Shoot Thrills Top of World's Highest Beacon

WALLACE BEERY HAS LEADING ROLE IN "WEST POINT OF THE AIR" COMING TO PALACE THEATRE THIS WEEK END

The highest camera set-up ever attempted for a motion picture of aerial maneuvers provides startling thrills in "West Point of the Air," a drama of army aviation filmed at Randolph Field, Texas, by MGM. Perched 168 feet in the air on top of a 400-foot tower, famous 4,000-watt searchlight beacon that can be seen by planes for 30 miles, a Hollywood camera crew pointed their lenses to the sky.

Among the many startling formations photographed from the press box were a training formation of 100 ships forming the letters "U. S. A." Dozens of V, or "vevron" formations and other air maneuvers roared past the dizzy camera height.

The camera staff was headed by the De Vinna, MGM's famous "photo-trotter" who has made pictures in Africa, the Arctic, the South Seas and other distant locales. The "Hell Divers" are in the ARMY now!

Wallace Beery as the gruff, soft-hearted "non-com" of Uncle Sam's flying forces in "West Point of the Air" brings to the screen the same kind of thrills that shattered box-office records throughout the country in "Hell Divers."

This thriller of the skies was made in order for Beery, giving him one of the best and most lovable roles he has ever portrayed.

"West Point of the Air" will be shown at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday.

Not only is the picture packed with thrills, but it boasts one of the most delightful romances on record as well as one of the most touching father-and-son dramas the screen has ever seen.

100 Leap In 'Chutes

Such scenes as 100 daring flyers leaping from planes in parachutes simultaneously, Beery changing from one plane to another to save his son from a certain crash, hundreds of planes in unique formations and other such thrills among the clouds has had all who have seen the picture sitting on the edge of their seats.

Coming as it does, at the time Beery is riding his highest wave of popularity following the phenomenal success of "Viva Villa", "West Point of the Air" bids fair to outdistance all the other Beery specials in public favor.

Great Supporting Cast

The supporting cast, too, wins its share of praise. Maureen O'Sullivan, fresh from a distinct personal triumph in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," again gives a sterling performance that lifts her to the edge of stardom.

Robert Young, after a year of exceptionally successful attractions, tops all his previous performances in the romantic lead opposite the charming Irish star.

James Gleason, as the hard-boiled pal of Beery, gives the kind of performance that first made him a star of the New York stage in "Is Zat So?"

All Win Praise

Lewis Stone, Rosaline Russell, Hardie, Henry Wadsworth, Robert Taylor, Robert Livingston, Frank Conroy and others in the supporting cast are all sharing in the commendation of those who have seen the production.

Richard Rosson's direction is capturing the highest praise and many are the orchids being tossed at Producer Monta Bell.

Lieut. Commander Frank Wood, A. J. Beckhardt and Harold Backley wrote the screen play.

Former Olton Man Dies at Hale Center

Reuben B. Jeter, 33, former Olton resident, died at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, April 30, at Hale Center after a brief illness of pneumonia.

Funeral services were held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Olton of which he was a member, with Rev. D. D. Jones, pastor of the Nazarene church officiating. Interment was in the Olton cemetery under direction of Lindsay Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were J. C. George, E. C. Bell, Walter Sanders, Arch Curry, Mark Burns and L. S. Kennedy. Rube was the sixth child of S. L. and Elizabeth Jeter, both deceased, and was born July 4, 1902 in the Indian Territory. He came to Lamb county with his parents in 1924 and had resided here since until two weeks ago when he moved to Hale Center where he was employed on highway construction work.

Besides his widow, Mr. Jeter is survived by a son, Jay, six years old, and a daughter, Anna Jo, two years old. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Minnie Belle Smith of Arizona, and four brothers, T. B. Jeter of Olton, James Jeter of Huntsville, J. J. Jeter of Olton and Edgar Jeter of Hale Center. He is also survived by five half-sisters.

D. C. Wright, who lives northwest of Levelland, reports eleven big Rhode Island hens stolen from his place Monday night, of last week, two setting hens being taken from their nests.

"West Point of the Air" will be shown at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday.

Senator Duggan Endeavors To Get Tree Appropriation

Austin, May 8—Fate of the $2500 state appropriation to be used for tree nursery work at Lubbock, provided for in an amendment to Senate Bill No. 36, by Arthur P. Duggan, will be decided at the forthcoming free conference committee of members of both branches of the Legislature.

The appropriation, if approved by the free conference committee, undoubtedly will be matched by a $2,500 federal appropriation.

It is the policy of the U. S. Forest Service to cooperate with state forestry departments, but with no other state agencies. The tree nursery work at Lubbock will be in charge of Don L. Jones, superintendent of Texas Agricultural Experiment Station No. 8, working in connection with the State Forest Service.

"Object of the project is to find the trees that will grow best on the South Plains," Senator Duggan said, "and to get these trees, free, into the hands of the individual farmers. If the farmers plow around these trees, they will grow, and in a few years provide windbreaks. Numerous trees in a country, I believe, are greater defense against winds than a hedge or wall of trees, such as proposed in government tree shelter-belt, to run east of Lubbock."

"I am very interested in getting this appropriation through, for I think it is deeply important for our West Texas country."

At present time, the U. S. Forest Service is actively engaged in strengthening the state forestry departments in 40 states.

McAllen Enjoying Building Boom

McALLEN, Tex., May 8 (UP)—Building activities in McAllen are at the highest peak since 1929, due to growth of the city from oil activity.

McAllen is only 21 miles from the Samfordyce field and 27 miles from the Mercedes field.

Construction of new residences, new apartments and new store buildings is being rushed to handle the increased business.

Dr. Bradford Knapp To Deliver Address To Anton Seniors

Dr. Bradford Knapp of Tech college will deliver the commencement address to the Senior class of Anton High school Friday night, May 10.

The Baccalaureate services were held Sunday night, May 5, at 8 p. m., Rev. J. W. Partin delivering the sermon.

Eighteen pupils will be given their diplomas by Supt. Williams, which is the largest class that has been graduated from the Anton school. Following is a list of the graduates: Mary Horak, Essie Webb, Glenn Baker, Margie Webb, Gertrude Lewis, Mary Cox, Pauline Tucker, Lois Harris, Cora Mae Newton, Merle Squires, Don Matthews, Sarah Bailey, Robert Rutherford, E. C. Pettigrew, Almota Squires, Letha Faye Knight, Gladys Elkins, Royce Matthews.

The Grammar school exercises were held Thursday last, with Rev. Peterson, pastor of the local Methodist church, delivering the address.

"Growing Pains" Is Picked As Vehicle For Senior Play

"Growing Pains," a comedy, has been selected by Miss Lillian Hopping as the vehicle to be staged by the Senior class of Littlefield High school in the auditorium Wednesday and Thursday, May 15 and 16.

The story hinges on the joys and sorrows which make up adolescence and merrily portrays trials and tribulations of both generations in a family which includes a boy and girl of high school age.

Aurania Rouverol deftly intersperses a few shafts of genuine pathos into a story packed from the start with laughs, and replete with realism. A fuller measure of consideration of parents for their youngsters is apparently the moral lesson at but never brought into the open.

Rehearsals will begin immediately following selection of a cast, which is slated for sometime this week or early next. Miss Hopping will direct.

A high wind of last week caused the roof on the southwest corner of Littlefield High school building to become loose and rolled it up against the fire wall. ### LITTLEFIELD GRAMMAR SCHOOL PLAYGROUND BOYS RETURN FROM ANNUAL FROLIC

By James Landrum, Camp Scribe

The playground ball team of Littlefield Grammar school left here Saturday, April 26, at 7 o'clock for Palo Duro canyon. There were 33 boys and four teachers in the party.

We drove to Olton without a stop, but when we got there J. Lee Robbins and Spurgeon Mitchell wanted to entertain Olton so they got out on the corner of the main street and sang, "There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea." While this was taking place we missed Ben Lyman, Jr., and Buddy Weatherly, but we soon found them crawling on hands and knees down the street. Howard Gregory and Ben Lyman got in a hurry to get to the canyon so they left Olton duck walking. Phefel King held services in the middle of the street and preached a long sermon.

We drove on to Hart where we ate dinner. After we left there we drove to a country store and stopped to see the following events:

An ear biting contest by Pat Boone, Jr., and Ben Lyman and J. Lee Robbins and Rib Elms. Scrubbing noses on ground by Burl Cary and Howard Gregory. Dorward Yantis and Odell Pumphrey wanted to be called papa so they had an affair about it but neither one was successful.

After the above, we went on to Canyon, and the following went to the court house and sang songs; Pat Boone, Dorwood Yantis, Curtis Anderson, Odell Pumphrey, Howard Latimer, and Eldridge Eagan. Their favorite was, "Froggie Went A Courtin'." J. Lee Robbins and Spurgeon Mitchell had to sing their favorite about the hole in the sea. Cloise Foust crawled in a store and was mistaken for a little dog and kicked in the ribs. Huel Duffy was found duck walking down the street and quacking like a duck to amuse himself.

We left Canyon about 2:00 o'clock and drove out to the canyon entrance. The boys had to walk down the steep part of the rim road but we arrived at our camping grounds about 3:00 o'clock. We immediately went to a sand bar in the creek bed and fought for two hours without stopping.

When we got through fighting we went hiking. We went in a cave on the side of a mountain and came out on the other side in a canyon with sides almost straight up. We had a contest to see who could climb out. Four at a time would try and when one got about half way up

To protect your car fully, your motor oil must do two things:

1. It must be on duty during the starting period!

More than half of all motor wear occurs in the five minutes after you start, because straight mineral oils drain away, leaving parts dry. Even in warm weather your motor makes at least a thousand revolutions before the quickest-flowing oil can reach all parts.

Only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil cuts down costly starting wear. It is the only oil that penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a "Hidden Quirt" that never drains away. Your motor is lubricated before you touch the starter! You know your motor is protected!

2. It must withstand unusual driving stresses!

Cars built in 1932 and since have greatly increased power and speed. Bearing pressures and crankcase temperatures have increased in proportion. Flashing pick-up and high speeds make it necessary to have an oil with enough extra oiliness and film strength to withstand the increased load.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil protects modern motors better because it has 2 to 4 times the film strength of any oil not Germ Processed! It maintains this high film strength at high temperatures. Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Germ Processed Oil and get full protection for your motor!

"Motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had 10 years ago. Many new refining methods now used to make oils free from carbon and sludge have lowered instead of increased oiliness and film strength, the very qualities on which depends an oil's lubricating value! Germ Processed Oil is free from carbon and sludge troubles. But more important, the Germ Process puts into it 2 to 4 times the film strength of straight mineral oil, as Timken machine tests have proved!"

"Conoco men everywhere were respectful and courteous. Anybody taking a trip should apply at a Conoco Station for this free Conoco Travel Bureau service."

the bank would start crumbling and he would go back to the bottom. Each contestant tried to climb the wall and keep the others from climbing it. Sometimes two or three would get about thirty feet high and start fighting, then both of them would come down at top speed, carrying anyone who was below them as they went. Roy Dow, Jr., Hallmark and I were the only ones to get over the top. Then we went on through the cave to camp. Each group cooked their own supper and washed their own dishes. After supper we built a huge camp fire and sat around it and sang songs. The squad was put on guard duty in thirty minute shifts of two boys to the shift. This went on all night. We went to bed about ten o'clock. But Phefel King got up on a bluff and threw rocks down on us till we could not even stay in bed let alone sleep. We caught him at 12 o'clock and had his trial for throwing rocks but we had a bum prosecutor and could not convict Phefel. We went to bed at 1:30 a. m. only to be used as a side walk by the night watchman. We had to get up again at 4 a. m. to carry in fire wood for the camp fire. We just stayed up, all but Mr. Haynes, who got plenty of sleep from 4 a. m. to 4:15 a. m. Mr. Layfield, Brice Cook and Dorwood Yantis did not have anyone to take care of them and they all lost their coats. We cooked breakfast about 5:30 Sunday morning and then played ball. We had to dive head first on first base or were out. James Elms team won the game. We started on a hike about 8 o'clock and when we had walked about an hour, Odell Pumphrey and Duane Cornett and Johnny Lippard and Dorwood Yantis fought while we rested. We returned to camp at 11 o'clock. We had a football game with no boundary and no rules before we cooked dinner. We packed our bedding and loaded the truck about 12:45. Mr. Hanes, Mr. Layfield and Mr. Bryant walked out of the canyon with us and when we got out on top they were willing to walk along without bothering anybody. We went through the park museum and saw petrified bones and teeth of animals. They also had some buffalo skulls, a petrified hen and eggs, lots of arrow heads and other formations. We left the canyon and drove to Canyon where we had to stop to get Mr. Hanes an ice cream cone but that didn't take long so we drove on to Hart. As we left Hart, Loyd Bstick's trial for leaving camp Saturday night was started. He was found not guilty. Melvin Thornton was then tried for moving his bed and was found not guilty. Phefel King was then tried for tearing a cap bill off Eagan's head. De was found guilty and sentenced to dance and sing on up the street and also put the cap bill back on. We got into Littlefield about 6:30 Sunday afternoon and every one was ready to go home and t bed without any loafing. Even Cloise Faust did have to be told to be home. The most cooperative boys during the trip were: Jessie New and Aubrey Landrum. Boy who took most punishment, Ben Lyman. Boy to furnish most fun on trip, Cloise Foust. J. Lee Robbins and Spurgeon Mitchell were the chief songbirds and Phefel King was the preacher. The four best sports were: Dorwood Yantis, Aubrey Landrum, Buddy Weatherly and last but not least Pat Boone Jr.

Responsible For Bluebonnet Being Texas State Flower

VICTORIA, Tex., May 8 (UP)—Texas' bluebonnet covered hills this spring call to mind the story of how the cotton blossom, instead of the bluebonnet, almost became the state flower of Texas.

It was Vice President John N. Garner, then a member of the Texas House of Representatives, who waged the unsuccessful battle to have the cotton blossom named the state flower in recognition of the importance of cotton to Texas.

Judge John M. Green of Cuero led the winning fight to have the bluebonnet named.

FOR RELIEF WORKERS
By J. B. Maddeux

Ho, all of you, that's on relief, There's naught to worry, nor cause us grief.

No stock to feed nor hogs to slop, Nor do we have to make a crop.

There's naught to do, but eat and sleep, And get our "dough" once a week. No chickens for the thieves to steal, Nor blasted hogs to grunt and squeal.

No cards to call us, but to work, So God be praised, no job to shirk. Our job, I think, is just complete. It's eat and sleep, eat and sleep.

And in the future, we may look To get our grub, already cooked. This kindness also, may be shone To bring the stuff right to our home.

Ungrateful wretches, we must be For this great hospitality. If we don't see the good in this, It's plain that we are pessimists.

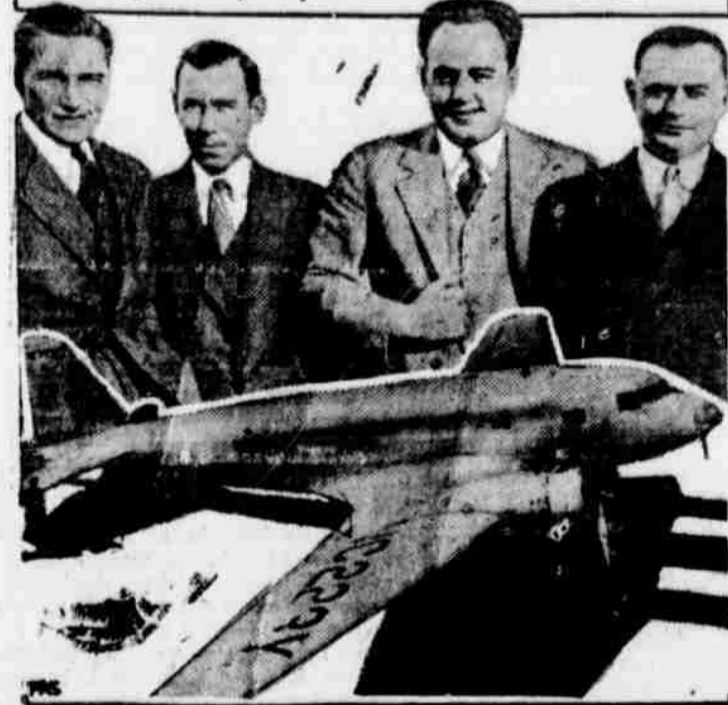

No cows to milk, no cash to spend. It's ours to get, and naught to lend. There's not a thing that we can find, To bring a worry to our mind.

There's not a cent of tax to pay. No one to dun us, any day. Oh happy people, we are, hence, We should thank God that we've no sense.

Bengal Lancer Film Takes 4 Years to Make

Perhaps the most ambitious and costly spectacle that Hollywood has ever attempted, Paramount's "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" has at last been screened and comes to the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, May 19 and 20, after four years of unremitting effort in its production.

Featuring Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing in the principal roles, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is a stirring, colorful and action-packed story of the exploits and adventures of England's Colonial soldiers in India.

The author, Francis Yeats-Brown, was himself an officer of the Lancers, while Achmed Abdullah, film adapter, and four British army officers served as technical advisers during the production of the film.

The story of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is that of the extraordinary bravery, discipline and skill that has enabled a mere handful of English officers to hold sway over the teeming millions of India. Cooper is a captain of the 41st Bengal Lancers, commanded by Sir Guy Standing, when Sir Guy's son, played by Richard Cromwell, arrives as a raw recruit.

Cooper and Tone, also an officer of the regiment, take over the training of the young lad, but, on a visit to an adjoining province, Cromwell becomes involved with a beautiful girl and is kidnapped by Mohammed Khan, a hostile leader, who hopes that his father will pursue him and thus lead the Lancers to disaster.

Cooper and Tone follow and are caught when they attempt to free Cromwell. Under torture, Cromwell discloses the whereabouts of a tremendous cargo of ammunition. Mohammed Khan captures the ammunition, brings it back to the fortress and prepares to lead a revolution against the British.

The Bengal Lancers ride on the fortress, prepared to face destruction until reinforcements can arrive. The needless sacrifice is prevented by Cooper, who, by a daring maneuver, single-handedly destroys the fortress, effects the release of the prisoners, and saves the Bengal Lancers.

Directed by Henry Hathaway, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" has had more than four thousand players in its cast during the four years of production. Monte Blue, Douglas Dumbrille, Kathleen Burke, C. Aubrey Smith, Colin Tapley and Akim Tamiroff appear in the supporting cast.

A high British source, close to the air ministry—said Friday Britain must spend $24,000,000 ($116,000,000) for 600 fighting planes if she is to fulfill the government's pledge to maintain air equality with Germany.

FARM DELEGATES READY FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

NTY FARMERS TRIBUTE CASH PAY EXPENSES

Eight Communities and Littlefield To Send Men

Men representing nine Lamb county farm associations and Littlefield Chamber of Commerce will entrain Sunday with 600 other Texas farmers for Washington, D. C., to voice the sentiments of the state's crop producers on the AAA program.

The trip is part of a federal AAA invitation extended farmers all over the nation to come to Washington May 14-15.

W. H. Cunningham and Millard Phillips will be delegates of the Littlefield Farm association. A man to represent the Littlefield booster group had not been selected last week, but was expected to be named early this week.

From Amberst will go Vincent Peterman. P. E. Boesen will represent Sudan. Olton's tripster will be L. Y. Jeffries. Fieldton will send Oscar Woody. Spade's delegate will be J. R. Kuykendall. R. R. Fulfer will go from Hart Camp. Mr. Cle-enger is the choice of the Earth-Spring Lake association for the journey.

In a "Farmer's Call to Arms" mailed to every section of Texas, C. H. Matthews, secretary of the state cotton advisory committee, urged that at least one man, or more if possible, should go from each county.

"Over $88,000,000 has been paid to Texas farmers in rental and benefit payments during the past two years, and $630,000,000 in all, has gone to the nation's farmers," declared Mr. Matthews in part. Lamb county's share was $3,480,000.

The processing taxes, which go to offset the high protective tariff industry has enjoyed for more than fifty years, have made this possible since the government undertook three years ago to put agriculture on an equal footing with industry, Mr. Matthews pointed out.

"Special interests," he said, "are fighting the whole program by attempting to kill the processing taxes, and by preventing the passage of a group of AAA amendments, designed to improve and strengthen the program."

Said H. G. Lucas, of Brownwood, president of the state agricultural association, "It is my hope that every community organization will get solidly behind this movement, and see to it that our agricultural interests are preserved by our Government."

A special train will be operated from Texas on the schedule of the Missouri-Pacific Lines, Texas and Pacific, the "Sunshine," and the Big 4 C. & O. train, "George Washington." This train leaves Texas Sunday, May 12, and arrives in the capitol city Tuesday at 9 a. m. Returning, the train will leave Washington at 6:01 p. m. Wednesday, and will be back in Texas Friday.

The train will be assembled at Fort Worth for North and West Texas passengers, and will be joined at Longview Junction by delegates from South Texas. First class standard Pullman equipment and dining and lounge cars will be provided to comfortably carry 1,000, should that many go.

Total expense of the trip, according to Mr. Matthews, will average about $75 per person, and should not exceed $100 for those from the most distant points.

Reservations, which were to close Sunday, called for a $14 deposit. Special rates will be given for meals on the diner. Meals in Washington will be taken off the train, but passengers will sleep on the Pullman while in Washington.

"Every possible effort has been made to hold the expense of this trip to a minimum, and the railroads have given us wonderful cooperation but the expense of this trip is a very insignificant matter compared with the benefits involved," declared Mr. Matthews in his letter.

SLUMBERING GOLD

SECOND INSTALLMENT
SYNOPSIS: Strange friends they were—young Ed Maitland, whose fathers had followed the sea from New England, but who had started north to make his fortune when the first news of the Yukon gold find in '97 found him stranded on the Pacific coast; and Speed Malone, who told little enough of his past but admitted to a knowledge of all the gold camps. With ten dollars—half of Maitland's total wealth—Speed went into a game of Solo, and seems to be winning.

Maitland knew nothing of the game but was fascinated by the movement of his companion's hands while dealing. The fingers that moved so supple over the keys of an accordion, seemed to lure music of another kind from the smooth cards, as he rifled and snapped them into place and shot them out with clean precision, dropping the last of the round and the three cards of the widow almost in one gesture.

He won the next bid with a heart solo. This time his opponents did not conceal their conviction that the gamble was unsound. But before they had recovered from their certainty, he had made his point by a shrewd handling of low cards. The sweet singers took a firmer grip on their cigars and settled into the game.

Stakes began to climb. Frog bids vanished. Onlookers edged in from other groups to watch the play—among them a burly red-faced man who stood obscurely at the rim of the circle with his eyes fixed intently on Speed's face and hands. The gambler remained calm and composed as a deacon, playing good hands and bad with equal devoutness—or rather making bad ones good, for the cards were running hard against him.

"Wouldn't surprise me a whole lot to hear you'd played this game before," the man declared, as he lit a cigar before picking up a new hand.

Speed was busy arranging his cards and did not answer. When he raised his eyes it was in a preoccupied way in Maitland's direction, but they rested instead on someone else in the crowd. One of his eyes flickered slightly, as if to evade a wreath of cigarette smoke. From the gold he had collected, he transferred two handfuls to his pockets. The remainder of the pile he pushed out to center. "This stack says I don't take a trick," he observed. "I'm goin' 'misere'."

Had Maitland been watching closely, he would have noticed a slight shifting on the part of the red-faced man among the spectators. He might have remembered that skill in this game was one of the few identifying traits of the bandit, Buck Solo—if he had not believed the bandit to be a captive in the Okanagans. He might have noticed, too, that in a lazy upward glance that seemed to take cognizance of nothing, this fact had been caught

"Off Port Townsend," the man said, without turning.

The boy stood by the rail awhile, eyeing the dim froth of water below, and that gray essence of things unseen and unforeseen through which the steamer was cleaving her blinded course.

He was not conscious of a contradiction in his advice to the Westerner about gambling, though it ran deeper than his mere presence on the George E. Starr. Men of his name and blood had raced for cargoes in the days of the clipper ships, and later plunged the winnings into deep-bottomed carriers—to lose them and registered by the man under observation. But no one's attention is sharpened by watching a game he does not understand, and Maitland's interest had begun to stray. He elbowed his way out of the circle to ramble over the ship.

A dark wavering in the shaft of light that fell into the cabin from the cockpit caused him to look up.

Most of the passengers having chosen a position amidships, he found that the crowd thinned as he went forward of the main cabin. At the forward rail a lookout stood alone, peering into the blanket of mist ahead. They were now in the outer waters of the Sound; the traffic had dwindled and the hooting of sirens was muffled in far distance.

"How does she lie?" he asked the lookout.

finally in wilder games of chance with the sea. His father had gone down in a storm with two of their ships. This tragedy had caused his mother's death when he was born. The remnant of the original stakes left in play had been involved by a defect in the underwriting of the lost cargoes.

His earliest memory was of a small schooner which his grandfather had managed to salvage out of the general wreck. From the old man he had learned, along with a knowledge of ships and water. After his grandfather's death, he had found employment with a firm of underwriters agents, reporting on wrecks and salvage. It had led him into the study of admiralty law—a vocation his sea-going fathers would not have admired.

He was sent west to investigate a wreck off the Farrallones, near San Francisco—his first important commission. But he found the owners in a position rather like that of his own people when they crashed. His sympathy and the rights of the case were with the stranded adventurers as against the bankers. He had wired a report as fair to both sides as he could make it.

The return wire had virtually accused him of being bought by the owners. In a gust of anger he had resigned, though the whole structure of his plans went foundering on that reef. He was unwilling to return home till he had regained his footing, but his career was not an easy wreck to salvage.

Jobless, and with his small capital dwindling, he had been roving the wharves of that misty western port of adventure when the news of the gold strike on Bonanza Creek burst on the world like a rocket—promising him a means of recovering more than he had lost.

"If you wasn't a gambler, Bud . . ." Something the Westerner had said recurred to him now. He had been careful in buying his outfit, weighing the value of every purchase against his resources. His having drawn a passage on this derelict side-wheeler was a queer mischance, but he believed the old tub was a little stancher than she looked. Whether it was a wild gamble depended rather, he thought, on himself.

The pistol shot that cut the thread of his reverie came from the region of the ship where he had left his pack. As he turned, he obtained a sheer view of the ship's side, and saw, sharply outlined in the fog, the figure of a burly, red-faced man who was peering over the rail with a smoking revolver in his hand.

Someone touched his elbow. "Man shot your pardner," a voice said. "He's overboard."

He picked up the words on the wing and shredded them for sense. A handful of cards held by one of the watchers at the rail gave him the inkling of an answer. A gambler's quarrel—quick fingers not quick enough—a shot, a rush . . . ? He had often seen men take that plunge for much less, but this man?

Heads were craned back toward the blank space the ship was leaving. "Wounded? Probably not much of a swimmer, if he came from inland. The boats would be slow . . ."

Maitland's leap from the rail was so swift that the engines were not reversed for a minute after he dived. When he came to the surface, hardly knowing in that gray murk whether he was breathing fog or sea, the steamer was out of sight. Unable to see through the blur of spray and fog, he paused to listen for a cry. Relaxing was an effort; the cold brine had teeth of fire. Soon he caught a splashing sound not far ahead. Swiftly as he went, the sound receded. He stopped again. Hearing a sound once more, he shouted.

There was no answer, and he kept on, losing count of the space he was putting between himself and the steamer. The gambler, if the sound he heard was his swimming, might either be trying to make his way ashore, or might have lost his bearings in the fog. It seemed more probable that he had drowned.

He hated to tread the water in the icy swell and shouted. The cry rasped in his throat. This time he seemed to hear an answer, but in the same instant his body was pierced by a searing stab. The muscles of his back twisted in a paralyzing knot that stopped his breath. Though the cramp was unbearably, he fought it with every reserve of will, as it dragged him down, impotent, into shadowed, swirling freezing depths. His lungs heaved; drums roared in his ears; his heart seemed to wedge in his throat.

Shadows dissolved around him into misty daylight. Something was supporting him, choked and numb, on the summit of a swaying world of waters, and he heard a voice saying between breaths:

"Well, I'll be doggone. So it's you . . . you enery young son of a sea dog. Last dive most got me . . . winded . . . Reckoned you was the deputy."

Even the sight of the gambler's dripping face failed to make this clear.

"Don't figure I could swim yo ashore," the voice continued. "And I'm loosed if I call that boat." Yet this was exactly what Maitland heard him do a few moments later, but there was no answer.

Maitland knew too well the disadvantage of a buoy as a refuge for drowning men in a fog. Passing ships give it as wide a berth as possible. With this thought he realized the full irony of what had happened. His attempted rescue was worse than useless; he was actually dragging down the man he had tried to save. That final detail struck him as unfair.

He tried to wrench himself free. But though the gambler's hold wavered, he could not loosen it. When he struggled to speak the arm only gripped him tighter. Then everything was drenched in a fantastic ether, through which floated images of boyhood things long forgotten, and he sank into a billowing haze of darkness.

He was recalled to semi-consciousness for the last time by what sounded like a cry from the other; then he heard waves slapping against the hollow prow of a small boat, and the familiar creak and thump of oarlocks.

When he opened his eyes, the gambler was sitting at a table with a steaming cup in one hand and a cigarette in the other, watching him. He found himself swathed in blankets in a dim enclosure. The floor rolled slightly and at first he did not know whether he was dizzy or at sea.

Before he had time to observe more, the gambler was handing him a cupful of hot wine with the cheerful suggestion:

"Hoist yourself around this."

The drink helped clear his head. "Where's the steamer?" he asked.

"Hell and gone by now," said Speed, watching the boy's face darken and then light again with an illusory hope.

Maitland stretched himself painfully. "Whose boat is this?"

"Some frog fisherman from Seattle was headin' for the halibut banks when the fog stopped him. He pulled in close to the buoy to be clear of the shippin' track. Now he says he'll take us ashore when he gets a wind. Don't reckon he'll get one for a piece, but it won't hurt ye none to thaw a while."

A dark wavering in a shaft of light that fell into the cabin from the cockpit caused him to look up. Through the aperture two heavy sea boots came into view, followed by a pair of corduroy trousers, a blue, close-fitting jersey with shrunken sleeves and a plump and swarthy face, bluish around the chin where the beard was shaven and topped by a black cap with a shining visor.

"How does she blow, Boss?" asked Speed, as the man entered.

"Ze win' he draw ver' slow. I tek you ashore, feefteen dollar. Non?"

"No," was the gambler's comment. "With the price of wheat up this way I reckon where we set."

The fisherman sprayed his feebles' one, two, three, and he added in a quieter tone: "Go on, you horse head! answered good naturedly. got chuck enough in this ride us to the fishbanks and it wouldn't cost you no lars. How'er, we ain't no Seattle, or fishin, neither."

Romance of Coffee

at time and circumstance the first use of coffee as a beverage shrouded in mystery. In fact, there are many theories about the early drinking of coffee, but perhaps the one most generally accepted runs something like this:

A venerable doctor-priest named Omar, of the city of Mocha, in Arabia, committed some indiscretions in his private life, and for his offence the ruler banished Omar to the interior. Food was scarce and the doctor nearly starved. He found some wild goats eating coffee berries that had fallen from a certain kind of bush, and when they became frisky and about like young kids, he gathered up some of the berries and stewed them in a pot, making the decoction, and immediately the pangs of hunger subsided and he felt revived.

Coffee As Food

After he subsisted largely on coffee, he grew from the coffee berries, until a party of his friends, searching the hills for him, found him. He gave them some of the brew and they liked it. They carried a quantity of the berries back to Mocha where they created a sensation. The ruler of the city sent out and brought Omar home under a full pardon, and when he died, it is said he was canonized as a saint.

The gathering of the coffee and the drinking of the brew went on apace in the city of Mocha and spread throughout the Mohamedan areas.

Eventually some one, possibly Helen of Troy, carried the brew to Rome; but the early Christian Church opposed its use. The drinking of coffee was condemned and it was dominated a "devil's drink."

However, Pope Clementine, hearing of the beverage, decided to investigate for himself. He had some coffee served to him. He was delighted with it and is said to have exclaimed, "Isn't it a pity the Devil should have a monopoly on anything so good. We'll baptize it and make it a truly Christian drink." And he did.

Use Of Coffee Spreads

The consumption of coffee then spread through Austria, Germany, to England and to the Scandinavian countries. Many interesting incidents are connected with this new habit. A king's ransom was once paid in coffee. A treaty of peace was once made between Austria and one of its enemies on the basis that the victors would take coffee in payment of all indemnities.

The Coffee House as a meeting place became a feature of the artistic and literary life of London. It was in a London Coffee House The Spectator was born and Addison, Steele, Samuel Johnson and others of their group met and discussed many matters.

In the United States, Coffee Houses flourished in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Some became world famous. It was in these Coffee Houses in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, that the leaders of the early Colonies gathered for discussions, and it was in these meeting places, over their cups of coffee, that the most important state papers of the Colonies and the United States, such as the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the preliminary draft of the Constitution were written.

In 1632, a Captain Matthew DeClieu of France, on his way to a post of duty in the island of Martinique, carried a coffee plant from the Royal Gardens in Paris. The ship was becalmed and DeClieu shared his small daily ration of water with his precious coffee plant, keeping it alive and planting it on his arrival at Martinique. From this plant came the start of the now world famous plantations in Mexico, Central America and Brazil.

The growth of the coffee industry in the Western Hemisphere has been enormous. Nations to the south of us gather much of the revenue to maintain their governments from that industry.

The people of the United States constitute the best and largest market for the coffee growers of those Southern neighbors, and coffee is destined to be the bond that will bind the peoples of the Western World together in firm friendship.

The Duncan Coffee Company of Houston is a good customer of many of the leading shippers and coffee merchants in South America, Central America and Mexico, and their popular brands, Admiration and Bright & Early Coffees, are made up of the finest coffees grown on carefully selected plantations in those countries. Coffee is America's favorite beverage—and Admiration and Bright & Early are Texas' favorite coffees.

Appreciating the greater food value in fresh coffee, the makers of Admiration Coffee have developed a fast motor truck delivery system that puts oven fresh coffee on every grocer's shelf every seven days, and now, to keep coffee fresh longer, they are packing the coffee under vacuum in glass jars.

Every housewife has a laudable desire to be a perfect hostess. * The perfect hostess must know about foods, their selection, preparation and serving. * The Cooking School sponsored by this newspaper is a source of this knowledge * Ladies who attend the school will learn about the perfect cup of coffee, how to make it and how to serve it. * The lecturer uses and recommends Admiration Coffee, of course. That is the fine, winey blend that pleases the palates of more people than any other blend, because it is scientifically blended, of the world's choicest coffee beans, roasted just right and packed in a way to preserve its freshness. * You can now get Admiration Coffee, vacuum packed in glass jars (the most efficient commercial vacuum yet attained in any kind of container). Ask your grocer to stock Admiration packed that way if he does not have it on his shelves. * The lecturer at the Cooking School will tell you about the advantages of using coffee, vacuum packed in glass jars, and the dozens of uses of the jars that are so easy to open and easy to close, after the coffee has been used up. * For those who prefer a mild, mellow cup, Bright & Early Coffee, at a few cents less per pound, makes a delightful cup.

DOCTOR TOLD HER HOW TO LOSE 17 POUNDS OF FAT

Gossipers Peeved

Mrs. Robert Hickey of Roseville, Okla., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no way to reduce—envious women who don't like to see others youthfully slim. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Get a jar of Kruschen today (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle) and if you don't lose 12 lbs. and feel years younger and healthier—money back. Simply take half spoonful in cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added.) Madden's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Morton Child Killed Instantly

Monday evening, April 22, Irvin, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hudson, was instantly killed by a truck in front of his home eight miles northwest of Morton.

The child and other playmates were playing with a clay ball that the little fellow had made, and during the play some one had thrown the ball into the road. The child is reported to have been so intent on retrieving the ball that he ran in front of the truck and was run over.

The truck was a long coupled, six-wheel affair and was heavily loaded. When the driver discovered what was happening he pulled into the bar pit in an effort to avoid striking the child and succeeded in missing him with the front wheels but the back wheels caught the little fellow and crushed his to death.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Jack Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church of Morton.

MRS. TUCKER'S SHORTENING SELECTED FOR USE AT LEADER COOKING SCHOOL; 100% COTTON SEED OIL PRODUCT

Mrs. Tucker's Shortening was chosen for the Cooking School primarily because it is a 100 per cent cottonseed oil product.

Being made exclusively from choice cottonseed oil, Mrs. Tucker's Shortening serves the Southwestern housewives in two distinct ways. First, cottonseed oil has been proven by government and scientific tests to be the best and most digestible agent known. Second, every pound of cottonseed oil consumed helps the market for cotton and cottonseed produced in the southwest.

As it takes the cottonseed from about one tenth of an acre to produce a four pound pail or carton of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, housewives in this section can readily understand the importance of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening to the southwest which produces more cotton than any other section of the world its size.

The Interstate Cotton Oil Refining Company at Sherman, Texas, buys the choicest cottonseed oil from all parts of the Southwest; refines it and super-refines it; then creams and triple creams it into pure, white and fluffy Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, which is easy to use in the kitchen and easy to digest. The triple creaming process appeals to housewives because it delivers Mrs. Tucker's Shortening so finely textured and silky smooth that it does not have to be creamed unless the housewife desires.

Other qualities of this shortening which appeal to good cooks are the facts that its cartons are air tight inner sealed with cellophane; it will not pop or spatter when used for frying; and it is economical because it goes farther.

Mrs. Tucker says that no matter how cheap inferior oils and fats may become, her shortening will never be adulterated—it will be pure cotton seed oil.

Retail Deliveries Of Ford Trucks 116 Percent Over 1934

Dearborn, Mich., May 8—Active buying throughout the country of motor transport units for industrial, mercantile and agricultural uses is reflected by a comparison of sales of truck and commercial car units in the first quarter of 1935 with sales in the same period last year, it was stated today at the offices of the Ford Motor Company.

According to reports received from the 34 Ford branches throughout the United States, retail deliveries of Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars in the first three months were up 116 per cent over the volume recorded in the first quarter of 1934. Retail deliveries of these units totaled 53,167 units against 24,564 in the same period last year. Truck sales were reported up 138 per cent.

The active demand for transport units is disclosed by the latest compilations of official registrations, it was said. Sales of trucks and commercial cars of all makes in February, the latest figures available for the country at large, totaled 34,797 units, compared with 24,476 units sold in February, 1934, an increase of more than 42 per cent.

The increase in sales of Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars was 121.9 per cent, this increase topping the list of the leading truck manufacturers. Other leading producers showed increases ranging from 47.6 per cent down to 9.2 per cent.

RAMBLING AROUND NEW YORK

With HUGH KENNY

Warm Sundays, the new zoo in Central Park is besieged by thousands. It is educational, no doubt, for human beings to make the rounds and look at caged animals pacing up and down in their confining spaces, but it always seems a little cruel that their space is so limited. The sea lions are the only animals that seem really content to me, as they dive and bark and show off in their big pool of water.

Suburbanites of New York talk of gardens and seed catalogues at this time of year, and the flower show held at Grand Central Palace each year gives them new inspiration to dig and plant. When hot days arrive, subordinates will get back at Manhattanites for all the kidding they took about delays in transportation during the winter. They'll ask them how they breathe stuffy Manhattan air 24 hours a day without collapsing.

Sub-let advertisements begin to appear in New York want-ad sections this time of year, when Manhattanites plan on getting out of town for the summer. . . . Boat yards in Brooklyn, City Island and up on the Harlem River get busy "fitting out" the yachts of the wealthy and near-wealthy for the summer sailing season. Roller skates buzz down sidewalks, and summer rains are forecast by April showers.

Eavesdropping on a Fifth Avenue bus: "And my dear, you wouldn't believe it, he sleeps in a bureau drawer."

At first nights on Broadway an occasional huzzah and cheer is supplementing the usual polite applause these days.

A dancer who competes with Sally Rand in New York dances in the dark—but her body glows with a luminous paint. Publicity agents say she comes from Europe. Her birth certificate says, "Brooklyn."

A sporting goods house in New York sells a preparation for dogs with fleas. Put it in the middle of the dog's back in a little spot about an inch in diameter and the fleas presumably crawl to it, curl up and die!

Gourmets in New York relish the rather rare smoked turkey exclusive restaurants import from Texas. So tender, it is said, that even the skin is good—either hot or cold.

A New York man about town gives such roaring parties that the neighbors call his apartment house Tumult Terrace.

A scout reports that if you are in the middle of the preparation of dinner, and find a recipe missing, you can call Oscar of the Waldorf and one of his chefs will give you specific directions. Next day he'll send you a recipe in the mail.

"Panic," the verse drama of Archibald MacLish, was presented to Broadway in three performances purely as an experiment. Set on the evening when banks were crashing in 1933, "Panic" told the grim story that fate, immutable rule of the gods to whom there is no appeal—these were the causes of the collapse of industry. And he tells it in verse that one reviewer describes as "terse beauty."

"The Green Pastures" played the 1673rd performance almost as usual—even though that morning De Lawd—their beloved Richard B. Harrison, lay dead. The 87 negroes of the cast loved him, respected him, revered him, for the kindness he revealed in this characterization of De Lawd on the stage was the same kindness they knew was truly a part of him. There were tears that night, but the hardest performance they ever gave would have pleased Richard B. Harrison.

When Max Baer decided he wanted his shoes (size 13 E, if you please) put into a shoe trunk for travelling, he decided on an expensive special order. For it had to be made considerably larger than the usual luggage and set him back, it is reported, one hundred and fifty bucks!

A striking looking man with a full Van Dyke beard boarded my subway car, dressed to the ears. I've been trying to figure out ever since whether he was that Madison Avenue mail man I've seen—out of uniform.

Records Smashed By Flying Standard Stock Hudson Sedan

Thirty-five AAA records were smashed by a flying standard stock Hudson sedan at Muroc Dry Lake, California recently when three internationally known racing drivers, driving in relays, kept the accelerator pedal to the floor and drove around a five mile circle at a rate faster than any closed stock car has ever been driven for like distances. Not only did thirty-two Class C, displacement records go by the boards, but in addition unlimited displacement records for 1,000 miles, 2,000 kilometers and 12 hours also fell by the boards. Even the records set last February by Sir Malcolm Campbell at Daytona Beach, Florida, in the same make and type car, could not stand the assault. Ever since the early days of the automobile, Muroc Dry Lake, one of the geological wonders of the west, has been used for speed tests. Over this silt formation, which for millions of years has been forming at the base of the Sierras adjacent to the Great Mojave Desert, Wilbur Shaw, Babe Strapp and Al Gordon, heroes of many a speedway encounter, drove the Hudson stock eight Sedan for an entirely new series of records. Distances from 1 to 1000 miles, from 1 to 3000 kilometers and time intervals of from 1 to 12 hours were traversed at speeds ranging from 1 to 10 miles an hour faster than ever before in closed cars of similar piston displacement.

Muroc Dry Lake, forty miles in area, dead level, is a race track that lends itself to speed trials, although the hundred miles at this point begin to form. In spite of 3000 kilometer record set from 75.2 up to 84.5 miles. The one mile record of 1934 was broken when the set a new record for the mile of 92.7 miles an hour and a mile record was pushed up to 93.02 miles per hour.

ELECTROLUX

THE SERVEL GAS REFRIGERATOR

EVERYBODY'S talking about the new beauty of Electrolux! And here's why it's so appealing. American women themselves helped choose the design from scores of models submitted by one of America's foremost artists.

You'll find the 1935 Air-Cooled Electrolux is a winner for beauty—and for important worthwhile advantages. Thanks to its simpler, more efficient operating principle, Electrolux costs little to run. It's silent, too . . . naturally and permanently silent! Electrolux has no moving parts to cause noise, become noisy. No moving parts, either, to wear.

And consider this: Electrolux actually pays for itself with its big savings. Savings on operating cost. Savings on food bills. Savings on depreciation. Before deciding on any refrigerator, it will pay to investigate and inspect the beautiful new Electrolux carefully. Examine its many modern conveniences that will lighten your kitchen work and give you more leisure hours. Learn all the facts about this modern gas refrigerator that thousands acclaim "the best looking refrigerator of them all!"

"I am thoroughly familiar with the ELECTROLUX and I recommend it very highly"—Said Mrs. Johnetta Howard who will conduct the Happy Kitchen School of Cookery.

Edinburg Farmers Hope to Produce 10 Foot Cotton

EDINBURG, Texas, May 9 (UP)—Farmers in this area await the appearance of a new variety of cotton which is said to grow to a height of 10 feet and produce an extra long fibre. It is known as "Aztec" cotton.

Seedlings already have sprouted, but they have not developed sufficiently to enable farmers to determine the nature of the plant. Approximately 30 farmers have planted acreage in the new variety.

The "Aztec" seed is rare and Edinburg growers are under contract to return all seed from the 1935 crop to the original owners.

According to reports, the seed was found in an Indian cave in Colorado. The discoverer planted the seed and was amazed to find that the stalks grew 10 feet tall.

Dalhart Citizens Believe Fireworks Will Bring Moisture

DALHART, Tex., May 8 (UP)—Frank Machotka, farmer living near Dalhart, uncorked a big bottle of argument recently when he suggested that bombing might cause rain.

Rain there was in abundance at Ware, 15 miles northwest of Dalhart, last summer because there was so much dynamiting in the caliche pits, he believes. He also pointed to the downpours in France during the war when there was an almost continuous bombing and shelling going on.

Others point to the fact that the Ware community last summer held a prayer meeting for rain one Saturday afternoon. Several of the participants got stuck in the mud before they could reach their rural homes, some of them not many miles away.

Still others maintain that the rains at Ware were merely weather vagaries.

On the other hand, Mrs. H. A. Boland, Dalhart, recalled that in Cook county, Texas, eight years ago, the weather was extremely dry. Then on July 4 some $750 worth of fireworks were discharged at a celebration.

"As I recall," she said, "there wasn't even a cloud in sight. But the next day a rainy spell set in."

Mrs. Hattie Hammond, Dalhart, said that when she lived in Oklahoma rain always fell after the soldiers at Fort Sill practiced heavy artillery.

Machotka, acting for others who believe bombing may cause rain, have contacted Tex Thornton, noted oil well shooter of Amarillo, with a view to conferring with him on the subject. The meeting will be held either here or in Amarillo.

Black Hen Broth Cures Hiccoughs

BEAUMONT, Tex., May 8 (UP)—Hiccoughers needn't suffer long from violent, nerve-wracking spasms, P. W. Gillespie, 75, who suffered them himself, advises.

He was exhausted after four days of violent hiccoughing. Medical aid failed to give him relief and his family appealed to the public for home remedies.

Responses came from Louisiana and Oklahoma by the hundreds. One person telephoned from Kansas City.

The remedies included: Press ears against head for two minutes; hold tongue out for a minute; drink water through linen handkerchief; place brown paper bag over face for five minutes; drink pineapple juice; hold head back and swallow slowly; drink milk of magnesia; turn backward somersault; take flight in airplane.

An unknown sympathizer telegraphed from Ada, Okla., that Gillespie drink "black hen broth." He did and the attacks became intermittent and soon stopped.

Gillespie said he would always be grateful to that little black hen.

REFERENDUM ON WHEAT TO BE VOTED ON

All Farmers Eligible Are Urged By County Agent To Vote

"Wheat farmers of Lamb county will have an opportunity to vote on May 25 to express their opinion as desired as to whether or not they care for a future wheat program," states D. A. Adam, county agent.

"Farmers who are eligible to vote are all farmers who have a wheat contract or are eligible for a wheat contract, regardless of whether they had one from 1933 to 1935 or not.

Meetings will be held under the supervision of the County Allotment Committee and County Agent on May 20 at Springlake school house at 8 p. m.; at Olton, District court room on May 21 at 8 p. m.; and at Spade school house on May 22 at 8 p. m. Voting boxes for those eligible to vote will be located at Drug Store at Earth, Court House at Olton, Dents Garage at Center and the County Agent's office south of the sand hills.

In an interview with Mr. Adam, he stated: "This referendum will effect the entire A. A. A. and all farmers who have an eligible wheat base which included the years 1930 through 1932 should make it a point to vote regardless of what the vote might be. The Secretary of the Department of Agriculture is anxious to get an expression, and we would appreciate it if we can make Lamb county 100 per cent.
