

182 Subscribers Added In Drive

Prizes Go To Many Areas; 24 Persons Participate In Unusual Sales Program

Many Candidates Worked Up To the Closing Minute; Complimentary Remarks of Workers Who Were Not Winners Greatly Appreciated; The Newspaper Thanks Candidates, the Judges and the Public For Wholehearted Support.

The Littlefield Newspapers' circulation campaign came to a close Tuesday night. The last reports accepted through the campaign office were Tuesday, April 3. Candidates placed their collections for the last days in the sealed ballot box themselves. Members of the advisory board broke the seals and made the final count.

It is gratifying to the newspaper and the campaign manager to know that these efforts have been appreciated from the complimentary remarks and expressions from everyone who has visited the campaign office. All candidates who have made a cash report have received a cash commission on all subscriptions they have turned in up to and including Tuesday, April 3, and those who did not win prizes will have checks for the commission on the ballot box reports mailed tomorrow.

This newspaper and the campaign management again wish to thank all candidates for their earnest work, the judges, who made the final count, and the community for its wholehearted support in making this drive a real success.

We also wish to welcome 1182 new homes who have been added to the Littlefield newspapers big family of readers in the past four weeks.

During the closing hours of the campaign candidates from all parts of the News and Leader trade territory came to the bank to turn in their subscriptions. Many of the workers continued their efforts until the last minute.

With the territory divided into two separate districts, with a separate set of prizes for each district, it was possible for candidates residing in one district to win a larger prize than someone residing in the other district even though their total vote was not so high.

The prizes were divided into two separate groups to place everyone, as nearly as possible, on an equal basis, according to working conditions. It has been the constant aim of this newspaper and the management to conduct the entire campaign on an absolutely unquestionable plane, to make it fair and square in every detail to every-

New Water Well Located; To Produce By End Of Week

City Manager Guy McCraw said Tuesday that the new water well agreed upon last week by the city commission is already in test stages.

McCraw anticipates that the six-inch well will be supplying water with the rest of the city system by "the end of this week."

The well, named number 10, has been located about 900 feet from the number nine well in the old Sorenson property.

This property is about a mile north of number five well. Number five failed recently and brought on the action taken by city officials at their meeting last Thursday night.

"We located and began drilling Saturday," McCraw said, "and we completed that part of the project Monday."

"It looks like it will be a good strong 550-gallon-a-minute well," McCraw continued.

The city manager went on to say that used equipment had been utilized as far as possible and that the well may be less expensive than the $10,000 figure originally set up.

Number five well was producing at the rate of about 350 gallons of water per minute before it failed. McCraw said, that while the new well will ease any immediate water shortage, it does not solve the long-range water problem. He indicated that further steps would be taken in the future to bring more water into Littlefield.

INCOME TAX DEADLINE

April 15 is the deadline for filing income tax returns rather than April 15.

The reason for the extra day is the fact that April 15 falls on Sunday this year, according to Mr. John R. Robinson, Ad ministrative Officer in Charge of the Lubbock office.

The Lubbock office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., on April 16 to give group assistance to taxpayers who need last minute help.

Mr. Robinson advised taxpayers who have not filed to do so immediately. He explained that many taxpayers run into unexpected problems. Often the taxpayer has to search for his records before making his return.

School Board Calls New Officers

Members of the local school board were installed Monday night as the board re-elected Carl Locke and Douglas, who were re-elected trustee elections Saturday. Board elected Carl Keel, president and Doug Howell, vice-president. Keeling re-elected Troy Moss, outgoing president. He did not seek re-election. Two new members took oaths of office. They are Christian, another former member who did not appear on ballot.

In its first session, the board scheduled its annual meeting for May 10 and made two staff changes in the system.

Holton was employed to Barney Green as Custodian. Green resigned his position.

Billard was also added to the staff as basketball and assistant football coach.

The board authorized School Superintendent Ralph Schilling to Hopping to work with on the matter of getting the new football field. The board made plans to level the new field for the season.

Representatives of the board met with the city commission on the matter of the football field. The board decided to split the cost of pipe from the city's lines field.

182 Acreage Suits Will Be Heard Next Week; Funds Have Been Exhausted

Littlefield Chamber of Commerce received a call from the Texas Chamber of Commerce asking for $300. This is the amount which the county was to raise last winter when funds were filed to prevent the ASC Committee from enacting its 5% cut in West Texas cotton quotas while increasing East Texas quotas.

Four West Texas farmers filed test suits in federal court. One of them is to be heard in Houston next week, contesting these cuts.

Costs of these suits are being borne by West Texas Chamber of Commerce out of the special funds contributed to it for that purpose. These funds have also been used to pay attorneys to represent the hundreds of West Texas farmers who have filed protests for hearing by county review boards.

Such a hearing in this county resulted in the review board increasing one farmer's allotment from 145 to 155 acres. The Secretary of Agriculture has not yet ruled on this decision, and litigation is expected when he does.

When the court actions were decided upon several months ago, it was estimated that they would cost about $15,000. That amount was apportioned among the counties involved. Lamb County was asked to raise $500.

The agriculture committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce wrote letters to all Lamb county ginners, asking for donations. About $200 was received and was forwarded to WTCC. Many other counties were similarly short.

Now the suits are coming up for hearing and the money is needed and it is not there. Hence Tuesday.

Lint Cotton Yield Contest Offered 4-H, FFA Members

A contest to promote greater yields per acre of Lint Cotton was announced this week for 4-H and FFA club members who live in or attend school in Lamb County.

"The contest is open to any regularly enrolled 4-H or FFA member between the ages of nine and 21 by July 1," stated Jesse Everett, manager of the chamber of commerce.

"Winners of the contest will be selected on the basis of the acreage yields of Lint Cotton per acre on five acres of cotton," Everett said.

Under contest rules, five acres of cotton must be staked off plainly and designated to the county agricultural agent or teacher not later than July 1 by the 4-H or FFA member entering the contest.

The entrant must own at least half share of the crop to be eligible. The following material must be submitted:

1. Regular 4-H or FFA record book.
2. Gin tickets from the contest

School Board Elections Get Heavy Voting In Springlake, Anton, Sudan

Six area cities reacted in different ways to school elections held Saturday. Heavy balloting marked elections in Springlake, Anton and Sudan, but polling in Littlefield, Amherst and Olton was termed average to light.

In three cities—Olton, Amherst and Sudan—voters filled vacancies on the county board. Olton's precinct one voters elected George E. Bonner, with 83 votes, over Glenn W. Exter, with 19.

Amherst and Sudan, voting in county precinct four, elected Drew Watkins over Fred Wilson in a total of 383 ballots. Watkins got 311, Wilson 72. Some 304 of Watson's ballots came from Sudan voters.

The total vote for the area was heavier than that recorded for city elections last week. In Littlefield Carl Locke and Byron Douglas edged five other candidates for the two vacancies. Douglas led the balloting with 152 votes and Locke squeaked by over Jake Armstrong, 144-141.

Other candidates in the Littlefield race were Weldon Findley, 123 votes; Dr. Ralph Maurer, 107; W. H. Carter, 82; B. B. Ivie, 11; W. A. Wolfe, a write-in candidate, received 12 votes.

The two winners took over positions previously held by Troy Moss, outgoing board president, and Jack Christian in time to meet with other school officials here Monday night. Moss and Christian did not enter the election.

PEACHY COWAN

Miss Cowan Wins District 2A Tennis; Gains Region Berth

Peachy Cowan, Littlefield High's only representative in the girls' district 2A tennis matches, slammed her way to the district singles championship in Lockney Monday.

Miss Cowan edged Judy Ansley of Lockney for the crown, 6-3, 6-2, to gain a berth in Region I matches scheduled April 20-21, at Lubbock.

Littlefield's only representatives in the high school boys' matches for the district were James Durham and Cecil Bartlett, the doubles team. They were beaten by Lockney's doubles pair, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

But that urge was held in check, because I also saw that as soon as organization was established that the Lubbock boys could handle the situation, so for about five minutes I sat in my car which I had parked about a block away, on the south. I could not sit still while the black smoke rolled out of that building, so with camera in hand, head for a ringside seat. Even mingled among a part of the huge crowd that gathered, Lubbock police estimated it to be around 20,000, and even talked to a policeman, who had a story to tell. The story concerned a visit to the downtown fire station just a few

Watches Lubbock Coliseum Fire 'I Have Never Seen Firemen Take Such Risks' -- Johnson

Editor's note: Gene Johnson, a member of Littlefield's Volunteer Fire Department, writes an eye-witness account of Lubbock's Coliseum fire that occurred Sunday.

By GENE JOHNSON

Being a fireman is not a glamorous job from the fireman's view. Ask any one who has ever been on an active fire department. Having been a smokeeater in Littlefield for some 12 years, I have seen some bad fires, and in other communities where I served as a fireman, I have never had the opportunity to see a fireman take such risks as I saw Sunday afternoon in Lubbock when the Lubbock City Coliseum was badly damaged by fire.

I did not get to see all of the equipment go into action, but did see a large pumper go into action with four 3-inch lines. Firemen in Lubbock are just like the firemen in Littlefield, as far as being human is concerned. There was some confusion for a little while after the first pieces of equipment arrived on the scene. Being a fireman I did not laugh because of the confusion, instead I sympathized with them.

When I first recognized the source of the fire I had an urge to get to the scene and do all in my power to help save as much of that magnificent building as possible. I am sure that my assistance would have been appreciated as was the assistance of Tech students who appeared on the scene and assisted a lone fireman repair a ruptured hose that was taking precious pressure away from the firemen inside the building.

minutes before the call went in. It seems that he was telling the firemen that they had to get out in the weather, while a policeman had to be out in all kinds of weather, day after day. At the time he was telling me this he was standing as I was, watching a fireman 12 stories up in the air on a round or oval roof, directing the placing of the aerial ladder which was about three stories too short. He then came down that slanting roof and took the nozzles of two hoses, three inch ones, and with all the calmness of a cat, moving up the slope backward, moved those lines to the top of the building, and then called down to his buddies to come on up. At that point the policeman turned and said in a voice that was indeed sincere, "They can have their jobs, I intend to stick to mine, on the ground." The policeman was not joking. Those firemen were heroic in their actions, but some people that were spectators, were not so sympathetic.

I was amazed at the work that could be done in so short a time. I say short, because to me the time passed fast, but to those men minutes were like hours, as I have been on fires that seemed like they were never to be put out, yet in reality were under control in a few short minutes.

It was, and always will be a sight that I like to see, when an aerial ladder is raised to the heights. The only thing, I was disappointed in one respect, I would like to see how the upstairs nozzle of that aerial ladder works. Great is the work of a fire department that is paid to put out fires to protect the property of others. I have all the respect in the world for those boys.

HOGS STEADY DESPITE BIG RUN IN NORTH

Choice meat type butcher hogs topped at $15.50-$15.75 at Fort Worth Monday, steady with last week's close. This despite the fact that over 90,000 hogs were reported around the major market circle, some 28,000 more than last Monday. Sows were also steady at $9.50 to $12.50. Off weights and less desirable grade and kinds of hogs bulked at $12.00 to $15.00.

LITTLEFIELD, LAMB CO., TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1956

NO. 47

Plant X, source for electrical power for this area, has been a long time in the making. Construction began in 1950 and a third generator was completed in 1955.

THE TURBINE ROOM, where three massive generators build up over 250,000 kilowatts of power, is one of the impressive spots in the $30 million plant.

O. M. SOLOMAN, center, assistant manager at the plant, points out power plant details to members of W. W. Hall's Farm Engineering class who toured the plant recently.

High School Boys Get Lesson In Electricity

Littlefield High school and their teacher recently took a look at what's behind the study by.

Students were from W. W. Hall's Farm Engineering class and they got an eyeeful of the Southwestern Public Service Company's huge steam station located between the plant and Earth.

When the turbine shafts turn, they cause a rotor with copper wiring, fed with direct current electricity through a small battery, to revolve. The rotor alternately magnetizes iron around the copper wire coils to produce alternating current.

Pressure caused by the alternating current makes the electric current flow out of the generator an dinto lines that finally take electricity through transformers and reducers to the company's customers.

Teacher Hall's class picked up a lot of valuable information on how electricity gets into homes.

Students making the tour were Travis Altman, Johnnie Barleson, Gaylon Burns, Melvin Campbell, Thomas Moss, Douglas Walden, Thomas Graham, Cecil Bartlett, James Blessing, Charles Durham, James Durham, David Hampton, Lonnie Perkins, Larry McCain, Dale Savage, Don Tindal, Glen Blankenship, Johnnie Tisdale, and Gerald Thompson.

Also along for the tour were Guy McCraw, city manager; Jess Everett, chamber of commerce, and Howard Home, district manager of Southwestern Public Service Company.

Sandhills Philosopher ...

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher discusses the farm surplus problem this week without making any noticeable dent in it.

Dear Editor:
As I understand the farm problem, prices are lower than they used to be because of the surplus. Furthermore, the way I understand it, the surplus is owned by the government, and as long as the market is aware of that surplus what a farmer gets for what he grows this year is liable to be affected.

Therefore I have been thinking about the problem off and on for the last few weeks, on the theory that whatever this country has, it hasn't got a surplus of thinking and even if it did the amount I do wouldn't contribute to the total very much.

I have read all the suggestions. I could find for eliminating the surplus, including one that Congress pass a law abolishing it and the newspapers stop mentioning it, but so far none of them seem very effective and the situation remains the same; the government can't afford to give the surplus away, and on the other hand can't afford to keep it, and if it sells it it'll depress prices worse than ever.

But here's the thing: this is an age of scientific experiment, and why can't the government use the surplus to experiment on? As I understand it, in a few weeks the government is going to spend 75 or 80 million dollars experimenting with some new hydrogen bombs, setting them off to see what happens. In previous tests of this kind, bombs have been set off to see what effect they'd have on different type houses, refrigerators, bedsteads, dummies, etc.

Has it ever occurred to you that the government hasn't yet experimented to see what effect an atomic explosion would have on a hundred million pounds of butter?

How would a warehouse full of wheat stand up a mile from point zero? Two miles? Three miles? All over the area? Does fallout affect the quality, staple length, etc., of cotton?

Here we've got all this surplus stuff stored and nobody knows how it would stand up in an atomic raid. Why doesn't the government haul about half this surplus out to the Pacific or wherever the spring tests are going to be made and drop some bombs on it, purely in the interest of scientific experimentation? If the tests are inconclusive, haul the other half out and try again.

If you don't think this suggestion has any merit, let's see what suggestions you have for getting rid of the stuff.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Supreme Court Ruling
Texas officials are aroused by a U. S. Supreme Court ruling knocking the props out from under another state law.

Latest to fall are state anti-sedition laws, which the high court says are superseded by Federal law. Apparent effect was to nullify Texas' anti-communist law.

Attorney General Shepperd called the action "a stunning blow to states rights. It rules out another field of state-federal cooperation, and is impossible to reconcile with the reserved powers of the Federal constitution."

Meanwhile Shepperd filed a brief in the U. S. Supreme Court in support of a contested Wisconsin law against disorderliness in labor disputes. Texas has a similar law.

They have asked the Texas Legislative Council for such a law. They also urged repeal of the law requiring wives to make separate acknowledgements on legal documents covering property belonging to a couple.

E. Texas Farmers Abandon Growing Tomatoes

Farmers in East Texas are abandoning the growing of tomatoes because the crop is ceasing to be profitable, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

In 1944 a total of 13,130 growers planted 33,592 acres, but by 1954, there were only 4,794 growers and 8,852 acres.

The Bureau's monthly report on agriculture shows, Texas farmers' cash income continued to decline during the first month of 1956, dropping 17 per cent from the January, 1955, level.

Of the 16 major farm commodities reported, only 5 registered increases in January, 1955-January, 1956 comparisons: milk and milk products, up 3 per cent; corn, 4 per cent; mohair, 8 per cent; grain sorghum, 16 per cent, and peanuts, 159 per cent. Down were eggs, 7 per cent; sheep and lambs, 13 per cent; cotton, 13 per cent; poultry, 17 per cent; fruit and vegetables, 22 per cent; wool, 24 per cent; hogs, 26 per cent; calves, 32 per cent; cattle, 34 per cent; oats, 46 per cent, and wheat, 69 per cent.

High School Seniors Invited To Wayland For 'Pioneer Day'

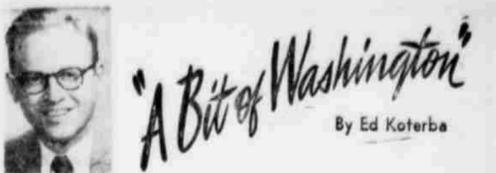

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Wayland College will be celebrating Pioneer Day on Friday in honor of the high school seniors of the area, and some 500 guests are expected, according to Dr. Cecil Cooper, chairman.

Registration, followed by campus tours, begins at 9 a.m. At 10 a.m., Dean Bryan Robinson will take over as master of ceremonies for the chapel program that includes a welcome from President A. Hope Owens, a response from a high school senior, songs from the Wayland International A Cappella Choir, under the direction of W. E. Steward, and a one act play, "Suppressed Desires," under the direction of Miss Lore Schuller.

Luncheon will be in Col. C. C. Slaughter Memorial Center. The afternoon's program will begin with demonstrations in Lindsay Nunn Gymnasium by the three-time National Women's AAU Champions, the Hutcherson Flying Queens of Wayland and the Wayland Pioneers and gymnastic stunts by physical education students, under the direction of Coach Harley J. Redin, Smith Markham and Mrs. Lilyenne White.

A variety show, under the direction of Jule Foster, and refreshments will conclude the day's program by 3:30. Some 410 seniors were guests in 1955 and an increase is expected on Friday the 13th, which should be an exciting day from the plans under way at Wayland College.

Some 60 outstanding high school women athletes are expected on Friday and Saturday to try out for the Hutcherson Flying Queens team, according to Mr. Redin, director of athletics. Try-outs are scheduled for 4 and 8 p.m., Friday, after Pioneer Day activities close. Students wishing to audition for Wayland International Choir or other music awards should contact Mr. Steward before they come, or immediately on arrival on campus. Conferences with the dean, registrar or faculty members will be arranged on request.

Easter Yeggs

WASHINGTON — It's all over but the pouting. . . . Our four-year-old can't get it through his eeged head that the "Pres'den" of the Knighted States didn't shake hands with him.

Swinging his blue and yellow basket, he joined the White House lawn mob of 8,000 other little Easter yeggs. The word "yeggs" is used advisedly. Those youngsters weren't safe crackers. . . . Nothing safe about the way they cracked those eggs!

After six hours, they could have nicknamed the President's lawn "slippery gulch."

I never dreamed that someday I'd be covering the White House lawn. I covered about 40 feet of it before I slid to a halt against a eucalyptus tree. . . .

There was a cessation in the egg battle when the President and Mamie stepped up. . . . cautiously. . . . to the crowd — behind a snow-ence barrier.

"There he is," we told the young me. "The President of the United States!"

It was his first personal look at the Chief Executive. He started to cry. "But he got no hair!" "Shake hands with the President," we prompted sweetly. But by then Ike was gone, having dived into another sea of outstretched arms.

"But he DINT shake hands with me! He DINT shake hands with me!" the forsaken one kept yowling until he almost had us thrown out — eggs and all — to the street.

Later, at home, I overheard him telling his neighborhood chums about the visit. Brightly: "Saw Pres'den" of the Knights States today." Then his lips formed a pout. "He dint shake hands with me."

And a little pause. "Oh, well, he got no hair. . . ."

What's the purpose of egg rolling on the White House lawn? There isn't any, unless it's to "throw away perfectly good 69-cents-a-dozen hardboiled eggs."

After a bit, the mere rolling of eggs down slight inclines in the White House grass (which needed mowing) got tame.

So the kids threw them at each other.

When it was over, Ike's lawn looked like a dandelion field in a snowstorm. But the gardeners admit it's the best fertilized lawn in town. . . .

There was, as far as I could determine, only one casualty. One sharpshooting youngster aimed an egg at Ike's fenced-in putting green. It caught me straight in the forehead.

It happened to be the only UNCOOKED egg in the place.

And I could swear I heard the little demon turn to his mother and boast hoarsely: "Big yoke, huh, mom?"

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new — just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms — it's the newest thing on wheels.

"Risen With Christ"

The Bible compares the process of conversion to the death, burial and resurrection of Christ. As Jesus died, was buried and arose, so one becomes dead to sin by separating himself from it, is buried by baptism, and is raised to a new life. Read Romans 6:3-6.

When Raised With Christ
Colossians 2:12: "Buried with Him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with Him through faith of the operation of God, who hath raised Him from the dead."

The Results: A New Life
Romans 6:4: "Therefore we are buried with Him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life."

Duty Following: Holy Living
Romans 6:12: "Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof."

Expectation: Heavenly Things
Colossians 3:1-2: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."

Two Local Men Attend Annual Lutheran Meet

The Rev. Vernon Mohr of San Antonio, was named president of the Texas District of the American Lutheran church in their 26th annual convention, held in St. John's Lutheran church, San Antonio, on Tuesday through Friday, April 3-6.

The Rev. Mohr, who has been pastor of St. John's Lutheran for 10 years, will succeed the Rev. C. N. Roth of Saguin, who has been president of the church body since 1946. The Rev. Mohr said he felt the election to the office was tantamount to a call and that his acceptance of the office would depend on his congregation releasing him to accept the position.

Attending the convention from Littlefield were the Rev. Donald W. Luckemeyer, pastor of the St. Martin Lutheran church; and lay delegate, Leo A. Holtkamp.

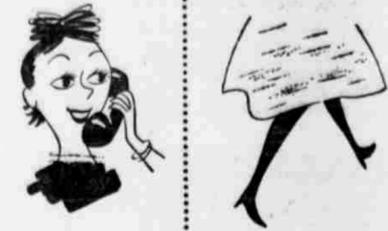

In addition to Rev. Mohr, other officers named were: Rev. George Krueger, Hallettsville, first vice president; Rev. A. H. Bohlis, Yorktown, second vice president; Rev. Kurt Hartmann, Pflugerville, 3rd vice president; Rev. E. A. Heye, Taylor, secretary; and Mr. Robert Prentiss, Austin, treasurer. All except Krueger were re-elected to their offices.

Dr. T. P. Prieke, Executive Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of Columbus, Ohio, told the convention of new mission fields in Africa that offer great opportunities.

Dr. Henry F. Schuh, president of the American Lutheran church, called the pastors and lay delegates to more dedicated preaching and teaching of the gospel. He said also that of particular concern to the members of the American Lutheran church this year was the impending merger with two other Lutheran churches and pointed out that "many problems still to be solved if the merger is to become a reality."

JET AGE HERE
Nuclear Energy May Improve Cotton Yield
Cotton production and processing is moving into the jet age. Within a short time, nuclear energy radiations may be used to give cotton a new versatility and improve its textile properties. This project is just one of many new developments now planned by state and federal cotton research agencies. Goal of this research is to find and create new uses and demands which will put a new sheen on "King Cotton's" slightly tarnished crown.

Future plans were laid for cotton during a research and marketing advisory meeting in Washington last month. The committee, composed of leading agriculturists from over the nation, set a course of action that includes all phases of cotton handling, including production, utilization and marketing. Rated high on the list were experiments on irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal and other work to reduce costs of cotton production. Any savings effected will give a needed shot in the arm to this white crop, notorious for its expensive growing and harvesting methods. The Gulf Coast area of Texas will be the site of research to study irrigation in humid areas for more prolific production. At the same time, mechanical and chemical weed control studies will be conducted to determine best methods for various localities. The pink bollworm, Texas' most serious cotton pest, is on the list for advanced research, as well as cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase growing efficiency. New uses for cotton must be developed also. Development is planned on cotton-filled plastic laminates for industrial uses, and stretchable cotton yarns for socks and other knit wear. These are but a few of the plans outlined by the committee. Cottonseed and related by-products are due their full share of attention. Progress reports on research data will be made available to the industry as they become available.

Part 4 -- Texas Oil Pioneers

Hamil Was In Derrick
When Lucas Gusher Blew

Editor's note: Sketch compiled from records of Oral History of Texas Oil Pioneers, University of Texas. Persons who can contribute additional information, documents, or photographs of early oil fields should write to the Archives Collection, Box 7767, University Station, Austin, Texas).

Curt Hamil began his business career selling smooting irons door to door in Bell county. In one respect, the venture was successful; he met Eva Estelle Smith, who later became his wife. Soon after they were married, he gave up selling and turned to farming.

After a hailstorm beat his cotton and watermelon crops into the ground, he worked on a dairy for George W. Clark of Waco. Feeling that he was not getting ahead, he decided to join his brothers, Jim and Al, who were drilling oil wells in Corsicana.

Curt remembers that he went to work as a roustabout on a Star machine, which they called a grasshopper, at a salary of $55 a month. Later he became a toolie, or tool dresser.

At the time, there was a growing conflict between rotary rig men and cable tool men. Rotary rigs were able to drill wells for 35 cents a foot, against 75 cents for cable rigs. Curt persuaded his brothers to go over to rotary rigs. They quickly established reputations as rotary men, and were designated by Guffey and Gayle to drill the well at Spindletop.

Curt went to Beaumont as a derrick man. Because they were short of hands, and because of the difficulties they met, he also had to take his turn as boiler man and driller, all for $80 a month.

On January 1, 1901, Curt moved his wife and four children to a small frame house near the Spindletop well. His wife cooked and washed for the crew, boiling their oily work clothes in an old wash-pot.

As Curt tells it in his recorded reminiscences, he was up in the derrick on the doubleboard, when the gusher began to run wild. Soaked with oil, he scrambled down as fast as he could. By the time he reached the ground, pipe was going out the top of the derrick and falling back like crumpled macaroni.

With the well blowing wild and the prairie grass saturated with oil fire was a threat. One careless match and all their work would be lost. Curt and Peck, armed with guns, herded curiosity seekers back from the well. But there were too many people; the area was too great.

On Sunday morning a boy dropped a match in the oil-soaked grass. Flames sprang up. Curt and Peck beat at the fire with their slicker coats until they wore them out, and then with jumpers and shirts. Finally, others came to help. Working together, they put out the fire and saved the well.

The well still had to be capped. Curt, working with the others, was gassed; the first person ever gassed on the Gulf Coast.

After the Lucas Gusher was under control, Curt went ahead in oil business as driller, contractor and finally as producer, chiefly along the Texas Gulf Coast. He is now retired and living in a modern ranch house in Kerrville. But he keeps one memento of Spindletop. In the back yard is the old washpot, in which he grows petunias.

County Agent Says

Clover Aphid Threatens Alfalfa in Lamb County

The last two years the clover aphid has moved in from California to such an extent that it is threatening every acre of alfalfa in Lamb county, County Agent W. R. Kimbrough reported this week.

"To date we have found no effective means to eradicate this aphid but we think that by two or more applications it can be controlled," Kimbrough stated.

The weather and wind are causing very erratic control, he added.

Kimbrough said that one material that can be used is "one-fourth pound parathion and two gallons of diesel oil to the acre. Unfortunately this causes some leaf shed and considerable burning of the plant."

Another method is to use "one gallon B. H. C. (use two lbs. B. H. C. gallon) in water to the acre," he continued.

Other material is being used but these two seem to be giving best results from reports received over the South Plains, Kimbrough said. Kimbrough cautioned users not to use parathion in a ground machine because of danger. He said B. H. C. can be used with proper precautions taken in a ground machine.

The best controlling time is when the temperature is about 50 degrees with a high humidity and no wind, although this condition doesn't occur often.

Applications should be made anytime that you can see honeydew appearing on the alfalfa, he said.

"We live in the final phase of a masculine civilization which lasted for centuries," he said, "but in spite of that fact many Austrian men still want to assume the role of master over women."

Missionary To Africa To Speak Saturday Night

JOHN F. HALL

John F. Hall, Missionary to Upper Volta, French West Africa, will be guest speaker at the Assembly of God Church on Saturday, April 14. Rev. Newton, pastor announced today. He will be telling some of his experiences in French West Africa, and of conditions there.

Hall is under appointment of the Foreign Missions Department of the General Council of the Assemblies of God with headquarters in Springfield, Mo. He first went to Africa in 1931, and with the exception of furlough periods, has since been located there.

French, Hausa, Gourma and More are the languages used by Hall in his work among the great Mossi tribe numbering nearly three million. As a member of the Language Committee, he has been active in translating the New Testament into More. He has been given an honorary life-membership in the American Bible Society. Hall has prepared original Bible Studies in the More language and published a dictionary of over 5,000 words. He has been instrumental in the development of simple, effective methods of teaching tribespeople to read and write their own languages.

During the greater part of his missionary career, Hall, with his wife and four children, was stationed in the Ouahigouya District located 700 miles interior. He will be telling of the great spiritual awakening which began on New Year's Day, 1955 in Ouahigouya. Mr. Hall states that incidents took place comparable to the account recorded in Finney's revivals.

While on wartime furlough, Hall was dean and teacher at the Southern California Bible College in Pasadena, Calif. For two years he pastored in Compton, Calif. He served as Field Superintendent of the Assemblies of God in the Upper Volta for two years.

Hall is a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., the Missionary-Medical Course in the National Bible Institute, New York City, and has studied in France. He is also known as a missionary writer.

The public is cordially invited to hear this experienced missionary tell of his work in Africa. Hall will be dressed in West African costume at the service which will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Coastal Bermuda Grass Does Well Where Adapted

Coastal Bermudagrass offers a real opportunity for forage production where adapted and properly managed. E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, says tests and farm experience with this hybrid show its value.

The specialist lists several advantages for coastal over common Bermuda. It produces more grazing or hay; is deeper rooted and more drought tolerant; has larger stems and leaves and grows more upright; more efficient user of water and fertilizer; more disease resistant; grows earlier in the spring and later in the fall and under good growing conditions becomes established more quickly.

Coastal is a fertile hybrid and must be started from sprigs or rhizomes. It is adapted to the area in Texas east of the 30 inch rainfall belt but under irrigation can be grown westward until the 3,000 foot elevation is reached. The grass has exceptional ability to respond to fertilizer and will produce well with medium fertility. Don't expect much on poor soil, says Trew. It is furnishing good grazing on some soils that have been considered worthless because of soil.

Trew believes a small nursery is the best starting point. The nursery will provide low-cost sprigs which can be planted when labor and moisture are available for larger plantings, and the sprigs will be fresh and liveability high.

Coastal should be planted in three to three and a half foot rows. A three foot spacing between the sprigs will require about 9 bushels of sprigs per acre; 18 inch spacing about 15 bushels and a 12 inch spacing about 27 bushels of sprigs. The heavier planting rate will give faster cover and less weed competition. The sprigs may be hand dropped in a shallow furrow and the soil packed around them with the foot. They should then be covered two inches deep and packed with the tractor wheel.

The grass may also be planted with sprig planters or tomato, tobacco, cabbage or pine tree trans-planters. It should be cleaned and controlled until the ground is covered. The ground should be planted, says Trew. Dallis or other grasses.
