SPRING LAKE SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 2

A special meeting of the Board of Trustees for the Spring Lake School District July 29, opening date for the 1940-41 term was set at September

According to grades the enrollment is expected this year: grade one 55 pupils, two 58, grade three 52, four 47, grades five 61, six 49, grade seven 43, grade eight 48, grade nine 38, grade ten and grade eleven 33. There are a number of children in the district who do not enroll and are active members for one or another. All parents are asked to place their children in school at the start and make every effort to help them maintain attendance.

Buildings and equipment are in good condition at present for opening day of school and very little rearranging will be required. New Teachers, Announced — Mathematics and science courses in high school which have been in effect the past two years by Miss J. Gordon will be directed by J. J. Davis, a graduate of the college of Diversified Occupations, Weatherford, Oklahoma, had several years experience in teaching this work. He has already taught in the community with his wife, Mrs. Anna Noble, Master's degree from Oklahoma University, have charge of English and speech in high school. She will also direct the library and school news. Mrs. Noble also has a number of successful years of teaching to her credit. She comes to this school from the Texas line along the Red River near Ardmore, Oklahoma, where she resigned her position to accept the position here.

Mrs. V. C. Bearden resigned the position accepted by Mrs. Noble. Students of Spring Lake School and the entire faculty regret the loss of Mrs. Bearden as a teacher, but rejoice that she is yet a member of this community.

Miss Dorothy Terry, graduate of West Texas State Teachers College will teach art in the departmental grades five, six, and seven. Miss Terry has visited in this community several times and is not entirely a newcomer.

Bus Drivers To Be Named
August 19, 2:30 P. M. was set as the date for the election of drivers for the school buses for the Spring Lake School for 1940. Mr. O. I. Anderson was reelected as mechanic and will begin work getting the buses ready for the opening of school. Anderson will continue to drive the big bus from Earth. Ten other routes will require drivers. Two of these routes come from the Big Square district and the Board there will name the two drivers.

In order that men who wish to place application for a route might know about what the main requirements are, the Board of Trustees announce the following general regulations concerning drivers of school buses:

1. The Board will meet at the high school building August 19 at 2:30 P. M. to choose drivers for the 1940-41 school year.
2. All applications for driving buses must be presented to the Board at this meeting by the applicant.
3. Applicant must be present at the meeting to be considered.

4. Total number of drivers needed is ten, two of which will be chosen by the Board of the Big Square District for the buses running from that District.

5. Salaries will be for the length of the school term at $27.00 per month per route, with the exception of the Big Square routes which are much longer and which will be allowed for.

6. All drivers of buses will be expected to secure drivers licenses from the State Highway Department, and at the driver's expense of $3.00.

8. All drivers will be required to have accurate timepiece at all times when on duty.

9. Each driver will be expected to keep an accurate check of the attendance on his bus and report same to superintendent daily.

10. Buses will be required to arrive at school at approximately 8:25 to 8:30 and will be expected to remain until 4:15, or until all pupils are seated and ready to depart.

11. Weekly reports of expenses for the bus driven will be kept by each driver and checked by the mechanic before delivering to the superintendent monthly summary reports will be made if requested.

12. All drivers will be expected to make their share of special trips for school activities and in rotation.

13. Drivers will be expected to deliver children home who become ill during the school day, or for other reasons need to be sent home.

14. All routes will be practically as they were at the close of the 1939-40 term, but will be subject to minor changes as the occasion requires it.

15. Substitute drivers will be permitted only under unusual conditions of extreme necessity, and must be approved before substituting. Regular drivers will be responsible for paying substitutes, and will themselves be paid in full.

The Board of Trustees wish to express their appreciation for the good response received in preceding years in the matter of applicants for bus drivers positions. They also wish to state that the District has been fortunate in securing the services of capable, efficient drivers in the past, for the most part, who have had the interest of the pupil, the school, and the entire community at heart.

High School Enrollment
High school students will be enrolled in the Spring Lake High School on Wednesday and Thursday, August 28 and 29, the week preceding the opening of school on September 2.

It is necessary to make this enrollment early in order to have time to make any changes required in the schedule. All high school students are requested to come to the high school building August 28 or 29 between nine and four o'clock to determine what courses students expected to take, and this pre-enrollment was the basis of the schedule which has been prepared and which will be used in completing enrollment on the days mentioned above.

It is planned that two new courses will be included in the curriculum this year, Spanish and Contemporary Problems. Although Spanish is not a new course in this school, it has been dropped off the list for the past few years. It is believed that Spanish should be taught in all high schools in this part of the United States, if not all parts, to assist in the establishment of a more binding friendly relationship and understanding between the Latin American countries and our nation. Contemporary Problems is a strictly new course here and should meet the needs of students in establishing a fuller understanding of world and national conditions and happenings.

Students enrolling must present their textbook cards from last year and must have a clean record as to fees and dues unpaid from last year.

Formby Thanks His Friends For Electing Him To Etate Senate

"My friends elected me!" This was the statement issued at Dickens this week by Marshall Formby who on July 27 was nominated State Senator of the 30th District on the Democratic ticket. Judge Formby, serving his fourth year as Dickens County Judge, defeated Alvin R. Allison of Level-land.

"I am deeply thankful to my friends who elected me," Judge Formby said. "A man is helpless working alone, and I shall always be thankful for my friends who came to my aid. I could not have possibly won without my friends and I am grateful to them all in this county and in the district. I ask now for the cooperation of every man, woman and child in this district to help make me the kind of a State Senator you want."

Judge Formby said he expected to visit here as soon as he catches up with his work at Dickens.

If the proportion of cultivated land in Texas were the same as in Illinois, the value of Texas crops would equal that of the other 47 states.

The SNOOPER SAYS...

I built a tiny garden
In a corner of my heart,
I kept it just for lovely things,
And bade all else depart.

And ever was there music,
And flowers blossomed fair;
Yet never was it perfect
Until God entered there.

After this year, Texas will not be in the red!

A broad statement, but this is about the red tags that are being eliminated from sacks of state certified and registered seed.

W. H. Cunningham, state certified seed grower in Lamb county, received samples of the tags that are to be used by dealers in all of the states. The light blue tags will mean certified seed, and the purple tags will be registered seed.

Many states in the union will use red tags for semi-certified seed, Mr. Cunningham said, but not Texas. "We're coming completely out of the red!"

Red tags have been symbols of certified and registered seed for the past 16 years, and it will be necessary for the farmers to get used to the new tags.

That new floor covering in the office at the Compress made me wonder just where I was the other day. It is positively the very latest rubber, and it is not supposed to burn when someone casually drops a cigarette butt on it. The desks and tables out there have been covered with the same material.

We like the way the flag of the United States is shorn on the screens of the local theatres before every picture, reminding us of the standards for freedom and liberty upon which our nation was founded.

Not the absent-minded professor this time, but the preacher . . .

Recently, Rev. J. H. Sharp parked his car in front of a local hospital and left the keys in it. After doing many things in a few hours time, he went for his car and it was gone.

He inquired about it at the hospital—no one knew anything about it. He called his son and daughters, as well as his wife, but they thought he had the car. Local police were summoned and they were ready to catch the "car thieves." While driving around trying to locate the car, Bro. Sharp saw it at a service station and immediately remembered that he had called them from the church to get the car and give it a "cleaning and pressing."

FASHION for today BY PATRICIA DOW

ENSEMBLE
Make yourself both a play suit and a spectator sports frock, that you can wear in town and to the office as well as on your vacation, with this one simple pattern (No. 8741). The play suit is beautifully cut and fits to perfection, being true to the best (tennis) court etiquette. And when you add the tailored skirt, you'll be wearing a smart new version of the classic shirtdress, broad-shouldered, slim-waisted, with open sports collar and handy little pocket. The skirt may be worn with blouses, too.

Gabardine, gingham, denim and sharkskin are smart sports materials for this.

Pattern No. 8741 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40.

Pattern 8742—with every curl in place, with downcast eyes and distantly on her good behavior, the demure little lady in the foreground wears a sweet pinafore, with scalloped yoke and a lot of braid. In the background, behold a top-knotted, hoydenish mixx, leaping barefoot into action, with her spade. They're both awfully cute. And they're both clothed by the same easy pattern—No. 8742, which includes the sunbonnet besides!

All three parts of this design are ridiculously easy to make, and a step-by-step sew chart comes with your pattern. Gingham, Percale chambray and seersucker are practical materials for this ensemble, and the frock will be pretty in batiste, too.

Pattern No. 8742 is designed for sizes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

CHAPTER VII SYNOPSIS

Rollins, tennis ace, dreamed of winning the Davis Cup for his country. Then he fell in love with the beautiful, rich and social Worthington, Grace was willing to give up tennis. He did not because of his love for her, partly because of a badly injured ankle. He and Grace were married. Later his ankle improved and the doctors told him that he could play, and he gets a chance to join the Davis Cup team. He tries to persuade Grace to go to Europe with him.

ened scream at his side. And then nothing—
Overaled legs rose above and around him; something wet and salty was on his mouth. He put his hand to his face and drew it away covered with blood. One of the overaled figures kneeled down beside him and began wiping his face and head with a cool, wet cloth. "All right, buddy."
He nodded. He felt weak, shaken. He sat up, his eyes fastened on the laborer's lined face, looked around, then jumped to his feet, eyes wild. "Where's Grace?"
"She's all right, buddy. Take it easy."
He staggered, but regained his balance. There was a sick feeling in the pit of his stomach; the cut ed by a white sheet, lay upon the other, pale and wan, her head and one arm in bandages. She smiled weakly up at him as he entered. He crossed the small room rapidly and fell to his knees beside the bed. "Gracie darling, I'm sorry. So terribly, terribly sorry! How do you feel? Are you badly hurt?" His voice was hoarse, a whisper; his wet eyes pleaded forgiveness.

She said softly, "A cut head, but not a big cut, Len. And this arm they tell me is bruised, and there is perhaps a slight internal injury. Nothing to worry about, though, really. In a couple of days I'll be up and around again, good as new."
He kept searching her face. Was she telling him the truth? Was she really hurt no worse than she claim-took her hands in his, pleading. "Please come across with me. Don't you see—can't you—that I need you?"

Then you've decided definitely to go even if I don't?"
"But you'll go, darling."
You're evading the question. Will you go even if I don't?"
His expression changed suddenly. "The man of this family," he said in a low tone, "not you. And I'm going to do what I want, or I'm going to Europe. And you're going to play on the United States Davis Cup team. And you're going with me. Now let's cut all this nonsense."
Justin asked, "What was the job you spoke to you about?"
Something about managing the department of a store in Indianapolis. It will wait, of course, until we come back."
It would mean a promotion?"
Yes. But I'm not much interested. I want to get into the other—something. More money in it."
He moved out of his arms, staring at him dumbly, for she knew she was the end.

"Where is she?" he demanded in his mouth burned and would not stop bleeding.
"Where is she?" he demanded, his wild glance sweeping over the group.
"She's all right," the man repeated. "That car that was coming around the bend when you—they took her down the road. But she's all right."
"Where'd they take her?"
"Down the road. Hheres a hospital."
Len glanced at the Ford lying in the ditch torn and crumpled, then at the men.
"Who'll take me?" His mouth hurt when he spoke.
One of them wearing khaki, said "Okay, I'll take you."
At the hospital they would not let him see her. He was her husband? Surely if he was her husband he would understand. Mrs. Rollins needed immediate attention. "I'll wait," he said. Where's a phone?"
The nurse nodded toward a desk. "When you've finished," she said looking at his mouth, "you'd better have that cut stitched up."
But he didn't hear her.
He called Easthampton and reached Mrs. Worthington. In a few words he explained what had happened. She didn't waste time condemning him, but cut off with a terse, "We'll be right out."
He waited in the hall. Of course he wouldn't go to Europe now. Tomorrow he'd get in touch with Justin and accept that Indianapolis job. He and Grace would start life all over again—together.
No, he couldn't leave Grace here in this hospital and ever expect to find peace of mind again. Why, this was his test! Grace always had claimed he loved the game more than he loved her. He'd prove now how wrong she'd always been. Yes, this was his great opportunity—the crisis in their lives—and he would not fail her. He would never, never fail her.

"I telephoned your mother." She nodded. "I suppose she'd have to know."
"Yes, I thought so. They'll be here soon, I imagine."
She smiled tremulously, placed her unbandaged hand over his. "Don't let them frighten you, Len. It might have happened no matter who was at the wheel."
"It was my fault." How difficult it was to talk, breathe even, when your throat contracted like this and the backs of your eyeballs stung. "I was thinking—of something else."
"I know," she said. "So was I. I was thinking," she murmured, "how beautiful those two years were."
"Other years will be as beautiful."
"It's too late now."
"I'm seeing Justin tomorrow."
"It's no use, Len. You must go abroad. If you stayed now it would be from remorse, not because you wanted to."
"That isn't true. Honestly, it's not."
"You go to Europe. You must go now. When you return we'll—"
"Yes?"
"I don't know what we'll do, Len. Perhaps—"
"Maybe if we both have time to think it over some solution will present itself. You still love me, Gracie, don't you?"
"Very much, Len. And you?"
He raised her hand to his bruised lips, kissed it gently. There were voices behind them.
Mr. and Mrs. Worthington disregarded him, stood looking upon their only child. Len withdrew to a far corner of the room. He would not go to Europe, of course, even though she had not been seriously injured. His mind was made up.

He remained overnight at a nearby tourist house and spent practically all of the next day with Grace. At last it was time for him to leave for New York. The boat was sailing at midnight and he would have to go to the apartment first to get his clothes.

Some of the color had returned to Grace's face and this encouraged him somewhat. But at the last minute he protested that he did not want to go, that the team could go to blazes, that France could keep the cup for all he cared. But she insisted that he should not change his plans.

"You can't do anything for me here," she told him, "and I probably wouldn't be allowed to go out to Indianapolis for a while anyway, after this. Besides, I'll not be pitied."
They were alone when he said good-bye, and for the first time since she had left him the coolness that had become so strong a barrier between them was gone. There was something frightened, desperate even, in the way she wished him "bon voyage." It startled and puzzled him a little. With her one good arm she clung to him, held his head close to her, pressed her lips against his with abandon. Her face was wet against his. But when he drew away to look at her she smiled. He kissed her again, lingeringly, passionately.

And then he was walking down the short hall and out into the street, experiencing a sudden wave of self-disgust that was new to him. It remained, disturbing, condemning, while a ninner voice kept crying over and over again, "cad, cad, cad."
He did not once look back toward the hospital, but continued swiftly and surely toward the train that would take him to New York and the boat that was sailing at midnight for Havre.

The ocean did not seem blue, the cool salt air was lacking in the sweet and invigorating qualities he had been told it possessed, the stars at night were dim.
In the desk chair beside him reclined not Gface, but Don Clark. "... and so you go out and bust up Charlie's best Rolls Rough," Don was saying. "Why, you mug, suppose you were in that hospital with your wife. Then what? Our chances for the cup'd go blooey."
Dave Swanstrom joined them. "Any word from your wife, Rollins?" the non-playing captain asked. "How she's getting along or anything?"
Len shook his head. "I imagine she's all right, though, or I would have heard. Thanks."
Swanstrom sat down on the edge of Clark's chair. Staring out into the ocean, he said: "One of you two guys have to upset the apple cart over there. If either of you can manage to beat Lefevre I think we'll bring back the cup."

tion of the building is concrete tile with reinforced concrete piers, plastered walls, wood floors, log beam ceilings for the rooms in the wings, and a flat ceiling over the main auditorium, of a material which would contribute best to the acoustics of the room.

An outstanding feature in the program for the erection of the building is to have the young men prepare on the job the materials entering into the construction, notably the concrete tile blocks. Wages of the young men and supervisor would total approximately $1,000 per month, and it would require possibly nine months to complete the building.

The proposed cost to the sponsors . . . the City of Littlefield and the various clubs . . . is estimated at $7,500.

The plans for the proposed building were prepared by Frank Lee, project supervisor for the National Youth Administration, who is an architect by profession.

Setup Explained To Rotarians
The general setup for the construction of the building was presented at a luncheon meeting of the Littlefield Rotary Club last Thursday by A. V. Bullock, district NYA director, with headquarters at Lubbock; B. L. Cogdill of Littlefield, who was recently appointed a project supervisor for the NYA, and by Mr. Lee. The program for the luncheon was in charge of Dr. Ira E. Woods.

A special committee to study the proposed auditorium project has been appointed by the Rotary Club. This committee is composed of J. W. Keithley, Carroll Blacklock and Lowell Short, and will report to the club in the immediate future.

Strauss Atkinson of Abilene, and formerly of Littlefield, who is studying at Hardin-Simmons for the ministry, was a guest at the club luncheon.

The program at this Thursday's luncheon will be in charge of Dr. C. E. Payne. "What Rotary Can Do For Littlefield and the Members of the Rotary Club," will be the subject of the program.

Sunday, .30 of an inch; Monday morning from 5 o'clock until 2 in the afternoon, .05 of an inch; Tuesday from 3 A. M. until 3 P. M., .71 of an inch, and early Wednesday morning, .09 of an inch, totaling 1.48 inches.

Littlefield is reported to have had two and one-quarter inches during the past 13 days.

Lamb Co. Land Use Planning Bd. Meets

"There are no lost horizons beyond which Man may find Eternal Peace, but a lasting peace must be built out of a heritage of the past from a record of things proved unfruitful in the experiences of mankind," Mrs. George Wallace told a group of business men, agricultural administrators and farmers who compose the Lamb County Land Use Planning Board, at a regular session at the Amherst Hotel Friday afternoon.

In giving a report of the things achieved at the recent Farmers' Short Course, Mrs. Wallace outlined in a most inspirational manner the motives and purposes of land use planning, for which the following definitions were given: Land use planning is a reconstruction of rural America through a program of conservation; a plan to collectively budget farm life; a scheme of looking years into the future for the fruits of farm toil; a plan to stay with the soil that it may stay with you; a program for rural life, including a live-at-home budget, education of your children, serving your community and conserving your soil.

Its purpose is to solve urcha as well as individual problems, and an opportunity to tell Washington what we want, rather than having Washington tell us how.

It is an attempt to make rural Texas a better place to live; that through an educational program that this old America of ours may pass into the hands of the next generation a little better than we received it. It is a farm program of, and by farmers whose voices will echo with influence in the halls of legislation, a melting pot for anything concerning agriculture. Every tiller of the soil is a member of Land Use Planning, whose duties are those of a good citizen living loyally to humanity and farming in cooperation with all forces contributing to the uplifting of agriculture.

Mrs. Wallace said: "Certainly there is no end to Land Use Planning. One problem solved leaves room for another, and how far it will go depends upon the visions born within the hearts of Texas farm folk.

"Some of the achievements of Land Use Planning are: rural electrification, community refrigeration, cooperative hospitalization, community owned movies to promote rural education, wild life, forest, soil and water conservation projects throughout Texas.

Wheat Improvement Committee Elected

Wheat growers must watch the varieties they plant or they may be penalized for growing a poor baking quality of wheat. The Texas Wheat Improvement Association cooperating with the Extension Service is trying to prevent growers from losing the wheat market, which has happened in other states. Flour mills refuse to buy wheat from sections where wheat of poor baking quality is grown even if grown by just a few producers. The wheat is mixed at the elevator; thus making all wheat grown in that locality low in baking quality.

The varieties that are not high in baking quality are Chiefkan, and Early Blackhull. In all test run on baking quality, Chiefkan is at the bottom of the list. Blackhull wheat rates only fair in these tests and is penalized more if grown under irrigation. Turkey and Temmarq varieties rank high in all the tests. Turkey and Temmarq, also, according to experiment stations, over a period of years will have as high a yield as Chiefkan and Blackhull varieties.

The following table is the rating millers give varieties of wheat:

1. Turkey.
2. Temmarq.
3. Kanred and Blackhull.
4. Early Blackhull and Cheyenne.
5. Chiefkan.

The grain men also rated the wheat in the same order. If any grower is interested in knowing where he may buy certified or good seed, elevators and county agents will have a list of growers published by the Texas Wheat Improvement Association. The County Land Use Planning Committee appointed a wheat improvement committee to help with the above problem. This committee for Lamb county is: A. C. Batton, J. L. Hinson and N. F. Cleavinger.

Hazel Dunlap, Myrtee Warren and Myrtle Baker.

Mr. Bennett had lived in this section for the past 15 years.

He is survived by his wife and several children.

Cotton Program Approved; Rate Schedule Announced By Federal Agency Friday

The Commodity Credit Corporation announced Friday a loan rate schedule ranging from 9.16 to 9.9 cents a pound on this year's estimated 11,429,000 bale cotton crop.

The corporation's announcement followed a statement by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park that he had approved Secretary Wallace's recommendation of a $150,000,000 mandatory program for the 1940 crop.

The president also signed a bill increasing the corporation's resources from $900,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 to carry out mandatory cotton and wheat loan provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. The bill was designed to meet the marketing emergency resulting from the war and to make possible temporary transfers from the corporation to other agencies of the agricultural department for short-term seasonal needs.

The 1940 cotton loan program will be a continuation of the policy in effect for six years under which the Commodity Credit Corporation holds title to 6,640,000 bales of 1934 and 1937 cotton. In addition, 1,120,000 bales are held subject to redemption by repayment of notes under programs for 1938 and 1939.

Basis of the 1940 loan rate will be 15-16 inch middling cotton, net weight. Last year's basis was 7-8 inch middling.

Figured on a 7-8 inch basis, the corporation said, the minimum rate this year will be 8.51 cents as against 8.3 cents last year. On this basis the corporation estimated the average loan would be 8.9 cents, or 16 percent of the June 15 parity price, compared with 8.7 cents last year.

Loans will be made only on negotiable receipts for cotton stored in government approved warehouses. The maximum monthly rate to be allowed warehouses for storage and the insurance is unchanged at 15 cents a bale.

Samples of all cotton on which loans are to be made must be classified at one of the several state and regional classifying offices being established throughout the cotton belt.

Grades will be the same as those used last year except for the addition of classifications for staples of 13-32, 15-32 for 17-32 inches. No loans will be made on staple shorter than 13-16 of an inch.

The maximum rate of 9.9 cents will prevail in the Carolina mill areas. In West Texas and New Mexico it will be 9.16 cents and at Gulf and Pacific ports 9.8 cents.

Only producers who participate in the 1940 cotton-control program will be eligible for the full loan rates.

"They Drive By Night" To Be Shown At Ritz Theatre

A thrilling adventure film with an all star cast will make its initial appearance when "They Drive By Night" opens at the Ritz Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday. The film is one of the best examples of breeziness and torrid drama to have come from the Movie Capital in many a month.

The leading cast is made up of such favorites as George Raft, Ann Sheridan, Ida Lupino and Humphrey Bogart. Raft is cast as a coldhearted person who melts under the charm of sultry Ann Sheridan. When Raft meets Sheridan he finds someone who can return his love as well as his wisecracks and the result is what anyone would expect to happen when a hot-head meets a real-head. Humphrey Bogart as Raft's brother, is a reticent sort of chap who thinks that the way one earns his living is secondary to a happy home life with the "wife" played by Gale Page, "and maybe someday, a couple of kids."

Raft has no desire for home life. That is until he meets and falls for Ann, who plays the part of a witness in a roadside cafe.

Freight rates on fresh fruits and potatoes average lower now than during the decade of the 1920's, but continue high when compared with the prices received by producers of these products, according to a study released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Rates on truck crops other than potatoes are the highest since 1920.

for any month since June, 1937, it was announced today at the Ford Motor Company office here. The total was 2,400 units.

Hall Motor Company are local dealers for the Ford automobile.

"The Man I Married" Coming To Palace Theatre Saturday Midnight, Sunday And Monday

Does any woman ever really know the man she loves? That is the question propounded in "The Man I Married," the 20th Century-Fox film which is coming to the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

The picture stars Joan Bennett as the art critic on New York's smartest magazine and Francis Lederer as the man she learns to fear. Also starred are Lloyd Nolan and Anna Sten.

A beautiful girl's amazing experiences with the husband she found out too late, are dramatically revealed. After they leave with their child for a vacation in the husband's native land, he falls under the influence of the "other" woman, portrayed by Anna Sten.

Played by a brilliant cast including Otto Kruger, Maria Ouspenskaya, Johnny Russell and Ludwig Stossel, "The Man I Married" smashes into a thrilling climax that gripped previewers.

Joan Bennett, member of the "royal family" of Bennett, famous in theatrical and motion picture circles for two generations, is more beautiful than ever in the leading feminine role. Joan gives one of the most poignant and powerful portrayals of her great career in "The Man I Married" which brought "raves" into advance reports.

Churches

AMHERST METHODIST CHURCH

Following the new organization of the united Methodism, the pastor is called upon by the heads of the church to commit murder—killing the old Missionary Society and abolishing all the offices and creating a new organization known as the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

This becomes the duty of the pastor in the local church as was the duty of the Bishop in the annual conference and also other bodies in the church. If possible, we hope to get this all ready and prepared in two weeks and we are urged as pastor by the heads of the church to have a nomination, publicity, and membership committee for preparation for this work. All the present members of the old body are urged to visit and urge all the ladies of the church to attend this meeting and become charter members of the new body.

It seems to me it would be considered an honor to be able to have it said in later years, "I was a charter member of this body, etc."

We wish it were possible for all the ladies of the church to be active in this work. It is one of the most informative, educational, inspirational, social and spiritual organizations of the church. If the men of the church had the training the women could have, and they could have if they would devote some time to it, we would make a great advance in our church life. Please be at work on this and be present.

All services next Sunday and we urge the people to attend the Baptist meeting all they can.

Army Headquarters, Cravens, Louisiana, August 5, 1940.

To the People of the 120th Representative District:

I wish to thank the fine people who supported me in the recent primary. I am humbly grateful to my many fine friends who have done so much in my behalf, and I pray that I shall never disappoint them.

I was called into army training July 29th by President Roosevelt and Governor O'Daniel for twenty-six days. Not wanting to be a slacker to my country nor a shirker of duty, I answered the call and am now at army headquarters in Cravens, Louisiana where I will be for twenty-six days. It has rained here so much it has kept us busy fighting mosquitoes and wading mud, but the attitude and loyalty of so many fine boys and men who are giving part of their time to the defense of their country makes one proud to be an American and a Texan.

My campaign for representative is in the hands of my friends all over the district. If you desire faithful, honest service by your hired hand, I shall appreciate your support August 24th. I will give you the same honest service and cooperation with the Governor as I have in the Texas National Guard, commanded by the Governor.

Sincerely,

L. G. MATHEWS.

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses.

Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on only one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Wednesday noon of each week.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Lamb County Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

The Liberties We Must Defend

When a man will spend $10,000 to tell the world the principles he stands for and why, that is pretty good evidence that he really believes in what he says.

What he has printed is worth every American's serious attention. He says:

"I like the American Way. Why?"

"Because I can go to any church I please."

"I can read, see and hear what I choose."

"I can express opinions openly."

"My mail reaches me just as it was sent—uncensored."

"My telephone is untapped."

"I can join any political party I wish."

"I can vote for what and whom I please."

"I have a constitutional right to trial by jury."

"I am protected against unconstitutional search and seizure."

"Neither my life nor my property can be forfeited without due process of law."

We do not know Mr. Hollaender nor anything about him except that he is the head of a company which manufactures labels. His name suggests a foreign origin, but his words are those of a real American.

An Old American Custom

There are great numbers of people who do not like the principle or the purpose of the new laws which Congress is considering for drafting young men for military training in time of peace. But it cannot be truthfully contended that compulsory military service, in peace-time as well as in war, is something new and not in accord with the traditions established by the Founding Fathers.

The Constitution gives authority to Congress "to provide for organizing arming and disciplining the militia and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States." Under this provision President George Washington recommended to Congress that it be made "an indispensable qualification for exercising any of the rights of a free citizen that he shall have undergone prescribed military training in preparation for his citizenship."

The first law comparable to the present proposal was enacted in 1792 by the Federal Congress. It provided for the enrollment and annual muster of all able-bodied male white citizens of the respective states between the ages of 18 and 45. It authorized the state legislatures to enact such exemptions as they saw fit. So while the law remained on the statute books for more than a hundred years, states successively exempted certain classes of citizens and finally most of them permitted any man to buy exemption for a fixed fee.

That was a long departure from the principles of the original colonists. Every one of the thirteen colonies had laws requiring compulsory military training and service when needed. Washington declared this obligation of personal service to be "the main pillar of a free state." He said that "Every man of proper age and ability of body is firmly bound by the social compact to perform personally his proportion of military duty for the defense of the state."

Whether one approves or disapproves of the present movement for conscription for military training it cannot be called un-American.

Early Work Will Bring Payments Sooner Under AAA

Farmers Advised To Complete Soil-Building Work Under Program

The sooner a farmer completes his soil-building work under the AAA program, the sooner he will receive his agricultural conservation payment.

Plans are completed for county offices to accept applications for conservation payments in September from those cooperators who have earned their maximum soil-building and range-improvement allowances, according to E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator. Completion of enough soil-building work to earn the maximum allowance before the close of the program will thus enable the cooperator to receive his conservation payment earlier than those who fall short on their improvement work.

"Present indications are that payments will begin about a month earlier this year than last," the administrator said. "First ACP payments under the 1939 program were certified October 13, more than two months ahead of the previous year's schedule."

The "earlier payment for earlier work" plan was first used last year in order to eliminate a pile-up of applications in the office and to encourage greater use of funds allowed for improving the soil and controlling erosion, the administrator explained.

May farmers and ranchmen already have exceeded requirements for earning their full allowance and so will be able to get their payment as soon as the necessary forms and instructions are released to county offices.

The single Texas oil area of West Texas has produced more petroleum to date than the entire state of Pennsylvania, where America's first commercial production was discovered in 1859.

Admission Of Firearms Into Canada Allowed

New regulations have been established under which tourists may bring their firearms to Canada for hunting, gun club or trap shooting. By Order-in-Council, passed under the authority of the Defense of Canada Regulations sometime ago, aliens were not permitted to carry firearms in Canada or have them in their possession. As all tourists visiting Canada fall within this category, the hardship imposed on many welcome visitors whose habits it has been for years to shoot in Canada's hunting grounds annually, has been removed by an amendment Order-in-Council which grants authority to the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to grant individual permits.

The new regulations provide that intending hunters or others who wish to bring their firearms to Canada (and a reasonable supply of ammunition therefor) are required to apply in advance by letter or wire to the Commissioner of Customs or the Commissioner, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, giving name, address, occupation, purpose and duration of visit, destination in Canada, description, make and serial number frontier port of arrival. This application should be supported by suitable references. The bona fides of the applicant having been satisfactorily established, a permit will be forwarded to the Collector of Customs at the Canadian frontier port designated in the tourist's application, by whom it will be delivered to the tourist on his arrival.

Annuities paid by some Texas oil companies to retired employees total from three to six times those prescribed under the social security law.

Structure To Seat 1,000 Persons IS Being Studied

National Youth Administration Presents Plan For Financing Erection Of Building To City Of Littlefield And Various Civic Organizations

(By Morley B. Drake)

One of Littlefield's dreams . . . a modern municipal auditorium with ample seating capacity for a large gathering . . . probably will soon be a reality. Such a structure has been advocated for many years, but the matter of financing loomed as a huge barrier. Now comes the National Youth Administration with a plan that is generally considered highly workable.

The Proposed Plan

This plan is as follows: All labor and supervision costs will be paid out of the funds of the National Youth Administration. The City of Littlefield would pay the greater portion of the cost of all building materials and provide the site for the structure; the Littlefield Rotary Club, the Littlefield Lions Club, the Woman's Club, and other organizations will contribute to the cost of leasing materials.

Training For Young Men

One of the chief functions of the National Youth Administration is to train young men from 17 to 25 years of age in various occupations, at the same time paying them nominal wages, in order that they may take their places in life as self-reliant and successful citizens. This plan is available for the building of such a structure as a municipal auditorium without cost to a municipality.

Mayor Homer Hall and Commissioner Ellis Foust and Beaman are favorable to the building of a municipal auditorium under the National Youth Administration plan and the various clubs in the city are enthusiastically entering into the program.

Architectural Plan Submitted

Through the courtesy of the National Youth Administration, a preliminary exterior design and floor plan have been prepared and have been submitted to the City of Littlefield and various clubs. The exterior is of Indian pueblo style finished in stucco. The auditorium occupies the central portion. A left wing, 30 by 31 feet, with patio at the rear, is proposed as a location for the Littlefield library, while a right wing is over to an office, 10 by 12 feet, a kitchen 12 by 14 feet, and a room, 18 by 30 feet. This wing also has a patio at the rear.

Main Auditorium is recessed giving a covered porch of 100 feet. There are two restrooms to auditorium with a bathroom and a projection room. The auditorium proper is 58 by 100 feet, and has a seating capacity of 1,000 persons. Facilities of the auditorium include a stage 32 feet wide and 24 feet six inches deep. At the left of the stage is a prop room 12 feet by 12 feet six inches, and at the right are two dressing rooms, 10 by 12 feet.
