January Total 1.3 Inches

Wet Year Underway?

January 1960 still has 10 days to run, but it's already one of the wettest months on record for Littlefield. Through Sunday, a total of 1.30 inches of moisture had been recorded for the month. Only three Januaries since 1911 top that figure. Those were January 1939 with 2.45 inches, January 1949 with 4.05 inches and January 1958 with 2.17 inches. News that January 1960 ranks so well moisture-wise should light up the faces of farmers, especially those who farm dryland. Any sort of good start, rainfall-wise, is like money in the bank for farmers. "I've never seen a crop failure around here when we get this sort of underground season to start with," says County Agent Bill Kimbrough. He was referring to the more than two inches of moisture the Littlefield area received in December, combined with the 1.30 of January. The county agent says, and he can prove it with research figures, that the dryland farmer already has anywhere from a fifth to a quarter-bale of cotton made, provided the farmer gets reasonable weather from here on in. Of course, more rain at the right time later on would make the county agent's estimate go even higher. Irrigated farmers also benefit from the moisture, because it means their irrigation costs won't be as high. A little more rain at the right time, says Kimbrough, might mean these farmers won't have to irrigate before planting. Total rainfall for the Littlefield area last year was 18.63 inches - just above the average of 18.50. That included, by months: January, trace; February, .16; March trace; April, 1.08; May, 2.02; June, 5.90; July, 3.74; August, 1.53; September, .03; October, 2.43; November, .10; and December, 1.64. The averages for those months since 1911 include: January, .57; February, .64; March, .82; April, 1.33; May, 2.80; June, 2.33; July, 2.62; August, 1.25; September, 2.58; October, 2.18; November, .59; December, .64; annual average 18.50. The 1959 total of 5.90 inches in June made that month the wettest June in 38 years.

Spellers To Compete March 25

The eighth annual Lamb County Spelling Bee has been scheduled here Friday, March 25. Chairman Jerry Lumsden, county school superintendent, announced Tuesday. Two students will represent each school in the county - Littlefield Spade, Amherst, Olton, Springlake and Sudan - at the bee. The event will begin at 1:30 p.m. March 25 in the county courtroom. Pat Boone Jr., county judge, will pronounce the words. Teacher-coaches from each school will serve as judges. Winner of the Lamb County bee will participate in the area bee at 1:30 p.m. April 9 at O. L. Sloan Junior High School auditorium in Lubbock. The area bee is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. The winner of the area bee will receive an expense-paid trip to the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C. A 13-year-old Olton girl, Tanya Bryant, won the 1959 bee in Lamb County. Bob Ross, a Littlefield sixth grader last year, was second. Bob is eligible to compete again this year. The Spelling Bee is open to students who have not passed the eighth grade in their schools and will not reach the age of 16 before the National Spelling Bee. The event is designed to help boys and girls improve their spelling, increase their vocabularies and develop correct English usage that will help them all their lives. Greatest participation in the bee comes in the early stages, when students practice word lists in preparation for school bees. The trip to Washington is the grand prize of the bee. Transportation, lodging, meals and entertainment expenses are paid, in addition to a cash prize.

Two New Candidates Fire Up Political Pot

Hilburn, left, who drew a five-year term, and Marshall Howard, who drew a four-year term and was elected chairman of the group. Other members of the commission are B. D. DA, County Attorney Draw Foes

By BILL TURNER If anyone figured a month ago that 1960 would be a calm political year in Lamb County, it's time he did some re-figuring. The nonchalant way Lamb County entered 1960, politically speaking, has turned into "one for the money, two for the show, three to make ready and four to go." The whole thing could turn into a horse race. Three weeks ago, Lamb County had one contested race. Now there are four. And there may be more. Two new candidates joined the wars this week, setting up contests for the posts of county attorney and district attorney. Don Chah, Littlefield attorney, filed for county attorney, opposite incumbent Curtis Wilkinson. Jack Young, Bailey County attorney, announced for district attorney, opposite incumbent Bill Sheehan of Friona. Both announcements came Tuesday morning. Out at Spade Monday night, another possible candidate said he was seriously considering lining up against State Rep. Jess Osborn of Muleshoe. Clarence Hamilton, Springlake teacher, told a group of about 30 Lamb-Bailey County school administrators he may seek the post held by the Muleshoe legislator. Up at Olton, C. M. Moss and H. A. "Alvin" Hysinger, have been ready for some time. That's the race that's been a race from the start. They're candidates for the precinct 1 commissioner post held by Don Bryant, who isn't seeking re-election. In Littlefield, four are in the contest - 80 far - for precinct 3 commissioner, including incumbent Bill Jeffrey, J. L. "Roy" Yeager, Skipper Smith and Gene Williams. Yeager is Jeffrey's maintenance foreman in precinct 3. Smith is a labor association worker and Williams is a farmer. There was talk here this week - none of it confirmed - that two or three more may be in that race before it's over. That's about the crop as far as contests are concerned. These incumbents also have announced - George Mahon for congressman, Dick Dyer for sheriff, Herbert Dunn for tax assessor-collector, Mrs. Clyde Goodwin for precinct 2 commissioner, and Osborn for state representative. As of now the situation points to a time 10 days away - the Feb. 1 filing deadline. After that, it's "one for the money." Candidates for county and precinct offices must pay their filing assessments by Feb. 13. First primary is May 7. The county Democratic Executive Committee will meet Feb. 3 to estimate the cost of the primary and set the assessments. Committee Chairman Pat Boone Jr. says the assessments probably will run about the same as last year - 10 per cent of the first year's basic salary. That makes the cost of filing run up to $500-$600 on some offices. The more in a race, the less it will cost each man, for the assessment of each office is divided equally among the candidates.

Junior Stock Show Set For March 11-12

Lamb County's annual Junior Livestock Show, top attraction of the year for farm youngsters, has been scheduled here Friday and Saturday, March 11-12. Four - H and FFA youngsters from throughout the county will compete for almost $1,500 in premiums. Also scheduled is the third annual Shetland Pony Show. Plans for the annual event were laid Monday night at a meeting of the stock show committee, headed by Jack Barton, local egg producer. Other members of Barton's group are Dave Eaton, Ed Elliott, Ross Lumsden and Marshall Howard. County Agent Bill Kimbrough and Asst. Agent Herb Helbig are helping with the planning, along with 4-H Leaders and vocational agriculture teachers. March 11 has been set as the deadline for entries in the show. Barton will serve as show manager, with Eaton and Lumsden as his assistants. Don Page, C-C manager, will be show secretary. Aside from the Shetland Pony Show, steers, swine and sheep Superintendents are Floyd Burgess of Earth, swine division; W. W. Hall of Littlefield, sheep division; and Wayne Loman of Littlefield and Doug Walden of Spade, steer division. Burgess will be assisted by James Pirkey of Littlefield, County Agent Kimbrough, David Burdick of Spade, E. G. Gaston of Springlake, Gerde Cade of Olton and Padd Wiseman of Sudan. Helbig and Kenneth Noles of Amherst will assist Hall in the sheep division. Assistants in the steer division are Max Malone of Olton, W. E. Mitchell of Spade and Edgar Chance of Sudan. The show manager and superintendents will act as a sifting committee. Skipper Smith will act as finance chairman. Judges will be named later. One new rule adopted by the show planners is in the Shetland show. Under the new plan, only the Shetland owner may show a pony. Awards for clean pens will be (Continued On Page Four)

City Council To Study Park Improvements

Study of park improvements, invitation of bids on several projects and discussion of a proposed job classification - salary chart for city employees head a list of items to be taken up by the City Council at a regular meeting tonight. City Manager J. W. Harrison said this week he has drawn up plans for several improvements in city parks and he will submit them to the council for consideration. He pointed out that the council has $1,500 set up in the city budget for park improvements this year. Costs of the possible improvements listed by Harrison total more than the budget figure, but the city manager pointed out that the items he has listed are things that might be done over a period of years. Among the possibilities, said Harrison, are double tennis courts, a softball diamond, slides and other playground equipment. The tennis courts alone would cost about $2,800, he pointed out. Bid invitations to be considered are on these projects: cleaning and painting of an overhead water storage tank, moving of two round storage tanks donated to the city by the Santa Fe, cleaning and painting of these tanks, and 1960 paving. The job classification proposal to be considered has been before the council at previous meetings, but councilmen have not taken action on the item as yet. The council meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

City Begins Annual Sale Of Dog Tags

Dog owners: You'll need to get new dog tags by Feb. 1 if you want to stay out of the city's dog house. New tags are here and can be purchased in the next 10 days at the city police station. Costs are $1 for males and $2 for females. Besides the fee, the dog owner also must bring proof the dog has been vaccinated for rabies. After Feb. 1, City Dogcatcher T. W. Sisson will begin putting dogs without city tags in the pound. The fee to get a dog out of the pound is $1.

THREE MARRIAGES FOR EVERY DIVORCE

Cupid worked harder than the Devil in 1959. Marriage licenses issued in Lamb County last year totaled 179, according to figures released by the office of County Clerk Charles Jones. And, if you can blame such things on the Devil, 52 couples were divorced. Biggest month for marriage licenses was December, when 23 licenses were issued. Low month was April, when two were taken out. Figures on divorce cases, compiled by the office of District Clerk Ernest Owens, show there were 78 divorce cases filed in 1959. Thirty-nine of those were granted, along with 13 others which were filed in 1958. Howard Heads Planning Group Members of the City Planning Commission, holding their first meeting since the group was authorized under a new city charter, elected Marshall Howard as chairman Tuesday night. Howard, feed and seed dealer here, served as a member of the charter commission and was of the city's advisory board during the administration of Mayor Ray Keeling in 1956-57. The five-man board also drew ballots out of a hat to determine terms for each member. Howard drew a four-year term. Tuesday night's session actually was a special meeting. Regular meeting night of the commission will be the fourth Thursday of each month. The commission will meet again Thursday, Jan. 28, with the first order of business the consideration of a new platting-subdivision ordinance for the city. The planning group Tuesday night approved only one recommendation to the City Council. It adopted a motion that no city conveniences - water, sewer, garbage pickup, etc. - should be extended outside the city limits. City Manager J. W. Harrison along with Mayor E. J. Foust an ex-officio member of the planning group, said the City Council continually receives requests to extend such facilities to areas bordering the city. Harrison also told the group the council feels its biggest need at present is a workable platting-subdivision ordinance. The planning commission members said they would tackle the subdivision ordinance immediately and "stay with it" until the job is completed. After that, they agreed, they will take up zoning and other phases of the commission's duties as outlined in the new city charter. Howard, in taking over as chairman, said he felt the "biggest job" of the commission is to "keep planning uniform and keep away from such things as dead end streets" and other problems arising in city development.

Cats, Beaten By Hereford, Try Post Next

The Littlefield Wildcats, reeling from a second loss in district play, will attempt to get on the winning track Friday night at Post. The Cats, who have only two wins this year, dropped their second district 1-AAA game and 16th game of the season Tuesday night at Hereford, 46-38. Both A and B games are set at Post, with the B game to start at 6:30 p.m. Hereford took a 13-15 halftime lead and stayed ahead to whip the Wildcats. Ronnie Rice led the Wildcat attack with 13 points, while Weldon Pace got 12. The win gave Hereford a 5-16 record for the year and a 1-1 mark in conference play. Phillips edged Dumas Tuesday night to take the district lead. The Wildcat B team lost its game to the Whiteface B, 72-28. Ducky Johnson had 14 for the Littens. Dumas pinned the first district loss on Cats here last Saturday night, 70-45. Dumas took a lead of 32-15 at the half. Jerry Koller paced the Littlefield attack with 15 points, while Rice got eight and Pace seven. Littlefield also lost the B game to Dumas, 81-23.

Fire Causes Stir At Gym, No Damage

Smoke blowing out vents under the floor of the Littlefield High School gymnasium Tuesday afternoon caused a stir at the school and resulted in firemen being called out. Principal Glenn Reeves and a student, Edwin Trimmer, were able to locate the blaze and put it out, however. They had the first shot when firemen arrived on the scene. Reeves said the fire was in some bits of paper which had fallen through breathing grates in the gym floor. The paper had gone through inch-wide openings, and collected there through the years, Reeves explained. "We thought it might be pretty serious at first, when we saw the smoke pouring out," he said. But the principal and student Trimmer were able to get under the floor and stop the blaze before any damage was done.

TIMES GETTING TOUGHER, GALS

Leap Year 1960 may be tough enough boys, but look out for Leap Year 1976! That's about the time the girls born in 1959 will start casting about for a full-time man. And in Lamb County, that means double trouble for the fellows, because there may not be enough of them to go around. Figures released this week by the office of County Clerk Charles Jones show 332 girls were born in this county in 1959. Only 250 boys were weighed in. Biggest single month for births last year was October, when 63 babies came into the world. That there is a population explosion is pretty well assured, because births outnumbered deaths almost 5 to 1 in this county. A total of 134 persons died in Lamb County in 1959. Biggest single number of deaths in one month was 21 in October.

School Men Meet, Hear Hamilton Talk

SPADE - About 30 persons were on hand Monday night for a regular meeting of Lamb-Bailey County school administrators at the school cafeteria. Speaker was Clarence Hamilton, Springlake teacher, who discussed his stand for the Hale-Alkin school bill. Hamilton said he is seriously considering entering politics, as an opponent of State Rep. Jess Osborn of Muleshoe in the 1960 Democratic Primary.

"THEY'RE VERY OLD"—That's the conclusion of Roy Grote, pastor of the St. Martin's Lutheran Church in Littlefield and artifact collector, as he surveys a panel of mounted arrowheads from Old Mexico. These are a part of a diversified collection of 6,000 items gathered by the Grote family during the past five years. The picture on the right shows still older material, however. Arranged in a semi-circle arrangement on the top shelf are six Folsom points, which date back 10,000 years, and numerous other arrowheads. The lower shelf contains flint tank knives and spear points from nine to eleven inches long, found originally in Bell County caves, and flanked by awls or needles made of buffalo bones. Also shown are effigy pieces taken from fields near the pyramids some twenty miles outside Mexico City. (Avalanche-Journal Photos)

Flint Collection Holds Interest For All Members Of Grote Family

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Lamb County Leader has borrowed from a neighbor newspaper this story about the Rev. Roy Grote and family of Littlefield. The story and pictures appeared in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, under Leo Heiser's column, "The South Plains Sportsman."

In all probability a Littlefield man will pause before a showpiece for a final look before proceeding to church. He will preach a sermon based upon life, faith, and eternity.

Some of them from Texas and some from Old Mexico. The first two years saw a concentration of efforts in Texas. The last three years, however, have marked a special effort to secure collection items from Old Mexico.

Three years ago, Grote made a trip into the interior of Old Mexico. The area visited was one in which primitive conditions existed. For all practical purposes, people lived there much as they did in Biblical times. Houses were made of stones and mud and goats provided the chief source of a man's livelihood. The shepherds led with their animals in the morning, stayed with them all day, and returned home again at night. The setting was in the wild and rugged mountain country of our neighboring country.

Grote finally overcame the language barrier enough to let the shepherds know he wanted to collect the arrowheads and other artifacts left by the Indians of long ago. Perhaps today, while he is preaching in the small church at 1310 10th Street, the shepherds are picking up arrowheads, spear points, and grinding stones while awaiting his return.

Pastor Roy Grote of the St. Martin's Lutheran Church will lead a Bible to have a tie with the world from the very beginning. What he saw in the show case will be a man-made recreation based 10,000 years. These will be the Folsom points in the family artifact collection.

There's no television in the Grote household. The absence of the TV set is the result of a family forum and agreement. On the limited income of a pastor, it has not been possible to continue trips together to get outdoors and hunt artifacts, and have television also.

They decided in favor of the outdoors. This is unusual, when the four children held the possibility of carrying the election in favor of the television set. They like both, but they just like the outdoors better.

The family are also "rock hounds" and collect gems and minerals and do their own lapidary work. They look forward to short forays into neighboring New Mexico for rock hunting, and later cutting and polishing the stones. To meet the Grote's is a real pleasure, and they will be distinct assets to the Littlefield community. The family radiates friendliness and intelligence, and their wholesome outlook on life is based on old things and much time in the open spaces of creation.

They glance daily at the six Folsom points in their collection proof that 500 generations ago other families lived out a cycle, chipped out their tools for killing game for survival, passed from the scene, and left flint evidence behind.

In all probability a Littlefield man will pause before a showpiece for a final look before proceeding to church. He will preach a sermon based upon life, faith, and eternity.

There are 11-inch flint tang knives, and spear points equally as long. There are drills and needles made of buffalo bones, scrapers and knives and ceremonial pieces, including an eagle and turtle made out of flint. Looking on these things the Grote family is reminded of the swift passage of time and they are constrained to pursue their collection at every chance possible.

The collection are baked clay faces. These came from near Mexico City, and are prized possessions of the family.

Sudan C-C To Make Ag Awards

SUDAN — The Chamber of Commerce will stage a banquet here Feb. 4 in the school cafeteria. Highlight of the program will be the announcement of the winners of the agricultural crops contest sponsored by the organization.

Some 30 youths who entered the crops contest will be guests for the occasion and Cotton John of an Amarillo radio station will be the speaker for the evening.

Awards to the four contest winners will be made and prizes of $250 will be given for those having the best yields in dry land cotton, irrigated cotton, and dry land and irrigated feed. The winners have been determined but no announcement will be made until the banquet program.

According to Marvin Tollett, president of the organization, tickets for the banquet will be $1.50. Tollett said, "We would especially like to see a number of farmers attend as we are giving the results of our agricultural contest."

Wayne Brown, local implement dealer, will be master of ceremonies. Other entertainment during the evening will be musical numbers by local talent.

I noted with a great deal of satisfaction that Lever Brothers had visited Lubbock last week and proclaimed that their favorite oil for producing their many products of soap, oleomargarine, etc. was the oil from South Plains cotton seed.

I see so much adverse publicity about cotton. . . the constant surplus story. . . the problems of A & B marketing. . . then to see that our South Plains cotton seed is preferred for these every day big volume products makes me feel that what we produce here in Lamb County is vital in many ways to the needs of the people in this country and abroad.

Ross Lumsden brings me some good area cotton statistics as written by the Plains Cotton Growers of Lubbock in the January 8 copy of "The Cotton Gin and Oil Mill Press."

This article makes the statement that Lubbock is the "Cottonest" City in All the World" and Lubbock for 18 years.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Fulcher and Alma Fiveash, both of Sudan.

lists the facts to back the statement.

Twenty-three South Plains counties grow one-sixth of all U.S. cotton. In this area (Lamb is one of the counties) there is $113 million invested in gins, oil mills, and compresses. Their payrolls of $44,400,000 employ 11,000 persons for about four months in the fall, and 2,885 throughout the year. The investment in land and equipment on 25,000 Plains farms averages $100,000 each. . . a total of $2,500,000,000. About 130,000 persons receive $45,500,000 for harvesting cotton during 10 weeks of the fall.

The story of South Plains cotton progress in production, research and marketing terms is the story of the beginning of the Plains Cotton Growers Inc. George Pfeiffenberger has taken the helm of this organization and through his tireless efforts the Plains Cotton Growers Inc. has lent a much needed hand to our area farmers in keeping the value of cotton and cotton products before the entire American public.

Many of our area farmers, ginners and other interested persons have served on the board of directors. . . many have been instrumental in getting better grades and prices for South Plains Cotton.

Likewise every farmer who markets cotton pays a small fee on every bale produced to help keep PGC going.

The day will come when our vegetable farmers will be equal as well organized. . . then there will be a stable market for vegetables. . . and more area farmers will be able to make a good profit in this phase of farming.

I see that Billy Graham is starting on another foreign crusade. I have always appreciated the many things that Billy has done for the cause of Christianity here and abroad. Also, I know that the United States government considers him one of the best good will ambassadors it has.

Billy will always be effective as long as he sticks to the straight story of salvation. He never ter up his sermons with symbols. . . he's every stand, he preaches the story of how to be saved. . . I am disappointed with some of our preachers who spend much time on doctrine, and all of the "preaching of being a Christian."

Personally I feel that I'm out on the desert with a heart declared that I can't be saved, I could be right there although there net be any water for within miles.

Conversion is a change and although we receive water is a symbol of cleansing of sin. . . I believe that too many of our ers put too much emphasis on how, when and where we are baptized.

Good "hell fire and preaching is still mighty tant in my book."

On the farm front it's pretty slow. Old Dave went out to drive some ground the other day out a ditch and he was frozen so hard he drive them in.

As soon as it warms up we look for a lot of timidity. . . and don't forget, guess, soil test."

Looking at the advance that old Amos Ward does on his January 1960 the new "Fellow Talk" on the Palace Theatre, Bill Electric has a good GE in refrigerators. Penny's cut with some barn, in days.

Bad habits are like a table bed; easy to get in hard to get out of.

Ike's Visit In Turkey Described In Cale Letter

AMHERST — Mrs. Mary Britt received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Cole, in Ankara, Turkey, of President Eisenhower's there on his good will tour. She told of the extensive parades made and that 500,000 people cheered, some wept as he rode past in an open car. Most of the onlookers were Turks and when they realized she was an American, she loved her to move forward the front of the lines, which snapped many pictures. Mrs. Cole, who is in London on a civil service job, said the whole town had a big although the presidential did not arrive until about 4 in the afternoon.

Make Your Reservation Now! for a... ROCKET TRIP TO THE MOON! If and when Uncle Sam decides to launch a space craft, he will have no problem in recruiting a crew to man the ship. Newspaper advertising can do the recruiting job. In fact one such advertisement has been run in one newspaper. It brought a flock of responses from prospective space travelers. Last spring Farr Tours, a travel agency, published an ad in a Florida newspaper with the headline, "Space Available Now! New Deluxe Ion Rocket Ship to the Moon." The advertisement was a gimmick intending to show what the agency's offerings might be in 1987. When the travel agency received 150 requests for reservations, the copy writer who prepared the advertisement concluded that newspaper advertising could sell anything. "It proves again that people read newspaper advertising and act on it," he said. YOU CAN SELL ANYTHING WITH NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING! TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION 1716 SAN ANTONIO ST. AUSTIN, TEXAS

J. L. (Roy) Yeager Seeks Post Of Commissioner

EDITOR'S NOTE: J. L. (Roy) Yeager makes this statement in connection with his candidacy for commissioner of Lamb County Precinct 3.

I have decided to make the race for Commissioner of Precinct 3 of Lamb County, which, of course, includes the Rocky Ford, Fieldton, Hart Camp, Spade, Bainer, Lums Chapel and Littlefield communities.

I have been a continuous resident of Lamb County for 35 years, with the exception of my " hitch" in the armed service during World War II. I have been Maintenance Foreman for this precinct for the last 13 years, having worked under three different commissioners, and I feel that I am fully acquainted, and able to perform the duties of this office.

I want to emphasize that I have no other business interests, and if elected to this office I will devote my full time to its duties. I intend on doing my best to see every citizen of this precinct before the election, however it is necessary that I remain employed and have to be on the job. If I should miss seeing you I

Plan to read an engrossing novel until they see the car turn in the drive, then jump up and dash to the kitchen to start supper before the spouse gets to the back door; that's the day he'll drive in from the other direction.

Tell any woman friend in the world a real hush-hush secret such as that runaway marriage that was annulled; because ten years from now she may not be speaking and that will be the one thing she remembers that seems worth repeating about her former chum.

Yes, women are born gamblers. But no spouse can complain. Because if his little wife hadn't been a gambler, would she have taken a chance on him?

Women's national Open golf champion Mickey Wright averaged 74.51 strokes per round for 36 rounds in 1959.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Women are born gamblers. If they weren't, they'd never... Answer the front doorbell wearing a dirty apron and with frowny hair; then an old beau, or the wreacher, wouldn't catch them looking like that.

Take the spouse to the office or ride downtown with him to mail a letter, wearing a green tweed coat thrown over a torn blue dressing gown, striped socks and house shoes, a red scarf tied over rolled-up hair; then when another car sideswipes theirs, or their own car gives out of gas they wouldn't look to the cops like escapees from a booby hatch; instead of damsels in distress.

Go out for the afternoon leaving dirty dishes in the kitchen because if they do that's the day Mrs. Bank President brings by a fresh pound cake and sets it near the kitchen sink.

Plan to read an engrossing novel until they see the car turn in the drive, then jump up and dash to the kitchen to start supper before the spouse gets to the back door; that's the day he'll drive in from the other direction.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Women are born gamblers. If they weren't, they'd never... Answer the front doorbell wearing a dirty apron and with frowny hair; then an old beau, or the wreacher, wouldn't catch them looking like that.

Take the spouse to the office or ride downtown with him to mail a letter, wearing a green tweed coat thrown over a torn blue dressing gown, striped socks and house shoes, a red scarf tied over rolled-up hair; then when another car sideswipes theirs, or their own car gives out of gas they wouldn't look to the cops like escapees from a booby hatch; instead of damsels in distress.

Go out for the afternoon leaving dirty dishes in the kitchen because if they do that's the day Mrs. Bank President brings by a fresh pound cake and sets it near the kitchen sink.

Plan to read an engrossing novel until they see the car turn in the drive, then jump up and dash to the kitchen to start supper before the spouse gets to the back door; that's the day he'll drive in from the other direction.

Tell any woman friend in the world a real hush-hush secret such as that runaway marriage that was annulled; because ten years from now she may not be speaking and that will be the one thing she remembers that seems worth repeating about her former chum.

Yes, women are born gamblers. But no spouse can complain. Because if his little wife hadn't been a gambler, would she have taken a chance on him?

TV NEWCOMER: June Allyson, latest movie actress to switch to television, models one of the gowns designed for her to use in her hosting job.

June's A Wisp At Work

By JAMES BACON
AP Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — June Allyson, latest movie actress to switch to television, now weighs only 83 pounds.

"And that gives you an idea of how hard my husband is working me," says she. In her years at MGM, June usually weighed around 97 pounds — a weight at which you can't afford to lose even an ounce.

"We didn't realize how soft a job we had making movies," says June.

The weight loss only bothers Amarillo visitors Friday and also visited a nephew at Dumas.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bush visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, northeast of Oton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Moore spent Sunday night here with Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cowen.

June on one score. Her 11-year-old daughter can wear all June's clothes — and sometimes does.

June got into television reluctantly, she says. Dick Powell, her husband, is president of Four Star Productions and a tycoon in the industry. One night he was entertaining a group of sponsors.

"I thought I was just being a charming hostess for my husband," June recalls. The next day the sponsors asked Powell if his wife would be interested in television.

June says Powell sold her off into television and then came home and let her in on the secret.

"I hadn't made a movie in a year and a half — and I was getting sort of contented. I'm not as ambitious as I used to be."

But Powell promised her that she would only have to work 41 days a year. "I don't know where he got that figure," says Mrs. Powell. "It's been more like 41 days a month."

But being so close to the producer has its benefits. June is getting a new look for her anthology series. It started out strictly as a woman's show but June thinks it should be geared just as much to men.

Upcoming shows will feature action and suspense stories in place of soap opera. She also got a complete new Don Loner wardrobe for her hosting shows.

The new gowns will have Loper's sophisticated look. No more of June's famous Peter Pan look.

An example of June's hectic TV life came when a reporter casually asked what her home town was. She couldn't remember.

"Let's see, we once lived in the Bronx and then we moved upstate. It was the last stop on the subway. You know."

Only someone from the Bronx or Manhattan would call the last stop on the subway upstate New York. All through the interview this bothered June.

"I know," she said. "I'll call my mother. She'll remember. This is silly. I grew up there. I went to school."

Her mother's line was busy. "Goodness," she fumed. "I never had trouble remembering my hometown when I was in movies. You see what television does to you?"

Her mother's line was still busy. The reporter started naming Westchester County suburbs. White Plains? Mount Vernon? No, Pelham?

"Oh, I'm glad you said that. It would have ruined my whole weekend. I come from Pelham Bay."

Are You For Or Against It, Pay Your Poll Tax To Vote

ARE NOT convinced that too much would be taken from Texas by abolishing the Poll Tax. The statement will doubtless bring down the wrath of many friends and acquaintances who are advocates of killing the Poll Tax requirement, payment of a fee in order to vote is not dissent, as so many opponents claim.

The $1.75 fee goes into the public treasury in Texas, which amounts to well over $1 million a year. If this tax is knocked out, it will just give us a hole to dig down and pay it some other way. Then too, in most states where a registration system is operated, there is still a fee of some type.

It does not go along with the use of the Poll Tax to require a citizen, regardless of creed or color, from voting that all bonafide citizens have a right to vote. We know of few cases where the Poll Tax has been a hardship on the individual voter, and more often it is the person who fails or refuses to pay a fee will fail or refuse to register anyway. To us, it is fair, and of no more inconvenience than having to register anyway, for we know that the state will have to pay $1.75 one way or another.

Regardless of whether you believe in the Poll Tax, the fact remains that it is a current pre-occupation in Texas, and 1960 holds multiple options for you to get your money's worth in this year.

Roots Opinion

WALK, CONN., HOUR: "Public apathy has increased consciousness of the dangers inherent in a price upward spiral of prices. Inflation has been long it is accepted by many persons as an inevitable condition, as witnessed by wage increases and cost of living indexes and a general expectation that wage increases automatically call for higher prices."

WISTON, FLA., NEWS: "We must remember that the United States reached its present strength and glory through strength and vigor, not through weakness and indifference."

SALES, ARIZ., HERALD: "It is true that adding 'makes jobs,' but it can cost more jobs. The cost of featherbedding is too high. When product or service prices go up, there are fewer customers. Fewer customers mean fewer jobs."

ERSIDE, CALIF., RECORD: "A foreigner was told of the fact that he had learned the English language. 'But I had to read an awful lot of comic books to do it.'"

BON FALLS, ME., NEWS: "There are many complaints to newspaper readers, in editorial columns, will proceed to offer one at this time. It may be twenty-nine cents, or it may be worth a good bit. The advice we offer is for every high school student to learn to write well enough to express himself. Being able to express oneself clearly is an important part of almost any avenue of life. It can make the difference in getting jobs, in salary increases, and in business agreements, and in almost every other field."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — Nothing that has come out of state government in recent months has caused as much of a ruckus as the merit plan for public employees.

It is possible to take either side of the question and start a lively argument on almost any street corner.

Critics have mounted a two-pronged attack: (1) to get the Board of Insurance, which authorized the plan, to change it and (2) to get the courts to declare it unconstitutional.

Board hearing to review the plan was called at the request of Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, one of the most vocal objectors to the plan. Just before the hearing, a group of attorneys from the Harris County chapter of the Texas Association of Plaintiffs' Attorneys filed suit in an Austin district court seeking a permanent injunction against use of the plan.

Chairman Penn J. Jackson, declared the Board would listen to all protests with an open mind. Most insurance rates, he said, are subject to frequent changes. However, Jackson emphasized that the Board is directed by law to consider safety incentives and driving records, past and prospective, in its rate making.

Under the merit plan, drivers with no accidents or moving traffic convictions on their records for the past three years would get lower rates. Compensating for this would be a sliding scale of higher rates to be paid by others according to the number and seriousness of the marks against them.

Loudest gripes are about the retroactive feature of the plan and the fact that any moving traffic violation, no matter how minor, counts against the motorist. Because it does go back three years in effect, the plan is being labeled an "ex post facto law" (law against something that happened in the past) which is unconstitutional.

Some motorists complain that in the past they have paid fines on tickets when they were not actually at fault — just to avoid the trouble of going to court.

Sen. Hazlewood coined the idea of putting all violators in the same class — "those that go 20 a salary raise in a special session of the Legislature this year. Leaders of public school teachers' organizations say they believe Gov. Price Daniel will call a session after Feb. 1.

Teachers want to see the matter come up at a special session rather than at the next regular session in 1961. In a regular session, they would face again the same obstacles they faced in 1959, the necessity of taking care of regular money needs probably including a deficit, before any new appropriations will be considered.

FACULTY RAISES PROPOSED — Commission on Higher Education recommends the Legislature raise salaries for state college professors by 12 per cent for 1962 and 8 per cent for 1963.

Commission said Texas colleges need to pay this much more to be able to keep up with other colleges in competing for the available supply of teachers. During its last session the Legislature cut the Commission's requested college budget by 7 per cent.

Commission has agreed to hear the University of Houston's request for inclusion in the state college system at its April meeting.

BANKING AUTHORITY SPELLED OUT — Savings and loan associations may not open branches without approval of the State Banking Commission.

State Supreme Court issued this opinion in an 8-to-1 decision on a case in which a Houston savings and loan association had challenged the commission's right to pass on a proposed branch. Savings and loan associations, like banks, are chartered by the Banking Commission.

Court said this regulation was necessary to prevent "excessively zealous competition through control of building and loan associations in an area."

Dissenting judge said there is nothing in the law to give the commission this power.

RESERVOIR PLANS ASSAILED — City of Fort Worth has joined the San Jacinto River Authority in protesting plans to build a Trinity River dam near Houston.

An engineer representing Fort Worth told the State Water Board he felt Fort Worth's future water rights would be impaired if Houston and the Trinity River Authority build a reservoir near Livingston and take out 1,200,000 gallons a day, as requested. To protect needs of Upper Trinity Basin users, it was suggested the Livingston project be cut in half.

A spokesman for the San Jacinto River Authority said he felt the Trinity should not be developed for Houston use because it is polluted with Dallas and Fort Worth sewage.

Texans In Washington Teacher Is Real Look At

By TEX EASLEY AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Southern Methodist University government teacher is one of 15 winners of political science fellowships working on Capitol Hill this session of Congress.

The fellows perform miscellaneous tasks but are NOT on the congressional payroll. They expect to spend part of their time attending committee hearings.

Sponsored by the American Political Science Assn., and financed by the Ford Foundation, the fellowships provide a $4,500 grant and an opportunity to see first-hand and from the inside what makes the legislative wheels turn.

The SMU assistant professor of political science here under the fellowship program is C. Dale Story. Originally from Stillwell, Okla., the 31-year-old Korean War veteran got his bachelor and doctorate from SMU in Oklahoma. He taught at SMU from 1958-59.

Another of the fellowship winners is in the office of Rep. Frank Barks of Wichita Falls. He is Daniel D. McCrary, 28, a former Michiganander. McCrary has been employed as a financial writer.

The fellowship provides that the winners work on the House side of the Capitol until April, the remainder of the time — until Congress adjourns on Aug. 15 — which ever comes first — on the Senate side.

Selected from among hundreds of applicants from over the nation, the winners must fall in one of three categories of professional men — journalists, government and

Legislature to consider state regulations and safety measures for the peacetime use of atomic energy. Public school administrators meeting in Austin discussed the prospect of requiring 20 credits for high school graduation rather than the present 16. Some superintendents reported their schools are already requiring more than 16, not including the "easier" subjects such as music, health, physical education. Gov. Price Daniel has appointed Jack Woodward of Dallas to the Commission on Higher Education for a term ending in March, 1965. Other executive appointments: V. P. Ringler of Houston and William J. Elliott of El Paso to the Texas Real Estate Commission and Dr. Louis T. Bogy of San Antonio and Dr. A. V. Johnson of Midland to the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. State Hospital Board has voted to sell 306 acres from the Kerrville State Hospital grounds and 80 to 90 acres from the San Antonio State Hospital. Preliminary plans were approved for building and improvements at the Denton State School, Austin State Hospital, Rusk State Hospital, Mexican State School and Wichita Falls State Hospital.

Another of the fellowship winners is in the office of Rep. Frank Barks of Wichita Falls. He is Daniel D. McCrary, 28, a former Michiganander. McCrary has been employed as a financial writer.

The fellowship provides that the winners work on the House side of the Capitol until April, the remainder of the time — until Congress adjourns on Aug. 15 — which ever comes first — on the Senate side.

Selected from among hundreds of applicants from over the nation, the winners must fall in one of three categories of professional men — journalists, government and

Sandhills Philosopher Prolonging Life Of Fruit Big Mistake Of Science

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be against progress, his letter this week indicates. It's not the first time.

Dear editor: One of the main troubles with life these days is that most people are bogged down with progress, and there's no escape in sight.

Everybody who has been to a time in the late afternoon knows the automobile at that hour creates more problems than it solves.

Or take farming. We don't have any traffic congestion, but we've got a surplus that's just as bad.

What brings this to mind is an article I read last night in a newspaper an insurance salesman left out here. According to it, scientists are working on a scheme to prolong the life of fresh fruits and vegetables ten times what it is today. By using some sort of atomic radiation, tical science teachers or lawry over the surplus of corn, wheat, cotton, etc., you at least could smile when you thought of lettuce. Oh, there might be a surplus of lettuce for a few weeks, but you could get an inner glow out of remembering the problem.

THIS WEEK In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Nothing in years has so upset farmers and alarmed the public as the scare over use of chemicals in the production, preserving and coloring of food.

Is the scare justified? Is there actual danger to health from use of the chemicals? What are the facts?

To get the best answers available we've talked with doctors, chemists, Food & Drug Administration and U. S. Department of Agriculture officials. All agree on one thing:

There are, so far as diligent search can determine, no foods on the market which contain chemicals in quantities injurious to human health.

There are, on the other hand, a number of agricultural chemicals used as insecticides, pesticides, weed killers and growth stimulants which contain poisons. The question is: How much, if any, of those poisons are in the foods when they reach consumers?

Flemming's Answer Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming says there is no positive answer to that question, but that "while the argument is going on the consumer should not, in effect, be asked to serve as a guinea pig."

The Food & Drug Administration, which is in Flemming's department, says it is continuing "extensive and exhaustive tests" to discover whether there are harmful residues in any food.

So far FDA has found small residues of aminotriazole, a weed killer, in a few lots of cranberries. Those were destroyed and the remainder tested and cleared for sale.

Aminotriazole, when fed directly to rats in large quantities, caused cancer. Medical authorities estimated that humans would have to consume 15,000 pounds of the "contaminated" cranberries each day for a year to develop the same reaction found in rats.

Law Supports Flemming Congress passed a law last year amending the Pure Food and Drug Act, which says Flemming must condemn any food containing any amount, whether or not believed to be dangerous to human health, of a cancer-causing chemical.

A number of other chemicals are under scrutiny for the possibility that they might produce a variety of human ills. Stilbestrol, a growth promoting hormone, has been found in parts of chickens fed the chemical. The contaminated birds were removed from the market and feeding of the chemical to chickens was stopped.

Traces of penicillin and DDT have been found in some milk. FDA says that research to determine whether the chemicals are used in quantities that would be injurious to health are continuing and that, meanwhile, any milk found to contain residues of the chemicals will be destroyed.

There is one other conclusion on which all authorities agreed. It is that the publicity on both
