Chamber Of Commerce Launches A Membership Drive For A $6,000 Budget; Many New Members Added

Looking forward to securing a total annual budget of $6,000, the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce last Monday launched a membership campaign which is being carried in excellent manner, 68 new memberships having been added to date, with a large number yet unsolicited, most of whom it is believed will become members. This brings the total membership up to nearly 100, and it is thought there will be at least 75 more obtained.

The campaign is being handled by a membership committee of which G. Sadler is chairman. As a part of the campaign, a number of people of the city and could not be interviewed, also, various out of town corporations had to take the matter up with their head offices. The committee divided into teams and is doing energetic work, and in every instance were favored by those they interviewed for memberships.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce is planning a big program of work, according to Secretary J. W. Rat, and the wheels of action are ready to turn. Littlefield is vibrant with a forwardness and energy that is being put into a power for the future. It is in the heart of most business men and citizen in this area. There are innumerable things that transpire in daily life that do not come to the public as well as the larger accounts that may accrue that such a situation is of inestimable value to business man and proper within its environs.

The Tuesday Meeting
A regular noon day Tuesday meeting was held at the home of A. G. Hemphill and F. G. G. made favorable reports regarding the improving of the highways leading into Littlefield.

The membership campaign committee is highly complimented by J. S. Hilliard for their successful work, and urged on the good work until every member was obtained. Agent D. A. Adam, in a interesting talk, enumerated the plans of activity for the year. Valuable suggestions were offered by C. H. Grow, R. Hill, Rev. Chas. Dvorak, McClure, H. B. Teal and T. and their wives are going to a prominent place on the program of the Chamber of Commerce, said Secretary J. W. Rat. The officers of the organization know that the Chamber has their interest at heart, and is a place where they may discuss problems and conditions confronting every community. The Chamber is ready for any time, and will use their efforts to serve the good interests of the farmers every day of the year.

PLAINVIEW DAIRY SHOW WILL BE ON SAINT PATRICK'S DAY

Plainview, March 12.—The permanent home of the Texas Panhandle Plains Dairy show, which is under construction at Plainview will be ready in ample time for the staging of the Second Annual Show, April 2-5.

The building is being erected to fulfill Plainview's promise last year that if the show were located here permanently buildings for housing it would be provided. The City of Plainview is building the home, which is several buildings all connected, to facilitate staging the show. The construction is of wood covered with roofing material and stripped. The gable ends on the structure are of stucco artistically made.

Five buildings are being constructed all tied together. There will be three large barns to house the animals a large show ring with seats for 700 people around it, and a large building to house the dairy products department, and the commercial exhibits. There will be 25,000 square feet of floor space in the entire structure. The buildings or parts, are all connected to the show arena, it being in the center with the other buildings projecting in four different directions. The entire structure is located on a 10 acre tract of land adjoining the municipal part at Plainview, and is close in to the business section of the city.

ADDITIONAL ROOM NEEDED FOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

At a meeting of the Littlefield school board held Thursday night of last week, Prof. F. O. Boles was re-elected principal of the High school, and Prof. J. E. Chisholm principal of the Grammar school.

Attention was called to the fact that a school trustee election will be called for Saturday, April 7th. Trustees whose terms expire this year are J. T. Elms, Otto Jones, R. E. McCaskill and Arthur P. Duggan. Those holding over for another year are Wm. J. Harris, J. L. Dow and R. E. Hendrix.

Considerable discussion prevailed over the present crowded condition of the high school and a way of remedy. There are now 370 pupils in the high school, every class room is crowded, and even the library room and some of the offices have been commandeered for recitation purposes. It was stated that additional rooms will be required to handle the pupils before another school year begins. Fortunately, in the building of the present High school structure, it was so constructed that further additions may be made very economically and in harmony with the general plans.

A committee consisting of Mr. Love, N. A. Humphries, C. E. Strawn, V. L. Castleberry, R. N. Carpenter, Mrs. E. A. Bills, with Pat Boone as chairman, was appointed to officially view the present crowded scholastic condition and make the proper recommendation for remedy.

LAM'S LAMB COUNTY BAND ATTRACTS INTEREST

Six rehearsals per week! That's lots of rehearsals, but the Lamb County band, of which the Littlefield band is a unit, is doing just that in preparation for its big concert here March 15.

Director Lam states that the class of music which the musicians are going to present necessitates intensive work of this kind. Two of the weekly rehearsals are held here, while the neighboring towns of Amherst and Sudan come in for their share with the other four.

To advertise this event, the band is putting on one of the most extensive advertising campaigns ever used in connection with home talent production. Two thousand automobiles throughout the county bear stickers reminding the public of "Lam's Lamb County Band Attractions." A four page folder explains the nature and purpose of the three entertainments which the band is sponsoring. Window cards, and newspaper display ads are also being utilized to a good advantage.

An aggressive ticket selling campaign is being waged by the local pep squad and the band members. A season ticket to the three attractions which will be held on three Friday nights at the local High School Auditorium are available. A considerable saving will result from the purchase of this ticket.

AGGL. BOYS BUY PURE SEED FOR SPRING PLANTING

Members of the agriculture classes have made arrangements to secure good seed for their various plant projects. After some discussion of profitable sources of good seed a large majority of the class decided to take advantage of the offer made by the Lubbock Experiment station.

Several of the boys were anxious to secure their seed at once and a trip was planned for Saturday. Seven of the boys made the trip and bought 400 pounds of higeria seed and 100 pounds of maize seed. The trip was made possible thru the co-operation of A. Clark and Parker Burford, who furnished the transportation facilities. The boys wish to express their thanks for these favors. Other members of the class will purchase enough seed to double the above amount.

Mr. Jones, superintendent of the Experiment station, was very glad to see the boys. He invited them to visit the station as often as possible and especially during the fall when some of the rare crops not generally found growing on the average farm could be seen growing on their experimental plots.

The two classes in agriculture have an enrollment of 30. The projects are as follows: 3 projects in maize, totaling 15 acres; 12 projects in higeria totaling 105 acres; 1 project in corn totaling 10 acres; 8 projects in cotton totaling 55 acres; 2 projects in pigs; 2 projects in poultry; 1 project in dairy cows.

METHODISTS WILL BUILD PRESIDING ELDER HERE

Rev. D. B. Doak, presiding elder of the Lubbock district, Methodist church, was in Littlefield Sunday morning, occupying the pulpit of the Methodist church at the 11:00 o'clock hour, and delivering one of the most interesting and inspiring sermons heard in this city for many months past.

In the afternoon he held the first quarterly conference of the fiscal year, at which time very favorable reports were received of the work being accomplished by the local pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine.

At that business session the building committee was reorganized, and it was agreed that the work of church construction would be continued. Some time ago the basement foundation was laid and it is now planned to finish the work then started.

Texas produced 8.6 per cent of the total value of all crops produced in the United States in 1928, showing an increase of $45,389,000.

$16,856.80 HOGS ARE SHIPPED BY PEYTON PK'G CO.

The Peyton Packing Co., of Littlefield, B. F. Gearhart, manager, has shipped 883 head of hogs from this point to the El Paso markets, during the past 30 days, this number representing $16,856.80 paid to the hog raisers of this section.

Hog raising in the Littlefield trade territory is making rapid strides, during the past 12 months many pure bred and high grade males and sows having been shipped in, as well as several pure bred gilts by boys, members of various club activities. With the exceptionally favorable climate and propitious conditions of Lamb county hog raising, this industry, still in its infancy in this section, is destined to rapidly increase during the coming 12 months.

AGENT STILL TERRACING

County Agent D. A. Adam reports a terracing job for L. C. Gregg and one for Mr. Love, the work done last week. He states that many farmers in Lamb county, learning the value of contouring and terracing are now demanding the work to be done.

To date Mr. Adam has terraced more than 2,000 acres, and he says another 2,000 acres are in sight.

USED LEVEL COTTON ROWS TO BEAT THE NEIGHBORS

By running his cotton rows on the level, according to the contour of the land, E. W. Carlson of the Berryhill community, near Albany, made what is described as "the only decent yield of cotton in the community" last year.

His field was not very rolling but the contour rows were a great help in holding the few showers that fell, and this meant the difference between a good crop and a poor one. His yield doubled and trebled those of his neighbors.

One of them went to the county agent, A. C. Magee, during the cotton picking season with a request for a terracing school, explaining that, "Mr. Carlson is no better farmer than I am, he didn't plant any better seed than I did, and he doesn't have a better farm than I have, but he made twice as much cotton per acre as I did. The only difference that I can figure out is that he had his rows on a level."

Would You Know One If You Saw It?
 If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers — washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone at Stokes & Alexander Drug Company.

PRIMITIVE VILLAGES RESULT OF TRIBAL RELATIONSHIP, BUT MODERN TOWNS ARE FOSTERED ALONG LINES MORE INDIVIDUAL

By SAM H. CANTRELL, Prof., Social Science Dept., Littlefield College
 (NOTE: This is the second of a series of articles on social and economic matters by Prof. Cantrell to be published in this newspaper.)

To understand the small town as it exists in western civilization, requires a survey of the village in its origin in primitive life, the functions it has performed and the place it has occupied in general social development.

From this survey it will be possible to get a point of view from which to judge the place of the small town in modern life and to determine in what ways the functions of the primitive village have continued into modern life and in what ways the modern small town must function differently if it is to remain a factor in social organization.

The primitive village group was the result of the existing tribal organization. It was an incident of blood relationship rather than of commercial or industrial needs. It does not appear that the true village developed among the wandering herdsmen of the desert, but it was undoubtedly a universal characteristic of the hunting and fishing and of the early agricultural stages of industrial progress.

The remains of the cave men of Europe and the piles of shell left by other primitive people about their dwellings indicate that long before the dawn of history men lived in groups of relative stability and in close proximity to one another.

The advance of the village to a position of primacy over the tribal organization as a part of the social structure comes with the introduction into village groups of interests other than those of blood relationship.

Gradually alien elements found their way into the tribal group. Traders, refugees, slaves, wanderers, came from distant points and some adjustment had to be made to their presence.

The modern small town has lost the characteristics of the former village types. It is an aggregation of an entirely different type and of a different origin. The small town of today which has advanced to the dignity of incorporation takes no account of family relationship. The social aggregation has had its source in so many different places that family life and relationships are no longer identical with community relationships.

For many purposes the political organization, the church and the school do not recognize the family unit but deal with individuals. Family influences exist, and in some cases, are a most potent factor in determining the social activities of the town, and have much to do with its welfare and advancement. Yet these influences are not recognized to so great an extent in the official organization of the community.

The small town of today is the center of the commercial, financial, and manufacturing interests of the territory in which it is located. Some farmers may reside in the town but these are the few gardeners who supply the local market with vegetables, men who have retired from the farms to pass their old age in the better material environment of the town and to give way on the farm to their children, and the occasional wealthy farmer who lives in the small town and oversees the labor of hired tenants on his country place. These men are not the controlling factor in small town life and in some cases become the element opposing efforts to advance the material welfare of the town.

The modern town, while depending in part upon natural increase to maintain its numbers, looks more to attracting new families through social or economic advantages offered. Resources to be developed, special forms of agriculture, new opportunities for trade, the growing wealth of an agricultural environment, educational facilities, or unusually good residence attractions become the basis for appeal to prospective citizens.

However, many towns show, decade after decade, a fairly constant population maintained only by natural increase and by the addition of the stream of older people retiring from the farms. Social conditions in these communities are apt to be on a much lower plane than if the town is receiving a normal influx of new blood from other communities.

The modern town as a political and social unit has many things in common with the city. In many of them the ambitions of the citizens are similar to those of urban residents and the improvements necessary are like those of the city. Many towns are nothing more nor less than embryonic cities. Yet they are in that trying period of development in which they are tempted to have the advantages of cities without the wealth accumulated to pay for them, and the results of their efforts to improve conditions sometimes work hardships for years.

The modern town must recognize that it is an integral part of the entire community; that its progress depends upon that life; that it cannot control its own growth independent of its new environment, but will increase in functions as its environment demands and no faster, that its advance must be in those improvements needed by the community it serves; and that wise leaders will study in what ways the town can more effectively ually serve the purpose of its existence. The writer will consider in next article the causes for the stagnation and development of towns and phases of retardation.

Subscribers who change their addresses, or fail to get their paper, should immediately notify this office, giving both new and old addresses. Communications of local interest are solicited. They should be briefly written, on only one side of the paper, and must reach this office not later than Wednesday noon of each week. The right of revision or rejection is reserved by the publisher.

All local advertisements remain in this paper for the time specified or until ordered out. All notices, it matters not by whom nor for what purpose, if the object is to raise money by admission fee or otherwise, is an advertisement and when sent in for publication must be paid for at the regular advertising rate per line for each issue printed.

Obituaries, cards of thanks, and resolutions of respect will also be charged for at the same rate.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Littlefield Leader will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In case of errors or omissions in local or other advertisements, the publisher does not hold himself liable for damage further than the amount received by him for such advertisement.

FAKE ADV. SCHEMES

At the annual meeting of the Retail Merchants association held in Lubbock last week the secretary reported that out of 38 gyp advertising schemes presented by traveling grafters, 34 had been stopped, at an estimated saving of nearly $12,000 to the business men of that city. That was excellent service—more than paying for the expense of the organization that year.

Every town has to contend with such advertising fakers, and Littlefield is no exception. Seldom a week goes by but the Leader is presented with some wild-cat advertising scheme for its endorsement. They are invariably turned down. Sometimes they are put over anyhow, and we are offered the printing job, which we also refuse. We do not believe in making money at the expense of our fellow business men, and that is about all it amounts to.

Three weeks ago a restaurant menu was put on in this town; the business men paying for its production, plus about 50 per cent profit to the promoter. We refused to print the job. Last week another business concern saw fit to gratuitously accept an advertising booklet, likewise paid for by other business interests, the promoter walking away with a fat profit in his pocket. The Leader refused to print this job, also.

It has always been the theory of the Leader that every business concern ought to be able to stand on its own bottom without filching off of other concerns for their own benefit. No one concern has a moral nor business right to promote any enterprise that costs another concern good money and for which they do not get value received.

Since Littlefield has no merchants association for its protection against advertising grafters, the Leader believes it would be well to delegate this matter to the Chamber of Commerce, with a committee to assist the secretary in passing upon all such proposed advertising schemes, the business men referring such matters to this organization and agreeing to abide by their decision as to their merits or demerits.

Things could be a lot worse in this country. They might start holding beauty contests for men.

CABBAGE vs. COMPLEXION

Never too old to learn is an adage that keeps bobbing up right along, proving its truthfulness in some form or another every little while. Not long ago the fad of eating liver swept the country when a famous doctor endorsed it for those suffering with a low blood supply. Then they told us to eat grape fruit and oranges to ward off the flu. And here comes still another one.

Eat plenty of cabbage, and drink sauer kraut juice if you want a smooth, clear, attractive skin, advises a St. Louis beauty specialist. He says it is cheaper than running to a beauty doctor, or filing the system with drugs. In addition, he says two other garden products can be eaten along with cabbage with equal results—carrots and spinach. "Eat cabbage, carrots and spinach; get plenty of sleep; walk often in the open air and you'll have a beautiful skin," says the expert.

We know the average Littlefield man isn't doing much worrying about the kind of complexion he has or could have. Give him the cabbage, carrots and spinach for his stomach's sake and he'll let beauty take care of itself. But the hint ought to be of value to our women folks, and since it costs far less than beauty doctors charge for their treatments—and we're not asking a cent for printing it—we think we are entitled to the thanks of every woman in this community.

"A real idiot cannot read," says a New York specialist. Then where do some of the magazines get their circulation?

A SENSIBLE BILL

Show us a Littlefield citizen who doesn't love birds and we'll show you a man who has lost a lot out of his life. Everyone enjoys having them around, even though some species are classed as nuisances. But birds are like people in that there are good ones and bad ones, and since there are more good ones than bad ones we can't help liking them as a whole.

This being true, the news that congress has passed a bill providing for a bird sanctuary in each one of the 48 states is of special interest. It is said that ducks, geese and many varieties of birds are fast disappearing from this country, and that unless we take immediate steps to set aside reservations on which they can propagate, and be protected, we will soon have with us only the varieties that are of the least value.

It is a timely measure. The orchards, farms, gardens and forests of North America need the services of million of insect-eating birds more now than ever before since alien insect enemies are multiplying every year. Almost everything grown now has to be sprayed or treated against insect pests. An increased number of birds—natural enemies of many of these—will save millions of dollars annually in this country. Incidentally, it insures all bird lovers that the things they treasure and love will not perish as did the carrier pigeons which once blackened the skies with their vast numbers. It is a sensible bill and congress has earned the thanks of the entire nation by passing it.

We all have our ups and downs, but it's easier to trace our descent than our ascent.

PAPER BOTTLES

The good old glass milk bottle seems to be making its last stand. One of the leading New York dairy companies has begun the delivery of milk to its 50,000 customers in wedge shaped waxed paper containers and plans to extend the service to every part of the nation as under way.

According to press reports, the paper bottle is a success. It can be used once and discarded, thus eliminating the washing of bottles. It costs less than a glass bottle; it weighs less so more can be hauled at a time, and it does away with breakage.

The latter is a big feature since it is estimated that $15,000,000 worth of milk bottles are broken, and disappear, every year. It looks like America's newest and greatest economy and an invention that will also serve to protect life by safeguarding it. Chalk up the paper milk bottle as the first big accomplishment of 1929.

The best way to be assured of courtesy on the road these days is to be the driver of a two-ton truck.

RIDING ON AIR

The year 1928 was a bad one for the railroads of this country as concerns passenger traffic. Railway Age, a publication devoted to the industry, has just completed its statistics for the year. These show that 788,000 passengers were carried by all of our railroads in 1928, the smallest number for any year since 1905. And the number of passenger miles covered was the smallest for any year since 1909. The number of miles traveled by the average train traveler was 264, the lowest since 1889. Railway Age doesn't seem to think it necessary to give the cause for this decrease, and neither do we.

Anyone in Littlefield who has observed the fast-growing popularity of the auto bus knows without being told what is happening to the railroads. Just what the ultimate result will be is hard to forecast. We can only hope, however, that freight business picks up enough to cover the losses in passenger fares, for no matter how much we value the auto, we can't get along without our railroads.

Since it costs $12,000,000 to elect a president, once every four years, is often enough.

A HELPFUL HINT

Nobody can accuse us of being stingy. When we read a message we know would help the business men of Littlefield we always hasten to pass it on to them. That's why we are anxious to have them read and consider these words from the lips of Wm. A. Thompson in an address to a convention of business men in Syracuse a few days ago.

He said: "The link that connects seller and buyer is the newspaper. The American people spend a million pennies a day for daily and weekly newspapers, and advertisers are spending more than two and a quarter million daily in advertising. No matter what else certain classes may read the great mass of the people read newspapers. The vital hunger for news—news of the town, news of the world—can only be satisfied by the daily and weekly press. And an advertising message is devoured along with the news."

It's an old sermon in new words. But it is just as worthy of the consideration of every business man, in big town or little town, as it has always been.

The story is told of a bunch of Quakers who one time met at their church house for the purpose of reprimanding one of their members who had violated some rule of the society. Several methods were suggested, but nothing decided upon. Finally one old Quaker brother arose and said: "Friends, I think if thee, and thee and me would each sweep about our own pews the meeting house would be cleaned." The idea was that each member had perhaps been guilty of as much violation of the church rules as the one accused. The idea may apply to the cleaning of Main street. If each business man will clean up the trash in front of his own door the entire street would be cleaned.

Past political differences should never enter into city politics. Really there should be no city politics. The best men available for city officials are the ones that should be considered, regardless of personal friendships or political reasons.

A householder who keeps his home neat and attractive is worth more to a city than a dozen who are careless and fault-finding.

The merchant who advertises pays so much for his space; the one who does not advertise pays more dearly for the lack of it.

Saying good things about Littlefield is a toast; doing good things for Littlefield is the butter that goes on the toast.

LITTLE LEADERS

What does it profit a Littlefield boy to be one of the best dancers in town and then have to go to the poor-house in old age?

Our advice to Littlefield girls is simply this—if you are getting three meals a day here at home just forget about Hollywood.

A thoughtful mother is the Littlefield woman who teaches her boy to use a can-opener so he won't have to go hungry when he marries.

Ever notice that the Littlefield man who spends money for hair tonic is still bald and the woman who buys reduction dope is still fat?

We Littlefield folks are never satisfied. If we're poor we stow over our debts and if we've got money we lose sleep for fear somebody will steal it.

The cost of living was much lower back in the days when a Littlefield couple went to housekeeping with a cow and a dozen hens instead of a divver and a radio.

You can always tell. When a Littlefield girl ceases to giggle love has become a serious matter with her. There's this much to say in favor of the Littlefield boy of today—when he does go out to sow his wild oats he doesn't insist on trying to sing "Sweet Adeline."

JESS' JOSH

The woman on XIT Drive says it's always hard to break unpleasant news but when there are a few gossips around the job never goes begging.

Hearing that the next war will be with insects, Ray Jones wants to know if they'll be any worse than the cooties were in the last one.

George Turrintine declares he can remember the time when the corn was in the shock, instead of the shock being in the corn.

Littlefield teacher: "Worms do a great deal of damage to growing vegetables, and sparrows are a great nuisance, but they eat the worms. Now, children, which do you think the worse, the sparrows or the worms?"

Bobby: "I don't know, teacher, I never had sparrows."

The following letter was received last week by Stokes-Alexander drug company:

Gentlemen: Please send me another box of your lip salve, for which I enclose money order. All my gentlemen friends say that it is the best they ever tasted. Yours, truly, IDA CLARKE.

THE UNEXPECTED GUEST

In our beautiful Texas city Is the hotel Littlefield, Where people come from far and near With peculiar traits revealed.

A strange thing happened here one night On February twenty-third Friendly guests were in the lobby Strange sounds were surely heard.

The women listened breathlessly, The men looked wise and smiled For true enough from an upper room Came the wail of a little child.

No babies had been registered For the mistress scans each face But a small man, hailed from Paris With a dingy old suit case.

A few guests saw him enter But not one saw him go So laughingly they wondered If he was staging a baby show.

But the landlord and the mistress Most interested of all Phoned to the city officials, Who made a hurrr-up call.

And there quite clean and healthful On the bed in room eleven Lay a blue eyed baby boy

Alone—as if dropped from heaven It's hands outstretched and pleading Touched Everett's tender breast He took it to his welcome breast And gave it one good night's sleep

Inquiries came quite early The day dawned bright and clear For the young American hospital Went to Ray and Lois, who adored the little dear.

MRS. A. P. DUGGAN URGES MORE WORS OF PICTURES HAVE INFLUENCE ON CHARACTER ART HAVE PLACE IN THE MODERN HOMES

"The old story of the boy who ran away to sea because of the stirring picture of a full-masted schooner hanging in the sitting room at home should not discourage people from adorning their walls with pictures, but rather call attention to the powerful influence in daily living," said Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan.

Mrs. Duggan came from a family of art lovers. Her uncle, the late Major George W. Littlefield, spent many thousands of dollars on paintings and statuary which adorn the walls of both the State University and the Capitol building, at Austin. She is a member of a committee appointed about a year ago by the State Womens club for the purpose of placing worth while pictures in public schools throughout the state, and of interesting people in their homes in pictures. Several pictures have been placed in the Littlefield schools through the work of this organization, and many parents are taking much more interest in wall decoration of their homes with suitable and attractive pictures.

"There is an art in selecting the proper pictures for the home," said Mrs. Duggan, "every room, according to its purpose, requiring a different type of pictures, and too, much attention should be given the proper framing of scenes and the proper setting as regards lighting.

"In the living or dining room pictures should be general in nature, such as will appeal to all members of the family, like landscapes, architecture, portraits, religious subjects and flower studies. Pictures of a more personal nature may be reserved for bedrooms.

"Housewives may well begin their improvement in this line by courageously disposing of poor and inartistic pictures, even though they may be gifts, for poor art is terribly destructive of an atmosphere of good taste. Old fashioned enlarged portraits are usually so poorly done and are so out of place in living rooms as to merit their removal to the attic or storeroom. Excellent reproductions of the world's masterpieces may be had cheaply today at most department stores and may well be used to create a wholesome influence for the beautiful and good in our homes."

FIND FARM FLOCKS OF SHEEP PAY HIM BIG DIVIDENDS

The sheep population in Fannin county has doubled within the last twelve months, according to Edmund Singleton, county agent, who attributes the increase to the successful experience of a few farmers who were induced to start small flocks of sheep on their farms several years ago.

"T. S. Cunningham who lives near Leonard has averaged around 100 per cent on his investment for three years from a flock of from ten to fifteen head. He states that he makes a greater profit from his sheep than from any other department of his farm. J. Wright Russell purchased a car of good grade Rambouillet ewes from off the range last January a year ago and from these he has raised almost a 100 per cent lamb crop, selling his mutton lambs and keeping the ewe lambs to increase his flock.

His first load of fat lambs averaged 72 pounds apiece and sold for 14 cents per pound, and this added to the wool clip from ewes, more than paid the original purchase price. He now has 350 ewes."

TO PRINT POSTAGE STAMPS BY STATES

Washington.—Postmaster General New has announced the government has decided to print the name of each state in which stamps are sold on all stamps ranging in denomination of from one to five cents, in an effort to cope with postoffice thieves.

The purpose of this plan, the department said, is to render more difficult the sale of stolen stamps and facilitate tracing of confiscated stamps from one state to another.

GAS HERE IN 60 DAYS

That Littlefield will be supplied with natural gas within the next 60 days, is the report current on the streets this week.

Just how definite this information is no one seems to know. However, it is known that a representative of the gas company was in Littlefield a short time ago making preliminary checking reports, and parties traveling too and from Lubbock note numerous stakes along the highway which are said to be survey stakes for the proposed gas line.

There will be ne eclipse either of the sun or moon visible in Texas in 1929.

The Pot of Gold at End of the Rainbow Will Be Featured in Multi-Colored Garments for Spring

"The pot of gold at the end of the rainbow is only a legend, but to the fortunate woman who can wisely choose, the colors in the rainbow are worth a pot of gold for their part in enhancing her charms and reflecting her loveliness. With the passing of dull and colorless winter, woman should take a lesson from nature, enter into the spirit of spring, and put on new color in the clothes she wears."

Pointing out that the stores are now full of the new and beautiful spring colors, Mrs. Beaman Phillips, manager of the ladies ready-to-wear department of Ellis & Ware dry goods store, gives a few hints to women on the magic of color. "Color can make us happy or unhappy," she says. "It is one of the most important factors in selecting a costume, gives it life and feeling and expresses the personality of the wearer more than any other one factor. Since colors spell the individual mood and personality, they should be an expression of one's best thoughts; charm and delight the wearer as well as the observer; and fit in harmoniously with the wearer's surroundings.

"Colors related to each other always go well together. Yellow and green combine well because green is made of blue and yellow. The more yellow in the green the greater the harmony. Colors also combine well with their complements. For example blue and orange go well together because yellow is the complement of blue. Dull, sombre colors make one very retiring, while bright, gay colors make one more cheerful and aggressive. A little retiring woman dressed in gray sinks into the background, but note the effect of bright red on a very aggressive girl.

"Of all the browns," says Mrs. Phillips, "sherry brown is the newest, smartest shade. Beautiful blues are more diverse than usual, ranging from the bright monet to a grayish blue. The greens are soft this year, and red still follows the wine shades. Nearly any miss or woman, regardless of her tastes, can be easily satisfied in color wear this spring."

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Parker and daughter, Louise, spent the weekend with her parents, in Littlefield.

Misses Katie Ratliff and Bobbie Faye Davis were Amherst visitors, Sunday afternoon.

WHAT BETTY AND JACK FOUND

By ANNA MARIE HARLESS
Third Grade, Primary School

Once upon a time there was a little boy. His name was Jack. He had a little sister, whose name was Betty. Betty's and Jack's parents were kind to them. The children worked hard for their mother and father.

Jack was older than Betty, and when he was in school for about two months their father fell ill. The children's parents were poor and could not get a doctor with their father. He kept getting worse and worse until he died.

When Betty was ten years old and Jack was twelve years old their mother died too, and Betty had to wash dishes for other people, while Jack cleaned yards for other people.

FEW COWS REACT TO THE T. B. TESTS OF ST. VET.

Dr. Y. J. Aiken, deputy state veterinarian was in Lamb county last week giving tubercular tests to 46 head of cattle, according to D. A. Adam, county agent, only two of the animals showing any reaction at all.

Tuberculosis among cattle is very rare on the South Plains country, said Mr. Adam; but everyone should be protected against it. Children from one to 10 years and from 20 to 28 years of age are the most susceptible to it, he stated.

WORTH THREE CENTS A DAY

Is it worth three cents a day of your money to have Littlefield become a bigger, better place in which to live and do business?

Of course it is.

Twelve dollars a year, less than three cents a day, invested in a Chamber of Commerce membership will return to you 10 fold in constructive achievements for the good of your city.

A Chamber of Commerce membership is a good investment for your business, and for Littlefield and community. It works for your interests whether you know it or not.

Have a voice in a business organization that does big things for businesses, business men and farmers.

WILL HELP THE FARMERS

The Chamber of Commerce is to assist all. Closer co-operation with the farmers and agricultural interests throughout Lamb county is the plan of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. Good assistance will be given the farmers through this organization toward advancing the dairy industry, also improving other farming methods.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce is in a particularly advantageous position for encouraging and developing this and other needs of the county. With the Chamber of Commerce the central agency for fostering all merited undertakings, farmers of this county have at their hand a place where expert advice can be obtained and a solution for all matters confronting them in this county.

Mr. Carlson last week made two interesting tests with the Essex Challenger car, driving from Clovis to Roswell a distance of 127.7 in 144

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from Stokes & Alexander Drug Company.

minutes. Then with the same car he drove on over Nogal mountain to Carrizozo, a distance of 111 miles in 138 minutes. Returning, the trip over the mountain was made in high gear, this being the third car known to have traveled this mountain in the high ratio. The total travel for that day was 476 miles.

No other state in the Union having even approximately the population of Texas has such a large percentage of rural residents.
