SHERIFF IRVIN IS CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Thanks Citizens For Their Cooperation In His Work

Sheriff Len Irvin, who made a brief announcement in last week's issue of the Lamb County Leader that he would be a candidate for re-election, has a long record of service as an officer.

Mr. Irvin has served as a peace officer a total of almost 15 years. This long period of service has given him a very extensive knowledge of the operations of law violators, and the best methods to employ in their apprehension and conviction.

A portion of Mr. Irvin's many years as an officer has been given over to the serving of the people of Lamb county as their sheriff.

Enjoys His Work

"There is not any work that I enjoy more than the duties coming within the scope of that of an officer," said Mr. Irvin. "This love for my work causes me to enter into my duties, day in and day out, with enthusiasm."

Some weeks as many as fifteen new readers—without solicitation—are added to the already large list.

LOCAL BANK IS HIGHLY SOLVENT REPORT SHOWS

Is Participating In The Benefits Of Federal Insurance Co.

The statement of the condition of the First National Bank, Littlefield, which is published elsewhere in this edition of the Lamb County Leader, reflects the excellent condition of the local financial institution.

In addition to the general sound condition of the bank, depositors also are protected by federal insurance.

Littlefield and district have every reason to be proud at possessing a bank that has such a high degree of solvency.

Deposits Insured

The First National Bank is participating in the benefits of the Federal Insurance Co., a government agency set up to insure bank deposits. As a participating bank in the functions of the Federal Insurance Co., all deposits, up to $2500 in the Littlefield bank are fully insured, and after July 1 the larger deposits also will be entirely insured.

Before a bank can participate in the benefits of the Federal Insurance Co., its financial standing must undergo thorough investigation.

ELLIS FOUST IS CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

Asks Return To Office On Record of Service To His Precinct

Ellis J. Foust, Commissioner of Precinct No. 4, Wednesday authorized the Lamb County Leader to announce that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Foust's announcement is generally regarded as the most outstanding development in political circles, in that it has not been known what Mr. Foust's attitude would be relative to becoming a candidate for re-election.

The commissioner announced for re-election as the result of the earnest solicitation of a large number of the voters of this precinct, it is stated.

This large group, it is reported, advised Mr. Foust that his services were particularly needed at this time, in view of the many projects underway in Precinct No. 4 and throughout the country.

Mr. Foust has been particularly active in carrying out all the various phases of relief work in this precinct and throughout the county, and it is understood that he was urged to ask re-election in order that, if returned to office he could carry on the vast amount of work with which he is very familiar.

"It was not my intention to ask re-election," said Mr. Foust, in making his official announcement, "but when requested by so many of the people to again offer my services to our precinct and county, I felt that it was my duty to accede to their requests."

"If I am returned to office I will continue to be as active in serving my precinct and county as I have

JUDGE JOINER CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

Served In This Capacity For Twelve Years From 1915-27

Judge R. C. Joiner of Plainview instructed the Leader Wednesday to announce through the columns that he would be a candidate for District Judge of the 64th Judicial District.

Judge Joiner has been a resident of Plainview for 26 years, and in the active practice of law for 35 years. He succeeded Judge L. S. Kinder as District Judge of the 64th Judicial District in 1915, serving in this capacity for twelve years.

In announcing his intention of making the race Judge Joiner made the following statement:

"In announcing for District Judge I do not come as an entire stranger, having served in this capacity for 12 years, resuming the active practice of law at Plainview, Texas, in 1926.

"In making this race I am doing so on my own merits and record. I am justly proud of the record I made while serving, and by reason of this record, solicitations have come to me from all over the district, and at the earnest solicitation from the voters of this district and my desire to again serve as district judge, I am asking the voters of this district, including the ladies as well as the men, for their support."

The editor of this newspaper attended Sunday school a week ago Sunday for the first time in 20 years. Of course, he has attended church more frequently.

Rev. C. E. Matthews, Fort Worth pastor and evangelist, who was in Littlefield getting folks started out on the right path, announced from the pulpit that when an editor pledged to be in Sunday school he couldn't see that he should have much difficulty in getting other folks headed in that direction. Wow! Wasn't that a sock on the nose for the editor!

But, as we said before, we attended Sunday school, AND WE LIKED IT. In fact, we went back again last Sunday, but we were so late that we

ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT URGES ALL FARMERS TO EXECUTE COTTON REDUCTION CONTRACTS BY JAN. 31

The 1934 cotton reduction campaign in Lamb County is now underway. Contracts are being signed by large numbers of farmers.

According to G. R. Schuman, assistant county agent, January 31 is the last day on which contracts may be signed, and, therefore, leaves but a short time in which to execute these agreements. Producers who wish to sign reduction contracts should see their local committeeman, or execute agreements at their local banks at once.

In an interview with the Leader, Mr. Schuman further said:

"We hope that all producers will come in next week and sign up, so as to avoid a rush during the last few days. The price of cotton that the farmers will receive next fall depends on the success of this reduction campaign. Many farmers have placed their optioned cotton in the government pool and in doing so, agreed to sign a 1934-35 cotton acreage reduction contract.

"I wish to call attention to these farmers that the checks from this optioned cotton cannot be delivered to them until they have signed a 1934-35 contract."

Will Be Candidate For County Treasurer

Mrs. W. P. McDaniel announced Wednesday that she will be a candidate for county treasurer. Her official announcement will be published in next week's issue of the Lamb County Leader.

Secretary-Manager Joe Hale presided over the weekly luncheon of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday, at the Presbyterian Church. Sixteen members were present at the meeting which was opened by prayer by J. S. Hilliard.

A brief discussion of the construction of various highways was held, and it was announced that Dimmit has pledged right-of-way for Highway No. 143.

L. R. Crockett, mayor of Littlefield, addressed the chamber, and read resolutions for projects and developments the organization should endeavor to accomplish during the year of 1934. The resolutions were as follows:

First: Give the city ample playgrounds, wholesome amusement and entertainment, which would include playgrounds for the kiddies, benches, tables and barbecue pit, a gymnasium large enough for all indoor sports that the public might demand.

Second: A tree and shrubbery

We Do Our Part

A TRULY NOBLE CHARITY

There are more than three hundred thousand cripples in the United States, according to a census carefully made by the Warm Springs Foundation. Of these, more than half, or above 150,000, are victims of the disease, which doctors call "anterior poliomyelitis" but which is popularly termed infantile paralysis.

The fact that one victim of this disease has not only succeeded in recovering in large measure the use of the paralyzed leg muscles, but of gaining the highest post within the gift of the people, that of President of the United States, has not only given new hope to other victims and their families and friends, but has given a great impetus to the scientific study of the disease, its cause and possible cure. It now seems possible that in almost every case of infantile paralysis there is a promise of alleviation if not complete cure; and there is ground for real hope that a method of controlling, preventing and stamping out this scourge may result from the research which is being widely carried on.

In any event, it seems certain that, given proper care and training in the early stages of the affliction, every victim of the disease can be restored to usefulness, enabled to earn a living and possibly achieve greatness. For it seems to be the fact that infantile paralysis, while its infection reaches the muscles through the nerves of smell and thence to the brain, does not affect the mental powers of those who are infected. Everybody who knows a victim of infantile paralysis must have been impressed with his or her cheerfulness and fortitude.

The way toward health which President Roosevelt found at Warm Springs, Georgia, can be opened to every infantile paralysis victim in America, if the plan of the Warm Springs Foundation is successful. This month, on January 30th, Mr. Roosevelt's birthday, there are to be held in 5,000 communities parties or dances to which an admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to be used to establish centers similar to that at Warm Springs, where treatment and training can be given, free of cost to those who cannot pay, to every sufferer from this disease. At the same time, the fund so raised will help toward finding ways to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis.

We cannot think of a more noble charity.

GOING TO BUY A NEW CAR?

Probably the most convincing indication, to the man in the street, that good times are rapidly on their way back, is the brisk business that is being done by the automobile dealers and manufacturers. The motor industry is one more booming. People are buying cars at a rate faster than for the past three years. This clearly indicates that there is more money in the hands of the public to spend for something besides food, clothing and shelter. It indicates, moreover, a return of confidence, for people do not buy automobiles unless they feel certain they are going to be able to meet the installment payments; or if they buy for cash, that they are not going to need the money to keep their families from starving.

The automobile has become a necessity to millions of Americans. Since the motor car came into general use, and the building of good roads followed its general adoption as a means of locomotion, our whole scheme of living has been changed. Business centers have greatly widened the scope of their trade, since people can now come in from greater distances to trade and deliveries can be made into areas which were practically inaccessible before. It is no longer necessary for people to live close to the places where they work. This has resulted in the wide extension of residential districts, not only in suburbs of large cities but in a great proportion of country towns as well.

Instead of classing the automobile as a luxury, therefore, sane thinkers now recognize it as a necessity, and its maintenance and upkeep as an essential part of the family budget of the great majority of automobile owners. And the automobiles which people are now buying are mostly in this necessity class. That is, they are low in price and economical in operation. Never before have automobiles within the reach of ordinary folks' pocketbooks been so cheap to buy, so attractive to look at, so comfortable and safe to ride in, and so economical to operate.

Corn Hog Program To Be Underway In a Few Days

According to G. R. Schuman, assistant county agent, in a few days, the corn hog program will be started in this county. The county committee who will be in charge of this work consists of C. V. Harmon, Amherst; Albert Neunschwander, Littlefield; Ed Ray, Sudan; and I. V. Fent, Oton.

Some important points in regard to this program are:

1. The minimum corn contracts is 10 acres and the minimum hog contract is three litters. The farmers who does not raise more than 10 acres of corn, or three litters or more of hogs, would not be eligible to sign a contract.

2. A farmer who grows 10 acres or more of corn per year and no hogs, can sign a corn contract and will receive only the corn payments, but he must also agree not to increase his hog production.

3. A farmer who grows three or more litters of hogs per year and no corn, can sign the hog contract and will receive only the hog payments, but he also agrees not to increase his corn acreage.

4. A farmer who grows 10 acres or more of corn and three litters or more of hogs, must sign both parts of the contract.

5. In the corn contract, the farmer agrees to reduce his corn acreage by at least 20 percent from the average acreage in cultivation in 1932-1933. For the acreage taken out of production, he will be paid at the rate of 30c per bushel on the average production on this land over a period of five years 1929-1933.

5. In the hog contract, the farmer must agree to reduce the number of litters farrowed on an average in 1932-1933 by 25 percent, or farrow only 75 percent as many litters farrowed on an average during the two year period. He also agrees not to market from these litters more than 75 percent as many hogs as he marketed from his litters on an average in 1932-1933. A payment of $5, per head on the number that he is allowed to market. Provided that he reduces according to the contract. If his 1932-1933 average production from his sows for market was 100 hogs, he would be allowed to produce 75 for market in 1934. For this 75, he would be paid at the rate of $5, per head.

Thousands of Men To Continue Work

The Civil Works administration Saturday made grants to Texas, which prevented dropping 100,000 men from civil works employment this week.

Lawrence Westbrook, the state director, has announced that Administrator Harry L. Hopkins had agreed to allocate $200,000 a week for team and truck hire and $250,000 weekly for purchase of materials.

"These grants will enable us to carry forward our road program and the various projects requiring new materials on substantially the same basis as in the past," he said, adding that without them 100,000 men would have been left without work "over and above the curtailment in hours already ordered in the administration's stagger system."

"The result of this order is that 1,400 projects employing nearly 100,000 men, which had been halted or were about to be halted, will be permitted to continue as quickly as notice of this authorization has been transmitted to the counties," C. W. A. officials here said.

Twelfth Installment

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of three-quarter interest in an Arizona ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died while on business in Mexico. With her ailing husband and small child she goes to Arizona to take possession, thinking the climate may prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the ranch, "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, old rancher and rural mail carrier, agrees to take them to "Dead Lantern" gate, which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily walked past a huge over-shadowing boulder in a gulch in coming to the ranch house, a voice whispered "Go back! Go back." At the ranch house they are greeted suspiciously by the gaunt rancher partner, Snavely, and Indian Ann, a herculean woman of mixed negro and indian blood. Snavely is difficult to understand, but regardless, Ruth takes up the task of trying to adjust their three lives to the ranch and its development. Kenneth, Ruth's husband, caught in chilling rain contracts pneumonia and passes away before a doctor arrives. Ruth tries to carry on.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

After the noon meal Ruth had returned to the remains of the old adobe and was mourning over a mess of mud and clothes, when she was startled by the sound of an automobile. She could hardly believe her eyes when she saw a fine looking machine climb out of the gulch. Visitors were not common on the Dead Lantern.

There were two men in the car which approached the ranch house. Before it stopped and just as Ruth had started to walk in that direction, Snavely rode out of the brush along the southern bank of the gulch, his horse on a dead run. Ruth paused and watched him bring his mount to a sliding stop by the machine.

"What d'you want?" his voice shrilled at the men in the car.

One of the men replied, talking for some time, but his voice was low and Ruth could not understand.

"Hell, no We don't want nothin' to do with that—" Snavely swung his arm back and pointed along the road—"There's th' way out of this place, stranger!"

"How do you do?" smiled Ruth, as she came up to the other side of the car. The two men turned their heads in quick surprise, then smiled with pleasure.

"Are you Mrs. Warren?" asked the older man, lifting his hat.

"Yes—won't you gentlemen come up to the house?"

"Why—er—thank you"—he half turned his head in Snavely's direction—"my name's Parker of the Triangle T, and this is Mr. Harvey, our attorney. Your neighbor, Mr. Thane, thought perhaps you people might be interested in a cattle proposition—"

"Oh, I'm sure we should!"

The three went to the ranch house porch where Snavely joined them after tying his horse to a mesquite. The girl introduced him. He grunted, did not offer to shake hands and seated himself at one side.

"You see, Mrs. Warren," began Parker, "the Triangle T is changing hands—do you know of the ranch?"

"I'm afraid not," smiled the girl.

"Don't make any difference," observed Parker. "We're on the Mexican line about twenty-five miles east. Well, as I said, the ranch is changing hands. The man who bought it is going to do differently than I've always done. He intends to make a feeder ranch out of it, using Mexican stock—ah—do you see what I mean?"

"Well, no—I'm rather new to this business," said Ruth.

"Don't make any difference—he's going to buy cheap Mexican cattle and feed them to sell. The point is, he isn't going to breed Herefords and he won't pay me for the cattle already on the place—I mean he don't want them for breeding—he'll take all my steers and beef stuff, but you can see that good young cows and registered bulls are worth more than so much a pound—they're producers. Now, the man I'm selling to, Jesus Travana, don't care about that sort of stock. I was telling Charley Thane about it and he wants ten of my bulls and he said you people—" Parker glanced from the girl to Snavely and then back at the girl. "He thought you people might be interested in doing something. So as I was taking Mr. Harvey, here, back to town, I just thought I'd drop in and see you."

"But," said Ruth, "just now we haven't much cash. We'd have to ask for time in which to pay—we'd have to pay out of the earnings of the cattle bring us."

Parker nodded. "That often happens in the cattle business," he smiled. "But if I can make eight per cent on my money, I shan't be in too great a hurry to get the capital. If you like, we can draw the note to come due next November—after the fall selling. But if you're at all pressed I'll extend it to the spring selling. Even if I had to wait until a year from this next November, it would be better for me than to sell the stock for what I can get now. The ranch here would be my security, of course."

"I'm opposed to that!" Snavely leaned forward. "I don't go putting up my interest on no such proposition as that."

For some time no one spoke. "Well," said Ruth at last, "I have no objection to risking my three-quarter interest in the ranch for as many cows and bulls as you'll give me for it."

Mr. Harvey, the lawyer, lifted his brows at this statement—as a general thing partners agreed.

Parker turned to the attorney. "It would be legal for Mrs. Warren to offer her interest even though Mr. Snavely does not wish to offer his, wouldn't it?"

"Why, yes, it would be legal; it can be done. However"—he studied Snavely—"it will be a rather unique state of affairs. Should the cattle come on the ranch they will increase the value of the ranch and likewise the value of the partnership interests. In other words, Mrs. Warren would be increasing Mr. Snavely's property for him, while Mr. Snavely, in refusing to offer his share as security, would be contributing nothing to the welfare of the partnership. However," he turned to Parker as though he had seen enough of Snavely, "I think Mrs. Warren's note will be sufficient."

An hour later the machine was disappearing into the gulch and Ruth Warren had mortgaged her entire interests in the Dead Lantern ranch.

Snavely came up behind her. "What you jest done was ag'in' my advice, Mrs. Warren. Don't expect me to do nothin' if things don't turn out like you figger."

Ruth smiled. "Certainly, I understand. But you were there when Mr. Parker and I went over the situation—I know and you know the water is a little scanty, but if things don't go too badly I may even be able to pay off the note next November. I hope I shall, but if not, he agreed to give me a year."

"Seems like you're talkin' a lot about yourself," he replied tensely. "You talk like this was your ranch."

"I didn't mean it that way," answered Ruth lightly.

The look on Snavely's face brought Ruth back to earth with a jerk. For a moment she thought he was going to leave her without speaking, but her relief was short-lived. Do you know something? I come by the deep tank in the south pasture on my way home this mornin'. Well, it washed out last night—that's what it did. The water in that represa's gone to hell this minute. Them other shallow ones won't last two weeks!" For a moment, his glinting eyes played over her sardonically. With a short laugh, he walked to his horse and, mounting, rode away.

On the day after the cattle deal had taken place, Ann was not in the kitchen when Ruth arose. Neither was she in her room. Nothing in the kitchen appeared to have been touched since the evening before, nor was the fire lighted. She built the fire. Soon Snavely came to the door.

"Where's Ann?"

"I'm sure I don't know; I thought perhaps she had to do something outside before breakfast and hadn't come in yet."

"Did you look in her room?"

"I didn't look—I opened the door and called."

"Huh!" Snavely went to Ann's room and returned shortly. "Her bed ain't been slept in—she's gone ag'in."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Bout every two months or so Ann goes away for a spell—don't know where. Well, you can get me something to eat, I reckon."

For five days Ruth was cook on the Dead Lantern, and of the fifteen meals, twelve of them consisted of Mexican beans and boiled sun-dried beef.

On the morning of the sixth day Ann was in the kitchen when Ruth entered.

"Why, hello, Ann! When did you get back?"

"Last evenin'."

"I didn't hear you come in."

"No, Mrs. Warren."

"Where have you been, Ann?"

"I've been away," answered the huge woman quietly.

Ruth said nothing more.

The cattle had come—a long, winding river of brown and white flowed into the north pasture. There, the six Triangle T cowboys allowed them to spread out of their own choosing. A great hunting of cow for calf began. Each cow appeared to have lost her calf and each calf bawled as though it had lost two mothers. The calves, temporarily orphaned, made little effort toward reunion—they stood uncertainly on their limber legs and bawled to the world at large, while their mothers sniffing, lowing, trotting nervously here and there, sorted them out. As soon as a family was united there were mutual sniffings and lickings; the bawling ceased and the cow led her offspring quietly away to graze.

When it seemed certain that every cow had found her calf, Snavely, with the Mexican cowboys, rounded up the new bulls and drove them towards the home ranch corrals. Ruth and David followed behind. The girl was deathly afraid of those twenty-two monsters. A cow seemed more of a pleasant creature—at least, it loved its calf, and looked over the meadows with a rather satisfied, friendly expression. But those great lumbering bulls—a rolling avalanche of unfriendly power, as they plodded forward, singing their individual battle challenges deep in their throats. But the girl took a tremendous pride in them; it didn't seem possible that such a weak, insignificant thing as herself could own those huge animals. Of course, Snavely owned a quarter of them, legally; nevertheless, they were her bulls. And they were very valuable—to lose one or two might mean the difference between meeting her note and not meeting it.

After the bulls had been driven into the smallest of the interconnecting corrals on the home ranch, they were forced, one at a time, to enter a narrow runway which opened out into the pasture. Just before a bull reached the open end of this runway and just as he was congratulating himself on his escape, a bar shot across in front of his nose, another was placed immediately behind him and he was a prisoner. The walls of the runway were already pressing his sides, and now three men took hold of a long lever with the result that one of the walls swung inward, holding the entire bull as though a great hand had closed upon him. A large animal can thus be doctored or branded with least danger to all concerned, particularly to himself.

Before the first of the bulls had been released, Ruth Warren appeared among the surprised cowboys at the branding fire with a bucket of white paint she had found in the barn.

"Wait, before you let him loose," she called to the man by the nose bar.

"What's the matter?" asked Snavely.

"Well," said Ruth, "you see—how are we going to keep track of the bulls? I mean, suppose we do ride in the pasture and count them, they'll be so scattered that by the time we've counted twenty-two we can't be sure but what we've counted the same one twice, and that maybe one is gone."

"Can't you tell by looking at an animal whether you've counted him before or not?"

"Frankly, I can't. They all look alike to me."

"What do you aim to do with that paint?"

"I'll show you!"

Before Snavely could protest Ruth ran forward and drew a numeral one on the animal's side, two feet high. "See," she called triumphantly, "now all we have to do is to check their numbers on a piece of paper—we can't go wrong."

Snavely looked pityingly at Ruth, then turned away; the old cowman was too disgusted to speak. It seemed incredible to him that any one could look at a bull and not remember him as one remembers the face of a man.

INTEREST ON DEPOSITS BANNED

The Deposit Insurance Corporation issued regulations Friday last prohibiting insured banks from paying interest on demand deposits.

The order conforms with requirements already in effect on member banks of the Federal Reserve System. It extends this prohibition against interest payment on demand deposits to non-member banks which now have deposits up to $2,500 insured by the federal corporation.

GUILTY!

Vote a Life Sentence For Rubbish and Waste

There is no greater menace to public health and safety than the rubbish pile and the old-fashioned garbage can. Year after year they take their terrific toll with fire and disease.

There is just one effective way to combat these two evils—by burning them before they have a chance to do their devilish work. A Gas Incinerator is quick-acting, odorless, inexpensive to install and operate. It's the easiest and best way to vote a "life sentence" for Rubbish and Waste.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that the properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. A child is easily given the right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that Senna is the best laxative for everybody. Senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like the cathartics that leave you so thirsty. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on senna for its laxative action. It has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore, ready for use. Member N. R. A.

Deposits In First National Bank Here Are Fully Insured

All of us are interested in banks. And we are particularly concerned with a safe place to deposit our funds.
There is no more logical place to deposit money than in a bank. This has been proven over a long, long period.
People have often made the mistake of carrying their money in their pockets or purses, or of hiding it away in some place they believed safe. They also have made the mistake of investing their funds in securities which they believed to be safe, but which later turned out to be almost worthless, and sometimes absolutely worthless.

Money in the bank cannot be stolen; it cannot be lost, and it cannot burn up. The temptation to spend this money or invest it in some security that might turn out to be worthless, also is removed.

The First National Bank, Littlefield, is an excellent example of a sound bank—a safe place in which to deposit funds. This will be shown by the financial statement of this bank, which is published elsewhere in this issue of the Lamb County Leader.

In addition to being an exceedingly sound bank, the First National Bank also is participating in the benefits of the Federal Insurance Co., a government agency set up to insure bank deposits. As a participating bank in the functions of the Federal Insurance Co., all deposits up to $2500 in the Littlefield bank are fully insured. This guarantees depositors against loss.

With the First National Bank in such an excellent financial condition, and with deposits insured, this bank offers a 100 per cent safe place for the depositing of funds. Adv.

Home Occupied By Sewell Family Destroyed By Fire

A house belonging to A. P. Dugan, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Sewell, at the corner of East Seventh street and South Twitchell, was almost completely destroyed by fire Wednesday about 2 p. m.

According to reports Mrs. Sewell was cleaning clothes in a pan of gasoline, and it is believed that gas from a hot water heater ignited the gas, which caught fire, burning Mrs. Sewell's arms and legs badly, and partially destroying the house and almost all the contents. It is believed a living room suite comprised the only articles saved.

The Littlefield fire department answered the call at once, but the inside of the house and the roof were already ablaze when they arrived.

A called meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company offices for the purpose of discussing rules and regulations of proposed codes for the hardware, dry goods and furniture merchants of this city.

This meeting was called on receipt of instructions from Washington that such codes should be prepared and submitted.

A good representation was present at the meeting, and a discussion took place pertaining to code matters, including fair and unfair competition.

A Retail Trade Council was organized with J. E. Brannen, hardware merchant, president; Dewitt Reid, ready-to-wear merchant, vice president; R. A. Johnson, manager, Higginbotham-Bartlett Company, lumber and hardware concern, secretary-treasurer, and Pryor Hammons, furniture and undertaking, and J. H. Ware, dry goods merchant, directors.

It is planned that representatives from Littlefield will attend the Panhandle Retail Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association meeting at Amarillo February 5 and 6, when it is believed valuable information will be secured in regard to drafting codes to meet the situation.

Another meeting is expected to be called in Littlefield in the near future.

"Ladies Must Meet" To Be Shown At Palace Friday

A terrific knock-down-and-drag-out fight between three girls is one of the highlights of "Ladies Must Meet," the Universal musical picture at the Palace Theatre with June Knight and Neil Hamilton in featured roles.

Vases, pictures, books, lamp shades and all other movable furnishings serve as missiles in the rousing conflict, and the wreckage that greets the eyes of the astonished landlord when he finally bursts in the door is enough to make a manager moan. The ruin is complete. It is the best battle ever seen in this town.

The whole trouble comes about over the loss of a man with money, with each girl blaming the other for bringing out the separation from a most promising meal ticket. The disappointed gold diggers immediately break up housekeeping and go separate ways—but it doesn't last. More—much more—follows.

Rev. C. F. Booth has moved into our community on Mr. Farmer's farm recently vacated by the Ferguson family, who, we understand went to Eastern Oklahoma.

Mr. John Baldwin and family of Littlefield has moved into our community also, they are on the farm owned by Mr. Wittlen.

Mr. Ed Parker and family have moved into the house recently vacated by Roy Ivey and family, who bought a farm near Earth.

Mr. D. Dunn is going around with a mighty high head these days on account of Chas. Calvert and Mrs. Pearl Herman fixing him a nice new improvement on Blackwater draw. You want to close your cut-out when you pass there until he learns which door to come out at and which one to go in at.

Sunday evening late an airplane headed north had trouble of some kind and was forced to land in the J. D. Dunlap pasture in the sand hills, fortunately no one was hurt, which indicates that those who would pass Rocky Ford had better stop, lest they have trouble further down the road.

Mr. C. B. Rogers and wife visited Mrs. Cole and family Sunday.

Johnnie Dunn and his new wife from Turkey, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Dunn last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Comer Hall say they passed a new year's resolution that they will attend church at Rocky Ford this year. A mighty good resolution folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Rochelle visited A. Z. Dunn and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers of Amherst visited their daughter, Mrs. Bussalinas Sunday.

This writer does not know of anyone that would object to having a good rain now. Even a good snow that would give us some moisture would be gladly accepted.

We understand that one of our former residents, Mr. Ira Thompson, has invaded our community and bought the S. T. Ivey farm. We would be glad to have them move back with us.

We welcome all new people into our midst, and wish them to join with us in building the finest community on the plains.

We have had quite several weddings in the last few months, but since it has been sometime since, we will not name the ones who have forsaken the life of single blessedness for the one of double cussedness. May their path be strewn with all that produces happiness. I bow my exit.

Mr. Spacek's home is at Granger. He has visited this section on numerous occasions and has many friends in this city and territory.

You Should Pay Your School Taxes Now!

Feeling that the policy of lifting the penalty and interest from delinquent taxes at intervals is unfair to the taxpayer who pays his taxes before they become delinquent, and that the taxpayers' knowledge of this prevalent custom often induces them to neglect the payment of their taxes when due, the Littlefield Independent School District Board has adopted a ruling that the taxpayer who goes delinquent must pay a penalty, and that this penalty will not be lifted.

This school district has shown a wonderful financial improvement in the past few months, and we are making every effort to get on a cash basis. MAY WE COUNT ON YOU WHO HAVE NOT YET PAID YOUR TAXES TO DO SO NOW AND GIVE THIS SCHOOL THE LOYAL SUPPORT DUE IT?

Nineteen and thirty-three taxes go delinquent February 1 and take a penalty. It is not good business to have delinquent taxes. MAKE A SACRIFICE NOW AND PAY YOUR SCHOOL TAXES. I ASSURE YOU THAT IT WILL BE SINCERELY APPRECIATED.

President Roosevelt Signs Liquor Bill
President Roosevelt has signed the $500,000,000 liquor tax bill, thus making the major provisions of the measure, applicable at once.
The measure raises the levy on whisky from $1.10 a gallon to $2.
The measure is expected by treasury and congressional leaders to provide from $400,000,000 to more than $600,000,000 a year.
Safely past its first big test in the house by the narrowest of margins, the Roosevelt program Friday faced its second big congressional hurdle—a contest over ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.
Congress gave only a five vote margin for Mr. Roosevelt's personally requested ten percent cut in federal salaries for next fiscal year. The vote was 197 to 192, a considerable contrast to the ballot for the original economy bill last March of 266 to 138.

Farm Food Supply Demonstrators

The farm food supply demonstrators last year planned a canning budget that would enable them to serve their families a balanced meal each day in the year. Most of the demonstrators and many cooperators filled their budget. Many of them obtained fruits by exchanging vegetables for them. This year more grapes and tomatoes, and berries are going to be planted. The demonstrators are planning to lay concrete tile under some of their grapes, berries, and tomatoes, so that they can "make it rain" when rain is needed. The following women are carrying this demonstration: Mrs. M. M. White, Sod House club; Mrs. George Harmon, Amherst; Mrs. Violet Honea, Littlefield; Mrs. W. E. Logan, Blue Bonnet; Mrs. E. L. Cain, Ruby club; Mrs. W. J. Capers, Spade.

The council voted to make a calendar of each unit of work as it is completed, and to hang the calendar in office of the county home demonstration agent.

Mrs. J. M. Whitfield explained the purpose and function of the Texas Agricultural Association, the organization of which she attended December 4th and 5th in Dallas, as delegate of the Lamb County council.

Both demonstration and council members present at council meeting saw the hot bed built by Mrs. George Harmon. The hot bed is 6 by 3 1-2 feet which is sufficient to produce plants for a half acre garden. Practically all the lumber needed in building this hot bed was purchased for $1.90. Mr. Harmon had 9 1-2 feet of 6 inch by 1 inch lumber on hand, which he also used in the hot bed. The celoglass for the sash was contributed by Higgenbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co. Mrs. Harmon is planning to plant radishes in this hot bed this week.

"We have all the blackberries that we can use and many to sell off our two rows of blackberry vines across the orchard," says Mrs. Joe D. West of the Sudan club.

Every summer when the berries are through bearing, Mr. West prunes the vines and in the spring the suckers are cut out. This keeps the vines in good condition, and they bring forth good crops. Besides the blackberries Mr. and Mrs. West have grapes, peaches, and other fruits in the orchard. Nearly all of Mrs. West's strawberries died but she is not in the least discouraged, she is replanting this spring and is going to sub-irrigate the berries so that she can better care for them.

"I think I can do the work needed to improve my bedroom," said little Nettie Alair, bedroom demonstrator of the Spring Lake 4-H Club. Nettie is especially enthusiastic about the color scheme of her room, which is to be cream and a soft peach.

Among the other things that Irma Bennett, bedroom demonstrator of the Littlefield 4-H Club wants to do to improve her bedroom is to make a rug.

In June when the bedroom demonstrations are completed, Sheela Hartley, bedroom demonstrator of the Amherst 4-H Club hopes to have a standard bed. A standard bed consists of: A slat for each row of coil of springs, a good set of springs with spring cover, a comfortable mattress, a mattress cover, a mattress pad, two pair of long sheets, two pair pillow cases, an ample supply of light and heavy covers, and a bedspread.

C. W. A. Work Hours Slashed

Curtailment of the number of hours of work by persons employed on civil works administration projects in Texas from 30 to 24 hours per week in cities of more than 2500 population and to 15 hours in rural communities was put into effect Friday last.

The curtailment will lessen the scope of C. W. A. activities in Texas by approximately one-half, C. W. A. officials estimated.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief commissioner, in assuming the order stated the reduction was made necessary because C. W. A. payrolls had exceeded the original estimates.

Hopkins' order also stated: "This does not include administrative workers in administrators' offices."

"This applies to all civil works and civil works service employees and must be made effective everywhere on this date since disbursing officers will be instructed not to pay wages for work in excess of the hours, provided herein.

"From this date no name shall be added to any payroll except in actual replacement of a worker fully terminated and finally paid off."

BLUE BONNET

The club met January 4th in the home of Mrs. W. T. Attaway with 17 present and one visitor. The chairman acting in the chair, discussed matters of importance; all desiring to be members for the ensuing year enrolled. A parliamentarian was elected, Mrs. W. T. Attaway, committees were appointed.

The ladies served dinner Monday at the Cartmill sale, the dinner proved profitable, and we expect to serve at another soon. Please keep this in mind and bring what is asked of you. And those who did not attend this sale won't you please offer your services at the next.

The club quilt sold for $5.00. The quilt was very pretty and well worth $10.

Those who expect to be members this year, won't you enroll soon.

The next meeting, Jan. 18, at Mrs. E. L. Yarbrough's will have a hot bed ready to exhibit. Our agent will be in charge of the lesson.

We are glad to compliment Mrs. Logan on having been given third place on her pantry. She was our farm food supply demonstrator. You demonstrators began planning your work now. Let's all start the year off full of "pep," and will enjoy the year more and have the other clubs enjoying the Blue Bonnets.

The meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock and the hostess served delicious fruit cake and hot coffee.

1934-35 Cotton Plan To Wipe Out Surplus

"The big idea behind the 1934-35 government cotton plan is to wipe out the 11,600,000 bale carry-over without curtailing the cotton farmer's purchasing power and without shifting production from cotton to other farm commodities in an equally bad plight," explains G. E. Adams, special agent in cotton, Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

"The carry-over is to cut down to a 3 or 4 million bale normal by reducing American acreage 40 per cent, and the cotton farmer is to be protected from decreased income while he does this by paying him the money collected from a 4 cent per pound processing tax on the domestically used cotton in the United States. The government expects to collect about $130,000,000 in cotton processing taxes, of which about 95 millions may be paid to cooperating farmers in the form of land rentals and the remainder in the form of parity payments. It amounts to guaranteeing the farmer pre-war buying power for the 40 per cent of his cotton domestically consumed.

"If cotton farmers were to take these retired cotton acres for producing food for sale it would make trouble in other farming lines which are all temporarily over-produced. Furthermore, if cotton farmers were to increase their cultivated acres at a time when the nation has too many acres in cultivation, the national farm situation would be made worse.

"That is why," explains Mr. Adams, "that cotton farmers who sign cotton contracts must agree not to use rented acres in any way that may lead directly or indirectly to throwing more farm commodities on the cash market. They must also agree not to increase their total cultivated acres above 1932 or 1933, and further, they must agree not to increase their acreages of corn, wheat, rice or tobacco, nor their numbers of dairy cattle and hogs.

"Through the new cotton contract the government undertakes to continue the restoration of the fortunes of cotton farmers, but in return asks that the farmer cooperate in the New Deal by refraining from unfair competition with already harassed corn and wheat and hog and rice and dairy farmers," he adds.

planting campaign by both the city and county citizens. Also a campaign for the beautification of homes and business houses.

Third: A rigid health and safety campaign to be inaugurated at least twice a year.

Fourth: Continue the practice of friendly relations and full cooperation with surrounding towns and communities for the betterment of the South Plains as a whole.

Fifth: A modern and up-to-date airport near the town. Should also set a goal for at least the third state highway to lead through town by the end of 1934.

Sixth: We should give full support to local band and endeavor to build a better and better one.

Seventh: Set a goal for a cotton oil mill for Littlefield and not stop until it is started.

Eighth: Investigate further the possibilities of building a municipal light and power plant in Littlefield.

The chamber voted unanimously to endorse the resolutions and to lend their full support in carrying them out.

It was announced that the 24th Scout Anniversary celebration would be held in Lubbock tonight.

Mr. Hale requested that each profession of the city have meetings to elect a governing body. The object of such a board is to adjust the working codes of the N. A. in the city.

The possibilities of an oil mill were discussed, and it was decided for the chamber to do everything within their power to secure the establishment of such a mill here within the near future.

tee, a wonderful response is being demonstrated, many tickets having already been sold for as high as $10.00 to public spirited citizens of this city.

Practically every city and town in the United States is giving a birthday ball in honor of the President to endow Warm Springs Foundation, which was established by the President to carry on a national battle against infantile paralysis, which every year cripples children.

The national committee, headed by Colonel Henry L. Doherty, opened a nation-wide movement to honor President Roosevelt by raising a permanent endowment fund for the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation for infantile paralysis, at Presidential Birthday Balls to be held in every community of the nation. No estimate of the amount that can be raised has been made, but the committee states that at least 5,000 communities are cooperating in the national event.

President Roosevelt, who derived benefits from the waters at Warm Springs, Ga., after suffering from infantile paralysis, was instrumental in the establishment of the foundation, of which he is president. He makes Warm Springs his winter home.

didn't have the nerve to tell that Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, that we were among those present. All we did was to look sort of foolish when Brother Grizzle made inquiry as to our presence in Sunday school.

TO BE REAL DOWNRIGHT HONEST ABOUT THE ENTIRE MATTER, this getting out of bed on Sunday morning is worse than trying to dance the Highland fling with joints that creak and creak and twinge and twinge on account of rheumatism. BUT WE'RE GOING TO KEEP WORKING ON THOSE MEAN OLD JOINTS UNTIL WE CAN ROLL OUT OF BED ON A SUNDAY MORNING AS GRACEFULLY AS A TRAPESE PERFORMER STRUTTING HER STUFF AWAY UP THERE UNDER THE BIG TOP.

From all accounts hereabouts a lot more folks are going to do their "durndest" to attend Sunday school.

AND CONCERNING CHURCH ATTENDANCE

We have observed that a lot more folks are taking an interest in attending the church of their choice.

For example, we heard a young man, whom we didn't know ever put his head inside a church, say last Sunday afternoon:

"Sure, I went to church this morning; I try to go every Sunday morning."

NOW, WE BELIEVE IN EVERY MAN MINDING HIS OWN BUSINESS BUT—

We believe that, for their own good, and for the general good of the community, that every man, woman and child should attend the church of their choice. They may not agree with everything the preaches says, but take the churches out of our TO THE DEVIL.

CONGRATULATIONS, SUNNYDALE

The program which was presented recently at the Sunnydale Community church by residents of that community, was an outstanding success and was much enjoyed by the large gathering. Littlefield residents who attended told the editor of this newspaper that the program was a real success and reflected much credit on the people of Sunnydale. Among those who attended from Littlefield were Mrs. Dr. Ira E. Woods, W. H. Madden, Joe W. Hale, and L. A. Ratliff.

Mr. Foust has been a resident of Lamb County for more than 14 years.

Judge Clements—

County know me, and know my record from the bottom on up, as many jurors have served in my courts and have worked with me, and know the things I stand for. I have always tried to employ myself in something worthwhile, and to make a record worthy of the support of the people.

"I believe in the enforcement of the law, and the trial of cases with as little delay as possible, so as to reduce the expenses of the courts. Of course during these depressed times, I have put off some cases under the moratorium law. I have studied the law of the cases brought before me, and try to follow the law, and to be fair, just and impartial in all of my rulings, and most of my cases have been upheld by the higher courts.

"It has ever been my desire and ambition to make a good record and to be a useful citizen, and I trust that no act of mine will ever reflect any discredit to myself, and I hope I can always retain the confidence of the men, and the respect of the women.

"I have worked hard to better prepare myself for this work, and feel even better qualified, with my experience, to do better work for you, and I want to continue working for and with you as your judge.

"I will appreciate the support of all, and will show my appreciation for your support, by the record I continue to make. I am busy in courts, but will try and see all before the election, and will thank you for a good word in my behalf."

Mr. Cogdill has been a resident of Lamb County for the past 11 years, coming here from Post, where he was connected with a lumber company for 10 years. He was employed by the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company, as manager of the Littlefield office, for five years.

In announcing for the office of District Clerk, Mr. Cogdill said:

"I feel I am qualified for the office which I seek, in view of the fact that I have had wide experience in all matters, which would come within the scope of the services rendered by a District Clerk.

"In addition to office and executive work, I have also a good knowledge of the operations and functions of the courts of our country.

"This has been gained through the positions I have held and the interest which I have taken in all matters pertaining to business life and good citizenship.

"I am familiar with general office work, including legal matters.

"I have also a very thorough knowledge of accounting, and have carried out such duties as auditing county and school books.

"I will appreciate the vote and influence of all those who know me in the county, and ask that all others investigate my record, after which if you feel I would make you a District Clerk, give me your vote the primary in July."
