"Straight, Place And Show" To Be Shown At Ritz Theatre

Damon has those Ritzes on the Runyon! In other, and more sober, words, this means that the daffy Ritz Brothers are starred in Damon Runyon's "Straight, Place and Show," which will show at the Ritz Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

The film shows the Ritzes off (as usual) to the races, where they buy horses, sell horses, rent horses, steal horses — in fact they're a little hoarse themselves before the story reaches its 149th, and final, climax of laughter.

Based on a play by Damon Runyon and Irving Caesar, the comic story is spiced by a romantic triangle between Richard Arlen, Ethel Merman and Phyllis Brooks.

The Ritzes play a trio of down-and-out pony track operators thrust into big-time racing when Richard Arlen bestows a thoroughbred on them. In characteristic fashion they build the story up to a series of hilarious high spots topped by their having to ride the competing horse. It is so funny that their own entry can win.

David Butler directed the film, under the supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck. It is the latest of the Motion Picture's $250,000 contest pictures.

Ford Motor Co. Announce New Mercury Eight

The newest car in motordom—the Mercury 8—has been announced by the Ford Motor company as its representative in the lower medium-price field. It fills a place in the Ford-Lincoln line between the DeLuxe Ford V-8 and the Lincoln-Zephyr.

The Mercury 8 is a big car. It measures more than 16 feet from bumper to bumper. Its wheelbase is 116 inches. It is a powerful car, able to crawl smoothly or accelerate quickly in traffic, and with high road speed when desired. Its V-type 8-cylinder engine develops 95 horsepower. It is also an easy car to handle. Hydraulic brakes enable the driver to slow down or stop quickly with light pedal pressure.

In its modern streamlined styling the Mercury 8 bears a family resemblance to the Lincoln-Zephyr, acknowledged style leader of the motor world. Despite this resemblance the new car has a distinct styling of its own, both in flowing body contours and in interior appointments.

Four body types are available on the Mercury 8 chassis and there are eight color options. The body types are a town-sedan, a sedan, a sedan-coupe and a sport convertible. The bodies are exceptionally roomy, comparing favorably with the Lincoln-Zephyr.

All bodies are extra wide, seating three persons comfortably in both front and rear seats. The belt and cowl lines are low, giving driver and passengers wide visibility.

Running boards are narrow and the bodies are widest at seat level. The unusual roominess of the bodies and the large luggage space at the rear are both achieved without excessive overhang, as a result of able designing.

Demonstration Club Meets At Bagwell Home Thursday

The Littlefield Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. W. G. Bagwell Thursday, November 3, with Mrs. Ruth Evans Perry, the agent giving the demonstration on "Pot Plants."

Carrot tops, parsley, pepper and don't forget the bulbs, tulips, hyacinths, and narcissus, are all so inexpensive, but very beautiful and make our homes more liveable and attractive, especially through the cold wintry months.

New officers were elected, they being: chairman, Mrs. L. L. Masengill; vice-chairman, Mrs. Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Sewell, council member, Mrs. Dorfman; alternate, Mrs. Bagwell; parliamentarian, Mrs. Bruce.

Following the election of officers, Mrs. L. L. Masengill was given a handkerchief shower in appreciation of her work as president.

Delicious refreshments were served to nine members and two visitors and the agent, Mrs. Perry.

FORD OFFERS WIDE TRUCK

THIS 157-inch stake truck, dean of the line, is representative of the 1939 Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars. All types are equipped with hydraulic brakes. The line comprises the widest selection of capacities, gear reduction ratios and power the Ford Motor Company has ever offered the transportation field. Including the V-8, two chassis stations and eight Operators may be had virtually any company has ever offered the transportation field.

Two New Fords For 1939 Shown Friday, Nov. 4

The two finest Ford cars in the 36 years of the company's history were given their first public showing Friday, November 4 in dealerships throughout the country. The cars are the 1939 Ford V-8 and the 1939 DeLux Ford V-8. They are individually styled. Both are of compelling beauty. Both have hydraulic brakes.

Introduction of the new Fords climaxes a year of activity which saw the company embark on its current plant expansion, bring out its entirely new Mercury 8, and establish the Lincoln-Zephyr still more firmly as the acknowledged style leader in the automobile industry.

The DeLux Ford V-8, with wholly new streamlines, has a distinctive appearance of its own. At the same time, both it and the Ford V-8 share a family likeness with the Lincoln-Zephyr and the new Mercury 8.

The DeLux has a deep hood with long lines unbroken by louvers, low radiator grille in bright metal, and wide-spaced headlamps set into the fenders. The words Ford DeLux, in script letters of chrome, are divided at the front of the hood. The hood handle is concealed in a vertical extension of the radiator ornament.

The 1939 DeLux is powered by an 85 horsepower V-8 engine of even more rugged construction than the 5,000,000 already in use. The Ford V-8 is offered with the same engine as the DeLux or with the economy 60 horse-power V-8 engine.

Rail Workers Pay Will Not Be Cut

Wages of the railroad workers will not be cut.

The major railroads of the country Friday canceled an order for a 15 per cent wage cut for approximately 930,000 employees in the hope their action would expedite government aid.

The decision forestalled a strike of the workers and cleared the way for drafting legislation to help the carriers.

Withdrawal of the pay reduction notice was recommended last Saturday by President Roosevelt's fact-finding board. J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American matched for the drinks, sending Carl Arnold, who was Lowell Short, to the drug store for the cokes. Mr. Arnold found the drug store, all right, but he went too far back, and after several minutes, found his way back to the meeting, staggering in without the cokes.

J. O. Garlington, president of the Rotary Club, was toastmaster, and F. A. Hemphill was Master of Ceremonies, for the evening. After dinner speakers included David Schein and F. O. Boles.

Good natured pleasantry started this delightful affair, when Mr. Garlington had each person introduce his neighbor, giving the sir name, age and telephone number of those to his left and right.

Another interesting feature of the program was the Charlie McCarthy act, with E. A. Bills impersonating Edwin Bergen, who had a Charlie McCarthy doll, with Bill Chesher off stage. Jokes and happenings were related on the teachers, as the Rotarians had for weeks, encouraged sleuths and psychic experts around the school grounds, "snooping up the scandal."

Miss Viralyn Patrick sang several numbers, with Morgan Layfield accompanying at the piano.

The faculty and board members voted that this affair was the most enjoyable banquet staged.

About 150 people attended.

eight o'clock that night. The thermometer registered the coldest for the season Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, when 22 was recorded.

Other readings as recorded by the West Texas Gas company thermometer were: Thursday, minimum 38 with a maximum of 50; Friday high was 71, with low of 35; Saturday maximum was 75, with minimum of 41; Sunday, high 40, low 26; Monday, high 43, with low 23; Tuesday, high 60, and low 22; and Wednesday, high 66, with low of 27.

About three quarters of an inch of snow fell Sunday and Sunday night, which was accompanied by a high wind, creating a great change in weather to the warm fall days experienced all season.

ed Thursday last to a suite in the new hospital building.

Dr. Wm. N. Orr, dentist, who has been located in the Madden Drug building for several years, had his equipment moved Thursday, and is now prepared to serve his patients in the new Littlefield hospital and clinic building.

Move Patients

The patients confined in the Littlefield Hospital were all taken by Hammons ambulance from the old to the new building Thursday.

The owners of the new hospital and clinic are: Drs. Thos. B. Duke, Roy E. Hunt, J. R. Coen, and Wm. N. Orr, and Floyd R. Coffman, who is laboratory superintendent.

Formal Opening Soon

A formal opening of the new institution will be observed later, when citizens of this city and district will receive a special invitation to visit the new hospital and view the new equipment purchased to render every service and convenience possible to the medical profession.

Monday and Tuesday.

Included in this building will be a band hall, and industrial arts shop for the 6th and 7th grade boys, a home making laboratory for the 6th and 7th grade girls, and one class room.

The school board last week authorized the purchase of four circulating gas heaters, two dozen chairs, and a gas range for the home economics department.

Finished with stucco, the building will be attractive, and will be a great aid to the crowded conditions in the school, it is believed by school officials. It will be a permanent building, and possibly the school can continue for several years without the erection of more class rooms.

1200 VOTERS GO TO POLLS IN LAMB COUNTY

Approximately one fourth of the poll tax holders in Lamb county, went to the polls in the general election last Tuesday.

Out of a potential total of about 4400 qualified voters in the county only between 1000 and 1200 voted. The lack of interest is similar to the condition that was reported throughout the state of Texas, where only 250,000 votes were cast Tuesday as compared to over 1,200,000 votes cast in the August primaries. It will be remembered that nearly 4300 votes were cast in Lamb county at the last Democratic primary.

By way of illustrating the meager interest manifested in Tuesday's balloting, the South Littlefield box with a potential voting strength of 1,000, reports that only 257 ballots were cast.

One of the interesting occurrences of the county voting was a number of filled-in ballots. Several hundred voters filled in the name of Judge L. R. Crockett. The Democratic candidate, Stanley Doss, received a very safe margin of votes to assure his election. Judge Crockett was tremendously gratified by the large number of voters who expressed their confidence in him by filling in his name in the ballots.

It Takes Big Strides Ahead for 1939

Styled bodies combine with major mechanical improvements to provide new beauty, safety, ease, in the 1939 Chevrolets, presented October 22, and featured at the big auto shows this week. They are offered on two chassis, the Master De Luxe and the Master 85, both of which are powered by a six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. The shift mechanism with steering column control, optional on all models at small extra cost, does away with shifting gears. The Master De Luxe series features a new riding system, in which a brand new action mechanism is scientifically co-ordinated with new ride stabilizer and double-acting springs to furnish a smooth, soft ride. # Margie Goes... Snooping and Shopping

That American Legion breakfast will be something to write about next week — Those Legionnaires will serve it without the help of the ladies, but I'll wager that the wives have to wake those husbands that early in the morning, and remind them that it is Armistice.

Lowell Short calling the yard here Sunday night, that he and his family were snow-bound in Slaton. Wonder what he'll do when it becomes winter time and about a three-foot snow!

The exceptionally fine work, combined with the low price and service has won the RC LAUNDRY many customers. Margie says, "Mr. Lotsa Bucks here, is a direct result of the amazing savings the housewife can have if she sends her wash to the RC LAUNDRY!" And — you'd be surprised at the very convenient Helpy-Selfy washing facilities, too. And — Oh, the way they will finish your husbands shirts is marvelous!

Bob Cox still wearing his Poppy Monday morning said he thought the ladies might be selling them again that day.

Alice Lynn Street, Monday morning, very attractive in a becoming green "cape" suit, waiting for the bus at Amberst to start her day's work in the county agent's office, with a cheery smile and a rust colored hat.

One of the most enjoyable places in town that I have found is the warehouse office, where Mrs. John Porcher helps her husband. If you don't know Mrs. Porcher, you have missed the charm and poise of a very attractive lady.

There'll be no more freeze-ups, if you won't take chances with your radiator. Margie says, "Make a date with Roy and Curtis Heard at the City Hall Texaco Station, for there is no cold too cold for them to put Prestone in your car." They not only sell that good Texaco gas and oil, and Seiberling Tires, but they will be glad to "Winter-Check" your car at regular intervals. Besides Prestone, they have that reliable service anti-freeze, Norway. Why not stop at their station today?

Fred Gerlach in the cafe telling the cashier that she can give him dimes in change, since his wife was not along. Mrs. Gerlach collects and saves dimes.

Yes Sir!!! at GRAHAM'S only the finest and freshest food, prepared with consummate skill, is served. Tasty sandwiches and delicious sandwiches all year 'round! At GRAHAM'S you have the chance to eat out, away from home and still be sure of getting food that is just like you eat at home. While you are on a shopping tour for your winter clothes and supplies, stop at GRAHAM'S for an in-between-bite to eat.

The surest cure for the flu, and a good case of amnesia, or blue, I've found, is to call up several of the friends and tell them how nice it has been to know them through the months, and wish them happiness, and tell them goodbye, for you think you'll die before morning.—Then to have them tell you they hope so. I've decided to live, after that, for we all do the things that most people don't want us to do.

Iva Dell Barton and Louise Stephens being among the very graceful skaters at the skating ring Friday night. Everyone has fun there.

Oh, girls, have you let Mrs. Esma Cash give you a facial with those exquisite Lionel Gordon beauty preparations? She has a little booth located at Chisholm's Studio, and those ladies who have received one of her beauty treatments, have been so pleased, and take it from Margie, that you'll be pleased too. Beauty treatments compounded by trained technicians for your individual skin and U.S.P. approved. That's what Lionel Gordon Cosmetics mean. How about talking to Mrs. Cash today?

Amid the cotton, the books, papers, dusters, etc., there was a beautiful bouquet of flowers on Mrs. Cassel's desk at the Harberger-Cassel Giv. Women can enter the realm of business and "shoulder the wheel" like a man, but the femininity will appear on our desks, where we enjoy vase of flowers.

The Methodist ladies are to be commended for the excellent banquet they served to the Rotarians and teachers Thursday night. It was decided Wednesday night to change the plans and have a banquet, so those ladies had to keep very busy all the next day preparing for it.

LOCAL PATRONS TO ATTEND STATE P. T. A. CONVENTION AT LUBBOCK NOVEMBER 15 TO 17

Mrs. Warren Rutledge, president of the local Parent-Teachers Association, Mrs. Orien Dennis, Miss Thelma Killough, Sup., Floyd Hemphill, E. B. Hobbs, and several other teachers will probably attend the 13th annual convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, which will meet in Lubbock on November 15 to 17.

Officers for the triennium 1938-41 are to be chosen, as this is election year, in view of which fact official registration figures are expected to exceed those for previous years. This is the first time the convention comes to this section. Mrs. Rutledge stated, and she especially urges that the local organization should be well represented at this meeting. PTA officers and members from over the South Plains are especially urged to attend, and the convention offers a varied and worthwhile program.

Mrs. M. A. Taylor, of Bonham, president of the organization, will preside at the three day convention, the theme of which is to be "Parental Quests." Nationally known persons who will appear on the program include: Cameron Beck, lecturer and vocation and industrial relations consultant, School of Business Practice and Speech, New York City; Mrs. John E. Hayes, Twin Falls, Idaho, first vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and associate editor of the National Parent-Teacher magazine; and W. Roy Breg, executive secretary, Allied Youth, Inc., Washington, D. C.

The local arrangements committee, with Mrs. Robert J. Allen in charge, is making elaborate entertainment plans for the thousand or more registered delegates expected for this convention. Plans also include a tour of the city and a tea for the visitors.

gears; I want—"

"You want too much. You're only a girl and what's worse, you're a young lady! Laugh that off if you can, Miss Jocelyn Harlowe."

"Hush! Not here. Here I'm Lynda Sandal."

At that Nick threw back his head and laughed.

"You win. And I surrender. Lynda Sandal, I hereby take you as my child for better or for worse and promise to show you all the reality and the adventure I can decently supply. In order to seal our compact and to show my sincerity," he stood up, lifted his hand in a great gesture and raised his voice, "Lynda, I want you to meet some of my friends."

At the changed timbre of his voice, the four card players turned.

"Boys, I want to present to you my daughter, Miss Lynda Sandal. Mr. James Drury, Mr. Saul Morrison, Mr. Gustave Lowe. Jock Ayleward, my protegee and my protector."

Jock rose and bowed. He was the young man with the queer eyebrows and the flexible nose, the one who had thrown the knife.

"Don't stop playing. May I watch the game?"

"We're quitting, Miss Sandal. So long, Old Nick. See you later at the hunting grounds, Ayleward."

They went, slipping into tight neat coats, slapping on their hats at rakish angles, smiling at Lynda last with probing looks.

Jock stayed near the table gathering up the cards.

"Why did you knife the Knave of Diamonds, Mr. Ayleward?" asked Lynda watching him.

"He's an old enemy of mine, Miss Sandal. He looks like a real knave I know."

"Well," drawled Sandal from behind them with sudden suave severity, "next time you throw knives on my premises I'll kick you out of here."

Jock turned to smile at him with sweetness.

"I'm sorry, Old Nick. When I think of that Felix face of his it brings the devil up into my brain. I go blind."

Jocelyn found herself stammering. "A F—Felix face? You mean—the Knave of Diamonds? Why do you call him that? He reminds you of some one named Felix whom you hate?"

"Well, yes, Miss Sandal. A regular knave—"

"But, please tell me, Felix who?"

"Hold your fool tongue, Jock," cried Nick fiercely. "And get out of here. Can't I have my rooms to myself sometimes without a cub of a card-sharper loafing about them?"

Ayleward, scared and blinking, like a boy that has been cuffed ruthlessly unintelligible excuse and got himself and without warning, flustered some out hastily.

Jocelyn turned to her father as the door closed.

"Why did you stop him? Was it—has it anything to do with my Felix?"

"No, you little idiot! Didn't you ever hear of Felix the Cat? I thought not. You don't know anything, do you? He's a cartoon pussy of varying adventures. You leave our lingo alone, girl, until I give you a few lessons. I stopped him because once he gets on that Felix Cat subject there's no getting rid of him. Come and sit down here."

Before she left her father, that strange adventurous night, Jocelyn questioned him:

"What is the hunting ground?"

"A gambling place."

"Do you hate my mother?"

"I've outgrown hatreds."

"Do you want me to marry Felix Kent?"

A shrug. "Mr. Dooley said, 'Take the first one that asks you. They're all alike.' Kent has money so for me. He takes care of me now, you must know. It's fair enough."

There was a time when I took care of him."

"He loves you, Father. I can see that when he smiles."

"He's not a bad scout but don't get romantic with him, Lynda. He's he'll probably run straight."

"Do you suppose he'll make me happy?"

"No, my dear. No man has ever made a woman happy. She must manufacture happiness for herself, or acquire none."

"I think that you and my mother are alike."

"God forbid!" he murmured.

"You do hate her! I mean, alike in this one respect. Neither of you has found happiness in being loved."

After a long and troubled silence she asked him "When may I come again to see you?"

"Whenever you please, my dear, or can make it convenient. I am nearly always at home. Most of the time on this old sofa. Every day I find it harder to get about."

"Oh, Father, can't something be done?"

He shook his head.

"Jock has done what he could not the man your Felix is, for instance. He has a poor outlook in life and a character which might be called unstable."

"He's loyal to you."

"Uh-hum."

"There's a sort of stability in that."

"Uh-hum. Emotionally I should say he was a sort of bulldog. But that's because, perhaps, he's not been coddled any by life. He knows the value of the few people that care for him."

"Who else beside you, Father?"

The bright-eyed cripple laughed in a low and taunting key. "About a dozen women, roughly speaking."

It silenced Lynda on that theme.

He put her himself into a taxicab, escorting her down through the house with its rumors of revelry and play.

Jocelyn's secret life had been almost smothered out by its strong and ancient enemy, the conventional idea; and since her arrival in New York her mother had given the fire and verve of the girl nothing to feed upon except the one bright longing to escape.

Marcella should have moved even more rapidly. Now, with the front

The Germ Process adds in to this oil a patented man-made substance that sets up a strong force of attraction between Germ Processed oil and every engine surface it touches. Even the upright surfaces instantly attract and hold Germ Processed oil in the form of lasting OIL-PLATING. This OIL-PLATING can never drain down—any more than chrome plating—during the longest, coldest parking. Never letting loose, OIL-PLATING can't shoot out of the engine, but remains a constant help to your oil-level—one of the smartest reasons for changing to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco Germ Processed oil. # RAPTURE BEYOND door of her life barred, Jocelyn had climbed out of a window in the immemorial fashion of all jalled adventurers. In these strange days and nights that followed her first escapade Jocelyn found herself saying, as she contemplated her two guardians with those changed eyes of hers: "How can they be so blind? How can they be so blind?"

They were, however, more sensitive to her perhaps than she imagined. One evening Felix questioned her. Heretofore Jocelyn had been the questioner.

"Why," he asked her, "do you look so conventional tonight?"

Jocelyn was wearing white and her hair was sleek as an otter's skin about her smooth rich face.

"You used to say I didn't look as I ought to; conventional, that is."

"Tonight you do."

He went over to her, sat on the arm of her chair and bent above her, capturing her in one strong arm.

"Look, child, I have to be away from you for a fortnight presently." Her heart went plunging, whether for joy or sorrow she could not for the life of her have told.

"When I come back don't you think we could shorten this engagement of ours a little? I'm weary of convent airs. 'I want a wife!'"

Jocelyn's eyes leaped to her mother for aid, for rescue.

Marcella spoke in measure as though she were reciting.

"I can see no reason for keeping you waiting much longer, Felix. I did say a four months' engagement but it seems to me that you have tested each other's affections now sufficiently, have had time to draw sufficiently, have had time to draw close to each other. Of course we must wait until the end of the Lenten season. It might be possible to arrange for a wedding then. While you are away in Arizona I shall go to the sisters. I will ask Cousin Sara Mullet to come and stay here with Jocelyn."

"I think the girl will be glad to have this little interval of loneliness. She will be able to prepare herself for the great—for the happy change."

The girl looked from one to the other.

"You mean you'll both go away? You'll leave me alone here for all those days before—before—?"

Felix bent to her lips. Before his own fell upon them he said in a low key, "Much safer for you, my darling, to be rid of me just now." And the kiss she dreaded fell upon her with the anguish of a blow.

Swiftly the thought came to her, "I shall be free. I shall be almost free."

"I don't think," she said and there was an echo in her voice of Nick Sandal's irony, "I don't remember that either of you has asked what I want, have you?"

Felix laughed with tenderness. Marcella protested, "Jocelyn!"

Jocelyn turned to them, her face bent down and her smiling eyes listed.

"I don't say no, Mother. And, Felix, I don't say yes."

Their faces locked into tyranny and anger, both controlled as out of indulgence to a child. "But while you are both away," she confronted their tyranny with proud and secret eyes, "—I will—decide."

Events shaped themselves rapidly to make her quest of the truth possible. Cousin Sara came, an old woman with an ear trumpet, very active and very lame, who gaddled about the city all day with a passionate enthusiasm for shopping, and went to bed at night exhausted by her own nervous activity. To superintend Jocelyn's trousseau, to buy what must be bought, to stow it away, all this was a sort of wistful heaven to the poor old lady. She did not even begin to think of understanding Jocelyn.

After Felix had been gone four days — and Jocelyn rather anxiously recognized that she missed him — and after Marcella had been buried in her convent for as long a time, after Cousin Sara had settled in like some squirrel-creature to the routine of acquisition and repose, there came a night—Mary's night out, when Jocelyn drew from her old trunk the pleated skirt and the small dark jacket and the tam-o'-shanter and ran her fingers through her hair.

It was a thick night with fog across the river and a multitudinous voice of horns and bells, the lights all spered to golden fruits: Aladdin's garden, thought Jocelyn.

This time she found her father in the outer room his lodging, alone. At her knock a footstep hurried to the door. It opened and Nick stood before her. He seemed for a flash disappointed at what he had found there on his thro-hold. "I didn't expect to find you here," he said. "I'm glad to see you. Enough! Please get back to your room!" "For the present, then may I have your room?"

Amherst Study Club Have Informal Coffee Saturday Morning

Perhaps the most outstanding social event of the season in Amherst was the benefit coffee Saturday morning, Oct. 29, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Herndon, when members of the Amherst Study Club were hostesses. Mrs. C. M. McFall, Mrs. J. M. Whitfield, and Mrs. Allen White had charge of the arrangements for this delightful affair. The guests were invited by cards, stating that some members of the club would call for them one day last week, not stating what day. When the hostesses called for them at their homes Saturday morning, they went just as they were dressed, making the affair very informal. The spacious home of Mrs. Herndon was beautifully decorated with carnations and marigolds. The table was covered with lace, and the large bowl of flowers in the center was very attractive on a reflector. Mrs. C. M. Goffer poured, and the hostesses served hot gingerbread as the guests arrived from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock. About six ty one guests called during the morning. Those who attended from Littlefield were: Mrs. Pat Boone, Mrs. Janie Phippe, and Mrs. J. M. Stokes.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. White Vacationing At Mineral Wells

Mr. and Mrs. George White have been vacationing at Mineral Wells for the past two weeks. In Sunday's issue of the Mineral Wells Index, the following account of their visit, appeared. Believing it to be of interest to the readers, the Leader is publishing it as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. White of Littlefield, Texas, are in Mineral Wells for their regular semi-annual visit and are guests of the Baker Hotel. They have with them their son and daughter, George and Donna, ages three years and eighteen months, respectively.

"Mr. and Mrs. White are truly a part of the ranching tradition of Texas. They own and operate the Yellow House Ranch, consisting of twenty-three thousand acres, located in Lamb and Hockley counties. This ranch is the headquarters for the original Yellow House Ranch of some three hundred thousand acres of land, purchased in 1901 by the late Geo. W. Littlefield, uncle of George White, and C. P. White, his father. This amount of land was bought from the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company of Scotland and in arranging the terms of the purchase Major Littlefield secured the right to pick their land from any of the three million acres owned by the syndicate. He selected the south part of the Capitol syndicate holdings and with Mr. White made the Yellow House Ranch a famous and successful cattle domain. One year they ran 27,000 head of cattle and it has always been one of the leading ranches of the great state of Texas.

"The Yellow House herd of cattle has been constantly improved and this year George White raised a

Littlefield Wildcats To Play Levelland Here Friday

The Littlefield Wildcats lost their second game as a result of a tie Friday night at Olton, as the Mustangs held them to a 7-7 draw.

The Mustangs kept their northern record clean in District 5-B by score dealocking of Littlefield, when penetrations were equal at one-all, first downs became the consideration, with the Ponies prevailing.

In last week's game with Ralls, Littlefield again lost the game, the Jackrabbits winning on penetrations. The defeat from Olton almost eliminates Littlefield from the district and practically cinches the northern half of the district race for Olton, undefeated in three conference games.

The Wildcats have been playing excellent football this year, considering that the boys are all light in weight, and only five lettermen. They held the Ralls Jackrabbits and the Olton Mustangs to close scores, and only a streak of hard luck caused them to be eliminated from the district.

The locals are primed for a good showing in the game Friday afternoon here at 2:30, with the Levelland eleven. Don't fail to give the Wildcats your continued support.

Farmers Plan For Educational Programs For Discussion Of AAA

Committeemen from the communities in Lamb county, and presidents of the Home Demonstration clubs, and representatives of the seven districts met with County Agent Don Turner Tuesday afternoon in the County Agent's office, and discussed the education features of the A. A. A. and the Domestic Allotment plan.

Plans were made for educational programs to be held in the communities in Lamb county, for preliminary meetings to the referendum. The referendum, which must be held by December 10 under the law, concerns one question, whether marketing quotas are desired. Soil conservation features of the program continue in 1939.

Belief was expressed at this meeting that West Texas farmers as a whole are satisfied with the program.

Mrs. D. G. Hobbs Given Surprise Birthday Dinner

Mrs. D. G. Hobbs was pleasantly surprised last Friday night, October 27, when members of her Sunday school class of the Methodist church, met at her home for an informal buffet dinner. PRAIRIE WEEDS

Gathered by OLE DRIFTER

Howdy Folks:

Woss you dare Cholly? They told on each other - I never was so badly fooled in my life. When those Rotarians and school teachers started swapping lies about each others' ages - it was just no place for a respectable liar like myself. Why - the way those folks handled the truth was a caution - and right in church too. I think it was a shame the way them fellers made fun of the poor hard-fishing trustees. When I listened to the orful things that Charley McCarthy said about some of the gals - I made up my mind that I was going to lead a better and cleaner life - from now on out. They ain't goin' to pin nothing on me - when I grow up - not much anyway. They said it was a swell blowout. Purses - I refined, and likes my shadigs more culchered - you betcherlife I does.

The ladies of the P. T. A. are arranging for a great big whopping Amateur Night, and take a tip from your uncle Davey - "DON'T YOU DARE MISS IT." It's going to be some show, the things you'll see - the things you'll hear - will be worth ten times the price of admission - and I don't even know how much the admission is going to be. But I do know, that the proceeds of the evening's entertainment, will go towards the purchase of a Metronoscope for the local schools. Yes sir, we're going to have the first school on the Plains, to have this wonderful reading equipment for the youngsters. Ain't it wonderful to have such a fine Parent Teachers Association? Of course, I'm going to be there. What's more - I'm going to tell all my sisters, cousins and aunts - you are too -

SURE!

Over in Dear Old England - they certainly go to extremes when they suffer from curiosity pains. About two or three hundred (What's a Hundred Years Between Old Friends?) - years ago, some Brit-tisher got a strong whiff of Bacon - while reading one of Shakespear's plays, and they've been fussing and arguing ever since, over - "Who Wrote What?" The other day - they dug up Edmund Spenser, who had been lying serenely - in Westminster Abbey, for 339 long years. Old Ed refused to divulge any information. You know - when these Old English Poets are mellowed in the wood, for three-centuries or more - they usually learn to keep things to themselves. Better luck next time - YE MERRY OLE GRAVE DIGGERS.

Whenever I feel that misfortune is giving me an extra push, I turn to the column conducted by Dorothy Dix, and my troubles fade to insignificance. As far back as I can remember - people have been quizzing Dorothy about everything imaginable, and - a lot of things, that your imagination won't even stretch to. The other day - a couple who sign themselves "PUZZLED" open up to Dear Miss Dix! - with their puzzle which is "My mother lives on the West Coast, and wants my husband and I, to join her. She has $20,000 but she won't turn it loose. My husband has a swell job where we are, and he don't want to go west - there on such a vague expectancy (She mentions that her mother is in excellent health.) - What must we do? Quick as a flash - the wise Miss Dix, shoots back to them - "My advice to you is stay where you are." Oh yes, she qualifies her judgment with about four hundred words of perfectly good reasons. I was going to list them all - but I got to thinking that maybe - you haven't got any relatives with $20,000 out on the West Coast - so the details would not interest you. What I started to tell you is - there never was a mental ailment but what you could find a cure for it. And - Dorothy knows practically all the cures - just like that!

During the first week in December, the Little Theatre group will present three one act plays, a full evening's entertainment. There are 22 people cast in the three plays and - I believe, Littlefield will have just cause for pride - in their own dramatic group. There have been many delays - caused principally by the participants, inexperienced with strenuous rehearsals. That difficulty - is now removed; the casts are completed and working hard towards really finished productions. I hope to present some very worth-while productions. No - you won't have to go to Dallas or Houston for your good stage shows. You shall have them right here in Littlefield, and with your own talent. By the way - you'll be surprised at the amount of fine talent we have discovered.

When Col. Edward H. R. Green passed away leaving behind him a paltry $36,000,000 estate, he suddenly became a most desirable citizen. Four states which had not previously, paid a great deal of attention to the son of Hetty Green, decided that he had belonged to them. When Green died in 1936 - the federal government - first abstracted the trifle of $17,520,987, and then they said - "Take It Away America." Texas was the first state to claim a substantial levy; then followed New York, Florida and lastly - Massachusetts, with profound reasons why they should be considered as the real home of the erstwhile playboy and normal. If I'm boring you or you happen to be more interested in to-days price of pinto beans - I respectfully call your attention to the grocery ads which appear elsewhere in this issue.

So long, DAVE SCHEIN.

LAMB COUNTY FARMERS SHOULD FEED MORE LIVESTOCK

By Travis Dyer

which first prize Travis Dyer in the H Contest, is as Agent, Mr. Turner W. T. McKinney, need the idea to us and here on the ing our grain and through livestock. was never without ed livestock as a e same sense as a without thinking of advantages. Since I aring this essay, I t the subject is so ral advantages are feel I am rendering ervice to compile ew of the most im- ges. vantage is that live- furnishes a market n feeds. My dad e the governmental orks fine for a ecause we have a feed with little cash al for feeding live- on, discussing this I find it profitable grain through live- y hogs pay me two ed for the grain I feed them. A number of the neighbors have found that cattle pay well on being fed low priced forage crops with supplement and grain. Feeding therefore becomes profitable from a ready cash stand point by supplying another cash crop for Lamb County farmers. Pages could be written on the advantages that this extra income would mean in the various development of the County, but I wish to discuss another advantage.

"Feeding livestock will increase home consumption of meat on Lamb County farms. There is estimated to be 127,000 farms in Texas without even a milch cow. Farmers should not have to buy meat products or dairy products. Animals fed and dressed under the farmers supervision are best suited to his own needs. Home grown foods are more healthful than refined foods.

"Feeding more livestock will encourage a centrally located refrigeration plant with aid of its advantages in preventing spoilage of meat. J. M. Jones of Texas A. & M. College says, "The average American consumes 150 pounds of meat annually. The Texans' average is far below this." At this rate, Lamb county citizens are capable of consuming approximately five million pounds annually. One authority says that it won't be long until the meat will be divided: one-third used fresh; one-third stored in refrigeration lockers; and one-third canned.

"The feeding of more livestock in Lamb county will encourage co-operative marketing, and thus bring a better price for finished livestock as well as other advantages to such a system.

"The climate is well adapted for raising livestock. The stock may stay in the open a lot and escape the disease that exists where close housing in cold weather is a necessity. Our county is seldom visited with the common disease that run rampant. We also are free from tick infestation.

"Livestock farming naturally goes hand in hand with other good farm practices including conservation. By this I mean conservation of water, soil, and feed. Last fall my dad sold nearly three thousand dollars worth of cattle to a local market for slaughter. As the trucks rolled out our gate, my brother remarked, "There goes three thousand dollars worth of cattle with a total of only $9.00 worth of soil fertility." I think he meant that cattle returned 95 per cent of soil fertility to the land. In comparison to cotton, those cattle have a contrast along this line. In studying agriculture, we sense the idea that we have no right to mine our farms. In doing so we rob the coming generation who is going to live here. We as farmers just do the managing for the time we are on the land.

"Livestock farmers will call for highest production of land to meet any requirements of stock and therefore conservation in its every sense. Terracing and contour listing will become an important practice throughout the county, livestock will encourage conservation of soil by use of trench silos, grinding and other conservation practices. Not only valuable succulent sugar juices will be saved in silos where there is insurance against fire, theft, rats, rot weevils, sand and rain. In practicing conservation with livestock, we do not rob our posterity but actually give them advantages by handing them nice farms fully protected against erosion which is better than money in the bank. Besides this and permanent fixtures and equipment for feeding stock that we leave them our written records of organized planning which throws down a challenge for them to do as "In closing I wish to name the last and best advantage livestock furnishes a farmer, economic security he does not have the worried look on his face that men who gamble on large cash crops have. His subsistence is sure, with his home living and several sources of income.

"Perhaps the greatest of all is the contentment which feeding good livestock brings. In interviewing farmers we find stock men are not in the shade cussing the government or the weevils but out working with their hobby, their aim, their interest, and their hopes. Such men feel a contentment that would be worth our while to acquire.

"I wish to give my appreciation to the farmers with whom I have talked and those who gave me ideas for writing this essay."

attractive with autumn leaves as centerpiece and favors and nut cups were gold and russet, completing the autumn color scheme. Highlight of the evening was the burlesque school board meeting, when "Slim" Smith, impersonated by E. A. Bills, presided. Norman Renfro as the one and only Ernest Cundiff, arrived with a white hat crushed on the back of his head; and no matter what question was discussed in this meeting, he always wanted to know "If they could play football?" F. O. Boles opened the discussion at this meeting, as Ben Lyman, asking the members what they thought they should charge the out-of-town students, when they started to the Littlefield school. The answer was unanimous with, "Nothing if they can play football." J. W. Keithley, who impersonated Frank Lehman, asked the applicant, Miss Eliza Simpkins, if she could coach the "Minuet of Paul Jones." She answered, "No, but I can knock the spots out of the "Big Apple!" Miss Simpkins is better known about town as Mrs. C. E. Payne. Less Hewitt, who was the dignified Professor, F. A. Hemphill, was chased across the banquet hall by Susie Glutz, who was raging because she had been locked in a room accidentally with the Superintendent, and she asked to be re-instated. Miss Glutz is better known as Mrs. R. E. McCaskill. Pryor Hammons, representing Dr. Orr, wanted to know how much money was allowed in the budget for the board members' fishing trip. Carroll Blacklock, impersonating F. S. Hanks "Grilled" the applicant, before the members of the board

The Armistice Is Signed! -20 Years Ago

NEW YORK CITY... "On With the Dance" was the cry of these young women as they made a dancing floor of the pavement below the Mayor's office window on November 11, 1918, when they received news that the Armistice had been signed and their loved ones would soon come home.

ROCKY FORD COMMUNITY OFFER FIVE ACRE TRACT ON WHICH TO CONSTRUCT NEW CLUB HOUSE

Twenty-seven members of the local Chamber of Commerce and five guests were present for the monthly luncheon Tuesday at noon at the Presbyterian church. Guests were R. W. Tucker, local engineer for the highway construction work in Lamb county, and Paul Herman, E. J. Bussanman, C. L. Rogers, and Balford Rochelle, all of the Rocky Ford Community.

J. S. Hilliard Presides J. S. Hilliard presided in the absence of the president, E. O. McIver. He gave a report of the district ground water conference in Lubbock Monday, which he and B. L. Cogdill attended.

Members of a state-wide committee discussed the proposed bill to be introduced to the Legislature to the January Legislative session, seeking to conserve diminishing underground water resources. After a public discussion by representatives from eight counties on the South Plains, opposition to the legislation was made, and those present from this district voiced that they wished to be exempt from the bill affecting the South Plains.

Donate Club Site Mr. Rochelle, president of the Rocky Ford Community club, introduced the other visitors from that community, and stated that the people there would like the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce to consider their donation of a tract of land for the proposed community Center Club House. Tentative plans have been made for the building of the Club House in the Fieldton community, but citizens in the Rocky Ford community are offering a five acre tract of land, for the building there. Mr. Herman pointed out that their community was nearer the center of the county, and the location chosen by the community was near Black Water Draw, where a county lake could be built. The tract is also located on highway 51.

To Investigate Proposition The Chamber voted to investigate the proposition, but they will not approve either location, as the Commissioners Court will consider the locations and vote on the one most suitable. However, a committee was appointed by Mr. Hilliard to meet with the county commissioners and discuss the matter.

Mr. Tucker of the highway department stated that a crew of men was working on the north side of the sandhills on highway 51, as well as on the south side, and the caliche base would soon be laid on the north end of the road in Lamb county.

Mr. Hilliard also reported that surveys would start soon on the east-west highway, that was recently designated as a state highway, by the state commission.

FEDERAL BLDG. CONSTRUCTION TO START SOON

Posts Set At Four Corners Of Location; Plans Being Prepared

The first steps in actual construction of the new Federal building were taken last week, when four solid cement posts were set at the four corners of the lots. The architectural plans are being drawn, and they will be submitted to the Postal Department in Washington, then bids will be let for the construction. The $70,000 appropriation for the new building has already helped local labor, and some of the funds have been paid for local labor.

W. D. T. Storey stated Wednesday morning that materials would be laid on the grounds, and the actual building would start in the very near future.

DEMO NOMINEES PUT INTO OFFICE IN STATE VOTING

"Ham And Eggs" Candidate Victorious In Freak California Campaign

Incomplete returns from the various states, where elections were held last Tuesday, indicate that most of the strenuous contests ran pretty close to expectations. In New York state, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, the incumbent, defeated his Republican opponent "Rackets-Buster" Thomas E. Dewey, by a comfortable majority; Senator Robert Wagner (D) was an easy winner in his race for re-election over his Republican adversary John Lord O'Bryan, New York attorney. Both of these candidates had the support of President Roosevelt, in Pennsylvania, Governor George H. Earle was defeated for the U. S. Senate by Senator James J. Davis, Republican.

Sheridan Downey (D) sponsor of the spectacular "Ham and Eggs" program, appears to have defeated Philip Bancroft, the Republican candidate for the United States Senate. Californians also voted on the referendum calling for "50 in script for everybody on Thursday of every week." The vote on the Utopian referendum was very close yesterday and definite results could not be ascertained.

Senator Guy M. Gillette, of Iowa, appeared to be leading over his Republican opponent ex-senator L. J. Dickinson, in their race for the U. S. Senate. Leverett Saltonstahl (R) carried Massachusetts in the gubernatorial race, winning over James M. Curley, the democratic candidate.

Charles Sawyer (D) appears to have carried Ohio in his race for Governor, winning over John Bricker, his Republican opponent. Other winning candidates are: Rep. James Mead, to the U. S. Senate from New York; Julius Hail (.) appears to lead for Governor of Wisconsin, over his two opponents, whom was Phil LaFollette; Sen. Fred Van Nuys of Indiana, is holding a small margin; Senator Arthur James (R) leads over Charles A. Jones, the democratic candidate for governor in Pennsylvania, and Senator Bennett Champ Clark (D) won his re-election race over former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield, in Missouri.

Texas Vote Very Light

All Democratic Nominees Swept Into Office

Approximately one fourth of the number of votes were cast in Texas, last Tuesday, as compared to the record balloting at the two primaries in July and August. Early returns indicate that W. L. O'Daniel will draw about 250,000 compared to less than 10,000 cast for his Republican opponent Alexander Boynton. The highlight of Tuesday's election was the emphatic repeal of the dueling provision, which went into the constitution in 1876. Several of the democratic nominees for state offices polled a heavier vote than did O'Daniel. Governor Elect O'Daniel was not able to vote because he had failed to pay his poll tax.

The following candidates were elected: Lieutenant-Governor: Coke Stev-
