Club Boys
Hit 17,007 Head
Stock In 1939
COLLEGE STATION, February
The show business was big business for Texas 4-H club boys during 1939 as they exhibited 17,007 head of livestock at 170 shows, collected premiums totalling $31,454,762.25.
Calves, fed out and trained club members, lead in volume with 2,776 head. The annual show of L. I. Johnson and J. W. state boys' club agents of Texas A. and M. Extension shows that the calves brought premiums of $16,774.14. Total weight of the animals at show sales was 1,838,931 pounds, and receipts totalled $186,798.31.

In addition to local, district, and state shows, Texas 4-H club beef calves, fed under the supervision of county agricultural agents, took grand championship honors at the Chicago and San Francisco shows.
There were 3,757 sheep and lambs exhibited, weight 283,212, premiums of $3,806.79, and sales brought in $24,245.36.
Few of the 1,361 dairy animals exhibited were sold, but the few individuals offered brought fancy prices that totalled $5,680. Premiums added up to $3,391.75.
The 12,967 poultry entries brought premiums of $1,672.64. Again most of the birds were kept for future demonstrations, but sales came to $5,637.50.

Delegation Makes Effort To Secure Increase Of Acreage
Texas congressional delegation at Washington undertook Friday to secure increased AAA cotton acreage allotments for the 1940 crop in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.
They agreed to try to persuade the secretary of agriculture to order an increase, but said they were determined if this effort failed to seek an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment act.
A special committee composed of Representative Poage, chairman, and Representatives Mahon, Gossett, Kleberg and Beckworth, all Democrats, was named to direct the fight and to seek the aid of Oklahoma and Arkansas congressmen.
House Majority Leader Rayburn, Chairman Jones of the agriculture committee, Democrats, and Burris Jackson of Hillsboro, chairman of the Texas state-wide cotton committee, were in the group which appointed the special committee.
"I want to make it plain," Jackson said, "that this is not a fight against the farm program. It is an effort to protect Texas and the Southwest under the program."
Figures he and Poage obtained from the agriculture department showed that the national acreage reduction for 1940 was 472,842 acres, of which 223,455 acres was in Texas.

Earth Methodists To Build New Parsonage Soon
The building committee of the Methodist church at Earth met last Tuesday night, February 6, at the home of W. O. Jones and completed plans for the erection of a parsonage for the Earth Methodist church. This committee is composed of E. L. Bock, Sam Cearley, Howard Bulls, W. O. Jones, S. O. Ellis, and Rev. C. A. Holcomb.
The structure is to be a six room stucco residence complete with bath. The building will be done by voluntary labor under the supervision of W. O. Jones.

The first load of lumber was ordered and was delivered Wednesday, construction to start as soon as possible.
The Women's Missionary society purchased three lots west of the church several years ago for the purpose. This same organization put down a well and erected a windmill with the need of this parsonage in mind. All of which proves some one is busy looking ahead and helping Methodism to prosper.

Ford Truck Sales Continue To Climb
Retail demand for Ford trucks and commercial cars during January was the heaviest for any January since 1937. It was announced recently at the home office of the Ford Motor Company.
Ford Motor Company are local dealers for the Ford.
Sales to customers totalled 15,503 units, an increase of 46 per cent over January of the previous year. The figure also exceeds the number of trucks and commercial cars sold by the company during the first month of the boom year of 1929.
While a part of the gain is credited to a betterment in general business conditions, it also reflects increased public acceptance of the new improved product, it is stated at the home office.

been working on this plan for several weeks, but it was not until this week that the final arrangements were made.

During the revival there will be services in each church every night and Sunday morning. The week day services, Monday through Friday, will be held at the Palace Theatre, with one of the local pastors in charge. It will not be announced who will have charge of the services from time to time, but one of the ministers will preside.

During the month of March, pastors are asking that every man, woman and child in Littlefield attend at least one religious service each Sunday. They are also asking that all clubs, and lodges arrange their meetings so they will not conflict with any of the services during the revival.

Rev. Roy Shahan is pastor of First Baptist church; Rev. Donald Harris, First Presbyterian minister; Bro. W. M. McFarland, Church of Christ on LFD Drive pastor; Rev. Jim H. Sharp, Methodist pastor.

approved by the state board several months ago, and after a new ruling was passed by Attorney General G. C. Mana, tentative plans are for an election to be held in the three counties within the next 30 days. The farmers all over the entire state will vote at the same time, whether or not they wait a soil conservation district.

Meeting Friday
A meeting has been called for Friday night for all the business men to meet in the office of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rev. Jim H. Sharp, local Methodist pastor, told of the simultaneous revival that has been planned by five churches of Littlefield, to take place from March 24, or Easter, to April 7. Week day services are to be held in the Palace Theatre building, he reported.

Pallbearers were: Bob Kindred, Davis Gulley, Otis Awbrey, Charlie Pruitt, Bert Hudson and Marlin Nigh.

Deceased had been living in the Progress Community since 1929, going there from El Paso, where he had lived two years. He had originally come to Texas from Arkansas.

One Killed—

Mrs. White was riding were: Raymond, 17, her son, driver of the car, who is suffering from concussion of the brain, skull fracture, general lacerations over the body, and possible internal injuries. Although his condition is critical, Dr. C. E. Payne reported Wednesday that he held out hopes of his recovery. He is, however, in a semi-conscious condition.

Four In Other Car

Riding in the other car figuring in the accident included: Dennis Daniel, 20, of Sudan, the driver. His injuries include skull fracture, concussion, severe lacerations about the head and face, both bones in his right arm broken, crushed chest, and internal injuries. Though still critical, he is showing some improvement, and it is expected, barring complications, that he will recover.

His wife, who suffered severe scalp lacerations, concussion and skull fracture, cuts and bruises. She was unconscious for several hours, but has regained consciousness. Her condition is not nearly so serious as her husband's.

Mrs. Daniel's brother, Durwood Ramsey, 17, whose injuries include fracture of left hip, and cuts and bruises over the body and possible internal injury;

Ruth Jennings, 17, fractured skull, concussion of the brain, severe lacerations of the face and head and on both arms and legs, fractured right ankle, and possible internal injuries. She regained consciousness 24 hours after the accident. Although still in a critical condition, hopes are being held out for her recovery.

The head-on collision involved a 1932 Chevrolet sedan, which Raymond White was reported to be driving westward toward Sudan, and Daniel's 1940 model Oldsmobile, coming toward Littlefield. Both cars were completely demolished. The motor of the Oldsmobile was shoved back into the front seat, knocking the upholstery from the springs, and the back seat of the same car was found approximately 30 yards from the scene of the crash. The other car was also a complete wreck.

The only cause of the accident offered is that it might have been that the bright lights from one or other of the cars had blinded the driver, as it was identified as a clear head-on collision from the condition of the cars.

Mrs. White and son, Raymond, and Alice Gibson had been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Jones here, and were returning home when the accident happened. The second accident, which happened at 8:45 o'clock Sunday night one mile north and six miles east of Littlefield on the Olton-Littlefield highway, was a non-collision, the car which Audy Pittillo, 21, of Fieldton, was driving turning over when it failed to take a curve.

Mr. Pittillo had been married only an hour before, and accompanied by his wife, also 21, and Miss Merl Lynskey, 17, a Littlefield high school student, of Fieldton, was attempting to evade well-wishers in three other automobiles chasing them.

Pittillo and Miss Lynskey were given emergency treatment at the Payne-Shotwell Hospital here and released.

Mrs. Pittillo remained in the hospital overnight, receiving treatment for scalp lacerations, cuts and bruises.

C. C. Woody is reported to have picked up the three and brought them to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. White is survived by five sons and four daughters. Besides Raymond White, the sons are: Claude A. of Lubbock; William Ralph and Hugh W. White of Hereford; and J. Earl White, Dexter, N. M.; four daughters, Mrs. Travis Jones, Littlefield; Mrs. R. D. Nix, Sudan; Mrs. H. E. Nix, Hale Center, and Mrs. Eunice Gibson, Lubbock; five grandchildren; Bernice and Bill Nix of Dexter, N. M.; Gibson of Lubbock and Wendell and Lawrence White of Dexter, New Mexico.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church, Sudan, with Rev. H. H. Hamilton in charge. Rev. R. N. Huckabee of Muleshoe brought the message. They were assisted by Rev. E. H. Dickson of Sudan, Rev. Todd of Janaea Tabernacle; and Rev. Marvin Norwood of Hereford.

Interment, in charge of Hammons Funeral home, took place in the Sudan cemetery.

Pallbearers were Joe D. West, John Harvey, Joe Salem, Charlie Nichols, O. R. Orman, and Reed Markham.

Flower girls were senior high school girls of Sudan.

"Splendid headway is being made on the Olton addition of the REA project," reported Ben Gann, president, Lamb County Electric Cooperative, Tuesday.

Mr. Gann added: "Everybody is signing up, and all rights of way are being secured, and the people are cooperating splendidly, and there is no reason why the project should not go through. It will be approved if Washington appropriates any more money."

C. M. Coffey Is Re-Elected Amherst School Superintendent

Sixty-one per cent—about 253,000,000 acres—of the cropland in the United States is either subject to erosion or is of such poor quality as not to return a satisfactory income to farmers.

James A. Farley entered the Presidential campaign Saturday night by consenting to the entry of delegates pledged to him in the April 30 Massachusetts Democratic primary.

William H. Burke, Jr., Massachusetts Democratic chairman, made public a letter from Farley giving him "authority or power of attorney, to file delegates pledged to my candidacy."

Of the 31.8 million people living on farms in the United States, 10 million live on cotton farms, deriving either the major portion or all of their cash income from the production of cotton.

Outlook Is Good—

Residents of Lamb county and adjacent territory are looking forward with enthusiastic optimism to the remaining months of this year. Great numbers of them have expressed the opinion that 1940 will be a prosperous year . . . the best 12 months in many years.

The year has started out exceedingly well, and all activity seems to be gaining momentum. The first six weeks of any year are given over to a reorganization period, particularly with business concerns. But it seems this year that the reorganization period has been more active in volume of business than in many years.

Business concerns throughout this territory are making large purchases of merchandise, and making plans and preparations to handle an increased volume.

The farmers of this territory are looking forward to crops, chiefly because of the good season in the ground. Recent snows have made a good contribution to favorable soil conditions for large crops.

Farmers are making extensive purchases. Large numbers are improving their homes and installing modern heating, lighting and cooking facilities.

Miss Betty Woodruff, Phillips "66" Nurse, Visits Here Last Week

"You take the high road and I'll take the low road"—but whichever way you go, you'll eventually meet this young woman, or one of her colleagues—for the Phillips "66" highway hostesses takes them all.

Miss Betty Woodruff, registered nurse, is one of the girls sponsored by Phillips Petroleum company. The name Highway Hostess implies her many duties, for she is truly a welcome sight to the weary traveler.

She has been driving the highways and byways of most of the Middle Western section of these United States every day since last May. She has the pulse of the American traveler, and she knows his likes and dislikes.

If she would talk she might tell why he chooses this highway rather than that one. Why he stops at one hotel in preference to another. Why this restaurant has a reputation for being the place to eat in that town. Why many travelers go out of their way to come through our city because of a certain department store, whose buyers sense the kind of merchandise their wants require. Why traffic policemen can bring in or drive away business for the cities in which they serve. What and where travelers eat, where they sleep, where they find recreation, where they go and where they're from.

Miss Betty Woodruff, whose ability as a nurse gained her the unique job of greeting travelers, drives a special car, fully equipped to meet the emergencies of the road. If it's a flat tire or motor trouble she offers drinking water and lends tools to help the motorist so unfortunate to have trouble away from a station or garage. If it's a wreck she gives first aid and can assist the doctor if the injured are seriously hurt.

Phillips "66" Highway Hostesses have had many interesting experiences during their travels. They have been on first aid duty in the hospital tents of innumerable State Fairs throughout the country last autumn. They have bandaged countless cuts, bruises and burns, treated many for faintness, car sickness, heat and cold. They have helped tired mothers with babies worn from their long journeys.

These girls are real crusaders in this newest field open to their profession. Phillips Petroleum company gives their services to the traveling public, just as those who operate the railroads provide hostesses for the new streamlined trains and those who are responsible for the big airline routes have stewardesses for the comfort and safety of their passengers.

Woodruff says her chief duty is to inspect the Certified Rest Rooms of Phillips Service Stations. She was in Littlefield last week, calling on the Phillips dealers here.

Twenty Littlefield Scouts Awarded Advancement At Court Of Honor Recently

Emphasis has been placed during the past year on quality Scouting in Littlefield and it is gratifying to report that the troops are now in excellent condition. Darrel Hemphill reports that the patrols of troop 26 have regular meetings, besides their troop meetings. They give their patrol meeting over to scoutcraft study for advancement. He credits the fine work of the patrols and the troop to the junior assistant scoutmasters, B. D. Garland and Willie Bradley, and the patrol leaders, Junior Mauldin, Herbert Boles, Robert Dennis and Melvin Coley. Troop 26 lacks but one scout of having its maximum membership—32. Twenty-five of these scouts are making regular advancement.

In the senior explorer troop Nolan Walker is explorer mate, J. G. West is assistant mate, and Herbert Martin, log keeper and purser. The troop had a good representation for advancement at the last court of honor and some were ready for advancement Thursday. The troop has acquired their own ping-pong table and other recreational equipment.

On December 4, 20 Littlefield scouts were awarded advancement at a court of honor. On Thursday, February 8, the scouts again came up for advancement which speaks well for the scoutmasters.

The past few months have been filled with activity for the Littlefield scouts. In July the scouts camped at Ceta Canyon with Rev. M. B. Norwood. In August the district Boy Scout swimming meet was held in Littlefield. In October Mr. Dennis was in charge of the Littlefield scouts' camping at the Council Camporal in Lubbock. Mr. Dennis also took charge of the winter camp in November. In December troop 26 picked up toys for Christmas distribution and troop 25 repaired them. In January both troops and their parents helped to swell the crowd at the district pot-luck banquet held in Littlefield over 200. This week the scouts were active in Boy Scout week and they are already thinking about the first aid meet in March.

Eugene Latimer, organization and extension chairman, says that "the time is ripe now for the extension of the Scouting Citizenship Training program to more boys in Littlefield." He says the goal for the year is four scout troops and two cub packs in Littlefield. Appeals are being made to sponsoring institutions now. Surveys will be made and training courses will be put on before organization is started. He emphasizes the need of the cooperation of the parents, business and professional, in order to bring Scouting to a larger percentage of the boys in Littlefield.

Farm Bloc Formed In Effort To Aid In Securing Funds

Would Add Hundreds Of Millions To House Approved $722,001,084

Despite deep cuts in President Roosevelt's spending requests, Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, a leading economy advocate, said that there was little chance for any substantial reduction in the total budget.

The 82-year-old Glass, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, told reporters that "people like to spend money too well—especially when they are spending other people's money."

While Glass was talking, the Senate farm bloc was organizing for an attempt to add hundreds of millions to the House-approved $722,001,084 farm bill, and Glass said it was unlikely that the House figure could be retained. Besides restoring some House reductions, the Senate farm group wants to add at least $200,000,000 for parity payments.

The House measure, providing money for the fiscal year beginning July 1, was $66,928,435 under the president's budget estimate and $579,339,231 below the funds available for this fiscal year.

Despite pressure from farm leaders, the House stood by many cuts suggested by its appropriations committee. Before approving the bill it added about $89,000,000 for sugar benefit payments and for activities of the rural electrification administration.

Budget reductions effected by the two chambers and their committees, as the various appropriation measures stand now, total $155,000,000. Some farm senators are urging that this money, plus part of any future savings, be turned over to the farmers.

In that connection, one farm senator suggested that the farm measure be delayed until after the Senate has acted on the $1,800,000,000 national defense bill. He said that if substantial savings could be effected on the latter measure, then the chamber would be justified in making additions to the agriculture measure.

A Senate-House conference committee approved Saturday legislation authorizing a $251,200,000 emergency expenditure for establishment of the neutrality patrol and expansion of other military activities, paving the way for final congressional action on the first of more than a dozen appropriation bills.

Restoring only about $600,000 of $12,788,664 lopped off the bill by the Senate, the conferees agreed on a figure approximately $19,500,000 below the president's budget request.

Hills Of Destiny—

reckon Lee's hangin' around to settle himself for life at the Circle V. Pretty soft job, hey?" The grin was an offensive leer.

"He may be disappointed," Stanley said curtly. "He's working against Miss Blair's interests to promote his own and it's time somebody took him in hand. He's giving my father a lot of trouble, too."

"Trouble's his middle name," said Slanty sourly. "He eats it."

"Then why not feed him more of it?" Stanley suggested. "My father and I will do a lot more for the men who stand by us than he ever will."

The cards were on the table now. The two men eyed each other steadily.

"If Hollister gets what he wants, he is going to give you a bad time," Stanley taunted softly. "He doesn't like you, Gano."

"Well, why don't you? If you tell it to the right man, it might be worth while."

Very deliberately, under Slanty's watching eyes, Stanley drew a wallet from his pocket.

Inspiration had come to Stanley. He had sought a meeting to enlist Slanty Gano's aid in a careful plan to have Lee Hollister and Josefa Ramirez disappear from this part of the country on the same night.

Now the elaborate and perilous plan was thrown aside. Slanty knew something. Stanley's fingers went to the wallet and drew out a thousand dollar bill.

Slanty's eyes glistened greedily. Stanley watched him narrowly. Slanty was moistening avid lips with the tip of his tongue. Covetous fingers stole toward the bill. Slanty leaned forward and whispered, a sly grin showing his discolored teeth. . . .

Stanley did not return directly to the Circle V. Instead he took the trail to that small huddle of adobe buildings, the Ramirez ranchito.

When he arrived there was no sign of life about the house.

There was movement, quickly stilled, on the slope back of him, but Stanley did not see it. There was other movement much nearer, and a flash of color as Josefa sat up behind the rock where she had been curled like a kitten.

"Oh—hello, beautiful!" He wheeled out and caught sight of her. "Hiding out on me, were you?"

His hand slipped inside his coat and came out with a velvet case. Josefa's eyes flashed and then glistened.

She had meant to be very angry with Stanley. But the case was beautiful, so richly blue.

On a bed of gleaming luxury a gorgeous bracelet lay, shining with pale gold, glittering with brilliants.

"Don't I rate a kiss for that?" "Mebbe so," Josefa sighed happily. "I put it on first."

She reached eagerly for beauty, and suddenly froze.

"What's the matter?" Stanley got no further. Josefa's glance had darted to the eyes dilating. He gasped as she tore her hair high; she started running little animal. Before she whirled to face danger, a rifle and a stinging almost simultaneous

Stanley, green-eyed, clapped a hand to his forehead. He flung himself behind a rock. Crouching low in the peering to see from the attack had come, but the further sound save the verberations just dying Waiting cracked the horse out and flung the dog with a growling twinge it gave him, the later flying hoofs were away.

Wildcats Defeat Westerners, 28 to 22

McKnight Scores Nineteen Points as Top Winner

Wildcats A Threat To Westerners' Big "3" Championship

The mighty Littlefield Wildcats showed their way to victory over the Westerner quintet last Saturday night at the LHS gymnasium, 28 to 22.

This was only a warm-up game, but it definitely proved that the Wildcats are going to be a strong contender for the big three crown at the Westerners have been carrying since the tournament in Lubbock last year. This fine Wildcat team is the best that they have had in years.

The Wildcat and Westerner game was practically won by one person, and that person was in the person of Maxie McKnight. His 19 points had the Lubbock team groggy. It seemed as though the Red and couldn't miss. He looped them from all angles of the court. He is either in some one's hair or in a basket during the night's proceedings.

Lanky Pete Cawthon was the high point man for the Westerners. He looped five field goals and two free points for a total of 12 points. Cawthon is one of the classiest players on the great Westerner team.

Littlefield Cagers Defeat Amherst In Two Game Series

The Littlefield Wildcats and Kittens decisively defeated the Amherst girls and boys in a two game series. These games were more or less just preparatory warm-up battles to test the strength and at the same time give one another much needed practice for the coming county meet in Amherst next Friday and Saturday night, February 16 and 17.

The first game was played last Friday night at the Littlefield high school gymnasium and the Wildcats defeated the Amherst boys 23 to 9, while the Kittens were corraling the Amherst girls 14 to 2.

Tuesday night in Amherst the two schools squared off in their second encounter, and again Littlefield brought home the bacon. The Kittens defeated the Amherst girls 35 to 25 and the Wildcats won a hard fought battle from the Amherst boys 27 to 25.

Morton Child Is Painfully Burned Saturday Afternoon

Gordon Timms, Jr., 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Timms of near Morton, was painfully burned about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he, by mistake, threw gasoline on a fire.

The accident happened five miles west of Petersburg, where the family is building a new residence. The child was sent for kerosene but returned with gasoline instead.

His clothes were ignited but quickly were extinguished. He was given emergency treatment at Petersburg and taken to Lubbock sanitarium.

An attending physician said the child suffered second degree burns of both thighs and legs. His condition was not considered serious late Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Timms have a daughter, Newma D'Non, 10. Timms is a farmer.

President Women's Federated Clubs Is Honor Guest Here

MRS. J. M. RUTHERFORD

Mrs. J. M. Rutherford of Chillocothe, Texas, president of the Seventh District of Women's Federation of Clubs, was the honor guest of the Junior and senior Study clubs Monday evening, when Mrs. Rutherford made her official visit here.

A dinner party in her honor was enjoyed at the Littlefield hotel, with Mrs. W. D. T. Storey, District Chairman of Indian Welfare of the 7th District, presiding.

The banquet table was beautifully decorated with candles, flowers, hearts and arrows, suggestive of the valentine motif. Plate favors were marshmallows with tiny hearts drawn on them and red candles in the center of the hearts.

Mrs. J. M. Stokes gave the invocation, and Miss Myrtle Woodfin welcomed the visitors.

Misses Maxine Cash, Laura Virginia Bills, Johnnie Pace, Hilda Miller and Katherine Schellenberg and Mrs. Earl Hobbs sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," and a parody to the "The Eyes of Texas," which was dedicated to Mrs. Rutherford. They were directed by Mrs. G. M. Shaw.

Mrs. Storey introduced the presidents of the clubs represented. Mrs. E. A. Bills, president of the Littlefield Woman's club, gave a short report of the work accomplished during the past year; Miss Johnnie Pace, president of the local Junior Study club, Mrs. Sib Stone of the 1935 Study club at Sudan; Mrs. H. L. Teal of the Culture club, Sudan; Mrs. Nickells, of the Junior Study club, Sudan, and Miss Frank Rogers, of the Amherst Study club each gave reports of their work.

Mrs. L. E. Slate, Sudan, district chairman of Industry, was introduced. As a "prelude" to Mrs. Rutherford's address, Mrs. G. M. Shaw related some of the history of the local Woman's club, then she introduced the three charter members, Mrs. C. E. Cooper, Mrs. V. V. Wright, and Mrs. W. G. Street.

"As we stand at the open door of 1940, with the most insane decade in history behind us according to historians, the women of America should hold high the candle of freedom, and be very thankful that we live in America," Mrs. Rutherford told the group.

She reviewed some of the work done by the clubs since the very beginning, fifty years ago when Federation first started. She told of the 29 foreign countries which boast of woman's clubs, and the 11,000 clubs in Texas. The Federated clubs have grown in every nation, emphasizing home improvement, city, state and national improvement, and the club women of today are the club women of the world, who stand for right instead of might, she added.

A sketch of the highlights of the program to be given at the district convention, which will be held at Shamrock April 29 and 30, was also given by Mrs. Rutherford.

Approximately 50 women attended the affair Monday night, including guests from Sudan and Amherst. On the General Arrangements Committee were: Mrs. C. E. Payne, chairman, and Mrs. I. T. Shottwell, Jr., Mrs. J. M. Stokes and Mrs. F. O. Boles.

A "World Day of Prayer" was observed at the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon by members of the Auxiliary, with Mrs. C. E. Barber in charge of the program.

A very appropriate service was enjoyed, including songs by the group, and several prayers.

METHODIST CHURCH

Jim H. Sharp, pastor. Our attendance last Sunday was much better than for the past few weeks and we are hoping that the attendance will be much better next Sunday than at any time this year thus far.

Sunday morning service, Sunday school 9:45; preaching, 10:50. Subject for Sunday morning, "Why I Am a Methodist." Sunday evening services: League, 6:30; Preaching, 7:30.

We welcome everyone to all of our services. You, and you, and you are invited to meet with the young people of the Methodist church each Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Fellowship Hall at the local church.

We are having some very fine programs with a large attendance, about 20 members. But we realize that our attendance is not as large as it should be. There are a number of young people who do not attend any young people's meeting anywhere.

We also have lots of fun along with our work. The Plainview Booster Union meets once a month in one of the following communities: Muleshoe, Earth, Amherst, Bula, Spade and Littlefield. District Rally meets every three months, and a Youth Crusade Rally is held frequently.

Floyd Hemphill is counselor for the local group of young people, and again we invite you to come and be with us.

REV. DENNING IN ENOCHS REVIVAL

An intensive revival meeting and evangelistic campaign will begin at Enochs, Texas, next Monday night, February 19, in a building just west of the Enochs post office, with Rev. Jno. R. Denning, well known radio and pulpit evangelist, doing the preaching, and Zed Robinson, of Enochs, in charge of the singing. Mrs. Albert Ellis, of Watson, will be at the piano.

The sermons of the series are to be mostly of a non-sectarian nature, stressing the old-time Gospel of salvation by grace through faith, and in addition to seeking public confessions, the meeting is for the purpose of strengthening all churches and individual Christians of the entire district in the faith, regardless of their denominational affiliation.

In addition to congregational singing, special numbers will be rendered at each service, and an open invitation is extended to all to come and participate in the singing, and to enjoy the messages of this forceful, dynamic and interesting preacher of the Gospel.

"Their Promised Land, Lies Out Before Them."

"Eight million Methodists stand today at the edge of their Promised Land. Behind them lie years of disunion. They possess a priceless heritage. Before them opens a wide door of greater service and more effective evangelism. God wills that they enter."

"We Call all Methodists loyally to follow their bishops in the Crusade of Methodist Advance. Evangelism, the Gospel of Christ, 'for every life and for all life' will be the chief emphasis of this nationwide movement. Notable days are ahead for all Methodists."

"We Challenge every Methodist to own afresh, the Lordship of Jesus in every area of his life and to order his daily living in the spirit of the Master. Through prayer that empowers, through faith that faces forward, and through love that redeems life, we ask each Methodist to seek and find that radiant, victorious way of life that overcomes the world."

"We urge every Methodist to share his faith by telling his friends what Christ and his church mean to him. The fields are white with opportunity as 45,000 Methodist churches face 60,000,000 unchurched Americans and 20,000,000 youth in no church school. Eight million Methodists can and ought to win their non-Christian friends to Christ and his church."

"We Commend the joyful life of Stewardship of prayer, influence, of service and money to every Methodist and a way of life for this is Stewardship year. The Christlike life is a life of Stewardship."

"We Pray that the hearts of 8,000,000 Methodists may be warmed to this Holy Quest and that they may go forward into their Promised Land under the white banners of the Son of God."

The model illustrated is the BUICK SPECIAL model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.*

AUTOMOBILE engineers talk a lot about car weight - and with good reason.

They know that riding qualities begin with enough road weight to hold you steady on your course—they know that weight is often another measure of size—above all, they know that weight means substance, strength, durability.

So it's interesting to note that this trim Buick SPECIAL gives you more weight per dollar than almost any other car you can buy.

With all its husky straight-eight power—power that's like velvet because engines are balanced after assembly—with all its room, and style, and comfort—this Buick still has one of the lowest costs-per-pound of any car on the market.

And nowhere else will you find valve-in-head power, all-coil springing, torque-tube steadiness and Buick's plussage in accessories at the figures that apply to the SPECIAL.

So if a little extra money is keeping you out of a Buick, take another look at those dollars.

They buy more car to begin with. More size and more substance.

They buy some six dozen new 1940 features, including many an "extra."

And you'll get most of them back in longer life and higher trade-in value—not to mention your fun and solid satisfaction!

This Year Should Produce Bumper Crop Of Low-Cost Houses, Says Short

Lowell Short, manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Company in Littlefield, stated that this year "should produce a bumper crop of low-cost houses," and the new policies adapted this year will make the FHA's low-cost housing program "more attractive to borrowers and lenders alike."

The Federal Housing Administration has advanced, in its five years of mortgage insurance operations, to the key position in the nation's new-home financing and construction,

Mr. Short pointed out. Private capital is about to meet the demand where the demand is most pressing, E. T. Stearns, district director of the Federal Housing Administration of the Northwest district of Texas, told employees of lumber companies and others recently, at a meeting in Lubbock.

The director was referring to the so-called "homeless third" of the population, those in the lower wage brackets who cannot afford to build an expensive residence, and can obtain federally insured private loans for construction of houses consonant with their wage-earning ability. The building industry is becoming more and more interested in constructing houses costing less than $2,500, realizing that the market for residential construction lies with the broad income group which cannot afford higher prices.

Under THE DOME At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN, Texas.—(UP)—Opinion in Texas still supports capital punishment but only by a small margin. A survey of crime and crime prevention made by J. L. Tenney of the State Department of Education shows.

Fifty-five per cent of those interviewed believe in capital punishment. The other 45 per cent agree with Gov. W. Le O'Daniel, who is conscientiously against death sentences, commutes all such sentences he can, and grants maximum reprieves when the state board of pardons refuses to recommend clemency.

Tenney's survey revealed that 84 per cent of those who believe capital punishment should be retained, agree that the use of the method causes more suffering for relatives of criminals than the condemned criminal suffers himself.

Less than two per cent thought that capital punishment is the most powerful crime deterrent.

The survey was made as portion of a study of the part education may play in preventing crime. Twenty per cent of those who answered a questionnaire on the topic put chief responsibility on law-enforcing agencies; a little more than 18 per cent thought the schools have the greatest influence, and more than 34 per cent believe the greatest influence against crime rests with the church.

Whatever the old folks may think of the quality of biscuits "Pappy" has been able to turn out since they helped elect him governor on a "Pass the Biscuits, Pappy" platform, those who dine at the governor's mansion agree that Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel's biscuits are good. Particularly do they praise her "orange biscuit."

Presuming that all Texas housewives know how to make biscuits, it is only necessary to give the variation that makes "orange biscuits." This is done by pressing into the top of each biscuit a teaspoonful of orange marmalade, and then baking in a very hot oven for about 10 minutes.

Texans with relatives in San Antonio State hospital got cheering news during the state board of control investigation into alleged happenings in the institution. They learned that none of the happenings affected patients there.

They heard, too, that the institution has a record far above the national average in the number of patients it is able to return to normal life after mental treatment. In the United States the average rate is 48 per cent. The San Antonio hospital average is 56. The death rate per 1,000 in such hospitals over the nation is 71.9. The San Antonio hospital record is 60.6.

Per capita cost of annual operation over the United States is $303.39. The cost at San Antonio is $215.63.

San Antonio State hospital under Dr. W. J. Johnson's superintendency was the first institution of the sort to have a beauty shop. Its effect on morale of women patients was so great that now nearly all mental hospitals include a beauty shop.

Patients who had refused to go about became eager to attend hospital dances after a manicure and a wave. They began to take pride in dress and showed marked interest. Another feature of the hospital is a bowling alley. Menus are diversified and served in cafeteria style with many fresh vegetables from the institution's 500-acre tract.

HILLS OF DESTINY

BY AGNES LOUISE PROVOST

CHAPTER IX SYNOPSIS

Lee Hollister, returning unexpectedly from a trip abroad to the Circle V ranch, his home from childhood, is troubled by signs of neglect. Joey, an old prospector friend of Matt Blair, Lee's foster father and owner of the ranch, tells Lee that Matt has killed himself, probably discouraged by hard times. The ranch is going to ruin and Virginia, Matt's daughter, is visiting the Archers, her aunt and uncle, in New York. Her uncle wants her to sell the place to Milton Bradish, old associate of Matt's. Lee persuades Virginia to return to the ranch. Mrs. Archer follows her, accompanied by Stanley, son of Milton Bradish. Stanley thinks he may be able to discredit Lee in Virginia's eyes, and encourages Josefa Ramirez in her liking for Lee. One evening Josefa forces Lee to watch her dance, and throws herself into his arms just as Virginia rides past with Stanley.

At the corral she turned to find Stanley at her heels. "The bunk house is empty," he told her. "I saw a couple of men riding out like blazes as I came out. Something's up."

"Hurry!" she said urgently. "which way did the boys go?"

He indicated it briefly, and hurried. Virginia barely waited for him to mount, and was off. Less than through the smoke. She began to tug at a tough little scrub that might answer to beat with, but could not get it loose. Where was Stanley?

A crescendo of hoofbeats brought two more Circle V men tearing along from one direction, and from another two glaring eyes appeared, bobbing and shifting. That was an automobile racing toward them with all the speed it had, lurching insanely over hummock and hollow. It drew up with a gasping rattle, half a mile away they saw a red glow.

He flung himself behind a thicket.

"Oh, it's a new one! It's here!" Black Lightning tossed another quarter mile behind him. There it was, just ahead of her. Leaping licking tongues of flame, throbbing through a murk of smoke—dark patches—red patches—grotesque figures that moved in a pulsating glow, with arms like flails—Stanley somewhere behind her—where was Lee?

Her eyes raked the slope anxiously. "Stanley, hurry!" she called back. No answer came. She flung herself off as near to the fire line as she dared.

Higher up on the slope men were working like methodical demons, with swaying bodies and thrashing arms, beating out flames with brooms of hastily cut scrub, stamping with their feet. One of them was taller than the others. She could see his strong, fast movements only a battered Ford, but piled to the running boards with men. They swarmed out with a clatter of axes and picks and spades, tools for fire breaks, and raced uphill. She heard Lee's shout.

"Take it easy, Joey, here comes the relief crew. Go keep an eye on the horses, will you?"

Joey came stumbling down the slope with uncertain legs.

"Why, Honey, you here?"

"Oh, Joey, can they stop it? How did it happen?"

"Them boys? Shore they can stop it. Why, Lee fit it all alone for two hours, before me an' Curly an' Darrell got here."

"But how did it happen?" she persisted. "Does Lee know?"

Joey shook a dubious head. "Kinda looks like it was set, Honey. I got an idee he suspicions more'n he lets on, but they ain't no proof."

Minutes dragged by as they watched anxiously. Virginia began hunting for a weapon of her own.

"Wait, Honey!"

Joey grasped her arm, pulling her back. Ravens of smoke trailed chokingly against her face, wavered, thinned and came on again.

"Oh, Joey, it's wind!"

A triumphant yell came from the fire line beyond, and her own voice joined excitedly in Joey's thin cheer. The wind had turned. Men straightened tired bodies and mopped sweat-streaked faces, grinning in sudden cheerfulness.

They moved here and there, stamping out danger spots. Presently the volunteers returned and piled themselves and their implements into the elastic Ford, shy of thanks and declining Virginia's invitation for everyone to breakfast at the Circle V.

It was only part of a day's work. Dawn streaks were showing, faint pastel shades, deepening into opalescent light, and Lee was coming toward her. A streaked and ragged tramp of a man, but somehow marked with authority, and carrying heroism and disgrace with equal lightness.

"No cause for alarm now," he said cheerfully. "How did you find out about it? Smell smoke, or did somebody arouse the house?"

"I smelled smoke. And then Stanley . . ."

She hesitated, pulled between anger and uncertainty. Where was Stanley and why had he lagged behind when every man was needed?

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use.

And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging back-ache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

She saw the ironic glint in Lee's eyes.

Stanley was coming up back of her, sauntering along with his usual sang froid. His ordinarily careful toilet was somewhat rumpled, his silk shirt was open at the throat and was streaked and smudged, and another black streak ran across his chin.

"Oh—Stanley! Where were you?" There was sharp relief in her voice.

"Over there." He indicated the direction with a careless movement of the head. "The horse bolted, or I'd have been here sooner than I was."

He smiled with engaging frankness and held up both hands, grimy with unaccustomed toil. Virginia, laughing, looked from Stanley's grimed palms to Lee's. The laugh broke off suddenly with a sharp intake of breath.

"Oh, Lee, you are hurt! You're burned!"

Angry red streaks burned dully on the hands Lee had not troubled to exhibit. She held one, delicately, for fear her touch would hurt him, and anxiously examined the burns.

"Oh, just a scorch or two. Nothing to worry about."

His reassuring smile gave no hint that the burns were stinging viciously at that very moment. There seemed nothing more to be said. She looked at Lee; at Joey, having a little smothered taunt of his own. "You've been splendid—all of you." This time her quick glance included Stanley.

She mounted quickly, with a last glance at the wide, blackened area still hot underfoot and giving off sullen curls of smoke, and at the two men looking after her.

Joey waited only until they were out of hearing.

"Did ye hear that?" he exploded irately. "Of all the doggone impudence! Whyn't you say somethin', Lee Hollister, 'stead of standin' there trompin' on my foot till ye dan' near mashed it?"

Joey's voice rose to an indignant wall. "He came sneakin' through them junipers back there when the fire was 'most over and began pat-patin' it, nice and delicate, with a scrub curly'd throwed away. 'Way out on the edge where the smoke pretty near hid him, takin' doggone good care of hisself an' rubbin' the smears on his dood shirt when he thought nobody was lookin'."

Lee was looking after two disappearing figures.

"Joey," he said irrelevantly, "there were tears in her eyes."

Stanley Bradish might be a useless young idler, but he had plenty of natural shrewdness. Several things had aroused his curiosity since he had come here, and chief among them were the activities of Lawler and Slanty Gano.

More than once he had seen a significant glance pass between Virginia's foreman and the ill-favored individual who made a slouching pretense of running the Rancho Coballos for its non-resident owner.

A few days after the fire he rode from blazing sunshine into the dim seclusion of a little canyon with a breath of relief. There was a little rocky pool about halfway down, fed by a silver thread of waterfall, and here Slanty Gano was just rising from a copious drink.

"How d'you do? Pretty hot out there."

Stanley joined the hulking figure at the pool and dismounted, cupping both palms under the silver thread and drinking from them.

"I passed your friend Hollister about a mile back," Stanley volunteered carelessly. "He rides around a good deal, doesn't he? I should think he'd be settling down to a job."

"He's too busy mindin' other people's business," Slanty sneered. Then he grinned knowingly. "Some folks (Continued on Page 6)
