

Approval Of U. S. 84 Bond Vote Won't Raise Taxes In Littlefield, Sudan Road Districts

Amherst District Tax Would Go Up Slightly

A note to taxpayers in Lamb County road districts 1-A (Littlefield area) and 4 (Sudan area): You can let down your guard. Approval of the U. S. Highway 84 right-of-way bond elections isn't expected to sock either district with increased taxes.

Road district 3 (Amherst area) taxpayers won't have to be overly cautious, either. No knock-out punch is headed their way.

Amherst Up 7 1/2 Per Cent

The tax levy in the Amherst district, according to the best estimate available now, will be increased 7 1/2 per cent if the district votes its bond issue.

This combined tax announcement—no tax increases in district 1-A and 4 and only a small hike in district 3—came Monday from the county commissioners' court.

The court added that these plans are based on current valuations in the three road districts.

Commissioners made their announcement after studying bond schedules prepared free-of-charge by a recognized bonding company.

Three Elections Slated

The three bond elections call for a $239,000 issue in the Littlefield district; $65,000 in the Sudan area; and $39,500 in the Amherst district. Approval of the issues by voters would set up right-of-way funds for four-laning the road across the entire county.

The separate votes are scheduled Tuesday, July 14, with two-thirds majority needed for approval in each district.

County Judge Pat Boone Jr. said balances in the interest and sinking funds of road districts 1-A and 4 had accumulated to the point that no tax increases will be necessary in those districts—provided the bond market stays at substantially the same level it currently occupies.

Tax Set-Up Outlined

Taxpayers in all three road districts now pay 95 cents per $100 assessed valuation for county taxes, 42 cents for state taxes and a nickel for High Plains Water District taxes—a total of $1.42.

To this is added the road district tax levy of 80 cents in road district 1-A, $1.00 in road district 4 and 60 cents in road district 3.

That makes the property holder pay a total of $2.22 per $100 assessed valuation if he lives in district 1-A; $2.42 in road district 4; and $2.02 in road district 3.

The figures for 1-A and 4 would remain the same, but property holders in district 3 would pay $2.17—up 15 cents or about 7 1/2 per cent.

Amherst Tax Explained

A road district 3 farmer with an assessed valuation of $4,000 now pays $80.80 cents a year—or $2.02 for every $100 of assessed valuation.

The same farmer would pay $86.80 if his district approves its bond election—or $2.17 for every $100 of assessed valuation. Approval of the election in his district would mean an increase of $6 per year to him.

A road district 3 resident who pays taxes on $2,000 assessed valuation on his house in town now pays $80.40 cents a year. With the tax increase, he would pay $84.40 a year—an increase of $3 per year.

A simple way for an Amherst district resident to figure his tax increase is to multiply 7 1/2 per cent times the amount of money he now pays in county taxes. If he now pays $100 in taxes, he would pay $107.50 if the bond issue is approved.

15-Year Bonds In 1-A

The bond schedule provided by the bonding company for road district 1-A quoted figures for 15-year bonds at 4 1/2 per cent interest.

Schedules for the Sudan and Amherst districts also were figured at 4 1/2 per cent interest, with 12-year bonds in the Sudan district and 13-year bonds in the Amherst district.

Interest of 4 1/2 per cent is the same as last year.

C-C Planning Four Farm Dinners, Two Goodwill Tours Of Area Towns

Plans are under way for at least four farm dinners in the next three months and arrangements are being completed for two goodwill tours of the area in July, Chamber of Commerce officials announced here this week.

C-C officials hope to hold the first of the series of dinners in mid-July, with the first one possibly at Whitharral.

A fourth C-C committee, the public relations group, has been preparing for two goodwill tours of the area for several months.

Caravans of at least 10 cars will take Chamber members to 19 area towns, 11 on July 18 and 8 on July 25.

The goodwillers will wear top hats which will bear a printed invitation of "Y'all Come to Littlefield."

Plans also call for the group to give away parking permits, entitled area residents who receive them to park free the next time they visit Littlefield.

The first trip will take the caravan to Spade, Olton, Springlake, Earth, Dimmitt, Hub, Bovina, Friona, Muleshoe, Sudan and Amherst.

The second trip on July 25 will include Anton, Whitharral, Leveland, Whiteface, Morton, Enochs, Bula and Pep.

Both tours will be all-day affairs, with each starting at 8:30 a. m.

Hail Hits Scattered Points

Wet Weather, Hail Continue In County

Wet weather and scattered hail continued to plague Lamb County over the weekend and early this week, dropping heavy rainfall at various locations Saturday and again Monday.

Hail was reported Monday night in a four-mile strip near Rocky Ford, in two sections north and west of Earth, south of Amherst, and near Olton.

Damage from hail late Saturday was reported south and west of the Spade community and north and east of Olton.

Thunderstorms Monday night dropped 2 1/2 inches of rain at the Jack Yarbrough place south of Amherst. Yarbrough reportedly lost most of his cotton to hail.

The Bill Roper and C. Slaughter farms were in the area near Rocky Ford which received heavy hail damage Monday night.

A. J. Cummings, who farms west of Earth, reported hail damage at his place Monday night. The hail covered about two sections north and west of Earth.

Saturday night hail wiped out cotton on the Howard Giles and Truitt Sides farms north and east of Olton. Hail was also reported north of Earth that night.

The Cecil McCoy farm three miles west and one south of Spade was hit hard by hail Saturday night, leaving only the stubs on some cotton.

McCoy's neighbors had hail, too, but not as heavy. Some farms in that area reported 2 inches of rain that night, but the nearby Joe Prater farm had only .75 of an inch in three days.

Hail also was reported south-east of Spade, but it was light and did little damage.

South of Littlefield, the storms dropped 1 1/2 inches of slow rain on dryland farms Monday night. (Continued on Page Four)

'Hams' Plan 'Disaster' Operation

There's no reason to expect anything but calm Saturday but the Lamb County Amateur Radio Club will be set up for "disaster."

Members of the club will be taking part in a 24-hour alert from 4 p. m. Saturday until 4 p. m. Sunday.

They'll be operating at the high school building under disaster conditions, assuming that Littlefield has lost its communications, commercial power, telephone and telegraph lines—all contact with the outside.

"It'll give club members a chance to use some of the emergency training they've had," says Hubert Carrico, a member of the club.

Loss of communications with the outside, says Carrico, could easily happen in a real emergency and it would be left up to "ham" operators to handle all types of communications until other services could be restored.

In a real disaster, separate ham radio stations would be set up to handle city, county, state, law enforcement and fire departments. (Continued on Page 4)

Burglars Strike At 3 Firms Here

Burglars struck at three Littlefield firms sometime Tuesday night, taking $40 in cash from one, nothing from another and a spare tire from the third.

City and county officers Wednesday morning were investigating break-ins at Tunney Moore Appliance, Plains Eggs Producers and P. W. Walker Grain.

At Tunney Moore's, the intruders poked through a screen, unlatched it and raised a window to get inside. They took $40 in cash from a cash box.

Plains Eggs was entered the same way, but the burglars found nothing in the cash register.

At the grain firm someone got into the elevator and stole a spare tire off a pickup truck and left.

3 Hurt, 1 Seriously, In Highway 84 Mishap

A 20-year-old college student headed toward Littlefield. A student at Abilene Christian College, during the school year, he had been selling Bibles at Anton, using this project to finance his college work.

Miss Connelley was driving toward Lubbock. Lawson said the two cars "hit a water hole." The highway was slick and it was raining at the time. Both cars were over the center stripe when they collided, he added.

The wreck was the second in three days on the rain-slick highway.

In a mishap about 5:30 p. m. Saturday, three persons were hospitalized after the car in which they were riding hit a pool of water about 8 1/2 miles east of Littlefield on U. S. 84.

The car veered off the road and hit a culvert, according to officers. The vehicle landed in a ditch in about three feet of water.

Injured were Earl Downs, 54, the driver, his daughter Mrs. Jack Mullins, 30, and grandson, Steven Mullins, 1, all of Bearden, Ark.

Downs and the child were dismissed from Medical Arts Hospital here Tuesday. Mrs. Mullins was in good condition Wednesday morning. She was being treated for eye and jaw injuries.

Littlefield Latin Jailed On Liquor Law Violation

A 23-year-old Littlefield Latin American was jailed by officers here Sunday after his arrest on a charge of liquor law violation.

Bond was set at $1,000 for Ray Trevino after he pleaded not guilty in county court.

The Latin was arrested by Liquor Control Board Agent Loyd Dunlap and County Deputy Elson McNeese.

The officers made the arrest outside the Sports Arena, where a Mexican dance was in progress. Trevino was charged with possession for purpose of sale.

Twelve half-pints of liquor were confiscated by officers. They also found part of a broken bottle, which the officers said Trevino threw away as they were making the arrest.

The Latin was out on bond at the time of the arrest. He was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder by a Lamb County grand jury earlier this year.

 maximum allowed in the proposed bond issues. Interest at the time the bonds are sold (sometime after approval of the elections) could be lower, depending on the status of the bond market at that time, said Judge Boone.
 There have been two previous bond issues in road district 1-A, a 1941 issue that will pay out in 1961 and a 1946 issue scheduled to pay out in 1966.
 Balance in the interest and sinking fund for road district 1-A totals approximately $90,000, enough to pay out the 1941 issue and make possible the addition of the proposed $239,000 bond issue without an increase in present taxes.
 Road districts 3 and 4 have had one issue each, and both are scheduled to pay out in 1966.
 The Sudan district has an interest and sinking fund balance of about $19,000, which would help to make possible the addition of the district's proposed $65,000 issue without a tax increase.
 The bond election figures for each road district were set at a total of $343,500 at a hearing held June 11—with the Littlefield district set at $239,000, Amherst at $39,500 and Sudan at $65,000.
 The total of $343,500 represents half the cost of right-of-way on the highway across the county. Each road district figure represents half the cost in that particular district.
 The state, under the State Highway Commission's policy, will pay the other half of right-of-way costs if the project is approved by voters.
 Figures set up in the three road district elections are based on an appraisal by Homer Robbins, a Lubbock appraiser employed by the county last December.
 The widened road would follow its present course across the county except for two planned by-passes, both of which are in road district 1-A, the Littlefield area.
 One bypass would go slightly to the south at Bainer Switch, around a gin. The other is the proposed Littlefield bypass, which would leave the present highway east of town, skirt the southern edge of the city and rejoin the present course just west of the city.

Report From Washington: By George Mahon

Congress Not Expected To Pass Farm Labor Bills At This Session

By GEORGE MAHON
This report is about agriculture. FARM LABOR: Hundreds of letters from West Texas farmers indicate serious concern over the proposal that minimum wages be established for farm labor. Farmers complained that they cannot raise wages in the face of dwindling income. Their concern is well-founded.

It continues to be true that there is no likelihood that Congress will pass at this session any of the pending bills fixing minimum wages for farm labor. However, the Secretary of Labor advocates minimum wages for farm workers and he has not backed down from his position that he can, under existing law, in effect fix minimum wages and establish standards of employment for farm labor recruited through the United States Employment Service across state lines. He has referred the issue to the Attorney General. Briefs have been filed in opposition to the Secretary's contention. The matter has been before Attorney General Rogers for many weeks, but he has not acted.

As to Bracero labor, indications are that the program will operate about as it did last year. Final negotiations on the new agreement with Mexico are now underway. The two-year extension of the law becomes effective July 1, 1959.

COTTON: There are several items of interest. Certain railroads have instituted action to reduce freight rates on cotton. I have joined with others in asking that this benefit be passed on to cotton farmers in slightly higher purchase and loan rates than those announced by the Department, I believe this will be done in the near future. This may mean about a million dollars to West Texas producers.

WHEAT: The House and Senate have passed wheat bills. Agreement between the House and Senate on a final version of the legislation has not been reached. A compromise version raising the support level from 75 percent of parity to 80 percent and providing for an acreage cut of 20 percent has been voted down by the House. Further efforts to agree on a bill to send to the President are under way. The outcome is uncertain. There is the threat of a veto by the President if the support level is increased, even if accompanied by a sharp acreage reduction.

About Your Health

Call them red bugs. Call them harvest mites. Call them chiggers. By whatever name, they mean sleepless nights and ceaseless spasms of itching misery. This is their season. It will last from now until cold weather cuts into their ranks. A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority of us are oh-so-susceptible.

They—the chiggers—have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass harbors them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The fiery itching is caused by an anticoagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers—large red and velvety—are probably harmless to humans, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. Not that they spread any specific disease—at least not in this country—but their bites demand scratching which frequently causes secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

To learn where chiggers are harboring, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you suspect their presence. If after a few moments you see tiny yellowish or pinkish mites accumulating on the upper edge, you know it's time to check your supply of insecticide.

Chiggers attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking humans. No distinction is drawn between man and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used successfully for years to control chiggers. Nowadays, the new insecticides such as chlorodane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A quick word of caution: Be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries. (A weekly feature from the Health Education Division, State Health Dept.)

with no acceptance, no agreement. But there is often a time within which you can accept the offer. And if not, the offer ends anyhow within a "reasonable time" which is determined by circumstances and the parties' intentions.

Smith had a set of books which Brown wanted. Brown wrote and offered him $200 for the set. Smith didn't answer for six months, and meantime Brown bought a similar set. One day Brown got a letter from Smith saying "I accept your offer of $200 for the set of books."

Brown told Smith he'd bought the books elsewhere, but Smith still claimed that his belated "acceptance" had nevertheless sealed the contract with Brown.

What is a reasonable time? It varies. The offer could expire in a few minutes in the stock market or last for a quite a while, depending upon what a court would think is a reasonable time.

But in Smith's case six months was unreasonable. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should every apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

The first transcontinental airplane flight was made by C. P. Rodgers in 1911, from New York to Pasadena, Calif. He stopped en route to refuel.

Government Loan Limitations: Amendments to farm bills have passed both the Senate and the House which would fix limitations on government loan and purchase programs at $35,000 to $50,000. I have opposed these provisions. If these provisions should be enacted into law as now written, all farmers in my judgment, would be affected adversely as a result of the over-all consequence of such action. Quite a large number of West Texas farmers would be affected adversely on a direct basis.

Compromises are being sought which would soften the limitation proposals. One proposal would give any farmer unlimited access to the loan, but would provide that the limitation could not be exceeded at the time the title to the pledged crop is taken over by the government. Details of what may happen are not yet clear, but there is every indication that some limitations on loans and payments will be provided by law.

Threats From The Soviets:

"Has the balance of the power in today's world shifted to Soviet Russia and away from the U. S.? Would Russia win and the U. S. and her Allies lose if war should break out now or in the foreseeable?"

These enormous questions, which are being asked throughout the world, lead off a U. S. News and World Report article entitled: "Soviet Threats Power or Bluff?" In seeking answers the magazine went to military and diplomatic leaders both here at home and in key capitals overseas. Here are its findings.

First, we are still ahead of the Russians in the ability to wage total war—that is, nuclear war in which the ultimate weapons would be employed to bring absolute destruction to an enemy. We would, however, sustain devastating damage on our own side even in victory.

Second, the Russians have an overwhelming edge in the ability to wage non-nuclear wars—that is so-called limited wars in which conventional weapons and only the small tactical atomic weapons would be employed. Her armies are far larger than those of ourselves and our Allies and are powerfully supported with air power.

Our military leaders think it will be some time before Russia will have enough long-range ballistic missiles to cancel out present superiority in intercontinental manned bombers. It quotes a top-level general as saying that about all-out war: "Assuming exhaustion of nuclear stockpiles in the early exchange, both U. S. and Soviet Russia would lose their major population centers and the bases needed for support of large-scale military forces operating beyond their borders. If, under those circumstances, the concept of 'residual superiority' can be entertained, the margin probably would lie with the United States because of its greater and more efficient industrial transportation system.

"The problem of the U. S. then would be twofold: to find the will to go with the war; to reorganize so that the war could be pressed until the enemy surrendered."

At the same time, many military men are doubtful if the total weapons would be used in another war. Both sides, they think, would shrink from unleashing them and, perhaps, ending civilization as we understand it.

U. S. News also quotes an American authority as saying: "Is in the realm of national strategy and supporting military strategy that the balance of power seems unmistakably to be in favor of the Russians.

"They seek destruction of the non-Communist world and gear all strategy to that concept. The U. S. seeks only to contain the Communist nations and has no plan beyond that. . . . There is, in other words, a lack of national direction on our side—and that, say the military men, becomes an increasingly serious weakness in our position.

Finally, U. S. News presents an interesting British view of U. S. - Soviet rivalry. It is based on the belief that a delicate balance is being approached, if it does not exist now.

Specifically: "In a few years the British experts conclude, the difference between American and Russian thermonuclear striking power will be academic. Both will possess enough to totally devastate the other. Then the glowing 'nuclear stalemate,' they believe, may be complete."

Fact And Opinion

Fortune magazine reports: "Last year U. S. pharmaceutical firms spent an estimated $170 million on research. During the same period the British pharmaceutical industry spent only $11,200,000. The difference spelled success for some twenty-five subsidiaries of U. S. companies in Great Britain. U. S. firms completely dominate the British antibiotic and tranquilizer market, supply an estimated one-half of all the ethical drugs prescribed by the country's physicians."

The Tax Foundation notes that the 48 states (excluding Alaska) spent $23 1/2 billion in the 1958 fiscal year, are likely to spend $25 billion in the current fiscal year, and around $27 billion in fiscal 1960.

Senator McClellan of Arkansas, head of the Special Senate Investigating Committee, urges Congress to subject all transportation unions to anti-trust legislation.

a semester for various campus services. Bill passed the House last session, but died in the Senate on the last day. Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria was Senate sponsor. Heatley, Fly and other supporters pointed to the crying need for new money and said college presidents were urging the bill. Opponents said there were better places to get money than from working their-way college students who would rather do without the football tickets, parking spaces, etc., covered by the fee.

PUBLIC BEACHES ASKED - Providing public access to Gulf Coast beaches is the only non-money matter submitted by the governor to the new session.

House passed such a bill overwhelmingly last session, but it died in the Senate on the last day.

A recent State Supreme Court ruling changed the general conception of where the boundary line is between private and public ownership along the coastline. To clear up resulting confusion, the House passed a bill for a "public easement" of 200 feet from the low tide mark. It also prohibited fences or other obstructions.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston re-introduced the bill in the new session.

AUSTIN, Tex. - At it again, for the third time this year, Legislators go into the second special session wearier, but wiser.

Midnight wind-up of the second session brought show-down votes indicating what each house will and will not accept in the way of a tax program. Next conference committee on taxes will know that the line of compromise must be more finely drawn between Senate and House thinking.

In addressing the new session, Gov. Price Daniel reminded lawmakers of the "up against it" state of things. "Every function of state government depends on enactment of an appropriation bill before Sept. 1 with a tax bill to support it," said the governor.

State's fiscal year and present appropriations run out Aug. 31. Unless a new appropriation bill when the House rejected, 117-to-10 can go into effect the next day, 23, a conference committee tax the whole state operation - including hospitals, schools, employee salaries and pensions - will stop.

dignant at three of the five House appointees signed the conference committee report which House opponents called a "complete surrender" to Senate wishes.

House assed a tax bill that was divided out 50-50 between taxes on business and selective sales taxes. Senate pared back the business taxes to about 18 per cent, added new or heavier sales taxes to make up the difference.

Conference committee proposed a bill that would have raised $177,660,000 with essentially the same taxes approved by the Senate plus a temporary hike from $1 to $1.20 drivers licenses.

Appropriations conference committee was reported deadlocked and never made a report.

After the new session opened, most of the same taxing and spending bills were introduced again, including the twice-killed abandoned property bill.

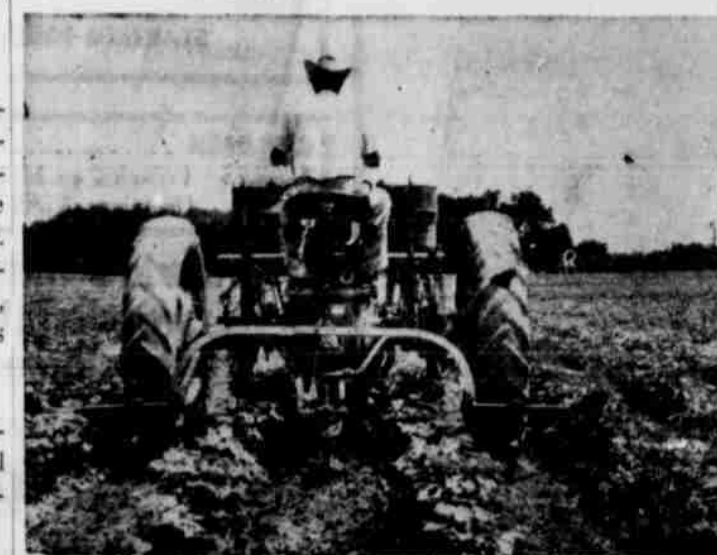

House quickly re-passed the same appropriation bill it had passed before. Most bills are expected to follow the same pattern they did in the last special session - up to the point where the conference committees start working out differences.

ONE MADE IT - Only major money bill to make the grade is the bookkeeping bill, passed by both Houses and signed into law by the governor.

Effect of the law is to change accounting procedures so that an estimated $28,000,000 more will be credited to the state's general fund when the fiscal year runs out Aug. 31.

It means that much less than that to be used to balance the books. STUDENT FEE BILL BACK - Rep. W. S. Heatley Jr. of Paducah re-introduced a bill to let colleges require students to pay up to $30

Here's Advice To Officials With No Time To Think

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably is misinterpreting the news again, or at least twisting it around to fit his own convenience, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: President Eisenhower was making a speech in Washington the other day and he said one of the troubles many of the men in government have encountered is the lack of time to do enough thinking. "High officials of government tell me they don't have enough opportunity for contemplation," he said, and announced he was going to try to figure out some way to remedy this.

I am afraid though he is going to run into some snags. Take the high officials in the State Department, the ones concerned with foreign policy.

Now if I had the job of studying about the present state of the world and figuring out an answer, I believe I'd get too busy doing something else to think about it too. For six weeks now the foreign ministers of the leading nations of the world have been meeting in Geneva to try to figure out what the leaders of the world's governments could talk about at a summit meeting. So far they haven't gotten anywhere, every time they bring something up, Russia throws a monkey wrench in it, and it's at a time like that, if I was over there, I'd get too busy to think too.

When you stop and consider what would happen to the world if an atomic, hydrogen, chemical, bacteria war broke out, it's not hard to get so busy doing something else you don't have time to think about it.

I have hit on a system out here on my Johnson grass farm however which might come in handy to high government officials. When I have a knotty problem facing me, like going up one row and down another on my tractor, I find I'd rather think about it than do it. A lot of people think I'm lazy because I let my farm run down, but me and President Eisenhower know if the world needs anything it needs more thinking.

I guess there are some people who haven't got time to think, but frequently when a man doesn't think, it's not for lack of time. Thinking is hard work and you're not going to catch me taking the easy way out riding a tractor under a hot sun.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

The standard of the world in Value

When you take your first journey in a 1959 Cadillac, you will be amazed at how much more value is received for so little additional investment. For no other motor car returns such generous dividends in luxury . . . convenience . . . and satisfaction. And, as the seasons pass, there is still another wonderful fact: a Cadillac, year after year, returns a higher percentage of its cost on the resale market than any other motor car. Visit your dealer soon and be persuaded by economy.

Safe Driving Tips Listed For Big July 4th Holiday

"Share the Road -- Arrive Alive!" In these words Major R. A. Crowder, commanding Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has urged all motorists to support the Share the Road program of the Department of Public Safety for the July 4th holiday. "To stay safe in traffic, the driver must be keenly aware that he's not the only one on the road," Major Crowder said. "He must keep in step with the others and share the road with them," he continued. Crowder said this involves, first of all, a willingness to share, and then the skill and judgment to do the right thing at the right time. He gave the following rules as a guide to drivers to help them fit their driving to the pattern of holiday traffic.

- 1. Keep alert. Develop Defensive driving. Study the road ahead for accident situations. The higher the speed the farther ahead your attention must be fixed.
2. Think ahead and plan emergency measures. Know your own and your car's capabilities. If the car ahead should suddenly block your lane, could you stop? Could you swerve to avoid an accident?
3. Be adaptable. Get the feel of changing traffic, road and weather conditions and adjust your speed immediately.
4. Pace yourself by the traffic around you. This includes noting traffic behind through constant use of your rear-view mirror. Don't race, leap, or ride the bumper of the car ahead.
5. Take only your share of the road -- in the proper place. Keep in the proper lane. Pass only when you see you have ample time and space to avoid cutting in and out. Signal all turns and lane changes.
6. Obey to the letter all traffic laws, signs, signals and the dic-

Littlefield following a collision of his car and that of Miss Ray Davis at the intersection in front of Landers Filling Station Monday morning. Mrs. Taylor received minor injuries. Taylor sustained a broken left arm. Miss Davis was not hurt but both cars were damaged extensively.

Mrs. Tom Burrus hosted a gift party at her home east of Whitharal Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret Marrow of Lubbock gave the show. Mrs. Elva Crank was the "lucky lady". Punch and cookies were served by Marsha and Gail Burrus and Jenny Sue and Billy Jack Milburn to Mrs. Crank, Mrs. Marrow, Mrs. Ray Anderson, Mrs. Henry Jones, Mrs. Jack Milburn and Mrs. Burrus.

be ready when the mail needs to be moved. "Like most other important innovations, the Metro Plan is basically simple," says Postmaster Joplin. "It contemplates collection of mail between 5 and 11 p. m. from various offices within the metropolitan area and return of other mail to those offices between 1 and 7 a. m. Most of the mail collected is worked at a designated office at the core of the metropolitan area between 11 p. m. and 1 a. m."

The major had a special word to say about the enforcement of traffic laws over the July 4th holiday. "Careless and reckless drivers are going to be arrested by members of the Department of Public Safety. Every available man in my command will spend extra hours patrolling, not to see how many arrests can be made, but to see if a few lives can be spared this Independence Day in order to make it a safer and more pleasant holiday for the safe, law-abiding driver."

Plan To Speed Mails Announced By Postmaster

Postmaster Arbie Joplin is anxious that all residents obtain maximum benefit from the Post Office Department's new Metro Plan, a program designed to expedite delivery of mail.

"Theoretically, the plan is excellent," says Postmaster Joplin, "but in practice it will be only as good as users of the mails choose to make it."

Under the Metro Plan, which Postmaster General Summerfield has called "the most significant improvement in mail service yet anywhere within a particular metropolitan area before 5 p. m. on a business day will be delivered to any point within that area the next delivery day."

By June 30, 1959, 85 million citizens, more than half of the population of the United States, living in 45 metropolitan areas will receive next-day delivery service for first-class letter mail. And by July 1, 1961, 125 million people living in 85 metropolitan areas are scheduled to receive next-day delivery service.

Postmaster Joplin points out that in the past mail transportation has been adapted to existing train, truck, and airplane schedules. Sometimes this meant good, and sometimes not good enough, mail service. Now this poor relative concept of mail transportation is changing. In stead of going along when the ride is ready, the ride will now duct in the administration of their official duties. Fixers and influence peddlers who swarm around the agencies like flies around a jug of molasses have been told by Rep. Harris to keep their distance. He wants to make certain there is no repetition of such an incident as the Adams-Goldfine bad odor. "We want," Rep. Harris told us, "to build additional safeguards against repetition of conditions which made possible charges of improper influence in some cases. Agency officials must be beyond reproach in the conduct of their official business."

Standards of Conduct The independent agencies are directly responsible to Congress, rather than to the Administrative branch of government. They have rule-making as well as quasi-judicial powers that permit them to both interpret and enforce their rules.

Rep. Harris plans to hold hearings later this session before the House Interstate Commerce Commission, of which he is Chairman, on legislation he has introduced to establish "standards of conduct" for increasing "the confidence of the public in the efficient, fair and independent operation" of the regulatory agencies. Passage of such legislation would go a long way toward putting into effect the recommendations we made for raising the operating standards and increasing public confidence in the integrity of these agencies.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

By LOUISE ALLEN "Are we mice or men?" "He'll not make a monkey of me!"

Mice and monkeys are probably the butt of more human-being jokes than any other animals. The mouse is poked fun at for his lack of courage. We say of a woman's hair that it's mouse-colored, when we mean it lacks beauty. We call a man a mouse when he's short on spirit or bravery. We say a person was mousing through a drawer or shelf, meaning she was rummaging messily.

Monkeying around is meddling. We call a mischievous child a monkey, or we make a monkey of a person when we cause him to become a laughing stock. Probably the comical appearance of these little animals with their almost-human faces accounts for the worst usage. Yet first mice, then monkeys have been used by scientists to pioneer human reactions in outer space. And while the mice never got there, at least they were forced into a role of bravery beyond that of man. The average American doesn't give a hoot about rodents and primates. He wouldn't know a house mouse from an African tree mouse, or a rhesus monkey from an Abyssinian baboon. He isn't particularly interested in what mice and monkeys eat, where they prefer to live, or what if anything they think. But he's terrifically interested in the scientific
