly applied are intended to balance the visual act. Incidentally, they often improve vision—Often they do not—But simply make comfortable a pair of straining eyes.

Sunday afternoon at the local baseball park, the fast improving Littlefield nine met the strong Amherst Red Pants in what turned out to be one of the most brilliant and thrilling pitching duels seen thus far on the South Plains this season.

To the great satisfaction of the local fans, the Littlefield club proved that they were sure to regain the high position they once held in baseball circles of this section.

THE
OUTLOOK

By G. B. Alquire

Prices for broomcorn, as with all other farm products at marketing time, are governed largely by supply and demand and there is no set rule by which to measure profits at planting time. Only a general outlook, based on existing conditions, can be forecast.

The broomcorn required yearly to meet domestic and foreign consumption, is around 60,000 tons and about 300,000 acres normally are required each year to produce this amount. During the past two years, a normal acreage has been planted in the five commercially producing States but because of unfavorable weather conditions, the tonnage produced has been far short of consumer needs. So much so, in fact, that our carryover stocks this spring are estimated as low as 8,000 tons by the trade as compared with normal carryover stocks of around 25,000 tons. The outlook, therefore, for fair price returns for early broomcorn seems almost certain. The season's production later will factor in sustaining present high price levels or tend to lower price levels, depending entirely on the final acreage planted and growing conditions for the crop during the next 90 days.

The present outlook is for a reduced acreage this year in Illinois, Oklahoma and Colorado with about the same planting interest as last year in Texas and New Mexico. The high prices for feed stuffs and grain and planting interest in cotton is diverting interest to these major crops and less broomcorn, while in Colorado, weather conditions have materially cut planting prospects. The "dust bowl" of Colorado, Kansas and Western Oklahoma, in years past, has produced almost one half of the broomcorn produced in the U. S. Whether this section will produce much broomcorn this year is problematical. In fact the acreage outlook for this year to date is decidedly favorable for maintaining present high price levels for broomcorn.

A material increase in broomcorn acreage here on the Plains this year appears inviting and should prove more profitable to growers than most any other cash crop. Present prices, for best Lindsay standard broomcorn are around $225.00 per ton—the highest in many years and with minimum carryover supplies and moderate planting intentions on the part of farmers, the price outlook for broomcorn at this time is exceedingly good. The best broomcorn raised around Littlefield last year sold from $170.00 to $200.00 per ton throughout the season and instances were common where farmers cleared over $40.00 per ton on this profitable cash crop.

That's me—Your Mileage Merchant

I'LL OIL-PLATE YOUR ENGINE

Nobody but a Conoco Mileage Merchant like me can Oil-Plate your engine, because nobody else can change you to Conoco Germ Processed oil. There's a patent on it. The Germ Process is not like all the processes that "take away" from an oil—sort of like making skim milk. Instead of that, after the oil is refined in every right way, something altogether extra is put in Germ Processed oil. This is a great discovery, because then a genuine plating of oil is able to form in your engine. If you would imagine a slippery skin of oil really grown to every working surface—and not just floating around—that's a picture of Oil-Plating. A plating can't flow down while your car is parked, so you won't punish your Oil-Plated engine doing all the stopping and starting you please. Or if you're hitting a pace all day—maybe even pulling a trailer up the mountains—it does not make Oil-Plating rub away. That's letting you out of all the worst wear, at the same time that your Conoco Germ Processed oil is saving you quart after quart.

INTERESTING BOOKLET ISSUED BY THAXTON DESCENDENT ON FAMILY HISTORY AND REUNION

A very interesting booklet, in the possession of W. C. Thaxton of Thaxton Hardware, was noted by the Leader this week, which contains a brief sketch or history of the Thaxton family, which it has taken W. G. McDonough of McMinnville, Tenn., (connection of the Thaxton family) more than three years to compile.

It contains the fact that Mr. McDonough has written hundreds of letters, spent much time, money and energy to bring up to date a complete record of the family.

W. C. and Ewing Thaxton of this city were born at Thaxton, Miss., which was named after their father, Dr. Montgomery G. Thaxton, who was born in McMinnville, Tenn. The Thaxton Brothers of this city, in the course of time, moved from Thaxton, Miss., to Clyde, Texas, later locating in Littlefield in 1929.

On the first page of the booklet is found a notice of the holding of the eleventh annual Thaxton reunion which will be held at Thaxton, Warren county, Tennessee, Sunday, June 26, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. on the lawn of the Mt. Zion Methodist Church South.

The item further states: "Thaxton, Tenn., formerly a post office, is located nine miles south of McMinnville, and four miles northeast of Viola. The early settlers assisted in establishing the Mt. Zion Methodist Church there, and the ground on which the reunion will be held was used by them as a place of worship. In the old Cope cemetery, one-half mile north, John Thaxton and others of his family are buried. Just across the road from the reunion scene is the Mt. Zion cemetery, where more than 100 Thaxtons are buried.

"This occasion will not only be a reunion but a Thaxton homecoming. Those attending this reunion will be among the scenes of their pioneer ancestors, and many to the scenes of their younger days. At noon a sumptuous dinner will be served under the giant oaks. The dinner for this occasion is furnished by the Thaxtons residing within 150 miles of the reunion scene. Those living a greater distance are their dinner guests. All persons who are descendants of the early Thaxton settlers in Warren county, together with their wives and husbands, are invited and urged to attend. This is the first reunion at this place, and we want you and your entire family to join the Thaxton family circle on that day for the most enjoyable event of your lives."

The sketch of the Thaxton family starts off as follows:

"The name Thaxton is of early English origin. From the records in London, England, it appears that the family prior to the 17th century, resided in the counties of York and Norfolk, England. The name is frequently spelled in the old English records as Thekeston, Thexton and Thackston. The record of the College of Arms, London, shows that on the 21st day of February, 1857, the following arms, "Ermine a fret pale guies and azure," were entered to one Richard Thekeston of Thekeston in the Wapentake of Halykeld, Richmond county, York, England. There is also found on the records attributing the following arms to the family of Thackston or Thexton of Trunch in the county of Norfolk, England, early family in Virginia used the latter method while many in North Carolina used Thaxton. A search of the Revolutionary and other colonial war records in the United States reveals that the members of the Thaxton or Thackston family were loyal to the cause of American independence and other colonial conflicts.

In the following excerpt from the booklet Dr. Montgomery, father of W. C. and Ewing Thaxton of this city mentioned as follows:

"Wilburn Thaxton was first married to a Miss Cromer, sister of the later Rev. A. L. Cromer, pioneer Methodist minister of Warren county, and died upon the birth of her first child. Both mother and child are buried in the old Cope cemetery near Thaxton. His second marriage was to Susie Hash of Rock Island, Tenn. His children by this marriage were: Dr. Montgomery Campbell Thaxton; Eloha Carter Thaxton; Ewing Thaxton; Callie Thaxton, who married John Boyd; Laura Thaxton, who married William Thomas Rodgers; Mary Thax-

—COOL FOR COMFORT AND REAL SUMMER STYLE

We repeat—there's no other suit fabric that gives the same summer satisfaction as pure, light weight wool. Wool is a natural body covering fabric. Its long fibers weave into soft, long-lived materials that resist heat and cold—moisture and wear. Woolen fibers are filled with tiny air cells that insulate against outside temperature changes. Wool is absorbent—it never feels sticky and clammy and it lets the body breathe on the hottest days. Wool is elastic—it takes the stretch and strain of everyday wear yet springs back into shape—thus adding months to the life of the suit. Complete your summer wardrobe with one or more of these moderately priced Curlee Airhavens. And remember they're backed by Curlee's thirty years of experience in making suits for discriminating men.

ton, who married Howard Hudson; Euphrates Thaxton, who married John Harding; Adaline Thaxton, who married a Stroud; and Melvina Thaxton, who married a Chism. Wilburn Thaxton made his home near Cannon, Warren county, Tennessee, until later in life, when he and his wife went to Thaxton, Miss., where they resided with their son, Dr. Montgomery G. Thaxton. They are both buried in the cemetery there. Thaxton, Miss., was named for Dr. Thaxton. Many of the descendants of Wilburn Thaxton are found in various parts of the nation and have played a prominent part in the professional, business and religious life of their respective communities.

The whole booklet is very interesting indeed and contains various branches of the Thaxton tree.

The booklet shows illustrations of reunions held, Mt. Zion Methodist church scenes, etc. and eight pages of names and addresses of descendants of the Thaxton family.

The author of the booklet, W. G. McDonough urges any of the Thaxton descendants, who have not already done so, to send to him at McMinnville, Tenn. all data to bring the branch of your family up to date, including name, date and place of birth, to whom married, date and place names of children and dates of birth, etc.
