L. A. RATLIFF TO BE CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Serves As Peace Officer For Many Years

L. A. Ratliff, at present serving as Constable of Precinct No. 4, having been elected at a special election in September last, announced Wednesday that he would be a candidate to succeed himself.

Mr. Ratliff has served as a law enforcement officer for many years, having filled such office in Runnels and Bell counties, before locating in this section, where he has served as both County and City peace officer for nine years.

This long period of service has given him a very extensive knowledge of the operations of law violators and the best methods to employ in their apprehension and conviction.

In announcing with the Leader, Mr. Ratliff said:

"My liking for my work causes me to enter into my duties day in and day out with enthusiasm. It also causes me to remember my duties as an officer first and to place as secondary all thought of myself, or the matter of financial remuneration. As your Constable I have endeavored at all times to exercise my duties in a manner which I believe was in the best interests of law and order, and in a way which would keep our county clean.

"I appreciate very much the support and cooperation of my friends and the voters of this precinct in the past, for which I truly thank each of you, and if you think I am worthy of your continued support, I will deeply appreciate your vote and influence at the coming primary in July.

Saturday Is Dead Line For Soft Ball Entries

MUST FILE APPLICATIONS FOR SUBSIDY PAYMENTS BEFORE MAY 2

The Littlefield Fire Department and the Watson Producers are the only two old teams who have filed their application for membership in the league this year. New teams filing applications are: West Texas Gas company, Littlefield CCC camp, and Littlefield Poultry and Egg company. The committee will meet Monday to certify the application of each team.

LOWRIMORE & IRVIN GIN COMPANY TO OPEN PLANT HERE IN FEW DAYS

Lowrimore & Irvin Gin company, local ginners, completed a deal the later part of last week for the opening of a cotton seed delinting plant in Littlefield.

Leonard Irvin, manager of the local concern, stated that construction on the building to house the machinery for the new plant had already started, and actual operation would start about April 30th.

Plans are being made to operate the plant both day and night during the cotton planting season. The local plant has a capacity of approximately 1500 pounds per hour.

"Delinted cotton seed may be planted with any corn planter, and from 5 to 7 pounds will plant one acre," Mr. Irvin said in discussing the advantages of the delinted seed.

"Too, the delinted seed matures earlier and give the farmer a maximum stand in the shortest possible time. The delinted process also kills all bacteria and fungi of costly cotton disease."

The Littlefield plant will be operated on a custom basis.

CAMPAIGN ORATORY

The long-range weather forecasters are predicting a rainy Summer. If that is true, the attendance upon political mass-meetings may be diminished; but unless the weather includes so many thunderstorms that we won't be able to get much but static out of our receiving sets, we are due for the greatest volume and variety of oratory that we have ever heard.

In the past three Presidential elections radio has played a great and increasing part. This year it will be more of factor than ever. There are more receiving sets, and more broadcasting stations, for one thing. Also, the modern sets are better than those of 1932. Four years ago there were about 12 million sets in use; now the radio people say there are double that number. It is certain that more voters will hear the voices of the candidates and their spokesmen this year than have ever been talked to in any previous campaign.

One definite advantage, from the public's point of view, of campaign oratory by radio, is that the speaker has to say whatever he has to say inside of a definite time limit. Also, it is easier to sit at home and listen than to go to a "rally".

A disadvantage is that one misses the crowd enthusiasm, and can't see the orator's funny gestures and facial expressions. There is an emotional appeal in old fashioned campaign oratory that the radio cannot replace. Perhaps that makes for more intelligent and less emotional decisions by voters.

From the orator's point of view, the radio is a disadvantage, also. He can't make the same speech twice!

J. T. Reece, agricultural superintendent of the C. C. camp, was admitted Friday suffering from flu. He is reported better.

Miss Maurine Irvin underwent a minor operation Saturday, and was confined a couple of days in the hospital.

Mrs. C. A. Wood of Littlefield, who underwent an appendicitis operation April 11, is getting along nicely, and returned to her home Sunday.

Lieut. Bankert is still confined to the hospital suffering from bronchitis.

Joy Bounds, aged 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bounds of three miles west of Sudan, who was admitted on Tuesday of last week seriously ill with pneumonia, is getting along better. She was given oxygen, and it was also necessary for a tube to be put in her side to drain the lung affected.

Funeral Services Held Saturday For Judge R. C. Joiner

Judge H. C. Joiner, 72, judge of the 84th judicial district, passed away at his home in Plainview Friday, as a result of pneumonia.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday at the First Baptist church, Plainview, with interment in the local cemetery.

Judge Joiner was among the most prominent jurists in the Panhandle. He was appointed to the district bench in 1915, and re-elected to the position many times until his defeat in 1927 by Judge Charles Clements. In 1934 he again ran against Judge Clements, and this time was victorious.

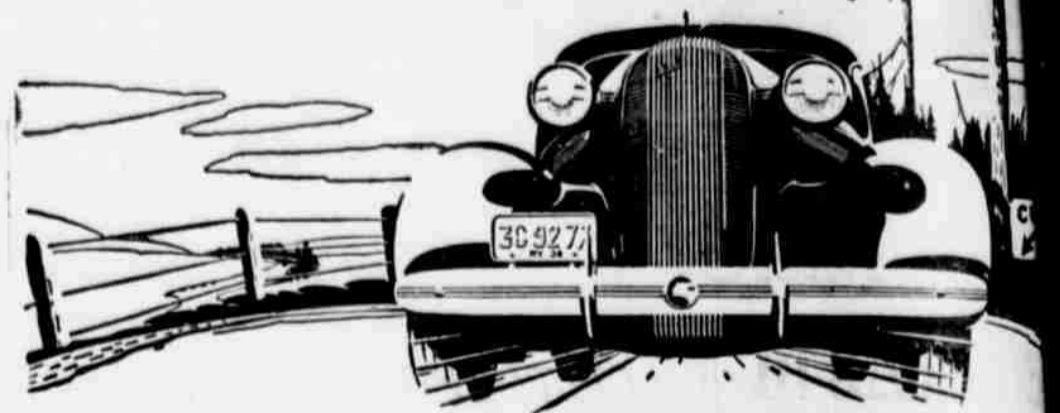

He served as district attorney of the old 42nd judicial district earlier in his life.

Centennial Year Events Stimulate Travel In Texas

Dallas, Texas, April 7.—Centennial year travel in Texas is under way in rapidly increasing volume, according to reports received from all parts of the state by the department of information for Texas Centennial celebrations.

More out of state motor cars are reported on Texas highways today than at any time in the past. All travel agencies report greatly increased demands for service. In addition Texans are traveling in increased numbers, stimulated to do so by the many Centennial celebrations being held each month. Thirty-five Centennial celebrations are scheduled this month.

Record breaking crowds have attended all Centennial celebrations held to date. As the vacation season arrives thousands of Texas families are expected to take to the highways to "travel Texas" this summer. These travelers, augmented in number by thousands of out-of-state visitors, will make 1936 the greatest travel year in the Lone Star State's history.

A selected group of students from the Department of Journalism of Texas Christian University will have editorial charge of The Cleburne Times-Review for the issue of Monday, May 4.

Spur is the first town to enter the West Texas Chamber of Commerce beautification contest, according to word received from Jed Rix, the convention manager in Amarillo. The convention will be held May 11-13.

Nerves

Do they torture you by day? Keep you awake at night?

What is it that keeps hospitals open and doctors busy? NERVES. What is it that makes your face wrinkled and makes you feel old? NERVES. Nine times out of ten it's NERVES that make you restless, worried, haggard.

Nerves

Do they make you Cranky, Blue--give you Nervous Indigestion, Nervous Headache?

When nerves are over-taxed, you worry over trifles, find it hard to concentrate, can't sit still. Nerve Strain brings on Headache. Nervous people often suffer from Indigestion. There may be absolutely nothing wrong with the organs of digestion, but the Nerves are not on the job to make the organs do their work properly.

Nerves

Do they interfere with your work; ruin your pleasure; drive away your friends?

You're cheating yourself and the man who pays you if you work when your NERVES are not normal. You can't have a good time when you are nervous. You can't make or keep friends when you are keyed up and irritable. You may excuse yourself, but to others you are just a plain crank.

Centennial Tea at Hewitt Home Friday Outstanding Social Function of Season

One of the most outstanding social functions to be held in Littlefield was the Centennial seated tea given by the Woman's Study club in courtesy to the B. & P. W. club, and held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hewitt on Westside Avenue Friday evening.

The entertaining rooms were beautiful with bowls and vases of Blue Bonnets. These flowers were also used as favors when the refreshment plates were passed.

The guests were received by the president of the hostess club, Mrs. T. Wade Potter, and Mrs. E. S. Rowe, vice-president.

A short but colorful pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags," reminiscent of Texas history, interspersed with music and dance specialties, formed the entertainment for the occasion. Mrs. W. D. T. Storey was pianist and Miss Myrtle Marion Shaw vocalist.

Characters in the pageant were: "Old Man Texas," impersonated by Mrs. B. L. Cogdill; "LaSalle," by Mrs. L. C. Hewitt; "Dona Maria Velasquez," (a Spanish maiden), Mrs. Pat Boone; "Santa Anna," Mrs. J. M. Stokes; "A Pioneer Woman," Mrs. W. G. Street; "A Confederate Widow," Mrs. Ira Woods; "Miss Texas of 1936," Mrs. C. E. Payne.

The costuming of the characters was particularly colorful and appropriate. Miss Texas of 1936 carried an arm bouquet of Texas Blue Bonnets.

Specialty numbers, also in costume, were enacted between the historical episodes. Miss Janeth Hewitt and Herbert Boles danced the minuet. Pat Boone, Jr. and Avery Sullivan sang, "Rancho Grande," with guitar accompaniment. Miss Shaw sang "O, Susanna," and Miss Lois Kirkpatrick, as a black mammy, sang, "Don't You Cry, My Honey."

As a finale the cast of characters drank a toast to Texas, and the guests joined in singing, "The Eyes of Texas are Upon You."

Mrs. B. L. Cogdill was general chairman for the entertainment.

Mesdames A. B. Sanders, J. R. Coen and E. S. Rowe composed the refreshment and decoration committee.

The pageant was written by Mrs. C. E. Cooper, and directed by Mrs. Calvin Henson, assisted by Mrs. F. O. Boles.

Members of the hostess club wore Colonial costumes for the occasion, fashioned after the styles of one hundred years ago, including jewelry, hair dress, etc., which further accentuated the Centennial motif.

The guest list included: Misses Geraldine and Lois Kirkpatrick, Eddythe Walker, Margaret Teel, Bass, Ethy Lou Edwards, Agatha Gore, Gladys Jones, Myrtle Marion Shaw, Bernice Westbrook, Mary Jo Wilson, Fern Hoover, and Mesdames J. W. Keithley, Sam Farquhar, John Porcher, Ben Porcher, Vernie Wright, P. W. Walker, W. C. Thaxton, J. T. Elms, Bob McCaskill, W. J. Aldridge, E. J. Newgent, Payne Woods, T. S. Sales, J. O. Singer, J. R. Coen, J. C. Hilbun, J. H. Barnett, H. W. Wiseman, L. C. Hewitt, B. L. Cogdill and C. E. Payne.

During the games Mrs. P. W. Walker scored high for the guests, while Mrs. J. M. Stokes was awarded the prize for members.

CHIC SPORTS FROCK

Pattern 8743: From snappy notched collar to peppy action pleat, there is a "going places to do things" look about this smart sports frock. Complete in detail even to the ascot scarf. An ensemble of this type has many variations through use of different contrasts in scarf, belt and gloves.

This shirt-waist frock (with a hint of the polo shirt) will become most any one. It has the new tailored effect without losing any feminine charm or gracefulness of lines. If you go in for active sports you'll like the unhindered pleated sleeves and the inverted center pleat for lots of knee-action. The appropriate side pocket adds interest. We suggest a sports silk, pique, jersey seersucker or gingham as possible materials.

Mrs. H. C. Pumphrey Hostess To Spade H. D. Club April 9

The Spade H. D. club met Thursday, April 9 at the home of Mrs. H. C. Pumphrey with twenty-nine present. Roll call was answered with, "Why I Like a Grassy Lawn." Some reasons given were: "It adds to the attractiveness of the home," "it shows that people take an interest in their homes and it gives the children a nice place to play and preserves their clothes."

Miss Westbrook gave an interesting lesson on "Sodding the Lawn," she told us that Buffalo grass makes a nice lawn and being a native grass, requires little water. Also Blue grass makes a nice lawn, it comes earlier and stays later than other grasses, but requires lots of water and that Bermuda grass makes a nice lawn. The lawn should be well broken, fertilized and harrowed or disked before being planted. You can seed or sod it out if you seed it you should run a drag over it to pack the ground.

Miss Cooper, the District Home Demonstration agent met with us and complimented our club, and spoke words of encouragement to us.

Delicious refreshments were served to the contestants, the losing side serving the winners.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Byrnes. We want as many to answer roll call as will.

Amos Ethridge is found dead in a country lane with a cross of twigs on his breast and a scented sheet of note paper in his pocket. He was the richest man in the state with power and influence enough to make himself candidate for governor. With his death came hints of an unsavory private life, of scandal that might come to light if the case is investigated too closely—road at all when the macadam leads right up to his gates? The papers ask that?"

Holmes, a former opera singer whose career was wrecked when she was wrecked at the birth of her son, in a squalor nearest the scene of the crime—Gerald Holmes, her son, who loved and hated by his mother, tries to forget the past by drowning his sorrow in drink—Gerald is loved by lovely Hazel Woods, actress and protegee of the murdered judge.

"Politics! He was in the race for the Governorship and he had enemies. Probably he knew they were watching him. No candidate for the highest political office in the state could afford to have it known that his private life was corrupt."

"Hm-m! Even yet I can't see what makes you so positive it was a woman."

"You're as stupid as the police! If there had been one bullet hole, or even two, it would have indicated a man's hand. But those other five shots were fired by somebody in a frenzy—somebody who was hysterical—completely out of his head. Or hers! It was the act of an insanely jealous woman—or a man like you."

"Mother!" Gerald protested, sharply. "Don't talk like that, even in fun. The mere fact that a fellow can draw, has an eye for color, is no sign that he's effeminate."

"Oh, don't worry! This is just my own theory—"

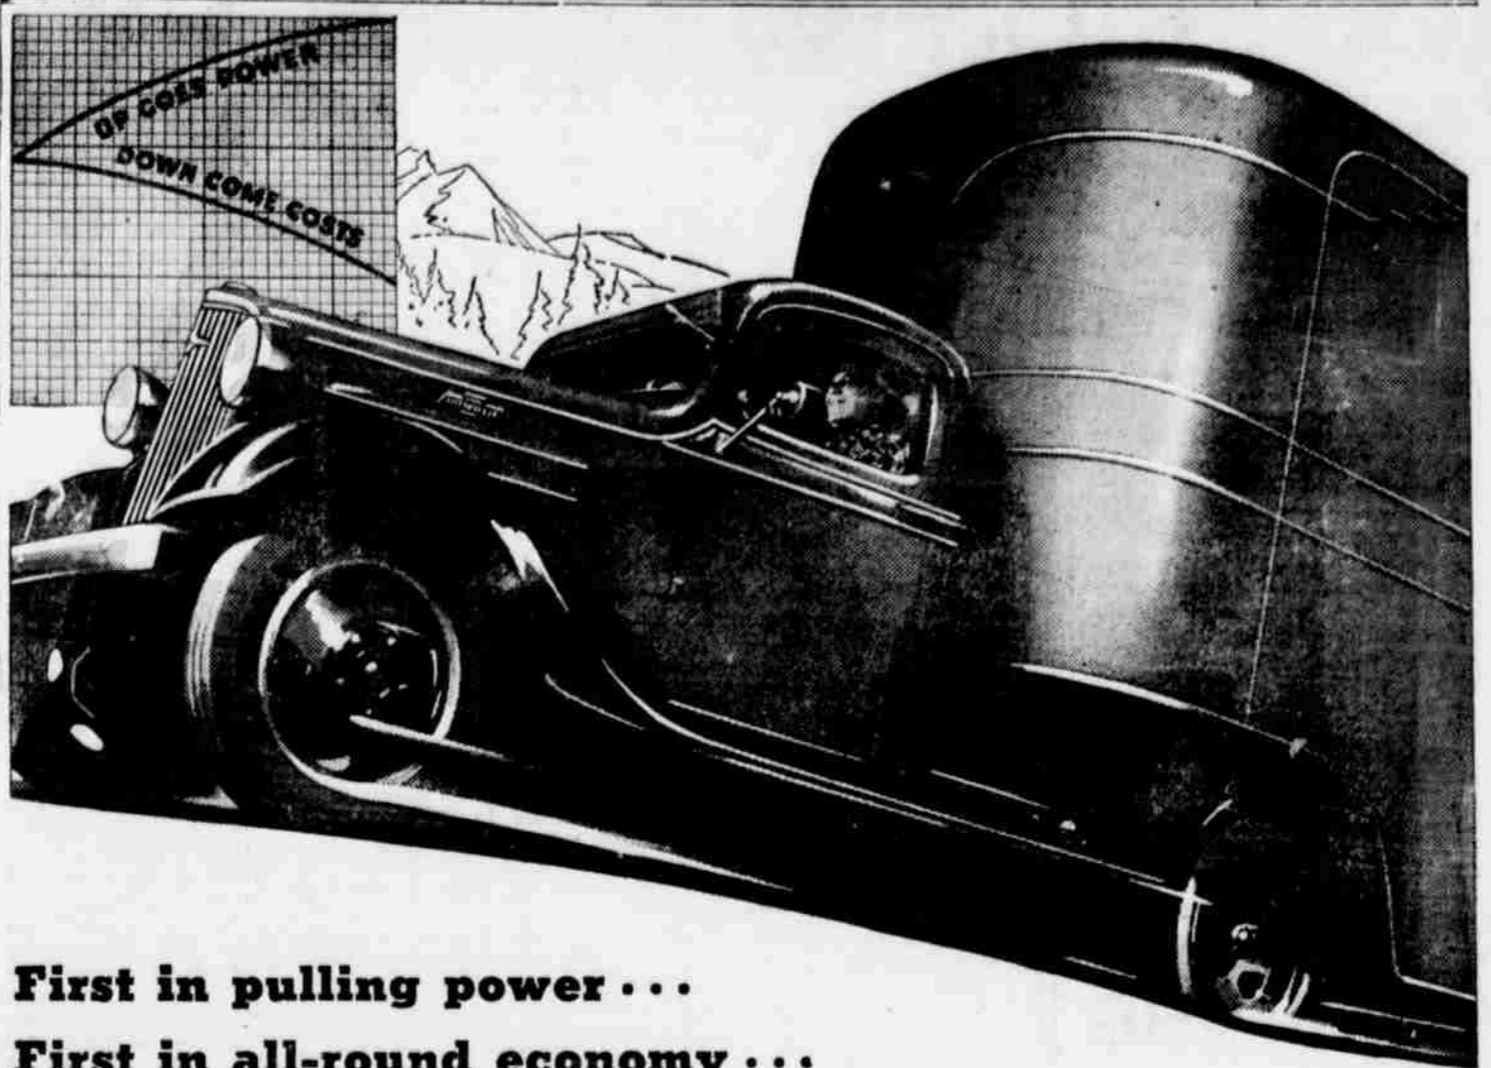

"Pretty weak, I'm afraid."

"—and I don't intend to tell it to the detectives. There are a lot man would have stopped to make a cross out of twigs and lay it on his breast? No! More power to the woman, I say. The hand of God directed those bullets and the hand of God will protect her. If we had more women like her we'd have less unhappiness, fewer ruined lives and—blasted careers. He had the money and the looks to do anything. He was a whited sepulcher!"

"He had the money to send me to art school, too," Gerald countered, with some feeling. "And to pay my way for four years. Just because he saw one of my drawings on a paper bag—full of eggs! You never thanked him. You hated him for it, but—" "Thank him? For making an artist out of you? An artist?" Mary Holmes uttered a scornful sound. "You were enough like your father without that."

Gerald sighed and shook his head in discouragement. His mother was indeed difficult—a queer woman. "Let's not talk about him or about father," said he. "What I came to see you about is the case itself. I wish to Heaven I'd been here, so I could have prevented those wretched newspapers—I'm afraid you'll be called as a witness next."

"Well, what if I am called?" "Why—think! You must have been hurt by what they said. If you go on the stand they'll want to know all about us, past history, everything. The lawyers will dig it out and the newspapers will make the most of it."

"Humph! Maybe they'll treat me differently when they know who I am."

Gerald stared at the shapeless figure in the rocking chair for a moment, then reluctantly he made up his mind to speak as gently as possible, but as plainly as necessary. "Mother, dear, you don't understand what it would mean, for you can't see how you—well, how you have changed! It hurts me to say it, but I'm afraid the papers wouldn't treat you as sympathetically as you imagine, or as you deserve. It is so much easier to ridicule than to sympathize or to condone."

"Oh, I see! Meanwhile, you're speaking more for yourself than for me."

"I'm speaking for both of us! Can't you understand that I'm having a hard battle to make something out of myself? Why handicap me more? Westland isn't a large city—" "And of course you couldn't be known as the son of the 'goose woman'! Your friends would sneer at you!"

Gerald defended himself hotly: "I'm not a cad. I'm not ashamed of our poverty. But I do have some pride, some decency, and I associate with the best people I can. It shocks me, it breaks my heart to see you steadily deteriorate. I've done what I could to stop it—"

"What have you ever done' except preach!" Mrs. Holmes broke out, angrily.

"I never preached! Please, please don't let's quarrel, or at any rate let me say what I have to say first—You resent my profession because my talent—what little I have—came from my father. You actually hate me at times, because when I was born your voice went. As if that were my fault! I can understand that, after a fashion, but other things I can't understand. For instance, why have you always tried to strangle whatever there was in me? Oh, you have! When I used to sing or play, it threw you into a rage and you whipped me. Why, just think. I might have inherited your musical talent. When I tried to draw pictures you slapped my hands. Thank God, Mr. Ethridge saw something in my drawings and encouraged me to defy you and—and make something of myself! You yielded finally because you felt I'd fail. When I made good you refused to let me come home; threw me out; said you never wanted to see me again." "When you're like this I certainly do hate you," Mrs. Holmes admitted in a voice totally without feeling. "You are your father all over again." "I know! And you blame all this"—with a comprehensive gesture Gerald indicated the ugly, squalid, disorderly kitchen—"on him. But I

J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

We are not mentioning something to be had simply by journeying to some foreign city, or some other community. These privileges may be yours right at home, at your very door. All you have to do about it is to come and claim them.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock. A pew is yours, simply come and take your place in it. You'll have every possible privilege, the fellowship of friendly people, the music by the choir, and the sermon by the pastor, using as theme, "The Riches of Poverty." Now, that we do not have the amount of money we once had, is there nothing left for us to give? In fact, have we not riches left? Let's examine your treasurers together Sunday morning.

Evening worship: Young People's hour at 7:15 p. m. The Intermediate League at 7:15 p. m. Excellent groups.

Public worship at 8 o'clock. The Young People furnish the choir and the pastor will deliver a sermon fitted in time and quality to the occasion.

Tax Receipts Swell Through Farm Debt Adjustment Program

During March, Lamb county tax receipts were swelled $1,630 by payments of delinquent taxes made as a result of the farm debt adjustment program sponsored by the Resettlement Administration. This amount cleared taxes on 4,871 acres of land, and represented one of the highest payments into tax offices recorded for this region (Texas and Oklahoma).

Twenty-one Lamb county farm homes have been saved from foreclosure through cooperative efforts of the farmer-debtor, the committeemen, and the creditors, according to J. C. Whicker, chairman of the committee, and G. E. Dickson and Fred Schrier, members.

Farm debt adjustment committeemen and district supervisor for this area, serve in an advisory capacity only, in helping farmers and their creditors work out an equitable adjustment of finances so that the farmer will not lose his home. The supervisor have had long experience in rural finance and it is through their knowledge of legal procedure and lending agencies that many of these adjustments can be made. Neither the supervisors nor the committeemen have any legal status, so adjustments must come only through agreement of both parties. Adjustments may be affected through an extension of time, a composition of several small debts into one large loan on better terms, a lowering of interest rates, and in some instances an adjustment of the principal.

THREE-REEL FILM OF LITTLEFIELD TO BE MADE FOR CENTENNIAL SHOWING

At the regular luncheon meeting of the local Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, presided over by Pat Boone, president, several matters pertaining to the Centennial and West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention were discussed.

W. J. Chesher, Littlefield Director, WTCC, stated he had investigated the cost of a motion picture of Littlefield and territory, representative of the agricultural resources and other lines of industry, for daily showing not only during the Frontier Celebration at Fort Worth, but also as a permanent exhibit at the Dallas Centennial celebration.

Mr. Chesher reported information received from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as follows: $15.00 for 1 reel picture, requiring approximately 3 1-2 minutes for showing; $29.00 for a 2 reel picture, requiring 7 minutes showing; $42.00 for a 3 reel picture with a ten minute showing; $56.00 for a 4 reel picture with 13 1-2 minute showing.

Quoting from a letter received, Mr. Chesher stated the following free facilities were being offered Littlefield:

"A motion picture connected with the permanent all West Texas exhibit building is being provided, which theatre is dedicated to our cities and territory for the showing of motion pictures on West Texas cities and territory."

"The West Texas Chamber of Commerce provides the projecting machine and manning of the machine, together with the screen and theatre equipment."

"For assistance in editing and titling your picture the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has designated Abilene and Lubbock as the points for auditions or showing of your originally developed pictures."

"The projecting, screen and theatre equipment are being provided for the showing of 16 minutes wide film, which film can be either plain or natural colored."

"The costs to you shall not include any offered services of editing, tiling or projecting and staging your picture, which costs are to be borne by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce."

After much discussion it was decided to order the three reel picture at a cost of $42.00.

Mr. Chesher also reported that each participating city would receive 1,000 colored pamphlets, one side of which whatever message desired might be printed, which pamphlets would be given away at the Dallas celebration. Also that 20 books of West Texas Stamps would be received, which might be sold to help defray expenses.

The matter of the 2x5 foot advertising panel to depict the growth and resources of this city, and which would form a part of general advertising plan at the Frontier celebration in Fort Worth, was discussed.

Mr. Chesher reported receipt of a communication from Lubbock suggesting that Littlefield work with that city in its plan to have a number of towns on the South Plains combine all their panels and have one entire background for the South Plains section. It was decided not to join Lubbock, and to work towards the plan of having the cities in Lamb county, affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, join with Littlefield combining their panels in one to represent Lamb county. A committee, composed of Joe Hale and F. O. Boles, was appointed to contact the other towns in the county.

Supt. A. B. Sanders reported that the Home Town elimination contest would take place May 5th, that at the present time Delbert Falls, Ted Kilpatrick and Hall Rowe were contestants, but that others may enter. Miss Wilda Courtney was chosen as Miss Littlefield to represent the city at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Amarillo. Dr. Ira Woods reported that the Rotary club had selected Miss Betty Ann Hilliard as representative in the race for May Queen in the May Fete, which takes place May 8th. Miss Louise Thornton was voted to be representative of the Chamber of Commerce in the race.

Donald Turner Explains Phases Of Conservation Plan

Just as the old Triple A program added such words as "adjusted acreage," "base acres," "contracted acres," "compliance" and a score of others to the farmer's language, so the AAA soil conservation program is bringing new words to the farm. The meaning of some of them is explained by Donald Turner, county agricultural agent.

Most important from a financial standpoint, he says, are "soil conserving payment" and "soil building payment." The first is the grant a farm may get for shifting acres from "soil depleting" to "soil conserving and building crops." The second is the payment, never in excess of $1.00 per acre, which a farmer may be entitled to receive to help finance new grass and legume and similar seedings.

Farmers are beginning to talk readily about "soil depleting base." Soil depleting crops for Texas are corn, cotton, grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, millets, potatoes, rice, sugarcane, commercial truck and canning crops, small grains harvested for grain or hay, and peanuts. These crops take much out of the soil, return little. Grown exclusively, in the long run they will ruin the farm and the farmer.

Then there are "soil conserving" crops. These help the soil hold its own, but only slightly increase fertility. These crops include all main kinds of old seedings of legumes such as alfalfa, and grasses such as sudan pasture if only grazed or clipped green; and winter cover crops if plowed under, or if harvested, followed by summer legumes. Forest trees planted since 1933 also class as soil conserving.

"Soil building crops" are legumes plowed under as green manuring crops; biennial and perennial legumes seeded in 1936; summer legumes with forage left on land; and winter cover crops plowed under and followed by summer legumes. Trees planted in 1936 count as soil builders this year.

JUNIOR PLAY TO BE PRESENTED TONIGHT

Don't fail to see "Gay", the three-act comedy to be presented by the junior class tonight in the high school auditorium at 8:00 o'clock.

Watch Wayne Madden in the role of Bobby Ellis, the slow but sure suitor for Gay, played by Louise Thornton, win over Hall Rowe, the city slicker. Ernestine Cundiff, the flapper, born with a fever, with her attachment for Dick Royster, thickens the plot.

When Betty Hilliard, Polly Wallace, and Evonia Hawthorne breeze in with their interests centered on going places and doing things. They give the audience much amusement and furnish plenty of shocks for the spinner, Bess Lair and her faithful suitor, Lineal Floyd.

Between act numbers will include music by Band Master Taylor's orchestra and a one-act play, "Sparkin' Peggy Jane," by Coach E. Jones and Miss Margaret Cooper.

Plan now to have a night of fun for the small price of ten and fifteen cents.

All students will be admitted for fifteen cents and the adult admission will be twenty cents.

A great photographic mural depicting highlights in the industrial drama of the great Ford Rouge plant will form the central decorative display in the new Ford Rotunda building at Dearborn, Mich.

The Rotunda is the great central section of the Ford Exposition building at the World's Fair, Chicago, in 1934, which has been transferred to Dearborn and re-erected. It will be opened to the public early in May as a gateway through which tens of thousands of visitors will pass each year on tours of the Rouge plant.

The great photographic mural is 600 feet long and 20 feet high, occupying all of the upper half of the circular wall of the Rotunda interior. It is formed of 98 panels, each 20 feet high and six feet wide. The surface of the panels is covered by giant photographs, enlarged from pictures taken in or about the Rouge plant.

Spade Girls Nose Out Whitharral At Lubbock Saturday

Playing a slow and uncertain contest, close from start to finish, the Spade High school volleyball team nosed out the Whitharral girls at Lubbock Saturday afternoon, for championship of District 3. This was the second time that the two squads have clashed this year, the other victory going to Whitharral. This final match called for the playing of five games, three of which were captured by Spade.

In the first brackets Spade met Muleshoe and defeated them on Friday afternoon. In the second preliminaries the Spade girls met their traditional opponents in the District, the Lockney group, and defeated them easily by winning the first two of three games. At eleven-thirty Saturday morning Spade met Lubbock in the semi-finals and took from them the first two games of the series. This threw them into the finals at four o'clock against Whitharral, which team had eliminated Meadow, another strong contender, in the semi-finals.

From the sixteen counties entitled to entries there were only thirteen teams present at the District Meet, but the contests were spirited, and the interest ran high in selecting a winner. This was the second time for Spade to take this championship, she having emerged winner in 1934.

Those playing for Spade were Loveta Huckabee, Mildred Greer, Lucille Nabers, Doris Carter, Opal Dennis, Ozella Tucker, Martha Nelle Bentley, and Helen Brown. The team plans to enter the Regional meet at Canyon, Saturday, April 25.

Spade School Organizes For Playground Ball

In the Spade grammar school the boys have organized into three groups, the sixth, the seventh, and the fifth grades for playground ball. A fourth team will be composed of the faculty members.

Names will be selected for each group, each will draw for the first round, each group will play each other group, and the winner will be determined by the percentage of victories. This series will last over a period of three weeks. The championship team will be given a treat as award of victory. A similar contest will likely be worked out among the girls. Mr. Otis Elder will have charge of the boys' series.

Spade High School Launches A Home Tennis Tournament

The pupils of Spade High school have launched a home tournament in tennis. Those desiring to enter have been bracketed for a series of games in singles to determine the winner among boys and the one among girls.

The games will be run off on still days at the physical education and noon periods, and a suitable prize award will be given the winner in each division. Eight entries have been accepted in each contest, and enthusiastic games seems to be the order of the day.

Class Clashes To Be Featured In The Spade High School

Beginning with the Monday after District Meet the directors of activities in Spade high school set in motion a series of inter and intramural contests in track and field, in tennis, in volleyball, and in basketball. Considerable interest is being shown in these activities, and the plan is spreading to grammar school.

One of the most popular events seems to be a Freshman Decathlon. Ten events in track and field contests have been selected for competition. The events are 100 yard dash, running high jump, pull-up, 160 yard dash, hop-step-and-jump, 100 yard low hurdles, broad jump, 8-pound shot put, pole vault, 440 yard run. All Freshmen boys are interested in the affair and are taking two weeks of training before the final contest on Monday, May 4. Two divisions have been made—one for the smaller and one for the larger boys. Prize awards will be given winners of all-around championship in each division. The Decathlon is under the direction of Lee B. Dodson, principal of the high school.

The Goose Woman—

don't. He isn't to blame. It's the liquor mother. And the terrible part of it all is that—you're getting worse. Nothing I say seem to have any effect and of course you don't care what I think. But it makes you mad when the newspapers say it. Well, they'll say it again, and a lot more, if you become a witness in this Ethridge case. Your story will be published from one end of the country to the other. That would end me—my career, I mean.

"Your career! What do you know about a career?"
"Not—not as much as you know, of course. But, mother, you must have some pride left in that career of yours, in your name. Surely drink hasn't entirely killed your self-respect. Even though my feelings and my future are matters of indifference to you, do you want the whole world to know that you were deserted by your husband and became a drunkard and a woman of ill repute, as the papers had it? Do you want them to know that the notorious 'goose woman' in the Ethridge case is really the once glorious Maria di Nardi?"

The object of this appeal rose and tramped about the room. In spite of the fact that she was not very sure of her movements, in spite of her untidy appearance, heightened by the drab, stringy hair that drooped carelessly upon her neck and forehead and the slipshod manner in which she wore her garments, there was nevertheless an air of importance about her and a dignity to her carriage.

"So! I'm a drunkard, a common woman, a low character—all those rotten scandal sheets said! And my own son agrees—tells me so with his own lips!" The speaker's voice was hoarse with passion, vibrant with dislike. "You dare to say such things to my face!—You want to know what ails me, what has become of my pride, what has driven me down into the mud and keeps me there. Well, it isn't the liquor. It's—it's you!"

"Mother!"
"Oh, I mean it! D'you think I drink because I like the stuff? I drink to kill what's in me here!" Mrs. Holmes clutched fiercely at her bosom. "It stupefies me so I can't think, so I can't remember. I'd have died, otherwise. You took my voice."

Again Gerald uttered a cry of protest, but the speaker ran on, "You robbed me of my one great talent, my glory. Yes, I was glorious! Everybody said so. Kings and queens were at my feet, the world worshipped me. 'Career!' I had a career—but you killed it. You! When you were born you changed me from a nightingale into a frog. Where would I live if not in the mud? D'you wonder I detest you when I think of what you did?—You're beginning to understand what a career means and it frightens you to think of losing it. You're beginning to understand that it means more than money, more than friends, more than love, more than anything in this whole world. That it's bigger than all of them. Well, it ought to make you feel like an assassin, for when you killed my voice you did more than ruin Mary Holmes, your mother; you murdered Maria di Nardi, the opera singer, the artist, the greatest contralto in Europe. In Heaven's name, haven't you done enough, taken enough, without robbing me of what little comfort is left? A chicken farmer. Me! A—'goose woman'!" Mrs. Holmes threw back her head and laughed wildly. "What a joke!" She sank heavily into her rocker and swayed her body from side to side. "Oh, my God! What a joke!"

Gerald rose and laid a hand upon her drab, uncombed hair. He could remember dimly, as if in some childhood dream, when that hair had been shiny and fragrant and almost golden in color and when it had been proudly worn. That memory left him low in mind and sick in body. "Is it altogether fair to hold me responsible for the loss of your voice?" he inquired.

Mrs. Holmes shook off his hand, crying: "Don't paw me! 'Fair'? Is anything fair? Has life been fair to me?"

"Perhaps I shouldn't have spoken as I did. But don't misunderstand me, I've lived long enough to learn that there are forces outside of ourselves that are too big, too resistless, to be overcome, so I don't blame you for the way you feel, mother, for what you've done or for the dreadful change that has come over you. I don't even reproach you. I only pity."

"I don't want pity!" the woman cried, furiously. The gin she had drunk earlier in the evening had failed this time to stupefy; it had merely deadened what was gentle in her and roused what was savage and hateful. Emotionally she was in turmoil. The truth of Gerald's accusations had engendered blind resentment and a fierce impulse to defend herself, to fight back, to hurt him as he had hurt her. A rat will bite when crushed.

"I had something in mind to tell you the last time I came out," the boy was saying, "but you were in no mood to listen. I must tell you now, in view of what has happened this week. I've been working hard and getting ahead slowly. It won't be long, I hope, until I can make a home for both of us—for all three of us. I'm going to—get married."

Mary Holmes stared at him dully. Here was another shock—to think of Jerry as no longer a boy, but as a man old enough to consider marrying. You can't get married. Who'd marry you, the 'goose woman's son?' she inquired.

"That's what I'm getting at. I don't propose to be known as the 'goose woman's son. I propose to take you out of this if you'll let me. I propose to have you come and live with us and leave all this behind, if—"

"Then you've picked out the girl?" Gerald nodded. He flushed, and his sensitive, eager face was slowly illuminated, glorified by an expression his mother had never seen it wear. It was an expression, by the way, that caused the years to roll back and remembrance to smite her. He was for the moment, the living image of his father.

interest in the affairs of my county and community, and have always been found on the firing-line in all matters that were for the advancement and best interests of the people of my county or home community.

"In making the race for sheriff, I am not unmindful of the duties of this important office. I believe in the enforcement of the law—a square deal for all, and should the voters of the county see fit to elect me, I will endeavor at all times to carry out the duties of the office to the best of my ability, co-operating, and working in harmony with all other state, county and city law officers.

"If elected to the office, I would expect to always remember that I am a public official, elected by you, and devote my entire time to the duties of the trust reposed in me, endeavoring to treat all of the people alike, in a fair and impartial manner.

"I am making the race on my own merits. My record is wide open to anyone who may wish or will take the time to investigate.

"I am going to endeavor to see each and every voter in the county before the primary elections in July, but if I fail or am unable to see anyone of you who are not personally acquainted with me, I ask that you make a careful investigation as to my qualifications and fitness for this office, which I seek. If you see fit to give me your vote and support at the elections, I will appreciate it very much, as I want to be your next sheriff.

Farm Credit Office Open Tuesdays To Assist Applicants

Fred N. Warren, Field Supervisor for Farm Credit Administration opened office and started taking applications for Emergency Crop Loans 30 days ago, and he advises that checks have been delivered on most of the applications received during this time.

Nothing has been said about the time limit for accepting applications but it is thought all applications should be in within two weeks. For the convenience of farmers in making applications the office in the City Hall will be open each day and it would be appreciated by the application takers and committees if those contemplating needing crop loans would get their applications in within the next few days.

Mr. Warren will be in his office here each Tuesday to assist in taking applications and receiving payments on previous loans. He also says that he is proud of the record Lamb county farmers have made in repayment of their Government loans.

Large Number Local Pupils To Attend Centennial Chorus

These gatherings are being held all over the State, for the purpose of practicing Centennial songs which will be sung at the Dallas celebration this summer.

Friday, May 1, a district chorus will be held at Lubbock, in which the local students will take a part.
