E. Sturrock, General Manager of Texas Water Conservation association, which is believed to be against the interest of this area, and which is not agreeable to wishes of the High Plains Water Conservation association. In this bulletin, Mr. Duggan states, appears the following:

"Testimony thus far developed before the Texas Water Code Committee favors vesting in present State Board of Water Engineers, or a Water Conservation Commission, with an executive director, patterned after the State Railroad Commission, or the State Highway Department, with the power and authority to promulgate rules and regulations governing the development, conservation, taking and uti-

SUSTAINS INJURY TO HAND IN LIGHTING DYNAMITE BLASTING CAP

GUN GAL . . . Mrs. Alice Camp, 16, Tulsa, Okla., holds gun she admits she used in attempted service station holdup at Belleville, Ill. Joseph, 18, Scott Field private, remained outside until attendant took Mrs. Camp's gun. Then he came inside and was arrested also.

Exactly one-half of the first three fingers, and the entire thumb on the left hand of Gerald Wayne McMahan having been missing, since Sunday afternoon about two o'clock—or since the young man decided to see what would happen when he lighted a dynamite blasting cap, while playing with four other children in a neighbor's barn.

Gerald Wayne is the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McMahan of near Spade. He was rushed to the Littlefield hospital, where he underwent treatment, and where he will remain a patient for several days. He was in a happy frame of mind Tuesday afternoon—until a nurse came in with a shot of penicillin.

Building Permits Total $45,245

Building permits issued at the city secretary's office since January 31st of this year, total the amount of $45,245.

Permits were issued to the following: J. T. Bellomy for a $2000 residence. Grady Bevell, an addition to his residence for $1000. Mrs. Lillie O. Montgomery, a $9650 residence. Stillwell H. Russell, for a $22,225 residence. Bob Cox a $1200 addition to his residence. Banks Packwood Motor Co., a permit for $1200 car shed. Riley & Burt Implement Co., an implement building, costing $5150. B. C. Campbell, a 3-room residence costing $2800.

Advise Against Loans
Representatives from Southern ginners held the floor Saturday at the final session. They advised against government loans or purchases of cottonseed.

Instead, they urged that the products of cottonseed—the oil, meal, linters and hulls—be supported at a level which would permit the mills to pay farmers not less than 90 percent of parity. It now stands at about $66.60 a ton for cottonseed. Ninety percent of this would be roughly — $60.00.

Cottonseed Perishable
The ginners argued against government loans and purchases because cottonseed is highly perishable, presenting a difficult storage problem.

To Submit Two Plans
John H. Dean, deputy administrator for the production and administration presided at the hearings. He said the information obtained would be used in drafting two plans to be submitted to crushers, ginners and producers at a later date. He said the accepted plan will be announced in April.

Butch and Trixie
Faith Faust, 13-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Faust, has outstanding talent in the writing and illustrating of stories for children. This is the second story by the clever Littlefield girl to be published in the Lamb County Leader. Watch the Thursday edition of the Leader for more illustrated stories by Faith.

By Faith Helen Faust
Butch was a brown dog. He had a white ring around his neck and two white forepaws. One day when Butch was walking down an alley he saw two black dogs and one white one chasing a spotted cat. The cat was the new neighbor's cat, Trixie. Butch knew the dogs would bite Trixie if they caught her. Butch was going to stop these dogs from chasing her. Three against one isn't fair.

Butch ran up to the white dog and asked, "Why are you chasing this cat?"

The white dog answered, "We are chasing her because it is fun."

One of the black dogs answered, "I'll run a race with you and the one who wins may chase the cat if he wants to."

Enjoying the pleasant association of the folks of Littlefield and Lamb County I have given up the traveling position and will devote all my time to the management of the Littlefield Perry Bros. Store.

I hope to have the pleasure of renewing old acquaintanceships, and welcoming to the store the folks I have served so long. TOO, I want to know the new folks of our city, and hope that you will visit our store.

The growth and general progress of Littlefield and Lamb County in the past few years have brought into this city and section vast numbers of people from far and near. We want you to feel at home at Perry Brothers.

Sincerely,
Archie Dale

Wage-Hour Exemptions Outlined Over Lubbock Broadcast Friday

Three new tests to determine whether retail and service establishments can qualify for exemption from the wage and hour provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal wage and hour law) were written into the amendments to the Act by the Eighty-First Congress.

These tests, together with other exemptions under the law, were explained at Lubbock by Mr. P. Donovan Riley, who represents the Wage and Hour Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, in this area, during a special program broadcast Friday by Station KCOB at Lubbock.

"The amendments define the term 'retail or service establishment,' and spell out the conditions under which exemptions may be taken," he said. "These tests are based on annual dollar volume of sales of goods or services and such establishments must meet all three tests to be excluded from the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the Act."

A new wage and hour exemption applies to irrigation workers if they are employed by non-profit companies for the operation or maintenance of ditches, canals, reservoirs or waterways used exclusively for supplying and storing water for agricultural purposes, he said.

"Daily and weekly newspapers with circulation under 4000 are also exempt," he said. "So are small telephone exchanges with less than 750 stations. Employees of taxicab companies are exempt for the first time. Newsboys are exempt from the minimum wage, overtime and child labor sections if they deliver papers to consumers.

"Some exemptions were added,

Purchase Interest In Baseball Club

J. V. McCallister of Lubbock, a former Littlefield chiropractor, has purchased a half interest in the Lubbock baseball club, according to Millard L. Wilkinson, original purchaser and president of the club. The deal was closed Saturday. The purchase price was $135,000, and is believed to be the highest price ever paid for a half interest in a minor league baseball club.

Practiced in Littlefield
Dr. McCallister practiced in Littlefield from 1940 to 1943, when he moved to Lubbock. He occupied offices in the bank building, formerly some were removed, and a number of changes were made in other exemptions, but the most important exemption is that for retail or service establishments."

occupied by the post office. While here he and the former Miss Marie Knowles, a well known local girl, and daughter of a prominent rural couple, were united in marriage. They have made their home in Lubbock since leaving here in 1943.

The baseball club is not incorporated, however, Wilkinson will hold the office as president, and Dr. McCallister will serve as vice president.

Dr. McCallister has "dabbled" in the oil business for a number of years, and while here he was interested in oil interests in New Mexico and carbon for manufacturing dry ice, and finally struck oil.

He continued to strike oil and currently has a number of producing wells, some of which are producing for Sohio company.

An invitation to economy awaits you in The Leader's Classified Section.

Mrs. Ivalee Hobbs To Give In At School

Mrs. Ivalee Hobbs, supervisor for Girl Scouts of Mexico and Oklahoma, will give the Leader Training course at the Scout Hut Wednesday, February 15.

All troop leaders in Olton, Sudan and Littlefield are invited to attend the course.

Efficient Leader
In an interview with the Board, which has the Council, Mr. Naylor, county leaders are getting Mrs. Hobbs' help.

A lot of territory is very efficient officials was instrumental in Lamb County Council.

COOPERATION BETWEEN AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY THEME OF MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McQuatters returned last week from attending the annual convention of the National Cotton Council which was held at Memphis, Tenn., January 23, 24 and 25.

The theme of the convention was "Increasing Cooperation Between Agriculture and Industry." The chief speakers were A. B. Oline, president of the American Farm Bureau, and Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors. They both spoke on the same subject, "The Kind of World I Want to Live In." Mr. Kline spoke from an agricultural point of view, and Mr. Wilson from an industrial point of view.

Plans for the future of cotton were outlined by the six National Cotton Council committees. Each of the committees include a representative of producers, ginners, warehousemen, cotton seed crushers and spinners.

One of the most pressing problems presented to the Council was that of foreign markets which Council leaders fear will slip with the ending of the Marshall plan in 1952 as most of the cotton sold abroad is paid for with E. C. A. dollars.

The foreign trade committee was rejoicing over the repeal of the federal tax on margarine and was making its plans to drive for the repeal of similar state taxes. All the states except 16 have repealed their taxes on margarine.

The production and marketing committee discussed ways to reduce the cost of production and marketing cotton, fire control, insect control and mechanical educational work.

The utilization and research committee discussed ways and possibilities of developing new uses for cotton, and the Public Relations Committee outlined the program of public licity to be used in 1950.

The McQuatters returned by way of New Orleans, Houston and Fort Worth. At Houston they visited a brother of Mr. McQuatters and a sister of Mrs. McQuatters, and at Fort Worth they visited the Fat Stock Show.

Extensive Job Training Planned

Recognizing the importance of adult education in certain fields of business, the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, will sponsor, in cooperation with the State Board of Vocational Education, several courses in Distributive Education Training throughout the coming year.

A questionnaire giving detailed information concerning Adult courses has been mailed each merchant so that they may request the courses they feel most important to their particular business. The first course to be presented will be on Retail Procedures. The place, date and time will be announced later, it was announced today by Pat Mann, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Working with the Chamber of Commerce will be Elmer H. McKinney, coordinator for Distributive Education at Littlefield High School, as well as officials of the school system who endorse the courses. The courses will be offered not only to the merchants of Littlefield but to those in surrounding towns. Registration for participation may be made at the Chamber of Commerce immediately, or up until the time the course starts. For further information concerning the courses, call the Chamber of Commerce or Elmer H. McKinney, Coordinator at 79.

Fieldton School District Against Consolidation

Fieldton Independent School district voters went to the polls Saturday and voted 21 to 54 against a proposal to consolidate with Amherst school district. Amherst voted 212 for and 1 against. Not receiving a majority of the votes, the proposal did not carry.

Residents of the two school districts submitted petitions a few weeks ago asking that County Judge Dent issue an order calling an election.

The election was held at the Fieldton schools, with Lee Marshall presiding, and at the American Legion Hall at Amherst, with Bill Rowland presiding.

DISPUTED BEAUTY . . . La Belle France, 1950, blonde Maryse Delah, won her coveted title in the recent Marseilles contest in a storm of disagreement between judges and jury. The victor entered as "Miss Automobile, 1940."

Lamb County Takes Fifth Place In Cotton Production In State

ginnings report revealed a startling fact about the cotton which gins in widely scattered communities in the area turning out additional Within that circle, with Lubbock as the hub, was produced more cotton last year than in any of the 18 other cotton states. The state of Arkansas, with 1,585,016 bales, came the closest to equalling the South Plains production mark.

Now take your pencil and draw a line around the five counties adjoining Lubbock county.

In these six counties, Crosby, Hockley, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock and Lynn, there was more cotton ginned than in all but three of the nation's 18 cotton-producing states. Only Arkansas, California and Mississippi's ginning figures exceed the 1,039,059 bales turned out by these six South Plains counties. The six counties produced more cotton than each of the states of Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, New Mexico, Virginia, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Hundreds of letters from all over America suggesting various cures arrive weekly, and Jack tests one of them here. So far, none of the suggestions has helped him.

Recognize this sprightly traveler?

Yes, it's the Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet that has caught the public fancy not only on its sleek lines, but on its easily-reachable price.

But notice anything new on it?

That's right — gleaming trim and the name plate "SPECIAL" brightening up the fenders. Brightwork around the windshield and windows, too. And when you swing the door open you'll see still other touches of added luxury—side armrests, front and rear, a robe rail, an extra ash tray.

It's all still mighty thrifty, because this strapping straight-eight sells for less than many sixes.

Why not drop in and see for yourself, both how these added touches dress up this SPECIAL and how close it is in price to cars of much less room, riding comfort, standing and performance.

Your dealer will be glad to see you — glad to show you how this traveler handles—glad to sign you up for prompt delivery.

The Private Flying Forum By "Ernie" Bode

Well, I suppose that a rash of "new idea" airplanes are to be expected since the helicopter has proven its worth. We now have the Lanier Paraplane, the airplane whose wings act like a parachute when landing, the Koppen-Bollinger Helioplane that lands and takes off in less than 200 feet, and now Bill Stout, the famed designer of the old Ford Tri-Motor that was used so many years on our airlines, (and is still being used all over the world as a cargo carrier), has come up with an airplane design that flaps its wings like a bird.

Bill Stout has a miniature flying model of his new design that performs amazingly well. Who knows, maybe some day we'll say, "Well, I guess I'll take my 'bird' and fly over to Joe's house and have a game of Conasta with him."

I see in the American Aviation magazine where Resort Airlines dropped their passenger fare to 3c per mile. Look out Railroads!

Sen. Thomas of Oklahoma went on record in his statement that he believed that there is a studied effort by the VA to prevent GI's from using their benefits for flying for the sole purpose of trying to break small flying schools! Their mighty strong words, Sen. Thomas—but it does look that way, doesn't it?

Last Sunday a week ago was a cold grey one that tested one's resistance to cold virus rather than resistance to that natural urge to "make like a bird". The bomb-dropping contest brought out the local interest enough to build up a ten dollar pot, which was won by "Blue Goose Squadron leader Bob Dillard (that's the new nick name Bob has acquired since he bought a new blue sun cap). Yours truly loused up and dropped his bomb about 100 feet south of the target. I guess I'll have to practice by dropping an egg into a barrel from the hanger roof 'er sumpin'.

Well that's that for last week's column, this week appears to be as spring-like as May, and believe me we are really doing some flying. Mr. Williamson and Mr. Greene flew in from Morton, and M. C. Maley dropped in from Amarillo.

Bob Dillard checked out in the Silver Fairchild—he really likes that airplane. Herb Owens Jr., has started to fly it and we received the same comment from him as to the fine flying characteristics of the Fairchild. Bernice Vidler finally got his Aerona flying after overhauling the engine—so we have a blue and yellow monoplane added to our ever-growing lineup. Jack Johnston, Virgil Teague and Randall Hughs, the Owens family, Don Garrett, all flew with us last week.

BULL LAKE PHILOSOPHER FAVORS GOVERNMENT POTATO DEAL BUT WANTS SAME POTATOES USED EACH YEAR

Editor's note: The Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bull Lake has a strange idea about the government's potato deal, his letter this week reveals.

Dear Editor:

I have seen a lot of comment in the newspapers about the government's potato deal, been reading how the commentators and editorial writers are outraged over the government's pay-in farmers a big price for potatoes and then sell them back to the same farmers for one cent a hundred pounds, to get em off the market, but it seems to me all the editors is missin the main point.

What burns me up about this deal ain't that it looks like a pretty good thing for the potato growin farmer or that it may cost a little money, government's gonna spend money, whatever it does.

What burns me up about this that the government is gonna dye the potatoes so the farmer can't sell em again.

As I understand it, the farmer grows the potatoes, the government buys em at a fair price which happens to be considerably above the market and then sells em back to the same farmer at a fraction of what it just got through payin.

So far such a deal sounds reasonable enough to me. But some smart aleck slips in the provision that the potatoes has to be dyed so they can't be sold again.

What I want to know is what in thunder difference does it make to the government whether it's buyin a new potatoe or a used potatoe as long as it ain't gonna go nowhere except from the farmer to the government and back to the farmer? What in blazes difference does it make to some Washington bureaucrat whether the potatoe the government's buyin and losin money on is new or second hand, soft or hard, sproutin or not, so long as it ain't gonna be eatin anyway? Why make a farmer go to all the trouble of growin a new crop, wearin himself and his equipment out and wastin time and energy and money, when his old potatoes would depress the market just as much if they was turned loose? Let him store his equipment and sit by the fire and sell the same potatoe back and forth till they wear out.

There's always some bureaucrat thinkin up some scheme to make the farmer work harder for no reason at all. I don't grow no potatoe myself but I got sense enough to see they could use the same potatoe over and over with a whole lot less trouble. Any chance of gettin that program started in this country on cotton?

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Lubbock Symphony To Present Concert

The Lubbock Symphony will present a novelty number in its third concert, February 7. Proloff's "Peter and the Wolf" is an orchestrated fairy tale of the young in heart of all ages—whether six or sixty. The fairy tale is told first by the narrator and then is played by the orchestra; each character is represented by an individual instrument and each has his own theme which heard when the character acts his part of the story. The charming adventures of Peter and his animal friends make a delightful story and in combination with the music an interesting variation on the program. Rex Webster will act as narrator.

Well known selections that will be presented will be four selections from the opera "Carmen", by Bizet by the orchestra; "Mimi's Farewell" from "La Boheme", and "Oh My Beloved Daddy" from the opera "Gian-Schiachi" both by Puccini; and "Romance" from the "Desert Song" by Sigmund Romberg, sung by guest artist Nina Luckie.

Nina Luckie, of Brownfield, who possesses a rich, full soprano voice, will be thoroughly at home in her selections of music for the program. It was the role of Mimi in Puccini's famous opera "La Boheme" that she was learning for the Lyric Grand Opera Company's New York season and portions of which she was preparing for a concert at Carnegie Hall when she came to Texas.

Mall orders for tickets will be filled in the order in which they are received. Tickets are $2.40 for reserved seats and $1.80 for single admissions. Mail check and stamped, self-addressed envelopes to Lubbock Symphony, Box 894, Lubbock, Texas.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting, with Mesdames Little McGehee, Grace Findley, Alice Willis, Hazel Jaquess, Lois Cecil Phillips and Marguarite Fowler as hostesses.

Butch and Trixy

Butch looked up and saw Trixy far down the street. Butch said, "I don't want to run the race, the cat is gone anyway."

The three dogs went one way and Butch went down the street where Trixy was. Trixy said, "Thank you, for stopping those dogs. That great big dog called Tuffy is going to scare you on your afternoon walk today. If you go another way maybe he won't be able to."

"Thank you," said Butch.

Butch went another way for his afternoon walk and Tuffy did not get to scare him.

Butch went to see Trixy the next day. They had a lot of fun chasing a ball around. Every day from then on Butch would play with Trixy and they became very good friends.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

A BOY NAMED DANNY

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO a boy named Danny was operating successfully in one of our larger cities. He had even acquired a reputation. But it wasn't the kind of reputation that maybe you're thinking it was.

The city had a boys' club, but it was run-down, had to be rebuilt and restaffed. Danny was only one of several boys who bore questionable reputations, but Danny was the toughest, hence the leader. So Mr. Darrell, the club leader, got a brilliant idea. He went to Danny and said "Danny, I need help in cleaning up our club. Want a job?" Danny kept silent. What was this leading to? So Mr. Darrell mentioned a sum of money, but he also added that he wanted only capable people to work with, boys with brains as well as brawn.

Danny looked up. "That was him."

Mr. Darrell and Danny worked together side by side for several days, and Mr. Darrell frequently asked Danny's opinion on what course to pursue. Danny always had one, and strange as it might seem, his ideas fitted right in with Mr. Darrell's ideas, though on one or two occasions they didn't prove to be the best and Danny reconstructed them. However, little time was lost.

Then Mr. Darrell found that more help was needed. He asked Danny if he could select a few other boys who would be fitted for the job, boys who could understand what the members of the club would need and appreciate. Danny knew just the boys for the jobs. And he took the occasion to assure Mr. Darrell that the boys "wouldn't give any trouble; he himself would see to that."

Came the day when Mr. Darrell said, "Danny, you and I together have made a new club."

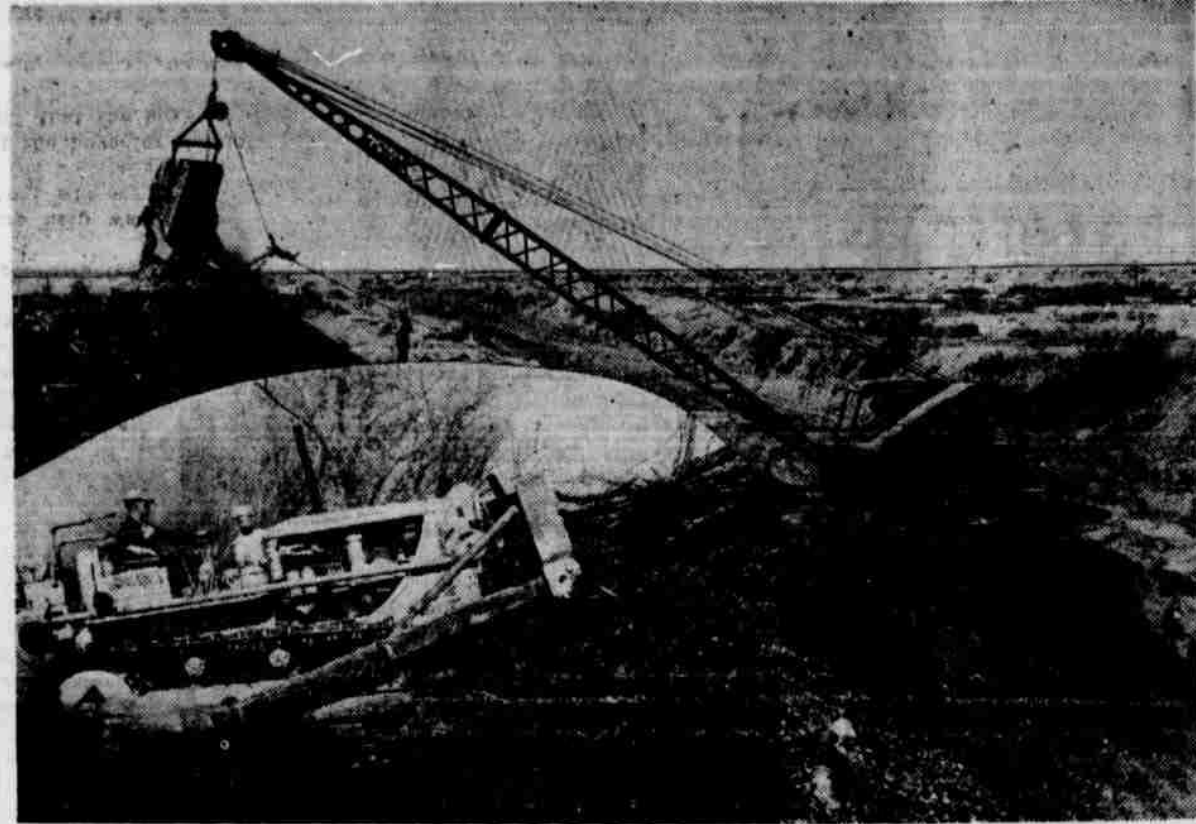

But came the evening when some of the old gang decided they'd take over themselves, throw out the younger boys. And they attempted it. Mr. Darrell had already suggested that these older boys come in every evening after the younger boys left for their share of fun. When they did come, on or two had black eyes and eyed Danny furtively. Good work had been accomplished in two different ways. A number of those older boys became regular attendants at the Club.

The crisis came when Mr. Darrell tried to place Danny in a position with a large mercantile company. The president, who had heard about Danny previously said "Thumbs down on him." But after he heard about Danny's achievement, he gave him a job.

What do you think Danny is doing now? Why, he is a branch manager of one of the stores operated by that president mentioned above.

Overseas Relief Offering To Be Taken Sunday, March 12th

The second Sacrificial Offering for overseas relief will be taken Sunday, March 12. This appeal will culminate in one great hour of sharing, following a special period of publicity in the press and over the radio. Nearly 100,000 congregations will participate in this simultaneous offering for others in One Great Hour of Sharing.

Sacrificial Month begins next Sunday and will continue through Sunday, March 12. It is an interdenominational program. Members of the congregations participating are urged to eat one or more meals each week whose content is that which people overseas eat every day, and in this way share a witness of our concern for these people. The difference between the cost of these meals and that of normal meals will be collected and brought to the churches for a special One Great Hour of Sharing Offering, Sunday, March 12.

Often one desires to have a part in bringing help to people who are in distress, and especially when they are hungry. Christians feel that this is a definite plan in which all families may have a direct share in helping others. Last year, the first year of One Great Hour of Sharing, $760,608.59 was collected from these sacrificial meals and sent overseas by the Committee on Sacrificial Offering for Overseas Relief.

It is a simple method and amounts to a great figure when all of us participate. Simply plan one meal or more a week as closely as possible to the daily diet of the unfortunate people overseas. Take the difference that you would have spent on a normal meal and keep it for your special offering, Sunday, March 12. Listen to Station KVOV for special programs during this time and the final program One Great Hour of Sharing, Saturday night, March 11. Churches sponsoring this program are: Congregational-Christian, Church of the Brethren, Disciples of
