L. FISHER LIVES LIFE BY DROWNING SAT.

Occurs While On Picnic To Carlsbad Caverns

The largest crowds ever gathered for a funeral at Amherst gathered Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to pay tribute to Lee Fisher, 18, who lost his life while drowning about 7 o'clock Wednesday night, when on a Junior picnic to Carlsbad with members of his class.

Services in Auditorium The funeral services were conducted in the school auditorium, Amherst, Texas, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. E. C. Raney, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. E. R. Dickenson and Rev. E. R. Dickenson and Rev. E. R. Dickenson, Baptist pastors, with Rev. E. R. Dickenson as the officiating minister. The casket bearers were Amherst school junior class girls, while the pallbearers were: James Carp, Bennett Qualls, Ellis Stagner, Davis May, and Har-

Had Gone on Picnic

Fisher was a member of the senior class of Amherst high school and had gone to Carlsbad with the Caverns with the members of his class. The school left Amherst Friday, and went through the Caverns, to a cottage camp grounds 17 miles from Carlsbad on the river. The youth, who is reported to have been subject to epilepsy, was swinging on a rope from a tree, which took him out into the water, when he lost his grip. Reports indicate that minutes elapsed before his body was recovered from the deep water.

Regular S. S. Attendant

Fisher was born April 17, 1921, in Lawton, Okla., and moved with his family to Amherst in 1927. He graduated in 1933, and was always a regular attendant at Methodist school and church at Amherst.

Fisher is survived by his parents, Mr. H. R. Fisher of Rocky Mountain, Wyo., at home; his sisters, Vivian, at home, and Aaron Craig of Glendale,

First National to Close Saturdays at Noon After May 1

As announced by J. C. Elms, cashier of the First National Bank, Littlefield, the local bank, starting this Saturday in May, being May 1, will close Saturdays at 12:00 noon for the summer months. Elms stated this was being done in order to try to as near as possible stay within the 44-hour wage and hour administration regarding to banking houses.

"We always got them — eventually," said E. B. Hobbs, principal of the Littlefield high school, in commenting on the robbery which was staged at the school Thursday night or early Friday morning, when more than $6 in pennies, nickels and dimes in seven fruit jars was pilfered from Mr. Hobbs' office. The money represented the penny-a-vote pool in a popularity contest, sponsored by the Student Advisory board. The thief cut the screen on one of the windows, broke the small pane near the lock, reached his hand through and unlocked the window, making it possible to raise the sash and crawl through. The "liberal thief" left one of the jars, containing about 70 cents. Apparently nothing else was disturbed but the jars containing the money. School authorities are inclined to believe that the offender had inside information, and they are at work ferreting out the culprit. Principal Hobbs stated that it had been his experience that — whenever there is a guilty student they are invariably apprehended. Sometimes it takes 6 months or even a year but they rarely fail to betray themselves or be betrayed.

The popularity contest is definitely over, Mr. Hobbs stated, each class named their representatives, and there is no way to determine who might have been ahead. The contest was scheduled to close this week.

HELP FEED THE CHILDREN—!

According to information received from the ladies who have been sponsoring luncheons for undernourished children at the Littlefield school, they have nearly exhausted the funds subscribed for this much-needed activity, and unless additional donations are received before the end of this week, the free luncheons will be discontinued.

Those in charge claim that the work should go on for two more weeks. When asked as to the amount required to carry on this work until one week before commencement—Mrs. John Street, who has been supervising this work, said that it would take about $35 to carry on for the two weeks' period.

The work was instituted by the Parent-Teachers Association, together with the various church groups and clubs of the city. Up to date the sum of $170.48 was received; up to April 24, 2,528 meals had been served and there was a balance on hand of $16.81, which was barely enough to see the present week through.

Teachers and school officials said that this activity has had a marked effect on the students not only from a standpoint of improved health, but also in the matter of better grades and improved studying.

Those wishing to make contributions should do so at once by notifying either Mrs. Anne Rutledge or Mrs. James A. Von Lankin.

Fifty Years—

Ever since we can remember, the harpooning and cartooning of bankers, has been a most popular sport. When a comedian or after dinner orator want to make sure of a laugh, they spring a gag about a miserly, cold hearted banker. Thus—the common conception of our financiers, is of an ogre whose brain cells are absorbed by dollar marks.

Occasionally something happens that places our bankers in quite a different light. Last Thursday, the people of Dallas, started on a three days' celebration to honor a banker. Nathan Adams had rounded out 50 years of service with the First National Bank of Dallas. One thousand bankers, business leaders and laymen attended the testimonial dinner, and paid a well-deserved tribute to this man who had so big a part in the civic development and industrial progress of his city and state.

Many things have happened in Dallas since the year 1889. This half century — just past, has seen the hub of Texas emerge from a small town to the metropolis of the southwest. It would take much more time than a mere three days; to recount the contributions in energy, interest, time and money, that Nathan Adams has made through those 50 years of building and "Going Forward With Dallas."

Mr. Adams has been first to last, a banker; but there was not a single day throughout the years, when he was not deeply conscious of the needs of his community and his fellowmen. So—in the evening of his life, there came to him full recognition and deep appreciation.

After all — such a man has done much more for the world — than the blatant reformer who spends his life beating the political drums or the militant leader who records his victories with a very loud voice. Oh yes — there is a very distinct niche in the Hall of Fame for some bankers.

Attention, Mothers—

Last week Helen Hayes, America's greatest and most beloved actress, appeared before a Senate House committee, and pleaded with them to pass the measure which will admit 20,000 German refugee children to this country.

"Only a mother," she told the committee members, "can understand the anguish that forces parents of these children to welcome the prospect of sending them into homes far away, and, perhaps, forever." Miss Hayes, the wife of Playwright Charles MacArthur has two children, one of her own and one adopted. She expressed her willingness to adopt one or more of the refugee children.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, author of one of the proposals, told the committee: "In this plan lies the most immediate and practical contribution which could be made by our liberty-loving people to the cause of human freedom. By long tradition, America has been a haven for the oppressed. The admission of a handful of unfortunate children can mean very little in the economic life of a nation of 130,000,000 people; but it means a great deal, for us and for the whole world, as a symbol of the strength of our democratic convictions and our common faith."

It seems to us that here is a fine opportunity for the thousands of women's clubs throughout the country. These organizations are constantly searching for special activities and interests; why not get behind this movement to take care of the refugee children. Right now—is the time, by concerted appeals to their congressmen and senators, this fine proposal would be quickly converted into reality and America would carry on in the tradition of the most humanitarian nation on earth.

Howdy Folks:

Kansas City must sure be paved with gold; politicians grab millions; dope peddlers grab a few more millions and the great home of the glorified T. Bones goes serenely on. You heard the old one about one side of the river being dry and the other wet, well, whether it's true or not, the fact remains, that there is plenty of mud and dirt on both banks at K. C.

The glamorous Dorothy Lamour and Herbie Kay of Springtime fame have decided to call it a day, as far as marital propinquity (whatever that means) is concerned. I was going to use a couple terms like — "splitting together"; but it dawned on me — that plain language would not do at all when describing the affairs of the only Lamour and Herbie. You can't describe the doings of glamorous folks like you would if you were talking about ordinary people. Herbie, very graciously, allows that Dorothy has her career to think about. It seems to me that Herb did considerable for her career; he picked her up when she was elevator operator in a Chicago department store and started her on the ladder. I'm regretted and I'm going to buy my glamour under a different label.

A 44-year-old boarding house keeper, who was on trial for poisoning her stepson, stopped the proceedings, and dramatically admitted having killed three members of her family — for the insurance money. The moral is:—when you're in Philadelphia, be careful about your boarding house; don't tell the landlady about your insurance, and watch her when she cooks your soup — you might live longer.

Notice where the American Philosophical society honored one of our native sons by electing him to membership in that August body.

Mrs. Milford Glazener, the former Miss Alene Fraley, was honored with a miscellaneous shower April 17 at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lon Campbell, when Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Otis Smith, Mrs. Walter Fraley, and Mrs. Glazener were hostesses.

Bula School Board And Superintendent Enjoy Fishing Trip

Carl Tidwell, Vern Weaver, F. L. Simmons, J. A. Johnson, and G. M. Daugherty, had a very enjoyable fishing trip near Austin in Burnet county. The group returned with a good supply of yellow catfish. Mr. Simmons was chief angler, and Mr. Weaver was chief fisherman. Mr. Daugherty was chief fish and trout expert. Carl Tidwell and John Johnson ran foot races with the group logs that broke around one camp fire in their vicinity. The group brought back about 150 pounds of fish. This is the second trip the school board has made and is becoming an annual affair. With only the week end to fish in and a long drive the time limit was the big concern, but a good time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. N. H. Humphries and Misses Oleta Parker and Dorcas Fraley presented the honoree with many beautiful and useful gifts in a box made attractive with crepe paper and cut flowers. Cut flowers added to the attractiveness of the entertaining room.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following people attending: Mesdames Frank James, F. H. Glazener, Roy Wade, Carl Smith, C. O. Griffin, N. H. Humphries, A. C. Tremain, Roy Gilbert, Willis Giddens, and E. C. Fraley, and Mesdames Jacqueline von Lankin, Evelyn Griffin, Erma Lettett, Lee Hernegar, Dorothy Fraley, Oleta Parker and TyJuana Fraley.

GUEST SPEAKERS TO FILL PULPIT AT METHODIST CHURCH HERE SUNDAY

Guest speakers will fill the pulpit for both the morning and evening services at the First Methodist church Sunday, April 30. Strauss Atkinson, well known young man, who has been prominent in local business and the First Baptist church for a number of years, will be heard in the evening at 7:45. Mr. Joe Salem, merchant of Sudan and superintendent of the First M. E. church school of that city, will address the congregation at the morning service at 11 o'clock. Mr. Salem's active Christian life and success in business are outstanding evidence of the fact that he will bring a helpful message. Visitors from throughout the community will be welcome to both services.

CHURCH OF CHRIST Littlefield Drive T. M. Cummings, Evangelist

Sunday services: Bible study 9:45 a. m.; worship 10:45 a. m.; meeting of young people for Bible study 7:45 p. m.; preaching 8:15 p. m. Other services: Bible class for ladies 3 p. m. each Monday; regular mid-week study and devotional 8:15 p. m. each Wednesday. Minister's sermon subjects next Lord's day: "Respect for God's Word" (morning); "Baptism of the Holy Spirit" (evening). In the morning sermon it will be shown what is involved in holding respect for God's Holy Scriptures. Showing respect for the Bible is much more than just saying or feeling that you believe it and respect it. Hear the sermon, it will help you to save your soul. The evening sermon is a discussion of a controverted theme. But practically every important doctrine of the New Testament is controverted. We must not forget them merely because they are controverted; we must earnestly study them to show the proper respect for the word of the Lord. It is commonly thought by religious people that we today are baptized in the Holy spirit. If you hold this view we especially invite you to attend the evening service. You will hear a Biblical sermon.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The pastor is glad to be back for services at home. The Lord blessed our efforts in a wonderful way in the meeting at Wink, Texas. We appreciate the reports of the good services during our absence. We are looking for a good attendance at all the services next Sunday. Be in your place and on time for Bible school at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship 11 a. m. The training service meets at 7 p. m. Evening worship at 8 p. m. ROY SHAHAN, Pastor.

Southern Women Eager to Tell!

"One is bound to be gratified by the enthusiasm of Southern women for CARDUI!" says one of the Touring Reporters now conducting a Query in Southern cities.

"Of the 1297 CARDUI users we have seen so far," she said, "1206—or 93 out of every 100—said it definitely benefitted them!" CARDUI's remarkable success in helping weak, rundown women who suffer from headache, depression, nervousness, and other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, is explained by the way it promotes appetite and digestion, and so builds physical resistance. Try CARDUI!

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts live at Surrency, and Mrs. Roberts is the former Miss Mary Nell Keithley, of Littlefield. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keithley, are quite elated over their new granddaughter.

Local Hospitals Represented At Fort Worth Meet

Floyd Coffman, superintendent of the Littlefield hospital, and Misses Ella Simmons and Margaret Taetgold, registered nurses of the Payne-Shotwell hospital, attended the meeting of the Northwest Texas hospital and the Texas Hospital association, which convened at Fort Worth Thursday, Friday and Saturday last.

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be recognized as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, who approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for functional kidney disorder and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be warning of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all pained out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

Pres. of Rebekah Assembly of Texas is Honor Guest of Local Lodge Friday

Littlefield and Sudan Rebekah lodges met in a joint called meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, at which time Mrs. Mary Ranbarger, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, visited officially and presided at a school of instruction. A lovely banquet was served at the Littlefield dining room at 8 o'clock, in Mrs. Ranbarger's honor. The refreshment table was beautifully laid with green Rosewood pottery bowl of pink double petunias on a reflector as a centerpiece. Corsages of sweetpeas on a background of green down the center of the table completed the decorations. Small hand-painted bee hives were used as place cards. Mrs. Helen Wood very graciously presided as toastmistress, the program being as follows:

Invocation: Mrs. J. E. Brannen, following which Mrs. W. J. Aldridge, Noble Grand of Littlefield Rebekah lodge, was introduced; and she, in turn, introduced and welcomed President Mary Ranbarger. Mrs. Mattie Lowe, Vice-Grand, then introduced each officer and member in a very poetic manner. Mrs. Viola Ivey, Past Grand of Sudan, introduced members of Sudan lodge in a like manner. Mrs. Roy Wade concluded the program with two lovely accordion numbers, "Cathedral in the Pines," and "Little Sir Echo."

Mrs. Lynn Wright, who is an appointive officer of the president, was honored with the privilege of presenting a gift in behalf of Littlefield Rebekah lodge to the honor guest. Approximately 30 officers and members attended the banquet. Others attending besides Littlefield and Sudan members were: Mrs. Saverance and Mrs. Stone of Lubbock, and Mrs. Fay Holladay, Dollie Hanks, Mike Brewer and Miss Kathleen Brewer, who were initiated into Littlefield Rebekah lodge Monday evening at a regular meeting.

Mrs. Ranbarger was a guest in the home of Mrs. W. J. Aldridge Friday night and Saturday. She was also a tea guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wade Saturday afternoon, and visited Mrs. Wm. N. Orr, who is confined in the Littlefield hospital.

Mrs. Ranbarger was accompanied on these visits by Mrs. Lynn Wright and Mrs. W. J. Aldridge.

Mrs. Ranbarger left Saturday for Amarillo, where she will be a guest for a week in the home of John F. Ross, Junior Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas, and Mrs. Jessie Ross, Past President of the Rebekah assembly. She will visit various lodges and associations during this time, the most prominent being the Panhandle association Tuesday, at Hereford; the Grand Lodge, N. M., at Clovis, Wednesday, where George I. Brill, Past Grand Sire of the Sov. Grand Lodge, spoke, and the South Plains association at Abernathy, Thursday, April 27, of which Littlefield Rebekah lodge is a member, and they will participate in competitive degree work at that time.

A number of Littlefield Rebekahs and Oddfellows attended the Grand Lodge of New Mexico Wednesday, and are planning on attending the South Plains association today (Thursday).

NINTH INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS

The wealthy foster parents, the Wetherills, both die she after telling that she has adopted her, that she was adopted by her own parents couldn't afford to support both of them and her real name is Dorothy Gay. In the world, but with a foster mother, she considers loosing her own family whom she has seen. A neighbor, Evan Brewer, tries to argue her out of the house he loves her and to marry him. She promises to think it over but decides to stay with her family. She goes to her address, finds that they have moved and gradually persuades them to accept things they need. The doctor calls to see her and notices that she seems interested in her sister. She goes to church in Brentwood where her family used to go. She becomes very much interested in the young minister there, and she later has lunch in the parlor. While at Brentwood she meets her family formerly known as the Reavers. They give it back for them and she decides to go to her father's home in the morning.

A long time before the turkey was over just taking it out of the oven and was filling the water glass there came a ring at the door. Ted went to open it and stood Gideon Reaver with a white package in his hand. He tied up in ribbons or seals for Christmas present, though as though it would like to be a rubber stamp.

He welcomed the young man and said, "Where do you get that?" he cried as though he himself had appeared.

"I mustn't," said Gideon. "I just stopped to leave a book for your sister. I'll send it over and this is the chance I've had. Also I'll ask if you folks wouldn't like to have our Christmas service at 9 o'clock."

"Come on in," said Ted. "I'll meet you at the door. I'm not in such a hurry you know. A minute, are you?"

"I'm not in a hurry at all!" Ted smiled, "but I don't want to intrude on Christmas."

"I'm not in a hurry at all!" Ted, opening the door and pulling his adornment in. "Where do you get that?" he suddenly turned and looked on Betty's face as she came into the dining room excitedly the hall door, with a brown steaming turkey under her arm.

"I don't like him to invite me in! Betty would be probably Christmas would be spoiled! Poor Ted! He'll get through the introduction."

Marjorie came shining into the room and welcomed the guest, and felt better. Then his father and mother were both very kind, and Ted beamed, though all the time of Betty's visit.

and the turkey in the background. Betty put down the platter and came and stood frowning in the hall door, but the frown suddenly died down. Betty was surprised to find how young and good-looking Ted's boasted minister was. She hesitated, wondering just what to do about the turkey, and as she hesitated Marjorie turned and introduced her.

"This is my twin sister, Mr. Reaver. This is the one you saw before."

And suddenly Betty was swept into the circle much against her will. But he was interesting looking, and she roused out of her annoyance and greeted him pleasantly enough.

But Gideon Reaver had a lot of intuition, and he had seen that turkey. "I'm just delighted to see you all," he said with a comprehensive glance which took them all in. "but I'm not going to stop now. I can tell by the delicious odors that are going around that dinner is on the table, so I'll run away now and come back another time and call if I may. Far be it from me to delay a Christmas dinner!"

Suddenly the mother spoke up almost eagerly it seemed.

"Why not stay and share it with us?" she asked. She had seen the eager look in her boy's eyes.

"Yes, do stay," said the father heartily. "I know everybody will be delighted."

"Oh, I couldn't think of intruding that way. Indeed I couldn't. I was just passing and though I would leave the message."

"But you haven't had your dinner yet, have you?" challenged Ted wistfully.

"No, I'm just on my way back to my boarding house."

"That settles it," said father. "Ted go and see if there are enough chairs to go around, and Betty, put on another plate!"

But suddenly the front door which had the night latch off, opened again, and in walked the doctor.

"Well, now, upon my word, if I haven't walked in on a party!" he said. "I beg your pardon. I won't stay but a minute. I just wanted to make sure my patients were all right and fit for turkey."

"You're just in time!" said Mr. Gay happily. "Have you had your Christmas dinner yet?"

"Well, no, I haven't yet, but I'm used to waiting. I'll just look at Mrs. Gay's pulse and then I'll be moving on."

"We'll call it brunch then," called out Betty suddenly from the doorway. "Come on, there's plenty to eat. You get the chairs, Ted. The turkey is already on the table. The more the merrier."

They all turned and looked at Betty's gay face, so changed from a moment before. Ted breathed a sigh of relief, and the rest gave quick furtive glances at the doctor.

Mr. Gay introduced the minister and the doctor and they studied each other a bit cautiously. But they were both staying, there was no question about that.

"Dinner is served!" said Betty suddenly appearing in the doorway looking very pretty indeed in Marjorie's green knit dress with a bit of red ribbon knotted in her hair and a scrap of holly on one shoulder.

"It's going to be a tight squeeze, friends, but we thought it was better than waiting to put another leaf in the table and eating a cold dinner."

Betty's cheeks were rosy and her eyes were twinkling. She seemed like a new Betty to Marjorie.

The doctor, without waiting on the order of his going, marched straight over to Betty and pulled out her chair, and then took the one next her. Mrs. Gay smiled and took her place where cushions had been arranged at her back and feet. The minister found himself seated between Marjorie and Ted. Then Mr. Gay's voice broke into the laughter of getting seated.

"Mr. Reaver, will you ask the blessing, please?"

Marjorie stifled a quick look of surprise. There had been no asking of blessings so far in the meals she had eaten in her new home, although she reflected they had been most informal, and her father had generally eaten upstairs with her mother. But her heart warmed to the words that were spoken and she thrilled at the sweet silence that had settled over them all. This minister certainly was a rare one. How great for Ted to have such a man for a friend!

As the heads were lifted the doctor shot a quick keen glance at the minister across from him. But it was the minister who spoke first.

"Do you mean to tell me, Doctor, that you can always tell which of these twins is which?" he asked looking from Betty to Marjorie at his side.

"Well," said the doctor, "I can always tell that this one is Betty, but I'm not always so sure which one the other one is."

They all laughed heartily at that. It was a delightful occasion, and everyone enjoyed it to the full.

Strange to say neither doctor nor minister seemed to be in a hurry to leave.

By this time they were excellent friends, having discovered a number of tastes in common. The doctor had inquired where Gideon preached, and Gideon had suggested that he'd better come over his way and open an office. The doctor said he'd think about it, and Betty told him they were going to move back there and needed to have their doctor handy. He said he didn't know but he would look into it.

Suddenly Gideon turned around to them all.

"Now, why don't we have a little song?" he said. "Christmas isn't complete without carols."

It was just as they were singing the last line of "Silent Night" that Evan Brewer walked contemptuously up the narrow steps, and failing to identify the small insignificant doorbell in the darkness gave a thunderous knock on the door.

Coming as it did into the sweetness of that "Silent, holy night" of long ago, it was somewhat of a shock.

Ted snapped on the lights and opened the door, and there stood a tall haughty young man.

"Does this happen to be number 1465 Aster street?" he asked.

Ted nodded gravely.

"Is Miss Wetherill here?"

"Wetherill!" Ted hesitated and was about to say no, then suddenly it dawned upon him again and he took a deep breath like one about to relinquish something precious and answered with dignity.

"She is." Then he added with what was almost haughtiness in his voice, "Won't you come in?"

Evan Brewer stepped into the house leaving the taxi throbbing outside, and looked about the tiny hall, and the equally tiny parlor beyond, searchingly like a warhorse out for battle.

But Marjorie, her color perhaps a trifle heightened, came forward at once.

"Why, Evan," she said pleasantly, "this certainly is a surprise!"

She presented them one by one as they were standing about in the doorway, and each bowed courteously, trying to veil their disappointment at the interlude in their pleasant evening. But Evan Brewer merely acknowledged the introductions by a level stare at each and the slightest possible inclination of his head.

"And won't you come in and meet my mother?" went on Marjorie blithely, though she wasn't at all sure from the look in Evan Brewer's eyes whether he was going to follow her or not.

Marjorie led the way to the couch, and Evan Brewer reluctantly stepped a few feet nearer and inclined his head again at Mrs. Gay.

"I came," said he to Marjorie in a rudely lowered tone, "to take you out this evening. Can you get your wraps and go at once? Will you need to change?"

He glanced down at her pretty knitted dress with annoyance. This was a part of finding her in this little insignificant house in a common neighborhood, that she should not be dressed for the evening! Christmas night and in a daytime dress!

But Marjorie did not look embarrassed at his evident disapproval. She lifted calm eyes to his face, and speaking in an ordinary tone that she was not attempting to disguise, she said:

"No, I'm sorry, I couldn't go this evening. I already have an engagement for later in the evening, and this is our first Christmas together. I wouldn't break it up for anything."

"Really, Marjorie, I don't see that you are required to do duty all day and evening too!" Evan's tone was exceedingly annoyed.

"Well, I'm just as sorry as I can be, Evan, to disappoint you, but it's quite impossible. If you had let me know that you thought of coming this way I would have told you not to count on Christmas at all as I had made other plans."

And then Evan turned and stalked haughtily from the room without anything but the merest nod in Mrs. Gay's direction.

But Marjorie, her color rising and her head a bit high, walked coolly to the door with her caller.

"Too bad, Evan, to have this ride for nothing, but it just couldn't be helped," she said sweetly, and smiled indulgently upon him.

At the door he turned savagely upon her and said in a low growl: "When can I see you, alone? In the morning? Will you deign to lunch with me?"

"Why, yes, I think I could," said Marjorie, considering.

"Very well, I'll call you on the telephone. What is the number here?"

"Oh, we haven't a telephone," she answered brightly as though that were quite a usual thing in her circle of friends. "Suppose I just be ready when you say you will come. Half past 12 or 1. Which will be most convenient for you?"

"Eleven!" said Evan crisply. "I'm flying back in the afternoon and I'm taking you with me. Better have your things packed and we can take them with us where we lunch."

Farmers May Now Secure FSA Loans For Soil Conservation

Farmers unable to participate in the 1939 AAA soil conservation program because of lack of funds for material to carry out soil building practices are reminded that they may obtain Farm Security Administration loans for this purpose through the local AAA committee.

This announcement was made today by T. Euel Liner, FSA's rehabilitation supervisor in Lamb county with offices in the City Hall building in Littlefield.

"The entire amount of the loan must be used for practices to comply with approved soil practices," Mr. Liner said. "Amounts up to 60 per cent of the approximate AAA payment to be earned by the farmer can be loaned. The loans will be secured by an assignment of the AAA benefit payment."

Mr. Liner said that in order to be eligible for these FSA loans, an applicant must be recommended by the AAA county committee, and unable to secure necessary credit elsewhere.

This policy is in line with the FSA's program of making loans only to farmers unable to secure financial aid from any other source.

All applications for loans must be made at the Lamb county AAA office in Amberst.

According to the eligibility requirements outlined by Mr. Liner, loans to cooperate in the AAA program will be made only to farmers who meet the following qualifications:

- (1) Farmers who without such a loan would be unable to participate in the AAA program;
- (2) Farmers whom the county AAA committee recommended from the standpoint of character and integrity;
- (3) Farmers who agree to use the full amount of the loan for the purchase of equipment and materials to be used in carrying out soil building practices;
- (4) Farmers who have not executed and agree not to execute an assignment of their payment other than to the Farm Security Administration.

Additional information may be obtained from the local AAA committee or at the FSA office.

Electrolux To Be On Display At World's Fair

Cleopatra's wine bearers, the Roman Emperor Caligula's barge, a "well-house" of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, the Aurora Borealis, luminous against frozen Arctic regions, are just a few vivid pages out of the exciting story of refrigeration which will be told from start to finish in "The Magic Caves of Ice," the exhibit being staged at the New York World's fair by Serval, Inc., manufacturers of gas-kerosene refrigerators.

In describing the exhibit, one of the most unusual of its kind, Biggam and Onstead, which handles Serval Electrolux in this vicinity, said:

"Those who see the 'Magic Caves of Ice' will gain a new perspective on the relationship of adequate food protection and the development of the means of obtaining it from primitive life to modern day living."

"The exhibit is to be staged in the gas industry's 'Court of Flame' building at the World's fair. Immediately on entering the exhibit the visitor will find himself surrounded by the strange icicle-like formations of the Ice Age. Long-tapering cylindrical forms known as 'stalactites' hanging from the roof, meet 'stalagmites,' another type of geological formation, rising in weird array from the cavern floor.

"Dim lighting, an opening in the cavern walls disclosing a midnight sky brilliant with stars, the Aurora Borealis throwing its mysterious

PRIMARY PURPOSE OF LOCKVIEW FARM TO BREED AND DEVELOP EARLY COTTON

The general availability of Paymaster cotton planting seed to farmers of the South Plains country has been announced by Horace Hawkins, manager of the West Texas Cottonseed Company at Plainview and manager of Lockview farm where this cotton of staple quality was developed.

Lockview farm is located halfway between Plain and Lockney in Floyd county. It was established in 1927 by the West Texas Cottonseed company as a demonstration farm for the South Plains. Its primary purpose was to breed and develop an early maturing cotton of good staple. Many varieties were placed on test until finally the Kekchi strain stood out, mainly because of its ability to grow rapidly and mature quickly in cool weather. Appropriately it was called Paymaster.

At first a few neighboring farmers tried it out in their fields. The results were excellent and the next year more farmers asked for the seed. So Lockview decided to enlarge its facilities. The original ac-ground over the frigid Arctic, will all add to the realism of the story. A giant Serval Electrolux refrigerator, about 12 feet high, will move constantly on a turntable in the center of the exhibit.

"Outstanding among the sights to be seen in the 'Cave' are 10 dioramas which paint a graphic picture of the development of domestic refrigeration from its primitive stages to the present-day silent refrigerator.

"This series of dramatic displays begin with the cave-man and his 'kill,' placed in deep recesses of his cave where cool air kept food from spoiling for a short time; then Cleopatra's wine bearers will be shown, where films of ice formed by the desert night winds were used to cool the beverages and other delicacies served by Egypt's glamorous queen; the Roman Emperor Caligula's barge, recently dug up by archaeologists from the bottom of an Italian lake, with slaves bringing ice and snow from the far-off Apennines, will be the next scene.

"Further dioramas show a 'well-house' of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts, indicating the partial protection of food in those days; the harvesting of ice in winter, illustrating 19th century refrigeration; and a dramatization of a famous Gibson drawing entitled 'The Gibson Girl and the Ice Man.' This will picture the girl's distaste of the 'messiness' of the old-fashioned ice box.

"The all-gas kitchen today, with its 1939 Serval Electrolux as an integral part of its furnishings; a farm kitchen, furnished with the kerosene-operated Serval Electrolux, are still other diorama subjects."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name, 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

LOCATED AT OLTON
Robert Kirk, formerly connected with the tax department at Waco, recently moved to Olton to practice law. He has opened his offices in the Olton State Bank building.

Today the registered seed from Lockview is multiplied by the one-variety block at Aiken nearby in order that enough pedigreed seed can be made available for all farmers on the Plains.

Mr. Hawkins advised that further information regarding Paymaster cotton planting seed may be obtained from the nearest West Texas Cottonseed company, or by writing direct to Lockview farm, Plainview, Texas.

It gives them many hours of leisure while meals cook themselves. Positive baking becomes a pleasure—in spite of the outside temperature. Actually your kitchen is just as cool, clean, and comfortable as your living room.

The popularity of electric cookery is highlighted by many other advantages, too. See the gleaming new ranges on display—and you'll learn why electric cookery is better.

COLBERT AND AMECHE CO-STAR IN COMEDY AT PALACE THEATRE THIS WEEK END

Claudette Colbert, as an American fortune hunter stalking her prey in international society, Don Ameche, as a taxi-driver who unexpectedly changes her grandiose plans, and Francis Lederer, as a handsome and gold-dripping Paris playboy — these are the romantic leads in "Midnight," Paramount's gray new comedy, which will be on view at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

Chief expert in the field of sophisticated and brittle comedy, has a role tailored especially for her measurements. She plays "Eve Peabody," a third-rate dancer with first-rate ambitions, who in one dazzling evening meets and falls in love with a hard-boiled taxi-driver, crashes an exclusive party with a pawn ticket as her admission card, sweeps the town's A-1 playboy off his feet and turns into a "countess" to get along better in a snobbish world! "Eve's" campaign to win herself a wealthy husband takes a hopeful turn when a Paris businessman, John Barrymore, whom she meets at the party, enlists her aid in restoring domestic happiness to his badly-shaken home. His wife, Mary Astor, is engaged in a flirtation with a handsome playboy, Lederer. If Miss Colbert will make a play for Lederer, Barrymore will foot the bills. The arrangement promises to work out well for both sides, for Miss Colbert stands to win the sort of husband she wants, while Barrymore hopes to get back his wife's affections. But the greater Miss Colbert's success the more she wonders why she ran away from the cab-driver, Ameche, who made such a dent in her heart. Although her daring and cleverness enable her to outwit the "doubting Thomases" who challenge her "title" and her motives, she realizes she has been too successful when Lederer proposes to her. It's now up to Ameche, who arrives as the "countess's" "count" as a Versailles house party to straighten things out in an uproarious climax. Barrymore, who shows his versatility by dividing his time between comedy, character and dramatic roles, plays the first-named in "Midnight," as the shrewd man-of-the-world who makes use of the French proverb, "cherchez la femme," to solve his own marital difficulties. In his new picture, he introduces to filmgoers his bride, the vivacious Elaine Barrie.

TO MOVE TO LUBBOCK
Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Biles and daughter, Roberta, will move to Lubbock immediately after school is out, as Mr. Biles recently purchased a grocery store there. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Biles will miss them, after their living in Littlefield for the past 11 years, but they wish them happiness in their new home. Mr. Biles has been secretary of the local organization of the Women of the World for the past several years, and several weeks ago he was a delegate to the World's Lodge in San Antonio. The lodge has been named after the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dyer chased the Biles home on street.
Visitors in the home of Mrs. Earl Wilson Saturday and Sunday were Mrs. C. S. Slaton, Mrs. Erma Fisher, daughter, Charlene, of Lockhart; Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Wood, of Sudan.
