Former Local Boy Reported Missing In Action In Korea

Mae Wright of Odessa reported that her son Lt. Vernon L. Wright, was missing in action in Korea. The message came from the Department of Defense that he was missing in action Tuesday, and a letter was received from him that he was flying a F-86 Sabre, and was serving with the 35th Fighter-Interceptor wing, Capt. Davis of Lubbock command. He had recently been promoted to assistant commander of his squad.

Shot Down Twice

The lieutenant had been in Korea since May, 1951. He reportedly had been shot down twice previously but on both occasions reached safety. The incident occurred while on a mission over Red lines October 26. The F-86 which he was flying was so badly shot up by Red jets that he was forced to bail out.

He was picked up only minutes later by a helicopter which in turn was shot down as it proceeded to UN lines. He and two companions were later rescued by another helicopter.

Attended Littlefield Schools

Lt. Wright attended Littlefield schools, up until the last half of his senior year, when the family moved to Lubbock. He made his home here three months with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brandon, to complete the first semester work. He graduated from Lubbock High school in 1946. He lettered in football with the Wildcats, and while attending Texas Tech, went to State in Track.

the Littlefield Wildcats won their opening game in the Amherst Basketball Tournament Thursday night over the Sudan Hornets by a close score of 33 to 32 in a game that went one overtime. They lost however in their second game to the Farwell Steers by another very close score, 36-35.

In the Sudan game, Keith Streety was high point man with 10 points while both Don Patterson and Bobby Lynch had nine each for the losers. The game, won on a free throw, was all tied up at 32-all when regular playing time elapsed.

In the Farwell game, the score was close all the way and was tied 20-20 at halftime. Littlefield led most of the first quarter but Farwell went ahead with about ten seconds left to play in the first half. With the clock running out, Joe Walden sank a field goal from the center of the court and tied it up at 20-20 at half time.

Littlefield lead again at the end of the third quarter but Farwell got ahead on several free-throws to take the game. R. L. Rhoten tried desperately to win the game for the Wildcats when he shot from way out as time was running out but the ball hit the side of the basket and Farwell won the contest.

Dimmitt girls, defending State Champions whalloped the Antoa girls 65 to 30 in the first game to be played Friday.

The Tournament was scheduled to come to a close Saturday night.

You And Your Congress

WASHINGTON—What can you expect from Congress this year?

There are a number of definite indications of things to come, although it is too early to answer the question completely.

What must be kept in mind is that Congress is meeting in a Presidential and Congressional election year. Congressional leaders will work with one eye on election day and few legislative issues will escape the political touch.

That means legislative experimenting, with the political uncertainties it involves, will be unpopular. Congress will deal mainly with legislation that must be handled because certain laws expire this year or because political expediency forbids ignoring them.

Here, against that background, is a run-down of major items:

Taxes—No major increases likely. The President may ask for as much as a $5 billion boost. But those Congressional leaders who have most to say about taxes have virtually ruled out another increase. There will be efforts to close so-called "loopholes" in the present law.

Spending—There will be a harder drive than last year to cut it. Voters are complaining more about it because their taxes are up. Bills newly introduced would put a $71 billion limit on spending ($29 billion less than last year) and lower the present legal limit on the national debt by $10 billion to $265 billion. The debt now is $260 billion.

However, Congress will go slow on domestic spending cuts that might pinch voters. And it will hesitate to chop military budgets, which will carry over half of total spending, because of the world situation. Foreign aid will be considered the "safest" cutting area.

Controls—Congress isn't likely to scrap wage-price-rent-credit controls in this election year, because it isn't sure whether inflation or deflation lies ahead. It won't rush to meet President Truman's request to "repair" the 1951 legislation. It may order controls removed from those commodities whose prices slip below ceilings.

Social Security—Mr. Truman wants to increase old age and survivors' benefits by $5 a month. Congress is lukewarm on this. But there are over 3,000,000 recipients of these old-age payments, most of them voters. That may force a compromise increase.

Veterans—Legislation to extend GI benefits to Korean War veterans—an election year natural—was held over from the 1951 session and almost certainly will be approved this year. But Congress will try to eliminate many of the abuses that grew up around World War II GI benefits.

Farm Prices—Mr. Truman wants Congress to boost the levels at which the government can step in and buy farm products to support their prices. But influential Congressional farm bloc members fear this might arouse consumers to the point of jeopardizing the entire farm price support program. They realize that food prices are high and that non-farm voters outnumber farm voters. So Congress itself probably won't raise farm price support levels this year.

Foreign Aid—As noted earlier, the economic portion of this aid (now about $1 billion) will be politically vulnerable this year. Chairman Richards (D-S. C.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee predicts Administration foreign aid requests will be cut "to the bone" this year. That looks like a safe prediction.

Meanwhile, the Administration will soft-pedal civil rights legislation in an effort to soften the anti-administration rebellion in the South.

The administration will take a lukewarm approach to most Fair Deal measures in an effort to gain bipartisan support for foreign policy.

As for scandal, Republicans will be trying to dig it up and Democrats will be trying to clean it up. So, this year as last there will be many investigations.

Suppose It Were Your Kid

Suppose it were your kid—your girl or boy—happy, protected, cherished—with dreams of growing up to become a movie star or pilot.

What could happen to her—or to him, laughing and playing in the sun under your watchful eyes? The chances are, nothing.

But to thousands of such carefree, loved, protected youngsters something did happen last year. Dreaded, sneak-attacking polio struck at them, childish laughter was stifled. There were days of pain—of excruciating anxiety—for some, a prospect of life-long handicap. Suppose one of them had been your girl or boy.

January is March of Dimes month and during this time all of us have a chance to act as if our own children were among the unfortunate. We can strike back at this cruel disease by contributing generously to the MARCH OF DIMES to help them.

The job of getting kids back on their feet—in a literal sense—cannot continue unless you and I and all the rest of us put up more dollars and dimes than ever before. There have been 132,000 cases in four years, triple what used to be a "normal" number.

When you see the smiling-faced lad on the MARCH OF DIMES posters or in the newspapers, think of the good that can be accomplished for him and others like him through the MARCH OF DIMES.

Suppose there were no MARCH OF DIMES, suppose it were your kid and no help at hand. . . .

Fortunately, there is a MARCH OF DIMES. You created it and you can give it the extra backing it needs this year because there are so many kids—and adults too—dependent upon it.

Teen Talk

AP NEWS FEATURES

"It's easy for a girl ventriloquist to fool people—somehow no one ever suspects that a girl can throw her voice."

So says 18-year-old Shari, a pretty little brunette who can compete with the oldsters when it comes to ventriloquism. What's more, when she demonstrates her art, she is so convincing you'd almost bet that Samson and Buttercup—her two little wooden people, who are not much smaller than she is—come to life suddenly.

Is it difficult for a girl to learn ventriloquism? Shari says "no." It's a field that heretofore has belonged to the boys but now more and more girls are getting into the act. She emphasizes, however, that there is a knack to ventriloquism and if you do not hit it after considerable practice, you're probably just not the voice-throwing type, says she.

"Ventriloquism is lots of fun, but you need more than the art of throwing your voice to make it pay off. If you want to be interesting and convincing as a performer, you will need to know music and dancing."

Shari studied piano, violin, dancing and dramatics at a Bronx high school and calls into play these extra talents in her performances.

Although she has been a professional ventriloquist for only a year, and was a weekly feature on Don Ameche's television show, Shari learned stage presence while doing magic tricks at parties. Her father, Peter Pan the Magic Man, was official magician for the Department of Parks in New York City and taught her the ways of a prestidigitator. She made her first public appearance at the age of four.

How do you get started in ventriloquism, even just for the fun of it? Shari says you must read books on the subject, practice whenever possible, watch other performers, and develop your voice and other talents. If you want to do it professionally, you'll need to dream up a good act, too.

Shari says a good act takes lots of imagination. She explains: "It's more than just having a pretty dummy on your knee. You've got to build up the show and give it meaning."

Her "Samson" is supposed to be a 16-year-old teen-ager, and Shari gets him into all the fun and scrapes that average teen-agers experience. "Buttercup," her other dummy, is supposed to be eight, the kid sister of Samson. Sometimes Shari's show is built around "Buttercup" and her baby sitter.

Shari handles her wooden offspring with loving care, and when asked if most ventriloquists fall in love with their little people and think of them as humans, she says:

"Yes, of course. To me Samson is just like a brother, and Buttercup is just like a baby sister. You couldn't put on an act with them unless you felt that way—one reason why the audience, sensing that you treat them like real children, fall in love with them, too."

Shari, who made her debut as a ventriloquist on the Arthur Godfrey show, wants to have her own show—one which would appeal to every age level.

Ed Got Red In His Own "Hot Water"

Big Ed started a "Pay-Your-Bill" campaign last week and ended up with a slightly red face. Ed's been our Water Commissioner for ten years, and for ten years now he's been getting riled up over slow payments of bills.

So, he finally decided to do something drastic about it. Last week he sent notices that if the slackers didn't pay up by Friday, he'd shut off their water.

Naturally, some still didn't square accounts. Ed ordered their water turned off, and 14 homes went without all week end—the Commissioner's among them. Seems Ed forgot to pay his bill.

From where I sit, Ed's mistake is one we all make at times. We are too quick to accuse others while forgetting our own faults. Lots of us do it, for instance, over a difference in taste for a soft drink or a friendly glass of beer. Let's respect each other's preferences and we'll all stay out of "hot water."

Edgar Bergen And Charlie McCarthy Show To Be Presented In Post

The Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy show will be presented in Post sometime between January 28 and February 7 according to an announcement from Irwin Franklin, Bergen's public relations agent.

Bergen is staging his show there as a special "thanks" to the citizens of Post for their generous response to his recent operations Santa Claus project. He thanked them on his national radio program January 6 and said at that time, "Charlie and I will be in Post soon to thank the people in person."

Attending from here will be Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Sullivan and their daughters, Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Mrs. Waymon Barker and Mrs. Wiley Roberts.

He also wrote that if at the time he visited Post the people had any philanthropic drive on he would gladly give a complete show gratis.

Proceeds of the show will go toward some phase of the new county hospital which is now under construction. Date, time and price of the show, which will be staged in the Stampede Rodeo grounds on the Lubbock highway, weather permitting, will be announced later.

Go To School To Learn To Say More Than "Yes", "No" "Thanks" In French

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—A group of bright young men and women of the American legation in Indochina are going to school every day so they can learn to say much more than "yes," "no," and "thanks" in French.

Vice-Consul William B. Dunn, cultural affairs officer, hit upon the idea to make it easier for American personnel to catch on to the French language, which is No. 1 in usage in this country.

He lined up expert French teachers and fixed classes for 7 o'clock in the morning. They meet for one hour. The early "school" hour hasn't hurt enrollment. The class is off to flying start with about 20 enrolled.

About half of them are U.S. Marines assigned to duty at the legation.

Patients To Be Made More Comfortable

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Use of antibiotics and the hormone, ACTH, to make cancer patients more comfortable is reported in the Medical Journal of Australia.

The antibiotics are aureomycin or chloromycetin. Added to these drugs the patients received diets low in salt and with added vitamins.

The result, says the Journal, was that patients who had been weak, bed-ridden, in pain, and in several cases expecting to live only a few days or weeks, recovered their appetites. Some returned to work, and pain was less.

The report is by Doctors F. A. Maguire and Mabel McElhone. No cures are expected.

Taxi Drivers Warned Against Drinking On Job

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss Supreme Court has ruled that a taxi driver must not drink any alcohol while at work—even outside the country.

A Zurich taxi driver recently took some customers on an all-day trip to Bregenz in Austria, where he had a good lunch and a good bottle of wine. He knew that in Switzerland taxi drivers were not allowed to drink while working. But this was Austria, he argued, so Swiss laws don't apply.

On his way back to Zurich, he scratched the fender of another car and a blood-test, routine procedure in Switzerland, showed that his blood contained 0.1 per cent of alcohol.

The Supreme Court turned down his appeal against a five-day jail sentence on the grounds that he broke the law, not by drinking wine in Austria, but by bringing it back to Switzerland in his blood.

Thousands Of Texas Adults Will Trek Back To School Week Of March 2

Thousands of Texas adults will go back to school during the week of March 2-8 in observance of the Second Annual Public Schools Week in Texas. In his proclamation the Governor said:

"One of the basic institutions upon which we rely for the furtherance of our American ideals is the public school system. Public schools, by enabling every child to gain a liberal education regardless of station in life, promote recognition of the responsibilities of citizenship and constitute a major bulwark against subversive doctrines.

"We in Texas are proud of the school system that has been developed in our state. Its success has been due to many factors—the interest of mothers and fathers in their children, the cooperative efforts of state and local officials, and the energy and determination of those public spirited men and women who are devoting their lives to the teaching of our children.

"The continued progress of our school system requires increased public understanding of the importance of education and the greatest possible encouragement and support of our teachers."

Governor Shivers' proclamation follows a resolution adopted last summer by the Texas State Board of Education designating the Texas State Board of Education designating the week of March 2-8 as Public Schools Week. The resolution urged that every citizen visit a public school during the period to become personally acquainted with the programs and accomplishments of the state's system of public schools.

The Texas Education Agency has requested local public schools officials throughout the state to invite the citizens of their respective communities to visit classrooms, and to plan programs with the purpose of giving the pupils and the citizens a better understanding of the school program.

Public Schools Week was observed officially for the first time in Texas last March. In hundreds of communities thousands of citizens visited their public schools in groups. Many visitors had not been inside schools in years.

Statistics compiled by the Texas Citizens' Committee on Public Schools Week following the first Public Schools Week program revealed a great awakening on the part of the public to the problems of their local public schools.

Mortgage Loans Available To Veterans

Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Lubbock regional office, has announced that this office has listings of West Texas direct home mortgage loans which are available for sale to private lenders by VA.

Listings cover 231 home loans aggregating $1,499,225.00. The loans have been made under the direct lending provisions of the Housing Act of 1950. That law authorized VA to make home mortgage loans to veterans directly in those areas where private capital was not available for GI four percent loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

The average loan amount is $6,500. Under the law a direct loan by the Veterans Administration may not exceed $10,000 in amount.

Direct loans will be sold by the VA regional office either individually or in blocks. Eligible purchasers of the loans must be private lending institutions evidencing ability to service loans.

When VA's direct loans are sold they are guaranteed up to sixty percent of the loan amount—the same as a GI loan made by a private lender.

Loans will be sold at par plus accrued interest under present market conditions. Under the law a direct loan may not be sold at a price less than par.

The high investment caliber of direct loans made by the VA was stressed by C. M. Harvin, regional office loan guaranty officer. It was emphasized that in all cases the credit rating of the veteran borrower has been carefully screened by the local VA office and that in all cases the purchase price or construction cost has had to meet the test of VA's finding of reasonable value. In addition, the property has to meet VA's minimum construction and property requirements.

VA's loan officer emphasized that the loans will be guaranteed for sixty percent of the loan amount so that any possibility of principal loss to the lender is eliminated from a practical standpoint. He pointed out also that the direct loans made by the VA have been made during a period when mortgage credit restrictions were in effect, so that in practically all cases a substantial down payment has been made by the veteran borrower.

College Football Has Its Problems

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The National Collegiate Athletic Association, embracing 325 member schools and ten major conferences, on Jan. 10-12 will hold in Cincinnati a meeting of momentous importance, it says in the papers.

The agenda ranges from discussions on television and spring football practice all the way to de-alumnism.

Who are the colleges kidding anyway? It's utterly impossible to de-emphasize a commodity like college football. It's the big breadwinner for college athletic programs.

The NCAA had a television committee in 1951. It was set up for the purpose of determining the impact of television on college football.

The schedule ran for nine weeks with each TV city being blacked out on two Saturdays, save for Kalamazoo, Mich., where a station had the gumption to TV a game on one of the restricted Saturdays. The NCAA never did a thing about

Family Of Good Cooks

You don't have to be a fancy cook to win a $25,000 recipe prize. But you do have to have an ingenious husband.
 Mrs. Sam P. Weston, who just walked off with first prize plus an all-electric kitchen in Pillsbury Flour Company's third Grand National Recipe and Baking Contest, didn't own a cookbook when she got married. Fortunately her husband brought his along. She's acquired only one other culinary guide since—a cookbook put out by a church group in Vermont.
 The Westons live in La Jolla, California. Helen Weston does all her own housework and looks after her two sons, aged 3 and 6. Her husband edits the monthly house organ for the Solar Aircraft Company and enters contests as a hobby.
 Helen Weston is an attractive, quiet woman who says the major portion of the prize probably will be put aside for their young sons' education. A Vassar graduate who majored in bacteriology, she did graduate work in physiology at the University of Denver. She likes to read financial news and history.
 Small son Peter is following in his father's footsteps. He loves to putter in the kitchen wrapped round in a plastic apron. When Peter knew his mother was coming to New York to bake THE cake he insisted she take the apron along. And wear it his mother did, so she could "tell the little fellow" she kept her word.
 Simple fare is what Helen Weston cooks for her family, and even when they entertain she never goes fancy. Cold meat, salad, cake and whether she had tried a delicious cream-cheese and chocolate frosting. The Westons were trying the frosting when Sam decided they ought to do something unusual with it. "What goes into a chocolate cake?" he asked and took off from there.

 There wasn't enough leavening in their first cake attempt and it was a little heavy. But after the fourth baking they had something they thought was pretty good. When Mrs. Weston's mother heard the cake recipe was going into the contest she warned, "There are some mighty good bakers in this country!"

First Baptist WMU To Meet Monday In Business Session

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the church parlors for a business meeting. Mrs. T. H. McLarty is president of the organization and will preside.

Ice cream make up the menu she usually serves guests. She packs her husband's lunchbox every day and says his favorite sandwiches are made of chopped black olives, cold hamburger, or hard-cooked egg with lots of onions.

When it comes to birthdays Helen Weston says she "wouldn't think of buying a 'store' cake!" Her mother always baked her sister's and her birthday cakes and she carries on the tradition in her own family.

Here is the prize recipe:
STARLIGHT DOUBLE LIGHT CAKE
 2 packages (8 oz. size) cream cheese, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract, sifted confectioners' sugar. Blend half of sugar into creamed cheese mixture. Add 1/4 cup hot water alternately with balance of sugar. Blend in 4 squares (4 oz.) melted chocolate. Reserve half of mixture (2 cups) as frosting for baked cake.
 Mash liverwurst with a little mayonnaise and spread on crackers or rounds of Melba toast; garnish with a little chopped onion and sieved hard-cooked egg.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held At Baptist Church Friday

The parlors of the Educational Building of the First Baptist church was the scene of a lovely affair Friday night, when members of the Woman's Missionary Union, entertained with the annual Junior-Senior banquet.
 Guests were all of the members of the Senior class of Littlefield High school, members of the Junior class who are members of the Baptist church, sponsors of the classes and teachers in the Young People's department of the church.
 A unique Japanese theme was carried out in decorations for the occasion, and the Christian Education theme was stressed in the program. Japanese lanterns were hung over the lights. The speakers table was decorated with a large ming tree, surrounded by lemon leaves and pink snapdragons. The other tables carried out the same theme of decoration. Miniature Japanese lanterns were placed on the centers of the tables. Plate favors were vari-colored fans, containing the printed menu and program.
 Rev. Lee Hemphill, pastor, gave the invocation and introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist church at Lubbock.
 Robin Fann, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxlee Fann sang a song. She was dressed in Japanese costume, and she was accompanied at the piano by her mother. During the dinner hour, Japanese recordings were also enjoyed, and following the address by the speaker, a Japanese film was shown by Mr. Fann. Misses Minyon and Claribeth Thefford rendered a vocal duet, "A Slow Boat to China," accompanied by Rosa Lee Hemphill. They, too, were attired in Japanese costume.
 The banquet menu consisted of creamed chicken in patty shells, candied yams, green beans, wrapped in bacon strips, jello and orange salad, steamed rice, hot rolls, butter, tea and cake.
 Mrs. Acree Barton, educational chairman of WMU, and Mrs. V. S. Cassel, social chairman of WMU were in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Cotton Takes To The Road

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor

GOLDEN TOUCH—Beach ensemble in embossed cotton barathra with gold trim, by Margaret Newman.

The girl who is planning a winter vacation can assemble an all-cotton wardrobe this year, ranging all the way from beach and play clothes to travel ensembles.

So many and varied are the new cotton fabrics that there is one for practically every purpose and taste. Beach and evening clothes, for instance, are being made in textured cotton satin, matelasse pique, cotton taffeta, and metallic cottons. "Dressed-up" denim and terrycloth appear in some of the newest town and travel outfits, while woven plaid chambray and new weaves of pique are used for some of the smartest sun fashions.

Charcoal gray terry cloth and pique dyed to match make one of the season's most unusual beach ensembles—the swim suit in pique, the sweater-jacket in terry.

Bright coral and matching striped denim is used in a new group of separates. For travel, cotton tweed is a new favorite, showing up in both suits and dresses which take to the road with the greatest of ease.

One designer shows rain ensembles, consisting of raincoat, skirts, and umbrellas in satin-striped cotton. Lacy-knit cotton sweaters top the outfits.

And of course, for formal wear there are the glamorous cotton sheers, ranging from organdie and voile to a new cotton chiffon.

The cotton resort wardrobe is the choice of smart travelers, who know that in warm climates, King Cotton still reigns.

Crop Shortage Seen As Short Millions

A former agriculture secretary called Sunday for an immediate probe of reports that business men connected with the government's crop storage program are short several million dollars.

Senator Anderson of New Mexico, the ex-cabinet officer and now a key Senate agriculture committee member, made the proposal in connection with a report turned over to congressional committees by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren pointing out the alleged shortages of funds or commodities.

These findings deal only with investigations of private warehousemen in the Dallas, Texas, region of the Commodity Credit Corporation—the federal farm price support agency. No government workers are involved.

Warren's report deals with alleged instances in which private warehousemen sold the commodities and were unable to make delivery of either the cash or the commodities.

Although no federal personnel is involved, several senators said they felt the Agriculture Department has not pushed prosecution in such cases vigorously enough.

Warren's report, not yet made public, cites shortages of more than $3,000,000 in the Dallas area. But it is known that his agency—the General Accounting Office—regards the preliminary findings as justification for an audit of CCC accounts in other areas.

New Quarter Million Dollar Hart School Building Contract Let

Contracts for a new quarter million dollar school rural high school building at Hart were let last week, to two Lubbock firms and one at Morton the past week. It will replace the school building that burned last fall in a fire believed to have been started by faulty electrical wiring. Contracts totaled $215,908.

Joe Telford Construction company of Lubbock was awarded the general contract on a bid of $176,000. The plumbing and heating contract went to the P&C Construction company, also of Lubbock, on a bid of $28,654.

Bud Nairn of Morton got the electrical contract on his bid of $11,254.

Construction is scheduled to start Jan. 21 on the site of the former building. Work is to be completed in 250 to 300 working days.

The new building, designed by Butler and Brasher of Lubbock, will be of semirefractory construction, said R. W. Davidson, school superintendent.

There will be 10 class rooms, a large study hall, library and combination auditorium-gymnasium. Corridor floors will be of terrazzo and the walls of glazed tile.

Ceilings of corridors and of class rooms will be covered with asphalt tile. Flooring in the gym will be of hard maple.

A light gray colored brick has been selected for the exterior walls. Window sills and coping will be of natural stone. Metal sash will be used in windows and doors. The outside doors will be of hollow metal and inside doors of birch. The heating system operates from forced hot air supplied by a steam boiler by propane.

The Hart school building was completely destroyed by fire on the night of Sept. 27, 1951. Patrons of the Hart district rose to the occasion immediately and on Oct. 15 voted a $200,000 bond issue almost unanimously. That sum plus $50,000 insurance carried on the old building and its contents will be Dallas CCC office, and his assistant, have been dismissed since the GAO inquiry began, but the Agriculture Department insists their removal was not related to the investigation.

About 15,000 private warehousemen store government-owned grain and other crops under contract. Some of the losses in the Texas-New Mexico area have been taken into federal court on charges that the operators were guilty of "converting" government property to their own use.

He declared: "When the committee meets we will recommend that anyone who has done wrong be put in jail. We will make a full investigation if we find it necessary."

CCC makes contracts with elevators and warehouses to store grain and other commodities received under the federal crop loan and purchase programs to support prices.

The shortages allegedly occurred when the contractors sold the commodities and then were unable to deliver either the cash or the commodities on CCC demand.

Application For Overseas Jobs Will Be Taken Here Wednesday, January 30

Applications for positions for engineers and other technical personnel, which are now urgently needed in the far-flung overseas activities of the Corps of Engineers, will be interviewed on Wednesday, January 30, at the local office of Texas Employment Commission, according to J. D. Jordan, local manager.

Mr. Jordan stated these positions are in Europe, Japan, Alaska, and Puerto Rico. Overseas positions open include the following: Engineers in architectural, civil, construction, electrical, materials, mechanical, photographic and topographic, structural, safety and sanitation, and general fields; general maintenance workers; operations engineers; inspectors of various types; mechanics; engineering and survey aides; draftsmen; office workers and related personnel; and real estate personnel.

Workers will be assigned to Army construction and rehabilitation activities in tactical operations in overseas theatres.

Depending upon position and grade, salaries range from $2600 to $7600 per annum, while certain other jobs will pay on an hourly basis from $1.69 to $2.48.

Families and other dependents will not be able to accompany appointees to overseas assignment. However, in some cases, dependents may follow appointees at a later date. Housing shortages necessitate the establishment of a priority waiting list subject to command approval.

Age requirements limit recruitment to 21-40 for women and 21-55 for men in the European and Pacific Commands. Exceptions to the maximum age may be made in Alaska and the Caribbean where an applicant is especially qualified. Minimum age limitation is waived only for male veterans.

Recruitment of a man and wife for duty is limited to Alaska, Hawaii, Okinawa and Panama Canal Zone, and these areas have few openings for civilian personnel. Hence, the opportunities for such employment are extremely limited.

In territories and possessions of the United States, quarters and subsistence are available at costs ranging from $50 to $100 per month for individual accommodations. In occupied and foreign areas a nominal charge is made for subsistence with no cost for quarters.

Civilian employees may receive the same medical, dental and hospital care that is afforded military personnel except where adequate civilian medical facilities are available. Reasonable charges for such care may be imposed.

Under present Army regulations, civilian overseas employees have the privilege of buying at Quartermaster stores and outlets of the Army Exchange Service (PX), except when restricted by command regulations. Laundry, dry cleaning, hairdressing, shoe repair, hair dressing and barber shop facilities are usually available. Civilian employees are entitled to the recreational facilities that are available within the command.

The minimum tour of duty is for two years except in Korea, Okinawa, Guam, and the Aleutian Islands, where the tour is for one year. The government ordinarily provides transportation to and from the foreign assignment. The command retains the right to reassign an employee to any position or to a location where his services may be required.

It was stressed that final acceptance for any job hinges upon satisfactory reports on physical examinations, personal reference checks, character and loyalty investigations, and a qualifying examination is required.

The local office address is 104 East 5th Street, Littlefield, Texas.

Record Dimes Drive Needed

America's price tag for transforming crippled legs to active limbs can only be met by a record 1952 March of Dimes.

This was emphasized today by George L. White, County campaign director for the January appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"It costs a great deal to bring weakened bodies back to a reasonable state of functioning," he said.

GIVE Voluntarily
MARCH OF DIMES
JANUARY 2-31

"When polio leaves its mark, it's a long, uphill fight to repair the damage. That's why the March of Dimes has gone into debt for four years running. Time, America has contributed more each year. However, not only has the cost of hospital care risen, but the number of polio patients needing help has increased steadily."

Mr. White said that in its first ten years, from 1933 to 1942, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent a total of $41,000, 000 for care of patients. In the last four years alone—data through 1951—patient care costs amounted to $19,000,000.

"The costs of hospitalization, nurses and equipment like everything else have risen," he said. "Besides that, there have been more new polio patients in the last four years—122,000—than in those previous ten years combined. Each year, tens of thousands of polio patients stricken in past years remain on March of Dimes rolls for continuing assistance. They are the more seriously involved patients—the ones that require the most attention if they are ever to lead useful lives."

"All this takes a great deal of money. It is our responsibility, therefore, to assure continuance of this work by giving generously to the 1952 March of Dimes."

This is the first flag, so far as is known or that can be recalled to fly over the schools here, at least in the memory of the present student body and faculty.

Flags have been presented and on hand in several or many of the rooms of course, and have appeared in the hands of flag bearers at numerous high school parades and functions, but this is believed to be the first time that a flag has flown the campus in the history of the schools, and the gift is deeply appreciated by the schools, and Superintendent Hutchinson left no doubt in the minds of his listeners that such was the case, as he accepted, and thanked the donors.

The Woodmen organization has made flag presentations in many of the states and communities of the nation, as a patriotic service to patriotism, to nation and to country.

In addition to school officials, students and faculty, numerous citizens were in attendance at the flag presentation ceremonies, along with officers and members of the local W. O. W. lodge, which boasts a strong membership in Littlefield and in the county.
